We're proud to know you, Pannie! And to know you really means to love you.

As a leader of our student body, Pannie has shown exceptional ability both last year as Y. W. C. A. president and this year as Student Government president. Her trust in the girls she leads is probably the keynote of the sincerity she finds in them.

ETTA MARSHALL APPEARS IN RECITAL

Friends of Etta Marshall and the Juniors will probably be interested to know that on Tuesday, October the second at the Portsmouth Y. W. Miss Estelle Johnson presented "our" Etta in her first dramatic recital. We hear that Etta is teaching dramatics in Portsmouth. Etta was the president of her class—now the present junior class—during her freshman and sophomore years. More than one junior misses her and the "little black notebook", to say nothing of the rest of us. We take this opportunity to wish Etta the best of luck in all her undertakings this year—with an added special request to come back to see us soon!

RED CROSS BEGINS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Appeals to the Colleges for Support

The American Red Cross, a name familiar to every American citizen, takes this opportunity to call to the mind of every college and university student that the annual Red Cross Roll Call opens on Armistice Day, November 11, and ends on Thanksgiving Day. Without these membership fees the Red Cross could not maintain its position of relieving the suffering of refugees made homeless by floods, hurricanes, and other disasters.

The Red Cross looks to the colleges for its coming leaders. It wishes to interest students now so as to enjoy their fresh enthusiasm, energy, and constructive ideas when they take their place in the world.

It is not necessary to enumerate the various instances of tragedies in which the Red Cross has been the greatest force in relieving the suffering of refugees. Being nation-wide, it is the Red Cross that prevents more tragical results of the many disasters that sweep our country yearly.

As President Coolidge phrases it, "The Red Cross has become an intimate part of our daily life." The same may be said of our colleges, whose graduates are a great uplifting force in national advancement. Thus the Red Cross Roll Call is heard in our colleges because again, in the words of the President: "We have tested the Red Cross in war and peace. It has never failed us. It never will so long as it holds your support."

In its progress upward meeting the increasing responsibilities put upon it, the Red Cross must not only replenish itself but add to itself as it goes. That is one reason why it is making special effort to enlist college men and women. May every college man and woman heed the plea of the American Red Cross, "Enroll now and help the Red Cross with its great work of relieving suffering."

POST OFFICE REPORT REVEALS EFFICIENCY

The report of the astonishing quantity of work done in the post office and book room since the opening of schol is no doubt of interest to the students.

Approximately 13,608 pieces of mail have gone out from the office, 10,639 of the pieces being letters, and 2,677 cards. Presumably as many have come in. 1,015 parcel post packages have been delivered and over $3,000 worth of books have been sold.

This amount of work could not have been done except for the quiet, orderly behavior and thoughtful consideration of the students. In a letter to the editor, Miss Taliaferro expressed her appreciation to the students, who, by this attitude, considerably lightened her burden.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 33, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor — LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor — CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary — GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic — KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News — LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News — EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social — FLORENCE REED, '31
Art — CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '30

Reporters

ISABEL MACDONALD, '29 — WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBOROUGH, '31

Proof Reader

MARY JANE WILKINSON

Managers

Business Manager — MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant — FLORENCE BOOTEN, '30
Circulation — ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant — JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. Thsse will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

PARTICIPATION IN STUDENT ACTIVITIES

During the week several organizations have arranged try-outs for new members. In a short time every student activity which enrolls its members on the basis of demonstration of that particular ability which is the foundation of the organizations will have presented an opportunity to all students to try-out.

Extra-curricula activties compose one of the most important parts of a college. We are fortunate to claim a faculty who realize the value of activities beyond the class room, and who aid materially in their success. Were it not for the approval and assistance of the administration, our student activities would never have reached the high level upon which they now stand.

Understanding, then, how vital to college life is the tone of each of these organizations, we realize that we have assumed a responsibility. Membership in an organization certainly is a privilege. Quoting our own Miss Mary, we add that each added privilege brings added responsibility. All members of an organization share alike in its purpose to serve the college and to make a contribution to student life. When, then, a student's name becomes a part of the membership list, she assumes an active part in that organization—she is no longer a disinterested observer.

There are in all organizations, perhaps, two extremes among the members: one is so hilariously enthusiastic about the activity that she forgets the existence of other, probably more important factors in her life; the other is so appallingly lacking in interest that she becomes a damper upon its work. Obviously, both types of students have not found the balance of values in their college life.

There is the girl who finds the middle ground, and who establishes habits which are of life-long value to her. She does a reasonable amount of study—she is neither a grind nor a bluffer; she reserves time for her friends and for wholesome leisure; she participates actively in student organizations; and discovers in her living those things which are worthy of most of her time. She is the girl who is rewarded with recognition from the national honor societies which are established in our college.

These are points offered for consideration. Adjustment to college life is not an easy process. The "balance of values" is a discovery which facilitates, at least for a while, the problem of budgeting one's time and energy.

WORLD NEWS

Poland's eccentric dictator, Marshall Joseph Pilsudski was besought by 1,500 delegates of the Monarchist Party to proclaim himself "Emporer of Poland". Marshall Pilsudski at the time of this statement was made by the delegates, was in Rumania, but it is to be noted that he did not repudiate the suggestion of the crown.

At the opening of the Thirty-third Mexican Congress Senor Calles stated in unmistakable terms his intention of stepping aside at the end of his term. This Congress must shortly choose a provisional president to serve in the place of the late President-elect Alvaro Obregon. Senor Calles in his speech put squarely up to the people the responsibility of maintaining a stable, democratic government.

The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot says, "What Mexico needs for president is an iron man—with a bullet-proof vest."

The Kellog peace pact, signed in Paris on August 27, according to the editorials of some of the leading German papers is not legally binding. The papers indicate that the prevailing mood in Germany in relation to the treaty is one of skepticism. The fact that nations are constantly doubting each other has been an underlying cause of so much trouble.

Ahmed Beg Zogu, the president of Albania, has yielded to the wishes of his faithful subjects and consented to become their king. The change is considered one of form rather than of fact, for Ahmed Beg has exercised dictatorial powers since he was president. It is thought that the only international consequences of importance resulting from this change is the discussion aroused over the act of the United States in extending recognition to the new Albanian king.

Renee Chemet gave a concert here last year which was greatly enjoyed by all the girls. It is interesting to know that Madame Chemet is engaged to appear with the Beethoven Symphony Orchestra of New York under the baton of George Zaslowsky. She is a violinist, and is also to be a soloist.

NEW SEATING ORDER USED IN CHAPEL

The chapel committee is trying out a new system of seating in chapel this year. Freshmen are placed in the front of the auditorium, leaving one row of seats for seniors. Sophomores are placed next, and then the juniors, and seniors. Students who attend chapel irregularly on account of apprenticing and teaching sit in the back of the auditorium. Chairs will be placed in the front of the auditorium every Saturday for the seniors. This plan is an improvement over that of last year.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

From "The Spectator" we notice that at Mississippi State College for Women the seniors are employed as chaperones to the underclassmen. What a responsible task they have bestowed upon them!

In an article published in the "Maroon and Gold" this week the following reasons were given in answer to the question "Why Do We Go to College?" In the first place we go to college to become better men and women; again, that our mental capacities may be well trained and we may be more successful in life. Third, we go to college so that we may become more desirable citizens; finally, we come to colleges that we may improve ourselves physically.

NINE WONDERS OF THE WORLD NAMED

The seven wonders of the ancient world have been superseded by a modern list of nine.

In an effort to designate specifically the most important achievements of modern man, Popular Science Monthly, after compiling a list of fifty suggestions made by several hundred leaders in American science, industry and education, has submitted its compilation of Dr. Samuel W. Stratton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a former director of the United States bureau of standards, for reduction to its most concrete terms.

Dr. Stratton's list as presented in the February issue of the magazine, follows:

1.—The discovery of bacteria and the application of bacteriology to human welfare.

2.—The progress of knowledge of the constitution of matter and radiation phenomena.

3.—The progress of electricity as to light, power and communication.

4.—The internal combustion engine and its application.

5.—Modern methods of structure building with metal and cement.

6.—Modern metallurgy.

7.—Processes of food preservation, including canning and refrigeration.

8.—Aircraft and aerial navigation.

9.—Development of machinery to lessen the burden of labor and increase its output.

For comparison the article lists the seven wonders of the ancient world. The Pyramids and the Sphinx, the Hanging Gardens of Babylon, the tomb of Mausolus, the Temple of Diana at Ephesus, the Colossus of Rhodes, the statue of Jupiter Olympus and the Pharos of Alexandria.

Where the ancient wonders were all architectural and artistic, the creations of slave labor, whose mere size brought wonder to the ancient mind, the modern wonders of applied science although inestimably more important, play such a part in every day life that the world acepts them as commonplace.—The Salemite.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c — Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

Girls make your money draw more interest—invest in our silk hosiery

We are now showing the season's most fashionable shades such as Teatone, Nutone, Falltone, Streettone and Navy blue.

Full fashioned, all pure silk hose $1.48 to $1.98.

BALDWINS
"The S. T. C. Girl's Main Street Home"

TWO STATUES

1. A Study in Marble

Joan of the dreamy eyes and the clasped hands,
How many minutes, hours, days and years
Have you sat there upon your pedestal?
Your shoulders droop. Your feet and clasped hands
Are weary from the toil in the fields—
And yet, your eyes are filled
With visions of another world,
Sure proof that toil may bend and break
The back, but not the spirit.
Loves, hates, joys, sorrows,
All have come to you
From whispering lips, and eyes that hope to hide
Their cares. But you have known
And guarded silently our secrets,
Teaching us patience and love,
And the comfort of holding to vision.

2. A Study in Bronze

Jeanne d' Arc in armor,
Your helmet made fast;
Firm in the saddle,
The leader at last;
Your spirited horse
With forefoot up-raised
Pawing the air
To be soon in the chase;
Your up-lifted sword
A symbol of right,
A beacon to rally round
All through the fight;
Your patience, your meekness,
Your weariness gone!
But still in your eyes
The look that says, "On!"

Carolea Harris

SOCIAL

Alice Covington and Marguerite Swan attended the opening dances at V. M. I. over the week-end.

* * *

Lurla Milner spent the week-end at her home in Lynchburg.

* * *

Louise Munt and Mildred Field Elmore spent the week-end at their homes in Petersburg.

* * *

Jane Gray Irby spent the week-end at her home in Blackstone.

* * *

Helen Davidson returned to school for the week-end.

* * *

Barbara and Helen Wilcox, "Runt" Hargrave and Ann Deffenbaugh visited school Sunday.

* * *

Mary Clements, Dot Smith and Mary Duncan returned to school over the week-end.

* * *

Martha McKenzie and Nancy DeBerry spent the week-end at their homes in Portsmouth.

* * *

Virginia Jordan visited her sister over the week-end.

CONSTITUTION OF THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Article I.—Name, Purpose, Colors

SectionI.—This association shall be known as the Athletic Association of the State Teachers College at Farmville, Virginia.

Section II.—The purpose of this association is to stimulate an interest in the right types of athletics for recreative and social benefits; to promote interest in health programs and general physical efficiency; to appeal to the many instead of to the few; to create wider friendships and a friendly rivalry; and to develope the highest type of sportsmanship that can be put into the life of a girl as a citizen.

Section II.—Class Colors

Odds—Green and white
Evens—Red and blue.
School colors—Navy blue and white

Article II.—Membership, Eligibility

Section 1.—All students of the college who have paid their campus fees are members of the Association.

Section 2.—Eligibility for teams shall be based on physical fitness, attendance at practices and games, sportsmanship and skill.

Section 3.—A girl shall play on her class team according to her listing in the registrar's office.

Section 4.—No girl shall make a team or earn an award unless she has a passing grade for the preceding semester, or an average of C with one flunk or one condition.

Section 5.—No girl shall make a team unless she has been present at sixty per cent of the practices for that team.

Article III.—Officers

Section 1.—The officers of the association shall be a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. These officers compose the Athletic Council of which the president is chairman. There shall also be a head of each interclass sport.

Section 2.—The executive board shall consist of the president who shall act as chairman, other officers and the head of sports. The faculty of the Physical Education department shall be advisory members, one of whom shall act as the director of the organization.

Section 3.—If any officer of the association fails a subject she shall resign.

Article iV.—Duties of the Officers

President—It shall be the duty of the president to call and preside at all meetings of the association, execution Board and Council. She shall appoint all committees and be an ex-officio member of each.

Section 2—Vice-President—It shall be the duty of the vice-president to perform all the duties of the president in her absence. She shall also act as chairman of all social affairs and as publicity chairman.

Section 33.—Secretary—It shall be the duty of the secretary to keep the minutes of each meeting of the Council and Executive Board, to keep the minutes where they shall be accessible to all members at any time; to attend to all the correspondence of the association; to keep a record of all points made by individual girls and classes; to keep a record of all awards given by the association, to notify members of Board and Council of meetings in ample time; to prepare a report of term's work to be given at open meeting, and to notify persons of their appointments to committees, elections and ineligibility.

Section 4.—Treasurer—It shall be the duty of the treasurer to take charge of the funds of the association but she shall not pay out any money except on the approval of the president and faculty advisor. She shall also keep an acocunt of all bills and prepare a report to be read at the last meeting of the year and her accounts shall be audited by the business manager of the college.

Section V.—Heads of Sports

It shall be the duty of the heads of sports to meet with the Council to discuss schedule for each sport; to see that there are referees and other officials for all games played; to take charge of and care of all apparatus used.

Article V.—Election of Officers

Section 1.—Eligibility—Only active members who have proven their interest in sports and hold an average of C in academic work shall be eligible for nomination and election to office.

Section 2.—A nominating committee appointed by the president and including the Council and the Athletic Director shall select two persons for each office from nominations made by all members of the Association. The following officers shall be elected—president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and heads of sports.

Article VI.—Installation

Section 1.—The officers shall be installed as soon after the election as possible.

Section 2.—Each officer, before entering upon the duties of her office shall be required to take an oath of office.

Article VII.—Meetings

Section 1.—Council—The Council shall meet once a week, time and place set by the president.

Section 2.—Executive Board—The Executive Board shall meet when called by the president.

Section 3.—Open Meeting— An open meeting for all those interested once a term, date to be set at the most convenient time.

Section 4.—A quorum of open meetings shall consist of two-thirds of the Executive Board and one-third representation of the association.

Article VIII.Point System

Section 1.—The association shall use the following point system—

Physical efficiency tests	100 pts.
Teams
Class 1st. teams	75 pts.
Championship team	50 pts.
Honorary varsities, each	25 pts.
Varsities, each	50 pts.
Field and Track
1st place in individual event	50 pts.
Breaking college record	50 pts.
1st. place in meet	100 pts.
1st. place in relay	10 pts.
Tournaments
Tennis, singles	75 pts.
Tennis, doubles	50 pts.
Archery
Scholarship average of A	75 pts.
Scholarship average of B	50 pts.
Scholarship average of C	25 pts.
Hiking, 3 10-mile hikes 1 year	50 pts.

Article IX.—Championship teams, Varsities, Honorary Varsities, Class Teams.

Section 1.—Championship teams shall be those teams who have the highest total number of games in each sport offered.

Section 2. — Honorary varsity teams shall be chosen by the coach and the members of the Physical Education department at the end of each seasonal sport.

Section 3.—Class and varsity teams shall be chosen by the coach and captain of each team.

Article X.—Awards.

Section 1.—Individual—Blazers.

1. Class colors, red with white, green with white	600 pts.
2. Class colored with numerals	900 pts.
3. Colored with S. T. C.	1200 pts.
4. Navy blue with S T. C.	1500 pts.
5. Navy blue with College seal	2000 pts.

There shall be no other individual award with the exception of the college monogram.

Section 2. The color cup shall be held by the color whose supporters shall have earned the highest total number of points awarded. The cup shall remain in the possession of the color having once earned it as long as it is able to earn the highest total number of points each year.

The points toward this cup shall be awarded in the following manner—

1. Championship in any class sport	10 pts.
2. Highest total score on Field Day	10 pts.
3. Highest number of monograms awarded	10 pts.
4. Highest number of girls making basketball varsity	10 pts.
5. Highest number of girls making hockey varsity	10 pts.

In case of a tie in Field and Track events the points shall be equally divided.

Section 3.—Awarding of Honors.

All awards of the Association shall be presented by the president.

Article XI.—Amendments.

Section 1.—This constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the membership. Proposed amendments must be published in The Rotunda before being voted upon.

Article XII.—Enacting Clause.

Section 1.—This constitution shall take effect and be in force from and after November, 1927.

LIGHT RULES EXPLAINED BY DR. JARMAN

In explanation of his request to the students of S. T. C. regarding the use of light fixtures in the dormitories, Dr. Jarman made the following statement to the Student Council on Monday night "Our insurance company has refused to be held responsible for any fire that is started by any light fixture other than those provided by the school."

In view of this attitude on the part of the insurance company, Dr. Jarman has issued the request that we use only the sockets provided by the school. This does not mean that students may not attach lamps to the wall sockets in their rooms, but it does mean that they may not buy sockets of their own to attach to the light in their rooms. Due to the large number of cheap fixtures bought by the students, an astonishing amount of electricity has been wasted.

Dr. Jarman believes that the student body will understand the situation to the extent that there will be thorough cooperation between the home department and the students for the preservation of our buildings.

PI GAMMA MU ISSUES BIDS

The Virginia Gamma chapter of Pi Gamma Mu wishes to announce the following new members:

Mary Lucile Graves
Martha Elizabeth Henderlite
Lucile Norman
Frances Anne Wilson

Also as Associate Faculty members:

Miss Mary E. Peck
Miss Mary Goodwin Pettit
Miss Frances Waters

Pi Gammu Mu is a national honorary fraternity in social science.

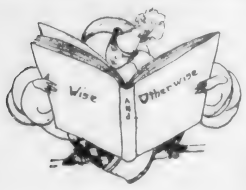
A CORRECTION

A mistake in last week's Rotunda was the omission of one of the literary societies in the list of organizations open to students. The Cunningham Literary Society, whose president is Emily Carter, invites all girls interested in its work to become members.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"Drinks and Drugs"
TOILET ARTICES, SODA MAGAZINES, CANDY AND STATIONERY



S. T. C. HEAQUARTERS
THE HUB
DEPT. STORE
WELCOMES YOU
And Solicits Your Patronage
Open a
CHARGE ACCOUNT
Reduced Prices to All—
S. T. C. GIRLS

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
(We invite your charge accounts)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

DRESS WELL AND SUCCEED
CORRECT CLOTHES
For the Round of College Life
SHOES
For Every Occasion
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
Farmville, Virginia

Fresh.: "Who is that lady that sits in the rotunda?"

Soph.: "Oh, that's the spirit of Alma Mater."

Fresh.: "Oh, I see, that's the one they call Aunt Lucy."

Why Registrars Go Crazy

Name: Mabel
Address: Here
Age: Once a year
Parent's' name: Father and Mother
Where graduated from: Auditorium stage
When graduated: Commencement.
Class standing: So was I
Course: Due east
Color of hair: Changes too often.

Dumb: "Did you ever take chills?"
Bell: "No, what hour does it come?"

Advice to Freshmen

How to keep from flunking a final History exam.

1. Don't take History
2. Get a prof. who doesn"t believe in final exams.
3. Drop the course after the end of the first six weeks.
4. Have someone else take the exam. She'll flunk it for you.
5. Forget the day the exam comes.
6. Skip the first three questions and guess at the others.

Consolation for the Rural Teachers

A small boy went to school for the first time. He came home and was questioned as to his experience.

"Nothing much happened," he said, "there was a woman there who wanted to know how to spell cat, and I told her."

"She still stays young."
"Yes, it's' an old habit of hers."

Visitor in Farmville: "Why is this town so dead?"

Native: "It was laid out by an undertaker."

Elsie Milan: "Aunt Lucy, how high did you ever get in school?"

Aunt Lucy: "Up on third flo'!"

A balking mule has four wheel brakes
A billy goat has bumpers.
The firefly is a great spotlight
Rabbits are puddle jumpers.
Camels have balloon-tired feet.
And carries spares of what he eats.
But still I think that nothing can beat
A kangaroo with a rumble seat.

FRESHMAN TRAINING CLASS HAS MEETING

On Monday, September 24th., the first Freshman Training Class was held. The freshmen were divided into groups each with an upperclassman as its instructor. The rules from the student government handbook were each taken up and explained by the instructor. On Wednesday night the examination was given.

Pledge cards were signed Saturday. These cards are to be filed and all student government offenses are to be recorded on the reverse side. These records will be used for reference when a student is recommended for a position.

GLIMPSES OF BLUE RIDGE

For the girls who did not have an opportunity to know and love Blue Ridge during the summer months, fascinating glimpses of Y. W. mountain experiences were presented at prayers on Wednesday night.

The girls who represented the organizations of S. T. C. duplicated the scenes that were held about their hearth-fire in the S. T. C. cottage at Blue Ridge. With their advisor, Miss Mary P. Jones, they made a friendly, happy group. The conversation was equally as full of fun as of seriousness

The audience was taken to a land of soft, blue skies, mountain peaks that beckoned, days of dreams, visions and accomplishments, contact with girls of other lands, and new attitudes toward life. At the end of the call, "Blue Ridge," the spell was broken, but there was left a lasting memory of loveliness and high endeavors.

MRS. RITTENHOUSE SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

Mrs. R. N. Rittenhouse of New York made an interesting talk to the classes in Education 215 on child welfare work last Friday afternoon. Mrs. Ritten house has done work of this kind for the past thirty years.

She stressed the necessity of a nation-wide child-labor law in view of inter-state complications resulting from such state laws. Another interesting statement was that concerning an annual appropriation for maternity-infancy care. This appropriation is far less than that made for the care of livestock and will be discontinued in June of next year unless Congress renews the bill.

It was almost unbelievable that many of the conditions told of by Mrs. Rittenhouse could exist in this country

DO YOU?

Dear Girls,
The other day,
As I
Was sitting on a window ledge
Enjoying a sun bath,
A girl came in
And said,—
(To another girl, of course;)—
'My roommate said
Her grandfather said,
(And all of the rest, you know.)
"That sandwiches were thinner
And nothing was quite as low
At Gilliam's."

"O me! O my! I invariably sighed,
And the sun lost its warmth for me.
"It's' sure to be a winter hard
For crumbs will be scarce and few
If that's the truth she speaks."
Then I suddenly wondered why
The change in prices high.

"It's all because", the first girl said,
(I listened just in time).
"He's interested in the campaign
That's on for president."

Maybe I'm dumb but I failed to see
Any connection at all,
And just such an opinion
Was expressed by one of the girls.

"Why don't you see?" the speaker asked
(I didn't, but now I do.)
"The trouble is Mr. Gilliam
Has bought a radio!'"

Minnie the Red Ant

Y. W. C. A. RECOGNITION SERVICE FRIDAY

The Recognition Service of the Y. W. C. A. will be held by candle-light during prayers. For this service all new girls are asked to wear white and take the front seats in the auditorium. During the service beautiful in its simpliicty and solemnity, the new members of the student body will become member of the Y. W. C. A.

All girls entering the college this term for the first time will be given an opportunity Thursday night to sign the membership cards.

The Young Woman's Christian Association is composed of all members of the student body who sign the membership pledge and contribute to the organization. However, there is a more important phase of membership and that is in being spirtually in sympathy with the work carried on by the association.

The new purpose of the Y. W. C. A. is threefold:

1—We,the members of the Y. W. C. A. of Farmville unite in the desire to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God.

2.—We determine to have a part in making this life possible for all people.

3—In this task we seek to understand Jesus and follow Him.

GIRLS FROM OTHER SCHOOLS AT S. T. C.

We are glad to welcome to S. T. C. the following girls who have come to us from other schools:

Rebecca Allen	N. C. C. W.
Mary E. Brock	Stonewall Jackson College.
Jane Brown	Virginia College
Ella Simms Clore	R. M. W. C.
Virginia C. Compton	Junior College
Martha B. Cecil	Harrisonburg
Emily Sara Cobb	Mary Baldwin
Sue Baylis Cross	R. M. W. C.
Edith Gray Brith	N. C. C. W.
Sally M. Elliot	Meredith College
Elsie Page Fox	Harrisonburg
Caroline Scott Friend	Fredericksburg
Mayo Beaty	Hollins College
Elizabeth R. Folk	Elon College
Florence Gregory	Marshall College
Suzanne Holland	Converse College
Martha A. Joyce	Harrisonburg
Katherine E. Hatcher	Bluefield Baptist College
Harriet Mason	Randolph Macon New York University
Mildred C. Varner	Harrisonburg
Frances C. Kormagay	N. C. C. W.
Mary A. Linsey	Harrisonburg
Mary E. Loving	Stuart Hall
Mary B. Marchant	Harrisonburg
Louise Miles	Washington Missionary College
Elsie McLaughlin	Everitt College
Roberta L. McKim	Virginia College
Virginia Mc. Neblett	Harrisonburg
Sadie E. Ozlin	Blackstone College
Helen D. Phelps	Meredith College
Alice Le. Ribble	W. & M. College
Helen V. Robertson	Salem College
Leslie H. Ritter	St. Mary"s College
Katherine Roller	Stuart Hall
Virginia Roser	Virginia Intermont
Mildred Y. Robertson	Univ. of R.
Josephine Swanson	Davenport College.
Flosie Smith	Harrisonburg
Frances M. Swadley	Sullins

NEW HOCKEY SCHEDULE

	4:15	5:15
Monday	Freshmen
Tuesday	Sophomores, Juniors, Seniors	Varsity Try-outs
Wednesday	Freshmen	Varsity Try-outs
Thursday	Sophomores, Juniors, Seniors	Varsity Try-outs
Friday	Freshmen	Varsity Try-outs

CHORAL CLUB OFFICERS

The Choral Club officers for the coming year have been elected as follows:

President ..... Elizabeth Taylor
Vice-President .... Margaret Hubbard
Secretary ..... Frances Hanmer
Treasurer ..... Lois Fraser
Reporter ..... Nellie Talley

There is an urgent need for some more good voices in the club. The upperclassmen are especially requested to try-out since the director plans for the club to be composed of a large proportion of upperclassmen.

"Y. W. SEE"

As every student in school is a member of the Y. W. C. A., perhaps 'twould help the freshmen a bit to go to prayers on Thursday night and witness the program of "Y. W. See."

No doubt, you wonder what are the special duties of each cabinet member. Perhaps you see one of the said "busy bodies" rushing about the halls with a "Goodness! But I have so much on my mind expression; you think that you'd like to go up to her and ask her what it is all about. Having, however, a sense of pity—as 500 inquiring freshmen might be slightly annoying—you conquer your curiosity and meander nonchalantly on to your destination.

And how may you find out the answer to your wonderings? Simply this! You have to ask no questions—we're all still young and believe in children being seen and not hear—everything will be explained in the form of short skits on Thursday night. Come! See!

ATHLETIC ANNOUNCEMENTS

Hockey

With fall comes thoughts of Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving and with Thanksgiving—hockey. No one who has never played hockey can get the thrill that comes through watching a game being played. Come out to practices, freshmen and upperclassmen and be able to enjoy to the fullest Thanksgiving Day whether playing for your class or cheering your team on to victory! For upperclassmen we suggest that you work for your team and do your part towards putting your colors on the cup. For freshmen we add to this suggestion that athletic sports of all sorts are a sure cure for homesickness. Schedule for practice will be posted on the bulletin board.

At five o'clock varsity try-outs will be held. This year we are looking forward to another game with William and Mary with even better results than last year.

Tennis

The tennis tournament will be played off as soon as possible. Participants will sign up on the card on the bulletin board. Doubles will not be played off until spring but the singles tournament will soon begin, so get out your tennis racquets, get your muscles limbered up and start into practicing. The winner gives to her class points towards the cup and earns for herself seventy points towards a blazer.

SPANISH CLUB HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Friday afternoon at 5 o"clock the Spanish Club had its first meeting in the form of a "weenie roast". After plans for the coming year were discussed, the "dogs" were roasted and games were played.

The club is very fortunate this year in having as its sponsor, Miss Mildred Dickinson, who spent several weeks in Spain this past summer.

Falconer Gift Shop
Books Engraving
Stationery Pen Repairing
PARTY AND DANCE FAVORS A SPECIALTY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At The Eaco Theatre Week of Oct. 8—13

MON. & TUES.—"DRUMS OF LOVE" D. W. Griffith's most startling achievement since "The Birth of a Nation." A mighty spectacle of the storm-tossed passions! It combines the drama of "Way Down East," the unforgettable romance of "Broken Blossoms" and the magnificent sweep of "Orphans of the Storm!"" It has a cast of 2,000—headed by such great stars as Mary Philbin, Lionel Marrymore and Don Alvarado! This is a very big super-special production, produced on a lavish scale. It is being played on percentage. News reel also show. Mat. each day at 4 o'clock.

WED.—John Gilbert with Renee Adoree and Estelle Taylor in "Monte Christo," the world's most widely read novel, by Alexandre Dumas. The story that has thrilled millions of readers for a hundred years made into a fascinating master film with a brilliant star in every role of importance. Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

THURS.—Norma Shearer, Owen Moore and Ralph Forbes in "THE ACTRESS" a special production based on "Trelawney of the Wells." The barriers of wealth tore them apart . . . Society's demands forbade his marrying an actress . . .an unusual screen romance, made from Pinero's world famous stage classic. Also comedy. Mat. 4 o'clock.

FRI. & SAT.—At Mats. only—A return engagement of Norma Talmadge in the super special production, CAMILLE". Men feared her because she was so beautiful. But one forgot fear, fortune and the city's gossip to bring her the first tender love her fevered young life had ever known. A modern version of Dumas' classic romance. Also comedy.

FRI & SAT.—At night only—Dolores Del Rio with Warner Baxter in "RAMONA" Helen Hunt Jackson's' American love classic. A super-special production. For drama, romance, spectacle and action "Ramona" can never be equalled! The great American love classic of the screen. Also comedy. Please come Friday night as the house will be overcrowded Saturday night.

S. T. C. girls admission prices when tickets are purchased at college. Mon. and Tues. mats and night and Fri. and Sat. night 35c. Other shows 25c.

SEE SENIOR SING SATURDAY

THE ROTUNDA

POE

COOPERATE WITH YOUR STUDENT GOVERNMENT

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1928 Number 3

ZETA TAU ALPHA GIVES SCHOLARSHIP

Presented as Memorial to the Founders

At the National Convention of Zeta Tau Alpha held in July at Bigwin Inn., Ontario, the convention voted to present to the Virgiina State Teachers College at Farmville, Virginia, a gift of one hundred dollars each year for the next six years, this gift to be known as the Maude Jones Horner scholarship of Zeta Tau Alpha. The scholarship will probably be renewed at the end of six years, if conditions warrant it.

There are only a few stip lations connected with the scholarship. One is that the recipient be preferably a girl from Buckingham County. The money need not be returned unless the recipient so desires.

Zeta Tau Alpha asks that the scholarship be administered if possible, through the Virginia Normal League. The scholarship will be presented on October the fifteenth of each year.

The first chapter, Alpha, of Zeta Tau was established here, at Farmville, on October the fifteenth, 1898 by Maude Jones Horner, Alice Bland Coleman, Ethel Coleman, Van Name, Ruby Leigh Orgain, Frances Yancey Smith, Della Lewis Hundley, Helen M. Crafford, Alice Welsh, and Mary Jones Batte. By the ruling the the National Panhellenic Congress concerning normal schools the fraternity was forced to give up their chapter here in 1906.

CLASS COUNCIL BEGINS PROGRAM FOR YEAR

On Thursday night, at seven o'clock, the Class Council, composed of the president and one representative from each class, met in the Y. W. C. A. cabinet room.

The Council is a relatively new organization in the school, but its influence has already been felt. The purpose of the class council is to act as a "go-between" between the Y. W. and Student Council and the entire student body—that is, to put bigger things across by working through smaller groups. It also hopes to create a finer and better class and school spirit.

Louise Vaughan, the senior class representative was elected president for this year. After a short business meeting, Dr. Jarman talked to the council, telling them some of the things he expected them to accomplish this year. Before them, as an immediate problem,he put the question of freshman initiation. Plans are now being made for a dignified and impressive initiation of freshmen, retaininig, however, the custom of the wearing of rat caps by the newcomers.

The council has for its faculty advisors Miss Grenels and Mr. Grainger.

CLASS PRESIDENTS

Elsie Clements, President Sophomore Class; Lucille Graves, President Junior Class; "Red" Foster, President Senior Class

"HITS AND BITS" ENTERTAINS MANY

Choruses and Dances Feature of the Program

"Hits and Bits," a musical review, was presented last Friday evening in the auditorium. This entertainment, as the first given this year, has given the freshmen a favorable impressioin of the talent of S. T. C. girls.

The opening number was a chorus composed of Mary Todd, Claudia Fleming, Nora Petty, Billy Boothe Helen Robinson, Leyburn Hyatt, "Bugs" Rivercomb, Martha Ann Laing Eleanor Hogan, Elizabeth Munn, Nancy Nelms, and Elizabeth Ferrell. The next number was a solo by Lillian Bennett, followed by a duet by Buddy Nelms and Buddy Munn. The fourth number, "That's' My Weakness Now," was presented by the chorus.

Martha Walter entertained with "The Match Girl, a Monologue." This was followed by Helen Robinson and Nora Petty. Lillian Bennett appropriately dressed, gave her interpretation of the bowery dance.

A stunt was given, "Meet Me Round the Corner," by Anne Guy, Louise Arthur, Elizabeth Antrim, Margaret Leonard, Mary Beasley, Catherine Wayt, Florence Booton, Elizabeth Etheridge. The chorus closed the performance with "There's a Little Joy for a Girl and Boy," in which Mary Todd gave a toe dance.

An added attraction was the pianist, Pearl Johnson, whose playing added to the success of 'Hits and Bits."

S. T. C. AND H. S. C. TO PRODUCE PLAY

First Appearance of Masculine Actors

The Dramatic Club of S. T. C. and the club of Hampden-Sydney College will merge in giving the first performance of the year. The play to be given is"Peg O' My Heart."

For many years there has been a great deal of talk about giving a play in pardnership with Hampden-Sydney but not until this year have our wishes, for a trial in such a performance, been granted.

The play is to be under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler. The cast has not been completely selected yet, but the very best talent of S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney will be used in this performance.

VARSITY HOCKEY SQUAD BEGINS PRACTICE FOR SEASON

The following girls have been selected for the varsity squad. From the squad the varsity team will be chosen to play William and Mary in November.

Elizabeth Atwater
Mary Baskerville
F. Edwards
Marie Elder
Elizabeth Epperson
Margaret Finch
Gwendolyn Hardy
Mary Frances Hatchett
Adele Hutchinson
Dorothy Lohr
Allie Oliver
Kathleen Parks
Elizabeth Peake
Dolly Reed
Kathryn Rhodes
Mary Robertson
F. Schofield
Maude Seaborn
Laura M. Smith
Laura N. Smith
D. Thompson
Louise Vaughan
Lib Walker
Mary Belle Wheeler
Emma Woods
Mary Jane Wilkinson
Ruth Newton

S. T. C. SELECTED BY BRAZILIAN EDUCATOR TYPICAL OF AMERICAN TEACHERS COLLEGES

Visit to College Reported to the Brazilian Government

Dr. Ainsio Teireira was appointed by the director-general of public instruction of Bahia, Brazil, to make a study of public instruction in the United States and report the results of his study to the governor of the State of Bohia, Brazil. This report has been published by official press of the State of Bohia, Brazil. This very report by Dr. Teireira is of interest to us. Last fall, in the month of October, Dr. Teireira spent three days in our college. Many, upon seeing him, asked who he was and why was he here. He was studying our college.

In the report, "Aspectos Americanos de Educacao" Dr. Teireira states that he visited many different schools of this country and that he selected Farmville as one of the places where he thought he could best observe teacher training. He devoted one chapter to the description of the work of the college.

The following is a translation of Dr. Teireira's impression of Farmville:

"The Normal College at Farmville is another illustration of the fine points of American education, Situated in a pleasant locality of about thirty-five hundred people, it occupies, on a straight elevation, a group of fine buildings, which are joined together by galleries, one of which is adorned with columns which gives it an air of grace and eloquence. One other very modern school building adorns the campus of the college, there function the practice school, a grade school, with all the grades, primary and secondary, in the most progressive condition of appointments

(Continued on Page Three)

Y. W. C. A. HOLDS RECOGNITION RITE

New Members Received by Candle Light

The new members of the Y. W. C. A. were recognized at a very impressive candle light service Friday night.

The processional composed of the Y. W. Cabinet members entered singing "Father of Lights." Following this Margaret Finch made a short talk in which she compared the candle lights of the new members to the light of the life of Christ, impressing upon them the value of a life of service. "Follow the Gleam" was played softly as the new members lighted their candles at the altar of service. The Cabinet and the new members formed a semi-circle out on the campus, where with lights held high they repeated the Y. W. C. A. motto: "Not by might nor by power, but by my spirit sayeth the Lord of Hosts."

FIRST OPEN CABINET MEETING IS HELD

On Saturday, October 6, at 2 o'clock the first open Y. W. C. A. cabinet meeting of the year was held in the Y. W. C. A. reception room. At this meeting, which was attended by advisors and committee members, reports were given by the chairman of each standing committee of the work done by the committee since the opening of school.

Open cabinet meetings will be held on the first Saturday afternoon of each month at 2 o'clock. All girls interested in Y. W. C. A. work are invited to attend.

ZETA TAU WINS CUP

Zeta Tau Sorority has won the cup for 1927-1928. This cup is presented annually to the sorority having the highest scholastic average for the year.

DR. A. B. CHANDLER DIES AT HIS HOME

Dr. A. B. Chandler, president of the Fredericksburg State Teachers College, died at his home in that city, Thursday, September 20. He had been at the college attending to duties of the opening of school and had just returned home when he suffered a stroke of apoplexy which resulted in his death. He had been connected with the college at Fredericksburg since its establishment in 1911.

FIFTY STUDENTS GO ON FIRST HIKE

Fifty energetic members of the student body went on the first of a series of five mile hikes sponsored by the Monogram Club on Saturday afternoon, October 6.

The hike was led by Emma Woods, a member of the club.

There has been a bulletin for "signing up" for the hike on the athletic board for the past week. The entire series of hikes gives fifty points toward the final blazer awarded by the Athletic Association.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 33, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor — LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor — CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary — GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic — KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News — LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News — EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social — FLORENCE REED, '31
Art — CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '30

Reporters

ISABEL MACDONALD, '29 — WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBOROUGH, '31

Proof Reader

MARY JANE WILKINSON

Managers

Business Manager — MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant — FLORENCE BOOTEN, '30
Circulation — ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant — JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. Thsse will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

A CHALLENGE FROM OUR FRESHMEN

Recently the freshmen were given a brief student government training course, ending with an examination. At this time they were given an opportunity to express their feeling toward the honor system of government.

The answers received are worthy of admiration by all students. That we have a freshman class that brought here the high ideals expressed in their opinion of student government, fills us with pride. With such an attitude at the beginning they cannot fail to develop into true daughters of Alma Mater—unless, indeed, their ideals are smashed by iconoclastic upper classmen.

Were we to set ourselves to compose a thesis on honor in college, we could not improve upon the definitions of honor selected at random from the freshman papers. These were found: Honor is our respect to our school; an aid in helping us to be good citizens; it gives a pupil the chance to live without being driven; it compels a student to uphold her self respect. The honor system is an organization to promote higher ideals, independence and honesty; it is a means of submerging individual inclinations to reasonable rules and regulations.

To our mind, there could be no greater challenge to upperclassmen than this expression of their willingness to subordinate individual desire to the common good. They look to the upperclassmen for an interpretation of their ideas of student government and honor. At the end of the year, will they have developed their ideals to a higher point because we have become disillusioned, lawless members of our college. It is up to us.

WORLD NEWS

The Antarctic seems to possess a magnetic quality for a second expedition has left New York for the South Pole in attempt to establish scientific facts regarding the little known Antarctic. Like the Richard E. Byrd expedition, this one under George Wilkins, sails under the American flag, notwithstanding the fact that Wilkins is an Australian. Captain Wilkins made a successful flight across the South polar sea last spring, so he's not new in this field of work. The expedition expects to return in 1929.

On the coast of Santo Domingo, where Christopher Columbus and his sailors landed in their first exporation of the West Indies, all the nations of Americas are uniting to build a Columbus Memorial lighthouse. The project is sponsored by the Pan American Union. No political committee will handle the designing of the memorial but the choice will be left to the architects from every nation of the world who care to compete for the grand prize offered for the best design.

This great lighthouse of sea and air will overlook the island which Columbus perhaps loved more than any other place in the world. It will be more than a monument to Columbus, according to "The Nation," it will be a symbol of potential friendship of all American peoples.

The September hurricane killed more people—1,500 to 2,300 estimated by Governor Martin and others—in the Lake Okeechobee region of southern Florida than anywhere else, in its terrible sweep of the West Indies and the mainland up to Cape Hatteras. The story of this sweeping hurricane presents tragedy on all sides.

The Prince of Wales drove a golf ball from the top of the Great Pyramid. An Englishman just must have his tee.—New York Evening Post.

A HITCH IN HIKING

New Jersey has legislated against hitch-hiking. A traffic law went into effect on September 1 making it an offense for anyone either to ask for or to offer a ride on the open highways of that state. This is bad news for the hundreds of college students who are accustomed to pass through New Jersey on their cross-country hiking trips. And it is handwriting on the wall for hitch-hikers in all parts of the country, for it points to similar legislation elsewhere as the evil practice of thugs and highwaymen masked as hikers becomes intolerable. There was a happy time when it was possible to make one's three hundred miles a day without encountering more than the average amount of snubs from the long distance motorists anywhere in the country. But now drivers scrutinize the hiker with care before accepting him, or else whizz by, busily pointedly engaged in looking elsewhere. And one does not blame them. In many cases their hospitality has cost them their pocketbook when they mistook a thug for a college student on vacation. Yet, it is a pity that this method of free and speedy transportation is passing, as indeed it seems to be. The thousands of young men, and women, who satisfied their wanderlust so inexpensively will have to suffer because of a handful of highwaymen.—The New Student.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

YALE TO OFFER FLYING COURSE

Negotiations which were recently opened at the request of many undergraduates for the establishment of a ground school course in flying at Yale have been successful and the course will be inaugurated in October, according to a recent announcement of the Yale Aeronautical Society. Although approximately 160 students have applied for instruction in aviation, it will only be possible to accommodate 20 this year. Those who fail to secure enrollment in the regular course, however, will have the opportunity of taking other instruction in the rudiments of flying.
—The Brackety-Ack

NEGRO EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES LARGER

Washington, Oct. 3—The number of institutions for the higher education of the negro race in the United States more than doubled, and enrollments increased more than six-fold during the past 10 years, according to the report recently issued by the Bureau of Education of the Interior Department.

In 1917, according to the report, there were 31 negro institutions offering college work, while in 1927, of the 79 institutions included in the survey, there were 77 engaged in college work.

The enrollments in the 31 institutions 10 years ago amounted to 2,132 negro students, as compared with 13,680, attending institutions surveyed in 1917—an increase of 550 per cent.

The annual income of the negro universities and colleges in the United States also gained at a rapid rate. In 1917 it totaled $2,283,000, while in 1927 the annual income was $8,560,000, or an increase of 275 per cent.
—The Davidsonian.

"The Virginia Tech" reports that there are forty-five co-eds enrolled at V. P. I. Among these are Elsa Gudheim and Harriet Faulkner who were at S. T. C. last year.

From "The Tar Heel" we notice with interest that a fencing club has been organized at the University of North Carolina. It is hoped that the active interest of the University in this sport will further the plans of fencing enthusiasts in other southern schools to petition the Southern Conference Committee to recognize it as a regular sport in athletic competition.

WHEN THERE IS REMUNERATION

There doesn't seem to be much of a limit to what jobs students will take when they are hard up for money. The employment bureau at the University of Wisconsin recently supplied an undertaker with a student who was to sleep in the undertaking parlor and keep watch over the corpses. Several men applied for this job that was once Oliver Twist's.—The Virginia Tech.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c — Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

HERE IS SOMETHING
TO WRITE HOME
ABOUT
AND WITH TOO

SENSATIONAL STATIONERY SALE

This Week We Offer—
1 lb. box Crushed Parchment and 50 envelopes to match for - - - 55c
Regular 75c Value

BALDWINS
"The S. T. C. Girl's Main Street Home"

THE TEST OF FRIENDSHIP

It is the silences that test
The strength of friendship. When apart
Though one be East and one be West,
If you, though changed, unchanged of heart
Can wait until the absence ends,
Then you may call yourself a friend.

It is not difficult to love
When hand in hand a merry mile
You walk with skies of blue above
That give a smile for every smile;
But when you walk life's way alone,
Then is the heart of friendship shown.

Yea, that the test, and if it be
Our paths awhile must separate
Be glad the opportunity
Is given us to show how great,
How sure, how true, through snow and flowers,
This endless friendship, friend, of ours.

J. S.

DECEPTION

You looked at me and smiled
As if I should know your thoughts;
I looked wise and smiled too—
But I'll never know.

S. S.

WINDOWS

I have noticed that whenever there is a room full of people those sitting nearest the windows seem most contented. They seem to think that gazing out on the world excuses them from conversation. I sometimes wonder what it is they see. Nothing in the room can cause that rapt expression that all window gazers have. I look out perhaps on a garden or trees, or the sky. No one of these can hold my attention long, but while gazinig the feeling of out-of-doors, of which all these objects are a part, sweeps over me. I, too, feel withdrawn from the crowd. Soon I am drifting away, away, away. I have come under the spell that is cast on all who look out of windows.

F. W.

NEW MEMBERS OF THE DEBATING CLUB

The Debating Club wishes to announce the following new members:

Peggy Walton
Edith Coleman
Ethel Fisher
Allie Oliver
Ella Webb
Lois Fraser
Anne Hopkins
Ruth Newton
Annie May Davis
Sarah Rowbotham
Rena Robinson
Virginia Lovegrave
Elizabeth Drewy
Sara Hubbard
Lois Hilton
Josephine Smith
Mary Godwin

SENIORS HOSTESSS AT C. H. S. TEA DANCE

On Saturday afternoon, October 6, the senior class of College High School was hostess at a tea dance given in the recreation hall.

The Hampden-Sydney orchestra under new management furnished music for dancing. Refreshments were served which added to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

BRAZILIAN WRITES FARMVILLE S. T. C.

(Continued from page one)

and methods.

"A visit to the main building brings one first in contact with a reception hall amply and modernly furnished, in the center of which is an admirable copy of a celebrated statue of Joan of Arc, which gives a singular note of inspiration. Joining this hall are various other smaller reception halls, a number of rest rooms, an immense recreation hall where more than one thousand students divert themselves, and auditorium with the same capacity, a library with comfortable reading rooms and more than fifteen thousand books. It possesses a profusion of newspapers and magazines which gives evidence of immediate contact with the life of the moment. The gymnasium and dining hall have the same vast proportions necessary to accomodate the aforementioned number of students.

"I was especially interested in the dining room where there are one hundred round tables, covered with white linen and a profusion of table napkins. It reminded me more of the luxurious chamber of a trans-Atlantic liner de luxe than of a college mess hall. At each table one of the girls acted as hostess and directed the service of the dishes. Fifteen maids served more than one thousand persons and the tables are set and cleared off at meal time in a little more than forty minutes.

"I next vistied the dormitories with their modern private rooms, all with bath service; afterwards I visited the Y. W. C. A. rooms with their conference halls and new reception room, and the different lodges of the sororities, student societies with diverse and varied ends; and finally I visited the classes, the professors' offices and laboratories.

"The example most illustrative in the college at Farmville, of the realization of this the practice method is in the department of Geography, directed by Miss Grenels. Miss Grenels for more than an hour, exhibited to me her method of work and the objectives which were aimed at in the courses. The material, in itself, Geography, is taught more to met the experienced needs of a student, of this she presents an intelligent and original conception. I shall give in the words of Miss Grenels herself, of how she understands the teaching of Geography: 'The end of this department' said this professor, 'is triple: to train the student to observe with detail and exactitude the world in which we live, to note the forces at work in moulding the earth's' surface and preparing it to be the residence of man, to connect oneself with the phenomena presented by observation and to express clearly and concisely the conclusions which one has arrived at; to arouse a wider sympathy and a more generous vision of mankind as a result of the study of races and their habitats, industries, habits and responses to the physical medium, to prepare the student to teach Geography in the public schools.'

"How does she realize this ambitious program? I could not better do this than to translate the conduct of some of her lectures, reports with which Miss Grenels allowed me to observe. But the extent of this work does not permit me to enter the material details."

Dr. Teireira seems to have been favorably impressed with the college here and it is of real interest to us to know that we were taken as the college typical.

AMONG NEW BOOKS

ALL KNEELING

(By Anne Parrish.—Published by Harper and Brothers 1928)

In "All Kneeling," Anne Parrish depicts for us with startling reality the character of a girl who is thoroughly selfish, and who takes herself and her art so seriously that neither she nor her worshippers are able to recognize her seemingly unconscious pose. All kneel to the lovely and supposedly intellectual heroine of the story, giving her much more credit than she deserves and never piercing her armor of deceit or seeing through her poses of soul beauty.

The theme of the book centers around this one character who is in dead earnest, takinig her poetry and soul with utmost seriousness only because of her love of self.

There is very little plot the story and the entire characters are introduced only as background for the central figure, but one who cares to study character will certainly enjoy "All Kneeling. One can not read this characterization without seeing traits of his own associates thrown to the fore.

It is difficult at first to discover whether the author is gently ridiculing her character or gradually developing her to show more depth of soul than she appears to have to the reader, so graceful and subtle is the irony which is employed.

ALUMNAE NEWS

Among the brides of the summer were several from Farmville and Prince Edward County. One of these was the daughter of Professor and Mrs. Leon E. Bell, Miss Elizabeth Bell, who was at one time a student at S. T. C. She transferred to Randolph Macon Woman's College, where she was elected to membership in Pi Gamma Mu. She graduated in the morning with the A. B. degree and was married in Farmville that afternoon to Mr. Floyd F. Swertfeger of University, Va. This session Mr. Swertfeger is a member of the philosophy faculty in the University of Illinois, and Mrs. Swertfeger is studying for a higher degree.

Miss Daphne Gilliam, of Farmville was married on June 16 to Darius Todd Wool, in Baltimore, Md. Her new home is 452 Riverside Drive, New York City.

The marriage of Miss Mary Alma Glenn to Malcom Roy Taylor took place June 6 at the home of the bride's mother in Prospect.

Miss Cyrilla Cocks was another Prospect bride; the groom was Woodie Arthur Leffue, of Boones Mill, Va.

Miss Florence Riss, of Suffolk, and Walter Richardson, of Farmville, were quietly married in Suffolk, June 14 at the home of Mrs. Walter Joyner, an aunt of the groom. After a northern bridal tour, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson returned to Farmville, where Mr. Richardson is connected in business with his father, Mr. George Richardson.

The marriage of Miss Mattie Rogers Smith, of Martinsville, and Dr. William Jennings Sydnor, of Farmville, occurred Saturday morning, September 29, at the home of the bride's mother.

FACULTY MEMBERS AT SUMMER SCHOOL

Some of our faculty believing that to teach well you must study, spent the summer doing graduate work. Among these teacher students were:

Miss Bierbower, Univ. of Virginia.
Mr. Bowman, Univ. of Chicago.
Miss Carter, Columbia
Miss Craddock, work with Dr. Freeman of Chicago.
Miss Foolkes, Peabody College
Miiss Grenels, Univ. of Wisconsin.
Miss Haynes, Peabody College
Miss Mix, Columbia.
Miss Stephenson, Univ. of Virginia
Miss Stubbs, Univ. of Chicago
Miss Stubbs, Peabody
Miss Taliaferro, Columbia
Miss Tucker, Peabody
Miss Waters, Peabody
Miss Supper, Columbia
Miss Tupper, Columbia
Miss Turner, Columbia.

NEW VOICES FOR CHORAL CLUB ARE CHOSEN

The Choral Club has limited its membership this year to upperclassmen, excepting only a few freshmen with unusually good voices. As a consequence there is added interest among upperclassmen. Many girls tried out for membership.

The following girls have been admitted to the club.

Elizabeth Agee
Elizabeth Antrim
Freda Bingham
Yancie Brooking
Lillian Bovell
Mabel Barksdale
Lee Bacon
Kathryn Chambers
Edith Coleman
Beatrice Carico
Louise Clark
Mildred Deans
Eloise Davis
Margarite Foster
Audrey Franke
Elizabeth Falconer
Frances Guthrie
Ann Guy
Courtney Godsey
Ernestine Hillsman
Lillian Halstead
Marie Hinton
Catherine Jones
Elizabeth Levick
Martha Ann Laing
Mildred Maddrey
Virginia McCoy
Arinthia Middleton
Lucille Moon
Flora Martin
Bernice Morris
Lutitia Penn
Eloise Paulett
Myra Reese
Leslie Ritter
Virginia Robertson
Elva Reynolds
Julia Shackleton
Mary Simmerman
Bess Thompson
Mildred Varner
Ethel Wiley
Gertrude Wimbush
Daisy Williams

NEW MEMBERS BID TO KAPPA DELTA PI

Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Phi announces the following new members:

Lucile Graves
Sammy Scott
Lucy Thompson
Yancey Brooking
Lois Fraser
Martha Henderlite
Leyburn Hyatt
Grace B. Moran
Lucille Norman
Evelyn Thompson

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"Drinks and Drugs"
TOILET ARTICES, SODA MAGAZINES, CANDY AND STATIONERY

S. T. C. HEAQUARTERS
THE HUB
DEPT. STORE
WELCOMES YOU
And Solicits Your Patronage
Open a
CHARGE ACCOUNT
Reduced Prices to All—
S. T. C. GIRLS

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS".
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
(We invite your charge accounts)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

DRESS WELL AND SUCCEED
CORRECT CLOTHES
For the Round of College Life
SHOES
For Every Occasion
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
Farmville, Virginia

Midnight Oil

"If I'm studying when you come in, wake me up."—Princeton Tiger.

Martha Hattus: "I just thought of a good joke."

Frances Potts: "Aw, get your mind off yourself."

"Hey, watcha smearin' yeast on your watch for?"

"Doesn't this label say, for that run down feeling?"

Two Fables

Fable: Once there was a H. S. boy who wrote his girl and didn't use that "I've-been-awful-busy" gag.

Fable: Once there was an S. T. C. girl who heard from her H. S. B. and believed that "I've-been-awful-busy" gag.

Louise M.: "Do you really like conceited men better than the other kind?"

Critic: "Gee, but you have a bunch of bum jokes in this issue."

Editor: "Oh, I don't know. I put a bunch of them in the stove and the fire roared.—The Pointer.

Why Teachers Get Gray

Teacher: "Now, children, what do the little cows say?"

Children: "Moo moo."

Teacher: "And what do the little puppies say?"

Children: "Bow wow."

Teacher: "Now tell me what the little black crows say."

The Class: Gooper feathers are so soft."

Say it with flowers,
Say it with sweets,
Say it with kisses,
Say it with eats,
Say it with jewelry
Say it with drink—
But always be careful not to Say it with INK.

One of our embarrassing moments: After having told your girl it's your own car, and then not knowing how to make the windshield wiper work.

"I want some hot poppered butt corn—I mean cot buttered hop corn—that is corn buttered corn butt, or rather hop cuttered pot born, I mean, —oh heck, gimme some peanuts."

Gypsy Maid: "I tella your fortune, mister."

S. T. C. Freshman: "How much?"

"Twenty-five cents."

"Correct."

DRAMATIC CLUB IS ENTERTAINED AT TEA

On Thursday, October 4, Miss Wheeler entertained the Dramatic Club with a tea at her apartment on High street.

The guests called between the hours of four and six. They were met at the door by Mabel Fitzpatrick. In the living room Miss Wheeler poured tea. She was assisted in serving by members of the club. About thirty guests called during the afternoon.

CONCERNING ONE OF OUR FACULTY MEMBERS

"The Peabody Reflector and Alumni News" has the following to say of Miss Dorothy May Foolkes, recently added to our faculty:—

Standing out as the leading member of her class, was Miss Dorothy May Foolkes, of Louisiana. Miss Foolkes is the winner of the Algernon Sydney Sullivan award, a medallion presented annually to the man or women student in the graduating class having manifested the possession of such characteristics of heart, mind and conduct as evince a spirit of love and helpfulness to other men and women. Miss Foolkes lives near New Orleans. She has been in Peabody for four years, during which she was president of the Y. W. C. A., president of the Girls' Chapter Literary Society, a leader in the Episcopal club and one of the most popular girls in the college. She has majored in geography and taken a minor in fine arts, and plans to teach or do social service work. In addition to being an excellent student, Miss Foolkes is one of the prettiest and most attractive girls on the campus.

FOR COLLEGE VOTERS

College students who wish to vote this fall are advised to acquaint themselves with the laws governing absentee voting in their state well before election time. In 1924 many such students were deprived of their franchise through ignorance and, as this election promises to evoke more college interest than any recent ones, it is very likely that many will discover at the last minute that they cannot vote. Very often the political opinions of town are at variance with those of gown and the student who does not come to the polls armed with a thorough knowledge of his rights loses his vote.

Studies of the laws affecting the absentee voter have been made by Simon Michelet of the National Get-Out-the Vote Club and Helen M. Rocca, secretary of political education of the League of Women Voters and inquiries addressed to the national offices a Washington will no doubt be promptly answered. Thousands of college students who considered their votes lost on account of their inability to register in person may learn how to vote from these organizations. Many states have recently altered their election laws to facilitate absentee voting and these organizations have all the latest changes.—The New Student.

CHILDREN'S DANCES

Saturday night, October 13th, at 6:30 the senior class is giving a sing. It's the first entertainment of its kind to be given this year and it is going to be a delightful treat. Eileen Hoose of Roanoke with some of her pupils will give a number of attractive dances which change from a "Waltz of the Flowers" and "Among My Souvenirs" to the lovely "Doll Dance" and the ever popular "Black Bottom." The program includes other dances, some of which are quaintly old-fashioned, acrobatics, and musical selections. There will be something to please every fancy, so be sure to be there ready to enjoy yourself every moment. This is the only opportunity there will be to enjoy the dances of Miss Hoose and her pupils, so don't miss it.

Remember, senior sing, October 13, at 6:30.

THE WHEREABOUTS OF SOME OF OUR '28 ALUMNAE

In June our seniors and many of our sophomores left S. T. C. not to return in September. We greatly miss all of them and we wish them much happiness and success in their new work. As yet we have not learned just where all of our '28 girls are, but we have the names of some and the places where they are teaching this winter.

Virginia Updike, Blackstone
Evelyn Dulaney, Roanoke
Jackie Woodson, Salem
Elia Putney, Chatham
Elizabeth Hutt, Darlington, S. C.
Gladys Oliver, Staunton
Phyllis Wood, Lynchburg
Virginia Ellis, Staunton
Ella Louise Moore, Holland
Frances Walmsley, Disputanta
Nancy Holt, Crewe
Alyce Page Adams, Courtland
Frances Morgan, Drivers
Ellen Babb, Courtland
Josephine Peters, Murat
Marnetta Souder, Newport News
Greenhow Parker, Danville
Virginia Smith, Ivor
Marian Fitchett, Drewryville
Colleen Maddox, Crewe
Mary Tucker, Crewe
Margaret Lifsey, Newsoms
Billy Holladay, Hawaian Islands
Bettie Le Cato, Pungoteague
Virginia Ralph, Onancock
Helen Davidson, Norfolk
Frances Volk, Morrison
Bessie Brodie, Fork Union
Buna Mae Butler, Ivor
Polly Aderholt, Hopewell
Mary Duncan, Windsor
Anna Burgess, Norfolk
Marjorie Goodwin, Portsmouth
Mary Brownley, Portsmouth
Louise Shoffner, Roanoke
Barbara Willcox, Matoaca, W. Va.
Anne Deffenbaugh, Chester
Louise Craft, Staunton.
Ethel Murray, Woodlawn
Mary Blackwell Parker
Helen Sturgis, Temperanceville
Virginia Buxton, Great Bridge
Virginia Rice, Craddock
Phyllis Pedigo, Covington
Harriet Booker is studying at the Pan-American School in Richmond.
Edna Atwood has gone in training.

ROTUNDA STAFF ENJOYS PICNIC

On Tuesday evening, October 2, the Rotunda staff celebrated the beginning of this year with a picnic in the meadow near the hospital.

After a supper of rolls, hamburger, pickles, cakes, fruit, coca-cola, and roasted weinies the girl sat around the fire and sang, and told stories. When the fire had burned low and "Follow the Gleam" had been sung, they went back to college prepared to work for a better Rotunda this year.

NEW MEMBERS OF 14 CLUB

The 14 Club announces that following new members:

Beth Brockenbrough
Minnie Brown
Mildred Elmore
Liz Lacy
Allie K. Libby
Martha Anne Lairg
Flora Martin
Teeny Miles
Lula Milner
Nora Petty
Helen Robinson
Katherine Roller
Frances Swadley
Mary Todd
Lula Turner
Mary Will Vincent
Liz Watkins

This "good time" club is looking forward to a "wow" of a year.

ATHLETICS

Amendment to the Constitution of the Athletic Association.

It has been necessary to change the number of yearly hikes from 3-(10 mile) to 6-(5mile) hikes. Only 50 points per year may be earned by hikes.

Tennis

The tennis tournament will begin on Friday, October 12, so the poster at which all contestants must sign, will have to be taken down on Thursday, October 11. Everyone interested in playing must sign up on or before Thursday. The number to date is small —so hurry up, snap into it and start weilding the little racquet.

The winner of the tournament gives five points to her colors and wins 50 points towards her blazer. Every girl who can play at all is expected to do her part towards putting her colors on the cup.

Monogram Hikes

On last Saturday motorists on the Lynchburg road were no doubt astonished to see a large number of girls from S. T. C. rather rapidly walking in the vicinity of the Norfolk and Western trestle. Had they investigated they would have learned that this party was composed of girls taking the first monogram hike of the season.

Under the leadership of Emma Woods they started forth, valiantly, and an hour and a half later they returned to school with the first five miles behind them.

So thoroughly was this hike enjoyed that they all expect to take the one next Saturday in charge of Allie Oliver. Everyone wishing to go should sign on the athletic bulletin board as soon as possible.

ANNUAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT PLANNED

The annual tennis tournament, which is open to all students of S. T. C., is being held this week. Everyone is urged to sign up on the bulletin board for either singles or doubles. Much interest is always manifested ini the tournaments as the winner gains ten points towards the cup for her class.

HUB FASHION SHOW PRESENTED AT EACO

Thursday evening a Fashion Show, including coats, hats, dresses, shoes, and accessories taken from the stock of the Hub Department Store was a feature of the program at the Eaco Theatre. The latest styles from New York were modeled by young ladies of the town and college. The display included outfits for all occasions.

Black and brown are much in evidence for both dresses and sport clothes this season. A little fulness, a drape, an uneven hem or maybe just ruffles makes each dress distinctively different.

Evening dresses of lace and soft silks have the uneven hem and will be worn shorter this year.

Hats will be of felt or beaded velvet for the most part. Shoes and hose must be dainty and correct.

S. T. C. GIRLS ATTEND DAHLIA SHOW

On Friday, October 5, the eighth annual Dahlia Show was held at the armory. The free-will offering received was for the benefit of the Associated Charities and Hospital Linen fund. The prize dahlias exhibited were raised in or around Farmville. Excellent luncheons and dinners were served. Cut flowers, candy and fancy work were for sale.

Falconer Gift Shop
Books Engraving
Stationery Pen Repairing
PARTY AND DANCE FAVORS A SPECIALTY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

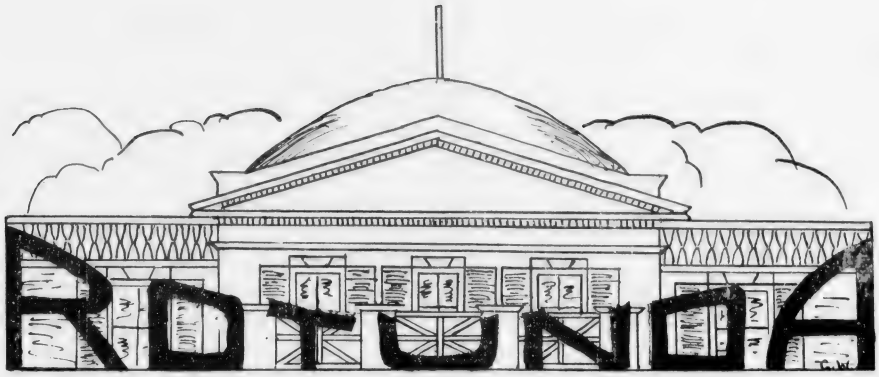
THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At The Eaco Theatre Week of October 15—19

MON. and TUES.—Lon Chaney in his greatest film "LAUGH, CLOWN, LAUGH". A special production. This one can be matched against them all for drama and thrills. Here is an unusual story, masterfully acted by the greatest of film stars, superbly directed by the man who made Beau Geste. Never will you forget Lon Chaney as the clown who finds love for one fleeting moment, and then loses it, hiding his heartbreak behind a painted smile. This is a great picture. Also news reel and oddity reel. Mats. at 4.

WED. Tom Mix with beautiful Caryl Lincoln and Tony his wonder horse in "HELLO CHEYENNE." A special production. A long distance Western classic showing Tom at his best. A story that will surprise and entertain you by its unique situations and thrilling action. Also comedy and oddity reel. Mat. at 4 o'clock.



THURS.—Edmund Lowe and Mary Astor in "DRESSED TO KILL" The fascinating adventures of a lone girl among the wolves of society who are "Dressed to Kill" in sheep"s clothing. A thrilling tale of the highways and byways of the underworld. Also comedy. Mat. at 4.

FRI. & SAT. at Mats only—Clara Bow in the Paramount picture" GET YOUR MAN". A repeat picture. No pistol, no cannon—not even a bloodhound! Just a little high powered vamping and Clara gets her man! A bigger hit than 'It". Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. nights only—John Gilbert, Renee Adoree and Ernest Torrence ini "THE COSSACKS" 'a super special production that is a picturization of the novel by Lyof N. Tolstoi. Here is one of the big pictures of any season! The brilliant stars of "The Big Parade"—in another stupendous spectacle of love and war! The thunder of galloping hoofs runs through it as the irresistible Cossacks sweep on to a stirring climax! Never has Gilbert crowded so many thrills as in the moments of wild, untamed love. Also comedy and oddity reel.

S. T. C. girls admission prices, if tickets are purchased at college, Friday and Saturday nights 35c, all other shows 25c.

GO TO PRAYERS

MONOGRAM HIKE SATURDAY

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1928 No. 4

SENIORS PRESENT A SPECTACULAR PROGRAM

CHILDREN'S DANCES PLEASE AUDIENCE

14-Year Old Teacher Gives Varied Program

The senior class of S. T. C. presented an unusual and artistic program of entertainment at "Sing" Saturday night. Miss Eileen Haase of Roanoke, Va., and her tiny dancing pupils charmed the audience by the grace and beauty of their performances. The colorful array of costumes added to the spectacular effect of the dances.

The program:

"Chlo-e" ..... Eileen Haase
"Jap" ..... Evelyn Ruggles, Jean Shanks, Jean Board.
"Bubble Dance" ..... Nell McLain
"Dance of the Black Bottom" .... Jean Shanks.
"Among My Souvenirs" ..... Jean Board.
"Egyptian" ..... Eileen Haase
"Acrobatic" ..... Jean Board, Jean Shanks, Evelyn Ruggles.
"Old Fashioned Lockett" ..... Nell McLain
"Buck Dance" ..... Eileen Haase
"Doll Dance" .... Nell McLain, Jean Board, Jean Shanks, Evelyn Ruggles.
"Waltz of Flowers" .... Eileen Haase

Pearl Johnson's selections on the piano, Helen Borrowdalle's vocal selections were additional features of the program.

DRAMATIC CLUB HEARS LECTURE ON THEATRE

On Friday, October 12th, the Dramatic Club held their first meeting of the year.

After the business was finished, plans were discussed for furnishing a room in the Student Building for the club room of the organization. A committee was appointed to work with Miss Wheelr in furnishing the room.

The program for the meeting was a lecture on "The Theatre of Today" and "The Little Theatre Movement" by Miss Leola Wheeler. Miss Wheeler spoke in detail of the changes in stage setting in the last few years. The impressionistic setting was explained and scenes from several plays were described.

Miss Wheeler began her talk on the Little Theatre by telling of the history of the movement. She reviewed it from its beginning in Greenwich Village to the popular prosperous organization of three theatres today.

The program for the year was outlined for the club. It will consist of lectures on stage setting, costuming, directing and the writing of plays and pageant. The programs for the club are outlined for two years.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONFERENCE AT S.T.C.

DELEGATES GUESTS OF H. S. C. AND S. T. C.

Annual Meeting of Volunteer Council

The State Student Volunteer Council will hold its annual meeting at the colleges at Hampden-Sydney and Farmville, October 19, 20, and 21.

The purpose of this council is to promote the interest of the Student Volunteer Movement in the colleges of Virginia. Representatives from the most outstanding colleges are coming together to make plans for carrying out missionary work on their individual campuses.

The council will be in session Friday, Saturday and part of Sunday. Though it is not possible for all to attend these meetings the student body will have the privilege of hearing some of the leaders at chapel and prayers.

DRAWING DEPARTMENT ORGANIZES ART CLUB

About thirty enthusiastic girls, headed by the art instructors, met and organized an art club on Wednesday night, October 10. They elected officers and made plans for the year.

There will be wide range for those who are interested in sketching, craftsmanship and designing. Autumn offers delightful material for girls especially interested in landscape sketching. The regular club meetings will be on the first and third Thursdays in every month. More definite plans will be discussed at the next meeting.

VARSITY HOCKEY SQUAD

FRESHMEN TO BE ENTERTAINED BY "Y. W."

In one or two weeks, after the freshmen really get settled, the Y. W. C. A. parties will begin. There will be a party each week to which about sixty freshmen will be invited. Games wil be played and afterward refreshments will be served. These parties are for the purpose of making the freshmen acquainted with one another and also to extend to them a welcome from the Y. W. C. A.

HISTORICAL PICTURES BOUGHT BY SCHOOL

Forty pictures of historical places in Virginia have recently been bought by the school to be hung in the history class rooms and used in the study of early Virginia history. The pictures, selected by Dr. Jarman, are some of Davidson's Educational Art pictures.

The pictures include the home of Peyton Randolph and other places of historical interest in and around Williamsburg, Mount Vernon, and Monticello.

The pictures are large and attractively framed and will prove an interesting and helpful feature of the history department.

INTERPRETATION OF PASSION PLAY OCT. 28

On Sunday night, October 28, Elmer U. Hoenshell, D. D., educator, entertainer and author, will give a recital-entertainment. "The Passion Play at Ober-Ommergan," in the college auditorium, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A.

The Passion Play is performed every tenth year. Mr. Hoenshel is probably the only man in America today, who gives a dramatic interpretation of the play. He has been nationally recognized as an able artist.. He attempts to make the play a living present reality to his audience.

STUDENT STANDARDS COMMITTEE OF FACULTY AND STUDENTS BEGIN WORK

The Student Standards Committee held its first meeting of the year, Wednesday night, October 10th. One of the main projects for the coming year will be an effective application of the point system. To insure successful functioning of this system, there will be a committe composed of two members appointed from the Student Standards Committee and three girls from the student body to check up on the number of points each student has.

The purpose of the Student Standards Committee is to act as a mediator between the faculty and the students. It is composed of student representatives and faculty members. Here the problems of school life are discussed impartially that there may be a better understanding between the faculty members and their students.

Last year the Committee was successful in the following:

1. There were fewer notices read in chapel.
2. There was less noise in the tea room.
3. There was less noise in chapel.
4. The path was made at the end of the building by Gilliam's.
5. The elections were the best that have ever been held at this college.
6. The Dean's List was sponsored and went into effect in the senior class.
7. The revised point system was adopted by the student body.
8. A sub-committee was appointed to atend to the up-keep of the bulletin boards in the hall.

LYCEUM PROGRAM FOR YEAR IS ANNOUNCED

FOUR BIG NUMBERS ARE FEATURED

Sothern Will Give Lecture on Drama

This year in planning our lyceum program Dr. Jarman has carried out the idea of quality rather than quantity. For the benefit of new girls we wish to say that our lyceum program is a series of entertainments to which Dr. Jarman has brought here for our enjoyment. These entertainments are not compulsory, but there is no doubt that every girl will want to attend each number.

The program this year is as follows:

Nov. 2—Leginska and the Boston Women's Symphony Orchestra
Jan. 30—E. H. Sothern.
Feb. 14—Society of Ancient Instruments.
Feb. 20—The Meistersengers.

One dramatic club play is also included on this program.

COLLEGE STUDENTS TO HEAR MARTINELLI

On October 20, 1928, twenty-one S. T. C. girls are going to Lynchburg to hear Martinelli, Metropolitan Opera singer, who will sing in the Smith Memorial auditorium at 8:30 P. M.

The girls taking advantage of the special rates offered the college students will leave in a bus, Saturday afternoon and will return Saturday night after the performance.

Miss Turner, head of the department of music will accompany the group.

MRS. BUCHANAN SPEAKS TO THE CHORAL CLUB

Mrs. A. M. Buchanan, president of the Virginia Federation of Music Clubs, spoke on Tuesday morning to the Choral Club. In her talk she commended Miss Turner's work in the college. She commented on the development of the Chromatic Club. She suggested that the club enter the contest to be held by the Music Federation in Fredericksburg. Mrs. Buchanan is one of the foremost composers of modern America.

S. T. C. LOSES FRIEND

Mr. W. F. Ogden, a sincere friend of the student body of S. T. C., died suddenly at his home Tuesday afternoon.

Through his hearty, cooperative work with "The Virginian" as well as "The Rotunda," Mr. Ogden has exhibited a friendly interest in all college activities. It is with deep regret that the student body acknowledges the loss of such a friend.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 33, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... FLORENCE REED, '31
Art ..... CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '30
Humorous Editor ..... ELIZABETH TURNER

Reporters

ISABEL MACDONALD, '29 WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBOROUGH, '31
Reporter ..... GILBERTA KNIGHT

Proof Reader
MARY JANE WILKINSON

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTEN, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. Thsse will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

EVOLUTION IN ORGANIZATIONS

A glance through a college annual will reveal an amazing number of campus organizations. In addition to these there are still other organizations not represented in this book. One characteristic of all colleges, we believe, is the fact that many girls are represented in too many organizations and others in too few. It would seem that some are "joiners" and others are not. The world wide axiom: "He who will work must" brings about a situation in which a few girls are expected to do most of the work in nearly all organizations. People fall into the habit of relying on the few faithful workers. The result is that every campus has a few students who dash madly from one thing to the next, and the rest of the school remains without an impetus to develop latent possibilities.

The editor has been struck with the large number of press announcements of new officers of organizations. Certainly our campus isn't lacking in meetings. A search through subsequent issues of papers in former years reveals the startling truth that activities which organized so enthusiastically had little further to report.

The total number of organizations on a compus means little. The number of working organizations means a great deal. We would far rather our college name as its own a short list of influential groups than a long list of sleeping ones.

If we are hanging on to some activities which have lost their purpose, it is a far bigger thing to face the fact and disband with dignity than to witnes their death by a process of smothering. On the other hand, there are new organizations with possibilities of growth which might well become conscious of the fact that there are many girls in school whose leisure time is not already claimed.

GETTING BY

How do you feel when you barely pass a certain course, a test, or a written lesson? Is it with a sigh of relief, or a feeling of chagrin?

Some of us have as our highest ambition to bluff the teachers, and to "get by" with the least possible effort on our part. Do you realize what is happening when you are engaging in this game of bluff? You are forming one of the worst habits possible—that of skimming along on the top of everything—a habit which you will carry with you through life. You will never know the joy of having accomplished a task to the best of your ability. You, who are "thrill" seekers, put your whole mind on your studies, and then will come to you a real "thrill" of having done something worth white.

How many of us upperclassmen realize what we are doing when we undertake to advise freshmen how to "get by"? Before you do advise them how to study, why not try both plans for yourself, and then see which is more satisfactory to you—"getting by," or really learning something?

WORLD NEWS

Unification of China under the Nationalist regime is slowly becoming a fact. After years of being torn with civil warfare, China is beginning to assume some semblance of orderly government. We have hopes that China will become unified.

The early career of Roosevelt in New York is suggested to one of the Washington correspondents by the characteristics of Mexico's new President-elect, Emilio Portes Gil. The successor of President Calles, it seems, is a hard worker, he is large and sturdy and has a strong face. A lawyer by profession, and a public official, he represents the supremacy of the civil authority over the military.

All the dash and romance that characterizes the overnight transformation of Ahmed Zogu from President of Albania to King of that country early in September, seem suddenly to be clouded with menace of tragedy. It seems that thre are daily attempts upon King of Zogu's life and that the northern part of the country has refused to accept him. Because of the turbulent condition of the coutnry, it is stated that the coronation of the King probably will be postponed indefinitely.

Fifteen nations signed the peace treaty, and one thing they all have in common is the conviction that the fourteen aren't to be trusted—Muskogee Phoenix.

With the campaign at full blast, and with hurricanes and tornadoes hitting here and there, it might not be inappropriate to refer to 1928 as the "Year of Big Wind."—Seattle Times.

WHEN THE FIT SURVIVE

Mendel's law of the survival of the fittest is clearly and conclusively proven in the post office rush.

Imagine a mob scene at the height of its violence and you will have some idea of the short girls' difficulty in keeping up with her corerspondence. Because of her handicap her roommate cannot even pass her "long-looked-for" letter over the heads of someone else, but she must wait patiently until the flood-tide of humanity sweeps ruthlessly onward leaving her stranded by her roommate's side.

Box doors are slammed, letters are torn, moans are uttered or cries of delight, papers are scattered, and then—comparative quiet reigns—only occasionally a girl walks quietly in and gazes mournfulyl into her box. But the results of those few minutes—Atilla and his Huns never left such destruction as the girls of S. T. C. leave after the chapel bell rings.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

William and Mary College recently conferred the Ll. D. degree upon Lady Astor, former Virginia woman and noted member of the English House of Parliament.

In "The Flat Hat", John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who spent a week in Williamsburg recently, was spoken of as a modest and retiring man. Dr. Gwathmey, professor of English at the college, said that he was surprised at his sincerity in religious matters. It was learned that Rockefeller has family worship in his home every day.

After seventy years of painstaking labor the celebrated Oxford dictionary has been completed. The last word has been found and set down. This word, "zyzt," the 411,047th word in the language is the obsolete form of what would now be "thou sayest."—The Breeze.

The senior class at Harrisonburg is enjoying the benefits of a fine new dining hall. This, like our new building for seniors, is a new feature of the college.

According to "The Davidsonian" Dartmouth College has more faculty members listed in the 1928-'29 "Who's Who In America" than any other educational institution of college rank and size in the country. Oberlin College is second in number of the names in the book, with Swarthmore, Smith Amherst and Pomona Colleges close behind.

WHEN GREEN GRASS GROWS GREEN

"What a starved bank of moss
'Till that May morn,
Blue ran the flash across
Violets were born."

Had the poet looked out of an east window of the new dormitory lately, he might have said something about October and then

"Swift ran the grass across
The terrace is green."

This is what has happened in exactly one day to what was a red clay hill on that side of the building. The beautiful grassy slope make us look forward to the time when all of the grounds of the new building will be a fit setting for it.

Announcement of the Fourth Pan-Pacific Science Congress, to be held in Batavia, Java, Netherland East Indies, in May, 1929, has been received by the Interior Department, Bureau of Education, through the State Department, from Mr. J. H. van Royen, minister at Washington of the Netherland Government.—School Life.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

HERE IS SOMETHING
TO WRITE HOME
ABOUT
AND WITH TOO

SENSATIONAL STATIONERY SALE

This Week We Offer—
1 lb. box Crushed Parchment and 50 envelopes to match for - - - 55c
Regular 75c Value

BALDWINS
"The S. T. C. Girl's Main Street Home"

NIGHT

Beneath the pale half moon
And midnight skies
Dotted with golden lights
I sit and dream
The world is silent
And the wind moves gently,
Fragrant with pine wods
And a distant rain.
A far off hidden stream
Ripples with silver sound
Over its rocks and sands—
Ripples and sighs and sings—
I sit and dream.

E. F.

TOGETHER

The road is long and lonely,
And the heart is sad and drear,
If I could love one only,
And you were the one, my dear,
We could travel the road together.
Lonely it would not seem
No matter what the weather,
For life would be a dream.

B. T. '31

TO—

You are gone . . . .
The songs you sang
The words you said
I loved each one.
Now they are fled.
And why the sky to-day is blue
Is odd to me, since I've lost you!
I've lost you—yes
I know not why
But I shall love you
Till I die.

F. W. '29

OUR PILOTS THEY

(Suggested by John Jay Chapman's "No Pilots We, Atlantic Monthly, 135:375).

They are our pilots. Let us trust our bark
To them who through the weary years have learned
They ways of heavenly wisdom . . . Lets us hark
To their mild words, albeit we have spurned
Their knowledge, and pursued our wilful way.
Alas, they know not what ahead may lie,
And yet, brave souls, they cannot but assay
To tell us of Thy plans, O God on high.

Then, though the deep may all uncharted be,
We shall survive who best Thy way can see;
We shall arrive to bless both them and Thee,
And honoring both, be to mankind a guide
Forever—proud to have lived and died;
Content to stand eternal at Thy side.

L. B.

COLUMBIA LIMITS ENTRANTS

Because of failure to pass a new "capacity test" or advanced intelligence test, 175 of the 450 applicants to Columbia Law School have been refused admittance. 129 members of last year's group have also been excluded from the school. It is thought that by the use of this test, which allows admittance of only the most capable men, the number of failures will be diminished.—Elmira College Weekly.

SOCIAL

Loulie Milner spent the week-end at her home in Lynchburg where she acted as maid-of-honor to her sister, Miss Rebecca Milner.

* * *

Martha Wood, Carrie Bickford, and Eva Krebs spent the week-end at their homes in Roanoke.

* * *

Allie Kay, Libby and Emmy Lou Pulliam spent the week-end at their homes in Richmond.

* * *

Edith Cornwell visited friends at school over the week-end.

* * *

Frankie Roberts, Elizabeth Ferrell and Sarah Williams spent the week-end at the latter's home in Brookneal.

* * *

Katherine Roach a former student, spent the week-end at school with friends.

* * *

Anne Meredith, Dot Baldwin, and Nan Griffith attended the dances at V. P. I.

* * *

Mary Darden returned to school for the week-end.

Louise Costen visteid her sister, Myra Costen over the week-end.

Evelyn Stephenson spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Margaret Foster and Virginia Robertson went to Lynchburg Saturday with Miss Moran.

Dorothy Layne spent the week-end at her home in Lynchburg.

The "Peabody People" among our faculty—a goodly array—were gladdened by the recent visit of Mr. J. B. Windrow, alumni secretary, and Mr. R. B. Binnion, provošt.

CUNNINGHAM LITERARY SOCIETY HAS PICNIC

On Friday afternoon, October 12, twenty members of the Cunningham Literary Society, held their first real meeting in the form of a "weinie" and marshmallow roast in a meadow back of the railroad station. After all of the "weinies" and marshmallows had disappeared, plans for work during the coming days were discussed around a large bon fire. When it was time to return to college many were heard to say they wished it were possible to have a picnic every week.

NEW FACULTY ENTERTAINED AT TEA

The new members of the faculty were guests of the dormitory chaperones at a tea Thursday afternoon, October 11.

Tea and sandwiches were served, and the new teachers were informally acquainted with the social side of S. T. C. life.

THOUGHTS WHILE WAITING FOR A TEACHER

More classes—girls—all of them with so much sense—makes me feel so dumb—I'm petrified—I haven't cracked the book for today—bet we get a quiz—what—five minutes of the class period gone—maybe she won't come today—grand—I'll go to Butcher's and get food.—so hungry—hours 'till lunch—footsteps approaching—there they go back—thank heavens for that —two more minutes and we can leave—hope everyone leaves—some girls make me ill—always want to stay and just sit—one more minute—might as well go now—there that teacher comes—now I ask you is that just—guess I'll have to sit through and hold my breath today—if she calls on me—one thing I do know—I'm going to study three hours for this class tomorrow.

THE LOVELY DUCKLING

(By Rupert Hughes.—Published by Harper and Brothers, 1928)

Rupert Hughes gives us a delightful delineation, although a rather exaggerated one, of what he considers the baffling family problems of today. He sees the audacious modern youth in the light of a ducklinig who waddles to the pond against every warning cluck of the frustrated mother hen, who watches its plunge into the water with the greatest fear and consternation.

He very vividly portrays the danger and the capabilities of the modern girl and boy, showing the codes and ideals, many of them high but many of them perilous, which control them.

The principal character of the book is the eighteen year old high school girl, good at heart, but of an audacity which is breath-taking. The author clearly weaves into his story the perplexing experiences of her older brother and sister in their race with this generation and even represents the youngest sister as terrifyingly old for her age in knowledge and interest.

Rupert Hughes' attempted solution of the problem for the harried mother and father of these five lovely ducklings is very interesting and really makes one wonder how we can stop the headlong plunge of youth as it resists and ignores the parent "clucks" and danger signals.

SHOW GIRL

(By J. P. McCoy.Published by Simor and Schuster, 1928)

"Show girl' is no deep psychological study of the modern girl nor does it give the problems of the world which confront Broadway's' champions as one might judge by its title, but rather tells a delightfully interesting little story full of rollicking fun and amusement. It was written for those readers who see no harm, and look forward to a great deal of pleasure in reading with no ulterior motive other than an hour or two of pure amusement.

Through a collection of letters, telegrams, cablegrams, radiograms and newspaper clippings, McCoy swiftly unfolds the interesting adventures of Dixie Dugan from her first appearance in the Jollity Night Club to her final place in the constellation of Broadway stars, involving in her climb a greeting-card salesman, a South American tango and revolution leader, a Wall Street millionaire and a newspaper reporter, all of whom succumb to the proverbial malady of love—or think they do.

"Show Girl'" may be placed in the same class with "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" by Anita Loos, but it surpasses it in both plot and characterization and may well be classed as a book that is hard to lay down unfinished.

"Manual for Parents", a 15-page booklet, is issued by the High School of Commerce of New York City, and a copy is sent to parents of all boys in the school. The purpose is to give a comprehensive knowledge of the work of the school, the duties and responsibilities of students, and ways in which parents may cooperate in realizing the highest ideals of the school.

TUMBLING CLASS BEGINS

The tumbling class, which is open to all students of S. T. C., has met twice this year. Everyone is urged to take part in this activity.

Head and hand stands, rolls, pyramids, cart wheels, and group stunts are some of the various feats which are being perfected. From the tumbling class a program is to be made up for the coming circus.

There is an unusually talented number of freshmen out this year. These activities are under the supervision of Miss Thomas, who is much pleased with the progress of the class.

HISTORIC TOUR PLANNED

Miss Pettit's classes in Virginia history are planning a trip to some of the historic place in Virginia. The trip, which will be made by bus, will include Jamestown, Williamsburg, and Yorktown. The exact date of the trip has not been announced.

The trip will not be limited to those taking Virgiina history, but will be open to anyone desiring to go.

FRESHMAN COMMISSION CONTINUES WORK

Until a new Freshman Commission is organized the commission of last year will continue its work, one phase of which is its agency with Poole's Cleaning and Pressing Establishment. Serve your school through the Freshman Commision by letting it act the part of middle-man between you and the cleaner.

FRESHMEN BEGIN WORK ON MONOGRAMS

Fifteen freshmen took part in the season practice on the athletic field, Friday, October 12 at 5 p. m. They showed unusual skill in the hop-step-jump, javelin throw, baseball throw and shot put. A relative number of points are given for each event which leads to the final blazer awarded by the Athletic Association.

MISS MARY'S TUESDAY NIGHT DINNERS

On Tuesday night, October 9, Miss Mary entertained at the first of her delightful dinners. Before the dinner, the girls from the lucky tables were entertained in the recreation hall where an enjoyable program was given by some of the guests. Then, when the rest of the student body had left the dining room, Miss Mary, some members of the home department, and the girls had a charming dinner party on the balcony overlooking the dining room. Besides the delicious food, there were candles, flowers, and everything Miss Mary could think of to make the tables attractive.

The rest of the table hostesses and their girls are eagerly awaiting the Tuesday night when they will be told that they need not go to supper at the appointed time, because they will be dining that night with Miss Mary.

The latest word in closed cars—
"No!!!"—

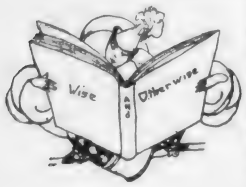
NEW HOCKEY SCHEDULE

MONDAY	Freshmen	Varsity
TUESDAY	Upperclassmen
WEDNESDAY	Upperclassmen	Varsity
THURSDAY	Upperclassmen	Varsity
FRIDAY	Freshmen	Varsity

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"Drinks and Drugs"
TOILET ARTICES, SODA MAGAZINES, CANDY AND STATIONERY



S. T. C. HEAQUARTERS
HUB
DEPT. STORE
WELCOMES YOU
And Solicits Your Patronage
Open a
CHARGE ACCOUNT
Reduced Prices to All—
S. T. C. GIRLS

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
(We invite your charge accounts)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

DRESS WELL AND SUCCEED
CORRECT CLOTHES
For the Round of College Life
SHOES
For Every Occasion
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
Farmville, Virginia

"What is it that has a thousand tongues and one brain?"
Answer: "S. T. C."

When a girl has a fraternity pin, a large framed picture, when she dates eternally, when she gets specials on Sunday, she's in love and engaged—to four men.

Not Serious

"Don't you think she's rather two-faced?"
"Yes, but it washes off every night."

Didn't Like It

He: "You wouldn't like it if I kissed other girls, would you?"
She: "No, indeed! In fact, I don't like it much when you kiss me."

The Real Absent-Minded Professor

He put his cigarette in bed and squashed himself in the ash tray.

Prof. on the street: "Do you know who I am?"
Stude: "No sir, but if you can remember your address, I'll take you home."

Dad: "My boy, think of the future."
Boy: "I can't; it's my girl's birthday and I must think of the present.

Clara Norfleet: "Don't you think you are straining a point in your explanation?"
Mr. Wynne "Maybe I am, but you often have to strain things to make them clear."

The eternal triangle is usually caused by somebody not being on the square.

Motives

It was the short interval between dances. "Jack," asked the girl who stood near him, "what do you think of Bernice?"

Jack studied his questioner a moment before answering. "Why—" he began rather uncertainly, "I think she's the most wonderful girl I ever met."

Bernice, unobserved behind the palms, liked him for saying that. And liking, knew she could never love him.

"Well, Harry," said the girl, turning to him. "what do you think of Bernice?"

Harry studied his questioner a moment before answering.

"Why—" he began rather uncertainly, "I think she's the most conceited girl I ever met."

Bernice, unobserved behind the palms, hated him for saying that. And hating, started loving.

Elaine Goode:"You say you don't know what love is?"
Jane Hunt: "Why, of course I do. It's the tenth word in a telegram."

Nowadays a girl is never "fat". She's just "overemphasized."

Freshman: "Will you please tell me if I can go walking in the winter time? A sophomore told me that the girls here in college went on long walks in the fall and spring.
Junior: "No, the college hires push carts to take you riding in the winter.

COTILLION CLUB MAKES PLANS FOR INFORMAL

The Cotillion Club held a meeting on Thursday, October 12, to discuss plans for their first dance. The first dance, an informal one will be held on Saturday, November 12. Each member is allowed to invite two guests, as new members will not be taken in until after Christmas.

A flash-light picture for the annual will be taken during the entertainment.

Music will be furnished by a college orchestra.

SHENANDOAH VALLEY CLUB ORGANIZES

The Shenandoah Valley Club reorganized last Monday with quite a number of new members. The club is looking forward to a very profitable and enjoyable year under the leadership of Frances Joliffe. The following new officers were elected:

Vice-Pres. ..... Frances Armentrout
Sec.-Treas. ..... Cora Womeldorf
Reporter ..... Eleanor Wade

DR. JARMAN VISITS STAUNTON ALUMNAE

On Wednesday and Thursday, October 10 and 11, Dr. Jarman was a guest of the Farmville Alumnae Chapter in Staunton. He was entertained at a dinner Wednesday night.

Dr. Jarman tells us that all of the alumnae are anxious to come back to their Alma Mater. Two of last years graduates are teaching in the high schools of Staunton this year: Virginia Ellis is teaching home economics, and Gladys Oliver is a director of music.

CHURCH AND POLITICS DEBATED AT MEETING

The Debate Club held its second regular meeting Friday, October 12, at eight o'clock in the Student Building auditorium. After the roll call, minutes and business were completed Dr. Walmsley, the coach, talked on the modern form of debating.

The program for the meeting was a debate: Resolved that churches are justified in entering into politics. The affirmative side was supported by Pearl Etheridge and Anne Ferree, the negative by Elizabeth Thrift and Mary Mann Baskerville. No decision was rendered. At the close of the debate Dr. Walmsley pointed out good points and bad points of the four debates. This form of criticism has been adopted by the club this year and is proving to be very helpful.

The program for the next meeting on October 24 was announced as a debate: Resolved that the United States should recognize the Soviet Government of Russia. The affirmative speakers will be Lois Fraser and Peggy Walton; the negative, Margaret Hubbard and Lillian Rhodes.

JUNIORS ELECT MR. BOWMAN CLASS MAN

At a recent meeting of the junior class Mr. Bowman was elected class man for the coming year. In 1926 when the present junior class were freshmen, they elected Mr. Bowman as the sponsor of the "Rat" day. Last year Mr. Bowman spent studying in Chicago and Dr. Walmsley served as sophomore class man.

Finale

You would not know
The jokes we use
Could you but see
Those we refuse.

SOUTHERN EDUCATION NOT IN STEP WITH THE INDUSTRIALISM

Southern colleges are doing little to prepare their students to cope with the growing industrialism of the South, accordng to an article by professor Howard Mumford Jones in the October issue of "The New Student." "Nowhere in the South," he says, "has the study of economics proceed so far as to offer notable opportunities for advanced training. One goes North for his graduate work in this field. Only belatedly has the study of sociology come to be an effective force in southern university life, and at that, only in a few schools. Yet, it is evident that the South needs now as it needed a hundred years ago, an effective examination of the foundations upon which the industrial system is to be built."

"Such college men as are now in control of southern business were graduated (if they are alumni of southern colleges) at a time when modern departments of economics and sociology were almost unknown and necessarily they believe in, and operate under a laissez-faire system of economic life which makes the Harvard or Columbia student rub his eyes in wonder. But I doubt whether there is any sinister control by southern business of southern universities which prevents the growth of economic thought in that region. The situation is far subtler.

"One truth—one profound truth—in the general situation is that the southern undergraduate is blankly indifferent alike to economic theory and to the incipient and baffling problems of the new order in the South. It is only natural that he should be so. Typically the product of a small community, typically also the product of an upper middle-class family, he does not know, because he has never seen, supch industrial areas as the coal fields of Pennsylvania, the mills of New Jersey, the manufacturing region around the Great Lakes. He cannot envision, for he has neither experience nor data to go on, the possibility that in the future there may be southern industrial areas of the same hideous ugliness, the same raw gigantic energy. Even if his teachers tell him so, the fact can mean little to him.

"It is out of this dilemma that the southern colleges must somehow find their way. As yet, it would seem they have not on the whole found any solution. What is even more depressing, there are a good many southern institutions of learning in which the need for awakening an interest in social problems is not even felt. Sheltered behind the liberal arts curriculum, these colleges continue to educate gentlemen and gentlewoman. They frown on Mencken but they do not substitute anybody half as interesting in his place. And in those schools which are beginning to survey the actualities of life around them, most of the battle for academic freedom is yet to be fought—that is, the right and necessity for universities to investigate economic and social phenomena has in most cases yet to be established. The campaign, when it is fought, will be an absorbing one, but the present collegiate attitude does not seem likely to furnish many recruits. It is posisble that a change of literary diet might awaken the old flame of enthusiasm for southern things and themes. It is a hopeful sign that the negro literature of the present awaken a wide interest among southern undergraduates—here at least is one situation in which they are very much alert. But until the hold of Menckenism among the undergraduates is broken, or until it wanes, we cannot look for much forward-going interest in the new South and its problems."

FRENCH CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

At a short business meeting of the French Club Tuesday night the following officers were elected:

President ..... Marjorie Carter
Vice-President ..... Anne Stump
Secretary ..... Ruth Owen
Treasurer ..... Marjorie Codd
Reporter ..... Margaret Carter

NEW MEMBERS OF DEBATING CLUB

The Debate Club wishes to announce the following new members:

Margaret Hubbard
Hazel Elliott
Maria Warren

CLUB ANNOUNCES NEW MEMBERS

N. B. B. O. wishes to announce the following new members:

Louise Munt
Alice Carter
Suzanne Holland
Lela Germany
Evelyn Holland
Margaret Loving
Martha Mackenzie
Jane H. Martin
Mary Priest
Ann Chapin
Ida Wright Chapman
Rosalie Rhea
Sarah Baker
Louise Arthur
Marguerite Swann
Eugenia Walker
Elizabeth Jordan
Mildred Robertson
Anne Meredith Newman
Jessie Smith
Rebecca French
Frances Potts
Nancy Putney
Mayo Beady
Carrie Bichsford

Ninety per cent of all the pupils who graduated from the elementary schools of Dalas, Tex., last year entered high schools.

Every school in the Province of Saskatchewan, Canada is required to maintain a school library, and $10 for each room in operation must bexpended annually in the purchase of books from an authorized list.—School Life.

More than 900 teachers of physical education are employed full or part time in Missouri. The American Legion, Rotary clubs, and other organizations are cooperating in promoting physical education and in providing larger areas for indoor and outdoor activities.

Thirty-four countries were represented among the places of birth of the 390 graduates of eighth-grade evening schools in Detroit this year. Nineteen countries of Europe were included, Germany coming first with 65, Poland was next with 36, then Russia with 30, and Italy with 12.

Falconer Gift Shop
Books Engraving
Stationery Pen Repairing
PARTY AND DANCE FAVORS A SPECIALTY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

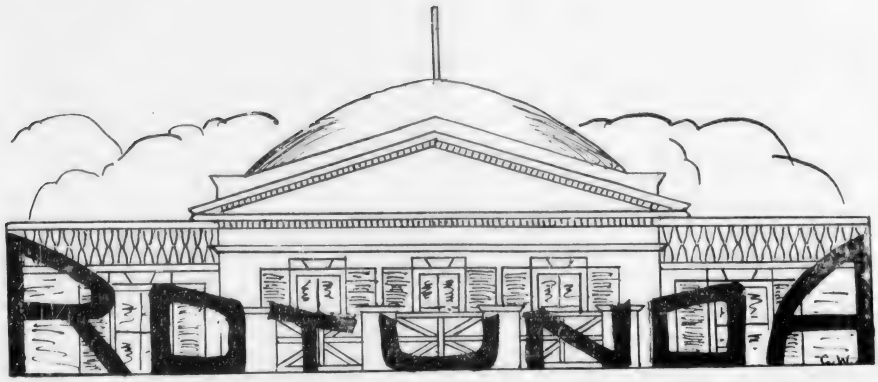
THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Oct. 22—27

MON & TUES.—William Haines in "TELLING THE WORLD", a special production and the best picture Haines has ever made. He had a nose for news, and an eye for a pretty girl. So when Haines as star reporter follows a show girl into the midst of a Far East revolution, you can be sure of laughs and excitement a plenty. News reel and oddity reel. Mats. at 4 o'clock.

TUES.—Dolores Del Rio and Don Alvarado in "NO OTHER WOMAN" a special production. A drama of passion and intrigue whose scenes are laid in the haunts of high society. A perilous triangle—two men and a woman. Extra good. Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.



THURS.—Sally Phipps in "NONE BUT THE BRAVE" a special production. The story of a college hero who fails in business but makes good as a life guard. You will see the most dainty bathing suits ever designed on the most beautiful girls ever screened. filmed in technicolor against backgrounds of tropic seas. Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

Fri. & Sat. mats only—Richard Barthelmess and Alice Joyce in "THE NOOSE", a repeat picture. Every known emotion will be stirred as this story of a gangster kid who would rather die that betray his mother's great secret is unfolded. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. at nights only—Greta Garbo and Conrad Nagel in "THE MYSTERIOUS LADY" a big special production. No man knew what she really was. And no man could resist the lure of her exotic beauty. Greta Garbo, the screen's most exciting charmer, has never had a part to fit her like this one. A famous Russian spy, she moves through the lives of men; in a maze of intrigue, passion and disaster. Also comedy and oddity.

Admission to S. T. C. girls, 25c to each show if tickets are purchased at college.

VOTE FOR YOUR CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT THURSDAY

FRESHMEN VOTE FOR PRESIDENT THURSDAY!

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1928 No. 5

FRESHMAN WEEK OBSERVED AT S. T. C. OCTOBER 22—27

SOPHOMORES ARE IN CHARGE OF THE FIRST PROGRAM

Organization Presidents Introduced in Doll Pageant

Freshman Week commenced Monday, October 22. A program will be given each night of this week which will be brought to a close by Freshman "Sing" on Saturday night.

The sophomore class was in charge of the first program of the week. The freshmen dressed in white and wearing badges of distinction marched into their places in the auditorium. A scene in the toy shop was then presented to the attentive audience. There were dolls of all sorts and descriptions standing staunch and sturdy Two "hardy tin soldiers", Pearl Etheridge and Lois Fraser, representing the Rotunda and Virginian staff re spectively, brought the dolls to life. Each doll stepped forward and told, in unique verse, the purpose of her organization.

The following organizations were presented—

Y. W. C. A.—Margaret Finch
Student Council—Pannie Willis.
Athletic Association—Mary Frances Hatchett.
Publications—Pearl Etheridge and Lois Fraser.
Student Standards—Virginia Raine
Honorary Sororities—Sammy Scott.
Dramatic Club—Virginia Gurley.
Class Council—Martha Faris
Music Clubs—Elizabeth Taylor
Literary Societies—Emily Carter and Peggy Walton
French and Spanish Circles—Marjorie Codd.

After these introductions the two tin soldiers each took up a hat box and coming down the steps, gave rat caps to the freshmen on the front row. The rest of the caps have been delayed and will be presented later.

The enthusiastic crowd then joined in singing "Alma Mater" and the program was brought to a close.

The Sophomore Class is to be highly commended on this unique and beneficial program, through which "our rats" were introduced to the school organizations, and initiated in the best sense of the word.

FRESHMEN TO BE ENTERTAINED BY A. A.

On Saturday night at eight o'clock the Athletic Association is giving a Hallowe'en party in honor of the Freshman class. Music will be furnished by the Hampden-Sydney Orchestra. All the freshmen are invited to come a l dance and have a good time. This will be the concluding feature of Freshman Week.

TRAINING SCHOOL LUNCH ROOM PROVING SUCCESS

The training school lunch room, under the supervision of Miss Ethel Fisher, is proving a great success this year.

Wholesome hot lunches, from home-grown products, are served each day. Those desiring a lunch may purchase it at a reasonable price.

HEAR CONCERT BY KOCHANSKI

POLISH VIOLINIST APPEARS AT R. M. W. C.

Varied Program Pleases the Audience

On Saturday afternoon a group of girls, and several members of the faculty, went by bus to Lynchburg where they attended the Kochlanski concert at Randolph Macon Woman's College.

The concert program was very interesting, beginning with the formal, intellectual type of compositions by old masters like Bach, Vivaldi and Mozart, increasing in appeal as it progressed to the Wagner, Brahms and Wienowski numbers. The most noticeable characteristics of this artist were his flawless technique and his ability to produce varied qualities in his tones. The audience recognized his genius in the rendition of "The Devil's Thrill,' 'said to be the most difficult composition for violinists. There was not a time during the concert when Kochanski was not absolutely at ease and master of himself and his instrument.

Perhaps the most appealing number was composed by the artist, entitled

(Continued on last page)

INTEREST IS CREATED AMONG THE UPPER CLASSMEN

FRESHMAN NOMINATIONS

The Freshman Class held their nominations for president on Tuesday night.

The following girls were nominated:

Elaine Goode
Mary Priest
Virginia Cox
Helen Robertson
Pearl Johnson
Elizabeth Walker

CABARET SUPPER

Midst weird music, spooks and jack o' lantern, supper will be served in the Recreation Hall from 5:30 to 7:30 on October 27. Happy Walker's Orchestra from Washington, D. C., and special attractions from the student body will furnish the entertainment for the evening. Supper 50c a plate.

Class Presidents Speak Favorably of It

With the introduction of Freshman Week at S. T. C. the interest of upperclassmen as well as freshmen has been developed to a degree of enthusiasm which could not have been aroused in the past when "Rat Day" was observed.

Hitherto "Rat Day" has been of paramount interest only to the sophomores and freshmen. That the entire student body and faculty welcome the freshmen into the school is as it should be if a spirit of friendliness and good sportsmanship would be maintained.

In speaking of the importance of Freshman Week, Elsie Clements, president of the sophomore class, said:

"I believe that Freshman Week will help acquaint the freshmen with the various organizations at our college in a way that will make them feel that they are a vital part of our college."

Realizing the need of inter-class cooperation in this movement, as well as all other movements, Louise Foster, senior class president, said:

"Freshman Week has great possibilities. The hope of those who are most interested in its success is that it will give the freshmen a chance to find themselves. It is to be hoped also that during this week the freshmen will have an opportunity to organize themselves into a splendid class and accomplish great things for Alma Mater."

Looking into the future years of S. T. C. freshman life, Louise Travis, president of the junior class, expressed her hope for the success of Freshman Week, as a school tradition:

"It is to be hoped that next year will prove that a precedent has been set, so far as Freshman Week is concerned, and that because of the success of Freshman Week this year, no future year at S. T. C. will be a success without its Freshman Week."

STUDENT VOLUNTEER COUNCIL MEETS AT S. T. C. TO MAKE PLANS FOR YEAR'S WORK

The Virginia Council of Student Volunteer Movement met at S. T. C. October 19, 20, and 21. The State officers convened to plan the year's work of the Student Volunteer's in the state, and the annual conference which will be held at Radford Teachers College in the winter. Girls attending the conference were entertained at this college and the boys at Hampden-Sydney.

The delegates who assembled were: Mr. Dick Gaffin of Hampden-Sydney, president; Mr. David Bitzer of Assembly Training School, Richmond, ex-president; Miss Margaret Holman, of Bristol, Va., out-of-college secretary; Mr. Floyd Shacklock, of New York, national candidate secretary; Misses Margaret Hansel and Sarah Hungerland and Mr. Raymond Arehart, of Assembly Training School; Miss Pauline Osborne of Radford Teachers College; Mrs. John Strand, of University of Virginia; members of the mission group of S. T. C., and Student Volunteer group of Hampden-Sydney.

The opening session was held Friday evening in the Student Building lounge. Mr. Gaffin, welcomed the guests and outlined the purpose and program of the conference. Dr. Diehl, of the Episcopal Church, sounded a deep spiritual note in his talk of inspiration. A social hour followed, in which the delegates became acquainted. Refreshments were served by S. T. C. girls.

A business session was held Saturday morning. The budget for the year was approved. Some changes were made in the policies and officers. Plans were completed for the state conference of all volunteers.

Saturday afternoon the conference members were guests of Hampden-Sydney College at the Hampden-Sydney-Rutherford football game. After the game a tour of the college was made.

Mrs. Asa Watkins, of Hampden-Sydney, a former volunteer secretary, spoke at the session Saturday evening on "The Purpose of a Student Volunteer." Her talk, which was a result of a life full of rich Christian experiences, contributed greatly to the seriousness of purpose of the conference. Another point of view on the same subject was expressed by Mr. Shacklock, a returned missionary from Japan.

The conference closed with a final business session on Sunday morning, after a morning watch service led by Miss Margaret Holman.

There was a deep spiritual tone discernd throughout the conference. Delegates and speakers came with a purpose which was realized before the closing session. S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney College consider it a privilege to have entertained the conference.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 33, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... FLORENCE REED, '31
Art ..... CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '30
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER

Reporters

ISABEL MACDONALD, '29 WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBOROUGH, '31
Reporter ..... GILBERTA KNIGHT

Proof Reader

MARY JANE WILKINSON

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTEN, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. Thsse will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

THE CHRISTIAN STUDENT MOVEMENT

During the first quarter of the twentieth century there developed in many nations of the world a student movement. In China and Italy it expressed itself in revolt. Russia has its student movement, and India, and Germany. Each has a different meaning which is very definitely a response to some great need of the country. The World War with its resulting increase in freedom of thought and action furnished an impetus of unequalled force. Literature on the subject of accomplishments of foreign students thrill undergraduates.

It is more difficult to discover a well defined movement on a wide spreading sentiment among American students. We would not condemn our students for the lack of a movement parallel with other nations; rather would we praise our country which so ably met changing conditions that there was no cause to write student opinion sensationally.

We are by no means lacking, however, in some semblance of a nation-wide movement. The Christian Student Movement is expressing itself more forcibly than ever before, leaving impressions that will not be effaced. We do not hesitate to say that there is no campus where this influence has not been felt. We are equally sure that the number of campuses is negligible where a large proportion of the students have been stirred.

Whether the numbers be great or small, we must recognize the fact that there is in existence a nation-wide student group questioning American standards of Christianity, in a great effort to find a way of living that is consistent with the teachings of Jesus Christ.

Perhaps, it will be the students who will bring to us a new way of life under old principles of love. There is such a group on this campus. We wonder what their influence will be during the year.

MASTERED WE MASTER

The Chinese, as a race, are known to be peculiar and eccentric. There is an ancient custom of theirs, still alive, which is typically Chinese. It is the custom of teaching the children of their country adages and proverbs, things that they live by and hold as sacred. There is one which is particularly good: "The superior man is master of himself in any situation." The Chinese never forget this; their emotions are always carefully hidden behind an immobile face.

Everybody everywhere is constantly being placed in situations, in which it is the well poised, calm person who steps forward and takes the lead. Out of any one given situation there is generally no more than one "superior man"; the rest are a part of the hurry, confusion, and nerves of the age. This superiority is a matter of self training.

Before one can be master of a situation, one must be absolute master of himself. One must be able to exercise self control before he can hope to sway others. It will follow, quite naturally, that the person who is master of himself in any situation will also be master of that situation.

WORLD NEWS

American soldiers, ten thousand strong, descended upon Cuba one day this month but their errand was peace, not war. They were ex-soldiers, veterans of the Spanish-American War, come to Havana, Cuba, for their 30th annual convention. The Cuban government planned an elaborate program in their honor. Among the veterans was a scattering of the famous "Rough Riders." It is estimated that only 260 of the original 1,300 members of that motley and picturesque regiment are still alive.

Only nine of the forty-eight nations invited to ahere to the Peace Pact of Paris remain to be heard from. From this it appears the Pact is standing the test.

The words "Lindy for Hoover" has caused a big sensation in the Republican camp in the present presidential campaign. The announcement was made with the same casualness and lack of fan-fare that marked his taking off on that epochal trans-Atlantic flight to France, a year ago last May.

In Patterson, N. J. 3,500 workers in 130 silk mills went on a strike. They wanted a 10 percent wage increase, the 8-hour day recognition of their union. Do they gain anything by this procedure?

Suggested campaign song for 1928: "Whisper and I Shall Hear"—Greenville Piedmont.

European interest in this presidential campaign seems to be keener than in any other in recent years. Jesse Isador Straus says that there is a constant questioning of the traveling American and by classes of people who surprise one. We are today the leading nation of the world, financially, economically, commercially. Europe has great deal to ask from you.

JOAN SPEAKS

Joan speaks and the college halts its busy rush of everyday duties for a moments communion with the spirit of Alma Mater.

"Again, in my halls I find new daughters which embody the spirit of youth, laughter and love. I would like to spread over them my mantle of love, as does the night when she descends on a lonely hill, and protect them from failure through selfish attainment. The spirit of our college is symbolized in the word "others"—always others until we find ourselves. Love, my daughters is service. Service, my daughters, is love. These are inseparable.

"So I greet you, and wish you success as you embark on your journey to happiness!"

. . . . And in the quiet of the night a wind crept out of a distant cloud, and all was still.

ACCORDING TO SCHEDULE

Dearest Girls:

Since writing you last, you have settled down to work according to your various schedules, and you are feeling that summer is far away, even a dream. Do you ever stop to think that we who are outside the school world are working too "according to schedule?"

The house-wife's schedule is a heavy one just now with her canning and pickling and getting the home ready for the long cozy winter evenings. The various clubs are beginning their activities according to schedule and programs. In fact, all busy and worthwhile people are those who work according to schedule, and they are the only ones who ever really accomplish much.

Sometimes you may see a girl who is neither in school nor at work. You may sometimes wish that you, too, could get out and leave your schedule behind you. Sometimes we busy housewives and mothers feel that we would like this also.

I had a very good lesson brought home to me last week, I had to be in Richmond on business and I went to see an old school-mate of mine, a widow who is boarding this winter, while her children are off at school.

"Mary," I said, "I envy you the time you have. What a useful person you must be here in all kinds of work! But most of all, I envy you the time to read so many interesting books. What are you reading now?"

"Indeed, I'm ashamed to tell you. Nothing, except occasionally a magazine. I haven't settled down yet. You know I don't like women's meetings. I go out to play bridge with friends. I go driving and to a movie now and then. But I'm bored all the time."

I left her a wiser woman. I'm thankful I am a busy mother and a housekeeper. I'm ever thankful that my schedule is so heavy that I can't read half the new books. I'm thankful that I can find time for a hasty note to a friend now and then who I know loves me whether I write a letter or not. I'm thankful that my schedule is elastic enough to allow me to have a part in the civic life of my small town, for that work in the outside balances the work in the inside of the home.

I'm writing you girls this because you may get weary of your schedule at times. I am glad I learned, long ago at Farmville, to work acoording to schedule, building day by day, that the whole of life may work smoothly and wisely, usefully and in service according to schedule!

A Devoted Alumna

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

BALDWIN WINS
When it Comes to Hosiery Values

We now offer Kayser and Humming Bird pure silk full fashioned hose, with popular Pointex heel in the newest autumn shades for $1.50
SEE OUR DISPLAY
THIS WEEK
BALDWINS
"The S. T. C. Girl's Main Street Home"

TO—

I stood—a block of stone—
The quaking stars looked down—afraid for me
Pitying me in my agony—
For you had gone.
Gone, like an old rose sunset
Taking its colors with you,
Fled like a winged arrow
Leaving a silvered trail of memory,
Vanished like a fairy bubble
Taking my air castles with you.
And I am left alone with the ashes of desire
Making a grave of my broken dreams.

Kathleen Woodson

BOOK REVIEW

SPIDER BOY

(By Carl Van Vetchen 1928)

Yes, here is another book by Carl Van Vetchen, the author of the well-known and much discussed novel, "Nigger Heaven."

One of his chief characteristics seems to be that of depicting the peculiar qualities of environment rather than character. He prefers places to people, and, just as he graphically describes Harlem in "Nigger Heaven," he portrays Hollywood in "Spider Boy" with exaggerated realism and burlesque, emphasizing the peculiarities of the community.

"Spider Boy" does not embody the depth of thought which we found in "Nigger Heaven," nor happily, the tragic ending. Although original and witty, it seems amazingly overdrawn and trivial, deriding the characters of Hollywood even too much for the imagination to approve.

DR. SIMKINS TO WRITE HISTORY

Dr. Simkins, professor of history in this college is now working on a social history of South Carolina which he hopes to have completed in about two years.

Dr. Simkins in his history will discuss South Carolina as a typical southern community, describing the life, food, clothes, entertainment, church life, farm life and political life of those people since the Civil War.

SHENANDOAH CLUB ENJOYS PICNIC

Wednesday afternoon, October 17, twenty members of the Shenandoah Club, with Misses Mary Clay and Winnie Hiner, advisers, went on a hike to the meadow near the hospital. A picnic lunch was served while the girls were assembled around a large bon-fire. They told stories until the fire burned low, then having sung "Follow the Gleam" and the club song, "In the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia," they returned to school.

In preceding years, it has been customary for the club to give two or three entertainments during the session. On account of the success of the first of these, many members are already looking forward with much pleasure to the time for the next.

STUDENT BODY WELCOMES NEW ARRIVAL

The student body of S. T. C. wishes to welcome Martin Boyd Coyner, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, born Monday morning, October 22.

SOCIAL

Dr. Walmsley attended the annual Methodist Conference in Lynchburg which met last week.

* * *

Marion Seay attended the homecoming dances at V. M. I. during the past week-end.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bowers and Miss Margaret Bowers spent the week-end with Elizabeth Bowers.

* * *

Miss Frankie Roberts spent the week-end at William and Mary where she attended the Kappa Alpha Theta banquet.

* * *

Misses Mildred Field Elmore, Mary Bernard, Mabel Fitzpatrick, Alice Carter, Alice Hathaway and Marian Seay attended the game and dances at V. M. I. over the week-end.

* * *

Miss Anne Withers and Miss Suzanne Holland spent the week-end at their homes in Danville.

* * *

Miss Louise Foster and Miss Flora Martin spent the week-end at the latter's home in Petersburg.

* * *

Miss Frances Willis and Miss Martha Lanier spent the week-end at the latter's home in Petersburg.

* * *

Miss Jane Wiley spent the week-end in Richmond.

* * *

Miss Josephine Lyne and Miss Mary F. Taliaferro spent the week-end at their homes in Orange.

* * *

Miss Page Archer and Rosa Archer spent the week-end at their home in Waynesboro.

* * *

Miss Elizabeth Etheridge, Miss Katherine Downing, and Miss Katherine Nichols spent the week-end at their homes in Norfolk.

* * *

Miss Florence McIntyre and Miss Margaret Leonard spent the week-end at the latter's home in Richmond.

* * *

Miss Mary Smith visited her sister, Jesse Smith, over the week-end.

* * *

The following alumnae returned for the week-end: Miss Evelyn Dulaney, Phyllis Wood, Virginia Hall, Virginia Ellis, Mary Tucker and Helen Davidson.

* * *

Miss Dorothy Latane spent the week-end at her home in Richmond.

Y. W. C. A. BOOKS AVAILABLE

Through the thoughtfulness of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, any girl who desires helpful material in the leading of prayers may find it in the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet room. Books are being collected this week and put in the cabinet room, where at any time they may be available to those who wish to read.

The majority of the books belong to individuals who have lent them to the Y. W. C. A. These books may be read at any time in the cabinet room. If they are taken from this room, the cabinet asks that the girl borrowing the book write the name of the borrowed book, her name and her room number in a book provided for this purpose.

If there are any girls who own suitable books and are willing to lend them to the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, please see Elizabeth Bowers.

Subscribe to the Rotunda!!

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

STUDENTS PREFER GREEK TO LATIN FIGURES PROVE

For the first time in the history of the University there is a greater number of students taking Greek than Latin. This tends to show that Greek is not becoming less popular as is the common belief, Dr. Henry V. Shelley, Professor of Ancient Languages, stated.

There is a total of 47 students taking Greek or Latin. Fifteen are studying Greek while only twelve are enrolled for Latin. The rest are taking the course in Greek civilization. This is about the same number as was enrolled in this department last year. —Ring Tum Phi, W. & L.

The University of North Carolina reports an interesting foreign element in its enrollment. There as a native Filipino, a brilliant scholar; a Lebanese, one from the Lebanon of the old county in Syria; an Italian graduate of the University of Padua; a full blooded Cherokee Indian; a full blooded Syrian; several Cubans; a native Greek; born in Turkey, and a Russian with a long string of experiences behind him in the Bolshevik wars.

"Old Gold and Black". the college paper of Wake Forest is sponsoring a presidential political campaign. By means of the straw vote, the editors of the paper are to find out the consensus of opinion regarding the two leading candidates for president. The straw vote idea is not a new one for it has been successfuly negotiated by practically every college in our country.

One of the ancient and honorable customs of William and Mary is the holding of the Supreme Court each year, to which each freshman must report. It consists of the judge, jury, sheriff and several deputies and also an executioner.

Freshmen, you see that you are not the only college freshmen that are being molested.

The Playmakers at North Carolina University will give their folk plays in cities in six different states. They will play four engagements in New York City and one at Yale University.

The student body of Salem College was fortunate in hearing Paul Whiteman and his orchestra last week. The following statement, published in "The Salemite", gives us some idea of their appreciation: "We went to sleep that night with the lasting impression that Paul Whiteman is the outstanding promoter of a worthwhile American contribution to art—jazz, an expression of typical American youth, which is not after all—is it dear reader—entirely frivolous and without merit?"

Dr. Henry Louis Smith, president of Washington & Lee University, has handed in his resignation. His retirement will take place next July. The Richmond Times-Dispatch expressed the opinion that he "has given to Washington and Lee a notable administration, and he may look back upon his work with unalloyed satisfaction." Dr. George H. Denny, president of the University of Alabama, who preceded Dr. Smith at W. & L. in 1912 to 1916, was unanimously elected to the position.

Love—The delusion that one woman differs from another.

ATHLETIC POINT SYSTEM

I.—Physical efficiency
- 9 events with four stunts and four field and track events 75 pts.
- 9 events with seven stunts and seven field & track events 100 pts.

II.—Teams
- 1st. class team having participated in 60% games played 50 pts.
- 2nd. class team ..... 25 pts.
- Attendance at 60% class practices ..... 25 pts.
- Championship team ..... 50 pts.
- Runner up ..... 25 pts.

III—Honorary varsity ..... 25 pts.
IV.—Varsity team ..... 50 pts.
- Varsity squad ..... 25 pts.

V.—Hiking
- 6 5-mile hikes per year .... 50 pts.

VI—Field Day
- 1st place in any individual event ..... 25 pts.
- 2nd. place in any individual event ..... 15 pts.
- 3rd. place in any individual event ..... 10 pts.
- 1st place in class relay .... 10 pts.
- 2nd place in class relay ..... 5 pts.
- Breaking college record .... 50 pts.
- Participation in meet ..... 5 pts.
- 1st place in meet ..... 100 pts.

VII.—Tournaments
- Championship
  - Singles ..... 50 pts.
  - Doubles ..... 25 pts.
- Runners up
  - Singles ..... 25 pts.
  - Doubles ..... 15 pts.
- In after 1st match ..... 5 pts.

VIII—Scholarship
- Average C no failures .... 25 pts.
- Av. B nothing below C 50 pts.
- Av. A. nothing below B 75 pts.

Individual Atheltic Awards—Blazers
Class Blazers—red and green with old English F. ..... 700 pts.
Class blazers—red and green with numeral ..... 1,000 pts.
Class blazers, red and green with S. T. C. ..... 1,300 pts.
Navy blue blazer, S. T. C. 1,600 pts
Navy blue blazer with College Seal ..... 2,000 pts.

OPEN FORUM OR NOT?

At intervals for some years there has been discussion on the subject of an open forum in the Rotunda. Many students have wished for the opportunity to express opinion on matters of general interest. Since the college paper strives to be a true representation of college activties and feeling, it certainly seems reasonable that students should be allowed expression in their paper. If S. T. C. wants such a column, students must contribute to its support. It is possible that this forum may be the means of the solution of many campus problems. All articles must of course, be signed. If, within the next two weeks, sufficient letters are received to justify the existence of this department, it will become a regular part of the paper. It is clearly understood that such letters are apart from the work of the staff.

CAMPUS LEAGUE MEMBERS BEGIN WORK

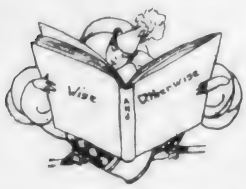
The Campus League asks the very best cooperation of all the girls this year. Already it has accomplished much through the work of its members

Catherine Bentley
Virginia Marshall
Ruth Snellings
Rachel Royall
Rebecca Savedge
Mildred Deans
Jane Cotten
Nettie Boynton
Elsie Clements
Grace Virginia Woodhouse
Rosabell Archer
Helen Louise Borrowdale

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"Drinks and Drugs"
TOILET ARTICES, SODA MAGAZINES, CANDY AND STATIONERY



S. T. C. HEAQUARTERS
HUB
DEPT. STORE
WELCOMES YOU
And Solicits Your Patronage
Open a
CHARGE ACCOUNT
Reduced Prices to All—
S. T. C. GIRLS

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
(We invite your charge accounts)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

DRESS WELL AND SUCCEED
CORRECT CLOTHES
For the Round of College Life
SHOES
For Every Occasion
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
Farmville, Virginia

For the Last Time

Facetious Student (to elderly lady who is vigorously beating a rug): "Don't beat that rug so. It may be Lon Chaney."

Elderly Lady: "That is impossible. I am Lon Chaney."—V. M. I. Sniper.

Doctor Simkins: "Abraham Lincoln was noted for his honesty."

Freshman "Then why was it they closed up the stores on his birthday?"

"Just exactly what does the chaplain of Congress do? Does he pray for the Senate and the House?"

"No, he gets up, looks at them, and prays for the country."

These Bally English

There is a story told of a certain small party consisting of two Irishmen, two Jews, and two Englishmen, which in the course of a sea voyage was shipwrecked on a desert island. It was ten years before a ship finally rescued them and it was then discovered that the two Irishmen were dead, having fought to a finish the two Jews had all the money; and the two Englishmen had never spoken. They had not been introduced.

The old-fashioned girl used to be satisfied to stay at home—provided the family were going out.

Louise Munt: "Ever read Pickwick Papers?"

Dena Lee: "Naw, what do I care what goes on in these hick towns?"

Sammy Scott "The horn on this car is broken."

Blanche Murrell: "No, it's not; it is just indifferent."

Sammy Scott: "What do you mean?"

Blanche Murrell: "Why, it just doesn't give a hoot."

Miss Grenels: "A fine stenographer you are: Call yourself a typist and don't even know how to change a ribbon."

Miss Waters: "Can Paderewski tune a piano?"

MISS POTTS ELECTED SOPHOMORE CLASS MAN

Miss Virginia Potts was recently elected sopohomre class man. Miss Potts, a graduate of S. T. C., has just returned this year as part-time music instructor and assistant in the home department. While a student here Miss Potts wrote the music for "Alma Mater" and the words and music for our school song, "Onward Farmville."

ROTUNDA STRAW BALLOT

ALFRED E. SMITH
HERBERT HOOVER

This is the blank to be used in voting in the presidential straw ballot sponsored by the Rotunda. Every one is asked to draw a line through the name of the candidate for whom they do not wish to vote. There will be a box in the hall all day Thursday in which the ballots may be placed.

NATIONAL PRESS MEETING HELD

Pearl Etheridge and Margaret Walton will go to Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana, November 16 and 17 to represent the Rotunda at the fourth annual National Press Association meet. The Rotunda is the first of the twelve eligible school papers to plan representation.

The program of the meet will include speeches by men nationally known in the newspaper field, round-table discussion of the problems confronting the editors and business managers of the college newspapers, presentation of papers by college editors on college journalistic questions of the day, a banquet, entertainment and a football game. Plans will also be made for a closer national organization which will mean greater service to college journalism as an institution.

PLANS ARE COMPLETED FOR FRESHMAN WEEK

Psychiatrists and poets have told us that "love begets love;" if this is true, then according to psychology it might also be said that "ideas beget ideas." The Class Council acting on a suggestion from Dr. Jarman, decided to have a formal initiation of freshmen, and set the date for that initiation Monday, October the twenty-second. Rather feebly at first, but then with more force more ideas began cropping into the minds of the girls and in about an hour something entirely new for S. T. C. freshmen had been planned; there evolved Freshman Week.

After a great deal of rejection and selection, the final plan was formulated.

Monday night—Formal initiation, at which time the freshmen were introduced, in a clever stunt, to the outstanding organizations of the school, received their rat caps and marched out sining the Alma Mater.

Tuesday night—Nominations for the class officers.

Wednesday night—A special prayer service given by the seniors.

Thursday night—A program presented by the faculty.

Friday night—Electionof the class officers.

Saturday night—Sing, presented by the freshman class and followed by a party given the freshmen by the Athletic Association.

It is hoped that next year will prove that a precedent has been set, so far as Freshman Week is concerned, and that in the future no school year will be successful without its Freshman Week.

ALPHA KAPPA GAMMA CIRCUS NOVEMBER 3

Answering the need for a night of stunts, jokes and gaiety, the organizations of S. T. C. are preparing a one-ring circus for the entertainment of the student body on November 3.

Animals of fantastic dimensions as well as stunts of infinite variety and originality will constitute the features of the circus. Aside from these interesting features, the Beauty Queen will be presented as queen of the circus. An excellent orchestra has been procured for the evening.

As one of the major events of the coming month, the circus is an entertainment which promises to be worthy of an audience. The proceeds from this circus, which is sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma sorority, will be used as payment for the base of the equestrian statue of Joan of Arc in the colonnade.

POLITICAL TALKS IN FARMVILLE

While the rest of the United States is thrown headlong into political discussion at this time, S. T. C. tunes in to hear two instructional talks on the campaign.

Monday night a number of the S. T. C. girls attended Col. Greene's lecture at the high school on "Smith, the Man." Col. Greene, as member of Governor Smith's cabinet and intimate friend of the Governor for ten years, gave a beneficial lecture on the Governor's political policies and the virtues of his life. He heralded Smith, the natural leader, the genius for government, the mentally honest, and the kind, brave, sympathtic executive.

Tuesday night Bishop James Cannon, Jr., talked in the Eaco Theatre to a full house. Bishop Cannon denounced Smith for president, as a wet, Tammany Hall man. He traced the development of the prohibition movement in the United States and painted Tammany Hall corrupt, accepting the Republican Party as the means to avoid the downfall of the nation's moral standard.

Both men presented a number of facts stirred with their own heart convictions, and their talks were greatly enjoyed.

MR. SHACKLOCK, RECENT SPEAKER IN CHAPEL

Mr. Floyd Shacklock, a returned missionary and a national secretary of the Student Volunteer movement led devotional exercises in chapel Saturday morning, October 20.

He spoke briefly on the need of missionary work, stressing the fact since other countries in these modern times are necessarily influenced by America that she must make her influence a good one!

BAPTIST STUDENT CONFERENCE MEETS IN DANVILLE OCT. 26-28

This week-end about thirty Baptist girls are planning to go to Danville to the Baptist Student Conference which will be held at Averett Colelge. This is one of fourteen similar conferences held in colleges in the south, which have as their motto—"Magnify Christ".

The leaders of this conference are all devout and earnest Christian men and women, who are interested in students and the student problems. Among these leaders are Dr. T. C. Skinner of Lynchburg who will lead devotionals at each meetings; and Mr. Stovall, who is the Virginia General Student secretary.

The girls who plan to attend this conference hope to gain a great inspiration, to come back and to "magnify Christ" on this campus.

DR. BURRELL RESIGNS BAPTIST PASTORATE

Dr. C. Edward Burrell, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Farmville, Va., surprised the members of his congregation Sunday morning by handing in his resignation, effective March 31, 1929.

For the past year, Dr. Burrell has been unable to undertake the duties required of him on account of ill health. During the summer months he spent a great deal of time in Canada recuperating. It is believed that he will return to Canada since he has received numerous calls, some of which are from churches he has already served.

The bridal march for aeroplane weddings: "High—Diddle—Diddle."

Subscribe to the Rotunda!!

ALUMNAE NOTES

Miss Ida Parrish Wells, who taught last session in South Hill High School was married on June 5 in Washington to Jordan Clifton Jeffress.

The marriage of Miss Esther Bates Davenport, of Lancaster, Va., and George Frank Hasslacher of New York, took place on the afternoon of June 1 at the Ambassador Hotel in New York.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in June at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. McClung in Lexington, when their daughter, Elizabeth, became the bride of Charles Cameron Pulsifer, of Bluefield. Miss Frances Sale and Elvira Jones were two of the bridesmaids.

Miss Thelma Pauline Rhodes was married to John Wesley Garrett, of Selma, Alabama at Cartersville Methodist church Thursday, June 21.

Other wedding were those of Miss Marie Lindsay Orgain of Lawrenceville to Dr. George Thompson Baskerville of Petersburg; Miss Helen D. Myers and Clarence W. Maddox of Lynchburg; Miss Marjorie Pamela Flippen, of Richmond, and Horace Holcomb Hume, of Long Island, N. Y.; Miss Mary L. Hester, of Lynchburg, and Roy B. Wiedemer, of Cincinnati.

FARMVILLE ALUMNAE CHAPTER BEGINS WORK

On Tuesday night, October the sixteenth, the Farmville chapter of the Alumnae Association met to discuss plans for the year's work.

A committee was appointed to solicit all alumnae in town as active members.

Remembering the enjoyment furnished the student body last year by the Marionettes, the Farmville Alumnae Chapter has engaged them for January the sixteenth. Here is another item to add to your list of anticipated joys!

NATIONAL BOOK WEEK TO BE OBSERVED HERE

The college training school, and probably town high school will begin the observance of National Book Week on Monday, November 13th, and continue through the week.

An entertainment will be given by the college juvenile literature classes, the training school and high school in S. T. C. auditorium on the evening of the sixte enth which is expected to be largely attended by the children's parents and many of the students.

All plans have not been definitely made, but several committees are at work now to have the entire week filled with impressive events. More details of the work will be announced at a later date.

POLISH VIOLINIST HEARD AT R. M. W. C.

Continued from page one

"Flight". Dedicated to our "Lindy", it carries one flying into the heights, entwining in the theme snatches from "Yankee Doodle" and a negro spiritual. If he had not won his audience before, they were entirely his after this composition.

Mr. Kochanski, a Polish artist, received his education and training at the University of Warsaw in Russia. This is his third concert tour of the United States. Although his name is not so well known in smaller music circles, critics prophesy his ranking with Kreisler in the future.

The concert was delightfuly enjoyed, presenting in the artist's superb ability a liberal education to lovers of music.

Falconer Gift Shop
Books Engraving
Stationery Pen Repairing
PARTY AND DANCE FAVORS A SPECIALTY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, aesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

At the Eaco Theatre Oct. 29th—Nov. 3rd

MON.—Karl Dane, George K. Arthur, and Marceline Day in "DETECTIVES", a special production. A hotel detective, a bell hop and a girl—against a mystery you can't fathom. Laugh? You'll never stop from the first foot to the last print! As big as "Rookies." Also oddity and news reel. Mat. 4 o'clock.

TUES.—Arthur Lake and Mary Brian with a big cast in "HAROLD TEEN". Collegiate! Yes, it is collegiate! Roaring rah rah boys and classy co-eds at their zippiest. A thrilling football game, a big dam explosion, a youthful love story in this hilarious screen version of Carl Ed's popular comic strip. Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

WED.—Tim McCoy with Dorothy Sebastian and Charles Delaney in "The ADVENTURER". You couldn't blame him! A dark-eyed senorita smiled at him, and all bets were off! A whale of a romance, whirling its devil-may-care way through revolution and a thousand other dangers. Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

THURS.—Nancy Carroll and Ford Sterling in "CHICKEN A LA KING". This is the story of the hilarious adventures of an old-fashioned husband who goes on a rampage and gets scorched in the white lights of Broadway. Plenty of beautiful girls here. Also comedy. Matinee at 4 o'clock.

FRIDAY at matinee—Karl Dane, George K. Arthur and Louise Lorraine in "CIRCUS ROOKIES". The three-ring laughing picture riot! A louder and funnier collection of roars than ever before gathered into one film. A repeat picture. Also comedy.

Sat. at mat. only—Milton Sills and Doris Kenyon in "THE HAWK'S NEST." Underworld war, underworld justice, underworld love; you'll find them all in this thrill packed drama in which Milton Sills is at his best. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT.—George O'Brien and Virginia Valli in "EAST SIDE, WEST SIDE", a big special production. A story of New York today with its loves, passions and hates, from the famous novel by Felix Riesenberg. This is the romance of a genius, two women and a big town. Note: this is a big special production. Extra good. Also "The Virgin Queen" a special subject shown in beautiful colors.

S. T. C. girls admission price, 25c to each show if tickets are purchased at the college.

COME TO THE CIRCUS SATURDAY NIGHT

ROTUNDA

HAVE YOUR PICTURE TAKEN FOR THE ANNUAL

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1928 No. 6

FRESHMAN CLASS ORGANIZES THURSDAY UNDER LEADERSHIP OF VIRGINIA COX

Enthusiasm of Freshman Week Culminates in Election

RAT CAPS DISTRIBUTED

Priest, Walker and Robertson Hold Other Major Offices

The Freshman class held a meeting, sponsored by members of the Junior class, last Friday night, to elect officers for the coming year. Before the election, rat cups were distributed.

After much discussion and voting, Virginia Cox was elected president from the following nominees: Elaine Goode, Mary Priest, Virginia Cox, Helen Robertson, Pearl Johnson, Elizabeth Walker.

The new president then took charge of the meeting and the floor was opened for nominations for vice-president, secretary and treasurer. The following were nominated for vice-preeident: Henrietta Cornwell, Mary Priest, Mary Robinson, Helen Robertson.

For secretary: Pearl Johnson, Virginia Lowe, Margaret Loving, Elizabeth Walker, Allie K. Libbie, Emma Lou Pulliam.

For treasurer: Evelyn Holland, Elaine Goode, Elizabeth Etheridge, Grace Woodhouse, Maude Johnson, Helen Robertson.

The votes wee taken and Mary Priest was elected vice-president, Elizabeth Walker, secretary; Helen Robertson, treasurer.

The Freshman class is fortunate this year in having such a wideawake, alert crowd of girls. It is the opinion of the upper classmen that this will be a most successful year for the new arrivals.

ANNUAL PICTURES

The pictures for the annual are being taken this week by Mr. Earl Hardy, a photographer from Staunton. Each class has a certain day in which to have its pictures taken.

This is the first year that the Virginian staff has had to have its pictures taken in such a short time. The staff asks the cooperation of the student body.

FRESHMAN PRESIDENT

VIRGINIA COX

FACULTY DEDICATE PRAYER SERVICE TO FRESHMEN

Miss Rice Tells Interesting Bible Story

On Thursday night, October 25, the faculty of our college played their part in Freshman Week by dedicating the first all-faculty prayer service to the freshman class.

The twilight stillness of the auditorium was broken only by the occasional sputtering of the lighted candles as the girls came in with an air of quiet reverence. After the singing of a hymn, Mr. Grainger opened the service with a short talk expressing the appreciation of the faculty for the opportunity of meeting together with the girls in their devotional service. and their pleasure in being able to take part in Freshman Week. After the singing of a solo by Miss Turner, Miss Rice delighted the audience with a Bible story. In her very individual and charming manner, Miss Rice made the girls see and know Babylon in all its glory, its good and its evil. We caught from her something of the spirit of Daniel and his companions in captivity, as they

(Continued on Page Three)

SMITH WINS CAMPUS STRAW VOTE

S. T. C. WELL REPRESENTED AT B. S. U. CONFERENCE AT DANVILLE OCT. 26—28

Another milestone in the life of Baptist students was reached when Baptist students from the colleges of Virginia assembled last week end, Oct. 26-28, at Averett College, Danville, Va., for the seventh annual conference of the Baptist Students' Union.

Mr. Arthur Stovall, our State secretary of Virginia, a most wideawake and consecrated worker, congratulated the State Teachers College of Farmville on having the largest delegation at the conference. Including chaperones, 26 delegates were sent from S. T. C. The professors and chaperones from our college, Mr. and Mrs. Bowman, Mr. Horton and Dr. Simkins, held a prominent place at the conference. Mr. Bowman was consulted often by Mr. Stovall, who said that he was looking to S. T. C. for leadership. Students of Farmville will be interested to know that Miss Nelly Talley, of our college, was elected as chairman of the State Student Program committee for the coming year.

The keynote of the conference was "Magnifying Christ, the Master."

Christ was magnified indeed at this conference, where consecrated students and leaders showed by their countenance and acts that they had been communing with the Christ—the leader and Master.

The power of "A Master's Minority" on the college campus was stressed throughout the meeting, and the need of that fearless minority who will dare to stand up for the best, rise above the uncertainty and tangle of hurrried campus life, and lift others. Miss Ethel McConnell expressed the need for a "Master's Minority" when she said, "Oh, how we need a Lindbergh of religion!"

The conference was a real get-together meeting, where students and interested elders could discuss together the problems and difficulties facing students today, and practical means of remedying these difficulties. Professors and all students of world

(Continued on last page)

ORCHESTRA TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY

First Number on the Lyceum Course Presented

On Friday, November 2, the Boston Woman's Symphony Orchestra, composed of fifty players will give two programs, matinee and night, as the first number of the Lyceum Course. This orchestra is the first in this country to be composed entirely of women. Every orchestral instrument used in any symphony orchestra will be found in this orchestra. Its conductor, Ethel Leginska, is one of the world's foremost women conductors and pianist.

CONTRIBUTION TO FRESHMAN WEEK

The Senior Class presented a beautiful and impressive service at prayers Wednesday night, October 24. The entire class, dressed in white, came in singing the processional "Lead On O King Eternal," after which the invocation was given by Louise Vaughan. A duet, sung by Margaret Hubbard and Frances Hanmer, added greatly to the effectiveness of the program. After the scripture readings Louise Vaughan gave a short talk on "Silence," emphasizing the beauty of silence expressed especially in God's wonderful gifts of nature. The choir's chants of "Amen" lent an atmosphere of reverence to the service and ended prayers for that evening.

SENIORS FORMALLY INSTALLED BY DR. JARMAN

First Public Meeting of Seniors Is Held

The installation service of the senior class of 1929 was held on Monday evening, October 29. The seniors marched in processional with their little sisters carrying the caps which Dr. Jarman placed upon the head of each senior.

Dr. Jarman congratulated the class on its quantity (there are one hundred and fifteen seniors) and on its quality. "The spirit of the college is largely what you make it," he said. He spoke of the freshmen entering the college and learning its spirit; the sophomores, becoming a part of that spirit; the juniors more deeply imbued with it; and, finally the seniors as those who should emanate the true spirit of "Alma Mater."

Following the talk by Dr. Jarman, Kipling's Recessional was sung by Mae Marshall.

Miss Virginia Potts played "Alma Mater" as the processional, and it was sung by the student body at the close of the service as a recessional.

Be sure to have your picture taken this week for the annual!

Hoover Victorious in National College Humor Ballot

VOTE INDICATES SOUTH

Virginia Colleges Cast Largest Vote for Election of Smith

Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for the presidency, received 335 votes and Herbert Hoover, Republican candidate, 237 votes in the straw vote conducted last Thursday and Friday on the S. T. C. campus by the Rotunda. In the final total vote of all colleges Hoover won by a two to one majority.

The toal number of votes cast at S. T. C. polls was 572, which represented a little over half of the student body. When it was found Thursday night that the majority of the students had not voted, the polls were kept open one day longer than it was originally planned. It is believed now that a sufficient number of votes were cast to give a general indication of the opinion of the student body.

For a long while interest in the presidential campaign has been growing. Many private discussions have been held on this subject, and many classes have been influenced by the interest of students. The student body has been well represented at the town political meetings. Many students were present Monday night when Colonel Frederick Stuart Green spoke for Smith and again the following night when Bishop Cannon spoke in behalf of Hoover.

The college straw vote is a national ballot. It is sponsored by College Humor all over the United States. The final returns will be printed in College Humor. This is, it seems the true indication of the collegiate vote, for a number of students are elegible to vote in the national election in November, the great majority are not.

In the analysis of the vote Hoover led the majority of student votes in thirty-eight states and the District of Columbia. Smith carried ten states: Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Virginia cast the greatest number of individual votes for Smith.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 33, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... FLORENCE REED, '31
Art ..... CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, 31 WILLIE SAVAGE, 31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBOROUGH, '31

Proof Reader

MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. Thase will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

WANTED—A NAME

Why do not our lovely new buildings have names?

Summer before last the building between the auditorium and the Student Building was completed. When students occupied it last fall, it was dubbed "Annex."

This past summer the building in front of the Training School was completed. When the students came back this fall, for lack of a name, they have been calling it the "new" building.

What could be more impersonal, more inadequate designations of our newest acquirements? Whose fault is it that they have no appropriate names?

Students, are you satisfied with the present ways of speaking of them? What are you going to do about it?

ALMA MATER AS AN ALUMNA SEES IT

Not until one is definitely on the outside of Alma Mater's sheltering interest does she realize that her once thought heavy student's duties were very light and her student's pleasures greater than any the world can possibly offer in the professional field. Even realizing that it is a selfish viewpoint one can hardly help envying those who so easily step into the place one has filled for four long years. It must take time for a senior to adjust herself to her new alumna status. Why? Because it is impossible to live with the spirit of old S. T. C. for four years and not feel a part of it. It is impossible not to love the memories of work and play and at times long for the companionship of many girls and the everyday friendships which only college can bring.

Only when it is viewed from the outside and from afar does the real significance of college spirit make its impression.

You who have months or years ahead of you at Farmville to work and play without the responsibilities which you must meet the minute you leave never to return as a student, should and later will realize that the days you are spending now (and perhaps burdening with small insignificant worries) are among the happiest of your life.

WORLD NEWS

The first passenger-carrying dirigible to cross the Atlantic, the German Graf Zepplin, poked her silver nose out of the clouds over Lakehurst, New Jersey, and a few minutes afterwards sailed gracefully to earth in front of the Navy's hangar there, just 111 hours and 35 minutes after her historic take off from Friederichshafen, Germany on October 11. This great Zepplin carried twenty passengers and one of them a woman. Perhaps traveling by air across the Atlantic is to be the next step in oceanic transportation.

With the presidential election less than one week away, both parties are seen to be putting forth major efforts to win over the doubtful voter. It is agreed on all sides that there will be "more voting" of party tickets than has ever occurred before. It is impossible for the leaders to hold party lines straight when they are being tugged at in all sections of the country by two powerful moral issues, namely prohibition and religion.

The new nationalist government of China has long since changed the name of Peking, meaning "Mountain Capital" to Peiperg, "Mountain Peace." Correspondents and foreigners have mostly ignored the change, but last week the Christian Science Monitor, was observed to be carrying dispatches dated from Peiperg.

THE ABILITY TO DOUBT

An educated mind is said to be distinguished by the ability to doubt.

"Education may not end in doubt, but it ends when a man stops doubting," says Everett D. Martin in The Meaning of a Liberal Education.

Contrary to popular assumption, it is easier to believe than to doubt. Faith is common to children and the ignorant. As we come to know more of the world and the ways of men we find ourselves less able to be sure of anything.

Doubt is not necessarily the mark of a pessimist or a cynic. Some of the happiest and gayest men are first-clas sdoubters. They are distinguished because they have the courage to face facts.—Exchange.

PROGRAM ON SPAIN HEARD AT CLUB MEETING

Wednesday night, El Circulo Espanol held its regular meeting in the old Y. W. C. A. cabinet room, which will be the new club room of both language clubs. After a short business meeting, Louise Vaughan was presented with a prize of $2 for a series of programs for this year, which promise to be most interesting.

Alice Hanmer gave a short talk on social life and customs in Spain. The program was concluded with one of Spain's favorite songs, "La Paloma."

El Circulo wishes to announce that they have some beautiful hand-painted Christmas cards for sale at very reasonable prices. They may be seen at room 4 in the senior dormitory.

Subscribe to the Rotunda!!

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

The dramatic season at William and Mary opened Tuesday with the presentation of three one-act plays. The plays produced were Edmond Rostand's "The Romancers," Stewart Kidd's "Mirage" and Gertrude Jennings "The Rest Cure." These three productions represented a wide range in dramatic effect, in acting, setting and lighting.

THE MARK OF DISTINCTION

The practice of men of the senior class at William and Mary carrying canes has been revived this year following a meeting of that body. The members of the class were unanimously in favor of starting the practice again. It was felt that some form of distinction to mark the members of the graduating class of next June from the sophomore and junior class was needed. Members of the class will carry canes at any time they desire to do so, but on Tuesdays and at all athletic contests, all members will be expected to appear with their sticks.—The Hi-Po.

UNIVERSITY MEN IMPROVE IN DRESS

The university man, acknowledged oracle of the world of men's wear, has returned to sanity of dress, acording to surveys of three widely separated educational institutions.

In the North, Yale University was selected as a typical university in a "university town". In the South Vanderbilt was chosen for the same reason. And for a middle ground, Princeton was selected. In all of these, observers found that almost unanimously the students had reverted from the "slouchy" college tendency of recent years to a tidiness and care in dress that was surprising. The college man has decided that he is a potential wage-earner to be judged by his habits in dress as well as in other practices, and that he is not attractive to his colleagues, to the co-eds, or to his future employer in silly-looking clothes.—Old Gold and Black.

COLLEGE GRADUATES HAVE LONGER LIFE

A new slant on the value of a college degree is pointed to by Royal J. Davis, New York newspaperman, commenting on the summary of matriculates contained in the September, 1928, Alumni Directory of his alma mater, Haverford college hero.

Haverford, established in 1833, has had 1,731 graduates, 1,358, or 78 per cent of whom are still living. Her stu-year course number 1,361, of which dents who did not complete their four only 709 or 52 per cent are recorded living.

Mr. Davis' inference from the Haverford figures is that the chances at longevity of the college graduate, or of the Haverford graduate at least, are 50 per cent greater than the chances of his college mate who failed to carry on to a degree. Christopher Morley, for instance, who was born on the Haverford campus and took a Haverford degree in 1910, is a better insurance risk than Maxfield Parrish, who left Haverford at the end of three years to devote himself to the study of art.—Exchange.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stix 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

BALDWIN WINS
When it Comes to Hosiery Values

We now offer Kayser and Humming Bird pure silk full fashioned hose, with popular Pointex heel in the newest autumn shades for $1.50
SEE OUR DISPLAY THIS WEEK

BALDWINS
"The S. T. C. Girl's Main Street Home"

NIGHT AND DAY

It is night,
And in the velvet blue
Shines the yellow moon
And a star or two
'Tis a time for rest from tools and toys
A time to indulge in Morpheus' joys.

It is day,
And in the smiling sun
Is the smiling sun
And a cloud or two.
'Tis a time to be busy with work and play
And a chance to make the most of a brand new day.

A. R. S. '29

CHOOSING ANCESTORS AND RELATIONS

I'm sure I hope I'll never be anybody's ancestor—not the superior kind, anyway. I believe, on the whole, it is preferable to be a black sheep—you don't get mentioned quite as often inside, and practically never, outside the family circle. And while I'm speaking of the subject, I might as well include relatives, for they belong to the same class, even if they are not dead. They will be some day, and they are every bit as irritating.

One's ancestors may have been very nice people when they lived, but they became paragons of perfection as soon as they departed from this life. I know a person who tells with great pride and with never a smile, that there has never been but one black sheep among her ancestors and he was all right until a girl "jilted" him, and then he went to the devil on that account. Eve's fault again.

If one does anything notable, or is particularly interesting, what credit does he get from it? One's ancestor is always peeking around the corner to snatch the glory right out of one's hands. You are told that you are merely the inheritor of such a trait from your great grandfather. He was such a brilliant man.

If I could choose my ancestors, I wouldn't choose any. You can never tell what minute somebody will dig them up and throw their virtues at you. "The evil is oft interred with their bones" was certainly written of ancestors, your own, I mean, not the evil of other peoples.

Now, I'll let ancestors rest a while and take up relatives. Of course I do not mean that all relatives are undesirable personally. They can be very charming and one's best friends, yet the fact that they are relatives gives them the supposed right of meddling in one's affairs. I have never been able to understand why relatives' advice should be any better than anyone else's, but it certainly seems to carry more weight with one's parents. How often have I been detained at home, "Your aunt has been there, and she told me she did not consider it a proper place for chilren of your age."

There is a certain habit prevalent among relatives which is more exasperating than hitting one's shin against a chair in the dark, and that is the "now-if-I-were-you" habit. I fear that some day, that remark coming from a relative will lead me to commit an act of violence for which I shall be sorry.

Relatives and ancestors like the poor we have always with us. The only Pollyaniac consolation I can draw from the whole matter is that I have learned a certain amount of self-control and that I don't live in China.

F. V.

BOOK REVIEW

THE CHILDREN
(Edith Wharton—Published by D. Appleton & Co. 1928)

With tender gayety and irony, Edith Wharton has presented in "The Children" a problem which is becoming more serious than ever before to the society in which we live. In this world of nonchalant marriage and divorce, what is to become of the children? How shall they be cared for morally and spiritually?

Seven such children, brought into the world in a family of various marriages, divorces and remarriages and mothered by their fifteen year-old sister, Judith, the eldest of the band, form the nucleus of this novel.

Characteristically, Edith Wharton has portrayed her characters, with sympathy and understanding—from Chip, the youngest of the Wheaters, pride and joy of the family, to Martin Boyne, thrown by fate across the path of the young Wheaters as their self-appointed champion.

Surrounding these galant and pathetically appealing characters, the author depicts a set of ultra-wealthy Americans who flit from one fashionable hotel to another, seeking only pleasure, nor thinking of those who must suffer from their neglect.

The half humorous, half pathetic appeal of the children left together regardless of what happens, excites the sympathy of the reader immediately, and sweeps him along into the swirl of events working toward the end.

At the conclusion it is slightly disappointing to find that Boyne, exposed to two of his love affairs, returns to his work still a lonely bachelor.

Dramatic, ironic, sympathetic and poignant, this novel demonstrates Edith Wharton's best contribution to modern literature.

THE CAVALIER OF TENNESSEE
(Meredith Nicholson. Published by Babbs-Merrill. 1928)

This book is without a doubt one of the best historical novels of the year—a novel which is also in the finest sense biography, for each detail has been carefuly recorded by the author from the most responsible authorities on the subject.

The cavalier is, of course, Andrew Jackson, one of the most romantic figures in American history. The story opens during the restless days of settling and organizing new territories, immediately following the Revolution. Andrew Jackson is a young man, just beginning his public life, and his character is vividly and realistically portrayed in the most interesting and entertaining manner.

Impetuous, dashing, fearless, bold and stanch, hated thoroughly by his enemies, an inspiration to his friends and comrades, Jackson typifies the real Democrat who understands the heart of the average citizen and respects him. Even while still a young man, because of his iron will and ability to overcome obstacles, his fellow soldiers called him Old Hickory. thread of the story is the love of Jack-

By no means the least important son for Rachel Robards, who he latter marries. Through their love story the author shows the tenderness in the heart of Jackson and his courtly respect for women. This love for his wife leavens his impetuous nature and makes the reader visualize him as he is, a real human being, a true character.

SOCIAL

Lelia Germany is back in school after being detained at home with appendictis.

Mary Louise Saunders spent the week-end with Dot Baldwin and attended the dances at Hampden-Sydney.

Mary Garlic and Charlotte Epes visited Louise Foster over the week-end and attended the dances at Hampden-Sydney.

Virginia Walker, Helen Wilcox, Barbara Wilcox, Anne Deffenbaugh, Runt Hargrave, Zozie Carter, Mayo Bass, Polly Aderholt, Sue Sebrell and Sarah Cross returned to school over the week-end and attended the Hampden-Sydney dances.

Elizabeth Turner had as her guest over the week-end, Miss Mary Louise Bruner, of Richmond, who attended the Hampden-Sydney dances.

Polly Aiken and Kitty Russell visited in school over the week-end and attended the Hampden-Sydney dances.

Lucille Graves and Pannie Willis spent the week-end at the latter's home in Norfolk.

Alice Covington and Florence McIntyre spent the week-end in Chapel Hill, N. C., where they attended the game and dances.

Mary Priest, Katherine Grinnan, Martha Von Schilling, Nora Petty, and Gertrude Jarman attended the dances at the University of Virginia over the week-end.

Mary Cabinnis spent the week-end with Frances Roberts and attended the Hampden-Sydney dances.

Elizabeth Lacy spent the week-end at her home in Richmond and attended the wedding of her sister.

Margaret Leonard, Lucille Field, and Emmie Lou Pulliam, spent the week-end at their homes in Richmond.

The following girls attended the dances at Hampden-Sydney: Anne Ferree, Anne Withers, Mary Bernard, Frances Thornton, Elizabeth Turner, Frances Millican, Anne Chapin, Louise Foster, Elizabeth Revercomb, Flora Martin, Dorothy Latane, Mayo Beady, Margaret Loving, Allie Kae Libby, Martha Ann Laing, Frankie Roberts, Virginia Gurley, Anna Jones, Frances Davis, Elaine Goode, Louise Munt, Nora Petty, Helen Robertson, Mildred Robinson, Sarah Williams, Frances Hamner, Mabel Fitzpatrick, Dena Lee Stith, Dot Baldwin, Elizabeth Watkins, Nan Griffith, Rosalie Rhea, Lula Milner, Lois Fraser, Alice Carter.

SUPERVISORS ENTERTAIN STUDENT TEACHERS

Exemplifying the ideal relationship between supervisors and the student teachers, Miss Mix, Miss Haynes, and Miss McCormack, supervisors of grades one, two and three, entertained their student teachers at "Longwood" on Wednesday afternoon.

After the guests had explored the recesses of the estate, a delicious picnic supper was served over a campfire.

FACULTY DEDICATE PRAYER SERVICE TO THE FRESHMAN

Continued from page one

still clung to their faith and trust in the God of the Hebrews.

The service ended with a Bible reading and prayer by Mr. Grainger, and a hymn by the audience. With the repeating of the Y. W. C. A. motto, the girls went away feeling that there was a little closer bond of fellowship between students and faculty.

IMPRESSIONS OF HAMPDEN-SYDNEY OPENING DANCES

Soft music, laughter, Spanish shawls, couples strolling here and there, pretty girls, alumni, both old and young, visiting students from R. M. C., even Keydets, gave the occasion an air of festivity. Old friends—renewed acquaintances. Even the "shag" attained unheard of heights of popularity. "Old grads" of many years ago abandoned any superfluous years, forgetting they were not quite as "spry" as they once were.

Then—twelve o'clock—the grand finale—a groan of protest as the couples filed out—quiet whispers, low murmurings, tired good-nights. The gray dawn began to steal o'er the world. Memory was left victor in the field.

ALUMNAE NOTES

Miss Lucy Haile Overbey was recently the guest at tea in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archer Milton Huntington, on Fifth Avenue, New York City. Anna Hyatt Huntington, the sculptress, in April, 1927, presented the original model of her equestrian statue of Joan of Arc to the State Teachers College, Farmville, Va.

It was through Miss Overbey's letter that the interest of the sculptress was gained and the statue was presented as a gift rather than a sale by her representatives. Miss Overbey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Overbey of Chatham, Va., and is now attending Columbia University, where she has recently been made a member of the Dramatic Club.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASSES ENTERTAINED AT TEA

On Thursday, October 25, the girls of the Presbyterian Sunday School were entertained with a tea at the home of Miss Bliss on Second Street.

The guests called between the hours of four and six. They were entertaind with games and contests. Tea and fruit salad were served.

S. T. C. STUDENT GETS NATIONAL HONOR

Last year at the commencement exercises, Dr. Jarman presented Miss Marnetta Souder, '28 with a $200 check which she had received as third prize in the National Chemical Essay Contest. Each year prizes amounting to $6,000 are awarded to students sending in the best essays written on the relation of chemistry to life. Miss Souder's paper on the "Relation of Chemistry to National Defense" was judged third best of all papers on that subject and she received her prize at commencement.

THE COLLEGE CIRCUS

Has come to town!
The jolly ole clown
A really live circus
Has come t' town.

Sure nuf' big doings Saturday night! In the gym there'll be all the excitement anyone can possibly wish for except a football game. Wise cracks, jokes, food, stunts, songs, dances, the Hampden-Sydney orchestra, and a real sure nuf' honest-to-goodness dance t' wind the thing up right. Write mother, father sister, and boy friend all to be there! Big doings, all for a quarter!

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"Drinks and Drugs"
TOILET ARTICES, SODA MAGAZINES, CANDY AND STATIONERY

S. T. C. HEAQUARTERS
HUB
DEPT. STORE
WELCOMES YOU
And Solicits Your Patronage
Open a
CHARGE ACCOUNT
Reduced Prices to All—
S. T. C. GIRLS

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
(We invite your charge accounts)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

DRESS WELL AND SUCCEED
CORRECT CLOTHES
For the Round of College Life
SHOES
For Every Occasion
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
Farmville, Virginia

Freshman, very much worried: "Do you suppose Miss Mary will let me go home this week-end?"

Upperclassman: "She probably will, if you haven't gotten any notes."

Freshman: "Oh, that means, I can't go; I got a letter this morning."

News Item

A great many deaths occurred in Edinburgh last week. It seems some firm was giving away free samples.

He: "Ah, my true love, my secret solace; Let us fly away on a moonbeam. Dearest, can't you see I adore you; oh, dear, may I ask you one little question?"

She (expectantly): "Yes, year."

He: "Er-r-er what time is it?"—The Log.

Did you hear about the Scotchman who walked all over town trying to find a cheap postoffice?

News Item

Not so long ago Vice-President Dawes stood before the Senate and said, "You will now hear a few words from the next President of the United States." The Senate immediately arose as one man and all started talking at once.

Smart—"Think of a number between one and twenty. Have you got it?"

Aleck—"All right."

Smart—"What is it?"

Aleck—"Fifteen."

Smart—"That's right."

Johnnie: "I've added the figures up ten times, ma'am."

Teacher: "That's fine."

Johnnie: "And here's the ten answers, teacher."

UPS AND DOWNS AT S. T. C.

Every girl has her ups and downs, but it is a junior and senior privilege to enjoy more of them than the members of the other classes. The reason for this is the elevator in the new building.

One who has never visited the third floor cannot realize the extreme importance of this new attraction. It is the quickest, safest, and surest way to arrive at the top. How would the girls get all of their letters—love and otherwise? How would they get down to their trunks in the storage room if they had to go up and down numerous flights and steps. How could the huge box from home be deposited in the owners room if the elevator wasn't there to assist the over-burdened student?.

It is also quite an accomplishment to know how to run an elevator. S. T. C. girls are truly being educated in the ups and downs of life.

Be sure to have your picture taken this week for the annual!

FRESHMAN CLASS SING CLOSES FRESHMAN WEEK

The Freshman Class displayed its talent and versality Saturday night in "Sing" which brought "Freshman Week of 1928" to a close.

Many entertaining numbers were presented. The "Varsity Drag" was interpreted by Doris Layne and Dorothy Thompson. Mary Todd gave a scarf dance in which she showed great talent in that art. The tap chorus brought down the house with chic and snappy dances. Those in this chorus were, Liz Watkins, Marion Seay, Alice Adams, Mayo Beatty, Snooty Loving, Dolly Sendall.

Paderewski—himself—was then cast into the shadows by Pearl Johnson and Annie Frances Barrett in a piano duet. In the last number, two of our old friends of "funny paper fame" were brought to life by Mayo Beaty and Helen Robertson in "A Buster Brown Skit."

Sing gave the "rats" a chance to entertain upperclassmen and show what talents "the rats of 1928-'29" possess, what they are made of.

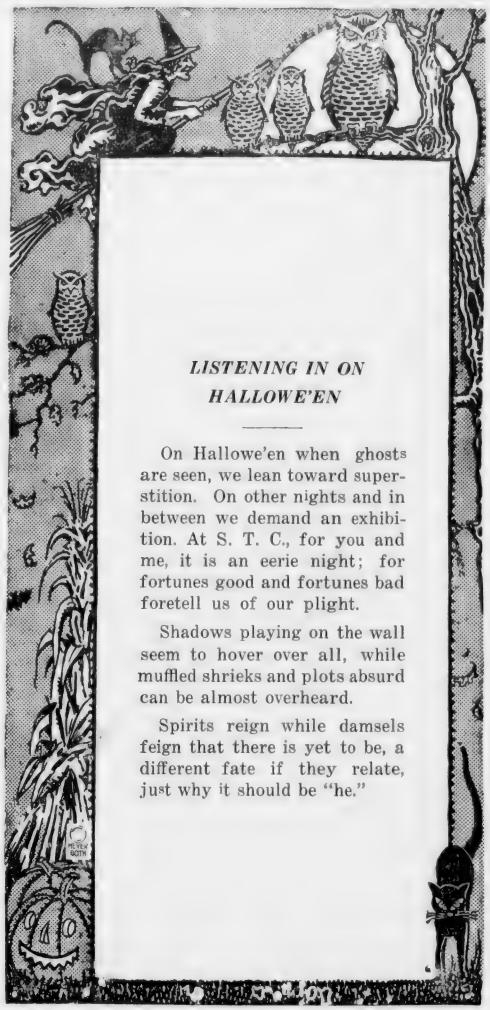
RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT SUBJECT OF DEBATE

The regular meeting of the Debate Club was held on Friday, October 25. At this meeting Dr. Walmsley gave a very constructive talk on the important points in a debatable question. The question, he said, must of course be a two-sided one; it must be logical, timely, more concrete than abstract, and clearly expressed. Negative statements have become unpopular.

The subject of the recognition of the Russian Soviet government was debated. The affirmative, upheld by Margaret Walton and Lois Fraser, won by a unanimous decision. Margaret Hubbard and Lillian Rhodes debated on the negative. Dr. Walmsley gave his usual constructive criticism of the debates.

SENIOR 'FILLING STATION' SATISFIES STARVING

The Senior Class is running a "filling station" in the new building, which so far has proven to be a great success. Every night, except Saturday and Sunday at ten o'clock all kinds of good "eats" can be purchased at a very small price. Sandwiches, hot chocolate and soup usually comprise the menu, but we hear rumors to this effect that pie will be sold this week. The nice new kitchen lightens to a great extent the task of those officiating behind the counter. If the occupants of the building contrive to be as hungry at ten as they have thus far, we have no doubts that the "filling station" will continue to function with increasing success until June.



B. S. U. CONFERENCE AT DANVILLE OCTOBER 26—28

(Continued from First Page)

problems found this conference practical and informational, as well as inspirational.

Dr. Harry Clark, of Furman University, was an able speaker who knows student life. Dr. T. Clagett Skinner, of Lynchburg, was another speaker enjoyed by all. Miss Ida Patterson, a returned missionary from China, told the students that their part in missions was to hold up Christian life in America. She deplored the unequal treaties imposed in China by Americans.

The delegates were entertained royally by Averett College and left feeling that they understood each other better and that they had been drawn closer by a common band—the Christ and His work for us to do.

LISTENING IN ON HALLOWE'EN

On Hallowe'en when ghosts are seen, we lean toward superstition. On other nights and in between we demand an exhibition. At S. T. C., for you and me, it is an eerie night; for fortunes good and fortunes bad foretell us of our plight.

Shadows playing on the wall seem to hover over all, while muffled shrieks and plots absurd can be almost overheard.

Spirits reign while damsels feign that there is yet to be, a different fate if they relate, just why it should be "he."

BITS FROM "BITS"

Lissen, honey—

What do you think? Here I am back at Farmville once more and I'm missing you a lot. I really don't see how the school is going to get along without you, but since you can't very well be in two places at the same time, I'll have to write you all the latest dope!

Let's take the Freshmen first—they're newest. They are all running around with their little caps on and they are still carrying laundry bags. Somehow, in my mind laundry bags and rat caps go together. And, my dear—you should have seen Evelyn Holland staggering around with no less than six the other day. Of course numberless freshmen have pulled that gag about "throwing their laundry over the Rotunda."

The school doesn't seem the same without "Annie P." and we've missed the delicious smell of onions on the third floor annex. And can you imagine cute, little old Beulah married?

Let me tell you where all our nickels are going these days—they don't all go for lollies now but they go to hear the new victrola at Shannon's. You really should hear it.

Had you heard that our Dramatic Club and the Jongleurs are giving a play together this year? We're all a-gog and a-twitter to see it 'cause you know its going to be good!

O! I nearly forgot! you must be here for our first Cotillion Club dance this year—its the tenth and everybody is counting on having a big time!

I will have to write you again—and soon, 'cause I mean things are actually happening at S. T. C. this year and, of course, you'll want to hear about 'em.

"Bits"

P. S.—Of course, I am getting fat, but why bring that up?

NORTH CAROLINA CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The North Carolina Club held its first meeting October 25, 1928. The old girls extended to the new girls a cordial welcome into the club.

Officers were elected for this year with the following results:

Elizabeth Walker ..... President
Frances Carter ..... Vice-President
Sarah McCorkle ..... Sec. & Treas.
Louise Whitlock ..... Reporter

The members of the North Carolina Club are: Florence Wilder, Elaine Goode, Sally Elliott, Lydia Womack, Mary Oliver Ellington, Lucile Norman, Blanche Taylor, Jo Swanson, Sarah McCorkle, Edith Britt, Margaret Mecum, Juanita Womble, Vashti Kennemur, Alma Yancey, Ola Rutherford, Elizabeth Walker, Louise Whitlock Thelma Critcher, Rebecca Allen, Katie Mae Stephenson, Elise Ward, Frances Carter, Nell Armfield.

Magician (to small boy he has called on the stage): "Now, my boy, you have never seen me before, have you?"

Small boy: "No, daddy."—The Pointer.

Be sure to have your picture taken this week for the annual!

Falconer Gift Shop
Books Engraving
Stationery Pen Repairing
PARTY AND DANCE FAVORS A SPECIALTY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Nov. 5—10

MON.—Lois Moran and Neil Hamilton in "DON'T MARRY." He thought he wanted to marry and old fashioned girl and when he did he was sorry she was not a flapper—So she gave him what he wanted—A hilarious comedy romance crammed with suspense. Also News and oddity reel. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

TUES. & WED.—Clara Bow in "LADIES OF THE MOB" A Para mount special. Blazing hair. Blazing personality. Clara blazes her way through a scorching series of thrills in a tense drama of underworld molls and mobs. Made by the director of "Wings" and "The Legion of the Condemned". A most excellent entertainment. Also comedy. Mat. each day at 4 o'clock.

THURS.—Virginia Valli in "THE ESCAPE" A story of love and life in the shadows of the great White Way. A special. The beautiful romance of a girl of the tenements enacted against the lurid backgrounds of New York's night life. A very good picture. Also comedy. Mat. at 4o'clock.

FRI & SAT. at nights only—Richard Dix with Gertrude Olmstead in "SPORTING GOODS". A Paramount picture, How you'll laugh! Richard Dix in a new and funnier comedy, packed with laugh calories. The kind fo a picture you've been waiting for with love, excitement, humor . . . and even a sleek-haired villian. Also "Cleopatra" a special subject shown in colors.

FRI.—at mat. only—Joan Crawford in "ROSE MARIE" a special production. A glamorous romance of the untamed Canadian wilds. Beautiful Joan Crawford as the girl who stirs the hearts of men, and finds true love along a trail of stirring conflict, tragedy, sacrifice. Caught in the mighty ice-flood. A spectacular climax that will live forever. Also comedy.

Sat. at mat. only—Alice White, Larry Kent, Lowell Sherman and Sally O'Neil in Elinor Glyn's greatest heart drama "THE MAD HOUR." Beautiful and poor—she tried to keep pace with New York's fastest young smart set. But when her mad flight of fun ended, she found herself alone, with only memories and a broken heart. Also comedy.

S. T. C. girls admission prices, all shows 25c if tickets are purchased at the college.

HOOVER
31ST PRESIDENT
OF U. S.

ROTUNDA

WM. AND MARY-
S. T. C. HOCKEY
GAME MONDAY

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1928 No. 7

LANDSLIDE VOTE CAST FOR HOOVER

BOSTON WOMAN'S SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA HEARD AT S. T. C. FRIDAY

Madame Leginska Conducts Brilliant Concert; Child Pianists Please Audience

On the afternoon and evening of Friday, November 2, the auditorium of S. T. C. held an unsually enthusiastic and eager audience for the two performances of the Boston Woman's Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Madame Ethel Leginska. The orchestra, an organization of about fifty pieces gave an admirable performance at each appearance. Under the persuasive baton of Madame Leginska it showed splendid quality of tone and worked technical finish.

Madame Leginska showed herself the artist in the vitality and forceful appeal of her conducting. She achieved exquisite effects of shading during the reading of the scores.

Leginska conducted the following delightful program at the afternoon performance:

1. Overture to Oberon ..... Weber

A fairy overture of ethereal lightness in which Leginska brought out the most delicate tone shadings.

2. Concerto for violin an dorchestra ..... Bruch

Prelude, Andante, Finale
Irma Seydell

This very beautiful concert of three movements enabled Miss Seydell, concert master of the orchestra to exhibit her splendid technique, and rich tone.

3. "Dance of the Birds" and "Dance of the Clowns" Rimsky-Korsakoff from the opera, "The Snow Maiden"

Both of these compositions were rather oriental and unreal in character, but were given a very colorful rendition.

4. Carnival of the Animals ..... Saint-Saens

A delightfully fresh and charming

Continued on page three

HERBERT HOOVER—OUR PRESIDENT-ELECT

The country has shown its nation-wide approval of Herbert Clark Hoover for President, giving him 436 electoral votes. His varied public experience has shown him an expert in translating sound, beneficient policy into wise, effective action. The Hoover head is fitted for the Presidency; the people looked deeper and saw that they wanted the Hoover heart in the White House.

Hoover is a man of a broad realistic vision, sound judgment, natural creativeness and ready geniality—sympathetic, modest, but warm and responsive. His work has shown him to be a characteristic humanitarian, and his aim is social betterment. He is a "for-you" man, a real builder, not being satisfied until he has turned his own enjoyment into nation-wide usefulness.

WILLIAM AND MARY-S. T. C. VARSITY HOCKEY GAME SCHEDULED MONDAY

Farmville S. T. C. will have a chance to stage a comeback against William and Mary on Monday when the Indian team journeys to Farmville for a hockey game.

Last year, the Farmville varsity fought William and Mary in Williamsburg. Although S. T. C. was defeated, she held William and Mary to a score of 9—4. The Williamsburg team, being more experienced, was able to win the game from the Farmville girls who went to Williamsburg with only two week's practice.

This year, however, S. T. C. is looking for better results. Under the leadership of Captain Hatchett and the coaching of Miss Iler the squad has been practicing every afternoon for the past four weeks and has developed into a fast team.

The game will be called at 4 p. m., Monday. Every member of the student body is expected to be on the athletic field to cheer the S. T. C. on to victory!

SECOND ANNUAL COLLEGE CIRCUS SUCCESSFULLY PRESENTED IN GYM

Amid shrieks of laughter and enthusiastic cheers, the participants in one of the most unique and varied programs ever presented in the school made a spectacular entrance into the gym on Saturday night.

Tumbling, dancing, jumping or walking on the stage, the performers went gaily about their task of entertaining a delighted audience. Presenting effective combinations of colors in the various stunts of the rings, as well as clever arrngements of stunts, the circus was pronounced a stupendous success.

Margaret Leonard, ringmaster for the occasion, ably introduced the comical participants into the ring. Wild animals, clever clowns, Mother Goose characters and human statues vied with one another for the entertainment of the audience. "The Old Family Toothbrush" created an atmosphere of gym-wide hilarity. A great gay pyramid, seemingly removed from the soil of Africa, lent its presence to the circus. An interpretation of "The Argentine Tango" was rendered for the enlightenment of the audience. French Royalty was also present, even though in the abstract, while "Saturday Night at Tuggles Theatre" was decidedly more American in tone.

Because of their unusual interpretation of "The Highwayman," the Junior Class was awarded the prize for the best stunt presented. The ribbon of moonlight and the horse of the highwayman, two outstanding features, were vividly portrayed for the audience.

As an additional feature of the evening's entertainment, Mabel Fitzpatrick, the Queen of the Circus, made her appearance in the grand finale.

CAPTAIN C. B. D. COLLYER KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Aviator Holding World Record Dies in Arizona Sunday

The monoplane "Yankee Doodle," holder of two trans-continental records, caught in a blinding rain and fog in the Bradshaw Mountains Sunday night, struck against the side of a wall in Crook Canyon, twenty-three miles south of Prescott, Arizona, and sent Captain C. B. D. Collyer, pilot, and Harry Tucker, passenger-owner to their death.

The plane was en route from Los Angeles on a non-stop flight.

The open parachutes of the two men indicated that they had realized their danger too late. Bits of airplane wreckage were scattered for a quarter of a mile, the plane being absolutely demolished.

They had left Roosevelt Field on Long Island, N. Y., on October 24 and landed in Los Angeles the following day thus establishing a new record for a cross-continent flight last June. At the time of the accident they were returning to New York because of urgent business.

Capt. Collyer had come into prominence in flying circles when he and John Henry Mears set a new record for a flight around the world. He was president of the Aviation Service Corporation of New York and had already gained recognition in world

(Continued on Page Two)

MR. HARDY TAKES VIRGINIAN PHOTOS

Senior Class Has Largest Per Cent Taken in History of College

The Virginian staff is pleased with the number of pictures taken last week. Approximately five hundred and fifty students were photographed. The statistics, according to classes, are:

Freshmen	166
Sophomores	181
Juniors	52
Seniors	109
Faculty and Home Dept.	28

STUDENTS ENJOY NEGRO SPIRITUALS

Thursday morning in chapel, the students of S. T. C. were pleasantly surprised when Dr. Jarman announced that a group of young colored men had consented to sing. Three numbers, all of which were negro hymns were sung. Judging from the enthusiastic applause, each selection was enjoyed by the student body and the faculty.

The young men are students of the Virginia Theological Seminary at Lynchburg. They are trying to work their way through college. Thursday night, they gave a performance at the Baptist Church, to which an admission fee was charged; this money was given to them to help pay their expenses.

SMITH CARRIES 8 STATES SOLID SOUTH BROKEN

VIRGINIA IS REPUBLICAN

Overwhelming Electoral Vote; Hoover 436, Smith 95

Herbert Hoover is to be the 31st President of the United States. At one-fifteen this morning the students of Leland Stanford University, located at Palo Alto, California, the home of Mr. Hoover, turned out in mass, led by Sousa's band, and officially broke the news to Mr. Hoover of his land-slide victory. The boys cheered and sang to the 31st President of the United States.

This election has been most unusual. Many Southern States broke away from traditional customs and gave their votes to the Republican candidate. The states for Smith are eight in number: Arkansas, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Missippi, South Carolina, Minnesota and Michigan. Virginia went Republican with a 20,000 majority. Mr. Hoover received 436 electoral votes; Mr. Smith 95.

SON OF DR. GRAINGER HIGHLY HONORED

Of the three regional scholarships given by the Yale Alumni Association for the South Atlantic, South Central and South Western States, the one for the South Atlantic States in the Art School at Yale University, has been awarded David Grainger, son of Dr. James M. Grainger, head of the English department at this school.

Mr. Grainger is a young man of unusual ability. He graduated from Farmville High School in 1926, where he was an outstanding pupil in art and handwork as well as in athletics.

After graduating, he entered Loomis Institute, Windsor, Connecticut. There he was curator of the studio of Mrs. Batchelder, wife of the Headmaster, who is a former sculptor.

Mr. Grainger has taken art as his special field of study and expects to become a sculptor. He is now in the Art School at Yale. This is quite a compliment, because as a usual thing freshmen are not admitted to the Art School.

The actual financial value of the scholarship is $750 for the freshman year and $500 each succeeding year provided an average of above seventy-five per cent is attained.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st. 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 33, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... FLORENCE REED, '31
Art ..... CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, 31 — WILLIE SAVAGE, 31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, 31 — ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader

MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. Thsse will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Once Again, of Friendship

The relationship of people to each other has always been a rather fascinating thing to watch. No one is ever satisfied to be alone for long; there is a desire for a sharer in sorrows or joys. There is an innate craving for companionship which can't be downed. Where could one better satisfy that craving than in a school of a thousand girls? The shame of it all lies in the fact that the average girl in a school doesn't know by name many more than fifty or possibly seventy-five of the thousand. Everyone leads such a narrow life—turns to one or two girls for friendship, and therefore fails to grow, and to be enriched by the joy of knowing people. Friendship is a precious and worth-while thing, and true friends should be one's most valued possessions. The cynical person may say, "True friends,—where do they exist?" But they do—if one is capable of friendship oneself.

All of us have a privilege,—and all of us seem to be letting it slip—opportunities, you know . . . . .

After the Election

When the radios were tuned in all over the United States las night, and millions of people breathlessly awaited the returns of the presidential vote, there was a variety of nation seldom effected. Whether the listener had voted for Smith or Hoover, even if he could not vote, his one interest was in the decision of the American people on their leader. The same suspense was experienced by all, the same feeling of elation or disappointmnt as the news came favorable or unfavorable, according to the tendency of the voter.

Because the issues of the campaign were novel ones, the American people were aroused probably to an unprecedented interest. A larger proportion of our nation seriously considered the election issues than had ever before taken thought. Our college was indicative of the overwhelming interest in the election, though only a few students were eligible to vote.

The results of the election seem vastly significant the day after that event. Just how significant they will be will take four long years to prove. Few, if any, details of the routine of our lives would have been affected, had either Smith or Hoover been elected.

One thing of basic significance, however, is the great concern of the nation as a whole about the affairs of the nation. It was, too, an intelligent concern. Precedents of more than half a century were broken yesterday by voters who were moved to vote the ticket of a party long held obnoxious for reasons stronger than tradition.

It may be that we are facing a new day in politics. If only the interest of our citizens prove to be more than a spasmodic fever of support or opposition to proposed principles, then leaders who have the real welfare of the common people at heart need not suffer disappointment because the intelligent people of this great nation refuse to aid their endeavors.

WORLD NEWS

Complete willingness to adhere in due time to the Kellogg Pact outlawing war is said to be evident in the notification given to Washington by several Latin American governments that they will sign this agreement. They seem to feel that no harm can come from it and the it may prove uncomfortable for the United States when it seeks to justify its interventions in the Carribean.

One of the greatest ambitions of Cambridge University during the past fifty years has been brought near to realization, it appears by a munificent gift from the Rockefeller Foundation. The sum of $3,500,000 is to be used in the construction of a new library for the University.

You don't have to tell a schoolma'am anything about the troubles of a whispering campaign.—American Lumberman.

As the Elephant would revise Hamlet's soliloquy: "Oh, that this too solid South would melt!"—New York Evening Post.

Chaing Kai-Shek, the forty-one year old commander-in-chief of China's victorious Nationalist army, has been made president of the National Government of China. Note that he wasn't made president of China, but president of the National Government. Not for a long weary while will it be possible to elect a president in China as we elect one in this Republic.

Chiang was president of the group now in power, the Nationalists, who have attempted to set up an orderly government and who in time hope to make that Government the only government in China.

With full recognition granted by the United States and with the unfortunate Nanking incident settled, China now has an opportunity to set her house in order and establish a new era of peace and progress. We hope that China be able to do this.

CAPT. C. B. D. COLLYER KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Continued from page one

aviation.

Capt. Collyer was a native of Farmville, and a nephew of Miss Smithy, who is at the head of the Spanish department in our college. He received his early education in the Training School, later attending Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg. He had made definite plans to attend the Va.-V. P. I. football game at Blacksburg next Saturday.

The entire college extends their deepest sympathy to Miss Smithy in the loss of her nephew.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

OBERLIN COLLEGE PURCHASES RECREATION GROUND

Oberlin College has purchased several hundred acres of land on the Vermillion River, which is to be used exclusively for a hunting, fishing and camping grounds for the male students of the college.

The purchase of the land followed on the heels of a movement started here several years ago and brought to a head just recently to repudiate that traditional rumor that Oberlin is a "women's college."

The men of the college had complained that they had insufficient men's life, and the purchase of the tract was the answer of the college trustees to the complaint.

RADFORD COMPLETING STUDENT BUILDING

A campaign is being waged at Radford S. T. C. in order to collect $8,000 for the furnishing of the Student Activitiy Building, which is now nearing completion. Pledges made by former faculty members and graduates are being paid in response to the call sent out by the alumnae association.

CAROLINA ELECTED TO CONFEDERATION DES ETUDIANTS

The National Student Association of America, of which the University of North Carolina is a member, has been admitted into a world wide organization known as the Confederation des Etudiants with international headquarters at Brussels, Belgium.

The Confederation des Etudiants was formed after the World War with the intention of furthering permanent peace. The work of the organization has been advanced by annual conventions held once yearly in one of the college centers of a member country. This last year the convention was held at Paris. The Confederation also interests itself in publications, international debating, and inter-collegiate athletics.

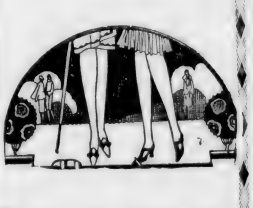
HOOP-ROLLING NOT ONLY POPULAR AT WELLESLEY

Wellesley's hoop-rolling seems to be popular in other colleges too. As a grand finale of the Freshmen hazing at Dartmouth, a certain group of class of '32 on the day of the first football game were attired in blue and white dresses and commanded to roll hoops through the town and around the gridiron. The stunt was known as "whooping it up"—The Sweet Briar News.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c — Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY



S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

BALDWIN WINS
When it Comes to Hosiery Values

We now offer Kayser and Humming Bird pure silk full fashioned hose, with popular Pointex heel in the newest autumn shades for $1.50
SEE OUR DISPLAY THIS WEEK
BALDWINS
"The S. T. C. Girl's Main Street Home"

POETRY

Words, golden webs of song
Weaving a gypsy magic,
Singing of life and love.
Patterns of fanciful dream-worlds
Threaded with silver moonlight,
Swiftly, softly, swan-like,
Soothing, caressing the heart.

M. G.

Would I could see behind those eyes,
Like crystals veiled by mists of gray;
Would I could snatch that veil away,
And know the truth from smiling lies.

ON THE NIGHT SHE HAS THE DATE

You know the feeling you have when your rival has the date with a certain person—a person you have grown very "used to". You declare much louder and oftener than is necessary that you don't really care at all, but somehow, you still feel uneasy. Every fifteen or twenty minutes you notice the time and think, "They are probably getting a drink now . . . they are riding on his favorite road now." You won't let yourself wonder if he's telling her what he told you two nights ago. Finally after you have spent a perfectly miserable night trying to be interested in bridge or gossip, with your mind always wandering to the subject you swear interests you less than any other, you think, "Well, he's probably leaving now," and go home yourself. What more extravagant misery is there?

F. W.

BOOK REVIEW

"THE BATTLE OF THE HORIZONS"

(—Sylvia Thompson. Published by Little, Brown & Co., 1928)

In "The Hounds of Spring" Sylvia Thompson portrayed the tragic conflicts of the war and their disastrous results on the soul of a sheltered girl, shattering all her illusions and embittering her heart.

In the same realistic manner she reveals in her new novel "The Battle of the Horizons" of a sheltered American girl with everything that mony can buy for her, and of an aristocratic Englishman of moderate means.

Conflicts and misunderstandings arise, and through the hard circumstances which she has to endure, Athene, the wealthy American begins to broaden her horizon to the realities of life, gaining strength and understanding which restore domestic tranquility after the adversity which has all but wrecked the lives of the two.

Though rather slow and drawn out in some parts, the action of the novel as a whole moves swiftly to a close, completing splendid characterizations.

HOCKEY PRACTICE

Freshmen: Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 4:15.
Upperclassmen: Tuesday, Thursday, 4:15.
Varsity: Everyday, 5:15.

Good work advertises itself.

Y. W. C. A. GIVES PARTY FOR FRESHMEN

The Y. W. C. A. entertainment Wednesday afternoon, October 31, in the Student Building Lounge at its first freshman party.

Program consisted of a reading by Sammy Scott, a ghost story by Henrietta Cornwall and a number of Hallowe'en contests in which prizes were awarded. The lounge was attractively decorated with pumpkins, witches and cats.

After the program a delicious ice course was served.

Y. W. CABINET GOES ON PICNIC

On Thursday morning, October 1, the members of the Y. W. Cabinet enjoyed an early morning breakfast at the meadows. Arriving just in time to watch the sun-rise, the girls held their usual Thursday morning watch out in the open. After a delightful breakfast of hamburger, rolls, weinies and coffee the girls returned to college in time for their eight o'clock classes.

ENGLISH CLUB OF HIGH SCHOOL ENTERTAINS

Wednesday night was Hallowe'en night indeed when the English Club of the College High School entertained at a masquerade party in the kindergarten room of the Training School. All the proverbial Halowe'en characters were present—witches, ghosts, black cats, pirates, clowns, and masked figures.

Several delightful solo dances were given, and a chorus of six "high-steppers" rendered two popular selections, which would have done credit to Broadway. Then black cats, witches, Black Beard and his pirates, and masked ladies joined in the dance. In the midst of the fun a shot came through the window, and the shrieks of the ladies and yells of the pirates added to the general hilarity.

"Bobbing" apples, fortune-telling, and a grand march were other important parts of the fun. The refreshments, of course in Hallowe'en colors, were a very important item of the good time enjoyed by students and student-teachers.

DE-HO-EC CLUB REORGANIZES

The first regular meeting of the De-Ho-Ec Club was held on Wednesday, October 31. The following officers were elected for the year:

Ethel Fisher ..... President
Myra Reese ..... Vice-President
Evelyn Simpson ..... Sec.-Treas.

The members have shown marked enthusiasm and plans are being made for a bazaar near Thanksgiving.

On last Thursday about thirteen of the girls, with Miss Tupper as a guest, hiked to "Longwood" and had an exceedingly good time roasting "weinies" and marshmallows.

S. T. C. GIRLS GIVE PROGRAM AT WORSHAM

On Friday night, November 2, S. T. C. girls gave a program at Worsham High School for the benefit of the athletic association of that school.

This program was sponsored by the student teachers at Worsham. It consisted of a Romeo-and-Juliet stunt, reading by Sammy Scott, clogging by Adele Hutchinson, a piano selection by Pearl Johnson, "a Honey-moon-in-a-Ford" stunt and a series of performances by the Tumblers.

COTILLION CLUB DANCE, SATURADY, NOV. 9

The Cotillion Club annual fall dance will be held on Saturday, November 10th. Many alumnae and visitors are expected for the occasion. The Washington and Lee orchestra has been secured for the dance, and will also play for the Lotus Club dance which will be held on Friday night, November 9th.

SOCIAL

Alice Covington, Lulie Milner, Elizabeth Rivercomb, Lela Germany, Alice Carter, Anne Ferree, and Yancie Brooking attended the game and dances at the University over the week-end.

Martha MacKenzie, Mary Wilson Pugh, Ruth Snellings, Jane Hunt Martin, and Pearl Etheridge spent the week-end at their homes in Portsmouth.

Genevieve Grimes, Evelyn Holland, Jessie Smith, Marguerite Swann, Marjorie Parkinson, and Katherine Nickols, spent the week-end at their homes in Norfolk.

Mary Beasley has returned to school after being detained at her home by sickness.

Anna Jones and Frances Millican spent the week-end in Greensboro, N. C.

May Marshall and Anna Cahoon spent the week-end at the latter's home in Suffolk.

Josephine Lyne spent the week-end at her home in Orange.

Ida Wright Chapman spent the week-end at her home in Smithfield. Mildred Field Elmore spent the week-end at her home in Petersburg.

Margaret and Martha Faris had as their guests at their home in Red Hill, Sue Moomaw and Rena Robertson.

Lula Turner spent the week-end at her home in Martinsville.

Sarah Williams spent the week-end at her home in Brookneal.

Elizabeth Ferrell spent the week-end at her home in Roanoke.

Mary Will Vincent spent the week-end in Richmond.

Mary Simpkins Taliaferro, Leslie Ritter, Ann Guy and Nan Griffith spent the week-end in Hampton.

ALUMNAE NEWS

Mrs. William Cabell Flournoy (Birdie Boyd), former president of the Virginia division of the U. D. C. and present historian, was the principal speaker at the unveiling of the marker erected by the Salem and Roanoke Chapter of the U. D. C. to the memory of Robert E. Lee. It stands on a plot of land adjoining the Lee Highway about three miles west of Salem. Mrs. Flournoy is the mother of Professor Fitzgerald Flournoy, who was the S. T. C. Founder's Day speaker last March.

On October 27, Miss Nora Mae Holmes, of South Hill, became the bride of Hunter Newbill Copley, of Suffolk.

On October 20, Miss Florine Rae Young and William Orlando Burham, both of Lynchburg, were married at the home of the bride's parents. They will make their home at 412 Morrison street.

Another autumn wedding was that of Miss Doris Cochran of Emporia, and Charles Dolese Klotz, of Winnetka, Ill. The marriage took place in Richmond, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. R. P. Eubank. After the ceremony the bride and groom left for an extended tour to Land-O-Lakes, Wisconsin, and California.

BOSTON WOMAN'S ORCHESTRA PLAYS

(Continued from page one)

group of compositions in which the performance of the two ten year old piano pupils of Miss Leginska. Marion Bohunek and Ruth Kauffman, was greatly appreciated. The two child pianists showed marvelous technical skill, playing as one person with the utmost accuracy and ease.

5. Overture, "Rienzi" ..... Wagner

A very empressive, brilliant, dramatic work, in great contrast to the first number on the program. During the conducting of this overture, Miss Leginska showed her wonderful power to bring certain passages to a thrilling climax.

The program for the evening concert was equally as interesting and enjoyable as the one of the afternoon. The opening selection, an "Overture" by Ginka, a famous Russian composer, though not so well known to us. Then came the well-known Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony". It is recognized by the many repetitions of the main theme. Some interpreters represent the basic theme as presenting Fate knocking at the door. The shading effects of the orchestra and general interpretations were excellent contributions to the brilliancy of the program.

After a short intermission Leginska performed the stupendous task of conducting and playing at the same time the very spectacular "Hugarian Fantasie" by Liszt. Leginska's technique as a pianist was equally as polished as her conducting.

The concluding numbers were also presented in the afternoon, Rimsky-Korsakoff numbers relieving the heavy tension of the preceding numbers.

The final "Overture" by Wagner was dramatic and intense. The rendition by the orchestra was beautiful in this as in the foregoing numbers.

All who heard Leginska and her orchestra appreciated the perfection and artistry of the programs.

VIEWING THE NEW PICTURES

The hall next to the auditorium is getting almost as popular as the post office. What is this attraction that causes the girls to gaze skyward with open mouths and awed expression?

Pictures—and still more pictures,—an art gallery has sprung up, or rather been hung up over night. Fifty pictures of historical spots in Virginia adorn the walls. The girls move from one to another, up one side of the hall and down the other, into the classrooms and up the steps.

Occasionally someone breaks the silence—if the halls could be called silent—with such exclamations as, "Aren't they pretty!" "Oh, I've been there!"

Many girls have visited these historical places and have come away with the feeling that Wordsworth had when he said, "Ah, then, if mine had been the painter's hand to express what then I saw." Now they have these pictures to look at from day to day, so that they may be forever stamped upon their memory.

Falconer Gift Shop
Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"Drinks and Drugs"
TOILET ARTICES, SODA MAGAZINES, CANDY AND STATIONERY

S. T. C. HEAQUARTERS
HUB
DEPT. STORE
WELCOMES YOU
And Solicits Your Patronage
Open a
CHARGE ACCOUNT
Reduced Prices to All—
S. T. C. GIRLS

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
(We invite your charge accounts)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

A New One in BLUE SILK
BROWN KID
PATENT LEATHER
Price $7.50
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
Farmville, Virginia

Alice Carter: "Did you like the game?"

Anne Ferree: "Yes, but some of the women's hats were terrible!"

Bill: "Y'know, Dickens sometimes worked six weeks on one line.

Lewis: "'Nothin'; I've worked for five years perfecting mine, and th' women won't swallow it yet!"

Someone really ought to tell the sophomores why the freshmen are all wearing "caps." They never seemed to understand that they were to wear them last yar.

Farmer: "Here, colored boy, come out of that hen house."

Mose: "Talk sense, boss, how's I comin' out when I ain't in here."

Heard Around Town

The fire department decided not to answer the alarm Monday night, as it was raining pretty hard. Only one house was burned, as there were not any other on that block.

The local jail is empty for the first time in 20 years. Ike doesn't know whether it is due to prohibition or the big holes in the jail wall.

Bill Wiggins is having bad luck with his farming implements having lost two hooks and three sinkers last week.

Two men were hit by the Thursday train, which arrived Friday morning. One of them was slightly bruised.

The city council met Wednesday night and passed a number of important ordinances, one of which forbids the blowing of automobile horns after eight o'clock at night, because it disturbs the mayor's sleep.—Mink.

London Curio Dealer: "Yes sir, this is the very handkerchief used by the father of William Penn.

Tourist: "Hm, the original Pen wiper.—The Pointer.

As one prominent citizen remarked to another, "You could have knocked me down with a Rotary Club."

S. T. C. Soph: "Yes, I was a Freshman once. I spent some of the happiest years of my life as a freshman."

"Thirsty?"

"No, Tuesday."

CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS MAY ACT FOR VITAPHONE

Continuing their forward progress of the past ten years, the Playmakers have at last marched into great national prominence. Hubert Heffner, associate director and business manager of the group, has been approached by Vitaphone Reproducing Company which proposes that the bill of three plays that will be played in New York City be filmed and recorded to be released all over the United States and Canada, with the possibility of prints of it being sold in Great Britain.

Whether they will act for the Vitaphone Company depends only upon whether there will be enough free time on their tour.

CONTESTS FOR GRADE SCHOOL DURING BOOK WEEK

During Book Week, beginning November 13, there will be two contests held—one in which the high school pupils of Prince Edward, Buckingham, and Cumberland counties may enter, and another in which the grammar-grade pupils of the same counties may enter.

A prize of a book will also be given the high school pupil who suggests the ten best books to own and gives the best reasons for these selections. A prize of a book wil lalso be given to the grammar-grade pupil who writes the best essay on Robinson Crusoe.

A movie, "Robinson Crusoe" will be shown that week and valuable information which will aid the pupils in writing their essays may be obtained from the movie.

Much friendly rivalry and competition on the part of the contestants, from the three counties, is expected during the week.

CAMPAIGNING—1928

They argued long in country stores;
They argued long till neither thought
The other knew the right from wrong
The one knew Al to be the man!
What good had prohibition done?
The other bit a good-sized "chew,"
And laughed and spat and said he knew
There might be no harm in just one drink
And yet 'twere best without saloons;
That Hoover was the man for him,—
He guessed he knew a thing or two;
At least "Herb" warn't uneducated.

They argued long; waxed eloquent,
Grew mad and wondered what a man
Was thinking 'bout, as didn't use
The bit of sense he had been born with
They argued till the moon had risen
Then walked together down the road
Forgot their prejudice and hate
And planned to hunt election day!

E. P. F.

WOODHOUSE AND HUDGINS ARE ELECTED

The Freshman Class met last night in the auditorium for the purpose of electing their student government representatives. Nominations had been made at a previous meeting last week. The two girls elected to represent the class are Grace Virginia Woodhouse and Nancy Hudgins.

RECIPE FOR MAKING A BORE'S HEAD

Take a mass of unleavened egotism. Chop a cupful of trite educational chestnuts into small pieces, shells and all. Add a quart of dry facts, from which the juice of humor has been extracted, and a cupful of dates, stuffed from statistics. Stir in, very slowly, a pint of personal anecdote, from which all imagination has been strained.

Flavor with the essence of complete indifference to anybody's taste but your own.

Pour in a mould stamped with your image, and turn on to a platter garnished with plenty of thyme.

(This dish has frequently appeared at social functions of the rich and the great.)—The Contributors' Club, Atlantic Monthly, Jan. 1927.

"Why is an aviator's life like a girl's clothes?"

"I give up."

"One slip is enough."

ELECTION RETURNS

'Twas eleven in the college
And not a girl had gone to bed—
One voice droned tirelessly on
"Hoover eighty, Smith seventy,
Hoover ahead."

The "Freshies" were standing wide-awake
Nor heeded the bells at the appointed hour,
The "Sophs", Juniors and Seniors
Whistled and clapped whenever they dared.

"New York—Smith; Kansas—Hoover,"
We clenched our hands and held our breath.
"Wyoming — Hoover, Tennessee — Smith,
"Virginia?" There was a silence like death.

Ten o'clock, no girl had left—
Ten-thirty and no one gone;
Eleven, eleven-thirty,
And still the crowd lingered on.

'Twas midnight in the auditorium,
And the announcer could no longer stay
So we stumbled into bed
Longing for the coming day.

Hoover and Smith played in our dreams—
The morning brought the news
The Hoovers went wild with joy
And all the Smiths had the blues.

AN OLD STORY

She sat so quiet and still
And gazed into his face.
She watched his hands so gentle
While her heart beat at a rapid pace.

Nearer and nearer he drew
She fearfully closed her eyes,
And with a knowledge born of experience
He noted her maidenly sighs.

The city roared beneath them
But the man and maid still gazed
Till she saw a frown on his forehead
That awoke her from her half-way daze.

Then the dentist suddenly straightened
And the girl no longer still
Screamed, "For the land's sake pull it,
I do not want it filled."

Kathleen Woodson

CHIMES OF CORNELL

A special program on the historic Cornell chimes in the Library Tower, featured the 60th anniversary and rededication exercises of the augmented "Chimes of Cornell". The new bells added to the chimes this summer gave the corrillon a range of two complete octaves.

Played for the first time on October 7, 1868, the chimes have become a Cornell tradition and are regarded one of the finest sets of bells in the country.—The Texas Ranger.

NO HONOR AT YALE

Yale has abandoned the honor system in examinations.

This fall in all classes except those of academic freshmen and the Sheffield School, examinations will be carefully supervised.

There will be no more examinations given in which there is not at least one instructor present in the capacity of proctor.

—The Davidsonian.

WILL YOU WIN ATLANTIC PRIZE OF $5,000?

Someone at S. T. C. should win the five-thousand-dollar prize which is offered by the Atlantic Monthly Press for the most interesting biography of any kind, submitted before May 1, 1929. This manuscript may be of any person, distinguished or undistinguished, who has ever lived or is living at present. It may be autobiographical, but it must be sound and truthful.

The editorial staff of the Atlantic Monthly and Atlantic Monthly Press will judge the contest, and the winning biography will be published in the Atlantic Monthly Magazine.

Yours may be the most interesting biography; try out for the prize, bring fame and money to yourself, and honor to your school.

POLITICS AS A CAREER FOR THE COLLEGIAN

"Politics never used to be considered a gentleman's game," says Leo A. Borah, in the December issue of College Humor. "College folk looked down on the whole business with disdain. They wouldn't give it a minute's consideration. But the attitude of the college student is changing today; he recognizes politics as a real force in the country. If the students who really feel an active interest in government will consider politics as a career and enroll in the courses intended to prepare them for it, the United States will be able to mix in world politics without fear. It will no longer be the tenderfoot sitting in the other fellow's game.

"The student who would go in for politics needs to obtain first a thorough cultural education. At the same time he must learn how to put his knowledge to work, how to get out of the academic rut and talk the language of the electorate. A charlatan with a full complement of campaign tricks can beat the most brilliant theorist in the world if the theorist does not know how to put his stuff over.

"The trouble with most American college students today is that they know nothing about public affairs. In an examination in current events in a certain university, one student identified George Washington English as a famous negro educator. Another thought Maxfield Parrish was the headquarters of the Ku Klux Klan. With that sort of knowledge, how can college students expect to do anything at politics? Fortunately not all students are like that. With the coming of professors of practical politics has come a growing interest of students in the business of government.

"Politics is not a crowded profession. It gives you a chance to use your personality and your education and at the same time to be a regular human being."

TIME TO EAT

Why does pandemonium break loose every night when the ten o'clock bell rings? Girls in brilliant hues, ranging from the lightest tints to the darkest shades, great hordes of them rush down from all directions upon the few girls behind a wooden barricade on the second floor main. These few face the attack smiling, because after all if they lose they win. There is much gnashing of sandwiches and smearing of pie.

The explanation of this scene of confusion is very simple: the Filling Station!!! Where else could the girls, worn out from deep study and concentration, go for a mouthful of excellent food and an earful of the latest news?

Falconer Gift Shop
Books Engraving
Stationery Pen Repairing
PARTY AND DANCE FAVORS A SPECIALTY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Nov. 12—17

MON.—John Gilbert in "SHAME" The gripping story of a soul's struggle against Shame and a love that conquered fear. Never, it is said, has John Gilbert given a finer interpretation of the lover. Also News reel. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

TUES.—Two features— Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton in the big Paramount special "NOW WE'RE IN THE AIR". One of the funniest productions ever screened. Also to cooperate with Children's National Book Week, we are showing Daniel Defoe's immortal story, actually filmed on the island on which Robertson Crusoe was wrecked. "ROBINSON CRUSOE" is a full length feature picture. Also a Buster Brown comedy. Matinee at 4 o'clock.

WED.—Mary Astor, and Lloyd Hughes in "THREE RING MARRIAGE." She almost married the wrong man, trying to win the right one! All the thrills of a three ring circus plus a powerful love story plus the superb acting of the screen's most romantic lovers. Also comedy. Matinee at 4 o'clock.

THURS.—Victor McLaglen in the "HANGMAN'S HOUSE," one of the best pictures of the season. A fascinating romance of thwarted hate, satisfied vengeance, a woman's faith and a love that conquered jealousy. A mighty good picture. Also comedy. Matinee at 4 o'clock.

FRI. & SAT. Mats. only—Ramon Novarro with Joan Crawford and Ernest Torrence in "ACROSS TO SINGAPORE". A repeat picture. A boy and a girl—alone against a ship full of mutineers. High adventure on the high seas—with the great star of romance leading the way. Extra good. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT at night only—Bebe Daniels in the Paramount pictures, "Feel My Pulse." Come let Dr. Bebe show you what to do for that thumping of the heart. Her prescription is a sure cure for that down in the mouth grouchy feeling. Laugh and live longer. This one will do you good! Also oddity reel and comedy. Please come Friday night.

Admission to S. T. C. Girls getting tickets at the college, Tuesday 35c, all other shows 25c.

What would humanity be without education?

ROTUNDA

What would education be without books?

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY. NOVEMBER 14, 1928 No. 8

WILLIAM AND MARY TIES FARMVILLE 1—1

SCHOLARSHIP REQUIREMENTS CHANGED

Must Make An Average of C to Receive Bachelor of Science Degree

Beginning with the class of '32, the freshmen of this year, a student must receive an average of D on her work to permit her to return to college the next year, and she must make an average of C to receive her B. S. degree. Hitherto, a student was allowed to return to school if she maintained an average of D on half her work. The result was that many girls returned to school when they did not have the grades required for practice teaching.

It is expected that the standards of the college will be raised considerably by this change in the scholarship requirements.

VISITING TEAM ENTERTAINED BY SENIORS

The senior class gave a tea for the William and Mary team, on Sunday afternoon, November 11 at 4:30 o'clock in the Student Building lounge.

Everyone gathered about the open fire and a short program added to the attractiveness of the occasion.

This tea was followed Monday morning by a bridge party for our guests, also given by the senior class.

We enjoy having teams from other colleges visit us and we are looking forward to seeing these girls again.

STUDENTS ENJOY SATURDAY SING

In spite of the full week-end sing on Saturday night was as interesting as ever. While we were waiting for the program to begin Edith Britt pepped us up for the W. & M. game with some cheers and songs.

Jane Reid Venable entertained delightfully with a toe dance. The old girls especially were quite enthusiastic over Liz Sawyer's dance. It seemed so natural to have her back. Delicia Bugg's advice on flirting was quite interesting and amusing—wonder how many will follow it. The program closed with selections by the Rough Riders.

V. P. I. TO. HAVE LANDINF FIELD AND EQUIPMENT

College officials have been informed that work on an airplane field at V. P. I. will be started soon. The field is one of nineteen which recently were approved by the commission authorizing an expenditure of $25,000.

A committee will inspect the campus within the next few days in order to determine the most suitable manner in which to lay out the field.

LOCAL CHAPTER TO BE FORMED

Realizing the need of an organization sponsoring their profession, the student teachers of the College Training School are planning to affiliate their group with the National Council of Primary Education. With the aid of Miss Mary B. Haynes, state chairman of the council, and Miss Mix, Miss Penny and Miss McCormick, definite plans have been formulated by the chapter committee for the purpose of organizing a Farmville chapter of the council at an early date.

The members of the chapter will be limited to the present student teachers of primary grades, who necessarily possess evidence of good scholarship, and those upperclassmen who exhibited an interest in their work during their terms of teaching. The primary teachers of the rural schools are included in the list of prospective members.

The purpose of the organization is one of nation-wide importance in the educational field in that it calls for "a closer relationship with the kindergarten and the grades above." Aside from this purpose, the members of the chapter wish to better conditions in their present teaching system to the extent of a recognition for the more acceptable methods now advocated and an intelligent attitude in the work of other primary teachers.

CHEER LEADER ELECTED FOR 1928-'29

Edith Britt was chosen cheer leader for the coming year at a student body meeting on Wednesday, November 7.

Edith is a freshman this year and comes from Winston-Salem, N. C. She has fully proved her ability as a cheer leader at recent pep meetings.

NEW COTILLION CLUB MEMBERS ANNOUNCED

A number of girls have been asked to be members of the Cotillion Club. The freshmen will not be taken in until after Christmas. The new members are:

Ann Guy, Anne Chapin, Lucille Norman, Lillian Bennet, Page Archer, Rachel Royal, Leyburn Hyatt, Charline Williams, Elizabeth Newton, Marian Cobb, Mary Brightwell, Ann Meredith Newman, Elizabeth Smitherman, Louise de Shazo.

"To read good books improves the mind."

WHO HATH A BOOK

Who hath a book
Has friends at hand,
And gold and gear
At his command;
And rich estates,
If he but look,
Are held by him
Who hath a book.

Who hath a book.
Has but to read
And he may be
A king, indeed;
All this is his
Who hath a book.

FARMVILLE PEOPLE INVITED TO ATTEND

Scenes From Realistic Fiction to be Depicted

The people of Farmville are looking forward to the evening of Friday, November 16th. when they will attend a program given by the Training School, Public High School, and the College Juvenile and Child Literature classes, in the College auditorium.

This program will consist of: fairy and folk tales, in tableau, given by the primary grades; scenes from hero and adventure stories by the grammar grades; selections from folk songs and ballads by the high school girls; book reviews will be given by the public high school, and scenes from realistic fiction by the college child literature class.

No program at S. T. C. would be complete unless the college orchestra had a part. They have consented to play several numbers at this entertainment.

He ate and drank the precious words,
His spirit grew robust;
He knew no more that he was poor,
Nor that his frame was dust.
He danced along the dingy days,
And this bequest of wings
Was but a book. What liberty
A loosened spirit brings!

—Emily Dickinson

Moore of William and Mary Scores Goal in the First Half of the Game

BOTH TEAMS HAVE STRONG DEFENSE

Baskerville Makes Only Score for State Teachers College in the Second Half

Farmville S. T. C. and William and Mary hockey teams met Monday afternoon in a fast, exciting game which were well watched each having an unusually strong defense. The first score was made by Moore of the William and Mary team in the first half. After a hard fight in front of the goal she finally succeeded in forcing the ball past the Farmville goalkeeper. After this, though several close shots were made, there was no more scoring done during the first half. In the second half, there was also only one goal made. This was shot by Baskerville, the Farmville center forward, after a short pass from the left wing. This ended the scoring for the game, although both teams fought fiercely and made several very close hits.

There was some very celver work done during the game, the two captains, Hatchett and Hoffman being outstanding.

Farmville is justly proud of holding the William and Mary team to such a score as last year she was defeated by a score of 9—4.

The line-up was as follows:

Farmville		W. &. M.
Oliver	RW	Bishop
L. M. Smith	RI	Beredix
Baskerville	CF	Moore
Bully	LI	Struthers
Rhodes	LW	King
Hardy	RH	Hoffman
Hatchett	CH	Richardson
Elder	LH	Johnston
Reed	RB	Osmond
Walker	LB	Miley
Edwards	G	Moffet

Substitutes—W. & M., Kemp for Bishop, Bishop for Beredix, Beredix for Struthers, Shackman for Miley, Seaman for Shackman.

Umpires—Lehr and Gary.

Scorers—Wilkerson and Williamson

Timers—Smith and Shackman.

LEADERS MEET AT UNIV. OF N. C.

Two governors, thirty college presidents, and ten superintendents of public instruction are among a large number of men and women interested in public affairs throughout the South who already have accepted invitations to attend the Southern Conference on education to be held at the University of North Carolina on November, 15, 16, and 17.

The Conference, which is being planned as the first of an annual series of such meetings, is designed to bring together not only people engaged in the technical work of education but also men and women interested in public affairs throughout the South.

GOVERNORS TO SEE VA.- N. C. GAME

Virginia will be highly honored on Thanksgiving Day, the date of the annual North Carolina game, by two notable guests whose visits to the University in the past have been only too infrequent.

Governor McLean of North Carolina has acepted an invitation extended by the University to attend the contest. Governor Byrd has also arranged to attend the affair and the presence of these two state executives will of itself make the game an occasion of great interest.

A Virginia-Carolina football game on Lambeth Field, marking as it does the climax of the season is of itself a gala affair. With those two distinguished visitors present the day will no doubt be one of unusual interest to everyone.—College Topics.

Bards of Passion and of Mirth,
Ye have left your souls on earth!

* * *

Here, your earth-born souls still speak
To mortals, of their little week;
Of their sorrows and delights;
Of their passions and their spites;
Of their glory and their shame;
What doth strengthen and what main.
Thus ye teach us, every day,
Wisdom, though fled far away.

* * *

Bards of Passion and of Mirth,
Ye have left your souls on earth!

—John Keats

FALL DANCE OF COTILLION CLUB

The fall Cotillion Club dance was given Saturday night, November the tenth. The recreation hall, decorated in orange, with stalks of dry corn in the corners, gave an atmosphere of autumn. Music was furnished by the Washington and Lee orchestra.

Many alumnae and visitors attended the dance.

"Books are the best things well used; abused, among the worst." —Emerson.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 33, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... FLORENCE REED, '31
Art ..... CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, 31 — WILLIE SAVAGE, 31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, 31 — ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader

MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. Thsse will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

True College Spirit at the Game

The old S. T. C. spirit was certainly in evidence Monday when the varsity hockey team tied William and Mary in a hard-fought game. For one reason o r another there had not been much demonstration of that elustive quality we call "college spirit" prior to this occasion. Pep meetings had been poorly attended, and interest throughout the school seemed to lag far behind the expectations of the enthusiasts.

Perhaps this fact may be explained on the grounds that the students had not quite completed that process of adjustment which requires longer time than most of us consciously realize. The freshmen were at the game in large numbers; the upperclassmen and faculty, too, had gathered to cheer the team on to victory. The result was that William and Mary did not walk away with the expected victory. The tie score, to some does not indicate a victory. We know, however, that this is the first time our hockey team has held the opponents so closely.

Forgetting the score, Monday's game was a credit to Alma Mater, won by the snappy, clean playing of the team who were aided not a little by the support of the cheering students.

The Tone of Books

It has been said, "There is no such thing as a moral or immoral book; books are either well or badly written. That is all," and that statement may need this one to explain it, "There's nothing really good nor bad, but thinking makes it so." I wonder —? It's rather more than one can take in after a perusal of most any modern book of fiction. Freedom seems to be the keynote of modern literature—freedom from conventionalities of any and eevry sort, both of thought and of form—but this freedom has almost been carried to the extreme. One wonders where it will lead.

Books play an important part in the life of a nation; it seems a shame that the tone of too many of them is not as it could be. People have become hardened—one might almost say—too much of modern literature. Where people used to turn to books for knowledge, interest and companionship, they now turn to them to satisfy their curiosity.

That is not the purpose of books; someone has said, "Hope is a smiling rainbow which children follow through the wet," and so it is wit hbooks.

WORLD NEWS

An entering wedge which may ultimately lead to official recognition by the United States is seen by Soviet newspapers in the contreat recently signed by the Soviet union with the International General Electric Company of New York, under which the electrical concern is to export to Russia between $21,000,000 and $26,000,000 worth of machinery and equipment. But what becomes of the claims amounting to $1,750,000, which General Electric had against the Moscow regime for the confiscation of property in Russia no one seems to be able to say. Many reports have been made but many editors are inclined to believe that the cost of satisfying General Electric's claim against the Soviet government is "tacked onto" the price it is charging for its electrical apparatus. This might be listed as a step in our recognition of Soviet Russia.

Rumania has been ruled by Iycoons of Bratio's family since the foundation of the kingdom (1881). The royal family has merely resigned despite the petty intrigues of Queen Marie. The kingdom was shaken in its deepest political foundations last week when the last of the Iycoons, Vintila Bratiano, was forced to resign as prime minister. It was the Regency which demanded Vintila Bratiano resign on or before Dec. 1, 1928. Naturally the insulted Iycoon resigned at once. The Regency apparently believed that peasant leader Julie Manio who staged gigantic mass demonstrations last spring might attempt a revolution or coup d'etat capable of toppling down not only the Iycoon but the throne. To forestall this the Regency proposed to call peasant Mariu to the prime ministry.

The third of the two who figured so prominently in America's international policies during and prior to the World War, is now only a name in history. Robert Lansing, secretary of state, under Woodrow Wilson from June 1915 to February 1920 has joined his erstwhile chief, and also his predecessor in the state department, William Jennings Bryan.

Mr. Lansing had a distinguished career as a lawyer and served as a member of the American Peace Commission in Paris 1918-1919.

TEACHERS REQUIRED FOR PHILIPPINE SCHOOLS

To fill vacancies in schools in the Philippine Islands, the United States Civil Service Commission announces open competitive examinations for specialists in agricultural and rural education, in reconstruction of school curricula, in elementary education, and in teacher training. Entrance salaries range from 6,000 to 8,000 pesos, the peso having a normal value of 50 cents. Men only are eligible for the position of specialists in agricultural and rural education. Competitors will be rated on their physical ability, education, training and experience, and they will not be required to report in person for the educational examination. Further information may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.—The Tar Heel.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

COLLEGE CONFERENCE MEETS AT DURHAM

Working in league with the State department of Public Instruction, the colleges of North Carolina have just put into operation the certification scheme for teaching. The plan was perfected at a conference held at Durham, N. C., at which representatives from the colleges of North Caroline were present.

STUDENT MIGRATIONS REACH VAST DIMENSIONS

"This is the time of year when we have the pleasure of welcoming to our campuses a thousand or more new students from one hundred other lands. Though they are scattered in all parts of the country, the largest groups are found in New York City, Boston, Berkeley, Chicago, Washington, Ann Arbor, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

These large groups of foreign students are receiving ever increasing attention from the World's Student Christian Federation, which sees the infinite possibilities for international understanding involved in these tides of students who come and go."—The Intercollegian.

The attention of the educational world has been focused on Dr. Meiklejohn's Experimental College, at the University of Wisconsin. A student report of the first year's work may be obtained from the college.

According to "The Bull Dog", publication for the Citadel, Charleston, S. C., a corps of over seven hundred men consumes, in one day an average of one and one-quarter tons of food .Included in this estimate is the average amount of bread consumed in one day, which amounts to three hundred pounds. Taking these statistics in consideration, one would not be surprised at the large number of heavyweights in the school.

The students of Chapel Hill, N. C. are at present investigating the psychology of red hair. This should be brought to Anita Loos' attention.

GOVERNORS McLEAN AND BYRD TO SEE VIRGINIA-N. C. GAME

Virginia will be highly honored on Thanksgiving Day, the date of the annual North Carolina game, by two notable guests whose visits to the University in the past have been only too infrequent.

Governor McLean of North Carolina has acepted an invitation extended by the University to attend the contest. Governor Byrd has also arranged to attend the affair and the presence of these two state executives will of itself make the game an occasion of great interest.

A Virginia-Carolina football game on Lambeth Field, marking as it does the climax of the season is of itself a gala affair. With those two distinguished visitors present the day will no doubt be one of unusual interest to everyone.—College Topics.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c ... Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

'TIS BALDWIN'S MONTH IN FARMVILLE
Never before in the history of our store have we offered such amazing bargains.

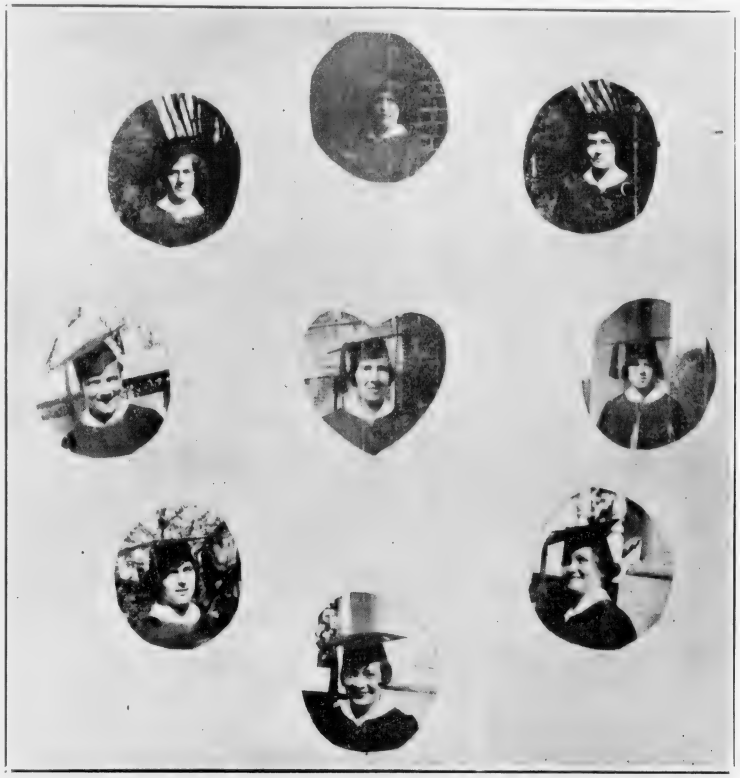
Beautiful fur trimmed fall coats in the seasons latest colors, fabrics and styles are offered in this record breaking sale at extremely low prices.
Group No. 1—$16.50
Group No. 2—$27.50
Come in and try 'em on
BALDWINS

A FRIEND

I've found a friend!
A friend both old and young,
A friend who loves and lifts;
A friend whose silent tongue
Never cuts with unkind words
But calms my thoughts
And makes my spirits rise
To greater things.
This friend, when shades of evening fall
Steals softly off, but leaves
A quiet strength and soothing touch
To guide my restless wondering thoughts
In years to come and years gone by,
A truer friend I could not find,
Nor one who gives me of his all
As this, my friend, a book.

OPENING A NEW BOOK

Here's an adventure! What awaits
Beyond these closed, mysterious gates?
Whom shall I meet? Where shall I go?
Beyond this lovely land I know?
Above the sky? Across the sea?
What shall I learn and feel and be?
Open, strange doors, to good or ill!
I pause a moment still
Before the magic of your look,—
What will you do to me, O Book?
—Brown



I READ A BOOK

I read a book last week.
The author dipped his facile pen in fire
And seared raw facts into my brain.
Up from the mire he dragged dark truth
And flaunted it. He made all youth
Abnormal, all love lust, and God a jest
And as I read I knew that his soul was warped;
His mind must know despair, thinking all truth
Was ugliness laid bare.

And then I read another book.
The author sat upon the throne of Truth
And used a pen far mightier than a sword.
He wrote of Youth triumphant, clean and fine.
He wrote of Sin, Compassion in each line,
He wrote of Love—it blossomed like a rose
Sprung from good soil. He wrote of one,
Giver of that great Trinity of Gifts,
Life, Love, Beauty, and when he was done,
I knew somehow my stumbling feet had tread
The trail he'd blazed for me to his Friend, God.

ERSKINE STUDENTS LAUNCH DRIVE

The students of Erskine College have organized forces in preparation for a $350,000 endowment campaign. Erskine is the unified A. R. P. educational institution at Due West, South Carolina.

SENIORS IN THE MAKING

MODERN THOUGHT

Ghandi says:

"One religion suits you. Another suits me. They have each arisen from the searching of persons of similar temperaments after the truth. Neither is exactly right. But if you follow yours you will be satisfied in so far as you are capable, and I in so far as I am capable. Our ultimate goals are the same. Our paths are forever different."

"You should never wear your best trousers when you go out to fight for freedom and truth."—Ibsen.

"No matter how old one grows, there are always some things that keep a little youth still burning in one's heart"—Sheldon.

"All men, after all, are children to their wines."—Empress Hernime.

"Beauty always thrills, but that which thrills is not, by any just use of words, always or indeed often synonymous with beauty."—John Galsworthy.

"To be intelligible, life must be an art."—John Erskine.

"Men are surely not at their worse when they say what they actually think, even when it is shocking to their neighbors."
—Menchen

"In spite of the oft-lamented slump in the birth-rate, children are being born every day who were never born before.—Mildred S. Tapp.

"There are people one loves, and others one likes to talk to."—Ibsen.
—The Spectator

DIARY OF A REFERENCE BOOK IN S. T. C. LIBRARY

October 1—

I think I am going to have a busy time this year. I was in constant use the whole day long. All of the girls seem determined to study hard. I wonder how long it will last.

October 6—

I am so tired tonight. Tomorrow is Sunday, for which I am duly grateful. Girls have literally "pored" over me the whole week. I just know they will make "A" on all of their courses this term. I am already dirty and my pages are wrinkled from much handling.

October 13—

This week has been only fair. I have been read a little, but not much. I guess the girls had other things to do, so I took the opportunity of resting this week.

October 20—

I am heart-broken! Monday a girl stuck chewing gum on my very front cover, and I look horrible. One of the librarians tried to get it off, but it simply would not come off. Tuesday a girl spilled some awful purple ink on me—purple, of all colors! One poor freshman had a tough break this morning. She checked me out last night, and forgot to return me until three o'clock this afternoon. She had to pay sixty cents, and it broke her heart, not mentioning her pocket-book.

October 27—

A complete week of rest.

November 3.

I rested peacefully until Wednesday night. Then about twenty girls wanted to study me at the same time. They actually called each other names, and one girl talked so loudly that the librarian had to ask her to leave. I was wondering why I was so popular that night, but my vanity was rudely dashed to the ground when I heard one girl remark, "I have never read such a stupid book. I just know I am going to flunk my test tomorrow. Beth, do you have any notes on chapter three?"

NEW BOOKS

1. "The Legion of the Condemned"—Those on Campus.
2. "Black Majesty"—Aunt Lucy.
3. "Beau Ideal"—Joan of Arc.
4. "The Intruder"—Person entering over Busy sign.
5. "On Paradise"—S. T. C. any Sunday afternoon.
6. "Pretty Lady"—Mary F. Taliaferro.
7. "War Among Ladies"—Thanksgiving Day at S. T. C.
8. "Hunger Fighters"—Tea room stand-bys.
9. "Judgment Day"—Note day.
10. "What Every Body Wanted."—Ice cream for dessert.

WORLD WEEK OF PRAYER AND FELLOWSHIP

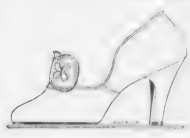
Every year during a week in November thousands of boys and girls belonging to the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. hold special worship services and service of instruction of fellowship. The week of world fellowship began November 11 and extends through November 17. The "Y" is observing this week by having special programs at prayers in which the theme of the Spirit of Reconciliation is running through the week.

Today we are working for harmony with our fellowmen. Until that comes an understanding of the different peoples who make up the world can we hope to be in harmony with our fellowmen. This, the Spirit of Reconciliation, is the theme for this week.

Good work advertises itself.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET



McIntosh Drug Store
"Drinks and Drugs"
TOILET ARTICES, SODA MAGAZINES, CANDY AND STATIONERY

S. T. C. HEAQUARTERS
HUB
DEPT. STORE
WELCOMES YOU
And Solicits Your Patronage
Open a
CHARGE ACCOUNT
Reduced Prices to All—
S. T. C. GIRLS

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
(We invite your charge accounts)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

A NEW PUMP
In Patent Leather and Black Satin
Price
$6.85
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
Farmville, Virginia

Heard Around School

Etta Carol: "At least once in my life I was glad to be down and out."

Roberta Shipworth: "And when was that?"

Etta: "After my first trip in an aeroplane."

Anne Ferree: "All my ancestors were blondes."

Mary Bernard: "Then you came from preferred stock?"

Dr. Simkins: "Martha, what has history given you?"

Matha Lanier (blushingly): "You."

Sarah Harris: "Louise, do you know Lincoln's Gettysburg address?"

Louise Munt: "Why, I thought he lived in Washington."

Arianna Green: "What is the difference between capitol and labor?"

Rena Robinson: "Capitol is what you loan and labor is what it takes to get it back."

Miss Cooper: "If the President and Vice-President both were to die who would officiate?"

Nancy Nelms:" The undertaker."

Fame has its limits. A woman went into a book store the other day and asked for a copy of Lindbergh's "It." —Sniper.

Absence makes the heart grow fonder—for someone else.

"No Jack. I don't love you any more and I don't feel that I should let you kiss me (pause, and then brightly)—but we can still be friends and I'll come to all the dances and you can take me to all the parties Christmas. I'll even keep your pin. And if you'll just send me the tickets, I'll even be in Richmond at the game next Saturday so that I can see you after the game."

"Where is this elevator?"

"I don't know yet—but it can't fool me—it's in thish closet somewhere." —The Pointer.

Anne Withers: "What do you think of my new picture?"

Mary Bernard: "Fine, it must be a snapshot."

Anne: "What makes you think that?"

Mary: "I see you have your mouth closed."

COLORS OF FAME

Brown of Harvard.
Red Grange
Green Hat
Yellow Streaks
Blue Laws
White Lies
Mauve Decade
Thomas Gray
Lemon Squeezer
Ivory Soap
Rose Marie
Maroon Donan Island

A BOOK A WEEK

We think all intelligent people must regard Children's Book Week as good Christians regard a specified week of prayer—not as a chance to get year's duty off one's hands in a week, but as a sort of model or ideal of what every week in the year should be . . .

If at just the right moment we present to the child just the right food for his curiosity and eagerness—folklore, fairy tale and fable, song, science, adventure, handicrafts and games, each when the appropriate faculty is unfolding—then we can keep him curious and eager all through his childhood. Nothing better can happen to a child.

If on the contrary, we provide insufficient reading matter we starve clamorous faculties. If we provide the wrong books, the child can't digest them and his appetite for reading may quickly be ruined. But if we follow the now available expert advice on the care and feeding of the child's mind we shall find that the average youngster is as well able as an adult to consume "a book a week," and we shall find that he thrives on the diet.—Stuart Sherman in New York Herald-Tribune, "Books."

S. T. C. GIRLS GIVE PROGRAM AT SUNNYSIDE

Under the direction of Miss Virginia Potts, S. T. C. girls gave a delightful program at Sunnyside, Friday evening, November the ninth.

The program consisted of a number of readings, songs, dances and stunts, all of which were enjoyed by a very appreciative audience.

THE GRANDEST DAY AT S. T. C.

Why do all the old girls suddenly become happy and almost dance with joy when they hear even a whisper about Thanksgiving? Only those who have experienced a Thanksgiving at S. T. C. can possibly imagine what the day holds in store for them.

An outsider, passing by school about six o'clock on that morning, would probably stop and stare. If there should be anyone near enough and not too preoccupied by her own task, she would hear a question, "What is all this? I can see nothing but girls, girls, girls—everywhere! They are rushing hither and thither, over the campus and in the buildings! All are waving colors—some have red and white, some green and white, and others have blue and white. Please tell me the reason for all this riot so early in the day!"

It is now the girls' turn to stare. Who is this that doesn't know what is going on at S. T. C.? "The girls are celebrating Thanksgiving! They are now having a marvelous time hanging their colors. Later there will be hockey games, with still more excitement, thrills, and fun, expressed by ardent shouts and cries! Oh, this is The Big Day here!"

Thanksgiving is indeed The Grand Occasion at S. T. C. The freshmen may not realize what it is all about, but they will certainly recognize it as the greatest day on the college calendar. They will always remember it as one of the most outstanding events of their college career!

"A good book is the precious life-blood of a master spirit, embalmed and treasured up on purpose to a life beyond life."—Milton.

BAMBI

(Felix Salter. Published by Simon and Shuster—1928)

"Bambi" portrays with charm and simplicity the spirit and feelings of the animals of the forest.

One would know immediately that the author must feel the mysteries of nature deeply, possessing as well a clear perception of the habits and reactions of the animals which he so graphically describes.

The purpose of Bambi is obviously that of inculcating a finer perception of natural objects and creatures into our minds, such as the author has found, and of providing an understanding of the sensations and instincts which guide the actions of these wild creatures.

Without humanizing the characters, Salten gives them speech, but behind the conversation one can feel the real sensation and characteristics of the animals to whom he allows this means of expression—from the scolding of the crows and chattering of the magpies to the slow, cautious speech of the deer.

"Bambi" will certainly appeal to those who enjoy nature or animal stories. Even those who do not as a rule indulge in this type of literature, will probably be highly entertained by the delightful delineation of animal life as revealed in "Bambi."

THE BUCK IN THE SNOW

(Edna St. Vincent Millay. Published by Harper Brothers—1928)

In this new collection of her poems, there are a few selections which seem characteristic of Edna St. Vincent Millay's work as most of the literary world knows it, but the majority of them lack the freshness and optimism, the buoyancy, the shining beauty which characterizes her earlier poems.

"The Buck in the Snow" seems to show a a transition from one philosophy of life to another. In many of her poems we are conscious of the feeling that in spite of morbidness and sordidness of the world, there are always higher things which make life more than worthwhile, yet, in this later volume, that optimistic tone is missing and we feel a note of despondency and bitterness creeping in.

There is, however, that exquisite beauty of rhythmn and of language which truly marks it as the real poetry of Edna St. Vincent Millay, and it is well worth reading if only for this quality alone.

In Books we find the dead as it were living; in Books we foresee things to come. These are the masters who instruct us without rods and ferules, without hard words and anger. If you approach them, they are not asleep; if investigating you interrogate them, they conceal nothing; if you mistake them, they never grumble; if you are ignorant, they cannot laugh at you.—Richard de Bury.

MISTAKEN FICTION

(Actually heard in a book store)

Scene: Any modern book store.

Time: today.

Clerk: "I'm sorry but 'The Bridge of San Luis Rey' is out."

Kindly old lady: "Then have you any other good books on bridge?"

Clerk (at telephone): "Mr. Green, 'Bad Girl' has just come in."

Mr. Green: "All right. Hold her there and I'll be right down."

(Enter Joe College)

Joe College: "Have you 'Women in Hell'?"

Clerk: "You mean 'Ladies in Hades'? Yes, it's here."

(Enter Pannie Willis)

Pannie: "I'd like to have a book of very modern rhymes."

Clerk: "Have you 'Enough Rope'?"

Pannie: "Why-er- yes, but you do not seem to understand; I want a book of poetry."

(Enter Jinx Grimes)

Jinx: "Have you 'Sun-Beam Around My Neck'?"

Clerk (Just before being carried out by hospital attendants): "No, my dear, "Moon-Beam Around My Sholder' is out."

Dreams, books, are each a world; and books, we know,
Are a substantial world both pure and good.
Round these, with tendrils strong as flesh and blood,
Our pastime and our happiness will grow.

—Wordsworth

OLD PYHUS

(Warwick Deeping. Published by Alfred A. Knapf—1928)

Anyone at all familiar with the works of Warwick Deeping would know after one dip into the contents of "Old Pyhus" that no one but he could have written it.

With character and plot similar to those portrayed in "Doomsday" and "Kitty", and particularly those of "Sorrell and Son", he has created a novel which even surpass these in interest, quick movement of plot and sympathetic insight into character.

He claims to have drawn the principal character from real life; perhaps this accounts for the understanding and sympathy which he exacts from the reader for the gentle old philosopher.

Misunderstood by his two wealthy, prosaic, self-satisfied sons, he is rediscovered and appreciated by his grandson, whose artistic temperament has brought him also beyond the horizon of his father.

Through the influence and counsel of this noble old gentleman, Lance, the grandson, escapes the pitfalls of London life which threaten to ruin his life and misdirect his literary talent. Old Pyhus, recognizing his danger and need in time, is able, fortunately, to turn his mind and heart, and likewise his pen, from the raw, sordid, warped side of life to the beautiful and ethereal side.

This bond of friendship between the old man and the young brings about more love and understanding for the generation which stands between them, personified by Probyn, father of Lance and son of his pototype, Old Pyhus.

There is very little humor in "Old Pyhus," but those elements of understanding and sympathy which characterize all of eDeping's novels are particularly outstanding in this one, making a wider appeal than ever to those who revel in the deep humanity of his books.

"A good book is a blessed companion."—Atlantic Monthly slogan.

Falconer Gift Shop
Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Complete line of Greeting Cards

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre Week Nov. 19—24th

MON., TUES., & WED.—We will show the big super special Paramount production "WINGS" starring Clara Bow and a very big supporting cast. Thrills the world! Its daring! Its romance! Millions of people have seen it and marvelled at it. More than a year at the Criterion Theatre in New York. Standing room at a premium during its long Broadway engagement. Hailed by leaders in every field as The Greatest Picture Ever Made! Impossible to describe it. You must see it to appreciate it. Mat. each day at 4 o'clock. Also News reel.

THURS.—Pola Negri and Warner Baxter in "THREE SINNERS" a special Paramount picture and one of the best Pola Negri has ever starred in. Wife and mother—and then by one swift stroke of fate, an outcast. An unusual story with a powerful lesson. Also comedy. Matinee at 4 o'clock.

FRI & SAT. at mat only—Molly O' Day and a great supporting cast in "THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS" A special production. Harold Bell Wright's best seller. Out of the pages that have thrilled millions come Harold Bell Wright's famous characters, living, moving, enacting that wonderful story of the Ozark hills. Also a comedy.

FRI. & SAT. at night only—Richard Dix in the Paramount picture "EASY COME, EASY GO". Follow Dix! He's scattering laughs to the four winds in this made-to-order riot of fun. Everybody's after him. He's easy to like as the honest youth who just can't keep out of trouble—and matrimony. Also comedy and a classic picture in beautiful colors.

Admisison to S. T. C. girls getting tickets at college. Mon., Tues., & Wed., 35c, other shows 25c.

In Books lies the soul of the whole Past Time; the articulate audible voice of the Past, when the body and the material substance of it has altogether vanished like a dream . . . All that Mankind has done, thought, gained, or been; it is lying as in magic preservation in the pages of Books.—Carlyle.

JOURNALISM ISSUE THIS WEEK

ROTUNDA

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY THURS. & FRI.

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1928 No. 9

NATIONAL COLLEGE PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETS IN LAFAYETTE, INDIANA

S. T. C. is Only College in State of Virginia to be Represented

ETHERIDGE AND WALTON GO FROM THE ROTUNDA

The fourth annual meeting of the National College Press Association convened Nov. 16 and 17 at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana, with representatives from thirty-one colleges in twenty-five states. Pearl Etheridge, editor of the Rotunda, and Margaret Walton, business manager, represented S. T. C., the only college in Virginia which sent delegates to the conference.

A. E. Hoehler, of Purdue University, and S. E. Leonard of the University of Akron, presided at the conference sessions. Problems of college journalism, were discussed with the purpose of proving each paper, and setting national standards for the collegiate press.

Notable problems were the use of the campus pictorial, a rotogravure section published by a syndicate for the use of all papers, and the organization of a national news bureau. The general attitude of the journalists was unfavorable toward the use of pictorial section, definite plans, however, were started toward the completion of a national news service.

Many interesting and useful suggestions were made by various representatives for the practical improvement of newspapers.

Unquestionably the most worthwhile phase of the conference was the period of informal discussions of the aims, ideals, significance of the college paper and its editors, and practical exchange of ideas of style, features, advertising programs, and organization.

Purdue entertained the guests at sorority and fraternity houses on campus. A banquet, a military ball, and a football game which occurred during the week-end added to the pleasure of the delegates.

Dr. Elliott, president of Purdue University, who welcomed the delegates at the opening session, exerted an unusual influence over the conference. His keen insight into the problems of college journalism made

(Continued on last page.)

NEW MEMBERS OF JOAN CIRCLE

The Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma announces the following new members:

Gretchen Obenchein
Louise Vaughan
Lucille Norman
Sammy Scott
Mary Frances Hatchett
Lucille Graves
Lucy Thompson

DR. JARMAN

"To some, birthdays bring much regret;
To others they're really alarming;
How nice it must be for people like thee
Whom birthdays but make the more charming!"

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE TO MEET

The Rhodes Scholarship Committee will meet December 8th at the University of Virginia for the selection of the "Rhodes Scholar' 'for the year 1929. The committee from this state is composed of Dr. E. S. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, Rev. Beverly D. Tucker, Dr. Benjamin R. Lacy, Judge Herbert G. Cochran of Norfolk, and William A. Stuart. There are nineteen accredited applicants from various colleges and universities.

MISS THOMAS SPONSOR FOR JAMES RIVER BRIDGE

Miss Thomas of our faculty was one of the twenty-four sponsors who took part in the opening of the James River Bridge on November the seventeenth.

This bridge is one of the largest of its kind in the world and is expected to bring much prosperity to eastern Virginia. The sponsors were selected from the prettiest girls of the section of the state near the bridge. Each girl represented her particular town or county. Miss Thomas represented York County.

PEG O' MY HEART TO BE PRESENTED

MAGAZINE TO BE PUBLISHED BY LITERARY GROUPS

Cooperation of the Student is Requested to Make it a Success

The Cunningham and Ruffner Litery Societies intend to make the year 1928 and '29 really mean something in their history. They have undertaken the publication of a literary magazine.

For some time the faculty and the student body at S. T. C. have felt the need of something through which the literary ability of the students can be expressed. About ten years ago a literary magazine was published in this school. Finally The Rotunda took its place and has continued to take its place on through the years. While we believe that our Rotunda is just as good as any other college paper, we all know that it is not large enough to cover the literary taste of our student body.

The two literary societies, realizing this need, have made the publication of a literary magazine their goal for this year.

Of course, there is a financial side to this undertaking as there is to every other undertaking. In order to publish this magazine, it is necessary that at least five hundred students subscribe to it. The societies hope to publish three issues, one each term. The subscription price is only one dollar, so please fill out your subscription blank early! This magazine will be a treasure to you after you leave S. T. C. It may even become dear to you as The Virginian now is.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS MEETS

The regular meeting of Le Cercle Francais was held in the little auditorium after prayers, Wednesday, November 14. Business was brought up, discussed and dismissed.

This was the first meeting at which new members were present and an unusually attractive program was given. All members, old and new, joined in the singing of the French national anthem, "La Marseillaise." A short comedy in French, written and directed by members of Miss Draper's class, was presented. Miss Florence Crawley delighted the audience with two songs, one in French and one in English. Everyone took part in a contest to see who could compose the most words from a given title. The winner was presented with a toy harp.

Ice cream and cake were served and the meeting was adjourned.

MISS BARNES

DEDICATION

To express our gratitude and appreciation for her untiring help, and useful instruction, we, the journalism class of 1928, dedicate this issue of the Rotunda to Miss Barnes.

CLIMAX OF BOOK WEEK REACHED

The climax of Book Week was reached Friday night, Nov. 16, when an entertainment was given in the auditorium by the College Training School, and the College Juvenile and Child Literature classes.

The program was as follows:

Mother Goose ..... Group of Children from Kinderkarten and First Grade
Folk Stories—The Three Bears, Red Riding Hood, The Wee Wee Woman ..... Second Grade
The Sleeping Beauty .... Third Grade
Robinson Crusoe ..... Fourth Grade
King Arthur .... Group from Grades Five, Six and Seven, Training School
Scenes from "Idylls of the King" Third year College High School
Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch Group from Child Literature classes of S. T. C.
Folk Songs and Ballads .... College High School Glee Club

The College Orchestra played several selections between the numbers on the program.

H. S. C. and S. T. C. Talent Combine in Dramatic Production

FRIDAY PERFORMANCE BENEFIT OF HOSPITAL

Thursday night, November the twenty-second and Friday night, November the twenty-third, the Dramatic Clubs of S. T. C. and H. S. C. will present "Peg O' M yHeart, a three-act play by O'Hara.

With the combined talent of the two schools, this play is expected to be an overwhelming success. The cast was carefully chosen and trained by Miss Leola Wheeler, director of the S. T. C. Dramatic Club.

The performance Friday night is given under the auspices of the hospital. A full house is expected on both nights.

The play is a clever comedy written by an Irishman about an Irish girl, Peg. Peg, a clever, homely girl is brought to live with her aunt, Mrs. Chichester. Mrs. Chichester consents to keep the peculiar child because she has lost her fortune and she is to receive money for the care of Peg. She tries to model Peg after her own daughter Ethel, a very beautiful girl, but finds it is impossible.

All the men fall in love with Peg and propose to her, even Mrs. Chichester's son, Alaric, who is very stupid, but Peg spurns them all. Finally she succumbs to the attractions of Jerry, which ends the play delightfully.

Every line in the play is interesting. You will laugh at Peg; you will laugh with Peg, and you will feel sorry for her. You will enjoy the Chichesters, and admire Jerry.

The cast is as follows:

Peg ..... Mabel Fitzpatrick
Ethel ..... Elizabeth Revercomb
Mrs. Chichester .... Henrietta Cornwell
Alaric ..... John McLaughlin
Jerry ..... George Francis
Christian Brent ..... Selden Baker
Montgomery Hawks ..... Jack Costenbader
Jarvis (the footman) .... Rhoads Carpenter
Bennett, (the maid) .... Martha Lanier

"THE TRYSTING PLACE" TO BE GIVEN

By special request "The Trysting Place" is to be repeated. Many who saw it last year will remember the talent displayed by both faculty and students. This was one of the first plays given in a long time in which members of the faculty participated. The cast is soon to begin rehearsing in order to give this student body an opportunity to enjoy a real play.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 33, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... FLORENCE REED, '31
Art ..... CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, 31 WILLIE SAVAGE, 31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, 31 ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader

MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

These Week-end Trips

Don't we have the best time when we go away for the week-end? It helps so much to get away from the monotony of school life for a day or so. "Variety is the spice of life." It is the change of scenery and being with other people that does us good.

Do we realize who makes these good times possible? Of course it is the one who is foremost in everybody's mind. She is always considerate and hates to refuse to let us go just as bad as we hate to be refused. If we could but realize that Miss Mary is only human. She always has our interest at heart and always decides what is best for us in the end.

The next time we want to go away let us think if we really deserve to go away and if we can afford to miss classes when the end of the term is so near.

Our Attitude Toward Chapel

Why is it that there is an hour set apart each day for chapel exercises, and why are we all supposed to go? Is it simply to take our minds off our lessons and to hear the various announcements which are read? Many of us go there for these purposes without even realizing the real purpose; therefore, our attitude is not what it should be during chapel. Many of us are loud and noisy while absences are being taken; we are positively irreverent while the devotional exercises are going on; and we often talk and appear inattentive while some one is speaking on the platform. Our whole wish is that chapel will not last long and that we can hurry on to something else.

Let's try to improve our attitude towards chapel and try to feel that we really go there for the purpose of worshipping God. We should feel too, that this is our only opportunity of getting together, faculty and students, as the big family which we are. Let's make up our minds that we will be more quiet and reverent, and that we will really enter into the spirit of worship.

WORLD NEWS

In Honduras and Nicaragua, as well as in the United States, elections have recently been held. The Honduras election was bitterly contested, resulting in the selection of the Liberal candidate, Dr. Vincente Mehia Colindres. In Nicaragua, also, the Liberal candidate was chosen. General Jose Moncado was elected by a large majority. The Nicaraguan elections are of especial interest to Americans because they were conducted under the armed supervision of United States marines and other officials appointed for that purpose.

In Argentenia, likewise, a presidential election has recently been held. Hippolito Irigayen, although eighty years of age, has just entered upon his second term of office.

Provision has been made for the erection of a giant telescope which will surpass in size and power any now in existence. This powerful instrument will penetrate hundreds of millions of light-years into shace, and will reveal numerous now unseen heavenly bodies, opening up a great unexplored field of knowledge.

The enormous cost of the enterprise will be met by an offer of the International Educational Board of the California Institute of Technology. The exact site for the telescope has not been selected, but it will be situated on a height near the Mount Wilson Observatory.

A campaign to abolish the death penalty has been launched in England. If successful, it will allow England to compete with the United States—in murders.—Louisville Courier Journal.

The Balkans may not be the most progressive nations in the world, but at least they do not wait four years to have a national crisis.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Mount Etna, after another of its periodical rampages, has almost returned to normal. Long ago, probably before there were human beings on the earth, Mount Etna, by its frequent and violent eruptions, built up the island of Sicily. By its reecnt eruption it has changed a great part of the island into scorched, lava-buried desolation.

Vesuvius is probably the most famous volcano in the world, but for destructiveness it can never compare with Mount Etna. The more or less regular outbursts of Mount Etna, taking their toll of the lives and property of the people nearby, never seem to come to an end.

INTERESTING DEBATE HELD THURSDAY

The Debate Club met on Thursday night, November the fifteenth, in the little auditorium. After the roll call by the secretary a most interesting debate was given. The question for discussion was Resolved, That there should be a substitute for trial by jury. The affirmative side of the question was upheld by Anne Hopkins and Mary Jane Vaden, the negative by Virginia Pettigrew and Martha Ann Laing. The decision was in favor of the negative team.

After the decision was made, Dr. Walmsley gave his usual criticism of each debate, giving both strong and weak points of each individual.

The time for the try-outs for intercollegiate debaters has been changed from Wednesday the twenty-first to Tuesday, the twenty-seventh. Everyone try out!

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

Dr. Faut, of Mississippi State College, says "we are all exerting an influence—either good or evil." The reason for this is that there could be no good without there is evil to distinguish good. It is the person who has had battles of right and wrong to fight and who has come out of the battle victoriously, that deserves credit. No one is good unless he has withstood the influence of evil. In discussing the influence that we as individuals exert over others, he made the following statement: "In order for our nation, our state, and our campus to be the best and most beautiful in spirit, we must exert and have exerted over us the influence of good."

BIG STAMP COLLECTORS CLUB ORGANIZED AT V. E. S.

V. E. S. has organized a Stamp Club, the purpose of which is to further the interests of the boys in stamp collecting. The society meets once a month. The members all bring their duplicates, and a general trading post for stamps is made. The club is furnished with Scott's 1929 Postage Stamp Catalog, Scott's Monthly Journal, McKeel's Weekly Stamp News, and the price lists of the leading stamp companies.

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE ON EDUCATION AT CHAPEL HILL

The first annual Southern Conference on Education met at Chapel Hill for the purpose of discussing the plans for making the present School of Education into a modern teachers college equal to the best to be found in American state universities. The most important immediate project of the School of Education is the development of training school facilities. An agreement was made by the acting dean of the School of Education and the Chapel Hill School Board to use the Chapel Hill school as the university's training school.

CAROLINA FOLK PLAY SERIES TO BE DISTRIBUTED SOON

The third series of "The Carolina Folk Plays" is now being printed by the Herny Holt Publishing Company and will be distributed to book stores throughout the country.

The plays included in this collection are: "The Scuffletown Outlaws," "Lighted Candles, by Margaret Bland, "A Shotgun Splicin' " by Gertrude Coffin, "Quare Medicine" by Paul Green, "In Dixon's Kitchen" by Wilbur Stout, and "Job's Kinfolks."

BIRTHDAYS

The tiny tot welcomes a birthday, because it means a party with ice cream and cake; the young man welcomes it, because it adds one more year to the age requirement for voting; the young girl—well she changes her mind so often, she soon forgets about such things; the older man accepts his birthdays as anniversaries when friends pay tribute to his superior knowledge and ability.

Several times a year there is a break in the monotony of days succeeding days. These breaks are usually birthdays of famous people or events, but they are known mostly as holidays when people may stop work and enjoy life.

Birthdays are an inspiration to the school-boy because he lives solely with the idea of becoming famous some day, so that he can celebrate his own birthday and go fishing with-

Continued on page three

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

'TIS BALDWIN'S MONTH IN FARMVILLE
Never before in the history of our store have we offered such amazing bargains.

Beautiful fur trimmed fall coats in the seasons latest colors, fabrics and styles are offered in this record breaking sale at extremely low prices.
Group No. 1—$16.50
Group No. 2—$27.50
Come in and try 'em on
BALDWINS

NOVEMBER

A jolly thief is old November,
Who lingers a while to play with the breeze
And suddenly swipes all the leaves off the trees;
Then wanders o'er cities and lands and seas,
Paving a way for gray December.

M. F. S.

LOVE SONG

The words you whispered were never new—
The tune was old—
They thrilled my heart, but my long-lived soul
Remembering you,
Thought of a far off evening, lost among forgotten days,
And a slim, young birch, a soft wind's ways,
And a whispered song.

E. F.

A PRAYER

Dear Father, as the shades of night
Fall fast, as silent tears,
Guide my soul to feel that life
Is more than passing years—
Unto by pulsing, throbbing heart
Thy pure, unselfish love impart.
As by the gentle arms of prayer
I lift my burden and my care,
Reach out Thy ever quieting hand.
hand
These weary eyes to close,
And let my spirit rest with Thee
In sweet unmarred repose.
And when the world again awakes,
A new day to begin,
Open Thou wide my sightless eyes
And let my soul in rapture rise
To drink thy beauties in,
That I may make my life to Thee—
A gift, a token, willingly—
Grant this my prayer! Amen.

L. V. M. '32

QUIET DAYS AT S. T. C.

Hail, hail, the gang's all gone and S. T. C. is comparatively quiet for once.

For many days the girls have laid siege to Miss Mary's office and the smiling faces that issued forth told others that their success was complete and the trophies worthwhile.

The members of the faculty talk to empty seats and get still emptier answers from those who are present. The ill-fated ones who are left behind do not realize how many have gone, until they go to class and have to answer more than their share of the questions.

The mathematically inclined students are in great demand by those of a more classical nature to figure out the extra amount of food they will have over the week-end, and the old adage—"absence makes the heart grow fonder" is changed to "absence makes the others—fatter."

Hail, hail, the gang's all—gone, but we look forward to their return because they may bring back—food!

Good work advertises itself.

TRI-SIGMA GIVES TEA FOR PI KAPPA SIGMA

The Alpha Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma entertained the Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Pi Kappa Sigma at a tea on Friday afternoon from 4 until 6 in the Sigma Chapter room.

The room was attractively decorated with cut flowers and candles. Tea was poured by Miss Anne Ferree.

Besides the members of the two chapters those present were: Miss Mary White Cox, Mrs. I. A. Field of Highland Park, Michigan, Mrs. H. T. Stokes, Mrs. H. T. Thompson and Miss E. Myrtle Grenels.

SORORITY BIDS ISSUED

After a week o fteas by the various sororities, rush season ended on Friday, November the sixteenth. Bids went out Thursday night and were returned Friday. The following pledges are announced:

Sigma Sigma Sigma
Eva Jordan Krebs
Suzanne Holland
Nora Petty
Lucy Dorch
Mildred Fields Elmore

Gamma Theta
Mary Priest
Allie-Kae Libby
Martha MacKenzie

Delta Sigma Chi
Ella Sims Clore
Loulie Milner
Elizabeth Walker
Martha Walters
Mary Oliver Ellington

Mu Omega
Martha Wood
Kathryn Grinnan
Ruth Hunt
Henrietta Cornwell

Zeta Tau
Virginia Cox
Mary Buford Epes
Jack Hix
Charlotte Hutchins
Madeline Lee
Martha von Schilling
Evelyn Stevenson
Maria Warren
Grace Virginia Woodhouse

Pi Kappa Sigma
Doris Walton
Hazel Burgwin

STUDENT COUNCIL GIVES BIRTHDAY DINNER

The Student Council entertained Monday night, Nov. 19, at a birthday dinner party in the banquet room in honor of Dr. Jarman.

The color scheme of green and yellow was very atractively carried out in the decorations.

The guests included Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Jennie M. Tabb, Miss Virginia Vincent, and the members of the Student Council.

SATURDAY SING A BIG SUCCESS

Although about half the student body of S. T .C., spent the past week-end away, sing was held Saturday night as usual, and the program did not suffer from lack of talent.

One of the most enjoyed numbers was the toe dancing of Miss Thelma Pate, a visiting girl from Richmond. Miss Elsie Clements entertained with one of her delightful readings. The audience was greatly pleased with the songs by Miss Lillian Bennett. The other numbers were a piano selection by Miss Jane Witt, and clog dancing by Miss Marion Seay.

The student body extends its sympathy to Mrs. Warren in the death of her brother.

SOCIAL

The following girls spent the week-end in Richmond, Martha Lanier, Flora Martin, Dolly Latane, Red Foster, Mary Fielding Taliaferro, Sara Williams, Helen Dunkley, Lucy Will, Jane Cotton, Jinx Grimes, Florence McIntyre, Margaret Leonard, Dolly Reid, Louise Whitlock, Ethel Fisher, Myron Barnes, Alfreda Collings.

Thelma Pate of Richmond was the week-end guest of Mary Todd.

Nancy Denit, Virginia Moore, Mary Farirer, Margaret Davis and Mary Miller Patrick spent the week-end at William and Mary.

Catharine Lunsford, Elizabeth Davis and Sterling Thornton spent the week-end at their homes in Brookneal.

Charline Williams, Mabel Fitzpatrick, Alice Covington, Elizabeth Taylor and Vivian Young attended the game and dance at W. & L. last week-end.

Elizabeth Antrim, Elizabeth Munn, Margaret Hubbard, Leyburn Hyatt, and Nancy Nelms spent the week-end with Billie Boothe at her home in Lynchburg.

Mary Simmerman spent the week-end at Blackstone.

Ola Jennings spent the week-end at her home, Crewe, Va.

Jean Gibson and Margaret Northcross spent the week-end with Mary Brightwell at her home, Pamplin, Va.

Lucille Graves spent the week-end at her home in Roanoke.

Catherine Bentley and Carolyn Watts spent the week-end at their homes in Richmond.

Grace Woodhouse, Charlotte Huchins, Nancy Duberry and Mary Wilson Pugh spent the week-end at R. M. W. C., Lynchburg.

Pannie Willis and Eleanor Hogan spent the week-end at S .T. C.

Mrs. Joseph King and Florence Kirkland, former students of S. T. C. spent the week-end with the latter's sister.

Ruth Newton spent the week-end at her home, Petersburg.

Margaret Johnson who has been absent from school on account of sickness returned to school this week.

Louise Vaughan spent the week-end at her home in Alta Vista.

Ella Sims Clore and Mary Ellington spent the week-end at the home of Catherine Wayt in Staunton.

Louise Nininger spent the week-end at her home in Norfolk.

Armistead Jane Scott, Mary Olive and Louise Bowen spent the week-end in Richmond.

Mayo Beaty, Margaret Loving and Evelyn Holland spent the week-end in Richmond.

Mary Beasley and Loulie Milner spent the week-end with Margaret Pumphrey at her home at Richmond.

Suzanne Holland, Virgina Raine, Anne Withers and Minnie Mae Brown spent the week-end in Danville.

Ida Wright Chapman spent the week-end at her home in Smithfield.

Mary Bernard spent the week-end at her home in Petersburg.

Anne Ferree, Frances Millican and Anne Chapin spent the week-end in Richmond.

Martha Baker Bass and Greenhow Paker, students of last year spent the week-end with friends at S. T. C.

BIRTHDAYS

Continued from page 2

out playing truant.

Some people, like wine, grow better with age. These are the people who have done something worthwhile; who have worked hard for others and have received praise as leaders. Their birthdays are not known as mere holidays, but are observed annually, so that others may pay tribute to their work and memory.

AROUND THE WORLD IN TWENTY-THREE DAYS

(Captain Charles B. D. Collyer. Published by the Fairchild Aviation Corporation, N. Y., 1928)

Our ancestors took five or six months to cross the country in prairie wagons, and Jules Verne considered eighty days the limit of speed for circumnavigating the globe, but Captain Collyer and his companion, John Henry Mears, proved that it takes only twenty-three days to circle the globe

In this very interesting booklet "Around the World in 23 Days", Captain Collyer give a vivid account of his flight. He tells of the purpose of the flight, the preliminary preparations which lasted several months, the journey across the Atlantic and Pacific on steamships, and the flight across Europe and Asia in a Fairchild aeroplane.

The journeys across the oceans are uneventful, but the flight across the continents is very thrilling and interesting.

We are told of the landings in Paris, Cologne, Berlin, Moscow, Japan and other places where they were welcomed by huge crowds of natives.

Glowing descriptions are given of the gold domes on the mosques in Russia, of the beautiful scenery on the the Volga river, and of the bleak, barren Siberian desert as viewed from the air. We are told that Captain Collyer flew across his boyhood home in Korea several times "for sentimental reasons".

Captain Collyer gives us such a graphic account of his entire trip that as we read we follow him and his companion around the world, landing in New York just exactly twenty-three days, fifteen hours, twenty-one minutes and three seconds after he had left.

BAD GIRL

(By Vina Delmar 1928)

Vina Delmar depicts very truly, in a sensational first novel, life in New York's east side. She describes vividly the younger generation in this section of the big city, and it is not strange that she can, since she herself is very young.

Her book is a most simple, straightforward, and accurate piece of realism. She does not spare the sordid details in telling of a typical young couple, their thoughts, feelings, and experiences together. She gives us strange standards, narrow and broad at the same time, self centered. She gives us also their nonchalance at times, typical of the world's idea of east side, a certain naivete and ignorance of life.

As a study of the social problem in our metropolis which confronts youth everywhere—as entertainment—as a very real account of two very real people, "Bad Girl" is good.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"Drinks and Drugs"
TOILET ARTICES, SODA MAGAZINES, CANDY AND STATIONERY

A FEAST OF BARGAINS FOR S. T. C. GIRLS
LOVELY COATS
$14.75—$22.50—$32.50
$49.50
SPECIAL!
468 Silk Dresses, $15.00 values
$9.45
HUB
DEPT. STORE

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
(We invite your charge accounts)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

A NEW BUCKLE PUMP
in
PATENT LEATHER
with silver buckles, and tan leather with brass buckles
Price $6.85
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
Farmville, Virginia

Miss Draper: "I call my French the Pony Express."

Miss Tucker: "I call mine the Pulman; four sleepers and an observation."

"Shirts that laugh at the laundry," was advertised by a certain firm in Farmville.

One of mine bought there had such a keen sense of humor that I got it back the other day with its sides split.

Martha: "I found fifty cents in your sleeping quarters."

Flora: "Yeah, those are my sleeping quarters."

Lelia Germany: "Pardon me, but are you holding that seat.

Alice Carter: "Oh, my, no! It's staying here of it's own accord.

Ann Guy: "Heard the new mechanic's song?"

Ethel Weld: "Naw!"

Ann: "Get out and get under the moon."

Poor Harry

"What's the matter now?"

'He was run off the campus of the floating university."

WHY?

Don't pick me out to ask me why,
Mary Taliaferro gets 'em without having to try.
Louise Foster has red hair,
And Eleanor Hogan doesn't care.
Toone Casey has such style,
And Ferree keeps that sunny smile.
Pannie Willis loves her Bain,
And dining-room food gives us a pain.
Mary Todd can always dance,
And "Sleepy" Wood seems in a trance
Mary Beasley is so sweet,
Lucille Graves is always so neat.
Mamie Preston wears those glasses,
And school time so slowly passes.
These will puzzle me 'till I die,
And I'll never be able to figure out why.

DEBATE CLUB TRY-OUTS TO BE HELD

Followers of Demosthenes and Cicero, here is your chance! Wednesday, November 27 at eight o'clock the members of the Debate Club will be given the opportunity to try-out for the varsity debating teams. The main talks will be limited to eight minutes and the rebuttals to three.

The subject chosen is—Resolved, That natural resources of water power should be controlled by the federal and state governments.

The successful contestants will represent S. T. C. in her intercollegiate contests.

NATIONAL COLLEGE PRESS MEETING

Continued from page one

it possible for him to strike the keynote of the meeting: independence and responsibility.

Just how successful the conference was to our college may be determined through the pages of the succeeding issues of the Rotunda.

EL CIRCULO ESPANOL HOLDS MEETING

Tuesday night El Circulo Espanol had its regular meeting, which proved to be one of the most interesting held this year. The club room was gay with the Spanish colors and national flags in honor of the new members who were welcomed by the president. After a short business meeting, Edith Page gave a very enjoyable talk on the furniture of Spain. The meeting ended with the entire club singing "La Paloma." New members are:

Sadie Long
Nellie White
Mildred DeHart
Margaret Hubbard
Mildred Steere
Ida Wright Chapman
Kathryn Johnson
Alma Garlick

MR. LATIMER TALKS TO JOURNALISM CLASS

Mr. Latimer, of the Farmville Herald, gave several short, but interesting talks to the class in journalism. In his talk he stressed some of the main points of newspaper writing, and gave some very helpful suggestions.

The class appreciates Mr. Latimer's interest and is looking forward to another visit from him.

TRAINING SCHOOL BEING HELD AT. M. E. CHURCH

Beginning Sunday, November the eighteenth, and continuing throughout the week a Standard Training School will be held each evening from seven-thirty to nine-thirty in the Methodist Church. This school is under the auspices of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches.

All denominations are invited to attend. Four courses will be offered. The faculty is composed of Rev. T. K. Currie of Richmond, Va., Rev. C. A. Tucker of Richmond, Dr E. L. Woolfe of Roanoke, and Miss Elizabeth Jarratt of Richmond.

These courses are very helpful to church and Sunday school workers, and it is hoped that many of the S. T. C. girls will attend them.

MISS MORAN TALKS AT TEACHERS INSTITUTE

Last week Miss Moran went to Cape Charles and from there to Exmore to attend a County Teachers Institute. She gave a talk at this meeting on "The Modern Ways of Handling Primary Work." She was entertained by Miss Lida Duntan, a former student of Farmville.

FRESHMAN COMISSION FULLY ORGANIZED

The following girls have been elected to the Freshman Commission for 1928-'29:

Henrietta Cornwell, Chairman
Elizabeth Etheridge, Secretary
Anna Bruce Whitmore, Treasurer
Katherine Grinnan
Evelyn Stevenson
Jessie Smith
Elizabeth Walker
Allie-Kae Libby
Emmy Lou Pulliam
Nora Petty
Representative from Training School
Isabel Jones
Ex-Officio Members
Virginia Cox
Miss Bedford
Mis Mix

Frances Thornton: "Where is your date from?"

Liz. Turner: "Lexington."

Frances: "Gentleman or cadet?"

PI KAPPA SIGMA INSTALLED AT S. T. C.

The Alpha Epislon Chapter of Pi Kappa Sigma was installed on Saturdey, November seventeenth, at S. T. C., Farmville, Va., by Mrs. I. A. Field of Highland Park, who is Grand Second Vice-President of the Grand Council of Pi Kappa Sigma.

Pi Kappa Sigma is a member of the association of National Educational Sororities. It was founded in 1894 at the State Teachers College in Ypsilanti, Michigan. At present there are 23 active chapters in colleges and universities throughout the United States.

What is now known as Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Pi Kappa Sigma was formerly known as Delta Kappa on this campus.

Several alumnae of Delta Kappa came back to be installed into Pi Kappa Sigma.

JOURNALISM STAFF

Editor-in-Chief .... Lucy Thompson
Associate Editor ..... Anne Ferree
News Editor ..... Virginia Gurley
Literary Editor .... Lucille Graves
Athletic Editor .. Mary Frances Shepard
World News ..... Lucille Bowyer
Intercollegiate News Editor— May Marshall
Social Editor ..... Eleanor Hogan
Art Editor ..... Rachel Royall
Feature Editor ..... Mary Seldon
Humorous Editor, Alice Covington
Proof Reader ..... Sara Baker
Circulation Mgr. ..... Elizabeth Thornton
Asst. Circulation Mgr. .... Frances Roberts
Reporters ..... Annie Pollard
Carolyn Roberts
Blanche Price
Mary Ramsey
Frances Hanmer
Elsie Milam

FOR A COLLEGE BLAZER

Point System—Atheltic Association

I. Physical Efficiency Test
(1) 9 events with 4 stunts and 4 field and track events 75
(2) 9 events with 7 stunts and 7 field and track events 100

II. Teams (having participated in 60% of the games played)
(1) 1st class team in any sport 50
(2) 2nd clas steam in any sport 25
(3) Attendance at 60% practices of each sport 25
(4) Championship team 50
(5) Runner up 25

III. Honorary varsity 25

IV. Varsity team 50
Varsity squad 25

V. Hiking
6 five-mile hikes per year 50

VI. Field Day
(1) 1st in any individual event 25
(2) 2nd in any individual event 15
(3) 3rd in any individual event 10
(4) 1st in any relay 10
(5) 2nd in any relay 5
(6) Breaking a college record 50
(7) Participating in meet 5
(8) First place in meet 100

VII. Tournaments (Tennis, Archery)
(1) Championships 50
(a singles 50
b. Doubles 25
(2) Runner up
Singles 25
Doubles 50
(3) Those in after first round 5

VIII. Scholarships
(1) "C" average—no failures 25
(2) "B" ave. nothing below "C" 50
(3) "A" average—nothing below "B" 75

IX. Awards: Individual Blazers.
(1) Class colors—read and white; green and white with old English "F" 700
(2) Class colored with numerals 1000
(3) Class colored with S. T. C. 1300
(4) Navy blue with S. T. C. 1600
(5) Navy blue with college seal 2000

MONOGRAM HIKES

Freshman and upperclassmen still have a chance to work toward their monograms. The hikes are a requirement and there will be one each week as long as the good weathr keeps up. Watch the athletic bulletin-board and sign up for the hikes whenever possible.

HOCKEY SCHEDULE

	4 P. M.	5 P. M.
MON.	Sophomores-Seniors	Beginners Basket ball
TUES.	Freshmen-Juniors
WED.	Sophomores-Seniors
THURS.	Freshmen-Juniors
FRI.	ALL	Beginners Basket ball

SHAD: "Well, I go home to my downy cot."
GURLEY: "Downy?"
SHAD: "Yeah, the kind you let down from the wall."

Falconer Gift Shop
Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Complete line of Greeting Cards

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

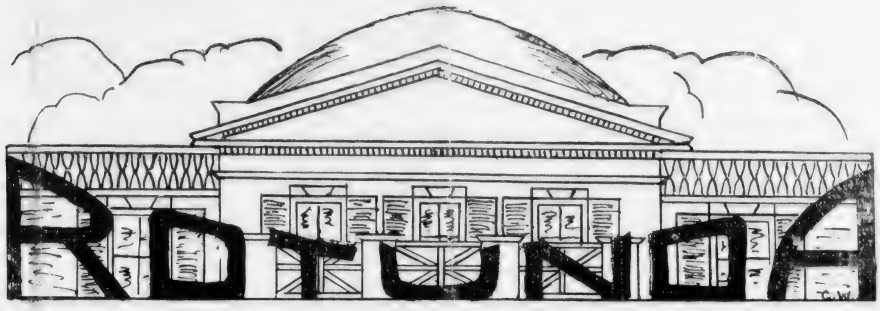
MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre Week Nov. 26—Dec. 1

MON. Adolphe Benjou in "A GENTLEMAN OF PARIS". A Paramount picture. A spicy story of high life in Paris! Menjou as you like to see him—loved by all and loving all—the ladies! A modern Robin Hood of hearts who robbed the ladies—and robbed 'em good. Also News and a comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

TUES.—Bebe Daniels in "THE FIFTY-FIFTY GIRL". A Paramount picture. No compromise! A wholesome comedy filled with fun. That's what's coming to you in this picture. Get more than your share of the good thing. You will enjoy this very much. Also comedy and a classic in colors. Matinee at 4 o'clock.

WED.—Florence ViVdVor in "HONEYMOON HATE". A Paramount picture. He married her to tame her. She t—o love, honor and disobey—Then Hoyenmoon hate. Here is a tale of merry marital complications that you will certainly enjoy. Also a good comedy and a classic picture in beautiful colors. Mat. at 4 o'clock.



THURS.—Richard Arlen and Mary Brian in "UNDER THE TONTO RIM". A picturization of the famous Zane Grey novel in a Paramount picture. A thrilling story of the West in the days of the gold strike. Brimful of action, romance and plenty of comedy. Against a background of strikingly beautiful mountain scenery. Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

FRI. & SAT. at mats. only—Ralph Forbes, Marceline Day and "Flash" the new dog wonder in "UNDER THE BLACK EAGLE." Here's a war picture, a satisfying love store, a dog picture, all blended in the novelty hit of the year! See it! It is very good! Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. at nights only—Marion Davies in "THE CARDBOARD LOVER" A special production. Broadway shook with laughter for months at the play! The film is even funnier and beautiful Marion Davis as the girl who gables with love at Monte Carlo—where men are men and women are after them. Also comedy and oddty reel.

Admission to S. T. C. girls getting tickets at college, 25 cents to each show.

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY A SUCCESS

SUPPORT YOUR COLORS THANKSGIVING

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1928 No. 10

CLASS HOCKEY GAMES TO BE PLAYED ON THANKSGIVING DAY

Walker, Smith, Baskerville and Woods are Captains of Teams

To every student at S. T. C. Thanksgiving stands for many things—turkey, pilgrims, going home or nearly time for exams, but to every girl in school there is one thing that Thanksgiving does stand far—that is class hockey ,for on Thanksgiving Day the interclass hockey games are played.

The games will be called in the morning at nine o'clock and will begin with the freshmen arranged in battle against the sophomores. Then Red and White will once more compete with Green and White when the juniors come forth to meet the seniors.

It is expected that this year's games will be even more exciting than previous ones because the teams are almost evenly matched. The whole student body is expected to be on the field Thursday morning to cheer the teams on to victory. The winners on Thanksgiving Day will play off the championship next week. The winning team will give its class team ten points toward the class cups.

The captains of the teams are:

Freshman	Lib Walker
Sophomore	Laura N. Smith
Junior	Mary Mann Baskerville
Senior	Emma Woods

NEW PLANS FOR HANGING COLORS THANKSGIVING

Sections of the building will be apportioned equally between "Red and White" and "Green and White" for hanging their colors on Thanksgiving morning. This is a decided improvement over last year, when their was a mad rush for the vantage-places at six a. m. "Red and White" got all the outstanding places, thus keeping the :Green and White" from having a show. The aim for this year is an equal distribution of colors and a more artistic ararngement.

The Rotunda decorations will be the same as they were last year: "Red and White" and "Green and White" combined. The colors of the classes winning out in the hockey games will remain. The others will be taken down.

MRS. DEAL SPEAKS ON JR. RED CROSS

Saturday morning at chapel, Mrs. Deal, of Florida, gave an interesting talk on the Junior Red Cross. She described it as a voluntary organization through which the child finds self-expression in educational training. The practical application of this organization in the school room was pointed out.

There has been a marked improvement in collective and individual service since the establishment of the Junior Red Cross. Over six million children belong to this organization. Formerly twenty-five cents was necessary for membership, but now service of this kind is all that is required and thus comes the motto: "I serve." National and international correspondence has developed between the schools. Magazines and papers are sent to hospitals to cheer up invalids.

The annual roll call Red Cross drive was held the week of November 19—25.

Members of student committee of S. T. C. canvassed the halls and cottages on Wednesday night, November 21 for subscriptions.

The student body responded heartily to this cause.

DR. HOKE OF W. & M. OBSERVES HERE

Accompanies Doctor Jarman to Conference at University of N. C.

Dr. R. K. Hoke, dean of William and Mary College, accompanied by Mrs. Hoke and small son, visited our Training School last week.

Dr. Jarman accompanied them to the meeting of the Southern Education Association at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.

On the way they stopped to visit the Training School at North Carolina College for Women at Greensboro.

The annual Southern Conference on Education, met at Chapel Hill, N. C., Thursday, Friday and Saturday to discuss the plans made by the officials of the University of North Carolina to make the present School of Education into a modern state teachers college.

The two major purposes of a state teachers college in a state university, as given by professor Walker of the University of North Carolina are: to improve the quality of teaching in the schools by supplying competent leadership, to train teachers for the elementary and secondary schools, normal schools and colleges and to train supervisors and technical workers in the field of education.

SENIOR CLASS MAN

MISS OLIVE T. ILER

CLASS MAN OF THE SENIOR CLASS

The senior class formally installed Miss Iler as their class man on Saturday, November 24, 1928.

Miss Iler has been sponsor of the class of '29 from the beginning of their freshman year.

During the singing of the song, each senior removed her cap, as a token of her love and respect for her class man. The song, which is sung to the tune of "Ramona", was written, for the occasion, by Julia Wilson, one of the ex-members of this class.

TRY OUTS HELD FOR VARSITY DEBATE TEAM

Tryouts for the varsity debate team were held Tuesday night on the question: Resolved, that the material resources of water power should be owned and controlled by the federal and state governments.

The four selected from those who debated are Frances Wilson, Catherine Bentley, Evelyn Graybeal and Ethel Fisher.

The debates were judged by Mr. Holton and Mr. Bowman.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES AT METHODIST CHURCH

Members of all churches are invited to the union Thanksgiving services which will be held at the Methodist church Thursday morning at 11 a. m. The sermon will be delivered by Dr. H. W. Davis, pastor of the Methodist church.

FOUNDERS DAY IN LOCAL CHAPTER

Saturday, November 24, was observed by the Farmville Chapter of the National Council of Primary Education, as Founders Day. The chapter was organized Tuesday, November 20, at five o'clock.

Miss Mary B. Haynes, State chairman of the National Council, officiated at the opening of the chapter.

The officers of the chapter, elected for the year, are:

President	Willie Savage
Vice-President	Harriet DeWitt
Secretary	Catherine McAllister
Treasurer	Mildred Deans

Members of the organization shall be chosen from the student teachers who indicate an intelligent interest in the educational field and are capable of doing supervisor work in their chosen profession.

A closer relationship between the kindergarten and the primary grades is the outstanding purpose of the chapter. In addition, the members of the chapter wish to improve present conditions in their field of work by recognizing the more acceptable educational methods now advocated.

DR. DENNY DECLINES W. & L. PRESIDENCY

The invitation to become the next president of Washington and Lee which was offered to Dr. Denny, of the University of Alabama, has been declined. Dr. Denny's refusal was received by the student body with keen disappointment.

Specific steps, however, will be taken in the near future toward filling the place vacated by Dr. Henry Louis Smith's resignation.

SOPHOMORE CHEER LEADER ELECTED

At the sophomore class meeting, Tuesday, November 20, Elizabeth Munn was elected class cheer leader. The meeting was turned into a "pep gathering." "Munn" and her enthusiasm brought the goal of Thanksgiving Day nearer and made victory seem almost within the grasp of the sophomores.

APPRECIATION

The Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs wish to take this opportunity to express their sincere appreciation to those members of the S. T. C. Dramatic Club, individually and collectively, who acted as property and business managers and helped in no small way to make "Peg O' My Heart" a success. Without their aid the presentation of the play would not have been possible.

"PEG O' MY HEART" IS PRESENTED BY S. T. C. AND H.-S. C. DRAMATIC CLUBS

A Large and Appreciative Audience Attends Both Nights

Peg O' My Heart, with its lilting Irish theme, presented Thursday and Friday evenings in the auditorium by the S. T. C. Dramatic Club and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs, was a complete success, judging by the two capacity crowds that attended the performances. To the critical mind there may have been much lacking, for example the lack of proper make-up in the characters of Jarvis, the butler, Mrs. Chichester, the dowager, and Mr. Hawkes, the solicitor; but the enthusiasm of all the members of the cast, and their earnest attempts to lose themselves in their parts overcame the faults in the presentation. Mabel Fitzpatrick, as Peg, and George Francis, as Jerry, presented a pleasing contrast of types of society.

Alaric, the very English son, was almost too perfect to suit the best taste; he out-Englished the prevailing conception of the typical Englishman. Probably the best-presented and best-suited characters were two of the supporting ones: Ethel, Mrs. Chichister's snobbish daughter, played by Miss Elizabeth Revercomb, and Christian Brent, the philandering husband who has tired of his wife and seeks more adventures with the opposite sex. Mr. Selden Baker, as Brent, was absolutely natural in his nervousness, covetousness, and selfishness.

As the first joint-production of the dramatic clubs of S. T. C. and H.-S. C., it must be said that the play was a success and gives promise of more perfect productions in the future.

The cast of chaarcters in the order of their apearance were as follows: Mrs. Chichister, played by Miss Henrietta Cornwell; Jarvis, played by Mr. Rhodes Carpenter; Ethel, Mrs. Chichister's daughter, played by Miss Elizabeth Revercomb; Alaric, Mrs. Chichister's son, played by Mr. John McLaughlin; Christian Brent, played by Mr. Selden Baker; Peg, played by Miss Mabel Fitzpatrick; Mr. Hawks, played by Mr. Jack Costenbader; the Maid, played by Miss Martha Lanier; and Jerry, played by Mr. George Francis.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

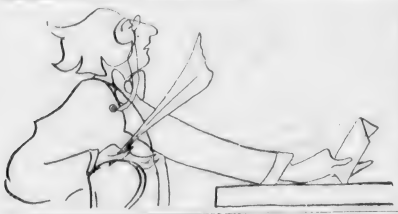
News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... FLORENCE REED, '31
Art ..... CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader

MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29



Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Byrd Proclaims Thanksgiving Day

A proclamation setting aside Nov. 29, as Thanksgiving Day, has been issued by Governor Harry F. Byrd, as follows:

"In conformity with past customs when, at the end of harvest season the people lift up to Almighty God thanksgiving and praise for all His manifold great mercies and bountiful gifts; and, in grateful recognition of the material prosperity and spiritual blessings which our people now enjoy;

"Therefore, I, Harry F. Byrd, governor of Virginia, very heartily join with the president of the United States in designating Thursday, Nov. 29, 1928, as a public holiday, to be observed as a day of thanksgiving and of prayer, and I call upon the whole people of Virginia to gather on that day in their usual places of divine worship and there, as in their homes, to render up grateful thanks to an all-loving God for that peace, prosperity and plenty He has vouchsafed us.

"Given under my hand and under the lesser seal of the commonwealth at Richmond, this twelfth day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and twenty-eight, and in the one hundred and fifty-third year of the commonwealth."

Thanksgiving in Reality

America has gone mad.

There is no doubt that this would be the verdict of our old Puritan fathers if they were suddenly dropped into the midst of the frenzied rush and ungodly vociferations of the Thanksgiving throngs in the cities of our nation. Scurrying, frantically pushing, and mashing, yelling barbariously, like the legendary rats; the people following after each other, find their places in the arena around the national idol—football.

Such is Thanksgiving!

For this the Pilgrim fathers landed on an unknown shore; for this our noble ancestors, proudly claimed by each of us, struggled to wrest a nation from a virgin forest and a savage people; for this heroic pioneers claimed for our heritage lands of untold wealth; for this the sons of independence fought experienced armies of a great worldpower in an effort to free our land of foreign restraint; for this our leaders toiled to perfect our ideals of democracy; for this our finest manhood gave of life that one nation might not wreak its vengeance upon the world.

Far behind the maddening crowd in a quiet, secluded spot, a little group gathers in the Christian church to render grateful thanks unto the God that gave to us our happy land. For this the president issued a proclamation that work should cease and on one day our people should remember with thanksgiving our manifold blessings.

Here we have it—an American Thanksgiving Day. Perhaps it has been overdrawn a bit—though we doubt it. Here is no condemnation for play. Rather do we praise the leaders of our national recreation.

We have found a place for work in our lives, for play, for friends, for culture. As we live longer we crowd in more activities, in a conscious endeavor to realize our conception of "life abundant." It is not hard to surmise that the least resisting phases of our existence are crowded into the background, even so far that often they are lost. Even so, the worship we owe our God is crowded out.

Thanksgiving is our opportunity to regain that which might be lost.

Your Moral Standards

William and Mary students have been alarmed by the frequent visit of burglars with the consequent loss of valuables.

S. T. C. has not been alarmed; there have been no burglars; there has been merely the loss of valuables. This is not a new situation. It seems to be so commonplace that most people never hear of it. The quiet disappearance of a few dollars, several pairs of silk hose, a new book, a stunning dress creates no sensation. The loss of laboratory equipment or class room necessities is met with a great deal of annoyance, but in the end the loss is quietly accepted, only a shrug of the shoulder and a cynical smile indicating the change in the moral attitude of the loser.

It has been pointed out that on such campuses as Washington and Lee and the University of Virginia, such a condition is unheard of. The statement has been made that the moral standards of the student body of S. T. C. are questionable.

In view of the little points we have made, such a remark is justifiable. At this stage of reading, there are a good number of "rah, rah, Alma Mater" people who will become furious and make indignant defense of our student body.

As a matter of fact, the student body needs no defense. It has been "protected" so long from open discussion that private individuals have suffered in silence. As a result the wrong has not been corrected.

The method of attacking the problem—if there has been any—has been to keep it from the public, to hit it as the unsightly thing it is. We believe that no wrong is righted by concealing it. It is a far bigger thing to face the issue squarely, admit its existence, and combat it as an evil which we will not tolerate. Strange to say, one ofe the most insidious things about the situation is the fact that upperclassmen are usually the offenders, Freshman it appears, are rarely guilty

This is no little accusation to make. However, there is behind the statement a hope, vain though it may be, that some persons or organizations may find here a challenge to arouse a higher moral consciousness in our college. An insipid reaction will do no good.

BOOK REVIEW

GLITTER

(Katharine Brush. Published by A. L. Burt Company)

Even in the midst of the modern literature with its sensational realism and sordidness, it is sometimes possible to find just such a book as "Glitter". Essentially modern, yet with a more optimistic portrayal of modern youth than most of the present day literature gives us, "Glitter" presents a human, true to life characterization of a college boy.

The girls with whom he comes in contact represent types, yet they are essentially human and could well be girls that we see about us every day.

The charm of this novel lies in the personalities of the characters themselves and the common sense way in which they rise above the sordid details of life. As the publisher has truly said,—"they have an essential decency that makes us wonder if the college youth is as bad as he has been painted."

It is a relief to find a book which unfolds to the reader the heart of the sensitive, idealistic youth who can see beneath the "glitter" of the world in which he lives, yet as a "college man" tries to appear so nonchalant, gay, unthinking and uncaring. He sees the glamour of life in a true and natural way, and it is this type of character about which Katharine Brush has woven her plot, rather than the scatter-brained, pleasure seeking, shallow youth who is typified in most modern college stories.

Whereas "Glitter" has little literary value, it is very interesting and absorbing and will delight those who are simple looking for an enjoyable novel.

THE UNCHANGING SPIRIT OF THANKSGIVING

In spite of changing times and customs, the Thanksgiving Day of our fathers is still here, clothed in the spirit of genuine thanksgiving and friendliness.

Differences may be drawn between the severely black and white clothed men and women of the first Thanksgiving and the less conventional garb of the present, but when differences in the living spirit of Thanksgiving are sought, few can be found.

Hush! Through the interwoven branches of the trees, we see a tiny white church, standing with sentinel-like watchfulness near the homes of its people. Down the path to the house of God come worshippers, bringing thankful and faithful hearts to God's altar. Walk softly, founders of Thanksgivng, for yours is a sacred task.

Listen! I hear soft strains of organ music and the voices of kneeling worshippers. Praise and thanksgiving fill the hearts of kneeling America. Are their hearts not clothed in the unchanging spirit of Thanksgiving?

W. S.

LITERATURE

YOU CANNOT HIDE FROM ME THY WORLD

You, who grow jealous of my dreaming,
Said, I will make you know . . reality . . ."
That held no touch of color, warmth, or meaning silences.
You thought to hide from me my world,
And drown, in discordant babel,
Silent singing voices.
Fool!
From my window I saw lightning,
Sudden, sure, swift as a silver ship
Across blue-black waves;
I saw children's feet entangled
In space of rainbow God gave them
In murky pool.
A yellow daisy growing in a crack,
A yellow crocus burning!
I saw beauty, poignant, purposeful,
Fiercely flaming through grey passivity.
I laughed at you . . .
You cannot hide me from my world
When I may take it with me!

L. B.

THE DARK

Grim, black smoke
Rising through the fog
Casting gray shadows on the lonely wall
Dark night
Misty and dim—
And never a glimmer from a star at all.

The earth is dank
The air is damp
The raw wind biting and cold
The fog lies thick—
There's never a light—
O God—I am weary and old.

J. W., '29

MOST FAMOUS OF THEM ALL

There are many different kinds of tables, such as tables of contents, time tables, console tables and card tables, but the kind that receives the most renown at S. T. C. is the table in the hall.

The judge of the supreme court in all his dignity never surpassed the girl who sits enthroned behind the "said" table and unmercifully sells movie tickets to unsuspecting pedestrians; and movie tickets are not at all. Everything under the "shining sun" from voting to paying of dues is carried on at this one piece of priceless antiquity.

Some people with philanthropic minds would like it replaced by a hand-carved marble top table, but the girls would just as soon do away with Joan as to see this old land mark spirited away over night.

WORLD NEWS

After fifty years of almost uninterrupted rule by powerful capital and landed interests, greater Roumania with its population of 16,000,000, has passed into the hands of a peasant government led by Juliu Maniu.

"It is a triumph of constitutionalism over despotism," declared Maniu enthusiatically as he bounded down the palace steps after the Regency had given him the mandate.

Huge crowds gathered outside the palace and the modest home of Maniu near the American Legation and gave the new Premier a tremendous ovation.

Early next month, representatives of the United States and every Latin American republic will meet in Washington to participate in what is expected to be the most important conference ever held in this hemisphere for the purpose of making war less probable between American nations. The object of the meeting will be the drafting and adoption of appropriate treaties of arbitration and conciliation to supplement similar pacts now in force.

Mr. Hoover, President-elect, will make a journey to Latin America on the dreadnaught, the Maryland. His plans are to visit Columbia, Ecuador, Bolivia, Peru, Chile, the Argentine, Uruguay, Brazil and Venezuela. This trip has already advertised our interests in good and fruitful relations with Latin America.

General Jose Maria Moncado, the liberal candidate won a personal victory in the presidential elections in Nicaragua. He was a military leader of the rebellion against the conservative government when Henry L. Stimson was sent as a personal representative of President Coolidge.

MISSISSIPPI SENATOR PROPOSES THE BODIES OF LEE AND JACKSON BE REMOVED

Senator Castell, of Mississippi, has recently introduced into his state legislation a resolution suggesting that the bodies of Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson should be removed from "Republican soil" in Virginia to "Democratic soil" in Missippi.

The following is an extract from the resolution as it was proposed:

"Whereas, we learn with great sorrow and grief that the State of Virginia has trampled upon and counted as naught its great and glorious Southern traditions, and has thereby made its state Republican soil, and whereas, it is evident to all that the two Southern leaders, Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson, cannot rest or sleep peacefully in said Republican soil;

"Be it resolved that we hereby request the governor of the State of Virginia, to permit the State of Mississippi to remove to the Democratic soil of said state the bodies of said beloved patriots."

Senator Castell had evidently not informed himself of the fact that both Lexinton and Rockbridge, the town and county where the bodies of Lee and Jackson repose, went Democratic at the recent presidential election.

Good work advertises itself.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

SPANISH COLLEGE REQUIRES ONE EXAM

Juan Centeno, youthful Spaniard who is employed to teach Spanish at the University of Oregon, gives us the following information about colleges in Spain: "In Spain a student is given only one examination during his college career. It is given orally by a professor, and if the student passes it he receives his degree and is graduated. If he does not pass he stays in school until he does. Residence at the universities is not required in order to obtain a degree. A student resigstered in a university can be away as much as he pleases. All that is required of him is that he be able to pass his big examination when the time comes."

WHY TO PRINCETON

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 21—IP)—Considerable amusement has been furnished the Princeton University campus by the publication by the Princetonian of a list of answers to the question asked of all entering students: "Why did you come to Princeton?"

Here are a few of the answers:

Father and brother Princeton men. Princeton spirit, tradition and reputation.

Thought more college life could be found here.

Because my father wanted me to go to Yale.

I didn't know the place then.

To graduate.

Advantages of country life can never be overstressed.

Because I like the atmosphere of beautiful buildings and gentlemen.

STRANGE COINCIDENCE

The Dramatic Club of the Fredericksburg State Teachers College presented "Peg O' My Heart" Friday evening at the Ashland High School Auditorium.

ROTUNDA STAFF PARTY

Oh—ah—a book—no—a tape measure—a candy dog—I can never eat him—now that's a cutie—I'm going to name him Pearly Peg. But tell me how did you have time to think of us—where did you buy them—surely you didn't bring them from away out in Indiana. Did you say he looks like me—imagine me on a letter opener—Why it's a party when we thoiught that we were coming to just a weekly staff meeting.

Such might have been the comments heard from the outside at the Rotunda Staff meeting Wednesday night. Pearl Etheridge and Peggy Walton had remembered every girl on the staff when they were in Indiana. It's great to be on the staff even if it is to be only a reporter.

FRESHMAN PARTY IS GIVEN

The cabinet entertained Friday afternoon, November 233, in the Student Building lounge at a freshman party, which carried out the Thanksgiving idea. There was a turkey drawing contest and Reta Hardy won the prize, a turkey for the best drawing. Margaret Finch told a Thanksgiving story and Sammy Scott gave a reading.

After the program a deliicous ice was served.

DR. JARMAN HONORS DRAMATIC CLUB

For recognition of the fact that the Dramatic Club is one of the outstanding organizations on the college campus Dr. Jarman has given to the club the room adjoining the little auditorium of the Student Building. The room will not be furnished elaborately but will be in keeping with the other rooms on that floor.

The Dramatic Club is delighted to have a room in which the members may hold their meetings without interruption. There will be a library placed here containing books on all phases of dramatic art, which wil lbe open to Dramatic Club members at all times.

EVERYBOY'S WEARING 'EM

"Oh, yes, they're supposed to be wearing them. Don't worry; they won't get by with it long—they could not—in fact, they aren't. Why I heard Virginia Cox say, not later than today, that some of the girls were hot on her trail already. Sure, I agree with you; it's not that they're poor sports; it's really a fine freshman class, but freshmen are freshmen and we all had to go through with it once. "What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander." Anyway, its not bad to wear them. What? Oh, rat caps!"

STUDENT TEACHERS ASSIST IN RAISING FUNDS AT WORSHAM

Last spring the student teachers at Worsham took over the project of paying for the curtains on the stage of the new school.

This fall it was found that a small amount was needed to complete the payment. To meet with this situation the teachers are getting up a three-act play, "Three Pegs" which they will present at the Worsham school on December the seventh.

FRESHMAN COMMISSION CONTINUES CLEANING BUSINESS

The new Freshman Commmission will continue the cleaning business, begun by last year's Commission. If you have any clothes to be cleaned, please notify any member and she will see that you get good service. If you take a dress or other article to the cleaning establishment yourself, please tell Mr. Poole that you want it cleaned through the Freshman Commission. When it is returned, it will be brought to your room. The Freshman Commission wants to serve you and wishes to solicit your patronage and cooperation in this phase of its work.

Following is a list of the members of the Commisison with their room numbers:

Henrietta Cornwell	173
Allie Kae Libby	50
Elizabeth Walker	77
Katherine Grinnin	55
Anna Bruce Whitmore	64
Emmy Lou Pulliam	50
Elizabeth Etheridge	55
Jessie Smith	F-11
Nora Petty	228
Evelyn Stephenson	175
Isabel Jones	D-1

NO FLYING ALLOWED!

Students at other colleges may fly all they want to, but the dean of Wellesley College says "No" for Wellesley students. The dean's office issued the following: "No student while under the jurisdiction of the college may ride in an aeroplane unless permission has been granted from the dean's office and the written consent of her parents secured."

ATHLETICS

BASKETBALL

The first call for basketball came on Monday, November 19, when all beginners in basketball were asked to come to the gym. Here practise was begun, in holding and passing the ball and goal shooting. A large number, composed of girls from all classes, were present. This class will continue until the regular class practises begin. The purpose of a beginners class is to give the girl training in handling the ball before they get out on the floor in regular practice.

TENNIS

The tennis tournament is gradually working up to the semi-finals and before many days the finals will be played. At present the freshmen are represented by Walton, the sophomores by Cralle, Reed and Maddrey, the juniors by Mary Frances Shepherd, and the seniors by Henderlite and Vaughan.

The winning girl gives five points to her class towards the class cup.

NEW HOCKEY SCHEDULE

4:15—Monday and Thursday—Freshman and Juniors.
5:15—Tuesday and Wednesday—Seniors and Sophomores
4:15—Fridays—all classes.

'TIS BALDWIN'S MONTH IN FARMVILLE

Never before in the history of our store have we offered such amazing bargains.

Beautiful fur trimmed fall coats in the seasons latest colors, fabrics and styles are offered in this record breaking sale at extremely low prices.

Group No. 1—$16.50
Group No. 2—$27.50

Come in and try 'em on

BALDWINS

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"Drinks and Drugs"
CHRISTMAS GOODS NOW ON DISPLAY

A FEAST OF BARGAINS FOR S. T. C. GIRLS

LOVELY COATS

$14.75—$22.50—$32.50

$49.50

SPECIAL!

468 Silk Dresses, $15.00 values

$9.45

HUB

DEPT. STORE

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
(We invite your charge accounts)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

A NEW BUCKLE PUMP
in
PATENT LEATHER
with silver buckles, and tan leather with brass buckles
Price $6.85

DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
Farmville, Virginia

Slo: "Wish I could reduce."

Poke: "Why not try hydrogen. It is a reducing agent."

Hear Ye Music Lovers

Near the Arctic Circle, at the tiny village of Wiseman, Alaska, the Service maintains its only one man post. There a lone private of the Signal Corps operates the Army Radio Station, in addition to performing such duties as postmaster, School Board Chairman, and General Representative of the U. S. Government.

What an ideal detail for a saxaphone player!

Co-ed (watching player being carried from field): "Oh, dear, do you think he is hurt?"

Escort: "No, the boys are playing house and are putting the baby to bed."

"How kind of you," said the girl, "to bring me these lovely flowers. They are so beautiful and fresh. I believe there is some dew on them yet."

"Yes, stammered the young man in great embarrassment, "but I am going to pay it off tomorrow."

S. T. C.: "With sausages for breakfast and frankfurters for dinner, we sure lead a dog's life."

The main trouble with telling our experiences over the week-end in Richmond is getting someone to listen to them.

What with television enabling you to see a man when you talk to him, and movietone allowing you to hear a man's voice while you watch a moving picture of him, it won't be long before you can stand in San Francisco and shake hands with a man in New York.

The fire-eating Colonel had received a letter which consumed the greater part of his rage. His noble reply was this: "Sir, my stenographer, being a lady, cannot transcribe what I think of you. I, being a gentleman, cannot think of it. But you, being neither, will understand what I mean.—The Pointer.

Miss Davis: "What do you think of "Il Penserosa?"

Mable Fitzpatrick: "It's the best ten-cent cigar on the market."

A NEW WORRY

Airplane pilots in and around Los Angeles are beginning to worry. First they were told to keep away from chicken yards, as the noise from the motors frightened the hens so they refused to lay for weeks at a time. Then residents living near the airports complained bitterly because the propellors kicked up dust. Now moving picture companies are beginning to complain, for they say they can't hear or take the new talking pictures because of the noise of the planes. What will happen next.

JUNIOR CLASS ORDERS RINGS

For several weeks the ring committee of the Junior Class has been busy considering prices of rings from different companies. Two price lists were finally agreed upon and submitted to the class at a meeting held last Friday morning. A vote was taken and the order is to go to Mr. Anderson, a representative of the Balfour Lo. The rings will be the same model used by the class of '29.

W. & M. MAY RETURN TO STUDENT GOVERNMENT

A movement for the re-establishment of student government for men, at William and Mary, was begun Tuesday at a special meeting of men in Phi Beta Kappa hall. With little opposition, a motion calling for the appointment of a committee by James M. Robertson, president of the Men's Student Body, to confer with Dr. W. T. Hodges, Dean of Men, was carried. This committee will study the feasibility of the student government plan and will probbaly present a working model in time for the inauguration of student government at the beginning of the next semester, if the plan meets with the approval of the student body.

The decision to consider student government came following an address by Dr. Hodges in which he stated that since the abolishment of student government in 1924, he has felt the need here for such a plan, on a workable basis. He assured the student that they would receive the fullest cooperation of the college administration in their efforts.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH CENTENNIAL OBSERVED

The centennial celebration of the Presbyterian Church began Sunday morning and will continue through Wednesday night.

The four former pastors of that church, who are living now, are taking an active part in the celebration. The program is as follows:

Sunday morning Dr. Grimm, of Florence, S. C.

Sunday evening, Dr. Hill of Richmond, Va.

Monday evening, Dr. McAlister of Richmond, Va.

Tuesday evening, Dr. Allen of Barton, Maryland.

Although every service has been well attended, an unusually large crowd is expected Wednesday evening, since that it is to be "Church Evening."

A most cordial invitation was extended to the faculty and students Thursday morning by Dr. Rankin, present pastor of that church. Dr. Jarman responded, assuring him of the hearty congratulations and support of the faculty and students.

DR. BRUMFIELD LECTURES ON HEALTH

Dr. William Brumfield, health officer for this district, lectured to the health education and biology classes Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of last week. Monday he discussed communicable diseases; Tuesday his topic was the prevention of communicable diseases, and Wednesday he discussed the hookworm and malaria. Dr. Brumfield's lectures were educational and interesting.

CHORAL CLUB WILL GIVE CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

This year for the annual Christmas program the Choral Club is preparing an old French pageant, "The Nativity." The sturdy but sweet simplicity of old French people is very characteristic of the songs in this pageant.

There are several solo parts and characterizations familiar in the story of Christ's birth. The solos are supported by a full chorus.

It is the hope of the club that the entire program will be one appealing in its quaintness.

ON A JOURNEY TO SEE SANTA CLAUS

The Times-Dispatch plane, which took off from Richard Byrd flying field Saturday afternoon, has reached Long Island, New York, thus covering the first lapse of its journey to the North Pole on a visit to Santa Claus.

Captain Kleinschmidt and his wife are in the Times-Dispatch plane and they are being joined at Long Island by "Red" Gortland, an experienced aviator. They are going to see what this land of Santa Claus really is like. Captain Kleinschmidt has promised to send back many stories from this land to the children in Richmond. He has also promised to wire back some very interesting pictures of this land, but, alas, he does not promise to send one of the real Santa Claus. The body of his plane is filled with letters for the good old man from Richmond children.

SCHICK TESTS

Anyone viewing S. T. C. from a distance would think that the girls were undertaking some great enterprise, which could be accomplished only by manual labor, or else were competing in perfect arm contests. The one with the most beautiful of the aforesaid appendages might appear to be chosen to mould arms for the delapidated statue of Venus. These models of perfection go around with arms bared to the elbow proudly exhibiting first one and then the other to the scrutinizing gaze of their unworthy contemporaries.

If the truth were known these fair damsels have only received the Schick test for diphtheria—one shot in each arm. If the place blushes or turns red from mortification they must be given toxin-antitoxin treatment so that they will be immune. It it does not, then—all's well.

MAGICIAN COMING TO S. T. C. WEDNESDAY

Thrills! Excitement! Mystery! Trebuh, the magician, comes to S. T. C. December 5th. He has thrilled large audiences in Europe and America with his sleight of hand and juggling tricks. Many comic situations full of mystery and thrills await us at this entertainment. Trebuh brings with him costly scenery, costumes and apparatus. He is recommended as the funniest known magician in the south. We can not afford to miss this display of magic art.

Trebuh is a member of the International Brotherhood of Magicians. He is now giving programs in a number of Southern Colleges. He comes to Farmville from Chapel Hill.

ALUMNAE NEWS

An alumnae reporter can usually find a marriage notice in a column of some Virginia newspaper. Here are a few:

Miss Mary Moffet Armstrong, of Front Royal, and John Hanson Beale.

Miss Anna Branch Reams of Kingsport, Tenn., and Sidney Gordon Gilbreath, of Avondale Estates, Ga.

Miss Martha Elmore Townsend of Ontario, Virginia, and Dr. Robert Lucas McConnell, of East Radford.

Miss Hester Peebles Brown, of Disputanta and Everett Ranson Pond, of Victoria.

Miss Rachel Dent Shepherd of Covington and William Overton Payne, of Clarksburg, W. V.

Miss Dorothy Patteson Hughes of Lynchburg, and William Asbury Marris of Richmond.

Miss Lucy Evelyn Boisseau, of Church Road, and Charles Eppes Ford.

Miss Margaret Urquhart Jordan and James Campbell Causey, Jr., both of Norfolk.

Miss Bessie Rose Knight, of Wakefield and Charles Robertson Jones, of Blackstone.

Miss Copelia Dixon, of Halifax and James S. Beverly, of Conway, S. C., and Oxford, N. C.

Miss Grace Dickerson of Kenbridge and John Gregory Trafton, Jr., of Norfolk.

Miss Hatcher Lee Drumeller, of Farmville, and Rev. Glen Grove Vought, of Cape Charles.

Miss Emma Lockett Walton, of Farmville and James Keith Marshall, of Fauquier County.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books. Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

Falconer Gift Shop
Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Complete line of Greeting Cards

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

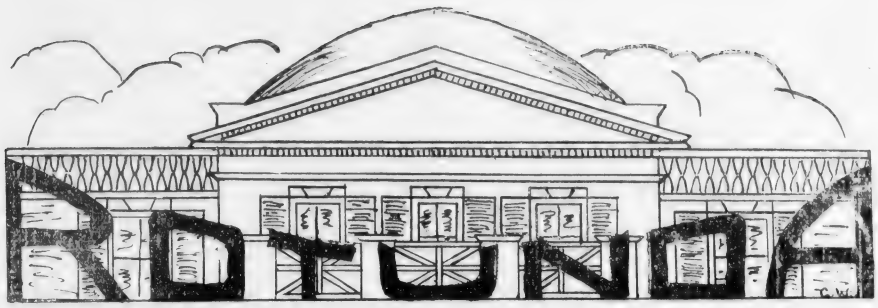
SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Dec. 3—8th

MON. & TUES.—Oh boy! Oh, gosh! Look who's here! Colleen Moore with Lawrence Gray, Alan Hale and Ford Sterling in "OH KAY". The gayest show Colleen ever gave—fu ngalore, when this charming bootleggeress poses as substitute bride-to-be—for a man she'd never seen before—on his wedding night! . . . to escape the revenue officers. Delightful, all New York flocked to it when it ran as the great musical comedy. Now you have a chance to see and enjoy it. Also News and classic picture in colors. Mats. at 4 o'clock.



WED. & THURS.—Joan Crawford with John Mack Brown in "Our Dancing Daughters." Now you can peer behind the scenes of America's fast set! Luxury and beauty, jewels and clothes parade on the screen in a drama of scions of wealth. Fast, rhythmic, exotic! Come and join the revelry of flaming youth. Note—This is positively one of the best pictures produced in the past 12 months. Be sure to see it. Also comedy and classic picture. Matinee each day at 4 o'clock.

FRI. & SAT.—At Mats. Only—Alice Day, Mat Moore, Lillyan Tashman and Edmund Burns in "PHYLLIS OF THE FOLLIES." A brand new special production. He didn't know whether the girl he loved was married or single. A smart company in a sophisticated comedy drama of Follies girls—and mere man's follies. Speedy! Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT.—At Nights Only—The super special production, "THE MAN WHO LAUGHS". A superb and lavish production—Magnificent in its dramatic splendor. With Conrad Veidt and Mary Philbin supported by 12 brilliant principals and a company of 2500 players. This is Victor Hugo's class, staged in lavish splendor— A queen's court—quaint old London's streets—Sourthwark Fair—The Coney of 1775, shown exactly as presented on Broadway, N. Y., at $2.—Where is played for two months to absolute capacity. Just playing in Richmond this week. Also comedy and classic in colors.

Admission to S. T. C. girls getting tickets at college, Friday and Saturday night 35c, other shows 25c.

ETTA MARSHALL TO GIVE DRAMATIC RECITAL

GREEN AND WHITE WINS HOCKEY GAMES

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 5, 1928 Number 11

DR. JARMAN HEADS STATE EDUCATORS

Elected Fifth President of Co-operative Education Association

SUCCEEDS DR. McCONNELL

Dr. Walmsley President of History Section; Mr. McCorkle, of Science Section

Dr. J. L. Jarman was elected president of the Co-operative Education Association at the final business session of that organization on November 29. He succeeded Dr. J. P. McConnell, president of the Radford State Teachers College, who was elected vice-present. To head the educators of the State is a position of honor and trust. We are proud to have Dr. Jarman receive the election to this office.

Dr. Jarman is the fifth president of the Association, his predecessors being Dr. S. C. Mitchell, professor of history at the University of Richmond, John Stewart Bryan of Richmond, Mrs. B. B. Munford of Richmond, and Dr. McConnell.

The vice-presidents who were re-elected were Governor Harry Flood Byrd, R. Walton Moore, and Dr. Mitchell. Mr. Harris Hart was re-elected also as state superintendent of public instruction.

On November the 27th, Dr. Jarman delivered an address before the association in the John Marshall High School auditorium. The subject of his address was, "Virginia Contrast 1903-1928."

Other members of our faculty played a part on the program of the association held during the Thanksgiving holiday. Dr. Walmsley was president of the history section and Mr. McCorkle, president of the science section. In these groups were discussed ways and means of realizing the aims of the respective department. Miss Cooper and Miss Tucker gave papers on history, Miss Hiner a paper on literature, Miss Bierbower on rural supervision and Miss Barlow on physical education.

This annual meeting of the Co-operative Education Association is of vital

(Continued on last page.)

SOPHOMORES AND SENIORS WIN HOCKEY GAMES

Holiday Games Marked by Swift Playing; Teams Evenly Matched

TEAMS SHOW GOOD FORM

Green and White Wins Ten Points Toward Athletic Cup

SENIOR TEAM—G. Hardy, E. Woods, M. J. Wilkinson, M. Elder, L. Vaughan, M. Erdman, E. Atwater, M. Carter, M. Carter, C. Bentley, K. Bully. (Insert) E. Woods, Captain.
SOPHOMORE TEAM—(Insert) Laura N. Smith, Captain; E. Epperson, A. Hutchinson, J. Cotton, L. N. Smith, Lillian Sturgis, R. Newton, V. McCoy, L. Beard, E. Coleman, B. Gleason, D. Reed, M. Maddrey, A. Olliver.

Both green and white teams were victorious in the exciting and evenly matched hockey games Thanksgiving day. Red, green and white mingled on the sidelines and much enthusiasm was shown by the various classes. Miss Iler acted as referee and kept up the blue and white spirit throughout the games.

At nine o'clock the freshmen and sophomores, dressed to represent their class colors, appeared oon the field for the first half. This was a closely contested game. Oliver and Newton scored for the sophomores, and Etheridge made one goal for freshmen. Walker, captain of the freshmen and Smith, captain of the sophomores were outstanding.

The juniors and seniors played the first half of their game with Atwater scoring two goals for the seniors. This was the only score in the half, but exceptionally good playing was done by the two captains, Woods and Baskerville.

The freshmen and sophomores then came on for their second half. Rorer, of the freshmen and Oliver of the sophomores, scored. The game ended with a final score of 3—2 in favor of the sophomores. Though they lost, the freshmen played a good game and showed a spirit of fine sportsmanship.

In the second half of the junior-senior game, Atwater again made a goal, and Paris scored for the juniors. Hatchett played especially well, stopping many balls headed for the senior goal. The final score was 3—1 in favor of the seniors.

The green and white will get ten points toward getting their colors on the cup, but from the spirit displayed by the red and white, it promises to be a close race.

HOCKEY WINNERS DECIDED TODAY

Sophs and Seniors Meet in Final Game; Thanksgiving Victors to Clash

GREEN & WHITES TO PLAY

Outcome Variously Predicted by Ardent Supports of the Class Teams

All really big colleges have an annual Turkey-day classic, but S. T. C., in order to please everybody, has two hockey games on that day. As there are two games, there are bound to be two winners, and this year they happened to be the seniors and sophomore. Even though they are sister classes, there may be a little hard feeling, so today, Wednesday, at four o'clock, the final game will be played. Considering the skill displayed on Thanksgiving day, the game ought to be one of the best yet.

Those girls who went away over the week-end really don't know what they missed.

A hundred points towards the monogram besides a lot of glory and congratulations goes to every member of the winning team. That fact in itself goes to prove how good the game will be.

THANKSGIVING PRAYER SERVICE OBSERVED

In the midst of the excitement of Thanksgiving morning, at seven o'clock everyone stopped her mad scramble to get colors up, everyone stopped her yelling, singing, and snake dancing, and paused for a while. It was in the auditorium before the simple yet beautiful alter and in the soft glow of candle light, that the true spirit of Thanksgiving day was observed.

Margaret Finch talked of the spirit of Thanksgiving, and of the opportunities, so far as colleges are concerned, of the girl of today. Then, each organization in this particular college was given a chance to bring some representative token to the altars an dto express thanks for their

(Continued on Page Three)

KOREAN SPEAKER EXPECTED ON CAMPUS

Mrs. Induk Kim, a native of Korea, will be a visitor at S. T. C. on Thursday, December 14. She is coming as a representative of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions.

Only by masquerading as a boy, was Mrs. Kim able to obtain her elementary education in Korea, for the girls were not allowed in the schools. Later she attended a Christian high school in Seoul and then came to America. She received her A. B. degree from Georgia Wesleyan.

Mrs. Kim is one of the recognized leaders of the Student Volunteer Movement in Korea. She is eager to teach at her alma mater but before doing so, she is visiting some American colleges in order to present the possibilities of Christian missionary service.

MAGICIAN APPEARS HERE WEDNESDAY

Unusual Program Expected at Evening Performance

The performance given by Trebuh, the magician, in chapel this morning was only a slight indication of his ununusual program for tonight.. It seems to be very easy to pull a live, full grown rabbit from an empty tub without a bottom. It may be easy, but it is also very mystifying. Just as it is rather difficult to make an alarm clock appear from an empty vase. The exhibtion of alarm clocks would be quite interesting to some of those who oversleep in the morning.

Everyone it seems wants to know the how, why and wherefore of all the tricks. Perhaps, if you go tonight you'll see how, Trebuh does it all and then perhaps you won't.

STUDENT STANDARDS COMMITTEE MEETS

At a meeting of the Student Standards Committee last Tuesday night, the problem of the frequent week-end trips of many girls in school was presented. Dr. Jarman thought it best to turn the matter over to this committee in order to get an expression of what the students themselves think about the situation. The committee is now working on a plan which they hope will prove satisfactory both to the students and to the administration.

MARY BUTTES MARCHANT MISSING SINCE LAST FRIDAY EVENING

No news has yet been received of Mary Buttes Marchant since her disappearance early Friday evening. She left the college about 6:30 o'clock Friday with the stated purpose of visiting on Oak Street. A search was begun when she did not reach her destination, which will not end until some information is discovered.

It is thought possible that she may have left Farmville disguised as a boy.

Newspapers in all eastern cities are publishing a description of her, in an effort to bring to light some clue of her whereabouts.

Mary Buttes Marchant, 19 years old, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Marchant, of Mathews Court House, Virginia.

Last year she attend Harrisonburg Teachers College, and is now enrolled as a sophomore in this college.

ETTA MARSHALL, FORMER STUDENT, TO GIVE RECITAL THURSDAY EVENING

Etta Marshall will give a number of readings in the auditorium, Thursday night, at seven-thirty. There will also be several musical numbers on the program—piano, violin, and vocal, by students in college. This entertainment is for the benefit of the junior class, and admission will be twenty-five cents.

To the upperclassmen Etta needs no introduction, but for the benefit of the freshmen, we introduce Etta as an alumna of S. T. C. While at Farmville she distinguished herself by her brilliant character portrayals in the Dramatic Club plays. She was president of her class in both her freshman and sophomore years. This year she is teaching public reading at her home in Portsmouth, Virginia.

The program is anticipated as an unusual treat.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor — LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor — CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary — GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic — KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News — LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News — EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social — FLORENCE REED, '31
Art — CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous — ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader

MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager — MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant — FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation — ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant — JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Thanksgiving Spirit

The student body is to be commended on the attitude shown on Thanksgiving Day. Through the whole day the spirit was one of friendly rivalry. From the hanging of the colors on through the games there was no harshness, no grumbling. Each class applauded the good plays of the other teams. The winning colors were good winners, the others lost well. The teams too were splendid in their sportsmanship. Both games were examples of fair and clean athletics. Each player respected the position of the referee and tried to make it as easy as possible for her. Every member of the student body supported her own class and color, but each realized that red and white, and green and white were subordinate to blue and white. Each realized that she was primarily a member of a student body working for better sportsmanship on the field and on the sidelines. The college may well be proud of its student body.

The Final Spurt

In a long race a runner always has a reserved amount of energy which he uses at the end of his race to carry him triumphantly across the finish line.

It is time that we began to sprint a little now in our studies. If we have been jogging along rather slowly, stopping here and there to rest, then we must realize that we must use all of our reserve energy now to "finish the course" with an average record.

If you have been keeping a steady pace all along this term, you need to sprint at the end just the same. If your ambition is to be a record breaker, then the final spurt will help you more than anything else.

It is the end of the race, not the beginning that marks you as a success, or as a failure. And exams are only two weeks away!

Preparation for a Grand Finale

Almost inevitably after the completion of a course, we discover a few unfinished bits of work which act as a dampering reproach when we collect our wits and energies again after the ordeal of exams and the ecstacies of holidays. Somehow we wish we had completed that work. "It was just the thing that would have kept me from missing the last question on exam." And now it's a nuisance—one hardly knows how to use it or where to put it, for of course there's no time to continue along that line now that work has begun anew. Not occasionally is it the work that might have been an opportunity to express one's own individuality, but it was pushed aside for duties that were more pressing.

We are anticipating such a situation. Nor, dear reader, do we have only delusions on the subject—there are of course only a few to whom this applies. But for those few we write encouraging them toward the completion of all worthwhile tasks that have had a beginning.

We would guess, too, that there are faculty friends who have on their hands any number of unfinished undertakings that would be a joy if ended.

A reminder suffices. Time is short, and we have much to do. Cooperation between student and faculty is never needed more than at this time. It is too late to begin new studies. The few days left we ask to be left to us to bring to a satisfying conclusion the work we have had during the term, without extra assignments, unscheduled classes, unforeseen papers, yes, and even without the proverbial midnight oil.

Student Opinion

This week we are presenting for the first time an Open Forum column in the Rotunda. For the first time, first hand student opinion is placed where all can read. It is hoped that it will be a stimulus for discussion.

There is no lack of controversy in informal groups on this campus. Every subject relative to student activity is discussed from every conceivable angle. The pity of the situation is the fact that though there is discussion that sounds a progressive note, there is no unity that might lead to improvement. The purpose of the Open Forum is to provide a means for students to suggest problems for all to discuss at the same time. There is much that concerns students, too, that does not fall under the category of problems.

Incidentally, may we remind our readers that the Rotunda is the official organ of the student body, and as such it receives all contributions of every student.

We cannot resist this opportunity to add another point, though it may be a bit irrelevant. The Rotunda staff is working to produce a paper that is worthy of and satisfying to the readers. All comments and criticisms are welcomed—invited, whether they be favorable or not, constructive or not. Comments are appreciated vastly more when they are received personally, than when they arrive through the famous medium of Madame Gossip.

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor:

Chapel attendance has increased a great deal this year, yet chapel disturbances do not seem to be on the decrease. The problems of marching out is still hampering us. The new seating arrangement has its good points and is probably an improvement over the old method, yet the breaking of ranks in the rear of the auditorium throws the line into confusion and disturbance. The sophomores and juniors are the ones to be blamed, since they are in the rear. Yet should they be blamed? It is a custom in all colleges for seniors to have privileges over juniors, juniors over sophomores, and sophomores over freshmen. Yet this is hardly true at chapel in S. T. C., since juniors and sophomores must wait for the freshmen to walk before them. Could we change this condition and have the juniors lead out from the rear of the auditorium, the sophomores next and the freshmen following? This would eliminate the congregating and mobbing at the doors and give the upperclassmen the pride in the position, which they have reached as sophomores and juniors.

One Who Stands and Waits

STUDY HOUR OR NOT?

Dear Editor:

Do you think that the present situation in our study hour is serving the purpose it is supposed to serve? As I understand it, there is a rule which intends to prevent visiting during the hours between 7:30 p. m. and 10:00 p. m. Regardless of the rule there is so much visiting going on, that it becomes necessary to hang an unofficial "Busy" sign on one's door in order to have uninterrupted study during those hours. It seems that those who want to study must be bothered by those who have nothing to do. Then in order not to disturb those who are studying, the ones who have finished, naturally gather to discuss the topics of the day. This is called visiting, and is breaking a rule. Why is there such a rule when it is not in sympathy with the wishes of the majority of the student body?

Personally, I believe that a group of girls taking the same course, studying the same lesson, and who wish to study together in a comfortable room, ought to be able to do so without feeling that they are breaking a student government rule.

Could we have some answers to this question from same other members of the student body? Is closed study hour as it now exists, a success? Is there another system which would serve a better purpose?

A. H.

HOW LARGE IS BIG?

A week ago Tuesday morning there was an eclipse of the moon which is not an unsual event, but it acted as a stimulus to a few students to inquire as to the size of the moon, its distance, and similar questions. Here is the answer I made.

Suppose the earth to be the size of an ordinary grapefruit. Place it on the reading desk of the auditorium platform—only, of course, it is not placed on anything in reality. The moon would then be about the size of a golf ball and might be on the piano on the platform. At the same proportion the sun could be represented by Longwood, the old Johnston home recently acquired by Dr. Jarman for our use. In other words the sun would be about one mile from the auditorium and have a diameter of around forty feet.

Keeping the same scale of size and distance in mind the very nearest of our star neighbors would then be 300,000 miles away, or twelve times the distance round the earth. If you now ask, "And how big are the stars?"; I reply, "Much bigger than you are now thinking they are."

G. W. J.

LITERATURE

PASSIVITY

I have grown strangely silent
As a shadowed room of grey . . .
I cannot speak the banal words
They would have me say.

I have grown strangely cold;
What need of warmth have I
To live with flesh-pot mortols
Who need not death to die?

I have grown strangely blind;
I need no eyes to see
Pink and white environment
And grey passivity!

I have grown strange uncaring . . .
If God would grant to me
One hour your beauty-raptured soul,
I'd speak—I'd live—I'd see!

L. B.

A LITTLE SONG

People passing in the street
I pity you
For you cannot be so loved
Or love so true
As I do.

And though my love is far away
I do not fear
Our star is shining soft tonight
Though he is gone
His love is near.

And in my heart a little song
Is sweet and low . . .
People passing in the street
You cannot know.

M. B. B.

ON RIDING IN A RUMBLE SEAT

Do you remember when rumble seats first appeared on the sport model cars? I do—and well do I remember how I longed to ride in one, and what a peculiar thrill there was in the first ride! Rumble seats really are very fascinating in the spring or fall when the sun isn't shining too hot or the weather isn't too cold. However, in the hot sunshine you have a sort of longing for a place on the front seat. In the winter when you go speeding along at about fifty miles an hour and the wind blows in on your face so cold that you are sure you are within ten miles of north pole, and you're wrapped in blankets, coats, slickers, and, best of all, a big V. P. I. cape, aren't you thankful for V. P. I., and can't you fully appreciate the "mother-in-law's" seat? Then when you reach your destination and get warm by a glowing fire in the grate, you decide, don't you, that rumble seats aren't so bad, after all.

P. G. '31.

GIRLS ENJOY THANKSGIVING FESTIVITIES AWAY

Martha Wood and Lula Milner spent the holidays at the former's home in Roanoke, and attended the V. M. I.-V. P. I. game.

Marguerite Swann, Marjorie Parkinson and Charline Williams attended the dances at Washington and Lee over the week-end.

Alice Covington attended the V. M. I.-V. P. I. game in Roanoke and the dances at Washington and Lee.

Mary Priest, Evelyn Holland, Anne Wrenn, Lela Germany, Yancie Brooking, Mary Bell Wheeler and Mary Pence attended the game and dances at the University of Virginia during the holidays.

Virginia Cobb and Harriett Branch attnded the V. M. I.-V. P. I. game in Roanoke on Thanksgiving.

Lucille Norman and Sarah McCorkle spent the holidays at their homes in Winston-Salem.

Genevieve Grimes attended the V. M. I.-V. P. I. game in Roanoke and the dances at V. M. I.

Mayo Beaty, Elizabeth Etheridge, Emily Gale, Nan Griffith, Mary Brightwell, Dot Baldwin, Marguerite Foster and Marjorie Rowbotham attended the V. M. I.-V. P. I. game in Roanoke and the dances at V. P. I.

Dorothy Leonard, of Richmond, spent the holidays with her sister, Margaret Leonard.

Lucille Field, Dorothy Latane, Elizabeth Lacy and Margaret Pumphrey spent the holidays at their homes in Richmond.

Louise Foster spent the holidays in Richmond.

Suzanne Holland, Anne Ferree and Anne Withers spent the holidays at their homes in Danville.

Page Archer and Rosa Archer spent the holidays at their home in Waynesboro.

Sarah Baker, Anne Meredith Newman, and Florence McIntyre, spent the holidays with Josephine Lyne at her home in Orange.

Elizabeth Revercomb spent the holidays at her home in Covington.

Mac Marshall visited Florence Booten at her home in Orange during the holidays and attended the game and dances at Charlottesville.

Elizabeth Ferrell, Eleanor Hogan, Nancy Nelms and Margaret Loving, spent the holidays at their homes in Roanoke.

Mary Beasley vistied Ethel Weld at her home in Roanoke during the holidays, and attended the V. M. I.-V. P. I. game.

Mrs. Laing, Frances Willis, Dolly Reed, Mary Fielding Taliaferro, Martha Lanier, Flora Martin, Frances Roberts, and Martha Ann Laing spent Thanksgiving day in Lynchburg.

Beth Brockenbrough has returned to school after having been at her home for several weeks on account of illness.

HEROINE OF PEG O' MY HEART

MISS MABEL FITZPATRICK

FACULTY ENTERTAINED AT A TEA

The members of the faculty were entertained at tea given by Messrs. Holton, Jeffers and Bowman in the lounge Tuesday afternoon. The guests called between the hours of four and six.

THANKSGIVING PRAYER SERVICE OBSERVED

(Continued from First Page)

part in college life.

Pannie Willis closed the service with a prayer in which she gave thanks for all things we were all glad for all that was nearest our hearts.

To the Y. W. C. A., we, who were here on Thanksgiving morning, give thanks for a most impressive and lovely service.

FRIENDLY RIVALY SHOWN IN CLASS DAY GAMES

Enthusiasm and good sportsmanship were equally exhibited in the color battle staged on Thanksgiving morning. The annual six o'clock dash gave the green an dwhite precedence over the red and white. While the red and white colors adorned the porch of the Student Building, the green and white colors were in full evidence over the main entrance, the chapel entrance, library hall and senior hall.

Preceding the hanging of the colors on Class Day, the classes held snake dances and pep meetings on several occasions. The red and white classmen appeared on Wednesday night with every ounce of enthusiasm in command, while the upholders of the green and white cheered their colors on both Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The formation of the letter "S" by the sophomore and senior classes, was an impressive feature of the Wednesday night snake dance.

The arrival of the alumnae of the school contributed to the general spirit of the day.

A NEW LIBRARY OPENED BY Y. W. C. A.

Is there a time when you read, and nothing else will do but to read?

The Y. W. Cabinet realized that people like to read, and in one corner of the cabinet room there is a book case; in it may be found poetry books, novels, song books, religious books and almost any kind of books that one would want and need to read at some time or another.

When you take a book, sign your name with the title of the book in the list book that is kept on the shelf for that purpose. These books were collected for the student body; hence, yours is the privilege to use them.

The real movie hero is the guy whose girl reads all the sub-titles aloud.

BACKWARD THOUGHTS

This Thanksgiving was just like any other in some ways, and in some it was different. Everyone was looking forward to either a package or company—in fact so many Joan worshippers returned for the holidays that her statue had to be placed in a cage. But such a cage! Red, white and green paper floated about her as reminiscences of the time she led her victorious army amid waving banners of various hues.

It seems that every dog has his day and this Thanksgiving the lucky one must have been an Irish setter, because green seemed to be th predominant color. Even the senior building observed St. Patrick's day ahead of time and wore much green paper across the front.

If the girls were thankful when the holidays began they are regretful now, because everyone ate too much, slept too much or studied (?) too much, and that's not good for anyone.

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING AT S. T. C.

There are only a few more days in which to do your Christmas shopping but it can all be done in a short time if you come to the Home Economics Department between four and six o'clock on December 11, 1928. The De-Ho-Ecs. have been working all fall making gifts for your family, your classmates and even your sweetheart. It will surprise you how far a little bit of money will go. Fruit cake, home made candies and many other good things will be sold also.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

4 P. M. Monday and Wednesday—
Sophomores and Seniors.
4 P. M. Tuesday and Thursday—
Freshmen and Juniors
5 P. M. Every Day—
Varsity Try Outs

WORLD NEWS

The Vestris quietly sank a fortnight ago, some 250 miles east of Hampton Roads, in water two miles deep. There was no collision, no explosion, no hurricane. Dead, or missperhaps by negligence. Dead, or missing are 111 persons. Only twenty bodies recovered. Capt. William J. Carey went down with his ship.

Just why no S. O. S. was sent out hours earlier no one knows. It might have been that Capt. Carey felt that Chief Engineer Adams' statement that he could keep the ship afloat would make such a call unnecessary. It seems that inspectors had not inspected as carefuly as could have been done.

The eyes of the world right now, and particularly in eyes of business men are on the President-elect Hoover and his pilgrimage of good will to the vast domain below the Rio Grande. Mr. Hoover is gathering first hand knowledge and an understanding of South American questions which we realize is most important. The business aspect, indeed, looms large in many articles on the Hoover pilgrimage but mutual understanding and good will should be and is dominating the trip.

The fact that silence is golden may account for prosperity of the past seven years.—Wall Street Journal.

As we understand it, France and Great Britain are agreeable to any limitations proposals that will leave France with the largest army and Great Britain with the largest fleet. —Judge.

Good work advertises itself.

'TIS BALDWIN'S MONTH IN FARMVILLE

Never before in the history of our store have we offered such amazing bargains.

Beautiful fur trimmed fall coats in the seasons latest colors, fabrics and styles are offered in this record breaking sale at extremely low prices.

Group No. 1—$16.50
Group No. 2—$27.50

Come in and try 'em on

BALDWINS

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"Drinks and Drugs"
CHRISTMAS GOODS NOW ON DISPLAY

A FEAST OF BARGAINS FOR S. T. C. GIRLS

LOVELY COATS

$14.75—$22.50—$32.50

$49.50

SPECIAL!

468 Silk Dresses, $15.00 value

$9.45

HUB

DEPT. STORE

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
(We invite your charge accounts)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

TELL SANTA
To Fill Your Stocking At
DAVIDSON'S
"The Christmas Store"
Farmville, Virginia

This week's prize goes to the girl who wants to know who this guy Sig McKigh is whose sweetheart everyone is singing about.

Another theory has been advanced as to why George Washington stood up in his boat—He was Scotch, and had just had his pants pressed.—Sniper.

To a Jewish ex-service man an acquaintance remarked: "So you were in the Army, Ikey?"

"Oh, I vas in the army!" was the proud response.

"Did you get a commission?"

"No, only my wages!"— Virginia Reel.

Two Mexican athletes were discussing their respective abilities to see and hear. One said, "Do you see that barn over there on the horizon?"

"Yes."

"Can you see that fly walking around on the roof of that barn?"

"No, but I can hear the shingles crack everytime he steps on them."

"I can't give you anything but love, Baby," says the popular song.

"And I can only do that on Saturdays and Sundays" sobs the poor H.-S. B.

A minister, while passing a group of convicts at work on the country roads, became very much depressed at the wickedness of the world.

"My good men," he exhorted, "we should strive to mend our ways."

"Well, what'll you think we're doing," asked No. 3289, "digging fishworms?"—Buccaneer.

A Toast

"Here's to my girl, may God care for her, I can't afford it."

Definition of Co-operation: A Methodist minister on Sunday afternoon umpiring a baseball game between the Ku Klux Klan and the Knights of Columbus for the benefit of a Jewish orphan asylum.

THE OLD SPIRIT

Crowds! noise! pushing! yelling! Flying colors! Finally a seat! Rest—Drums in the distance Strains of music! Rows and rows of navy blue and red uniforms on best parade! Yells! Song—Tech Triumph! Much more yelling! Quiet—Other drums! Gray and red uniforms! What's that? V. M. I. Spirit! Yells! Teams come in. Yelling! Singing! Corps and supporters are wild with excitement! Four men in linen knickers walk on field—

Well, another Thanksgiving game is about to begin in Roanoke.

DR. JARMAN HEADS STATE EDUCATORS

(Continued from First Page)

importance in planning a more progressive program each year and in raising the standards of the educational system of Virginia.

THANKSGIVING OBSERVED IN TRAINING SCHOOL

Participating in the arrangements for their Thanksgiving party, the children of the College Training School created a holiday spirit among the student teachers and visitors to the training school.

As amateur cooks in the processes of butter-making, jelly-making and candy-making, the children presented an interesting study. From the kindergarten through the other grades, the children entered upon the task of "getting ready for the party" with great enthusiasm. As the time for the party drew near, the children began to add the finishing touches to their favors in expectation of the event.

Each grade held some celebration of its own, but the exchange of entertainment among the grades indicated the splendid community spirit present in the Training School.

FARMVILLE POET RECEIVES PRAISE

A figure familiar to all Farmville people has achieved fame of which few have heard. Wallace Gould has recently published a volume of poetry called "Aphrodite and Other Poems." The following paragraphs are taken from a criticism of Gould in the Richmond Times-Dispatch, written by Prof. Welville Jones, of William and Mary College:

"Vitally interested as we are in creative work, and particularly in genuine creative effort, as Virginians, we have perused this little volume with keen attention and not without a little admiration. Mr. Gould was born in Maine. After spending his early life in that section, he came to Virginia seven years ago. Thus, a Yankee by heritage, he is a Virginian by choice.

"It has been some years since Virginia has been able to point to a poet within her limits who has nearly so piquant a voice as Mr. Gould. There is beauty in his poems, and power and sincerity of tone. Too, there is variety, both of theme and technique. His favorite medium is the long, undulating free verse line and at times his lines possess a near Whitman-like quality.

"Mr. Gould's art is primarily lyrical and at the same time pictorial—and may we add, he is a devout follower of the cult of beauty. Virginia can little afford to ignore the work of this poet within her gates as further illustration of his poetic power is anticipated."

PRIZES AWARDED FOR BOOK WEEK ACTIVITIES

The prizes for the contests held during Book Week were presented Monday night, November 25 in the college auditorium. Miss Mix spoke on "Books as Friends." Dr. Diehl, on "Characters in Books;" Mr. Holton, on "Education in Books."

The first prizes for the high school essay contest was won by Miss Dolly Sendall, a junior in the training school; the second by Miss Dorothy Cornwall, senior in the training school; the third by Miss Boatwright, of Cumberland High School.

Miss Virginia Layne of the sixth grade training school won the first prize for the grades—a five dollar book of movie tickets, for the best essay on Robinson Crusoe. Miss Kitty Roberts of the seventh grade training school won the second prize.

AND SILENCE REIGNS

The approach is a winding hall, here and there ornamented by a trunk, some with labels and some without. Every hour of the day students are seen passing along this quiet walkway with faltering steps as if reluctant to arrive at the end of their journey.

When the section lighted by clear, glass windows has been passed the girls tip-toe onward, greeting each friend, as she passes, with only a nod. Silence reigns—and then—out of space a loud—sh!

Enter quietly—you are in the Library.

LETTERS TO SANTA CLAUS FROM S. T. C. GIRLS

Dear Santy:

i wish u wood peak in my winder an c how bizzy i am i just want a pencil so i can rite my name maybe u can bring me a dolly an a cradle an maybe a stove an a playhouse i wood like some candy too if u don't mind.

Yore best friend,
Virginia Raine

TEA ROOM

State Teachers College
Farmville, Va.

My dear Santa Claus:

Can you imagine my embarrassment!!!! Sitting here without a dime and everybody else eating toast, coffee, soup, etc—please sir—can you not help. All I want is one dime—ten pennies—and a lollypop—and then Mr. Claus—have you any eye props for girls who just can't stay awake in classes, and Mr. Claus what about some A and B.— I'd like to have these before Christmas to use on my exams!)

Oh! and Mr. Claus, can't you kindly bring the student committee a "little cooperation"—they need it so badly!

What about a pair of glasses for Cousin Tommy. You know he just can't see a thing.

All right—you nice, big-hearted man—no more for me.

A member of the 900

STUDENT AND TEACHER UNDER GEN. R. E. LEE DIES AT UNIV OF VA.

Professor Milton Wyle Humphreys, student and teacher under General Robert E. Lee, died Tuesday, November 20, at the University of Virginia, where he had been professor of Greek during the last twenty-five years. He graduated with highest honors in 1869 at Washington College, during the presidency of Robert E. Lee, under whom he had served as a soldier in the Confederate army.

Professor Humphreys taught at Washington College; then, at Vanderbilt University; the University of Texas; and, finally, at the University of Virginia, where he spent his last years in active service. He was the last surviving member of the faculty of Washington College under General Robert E. Lee, and one of the last of the original members of the faculties of the University of Texas and the Vanderbilt University.

ALUMNAE NEWS

Several Farmville alumnae were upon the sectional programs of the recent convention in Richmond of the Virginia Education Association.

Miss Ada R. Bierbower, rural supervisor, Prince Edward County chairman of a committee, presented the report in the Rural Supervisor's Section on Equipment Necessary for Effective Supervision.

Miss Carrie Spradlin, Woodrow Wilson High School, led the discussion in the history teachers section.

Miss Marie L. Auerbach, John Marshall High School, talked on "Some Problems of High School Mathematics as Seen in the High School."

In the English teachers section, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Farmville S. T. C., was one of the leaders in the round table discussion, "Literature in the Public Schools of Virginia."

The Alumnae Association gave a tea in Miller and Rhoads tea room Wednesday afternoon, from four to five-thirty, to which the faculty and former students were invtied.

Miss Frances Currie, of Merry Point, has an interesting and helpful article in the November issue of the Virginia Journal of Education. It is entitled, "Suggestions for First Year Latin."

Miss Nell Thompson Kent, of Naruna, and Robert Malcolm Younger, of Lynchburg, were married Tuesday, November 20.

"The Tech Revue" Presented at R. S. T. C.

In response to a request of the dean of R. S. T. C., the dramatic club of V. P. I. preesnted their "Revue" at that school. The students greatly enjoyed the presentation which unquestionably was a great success.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

Farmer Gift Shop
Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Complete line of Greeting Cards

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, aesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre
Week of Dec. 10—15

MON.—Sally Phipps, Ted McNamara and Sammy Cohen in "WHY SAILORS GO WRONG". The story of how a taxi driver gets wrecked on a desert island with a pair of lovers and what happened when the cannibals got hungry. Never such thrills and fun in one picture. Also News and oddity reel. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

TUES.—Milton Sills and Doris Kenyon in the famous Jack London story "BURNING DAYLIGHT". A drama that carries you from the barren wastes of Alaska to the swirl of the big city. A pure nugget of entertainment from the gold fields of Alaska. Extra good. Also comedy and classic picture in colors. Mat. at 4.

WED. & THURS.—Billie Dove and Clive Brook in "THE YELLOW LILY". Passion flower of Hungary—a simple peasant girl whose beauty upset a nation; put an Archduke in prison and turned tables on the biggest heart breaker on the continent. The most stirring and colorful romance beautiful Billie ever portrayed! One of the strangest love stories ever told. You must see it! Also good comedy and classic picture in colors. Mats. at 4.

FRI. & SAT. at Mats. only—Marion Davies and Lawrence Gray in "THE PATSY". When Marion Davies remembered it was leap year, all bets were off in the great heart-throb handicap. You'll laugh your head off at the way she gets her man. Mighty good. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. nights only—Milton Sills, Dorothy Mackail, Betty Compson and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in the Super special production, "THE BARKER." From the Broadway play that received more praise than any show in the last five years. It's so life-life, so different, so human, you'll want to see it over and over again! This is the picture that has thrilled the world. What ever you do, don't miss it! Also a special picture "THE HEART OF R. E. LEE" shown in beautiful colors. Also another film in beautiful colors.

Admission to S. T. C. girls getting tickets at the college, Friday and Saturday nights 35c; other shows 25c.

SING CHRISTMAS CAROLS

ROTUNDA

HEAR MISS RICE'S STORY

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 12, 1928 Number 12

SENIOR HOCKEY TEAM REMAINS UNDEFEATED

Clash With Sophomores Ends 2—0, Favoring the Seniors

The championship hockey game was played between the sophomores and seniors last Wednesday afternoon ending with a 2—1 victory for the seniors.

During the first half the score was kept even, the seniors making one goal which was followed by a goal for the sophomores.

Throughout the last half both teams fought hard and furiously but the seniors, proving too much for their sister class, made another goal.

This is the final game for the seniors. They were able to end their hockey career with a record of an undefeated team, for during the three years we have had hockey at Farmville, the seniors have never lost a game.

The line-up for the game was as follows:

Seniors (2)		Sophomores (1)
Atwater	Forward	Coleman
Carter	Inside	McCoy
Erdman	Wing	Maddrey
Bully	Inside	Oliver
Rhodes	Wing	Newton
Woods	Halfback	Reed
Elder	Halfback	Hutchinson
Hardy	Halfback	Sturgis
Carter	Fullback	Beard
Wilkinson	Fullback	Cotton
Vaughan	Goalkeeper	L. N. Smith

Timer—Bentley.
Scorer—Hatchett
Linesman—Baskerville
Referee—Iler.

FRESHMEN TO DEBATE W. & M.

The Debate Club try-outs for freshmen were held December 7, in the little auditorium. The question for debate was, "Resolved, that there should be a substitute for the present system of trial by jury.'"

The four girls who were chosen to represent S. T. C. were:

Anne Hopkins
Maria Warren
Sara Hubbard
Polly Sheffield.

Dr. Diehl and Miss Tucker served as judges.

This team expects to debate against the freshman debate team of William and Mary after Chirstmas.

NEW MEMBERS OF THE DEBATE CLUB

The Debate Club wishes to announce the following new members:

Polly Sheffield
Louise Seay
Jane Witt
Louise Elliott

MISS ETTA MARSHALL

FORMER STUDENT PRESENTED IN RECITAL

Charming her audience with her unusual character interpretations, Etta Marshall, former president of the present junior class, gave a group of readings in the auditorium on Thursday night. The skill of the reader and the variety apparent in the selections given explained the success of the program.

Excelling not only in dramatics, but also in her ability as a leader of the school activities, Etta Marshall is one of the outstanding alumnae of the school. Her many classmates and friends anticipate a brilliant career for her. This year she is teaching reading at her home in Portsmouth, Va.

Included in Etta Marshall's selections were "Moon Folly", "Lady Clare," a selection from "The Music Master" and a one-act play, "Swimming Pools."

Additional features of the program included musical selections, which were given by girls of the college.

MAGIC AT S. T. C.

The days of miracles have not yet passed, as those who were in the auditorium Wednesday night can testify. For who could believe that out of mere space, real live doves, rabbits, rats, and even geese, sqealing and squawking, would appear before our very eyes!

Mr. Hubert, a noted magician and a native of Farmville, presented a most baffling program of tricks and magic which kept his audience spellbound during the evening. Those who were not present, missed a real treat.

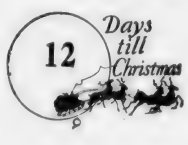
MISS CLOWD DISCUSSES OPERA IN S. T. C. CHAPEL

Introduction to Opera Week in Richmond in January

Tuesday morning, December 11, during chapel Miss Clowd, formerly a state supervisor of music in California gave us an interesting talk on the series of operas to be presented in Richmond this winter under the auspices of the Corely Company of Richmond.

In explaining just what opera was, Miss Clowd reminded us of the fact that the song is the most important thing in any opera. The music paints the picture rather than the action or the words.

During her talk Miss Clowd used the victrola to play several operatic arias, and so illustrated her interesting sketch of three of the operas which will be played in Richmond.



The first of the series was "La Tosca," an intensely dramatic and stirring tragedy. The story is laid in Rome, and centers around three leading character: Tosca, the beautiful heroine; Baron Scarpia, chief of the police, and Mario, a painter.

"The Barber of Seville," Rossini's humorous opera was the second of the series. This story is laid in Spain in the 17th century. "The Barber of Seville," known as Figaro, is a Jack of all trades and a wealthy gentleman, as barbers were in those days. While

Continued on last page

DE-HO-EC CHRISTMAS BAZAAR A SUCCESS

Everyone at the De-Ho-Ec bazaar, given Tuesday evening in Science Hall, had the real Christmas spirit. Girls were pushing each other around in their eagerness to see and buy the many attractive gifts and the appetizing food, while the scent of pine and cedar trees, placed artistically in the room, lent a decided Christmas atmosphere to the hall. Such delicious looking fruit cakes, jellies and candy! The tables looked like mother's pantry shelves the day before Chirstmas. In the beautiful hand-work displayed, one could find just the gift to suit each person on her Christmas list. As the girls left the building, loaded with packages they all agreed that although the rush could not be avoided at a De-Ho-Ec bazaar, it was best to "shop early."

MRS. KIM OF KOREA

KOREAN SPEAKER HERE AUSPICES Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Induk Kim will speak at S. T. C. on December 12 on her native country, Korea. Last year several girls heard her speak at the Detroit convention. She is a young woman with a charming personality. Any subject she chooses will doubtless be of great interest to students because of her unsual experiences and Christian attitude toward life.

RACES OF AMERICA DISCUSSED AT MEETING

The general topic for discussion at Pi Gamma Mu meeting Monday night was: "The influence of various races in the making of the America of today, and the making of a greater America." Lois Fraser spoke on the influence of the Indian race; Lucille Norman on the European races, and Frances Wilson on the Negro race.

A general discussion followed led by Dr. Walmsley and Miss Thomas, showing a great deal of interest in the question. Many different views and opinions were expressed.

COLLEGE AND TRAINING SCHOOL IN SERVICE

On Tuesday evening, December 18, at 7:30 the various musical organizations of the college and the Training School will give a Christmas carol service in the auditorium.

Each grade of the Training School and the Freshman Chorus will have a part in the program which will be concluded with a dramatization by the Choral Club of "The Nativity," an old French pageant in which members of the Chromatic Club have leading parts.

The faculty and student body are cordially invited to attend the service.

TRADITIONS OF CHRISTMAS GIVEN AT PRAYERS

Christmas Pageant to be Given Sunday Night in the Auditorium

Thre are certain traditions that surround every season at S. T. C., and Christmas is no exception. Probably you have already heard about them, for people cannot talk of Christmas and forget the beautiful traditions we celebrate.

Already I have heard carols sung. Students passing through the halls unconsciously hum them; maybe it is because they have Christmas in their bones. On Tuesday night there was a carol service in the auditorium after supper, where we had our chance to sing and to hear sung our favorite carols.

Who is there who has heard Miss Rice's story "The Other Wise man," and does not wait eagerly to hear it again? If you have not heard it, don't miss it; for those who have heard it I need not remind them to go again. On Thursday night, after supper, Miss Rice will tell her story.

Friday night will be one of the loveliest spectacles of all, the "hanging of the greens." The story of the tradition will be told by Pannie Willis. Then running cedar will be given to all the girls, and they will decorate the rotunda with it.

A Christmas play, "Bethlehem", will be given Sunday night. It is the story of the birth of Christ. At this time "White Christmas'" will be observed and the gifts of the student body will be laid at the altar.

One tradition that all will enjoy is "caroling." It has been a custom in

(Continued on Page Two)

ART CLASS MAKES TRIP TO RICHMOND

Miss Coulling's art appreciation class made a flying trip to Richmond Saturday to study the architecture of that city. Eighteen girls accompanied by Miss Coulling and Mrs. Watkins went, by bus, to our capitol. The course planned for the day was to see as many places of architectural interest as possible in the short time allotted. After a quick lunch the class began a systematic tour of old Richmond.

Among the places visited were the Capitol the old medical college (the only Egyptian type in the U. S.), the Mosque and St. Pauls, Battle Abbey, St. Johns and Poe's Shrine were visited for purely historical interest.

Miss Coulling allowed the girls an hour to shop while the bus was being repaired. At six o'clock the class started for school. Everyone who went declares that it was a most profitable trip.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

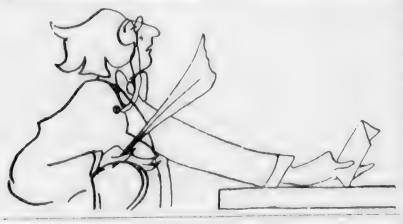
News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... FLORENCE REED, '31
Art ..... CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE. '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader

MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29



Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

The Holiday Spirit

It is a joy to realize a change in the tone of people occasionally. People whom we find a pleasure in small groups often prove irritable in numbers by the thousand. That is one of the greatest difficulties in college life, perhaps. Although we may count a greater part of the student body our friends, casual ones, at least, we don't always enjoy the throng of them when we have to live with all of them every hour.

So it is with real relief that we welcome a change that comes at a time of relaxation or pleasure or anticipation. We think it not imagination that we see beneath the exterior of the personality of the crowd, a radiance, a glow of coming joy that expresses itself in renewed happiness and unwonted unselfishness.

True it is that exams are between us and the joyous occasion, but even they cannot effectively conceal the holiday spirit that is making itself more a part of us as the passing of each day brings us nearer that happiest season of the year—the birth time of our Christ.

Courtesy or Social Pressure?

The behavior of the student body during chapel hour and many entertainments and lectures has rarely been a source of pride to us. The subject has been discussed so long and thoroughly that it has become threadbare with use and trite with repetition. When a new occasion arises, however, which arouses our indignation, we think it worthwhile to use our space and efforts in one more attempt to prevail upon our students to be more courteous.

The first law of social conduct is courtesy. Few souls are born to be geniuses, to distinguish themselves from the great number of beings by unusual accomplishment of a high order. Realizing our limitations, only the most ambitious aspire to such an end. But the lowliest among us, lacking though we may be, in beauty, fame, even in ususual intelligence, need not list among our deficiencies, or advertise to the world the absence of that easily obtained, though priceless quality, courtesy.

We hardly understand the motive that prompts the wriggling, squirinmg, whispering, chewing-gum-popping element of an audience, to distract the attention of the rest of the people from a performance, to the obvious inferiority of their self-centered little selves.

Besides demonstrating more effectively than a dozen soap-box speakers might, their own lack of rearing according to the conventions of the day, these creatures succeed amazingly in annoying the several dozen people in their vicinity and detracting a good portion of their pleasure from the performance.

The kind of person who acts thus does not read newspaper editorials. It is not directly, then, that we can attack this objectionable element. Only sufficient exertion of social pressure can subdue them, or else remove them entirely from public places where all must be considerate of others.

Star Gazing

Star gazing may not be an entirely impractical pastime. Though we distinguish between the big ones and the little ones, each serves its own purpose without fail. The little ones do not fail in their duty even though some other stars may be larger or more beautiful. They do not pine because their places in the great heavens are very small, but they continue to shine and twinkle—sending forth gleams of courage and inspiration to the whole world, making thousands of lives happy.

Why cannot we be more like the little stars? Not everybody is chosen to fill an important position, not everybody can win fame, popularity, and wealth, but all of us can do our work, however small it may be, faithfully and willingly—not fretting because we are not some other people, not discouraged because our tasks appear unrewarded. Wherever we are, we can be content; we can try to make others happy by carrying rays of light into lonely places. Although we may not sparkle, we, just as the little stars can twinkle—bravely, unfailingly.

Happy Discrimination

She who possessed the happy art of discrimination may count herself among the blessed. Truly there is a time for everything: a time at a play to laugh, a time at a play to weep, a time at a play to keep silent, a time to applaud, a time to refrain from applause.

Self-control and self-reliance are the fundamentals of a well-educated man. Without the former, the latter is impossible; therefore the basis of education is self-control. Happy is the girl who can control her own self. Emotion is an asset only when dominated by sound judgmen and good taste. Emotion alone never produced a piece of art; emotion never built S. T. C., the building nor the spirit. Shall we build the reputation and spirit of S. T. C. more firmly day by day on the sound doctrine of youthful enthusiasm supported by clear, logical thinking and wise discrimination?

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor:

We think that the student body should be congratulated on the cooperation they have given the F. C. in directing the heavy traffic through the right doors during the rush hours for mail. The congestion has been greatly relieved through the efforts of these girls.

They have also done some good work in keeping the halls quiet during prayers and entertainments in the auditorium.

The Observer

Dea Editor:

We want to know what the majority of the students think regarding the behavior at sing. It is very embarrassing to entertain a group as large as the one at sing when there is a confusion of noises, whistling, and singing.

Wouldn't more people be willing to do things at sing if they felt they were appreciated a little more? Some conduct is very rude and not worthy of our girls.

M. H.

WHAT IS IT?

It causes more movement and exercise of muscles than any physical exercise. It can be extended farther if stretched with care than any elastic substance. It causes more embarrassment than any social blunders, and it is sometime used as glue. Its use is termed by some as unrefined; by others, as only a bad habit. By those opposed to it, it is said to be made of paper, but this is not the opinion of its users. In spite of the great objections to it, it is the most widely used American luxury. What is it? Need I write it? Chewing gum!

CHRISTMAS TRADITIONS

(Continued from First Page)

the school for years for the girls to go through the town and sing Christmas carols. Friends put candles in their windows to tell the "carolers" that they enjoy their singing. At ten o'clock Sunday night everyone is invited to "carol."

A Christmas play will be given by "El Circulo Espanol" on Monday night after supper.

Tuesday at eight o'clock the Choral Club will present their Christmas cantata. This is perhaps the most finished of all the student celebrations of the Christmas season.

FRESH FROSH SAYS:

"While S. T. C. girls are getting a liberal education, their fathers are getting an education in liberality."

LITERATURE

A CHRISTMAS WISH

A Christmas that puts first things first, spirit before symbol and Christ before Santa Claus; that hallows the home and transfigures the face and consecrates both self and pocketbook to the loving service of others; a Christmas that through its great good tidings brings strength to bear our burdens, balm to soothe our sorrow, inspiration to glorify our labor and poise for our sometimes harrassed souls; a Christmas that reminds us of the beautiful old stories of the manger and she shepherds in the choir of angels, and that transforms our hearts into living mangers, cradling anew the eternal, inexhaustible Christ-begetting, world—transforming love—spirit of the Father. May this Christmas, good friends, this merry, blessed Christ-filled Christmas, be yours.—Henry Hallam Tweedy.

TO MY MOTHER

When I believed in fairies
You read me fairy tales
We looked in every flower cup
To find a fairy's trail—

You always kissed my hurts away
You shared my joy and sorrow
And each day was a brighter day
With still a brighter morrow.

So now when I am older
You still are my good friend
You share my joys with sympathy
And still my sorrows mend.

And Life is made a joyous thing
Because you are my Mother
The truest friend, and dearer far
To me than any other.

M. B. B.

THE MEANING OF CHRISTMAS

Two thousand years ago there came into the world one whose birth marked the beginning of a new life on earth, and it is He whom we honor when we celebrate our Christmas day each year.

Christmas signifies many beautiful things; beautiful thoughts and deeds, good will among men, beautiful songs, and the desire to make others happy, so that they may share with us the loveliness of the season.

It is at Christmas time that we are brightest, because that is the day when all people both old and young rejoice in the spirit that pervades the whole world. Everyone is happy in the joy of giving, for Christ has taught us that to give is more blessed than to receive.

Christmas means more to all of us than any other single day in the year, and we must seek to preserve its significance.

L. F. '29

Good work advertises itself.

SOCIALS

Frances Thornton spent the week-end in Richmond.

Elaine Goode, Mary Fielding Taliafero, and Flora Martin attended the dances at Randolph--Macon College at Ashland over the week-end.

Frances Roberts attended the Christmas dances at the Naval Academy over the week-end.

The following alumnae returned for the Delta Sigma Chi banquet: Zozie Carter, Minerva Evans, Virginia Ellis, Mary Carter.

Mabel Yancie Brooking visited in Richmond this week.

LET'S HAVE ANOTHER

Every freshman was given a chance to act her real age at a Kid Party given by the junior class, Saturday evening, in the gymnasium. It was a real kid party with balloons, lollies, and all the things that real honest-to-goodness kids like and enjoy. Several members of the faculty were present and entered into the games and stunts with a gusto equal to that of any freshman.

The freshmen enjoyed so much the privilege of having the juniors as kid sisters Saturday evening, and hope that that bond of sistership may continue and grow more dear during the coming year.

MARION TALLEY

The students at Mississippi S. C. W. recently had the privilege of hearing Marion Talley, the famous Metropolitan prima donna. It is said that although Miss Talley's reputation is widely known, simplicity is one of her noble virtues.

HEARD ON ONE OF THE HALLS AT S. T. C.

"Have you finished it yet? I haven't even started mine. Don't have the slightest idea what I'm going to write on. I can't see any good in work like this anyway. It's just time and energy thrown away. It isn't the time I mind so much; it's the energy."

"Whew! Thank goodness mine's done! It was worrying me to death!"

"Well, this doesn't' keep me from having to write one, so I guess I'd better go to the library and try to find some material. I'll be so glad when Christmas comes and I can forget all this!"

"Lo, girls, why all the excitement? Tell me the news!"

"News? Imagine having time to create news! All we know is just term papers!"

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY ISSUES MAGAZINE

The first issue of the Hampden-Sydney liteary magazine came out last Monday. It contained many interesting literary articles written by the students, as well as book reviews, among which is a review of "Aphrodite and Other Poems" by Mr. Gould of this city. The "Poet Laureate of the South" by Herbert Bradshaw, and "Certain Aspects of Music" by Hilton Rufty deserve special mention as both articles show ability.

FALL PLAY AT H. S. T. C.

"You Never Can Tell," by George Bernard Shaw, was presented as the fall production of the dramatic club at H. S. T. C. "The Breeze" reported that the finished acting and delightful characterization made the production of Shaw a splendid one.

HONOR CODE OF U. OF VA. CHALLENGED AFTER DRINKING EPISODE

Rev. David Hepburn, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia has made serious charges against the honor system of the University of Virginia. Rev. Hepburn in an open letter to Governor Byrd has demanded an investigation of the "deplorable condition" and the "statewide scandal"' created by drinking at the University.

The deans of the different schools of the University are to meet with President Edwin A. Alderman to discuss the situation.

The student body upon investigation of their honor code, found that it does not refer to drinking except to place a student on his honor not to attend any dance in the gymnasium under the influence of strong drink.

JUNIOR CLASS TO SELL CHRISTMAS CARDS

Don't buy your Christmas cards until you see the ones that the junior class is selling. On the cards is a picture of the college and appropriate engraved verses. The price is very reasonable and it will pay you to look them over. Watch for an announcement of the beginning of the sale of these cards.

RUFFNER LITERARY SOCIETY DISCUSSES MODERN NOVEL

The Ruffner Literary Society met Thursday night, November, 6 at 6:45 when the first program of the year was given. The program was a prelude to the study of the modern novel. The society has decided that the modern novel will be a most interesting as well as informing, subject for study.

Marjorie Codd with the keen insight and broad knowledge resulting from wide reading in the field, gave the tendencies of the modern novel. She then discussed sympathetically and informally, "The Children" by Edith Wharton.

Frances Wilson with sympathetic and unusually good interpretation, read the last act of "Strange Interlude" by Eugene O'Neil.

RECENT ADDITIONS TO THE LIBRARY

"The Sportswoman" Miss Iler
"The Grinning Cheshire" Miss Carrie Taliaferro
"A Pair of Blue Eyes" Miss Elizabeth Davis
"The Stout Gentleman" .... Dr. Rouse
"The Missing Link" .... Dr. Simkins
"The Walking Skeleton" ..... Mr. Bell
"Travels With a Donkey" Miss Draper
"Innocents Abroad" .... Miss Marshall
"Creepers in the Night" Miss Craddock
"Twice Told Tales" .... Mr. Grainger
"Strictly Business" ..... Miss Wheeler
"Life's Little Ironies," Mr. McCorkle
"The Hoosier Schoolmaster" Mr. Holton
"The Iron Woman" Miss M. K. Taliaferro
"Tales of Peter Rabbit" Miss Coulling

CLOGGING CLASSES TO GIVE SING

The Clogging Class of S. T. C. is going to put on Saturday night Sing this week. Miss Barlow who teaches this class is working up an attractive program.

Among the numbers to be given are: Sewanee, Little Liza Jane, Turkey in the Straw, and Sailor's Horn Pipe.

VARSITY SQUAD CHOSEN

Since Thanksgiving and the end of the hockey season, attention has been turned to basketball. Class practices and try-outs for the varsity squad have been held every afternoon from four to six. From those trying out for the varsity the following have been chosen:

Rosabel Archer, Mary Bernard, Carrie Bickford, Edith Coleman, Frances Edwards, Marguerite Erdman, Virginia Gurley, Mary Frances Hatchett, Louise Henderson, Virginia Neblett, Viola Oakes, Allie Oliver, Cleo Quisenberry, Dolly Reed, Laura M. Smith, Laura N. Smith. Esther Souders, Jessie Smith, Lillian Sturgis, Mary Jane Wilkinson.

Varsity practice is being held at 5 o'clock every afternoon until Christmas and after the holiday practice will be held from 9:30 to 10:30 at night.

EDITOR AND MANAGER OF LITERARY MAGAZINE ARE ELECTED

A member of the Cunningham Literary Society, Linda Wilkerson, has been elected editor-in-chief of the Literary Magazine which is to be published here in the near futre. Ida Whyte, a member of the Ruffner society, has been chosen business manager. The other members of the staff will be appointed by the editor-in-chief.

The work on the magazine will not begin until after Christmas. Three issues will be published between that time and the end of the school year.

Although the actual work does not start immediately, the business manager will probably start collecting now the suscriptions in order to obtain funds necessary to this project.

WHY WE DIDN'T MISS CHAPEL EXERCISES

Why were there so many seniors at chapel last Wednesday morning? Somebody let the cat out of the bag, that's all; but it isn't all—why was the cat in the bag? The same reason the rabbit was in the tub I guess. Simply this—they found out that the magician was going to give a short performance—free, and that doesn't happen very often at S. T. C.; so being wise they jumped at the opportunity of seeing it.

Those who did not come missed something really good. If only we knew something interesting was going to happen in chapel—but such is life!

WORLD NEWS

England breathlessly awaits any news concerning their beloved King George V. who is very ill at Buckingham Palace with pleurisy. Impressive and memorable was the tribute paid by His Majesty's devoted subjects. They came in crowds to stand, day after day, and far into each night outside the tall iron fence of Buckingham Palace. Several times each day the King's condition is buletined.

The Reichstag with heartfelt sympathy and hearty cheers welcomed back from a seven month's illness, last week, the acknowledged leader, Dr. Gustav Stresmann, "The German Lloyd George." He made a general declaration of policy, keynoting on: Limitation of armaments, Revision of reparations, and Evacuation of the Rhineland. He undoubtedly voiced the concensus of German opinion for he received a vote of confidence 219 to 98.

In Chile, last week, the earth trembled, vases toppled from mantles, pictures slipped from the walls. Several houses fell to the ground.There were no deaths. The earthquake lasted 42 seconds.

Cuba is buying heavily of America's tires. These represent the sort of revolutions Uncle Sam is glad to encourage among his smaller brothers of the South.—Chicago aDily News.

SYMPATHY TO DR. SIMKINS

The students extend deepest to Dr. Simkins, whose father died on December 10 at Columbia, S. C.

'TIS BALDWIN'S MONTH IN FARMVILLE

Never before in the history of our store have we offered such amazing bargains.

Beautiful fur trimmed fall coats in the seasons latest colors, fabrics and styles are offered in this record breaking sale at extremely low prices.

Group No. 1—$16.50
Group No. 2—$27.50

Come in and try 'em on

BALDWINS

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"Drinks and Drugs"
CHRISTMAS GOODS NOW ON DISPLAY

A FEAST OF BARGAINS FOR S. T. C. GIRLS

LOVELY COATS
$14.75—$22.50—$32.50
$49.50
SPECIAL!
468 Silk Dresses, $15.00 values
$9.45

HUB
DEPT. STORE

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

TELL SANTA
To Fill Your Stocking At
DAVIDSON'S
"The Christmas Store"
Farmville, Virginia

Annie Gee: "Do you know what the spectators said when they saw one of the prophets burning at the stake?"

Gladys Clarke: "No, what?"

Annie: "Holy Smoke."

Frances: "Henry should have been a banker."

Minnie: "Why, that boy is nothing but a ladies' man."

Frances: "Banker material, nevertheless. Doesn't he keep them busy? And they never lose interest."

Dot Anderson: "Do you know the subject of the first slow motion picture?"

Doris Walton: "No."

Dot: "Two Scotchmen reaching for the soda check."

Another Political One

Son: "Mother, what is the North Pole?"

Mother: "Ah, son, that is like the Coolidge Economy. It is imaginary."

Louise Howerton: "Why don't you like spaghetti?"

Virginia Thompson: "Because Washington advised that we avoid all foreign entanglements."

Mother to child who is about to touch a 50,000 volt wire: "Don't touch, sweetheart, Mamma spank."

Lil' picaninny, looks just like his poppy;
Don't know what to call him, 'less its carbon copy!

"Goodbye, dear, you'll never see my face again."

"Charlie, are you going away?"

"No, but I've made a bet not to shave until I pass Math I.

He Sold Bath Tickets

A Scotchman in planning his new home left the roof off one room. A friend asked him the reason for this.

"Oh, that's the shower," replied the Scotchman.

And have you heard the story about the gossiping landlady who killed herself because there were too many roomers around her.

THE LAST WORD IN SERVICE

Every year life at S. T. C. grows more and more complex and it seems less and less necessary to go out side for any thing.

Organizations in school furnish entertainment; the Freshman Commission attends to cleaning and pressing. Last year we thought we had the last word in service when the "Filing Station" was opened, but behold this year we have gone a step further and you are now able to solve your Christmas problems by simply following the crowd where such things are displayed. We wonder if any school anywhere provides such service.

MODIFICATION FOR THE CO-ED

Evanston, Ill.—(CNA)—They're going to standardize the looks of Northwestern University co-eds by operating a dress clinic. The too-tall girl, the too-short girl, the too-slender girl and the too-stout girl will be given a chance to modify the lines of their figures to a point where she will be as attractive as the other. Under the direction of Miss Anna Helga Hong, professor of art, the "dress clinic" will aid every fair co-ed to dress attractively despite possible handicaps of nature. Personality as well as build and features will be given consideration in the "dress prescriptions."—The Davidsonian.

CUNNINGHAM LITERARY SOCIETY WILL ENROLL NEW MEMBERS

At a recent meeting of the Cunningham Literary Society the short story group presented an interesting study of O. Henry.

Further plans toward the development of the literary magazine were discussed.

Any sophomore, junior, or senior who wishes to become a member of Cunningham Literary Society will be given an opportunity to join. The requirements are: to write an article of some kind, and to subscribe to the literary magazine. The article which may be an essay, short story, poem, or one-act play must be handed in to the president by December the fifteenth.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE GETTING UNDER WAY

Our athletes never have time to rest. Before the close of one season, another has already begun. For the past two weeks, try-outs for varsity basketball have been held in the gym every afternoon from five to six.

Miss Iler will soon pick the squad which is to continue to practice after Christmas. From thos squad the varsity team will be chosen. S. T. C. is expecting great things of her varsity this year.

Those who were members of the 1928 squad are: Hatchett, E. Coleman, L. N. Smith, Atwater, Gurley, Erdman, L. M. Smith, Hardy, Sturgis, Oliver and Wilkinson. The first game will be played the latter part of January.

DISCUSSES OPERA

Continued from page one

giving us an idea of the plot of this story, Miss Clowd played an aria, which the barber sings in the first act of the opera. "The Barber of Seville" is a jolly, merry, sparkling comedy ending very happily as all humorous tales do.

The third opera of the series was Verdi's "Aida." As Miss Clowd told us it resembles a very striking pageant, but she asks that we go to see "Aida," even if we must miss all the others. "If you love drama, color, music and beauty, see "Aida." The story centers around the beautiful slave girl, Aida. The love song of Rodemus which Miss Clowd played for us, is said to be one of the most beautiful melodies ever written.

After such an interesting introduction to a few of thse operas, surely many of us are anxious to see everyone of them. As Dr. Jarman said, "We could easily have listened to Miss Clowd for another hour."

LETTERS TO SANTA CLAUS

Dear Santa:

I am a right big girl, but don't want as much as you think. Just now, I would love for you to bring me a book on "cramming," so that I'll know how to cram for my exams.

And then, Santa, won't you bring the faculty here a solution for this "week-end business". They are all stirred up over it and I believe they would appreciate some help.

You might bring the geography department some more "Waters" and "Fowlkes." I think probably it would like to have some more "Cash" also.

Don't forget my lollypop and stick of gum.

Love, "Tillie"

Dearest Santa:

Good ole scout, be kind to me. Please, please bring me a typewriter large enough to print Baby Ray sentences. Tired and cold I have spent countless hours laboring over an olo painting press, while my pals go tripping off to the show. Sometimes the "girl friends" wave a hand at me and giggle at my ink stained face. Tain't fair! If you never bring me anything again, just bring that typewriter to this mowed under fiirst grade teacher.

Best love,

Beth

Dear Santa Claus:

One thing I would like is a pair of roller skates. I live in the Student Building, and I get very tired walking to the library and all around the school. I think I could save a great deal of time if I had skates. Since it has turned cold I wouldn't mind having a fur coat, and you might bring a few new dresses to wear with it.

I would like to ask you a favor, Santa Claus. I like to have charge accounts down town, but it annoys me very much to receive bills on the first of every month. Will you just tell the merchants how I feel about this, so they will stop sending bills?

Then, too, I wish you would explain to the home department that it rushes me entirely too much to have to get to breakfast at seven-thirty. I would like to go to breakfast about nine o'clock, and I think ten would be quite soon enough to begin classes, don't you?

With much love,

Bashful Bess

COME ON GIRLS LET'S TAKE A TRIP

How would you like to see England, France, Germany, Belgium, the Alps, Venice, Milan and Rome? You can go for $595. We will sail in June on an American steamship, and return in August on the S. S. Leviathan. If wou would like to join the party, write for full particulars to Mrs. R. M. White, 18 Raleigh Ave., Norfolk, Va.

FACTS ON COLLEGES

Washington, D. C.—A number of interesting facts about American colleges and universities are revealed in the 1927 edition of the Educational Directory of the United States Bureau of Education. Here are some of them:

Columbia University, at New York, is the largest university or college in the country, with 35,000 students and 1,500 teachers.

Buena Vista College, at Storm Lake, Iowa, is the smallest college in the country, with 21 students and a faculty of 16 teachers.

Harvard is the oldest university, having been established in 1636. William and Mary college and Yale university come second and third, having been established in 1693 and 1701, respectively.

Harvard college boasts of 32 million dollar endowment, the largest in the country, while Oberlin college, in Ohio, has the largest endowment. $11,000,000, of any college of its type.

In Canada, the University of Montreal, Toronto, and Laval are the three largest educational institutions of the collegiate nature, having between five and six thousand students each.

The college enrollment nearly doubled between 1922 and 1924, increasing from 269,000 men and 168,000 women in 1922 to 419,000 men and 246,000 women in 1924—Sou' Wester.

LOTUS CLUB ENTERTAINS AT BIRD SUPPER

Wednesday night, December 3, the members of the Lotus Club entertained at a delicious bird supper in the Lions Den of Hotel Weyanoke in honor of Miss Mary White Cox. A number of school girls attended the dinner Everyone declared it to be a great success.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

Falconer Gift Shop
Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Complete line of Greeting Cards

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

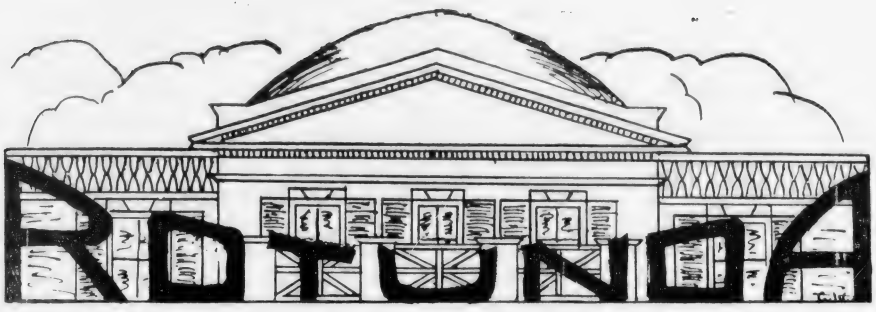
MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Dec. 17—22

MON.—Richard Barthlemess with Molly O"Day in John Fox Jr.'s. famous story "THE LITTLE SHEPHERD OF KINGDOM COME". This is a special production. As every one knows about this story we need not say more. As extra added attraction we show, News reel, a classic in colors and the Santa Claus picture that you have been reading about in the Times Dispatch. Every child in Farmville will enjoy this great show. Mat. at 4.

TUES.—Esther Ralston and Neil Hamilton in "THE SPOTLIGHT", a Paramount picture. Hers was the brightest light on Boardway—but she didn't deserve it! She was a fraud! You'll be crazy about Esther Ralston in this picture. Very good. Also comedy. Mat. at 4.4

WED.—Rex Bell in the "GIRL SHY COWBOY." (He looks like Lindbergh) This is a hard-riding, hard-laughing picture. The story of a girl-shy cowboy who found that roping hearts held more thrills than roping steers. He was a two gun man. Also comedy. Mat. at 4.



THURS.—Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes in "HEART TO HEART." A beautiful princess trying to act "Plain Jane" and lot of small town big timers trying to give her a royal reception. Sventy-two laughs per minute—one laugh for every heart beat—with a sparling romance all the way. Also comedy. Matinee at 4 o'clock.

FRI.—Marjorie Beebe in "THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER." Here is a good one to make you laugh. Something new in beauty contests at the "ole swimmin' hole" with nothing barred from the latest bathing suit from Paris to the one grandmother blushed in as a girl. Also comedy. A matinee at 4 o'clock.

SAT.—Marjorie Bebe and a big supporting cast in "A THIEF IN THE DARK". Romance and pathos—mystery and suspense—in a thrill a minute picture running over with laughter and excitement. A laughter tonic and a thrill stimulant for faded nerves. Don't miss it. Also comedy.

Admission to S. T. C. girls getting tickets at college 25c to each show.

SUBSCRIBE TO THE VIRGINIAN

SEE THE MARIONETTES

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA WEDNESDAY, JAN. 16, 1929 No. 13

S. T. C. REPRESENTED AT NAT'L. MEETING

Margaret Finch, President of our Y. W. C. A. Attends

CONFERENCE MEETS IN MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE

Dr. E. Stanley Jones Is One of the Outstanding Speakers of the Occasion

S. T. C. is again represented at a national conference. Margaret Finch president of our Y. W. C. A., who attended the Methodist Conference on missions sends in the following report:

The Southern Methodist Church held an International Conference on Missions, January 1—3 in Memphis, Tennessee. That may not mean a thing to you but a mere fact, but it means much more to me because I was given the opportunity to be one of the three thousand delegates.

The personnel consisted of bishops, missionaries, preachers, laymen, missionary society members and college students. Some of the leading personalities were Dr. E. Stanley Jones, a missionary of India; Bishop W. B. Beauchamp, president of the Board of Missions; also presiding officer of the Conference, and Mr. Y. C. Young, president of Soochow University, Soochow, China.

There are conferences and conferences of various types; this was a missionary one, a call to the soldiers of Christ to come together for the following reasons; to solve financial problems, to gain spiritual guidance, because there is a great need of revival of religion at home as well as on foreign fields; to promote cooperation with the younger churches; but above all to gain the missionary spirit and to put the spirit into action.

At the close of the conference the

Continued on last page

MISS POTTS IS SOPHOMORE CLASS MAN

Presented in Chapel December 12th

Miss Virginia Potts, the Sophomore class man, was presented to the faculty and student body in chapel Saturday morning January 12.

Miss Potts and the class president, Elsie Clements led the line of Sophomores dressed in white, into the chapel. While the class stood, the class song was sung and Elsie Clements, presented the sophomore class man.

Miss Potts is an alumna of S. T. C., having graduated in 1927, and she is still loyal to her colors—the green and white.

With a broad smile on each face the sophomores ended their presentation by singing "You're Our Classman."

S. T. C. REOPENS JANUARY 2ND

After the joys of Christmas had held the hearts of all S. T. C. girls for a seventeen day holiday period, their thoughts turned once again to college life. On New Years Day the trains were bringing many girls back to S. T. C. and to the responsibilities of a new year. By the morning of January 2, when classes were resumed, a comparatively few had remained at home because of the flu epidemic.

Conversations were full of holiday life, dances, dinners, and parties; or terrors of the "flu." Gradually the classes took their place in the discussions and all reminiscences are fast becoming memories of the past.

DEAN'S LIST FOR THE WINTER QUARTER

The dean's list for the winter quarter has been announced. All seniors whose grades for the fall quarter did not fall below B are included in the list, as follows:

Myron Barnes, Louise Beazley, Katherine Bentley, Henrietta Binford Marjorie H. Carter, Rebecca Cocks, Nancy Marie Elder, Mary Oliver Ellington, Marguerite Erdman, Pearl Etheridge, Louise Foster, Lois Fraser, Thelma Garrett, Hannah Hamlett, Carolea Harris, Martha Henderlite, Ann Holladay, Anna V. Jones, Hilda Ligon, Juliette Mann, Virginia Marshall, Virginia Raine, Evelyn Thompson, Margaret Walton, Ida V. Whyte, Emma Woods.

VARSITY DEBATE TEAM SELECTED

The Debate Club at its try-out Monday afternoon, January 14, selected the intercollegiate team which will debate on the abolition of the present jury system. The affirmative speakers are Mary Mann Baskeville and Frances Wilson; the negatives are Evelyn Graybeal and Virginia Pettigrew.

It is probable that the negative side of this team will represent S. T. C. in the debate with West Virginia Wesleyan College. The winner of this debate will go to the Province Convention of Pi Kappa Delta.

Try-outs for oratory and extempore speakers will be held in the near future.

SPELLING COACH CLASS—FREE

The Freshman Commission is offering a free coach class in spelling to all Freshmen. Since the Columbia tests have been given, it is quite evident that such a class may well be numbered among the needs of the freshman class. This class is held on Tuesdays and Thursdays immediately after chapel.

MISS CONDE WILL VISIT S. T. C. JAN. 22—29 FOR SPEECHES AND CONFERENCES

Next week our college is to have the privilege of having with us Miss Bertha Conde, one of the best known and best loved of the national secretaries of the Young Woman's Christian Association. Now an ex-officio member of the national board, she is free to give her whole time to her work with college girls throughout the United States. Among her stimulating and helpful books are "The Business of Being a Friend," "The Human Element in the Making of a Christian," "Spiritual Adventuring."

She will speak each evening at prayers. It is hoped that no one will miss the opportunity of hearing her and of knowing her.

She will spend a week at our college, Jan. 22-29. Each evening she will speak at prayers. Other appointments have been made for her to speak to classes and various groups. Several hours during the days will be scheduled for personal conferences with Miss Conde. He long experience and sympathetic study of girls makes her a peculiarly fitting person to aid one in the solution of personal problems. It is hoped that every girl will take advantage of this opportunity of meeting a very charming woman.

LAST CHANCE TO SUBSCRIBE FOR ANNUAL

This is positively the last chance for you to subscribe to The Virginian. The final order will be sent to the publishers this month, and after that no more orders will be taken. if you want an annual see some one on the staff and let them take your order. The following girls are on the staff:

Virginia Raine
Lucille Norman
Virginia Pettigrew

(Continued on last page)

VIRGINIA COLLEGES POSTPONE OPENING

Among the Virginia Colleges whose opening date has been postponed on account of flu are Harrisonburg, State Teachers College, Hampden-Sydney College, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Virginia, and Hollins.

The fear of the spread of the flu epidemic was felt by state officials, therefore the steps of postponing the opening was taken by these colleges. It is hoped by such precautions the situation may be gotten under control.

THE MARIONETTES ARE HERE TODAY

Farmville Alumnae Chapter Present Popular Eentertainment

UNUSUAL VARIETY OF ATTRACTIONS OFFERED

Large Audience is Solicited; Funds For Benefit of Student Building

Horace Johnson's "Bandbox Marionettes," whose cleverly wrought characteristics have delighted thousands, will be given January 16 in the S. T. C. auditorium, under the auspices of the Farmville alumnae.

The matinee program, beginning at 3:30 p. m., will include special features of circus acts, songs and dances for children. A three-act play, taken from an English pantomime, will be presented.

The 8:00 p. m. performance will offer a three-act play, entitled, "St. George and the Dragon." The scene of the battle is one of gripping suspense, when the knight, St. Gorge, battles with the fiery dragon whose eyes are ablaze and whose nostrils belch forth flame and smoke. "The Marionette Revue," an additional feature of the evening's program, will include "The Clowns," "In a Hayfield", "The Grand Opera Singer," "The Bull Fight", and "The Jazz Band."

Admission for children will be 25c. Admission for students and adults will be 50c.

CHORAL CLUB TO PRESENT CANTATA IN MARCH

The opening of a new term finds the Choral Club hard at work on its spring cantata, "The Sleeping Beauty", which it hopes to present early in March. The music of this work is written by Miss Frances McCollin and is very lovely, while the words are those of Tennyson's poem "The Sleeping Beauty."

This year the club is enjoying a guest soloist. A well-known tenor from Richmond will take the leading solo parts in the cantata.

The college orchestra will also have a part in the rendition of this cantata by adding much in the way of accompaniment.

LOST AND FOUND

A lost and found column may be included in the Rotunda if students wish it. A notice of twenty words for one issue will cost ten cents. Additional words will cost one cent each. All notices to be published on Wednesday, must be given to the associate editor by Monday.

CHANGING ENROLLMENT OF THIS TERM

We are always glad to welcome new girls to our college and we are always sorry to let old girls go. We want the new girls to make themselves at home and we want the old girls who left to come back to see us. The majority of the students who did not return have graduated—some into married life and some into the teaching profession.

Among those students who did not return are: Elma Brett, Yancey Brooking, Frances Crawford, Isabel Crowder, Grace Farrier, Virginia Hamlet, Eva Krebs, Agnes Lee Grigg, Virginia Leake, Jeannette Matthews, Roberta McKim, Gretchen Obenchain, Martha Parr, Ruth Paulton, Ethel Rhodes, Virginia Spaulding, Edna Terry, Elizabeth Walker, Wilma Wilson, Mary Wray.

The following girls are welcomed as new students this term: Julia Asher, Lucille Banish, Sallie Boxley, Eva Hodnall, Edna Moss, Gladys O'Berry, Helen Phelps, Ruth Parrish, Grigsby Peck, Evelyn Pedigo, Mary Frances Radcliffe, Lucy Virginia Smith, Alice Tripp, Mrs. Eloise Turner, Gladys Thweatt, Louise Johnson, Elizabeth Williams, Julia Wilson, Mary Alice Walstan, Sylvia Yost, and Etta Marshall.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

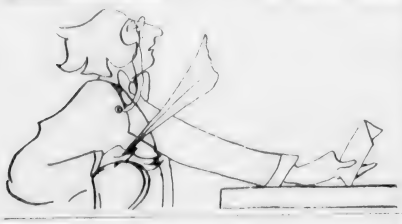
Editor-in-Chief — PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor — LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor — CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary — GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic — KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News — LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News — EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social — FLORENCE REED, '31
Art — CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous — ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31



Proof Reader
MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager — MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant — FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation — ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant — JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

This New Year

The New Year at this date is well under way. Since this is, however, our first opportunity of the year to speak editorially we ask pardon of our readers for the conventionally unpardonable fault of the newspaper.

It hardly seems chance that the new year on our Christian calendar should fall immediately after the season of holiday and good will characteristic of Christmas. The old year ends victoriously and the new year begins gloriously.

But the holidays are over, and the routine of living has again fallen into its accustomed way. The New Year will be different from the old just to the degree that we keep within our hearts and inculcate into our living the holiday spirit.

No one needs to be convinced of the complexity of a college community. The condition of housing nearly a thousand people under the same roof creates abnormalities innumerable. No where is there a greater need for respect for and consideration of every personality in the organization. Such qualities are omnipresent at the holiday season—and so we are convinced of their possible existence. What happy folks could we all be if each received on every day the kind thoughtfulness bestowed by all during the holidays!

We Study

Was it the effect of an unusual holiday, or is S. T. C. getting sedately older? Certainly some potent charm wielded a mighty influence over the student body upon its return to college. An unprecedented atmosphere of hard work and concentrated study prevailed before we were fairly settled. Surely these girls must have a great love for books!

We can't recall a similar occasion when study has been resumed so vigorously. The students well deserve the commendation attributed to them by various members of the faculty. We can readily predict a great decrease in quantity of the unwelcome bi-weekly reports some of us have a way of receiving. And as for failures on courses—there won't be any!

That is, if we all continue the good work we have started. Here's hoping there won't be an anticlimax!

Health Insurance

The flu situation is not one to be treated lightly. There is not one among the student group who does not remember with a shudder the awful results of the epidemic that ravaged our land in 1918. Though the disease has not appeared this year in its worst form, yet it is one which may easily have dire consequences.

Every protection possible is furnished us by the authorities of the college. Medical attention is within reach at a moment's notice. The efficiency of authorities, however, cannot insure protection without the cooperation of every girl in the college. Many times we have been asked to cooperate, and the girls have not failed to respond. We expect no variations of behavior on this occasion.

A reminder, however, is not amiss. A cold is a social affair—disease germs will not be isolated if the carrier contines in her usual routine. A girl who is suffering from any symptoms of the disease can prevent spreading it only by going to the infirmary where she will be properly cared for, and where there is no danger of contagion. The rest of us who are fortunately free from the disease are not, however, free from responsibility in the situation. More than ever before should we follow simple rules of healthy living, taking care to get sufficient out-door exercise and sleep.

We have very few cases in school now. We have no reason to believe that there will be a repetition of the episode before Christmas, if every person will guard her own health, and be considerate enough of others not to expose them to disease germs.

Final Trial of the Dean's List

The dean's list is again on trial. At a meeting of the faculty last night a decision was made to continue for another quarter the present plan known as the dean's list which gives to seniors whose record for the previous quarter consists of A and B on all courses, the privilege of using their time for study and class work at their own discrimination; that is, time required of other students to be spent in class attendance may be used by those on the dean's list for personal study or research in addition to the usual preparation. The privilege is forfeited if the student fails to measure up to a high standard.

For two terms the dean's list has been in use. This will probably be its last term of trial. On the shoulders of those whose names are included, then, rests much of the responsibility of its future use. If the privilege is abused this quarter, then there is a possibility that future seniors may not have the opportunity to use it If, on the other hand, a higher type of scholarship results, then the plan will have achieved its purpose.

There are undoubtedly possibilities of unusual achievement open to girls who have measured up to the standard. It is for this that it was instituted—not merely to give the privilege of cutting classes. It is a goal worth conscious effort to reach. Under the plan it is possible for a girl to follow more closely than before a line of study that will satisfy her own needs and interests.

MY EDUCATIONAL CREED

I believe in education. I believe that I must at the outset adjust my life in harmony with my Creator. I believe that to be a really good teacher I must catch a vision of a tomorrow in which the brotherhood of man has advanced further than it has today. I believe that I must be well. I believe that I must be prepared. I believe that I must cultivate right attitudes of mind. I believe that I must be open-minded. I believe that I must be ever learning. I believe that I must be forward-looking. I believe that I must be loyal. I believe I must have well-defined aims.—Margaret M. Burrell, Ella Peach School, Uniontown, Pa., in Pennsylvania School Journal

BIRTHDAYS OF THE SOUTHERN HEROES

The South pauses during the month of January to commemorate the birthdays of two of her most beloved Confederate heroes. January 13 brought to us the birthday of Stonewall Jackson and January 19 the birthday of Robert E. Lee.

The southland is proud to call Lee and Jackson her sons. They were great statesmen, heroes, and able leaders, fighting for the Confederacy and holding high the ideals of a cause which they felt was right and just.

THE RETURN TO WORK

Work, work, work!—Is that all we do at this school? It would seem that this is true if you listened to some of our chronic grumblers. I walked down the hall the other day and as I passed a group of girls I heard nothing but fussing, fussing, fussing about classes. I wondered then how many of those girls had ever considered just how much time they played. Are there any girls in school who haven't even a minute to play? I seriously doubt it and I wonder if it might help any if each girl would count the time she has spent each day playing. School might be a more pleasant place if some people weren't always grumbling.

"OF ALL THE BEAUTIFUL PICTURES"

Of all the beautiful pictures,
That sat on the table in the hall;
There was one that was better than all the rest,
And that was the best of all.

Now we know why the girls have been saving their pennies—no not for food, but in order to vote for her own particular "Missing Link."

All day long the rivals sat in close contact with one another, immune to both praise and criticism. How, when, or where would that ever happen again? So you see it was as much of a privilege for this category of boys to be together as it was for them to be voted on.

We want to congratulate the winner too because he certainly wasn't a rose among thorns, but just a lucky contestant; or maybe—well everyone doesn't have pennies you know.

And just think, girls—Every last one of those boys is loved by someone. Can you believe it?

LITERATURE

THE BLACK SHIP

White the sands beneath the moon;
White the breakers, too,
But black upon the waves, a ship
Dips into the blue.

Black the sky above the sea;
Black the ship is, too;
White the sails beneath the moon,
White-faced in her crew.

Silver streaks the black sky now—
Silver streaks the sea—
The black ship dips the blue, again,
And leaves a dream with me.

F. W. '29

MY FRIEND

Friend, your touch strengthens me.
You are my inspiration—
My hope.
If I should lose you,
My faith
My life
All—
Would be gone
And I remain
A poor, forsaken creature,
Faithless,
Lifeless,
Hopeless!
I would remain near you—
Always!

M. V. S.

MASTER POET WEAVES

Interwoven with the dreams of yesterday
And with his hopes and fears of coming years
Still stands the loom whereon the poet appears
To weave his magic art, with gentle sway.
He tints the sombre hues with colors gay,
And softly now subdues the common fears,
And works rich beauty, painting out the jeers,
And weaves a song his sadness to portray
Intruding on his tapestry of dreams,
Still scented with the spices of the East,
All that his eyes can see, all that he rhymes
Wherein glow joyous shades and tints of themes
Where linger threads recalling sadness ceas'd.
He weaves, a broadening masterpiece of times.

M. W. S. '32

CHRISTMAS

One night so long, long ago, some wise men saw a wonderful star in the sky, which was brighter than any other. One of the wise men said, "Let us follow the star because, something great must be happening." So they followed the star until they came to a little town called Bethlehem. They found a little babe in a stable, and they offered him rich gifts. Now He is the savior of the whole world.

Written and composed by T. W. Brooks, 10 years old. Fourth grade, Training School.

ALUMNAE NEWS

Miss Virginia Jordan, of Emporia, Va., was married to Mr. William Kreienbaum, also of Emporia, in November. They are making their home in Emporia.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch of January 13 contained pictures of two Emporia brides, Mrs. H. F. Hoke, formerly Miss Nellie Callahan, and Mrs. Vernon Joseph Kreienbaum, formerly Miss Virginia Tellar Jordan.

Miss Myra Barton who has been teaching in Dillwyn, near her home, was married on December 22 to Mr. Jesse M. Clark, of Farmville.

Miss Ida Mae Marsh, of near Brookneal, and Wesley Thornton Arthur, of Halifax County, were married on Christmas Day at the Methodist personage at Concord.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Henderson, of Roseland, Nelson County, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Judith Garnett Henderson, to Joseph Le Rue Gray, Jr., of Shipman, which was celebrated December 29 in Charlottesville.

A beautiful wedding of the Christmas season was that if Miss Laura Thomas and Thomas Algernon Crichton in the Methodist church in Lawrenceville.

A PARODY

(With apologies to Joyce Kilmer)
I think that I shall never see
A prettier sight or jubilee,

As a red-head birl his bill a-prest
Against that tree—a poplar breast.

His tap is loud, his dress is too,
He pecks a hole quite through and through.

That famous tree with the heavenly look,
Of which we read in Kilmer's book.

That tree just looks toward God all day,
While lifting leafy arms to pray

That he may keep her from this prey,
This bird that spoils her glad array.

O 'tis a shame to spoil that hair
That shelters robins from coldest air.

M. W. S. '32

SONNET

I love the hills that made the valley there;
They have become a part of me, I fear
For I remember how I had you near
And we two were alone. 'Twas like a prayer,
The valley was so still. And then the sun
Sank down behind the trees, and left the sky
In flames. My heart wished then that you and I
Could always watch the stars come one by one.
My dear, I think I must have touched your hand—
You turned and looked at me with quick surprise.
And then I saw such beauty in your eyes
That I forgot the sunlit sky—the land
It's different now because I go away—
But we will both come back again—some day.

J. E. W. '29

In preventing war between Bolivia and Paraguay, the League of Nations spent $28,000 in cablegrams and telegrams—but it was dirt cheap at that—Milwaukee Journal.

SICKNESS AMONG FACULTY MEMBERS

The Student Body was not the only group in school touched by the flu! Several members of the faculty were among its victims. Miss Mary and Miss Grenels both have recovered and are now back at work. Mr. Bowman is still confined at home.

JULIA WILSON TO HEAD LITERARY MAGAZINE

The Cunningham and Ruffner Literary Societies held a joint meeting last Thursday night when Linda Wilkerson, because of her heavy schedule of work, resigned as editor-in-chief of the Literary Magazine which the two literary societies are working hard to make a success. We are sorry that Miss Wilkerson has found it necessary to resign. We are more than delighted, however, that Julia Wilson is back at school in time to take her place, and we welcome Miss Wilson as a most efficient leader and hard worker. With her leadership and the backing of the student body the young magazine promises to be an unusual success. At a previous meeting, Ida Whyte was elected business manager of the Literary Magazine.

CONGRESS PASSES IRRIGATION BILL

After six years of slow and often difficult grinding in the legislative mill, an historic piece of legislation has been produced by both houses, and signed by President Coolidge. It is on record as the Swing-Johnson bill, but is better known as Boulder Dam bill. Carrying an appropriation of $165,000,000 to build a vast system of flood control, irrigation and hydro-electric work, this measure will open a new era of development in the Southwest.

SEND THANKS FOR BOX OF CLOTHES

Girls who contributed to the box of clothes sent by the Y. W. C. A. to Ivatoka Farms, Thanksgiving, will have especial interest in the following letter:

Many, many thanks for the lovely boxes of garments, which was so kindly sent to us, through your college. I cannot tell you how much they were appreciated, and how useful they will be to us. Everyone is so nice to us, and take so much interest in our work. We are always glad when friends become interested in our work at Ivatoka. Please express my thanks and the thanks of my girls to everyone for their many kindnesses to us.

Again thanking you, and wishing you lots of success, in the coming year, I am

Very sincerely,
Margaret E. Luther, Supt.

NEW SORORITY MEMBERS

Pi Kappa Sigma announces the following new members:

Mildred Owen
Jane Wiley
Dot Anderson

Tri Sigma announces:

Martha Anne Laing

Gamma Theta announces:

Emma Lou Pulliam

Good work advertises itself.

BASKETBALL

4 P. M. 5. P. M.

Practice Schedule:

Mon.—Sophs & Seniors Varsity
Tues.—Varsity Freshmen & Juniors
Wed.—Sophs & Seniors Varsity
Thurs.— Varsity Freshman & Juniors
Fri.—Training school Varsity

Interclass basketball practices have been held since before the Christmas holidays and each afternoon will find representatives from the four classes engaged in hard practice.

The date has not yet been set for the interclass games but the Freshmen and Sophomores will battle first, followed by the Junior-Senior teams. Later the championship game will be played to see whether red and white or green and white will win ten points towards the class cup.

Varsity Basketball

With the coming of the winter season S. T. C. begins to look forward to its intercollegiate basketball games. The members of the varsity squad have been picked and each afternoon spend time in practicing for the big games.

The intercollegiate schedule has not been completed but within a short time the season will begin and crowds are expected to be present at all our games to cheer S. T. C. on to victory.

TENNIS

During the fall term the tennis singles tournament was held and through a process of elimination the contest has been narrowed down to the finals between Reed and Henderlite. The finals will not be played off until sometime during the spring term.

Last year the championship was between Henderlite and Reed, but due to Henderlite's illness the title was forfeited to Reed. This year the student body is wondering who will be the victor and bring this honor to her class.

MONOGRAM WORK

The first monogram practice this year will be held on Friday afternoon at four o'clock when everyone will be given a chance to pass off as many required points as possible.

Monogram requirements consist of the physical efficiency test and four hundred points which may be won by making teams, hiking or in various other ways.

Hikes are held every Saturday afternoon and six five-mile hikes are required in order to make fifty points. To pass the physical efficiency test one ten-mile hike has to be made during the year. All girls desiring to go on Saturday's hike should sign up on the athletic bulletin board in the hall.

WORLD NEWS

Frank O. Salisbury "painter laureate" of England has been working on the portraits of President and Mrs. Coolidge. President and Mrs. Coolidge take turn at sitting for Mr. Salisbury and in two more weeks these portraits will be finished. Painter Salisbury has done the portraits of England's King, Queen and Archbishop of Canterbury. Many a U. S. Tycoon has sat for the Salisbury brush.

Last summer William C. Durant, an automobile magnate announced that he would give a prize of $25,000 for the best plan for a solution of the Prohibition - enforcement problem There were 23,230 participants who gave something like 64,000 suggestions. They came from every State, every walk of life and from many foreign lands. 6,996 suggested a more effective use of organization of machinery; 5,340 urged a ratification of the Volstead Law. At the same time a prize was offered by Mr. Durant of $5,000 for the best school boy essay on the subject. This was won by Malcolm D. Almack of Palto Alto, California. The $25,000 prize was won by Major Chester P. Mills, a former enforcement officer in New York.

Prospects of a war between Bolivia and Paraguay now seems happily averted. Through the good offices of the Pan-American Conferenc, the belligerent South Amercans have halted hostilities and have agreed to accept a proposal for arbitration of their dispute. This proposal was made by the Pan-American Conference, in session in Washington, D. C. ,at the time of the outbreak of hostilities, after grave and careful consideration of all reports available.

'TIS BALDWIN'S MONTH IN FARMVILLE

Never before in the history of our store have we offered such amazing bargains.

Beautiful fur trimmed fall coats in the seasons latest colors, fabrics and styles are offered in this record breaking sale at extremely low prices.

Group No. 1—$16.50
Group No. 2—$27.50

Come in and try 'em on

BALDWINS

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"The Rexall Store"
CARA NOME TOILETRIES

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

January Clearance Sale
20% REDUCTION
Coats and Dresses
BUY NOW AND SAVE
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
Farmville, Virginia

Fashion Show of
New Spring Dresses
ADVANCE STYLES
CHIC MODELS
"COLORS"
"The Newest"
Prices
$16.75
$4.95 $9.95
"Charge It"
HUB
DEPT. STORE

We wonder if all the ink used by Scotchmen filling their fountain-pens in post offices would equal that used by people like us in writing jokes about them.

Cop: "Hey What are you two bums fighting about?"

First Thug: "Aw, de kike's trying to tell me at ther's no rythmn of expression in Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata."

—The Sniper

No-No-No—
Well—I dunno—

It was his first kiss; a beautiful thing, he thought; and not to be taken lightly. His heart beat faster. His eyes shone. His frame quivered. His lips pursed eagerly. (But, alas, it was a candy kiss, and he was a mere lad of three, and it gave him a severe tummy ache).

Moral: "Beware of first kisses."

Farmer Brown's so dumb he wants to know on what day of the year pineapple sundae comes.

I lay there listening—listening to the bleack, icy wind sweeping down upon the building. My warm blankets filled me with a cozy, comfortable radiance. I soon sank into a deep, peaceful sleep. How long I lay there I could only guess. I knew that some sound had awakened me. I lay still, almost breathless, trying to detect the cause of that eerie sound. I sat upright with a groan and a quiver. It was the breakfast bell!

And as the Rev. MacDonald reminded his congregation, "The church nay ha need for suspender buttons and tobacco plugs in the collection."

HOCKEY TEAMS ENJOY SEASON'S END PARTY

On Saturday night at ten o'clock the Student Building Lounge was the scene of an unusual battle between the varsity hockey team and the varsity squad. The varsity team was led by Mary Frances Hatchett while Laura N. Smith was captain of the squad.

All players gathered around the field, which was laid out on a table. At the field position of each player was a small white package tied in blue. These packages were distributed by the captains. Each team player received a silver pin in the shape of a hockey stick, bearing the inscription, "V '28." The gifts of the squad players ranged from pins and whistles to autos and animals.

After this novel "game" every body sat by the fire and then came ice cream and cake!

NATIONAL PRESIDENT VISITS TRI SIGMA

Alpha Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma had as their guest last weekend Miss Mabel Lee Walton, the National President of Tri Sigma.

During her stay here Miss Walton was the guest at many social affairs. Among them was a banquet on Saturday night in honor of Miss Walton, and the pledges of the sorority.

Mabel Lee Walton makes an inspection of all the chapters of Tri Sigma every two years. That was the purpose of her visit this time. She has been engaged in sorority work since she was initiated into the Gamma Chapter of Tri-Sigma at R. M. W. C., Lynchburg, Va., and has been National President of Sigma Sigma Sigma for the past fourteen years.

Miss Walton left Monday for Roanoke where she will visit an alumnae chapter before going to inspect Alpha Alpha Chapter at Concord College.

S. T. C. REPRESENTED AT CONFERENCE

Continued from page one

delegates went back to their different states, back to their tasks, not the same because they had found something or perhaps many things that have helped them. The question came to me as it came to all present: "What have I gained?"

First—I'll quote from my notebook pages some thoughts that have meant much to me: A missionary now goes to his work with no sense of superiority because he has seen his civilazation with the lid off. A misisonary goes to preach to people not because they are the worse part of the world but a part of the world.

It requires all the colors to make the rainbow, also requires all races to make God's universe. The gospel means wholeness, a mind unafraid to think, to speak and to do.

Gospel of Jesus Christ is not simply man's search ofter God but God's search after man.

Christ banishes fear and superstition wherever His word is preached. India is a country in a prison of fear and superstition. Minds of India are struggling and searching for the truth. There are 1,330,000 gods in India at present. Thirty-five thousand Mohammeden missionaries graduated from one college at Cario, India this year.

India's caste system is breaking under the teaching of Christ. It is only salvation through Jesus Christ that is saving India. Dr. E. Stanley Jones is the torch bearer, the gospel torch bearer to India. His Christ-like life is bringing Christ to the keen minds of India's four castes.

These scrappy notes have brought a challenge to me and the challenge is to know Christ and make Him known to all men for they are seeking for Him.

CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS AT FREDERICKSBURG

"The Carolina Playmakers" made their first appearance in Fredericksburg on November 19 in the auditorium of their College. Three plays were presented, "The Man Who Dies at Twelve O'clock", by Paul Green; "Job's Kinfolks," by Loretta Carroll Bailey, "Quare Medicine", also by Paul Green. These plays were unusually well presented and showed a thorough training.

BROTHERLY LOVE

Those who wish may acquire this most necessary art on January 24, for the small sum of twenty-five cents. The time limit is two hours afternoon or night.

Brotherly love is lacking in some people—especially in those who don't have the ability or the "gumption" to be in the orchestra. The other day one of the girls who is not in the orchestra remarked that it annoyed her to hear the orchestra see-sawing for an hour twice a week, and also it didn't sound very well. But, as the old saying goes, "Practice makes perfect," and if anyone but knew, it takes a great deal of skill to see-saw smoothly and swiftly on anything. The orchestra gave a review of their see-sawing in chapel, one Saturday not so long ago. On Saturday of this week the orchestra will not make their bow—but play their encore, and as all encores are—this will be much better than the first performance.

The orchestra is sponsoring a collegiate picture, "Brotherly Love" at the Eaco Theatre, Thursday, January 24. The orchestra is weak in finances if not in musical abiltiy or instruments and it wishes that every member of the student body will love her brother as she does herself (which is a great deal), and show her love by coming to the movies on January 24.

POINT SYSTEM USED AT FLORIDA S. T. COLLEGE

This year marks the third anniversary of the college point system. This system is practiced so that responsibility may be more evenly distributed and to keep a student from carrying more than her share .

There are eight-six offices on the campus, including the temporary ones. Each officer is entitled to a certain number of points. The major offices give thirty points, the sub-major twenty, the minor ten, and the subminor five.

The maximum number of points allowed a student is forty. It would be impossible for a student to hold two major offices or one major and a sub-major and at the same time carry on her regular course adequately.

—Florida Flambeau

WELCOME NEW S. T. C. FRESHMEN

Walking down the halls recently, I noticed many new, strange faces. Thinking that perhaps I had been asleep all last term, or that "teaching" had affected me thusly, or that I must have been "horribly snootie," I asked my companion the names of all of these queer people; and I was told most profusely and in no uncertain tones that these were the so-called new freshmen. It was on the tip end of my tongue to yell out "Wel come Freshman!" but being in front of the post office I restrained myself and merely smiled; however ,there being no post office near, I wish to say "Welcome New Freshman," not merely for myself but as a sincere salutation from the entire student body.

LAST CHANCE TO SUBSCRIBE FOR ANNUAL

(Continued from Page 1)

Sarah McCorkle
Gertrude Jarman
Lois Fraser
Frances Wilson
Margaret Hubbard
Elizabeth Brockenbrough
Elizabeth Taylor
Mary Oliver Ellington
Lucy Thompson

DRAMATIC CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

At the regular meeting of the Dramatic Club last Thursday night, Miss Tupper made an interesting talk on costume designing. She minutely discussed color, material and patterns, clearly showing the effect of each on the actors and the production of a play.

The members of the club enthusiastically received Miss Wheeler's report that the committee for selecting the furniture for the Dramatic Club room is busily at work and will soon have the room attractively furnished.

This week's most pathetic case is the soph who left her new boudoir pillow at home because she had no boudoir.

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

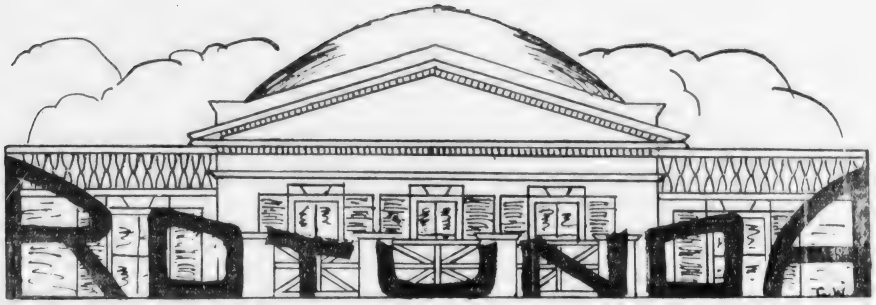
THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Jan. 21-26

MON.—Mary Brian, W. C. Fields and Chester Conklin in the Paramount picture, "TWO FLAMING YOUTHS" If you like to laugh this is the picture for you! It starts with a laugh, ends with a laugh and sandwiches thousands of them in between! Also comedy and News reel. Mat. at 4.

TUES. & WED.—William Haines, Josephine Dunn and Ricardo Cortez in "EXCESS BAGGAGE." A special production. This picture takes you back-stage into the lives—and the hearts—of the "small time" vaudeville performers. The tremendous stage hit is now a perfect screen vehicle for breezy Bill Haines. See—Haines do the thrilling slide for life—the making of a screen star!—life, love laughter back-stage.—The stage smash in films. Also football film and Oddity film. Mats. at 4 o'clock.



THURS.—Karl Dane and George K. Arthur in "BROTHERLY LOVE." Dane and Arthur find hilarious misadventures in a kollege-kut penitentiary, with football teams, fraternities and other campus trimmings! It's a riot! You must see it to believe how really funny it is! Also comedy "Ruby Lips." Mat. at 4 o'clock.

FRI. & SAT at Mats. only—Jean Hersholt with Marion Nixon and George Lewis in "JAZZ MAD." Against a background of red hot jazz an intensely thrilling and dramatic story of a brilliant composer—who found himself out of step with the times. Brilliant pictures of night club life—the vaudeville world—and a love story that reaches a beautiful climax. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. at Nights only—Marion Davies with William Haines and a great supporting cast in the super special, "SHOW PEOPLE." They'll have to invent some new adjectives for the dictionary to describe this one! The story of a girl "crashing" the Hollywood studios, and what befalls her in that adventure, told in terms of thrills, throbs and 1001 laughs! Never such a combination of screen talent! Imagine—one scene alone with such "extras" as Chaplin, Fairbanks, Norma Talmadge, Mae Murray and a score of others! Also a Collegiate comedy and news reel.

S. T. C. girls admission prices at college, Friday & Saturday nights, 35c other shows 25c.

LAST CHANCE TO BUY YOUR VIRGINIAN

MISS CONDE AT S. T. C. JAN. 22—29

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA WEDNESDAY, JAN. 23, 1929 Number 14

MISS BERTHA CONDE VISITS S. T. C.

LYCEUM NUMBER PRESENTS NOTED ACTOR-LECTURER

E. H. Sothern To Speak at State Teachers College January 30

Bringing with him the reputation of being America's greatest actor-producer, E. H. Sothern, lecturer and actor, will appear in the S. T. C. auditorium on Wednesday evening, January 30.

Mr. Sothern offers a variety of entertainment. His repertoire consists of scenes from Shakespearean plays, notably, "Hamlet," "Othello," "Macbeth" and "The Merchant of Venice." Sothern's interpretation of these plays is both significant and entertaining. His versatility as a dramatist has contributed to his success as an actor.

In the character of "Dundreary", as well as that of Francois Villon in "If I Were King", Sothern is at his best.

Having been connected with the stages of the United States and England for nearly half a century, Mr. Sothern has something of definite value and importance to impart to those interested in the work of the theatre. He has lectured on the history, the aims and the art of the theatre, interspersing his lectures with amusing illustrations. He has discussed the times of noted players from the time of Shakespeare to the present age ,portraying them vividly in his delightful manner.

CLASSES TO EDIT ONE ISSUE OF ROTUNDA

Class issues of the Rotunda will begin next week. It is customary at S. T. C. for each class to edit one issue of the paper which will be characteristic of the class. A committee composed of three members of the faculty will act as judges to determine the best paper.

The freshman issue, the first of the series of class papers, will appear January 30.

DOROTHY THOMPSON FRESHMAN SECRETARY

At a recent meeting, the freshman class elected Dorothy Thompson as secretary to succeed Elizabeth Walker. The following staff for the freshmen issue of the Rotunda was also elected:

Anna B. Whitmore, .. Editor-in-Chief
Henrietta Cornwell .. Circulation Mgr.
Loulie Milner ..... Literary Editor

HARRISONBURG-S. T. C. GAME ON FEBRUARY 1ST.

Fire Game of the Season Played in the Farmville Gymnasium

February 1 means the promise of a hog's Day to many, but to S. T. C., that day means the promise of a mighty struggle to take place in the college gym between the Harrisonburg and Farmville basketball teams.

Each year students look forward eagerly to that conflict, for a basketball game between Harrisonburg and Farmville always means a bravely fought, hotly contested, fast and well played game.

Last year old Blue and White went down before the onslaught of Purple and Gold, but this year the team is looking forward to better results. A big gathering of students is expected to lend a note of encouragement to our team.

ORCHESTRA PLAYS AT CHAPEL SATURDAY

The College Orchestra delightfully entertained the student body at chapel Saturday morning. The Cossack's Revel and Sousa's El Capitan were most effectively rendered. Dr. Jarman complimented the members of the orchestra and Miss Purdom, their leader, on their excellent work and advancement.

DEBATE CLUB PLANS LARGE NUMBER INTERCOLLEGIATE MEETS THIS SEASON

On Saturday, January 19, the Farmville Debate Council, and coach, met the Harrisonburg Council, and coach at the Monticello Hotel, in Charlottesville, to settle some points concerning our debate and oratorical contest which will be held in April. The discussion was opened by the Farmville chairman, Nellie Talley, and proceeded to some length, everyone taking part.

Those who represented Farmville at the meeting were, Dr. Walmsley, Nellie Talley, Katherine Bentley, Sammy Scott, Elizabeth Thrift, and Evelyn Graybeal. Those from Harrisonburg were, Mr. Dingledine, Gertrude Drinker, Elizabeth Kawinska, and Mina Thomas.

The results of this meeting makes us announce a tentative program for the year. It is as follows:

William & Mary, dual	February 22
Westhampton, dual	March 1
West Virginia Wesleyan, here,	Mar. 20
N. C. State, here	March 26
Bridgewater, there	April 18
Harrisonburg, dual	April 19
Hampden-Sydney, here	?
Emory and Henry, there	?

JUNIORS TO HAVE WEEK OF PRAYER

Beginning Tuesday, January 29, the Junior class will conduct prayers for the rest of the week. Juniors, come out and support your class! Freshmen, sophomores, and seniors, come out and see what your fellow class is doing.

DRAMATIC CLUB ANNOUNCES SPRING PLAY

Try-outs are now being held for the cast of the Dramatic Club spring play, "The Return of Peter Grimm" by David Belasco. Rehearsals will begin this week for the play which promises to be a charming production.

"THE FLAPPER GRANDMOTHER" AT S. T. C.

An attractive musical comedy "The Flapper Grandmother" is to be presented in the S. T. C. auditorium Friday night, January 25. This play is given under the auspices of the Farmville Volunteer Fire Department, and the cast was chosen from the young people of the town and a few college girls. There are several very clever choruses that fill in the time between acts.

Dr. Jarman commended the fire department upon its noble services to our college when there was a fire here five years ago. Now is an opportunity to express our gratitude to the firemen and at the same time enjoy the evening's entertainment.

CUNNINGHAM LITERARY SOCIETY HAS TRY-OUTS

If there are any girls who would like to try-out for the Cunningham Literary Society, they will now have the opportunity to do so. The requirements are: write an article (short story, poem, or essay), and subscribe to the literary magazine. All articles must be brought to New Building 52 or put in Emily Carter's senior box by Monday, January 28.

TWO HONOR SOCIETIES ISSUE BIDS PAST WEEK

Alpha Kappa Gamma and Pi Gamma Mu, two of the four honor societies in college issued bids within the past week. Only ten college girls received bids.

The Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma wishes to announce these as new members:

Elizabeth Bowers
Mary Olliver Ellington
Anne Ferree
Virginia Gurley
Laura M. Smith

The Virginia Gamma Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu announces the following new members:

Elizabeth Bowers
Mary Eggleston
Carolea Harris
Sammy Scott
Mabel Spratley
Lucy Thompson

FINAL ORDERS TAKEN SATURDAY, JANUARY 26

The Virginian staff has announced Saturday, aJnuary 26 as the final day when orders for annuals will be taken. Those of you who have been putting it off, and who want Virginians, be sure to put in your order by Saturday, as no more will be taken after that date.

FIRST STUDENT BODY MEETING OF THE YEAR

"Pannie" Willis called the first student body meeting of 1929 on Monday, January 14. "Pannie" thanked those who had cooperated so graciously with the Student Committee in 1928, and asked for its continuance during the coming year. Margaret Finch, Y. W. C. A. president, explained the budget of the "Y" and told us just "where our money goes." Elsie Clements, the Campus League Chairman, and Mrs. Warren, from the Home Department also talked for a few minutes.

WELCOME MISS CONDE

As the pages of olden days heralded the coming of their King's friend with trumpets, let down their bridges and opened wide their doors, so did our pages, members of the Y. W. C. A. by human trumpets, herald the coming of our Master's friend, Miss Conde.

And, Miss Conde, we the student body, are opening wide the doors of our hearts and souls by prayer; we are letting down all the bridges of our petty interests, and welcoming you and your great message.

Noted Woman Scheduled For Many Talks and Conferences

After eighteen months of effort and waiting, the Y. W. C. A. has succeeded in having as their guest, for the entire week, Miss Bertha Conde. Miss Conde is now engaged as a religious lecturer and author of religious books. She has been active in religious work for many years, serving as national executive of the Christian movement of the Y. W. C. A., and for a period of six months as misisonary in the Near East.

Miss Conde will fill the following program:

Prayers, all week, The Art of Radiant Living
Chapel, Thursday, Making of Character
Chapel, Friday, The Meaning of Service
Y. W. C. A. Cabinet meeting, Saturday Morning Watch, Sunday
Church service, Sunday night

Private conferences with Miss Conde may be arranged any time after Wednesday, by signing the slip on Margaret Finch's door, Room 4.

Miss Conde made her initial appearance before the student body, Tuesday morning at Chapel. She spoke on "The New Significance of Jesus Christ." In her address, she told of the progress of the world scientifically and biologically and related with this the spiritual progress. "Even scientists and biologists are compelled to bow their heads before the spiritual power," says Miss Conde.

Miss Conde is a forceful and interesting speaker. Each of her talks are separate inspirations in themselves, and each student should avail herself of the opportunity to hear her speak as often as possible.

MARIONETTES RECEIVED WITH ENTHUSIASM

The "Bandbox Marionettes" proved to be most popular when they returned to S. T. C. on January 16 for their second annual performance. This popular entertainment was presented by the Farmville Alumnae Chapter.

The miniature stage, the characteristics ,the animal-like qualities of the beasts ,so cleverly impersonated humans and animals that they easily became life-like in their actions.

The matinee program included circus acts, songs and dances and a three-act play taken from an English pantomime.

The evening program presented several clever vaudeville acts and a three-act play entitled "Too Many Wives." This play was presented with such life-like cleverness that it was met with great enthusiasm by the audience.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

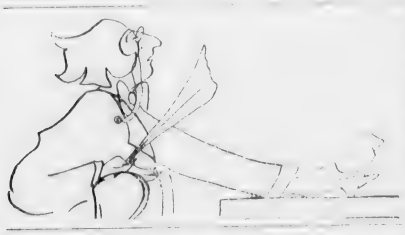
Editor-in-Chief — PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor — LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor — CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary — GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic — KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News — LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News — EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social — FLORENCE REED, '31
Art — CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous — ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 — WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31



Proof Reader
MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager — MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant — FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation — ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant — JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

"Judge Not That Ye Be Not Judged"

This statement, taken from the Book of books, applies to us all, and I daresay, finds us all guilty. It does not say that we should never judge a person's actions, or words, but it does say that in so doing we make ourselves liable to the same kind of criticism from our fellow human beings, and to a perfectly justified judgment from our Creator.

To some of us, talking about other people, or in plainer words, gossiping, comes so naturally that we don't realize at the time what we are doing.

If we would stop and think of this verse. "Judge not that ye be not judged, for with what judgment ye judge ye shall be judged," would we feel as free to discuss other people's faults and shortcomings? None of us have such a perfect record behind us that we can afford to act as critic and judge of others, thus making ourselves liable to the same kind of criticism. This statement is just another way of expressing the golden rule.

We all have the same feelings, and emotions, though different individuals express them in different ways. Therefore, "be ye kind, one to another."

Honor Societies on This Campus

With the announcement of new members of honor societies there is always a revival of interest among the student body. The work of the societies is of such a nature that few people realize that these are actively functioning organizations.

A bid to an honor fraternity is a recognization of achievement. It is a recognition not only on this campus, but in all parts of the country where there are groups of students working as parts of the same organization, and where there are educated people who appreciate the significance of membership.

The organization of superior students into a group provides a means for unified action and creative study along the line of its specific interest. The chapters on this campus are justified in taking a certain amount of pride in their record, and in their standing among other chapters of the same organization.

So the honor societies are the property of the college. Superior achievement is the requirement for membership.

Selection of Books

College years are ideal ones in which to read extensively and intensively, for whatever you select for reading is also read by some one who is glad to discuss the book with you.

Until one has experienced the feeling of loneliness that comes with the realization that others do not share your interests, it is hardly possible to appreciate the joys of interested companions. Many of us who are destined to be school teachers in backward communities will no doubt meet such an experience.

Time for reading is sadly limited, a fact which would caution us to select with care those things to which we devote our precious hours. It is a disappointment, after spending all our time, to find that we have been another catch of the publisher's bait. There are waiting, quietly dignified, those older classics of literature that many among the moderns pass carelessly by. We may be assured that our neglect of them is our loss, not theirs.

Our Debt to Intercollegiates

This issue of the Rounda announces the schedules of intercolleigate debates and basketball games. Teams representative of the student body meet other representative groups to engage in contests, athletic and forensic.

Some people feel that school spirit is waning, because the demonstration of that elusive quality is not so vigorous as in by-gone years. We regret the fact that the proportion of students interested in college activities is smaller in the days when the student body was not so large. That, however, may be one of the inevitable sacrifices that accompanies growth.

We are interested in the changing attitude of students toward intercollegiate meets. Possibly enthusiasm is not so vehement, because we are enlarging our sympathies to include our erstwhile opponents. A non-partisan observer at a basketball game in our gym would no doubt be impressed by the fact that a good play of an opponent receives almost as much applause as a similar exhibition by one of our own players. The reception an audience gives to a debate depends upon the quality of the arguments—not upon the speaker's college affiliations.

Does such a situation not indicate that the present attitude is far more commendable than that of another age which was characterized by such a fierce loyalty to one's own team that good work of the opponents passed unnoticed? Is it not an advancement when we can subordinate an inherent loyalty to our own, and give credit where credit is due?

Intercollegiate meets, though they are frowned upon in some circles, have certainly proved worthwhile in developing a broader point of view. Contact with representatives from other colleges result in better understanding, increased friendliness. Even more valuable than this is the possession of an impersonal attitude of thinking which , by setting aside local prejudices, leads us finally to a more comprehensive appreciation of our own college as compared with others.

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor:

At practically every other college in Virginia we find that seniors are given the privilege of keeping their lights on until at least twelve o'clock in order to finish their work. In this respect, seniors at S. T. C. do not have any more privileges than sophomores who are allowed to study in the drawing room until eleven o'clock.

If seniors are carrying the usual amount of class work, doing practice teaching, and taking any active part in extra-curricula activities, it is almost impossible for them to finish even the minimum requirements of each of these by eleven o'clock and to keep up to the standards required of seniors. Consequently we find that the eleven o'clock rule is often disregarded, not because we want to break the rules but because otherwise we would often have to stop in the midst of an important piece of work because eleven o'clock had arrived.

Our faculty members expect us to keep up to the standard expected of seniors in an A-1 college; we want to keep up to the standards, too, but it is often impossible to do so when we are living under prep school rules and regulations.

Why can't we try the system of letting seniors keep their lights on until twelve o'clock, when it is necessary to complete unfinished work? We should be willing to give any thing a fair trial.

What do some of the other seniors think of this matter? Let's hear about it in the open forum.

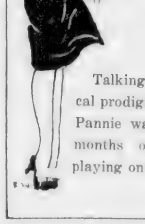
Interested

LEE PROGRAM GIVEN BY FOURTH GRADE

On Friday, January 18 the Fourth Grade of the Training School gave a most interesting program on the life of Robert E. Lee, whose birthday was January 19. The Third Grade and the teachers were invited to attend this program.

CHINAMAN'S DEFINITION OF A TEACHER

Teachie, teachie
All day teachie;



Night markie papers.
Nervie creepie;

No one kissie
No one huggie,

Poor old maidie
No one lovie.

—Exchange

FRESH FROSH SAYS:

Talking about musical prodigies, why when Pannie was only three months old she was playing on the linoleum

LITERATURE

THE MAGIC CRUTCHES

Once upon a time there was a little boy named Bobby who led a rather sad and lonely life, for, you see, he was crippled. All day long he just sat by the window—with his crutches against his chair—and watched all the other little children play, except, of course, when he was reading. He wasn't very old and he couldn't read so much, but he knew enough to read all kinds of stories like "The Three Bears," "The Teeny Tiny Lady," "The Gingerbread Boy," and a whole lot of others. Sometimes he thought it would be fun to be a character in a story—at least he could give people some pleasure then—why most anything was better than to be nothing as he was now.

So one night, after a particularly lonely day, Bobby prayed that something unusual and nice would happen to him. And what do you suppose did happen?

That very night, about twelve o'clock, one of his crutches—now leaning against the bed instead of the chair—suddenly turned into a broomstick. Bobby, because he had read stories about fairies riding on broomsticks, knew exactly what to do. He jumped out of bed and on to the broomstick, and out the window he flew—over the houses and tree-tops, over the mountains—up close to the stars—until finally he came to a strange little settlement. Here the broom settled down.

Just as he got off the broomstick, there appeared by him a fairy, a lovely, shiny person with wings. She said, "So you're Bobby! Well, I've been expecting you. You asked that something nice and unusual happen to you—maybe you'll like this." She took him by the hand, and started leading him up the street of the small village. There were lots of people, animals, fairies, and elves walking around quite the queerest collection of objects Bobby had ever dreamed of. He cast a bewildered look at the fairy, and she laughd as she explained.

"You don't even know where you are, do you? This is the land where all the characters in the stories for children live. See, there's the gingerbread boy and the fox practicing their trick. Of course, you know the fox doesn't really eat the gingerbread boy—because then there wouldn't be any story left—not if the main character was gone. And there's where Red Riding Hood lives. Over there is Rumplestilitkin's shop where he practices weaving gold out of straw. And see way over in the field? That's the straw ox grazing. He has to keep strong, you know, to drag all those other animals to the old couple. Here comes the three Billy Goats Gruff, one behind the other just as usual. Oh, Goldenlocks and the Three Bears live in here. Already they've had to buy four new chairs. It's so hard to repair the broken one. That was Epaminondus that just went by. He's not as dumb as he used to be and he's beginning to feel shy about people laughing at him so much."

And so on and on, although little black Sambo, the Half Chick, and lots

(Continued on last page)

SOCIAL

The following alumnae spent the past week-end at S. T. C. and attended the Zeta Tau banquet Saturday night: Jean West, Norfolk, Va.; Alberta Collings, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. "Bill" Kreienbaum, Emporia, Va.; Mrs. "Tony" Kreienbaum, Emporia, Va.; Laurice Lee Wyche, Emporia, Va.; Jeannette Johnston, Emporia, Va.; Marian Fitchett, Cape Charles, Va.; Virginia Rice, Portsmouth, Va.; Marjory Goodwin, Portsmouth, Va.; Mary Lee Malbon, Portsmouth, Va.; Kitty Jones, Danville, Va.; "Pookie" Maddox, Kenbridge, Va.; Ellen Smith, Farmville, Va.

The Y. W. C. A. Cabinet and their committee members, the Freshman Commission, and the Advisory Board entertained Miss Conde at an informal tea this afternoon from five to six in the Student Building lounge.

The Sophomore Class entertained at a social meeting yesterday afternoon from five to six in the lounge. After a short business discussion, tea and cheese wafers were served. Lillian Sturgis gave a reading, Elizabeth Taylor played several selections on the piano, and Genevieve Grimes and Frances Guthrie sang.

Alpha Kappa Gamma entertained Friday night at supper in the tea room at its monthly social meeting.

Miss Anna Burgess of Norfolk, visited Martha Lanier over the week-end.

Miss Jeanette Morris spent the week-end with Alice Covington.

Miss Anne Withers has returned to school after being detained at home by sickness.

JOHN BROWN'S BODY

(Stephen Vincent Benet—Published by Doubleday, Doran & Co., Inc.)

Not a view of the North, nor yet of the South, but, at last, an "American" outlook on the Civil War, John Brown's Body rises above all prejudices, and views the conflict from the standpoint of the modern age.

John Browns, attempting to free the slaves, is the hero of this vigorous narrative poem. Around him the entire action centers. He is the keynote of the poem. Pictured as a fantastic and something of an idealist—in spite of our dislike of some of his methods of approach—he gains our sympathy, and, as Benet says, "he must have his justice after all."

Two minor threads run through the poem weaving an intricate pattern of Northern and Southern viewpoints: that of the influence of the war on a New England youth, and on the dreaming impetuous scion of the Southern Wyngates.

Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis, as well as other historical figures, are made to live and breathe through the magic reality of Brent's verse.

The poem itself never becomes tiresome because of the constant change of rhythm to suit the theme. "Grave and stately lines alternate with short, sharply accented measures." Color, vitality, melody—all contribute to the rich pattern. Passages suggesting the vast sweep of the prairie, and the rise and fall of the ocean alternate with passages of delicate lyrical beauty.

In John Brown's Body, Stephen Bent has written a poem which, although it may leave intense dislike or extreme admiration, must leave a broader outlook on that period in our history. It cannot leave us indifferent.

LOST—A very small diamond shaped Masonic pin. Finder please take to the Physical Education Office.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM PLAYS BLACKSTONE

The basketball team of the College High School met defeat last Friday by the Blackstone High School team in Blackstone. The game ended with the score 41—7. The line-up from the Training School was as follows:

Forwards—Martha Putney, Kate Matherly.
Jumping Center—Martha Jones
Side Center—Audrey Burger
Guards—Charlotte Bruce, Elizbeth Burger.
Substitutes—Edith Mann for Elizabeth Burger; Elizabeth Burger for Audrey Burger.
Referee—Laura N. Smith.

LONGEVITY OF COLLEGE GRADUATES

The longevity of college graduates is greater than that of the average man, according to statistics. The life of the college man who graduates with honors is also greater than that of the college man with poorer scholastic record.

—Exchange

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS FORBIDDEN TO MARRY

The authorities of Washington and Jefferson University, Washington, Pennsylvania, recently promulgated a proclamation to the effect that any undergraduate who marries after February 4, 1929, will be dropped from the roll of the institution. In explaining their action they declared that the pursuit of an education is not compatible with matrimony.—Exchange.

SIESTA AT STEPHEN COLLEGE

Authorities at Stephen College, Columbia, Missouri, require 600 coeds to take an afternoon siesta every day. The nap has an effect of appreciable scholastic improvement, members of the faulcty report.

STILTS AT UTAH

Resourceful at the Univeristy of Utah are getting around an edict against smoking on the campus by smoking on stilts. As to the length of the stilts, the matter is left almost entirely to the discretion of the individual smoker, but twelve inches is considered a safe distance off the campus.

—Georgianna "Technique"

FIVE YEARS

A novel five-year plan will be inaugurated next fall at Northwestern College, when the college student body will be divided into five classes: Freshmen, Sophomores, Middlers, Junior and Senior.—Amherst Student.

ATHLETICS

MONOGRAM TRY-OUTS

The second time for the monogram try-out will be held Friday afternoon in the gym at 4 o'clock. All girls who aspire to wear the coveted emblem should be there to run, jump, throw and tumble.

The monogram is waiting for all girls who have the endurance, patience, enthusiasm and pep to come out and work. Freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors may win monograms provided they pass the requirements which were listed in a previous issue of this paper.

Hikes are held on Saturday afternoons to make it possible for all to go. Six hikes of five miles each give 50 points toward the necessary 400.

So freshmen and upperclassmen, come out, try to earn a monogram and help your class win the cup.

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY TO HAVE BOXING BOUTS

The boxing team from William and Mary College will come to Hampden-Sydney February the eleventh to match their skill against that of the huskies of H. S. C. On February the twelfth the Tiger boxers will go to Williamsburg for a return match. The boys have been practicing for some time and hope they will be able to defeat the William and Mary team both occasions.

EVEN AS YOU AND I

Two of us bought a botany book;
For economics three bought two;
Six of us use the same hygiene,
(I'd like it better bound in blue.)

Four of us have the Spanish text;
Three chipped in on English lit.,
(I'm mighty proud to own a third
Of the gold figures stamped on it.)

I keep my books on a five-foot shelf,
My school books rare—two and a twelfth.

—Exchange

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

4	5
MON.—Soph. & Seniors	Varsity
TUES.—Varsity	Junior & Freshmen
WED..—Soph. & Seniors	Varsity
THURS.—Varsity	Junior & Freshmen
FRI.—Monogram	Varsity

If it is impossible to come out in your own class practice, you may come at another.

WORLD NEWS

For two centuries the world has wondered how the great violin-makers of Cremona, Stradivarius, Amati, Gevarnerius and others, created the exquisite instruments they turned out, which today bring such fabulous prices. Modern science and skill have been unable to fathom the mystery; no chemical analysis has yet revealed the extraordinary qualities of the exquisite varnish used. And now comes the news that an antique dealer in Berganao recently found in the hidden drawer of an ancient desk some old sheets of paper covered with what proved to be handwriting of the greatest of masters. They revealed, the story runs, a complete description of his method of treating the wood he used and of the varnish with which he beautified his violin. Let us pray that this be a true story for a creation of more Stradivari would be an inestimable blessing to the entire music world.

The burden now laid upon Germany for war damages is not unreasonable in comparison with the burdens being borne by other nations in the meeting the costs and debts due to the war, concludes S. Parker Gilbert, the American agent general, in his annual report. The Dawes plan has worked well, not only in providing payments for the allies but in putting Germany on a stable basis of economic life.

And every time our European debtors get together there is another Pan-American Conference—Dallas News.

Leon Trotsky, who was killed four or five times within the last few months, is now at a health resort in southern Russia, and we should say it's about time.—New York Evening Post.

'TIS BALDWIN'S MONTH IN FARMVILLE

Never before in the history of our store have we offered such amazing bargains.

Beautiful fur trimmed fall coats in the seasons latest colors, fabrics and styles are offered in this record breaking sale at extremely low prices.

Group No. 1—$16.50
Group No. 2—$27.50
Come in and try 'em on

BALDWINS

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"The Rexall Store"
CARA NOME TOILETRIES

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

January Clearance Sale
20% REDUCTION
Coats and Dresses
BUY NOW AND SAVE
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
Farmville. Virginia

Fashion Show of New Spring Dresses
ADVANCE STYLES
CHIC MODELS
"COLORS"
"The Newest"
Prices
$16 75
$4.95 $9.95
"Charge It"
HUB
DEPT. STORE

If a girl can make you feel she is taking dinner with you and not from you she is a successful gold-digger.

Florence Booton: "Why don't you put on your slicker?"

Mae Marshall: "I can't. I got a book in one hand and it won't go through the sleeve."

"Have you a date tomorrow nite?"

"It depends on the weather."

"Why the weather?"

"Yeh, whether he'll ask me or not." not."

Editor: "Did you write these jokes?"

Contributor: "Yes."

Editor: "And they shot men like Lincoln."

Ida Trolan "I had a date with a fraternity man last night and he had the largest pin I've ever seen."

Mildred Simpson: "That wasn't any fraternity man. That was a policeman."

The freshman across the hall says she likes her new coat very much, only she can't get used to the wood across the shoulders and the hook pushing her hat off.

An official of the telephone company was rudely aroused from his slumbers by the ringing of the telephone. After bruising his knee on a chair, he reached the telephone.

"Hello," he growled.

"Are you an official of the telephone company?" asked a voice.

"Yes, what can I do for you?"

"Tell me," said the voice, "how it feels to get out of bed at two o'clock to answer the wrong number?"

—Blue Gator

Prof.: "Any questions?"

Voice: "Yes, what course is this?"

She: "Do you believe in hereafter?"

He: "Sure do."

She: "Well, then, hereafter please don't bother me."

There's nothing more pathetic than a horsefly on a radiator.—Yale Record

IF WOMEN BOUGHT NEWSPAPERS LIKE HATS

"Good morning, I should like to see what you have in the latest editions from the city. Are you quite sure this is the very latest edition? Let me see, now, how would this look folded up under my arm—ummmm, a little too bulky, I'm afraid. Haven't you something smaller—something with perhaps two or three pages less? No, I don't care for tabloids, thank you. Oh-h-h-h, I had quite forgotten I was wearing this dress; I positively could not be seen carrying that paper with this dress. That pretty pink paper over there might do. Let me try it. Why, its all racing news! Oh, well, its the only thing that matches, I guess. How much is it? What! three cents! The idea! Why, a friend of mine who bought one in the city last week told me she paid only two. Do you think you can rob me? Goodbye.

AVIATION IN COLLEGES

"Aviation in the colleges has been progressing with leaps and bounds," says Joe Godfrey, Jr., in the February College Humor. "The Harvard Flying Club at Cambridge has its own plane and is used daily by its student members. Each year a new plane is purchased by the club members and so successful has been the operation of the club itself that its members now offer to help the students at other universities to form a similar organization. At Yale the Flying Club will undoubtedly buy a plane this year, and other schools soon to follow are New York University, Massachusetts Tech, Georgia Tech, Stanford, California, Michigan, Illinois and Minnesota. Wherever there are courses in aeronautics—and there are about seventy large institutions offering such courses—aero and flying clubs are being formed. The great interest now shown in aviation in the colleges is resulting in the taking of special courses in flying by students who wish to become pilots. Students will soon fly their own planes."—College Humor.

ANCIENT SPORTS

Vienna—IP—A marble swimming pool and stadium, built by an Ephesian citizen, Publius Vedius Antonius, a central heating plant, supposedly built by the same man, and a basilica constructed by the Byzantine Emporer Justinian and Empress Theodora in honor of John Theologus, have been discovered by excavations in Asia Minor by the Austrian Archeological Society and Rockefeller Foundation experts. The relics have been placed in the museum at Smyrna, in all cases where they were movable.—The Davidsonian.

GOODBYE DARTMOUTH

A Dartmouth student has done what almost everyone who has read Walden yearns to do at one time or another. Curtis H. Glover, twenty and a junior, has bid goodbye to college and civilized life to begin anew in the woods, far away from the painful pressures of organized society.

"Goodbye Dartmouth," he wrote in a letter published in The Dartmouth:

"By the time you read this I shall be aboard a train speeding to northern wilds where I intend to prepare myself for a higher life than college leads to; the life described by Thoreau in Walden.

"I have existed in your civilization now for twenty years. I have existed merely as a spectator. You have forced me to do certain things, and I have done them—reluctantly, always inwardly rebelling. Now I have decided to give expression to my wild nature, and to try whether it be possible to live humanly."

The new Walden is located in the White Mountains on the estate of Mr. Glover, senior, who is a wealthy Boston architect. The news reports do not tell much about the economic side of the experiment, which, to us, seems the crucial one. For what Henry Thoreau was principally intent upon doing was to find out how one might live the most complete and satisfying life that was possible with the minimum expenditure of energy in filling the belly and housing the body. If that is one of the purposes of the experiment it will be worth watching.—The New Student.

WEDDINGS

"Here comes the bride!"—which bride? One never knows the latest one for there are so many these days. It does seem quite funny how just a few words from some preacher will change a little school girl into a blushing bride.

The school teaching profession seems to be losing its only individual characteristic—that of single blessedness— because the school teacher need no longer be unwed.

We are wondering is these numerous weddings occurring in our student body are the result of New Year's resolutions; and if the rage will sweep the school as the flu epidemic or the bobbed hair craze has done. Then, maybe—well you see—"leap year" has just passed you know.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING AT WILLIAMSBURG

A $400,000 school building for the city of Williamsburg will be constructed starting the first of February, and will be operated in conjunction with the teachers' course of the College of William and Mary, it has been announced by Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of the college, and by the school board of the city. Funds for the elementary and high school will be secured from the sale of college and city property, and by an identical sum of $200,000 to be furnished by William and Mary.

"VARSITY" CREATES STIR AT PRINCETON

Formerly the University of Southern California has generously lent itself to Hollywood producers and be come the scene of various college movies. But the latest of these educational pictures, "Varsity," applied to Yale for permission to use their campus for the production. The authorities would not permit it so they turned to Princeton who was willing enough. The story then was fitted out with Princeton names and the work on the actual filming began in spite of telegrams from indignant alumni who asked why Princeton didn't start a nation-wide campaign and advertise itself as the "Friendly College" or "You don't know what education is until you've been to Princeton."

"Varsity" has been released but exhibitors are afraid to show it at Princeton. The local theatre owner has cancelled his order for the film because some of the students have seen the picture in New York and their reports are not of the nature to induce a theatre owner to expose his property to the possible wrath of a student body.

—Sweet Briar News

CHANGE OF CALENDAR DEBATED AT CLUB MEET

An interesting subject was debated at the regular meeting of the Debate Club Thursday evening, January 17. The question was: Resolved that there should be thirteen months in our calendar year. Ella Webb and Nettie Boynton almost convinced those who heard them that a thirteen month year would work better than our present twelve month year, but Mildred Maddrey and Alma Woodson entirely convinced everyone that it would be entirely too monotonous to have the thirteenth of each month Friday and to have Christmas and Valentine and Washington's birthday, come on the same day of the week year after year. After the debate the meeting was adjourned.

THE MAGIC CRUTCHES

Continued from page 2

of other people were not there because, you see, they were being told, and of course they had to be where they were being told.

Oh, she did show him a little piece of peppermint candy made like a boy that was most big enough to be in a story; also some clouds that were all puffed up because they were right then being written about.

Bobby was having so much fun that he forgot the time until the fairy said, "You must hurry home; it's most morning. Next time come earlier and stay longer and you can meet any and everybody you want! Did you like it?"

Bobby did like it so much that he couldn't even tell her how much. He got on the broom and was whisked away—and the next thing he knew he was waking up in his own little bed. He was happy all the time now and he loved his crutches, for they were no longer crutches to him but magic broomsticks. And he loved night because it was then that he became a fairy and could ride on broomsticks up high in the sky—right next to the stars—to a land of pretend.

L. G., '30

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books. Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

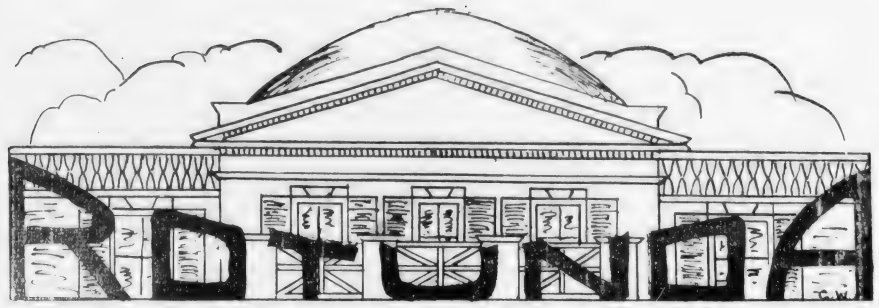
MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre
Week Jan. 28—Feb. 2

MON.—"THE LAST WALTZ" a special Paramount picture. The romance of a gallant officer who captures a lovely princess from under the very guns of a firing squad. From the Oscar Strauss' lavish operetta which scored a smashing success at the Century Theatre, New York. As brilliant and dazzling as "The Merry Widow" Also News and Oddity reel. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

TUES.—Jack Holt in Zane Grey's "THE VANISHING PIONEER". A special Paramount picture. Follow this trail. There are thrills, dangers, conflicts—but it ends in romance and presents a picture of the fast disappearing west. It is extra good! Also an extra 2 reel subject. Matinee at 4 o'clock.

WED.—Tim McCoy and Polly Moran in "BEYOND the SIERRAS." Tim McCoy brings back the real romance of the old West in this galloping thriller. He rides like a demon, fights like one inspired, and makes love to the queen's taste in a picture of the days when California was young. Also extra 2 reel subject. Matinee at 4.



THURS.—Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall in "LADY BE GOOD." He was a magician; she was his assistant, but she taught him a few tricks in love that he could never learn from a book. From the musical comedy. Also comedy and oddity. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

FRI. & SAT. at Mats only—Glenn Tryon with Marion Nixon and Raymond Keane in "HOW TO HANDLE WOMEN." Oh girls! He knew he knew it all—and proved it! See this sparkling laugh-a-minute farce. You will get a new thrill. It is to laugh! Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. night only—"THE GOOD-BYE KISS," a special production with Johnny Burke, Sally Eilers and Matty Kemp. A flaming romance of youth! Reveling in a panorama of Glory and splendor—Scenes sweeping across the screen with a flare of tempestuous fire—Love surmounting the heartaches and hidden tears — Love beating down hate and craven fears—Love rising to starry heights in a seething maelstrom of modern life! Also News and Collegiate comedy.

Admission to S. T. C. girls getting tickets at the college, 25 cents to each show.

JUNIOR WEEK OF PRAYERS

BASKETBALL GAME POSTPONED

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA THURSDAY, JAN. 31, 1929 NO. 15

MISS CONDE CLOSES SUCCESSFUL WEEK

Speaks in Chapel, at Prayers, And in Geography and History Classes

RELATES ACCOUNTS OF HER TRAVELS

Devotes Greater Part of Her Time to Individual Conferences

During the week of January 22-29, Miss Bertha Conde, religious lecturer and writer, has been the guest of the Y. W. C. A. in this college. After being closely acquainted with all types of college and business girls in her work as national executive of the Y. W. C. A. Christian movement, Miss Conde has been able to talk to girls easily and in an understanding manner.

Miss Conde's program for the week included: prayers, each night, "The Art of Radiant Living," Chapel, Tuesday, "The New Significance of Jesus Christ;" chapel, Thursday: "Making of Character;" chapel, Friday: "The Meaning of Service;" chapel, Saturday: "The Meaning of Faith;" Y. W. C. A. cabinet meeting; Saturday morning watch; Sunday church service, Sunday night.

In addition to a large number of individual conferences which she granted to all students who wished to see her personally, Miss Conde spoke to classes in geography and history on her visit in the Near East, where she served as missionary for six months. By nature a keen observer, Miss Conde has combined her knowledge of many subjects and her vast store of experiences in relating the interesting accounts of her travels.

Looking with her unprejudiced mind on the state of affairs now existing in the world, Miss Conde said, "We judge the whole world by our own narrow experiences and vision." As a remedy for this present-day confusion, Miss Conde suggested, "Now in all this spacious world people are beginning to realize that we must have some spacious personality to cope with the situation. That is why we are becoming interested in Jesus Christ, the great personality of the world."

Miss Conde brought inspiration and guidance to her audience in each message she delivered during her stay. With her insight into human nature, she connected every-day occurrences into opportunities of significant value.

PI KAPPA SIGMA SELECTS TWO MEMBERS

Pi Kappa Sigma wishes to announce the following new members:

Gilberta Knight
Marion Seay

MRS. JARMAN DIES SUDDENLY SUNDAY

Student Body Extends Sympathy to Dr. Jarman in His Great Sorrow

By the death of Mrs. J. L. Jarman, which occurred at the Southside Community Hospital last Sunday night, January 27, the college and the community suffered the loss of a valued friend, true and tried. Throughout the administration of President Jarman, for over a quarter of a century now, Mrs. Jarman has taken deep interest in this institution and all that related to it. Her great charm of personality, her exquisite taste, and her unusual executive ability enabled her not only to make a delightful and efficient home for the President and his family—achievement enough for one woman—but also to contribute in a large way to the growth of the college and the progress of the community in which it was placed. The harmonious beauty which President Jarman has succeeded in giving to the campus and buildings, the home of the college, bears silent witness also, in many of its most charming features, to the fertility of her suggestions and the beauty of her mind and spirit. In the community also she succeeded in initiating and promoting many progressive undertakings which have proved of great and permanent value to Farmville and Prince Edward County.

Mrs. Jarman's father was Dr. Ezekial Emerson Wiley, who was a relative of Ralph Waldo Emerson, and was for many years the president of E mory and Henry College. Her mother was Mrs. Helen Reeves Wiley, who established and maintained during a long period, mainly by her own personal efforts, an orphanage at Jonesboro, Tennessee. Their daughter, Mary Helen Wiley, was born July 21, 1871, and grew up under the influence of their staunch personalities and in the shadow of Emory and Henry College. Dr. Jarman became professor of chemistry in the college and on December 22, 1891, they were married. They came to Farmville in 1902, when he was chosen President of the Normal School. Here her life has been inseparably bound up with his work for the realization of his dream of a great institution of learning in the service of Virginia.

Mrs. Jarman brought up a family of five children: Emerson Wiley, of Fort Worth, Texas; Elizabeth Parker (Mrs. Thos. G. Hardy) of Farmville; Joseph Lindsay, Jr., of Petersburg; Helen Reeves (Mrs. M. L. Hankins) of Richmond, and William Dabney Jarman, who is now studying medicine at the Univeristy of Virginia. There are six grand-children; and

(Continued on Page Two)

GIRLS HEAR "AIDA" IN RICHMOND

Last Saturday afternoon, January 26, Miss Turner took a group of twenty S. T. C. girls to Richmond to hear that most familiar opera "Aida", as it was presented by the San Carlo Opera Company in the Mosque theatre Saturday evening.

The performance was most spectacular; each act a gorgeous display of beautiful costumes st off by the heavy splendor of Egyptian scenery.

Myrna Sharlow as "Aida" and Fernando Bertini as "Rhodemes" were admirably suited for the title roles. Especially toward the end of the opera did they do some beautiful singing, giving an exquisite rendition of their closing duet, "Farewell Oh Earth."

Stella De Mette as Amneris' daughter of the King of Egypt, sang with much poise and assurance, nor did she lack lovely tone quality.

An effective ballet added much to the exotic splendor of several scenes.

The opera was thoroughly enjoyed by all who went, and we appreciate Miss Turner's kindness in taking us on such a delightful trip.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE TEAM CHOSEN

The last debate team has been selected and will begin work immediately. The subject they will debate is, "Resolved, That there should be a substitute for the present system of trial by jury."

The team is as follows: Affirmative, Anne Hopkins, Nellie Talley; negative Catherine Bentley, Martha Ann Laing.

This team will meet Harrisonburg and Bridgewater on April 18 and 19 in dual debates.

ANNUAL SENT TO PRESS

You may smile at the girls on the Virginian staff now, and not be fearful of being beseiged with, "Buy an annual!" It has gone to press, and we have broken all previous records by securing five hundred and thirty subscriptions. Never before in the history of the Virginian have there been as many as five hundred subscriptions. The staff and student body should be congratulated on this year's unusual record.

BASKETBALL GAME IS POSTPONED

The basketball game with Harrisonburg has been postponed in respect to the recent bereavement of our President.

PRESS ASSOCIATION MEET AT RICHMOND

The second annual meeting of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association will be held on Friday and Saturday, February 15 and 16 at the University of Richmond.

The University of Richmond Chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalism fraternity, will be the host during the entire conference. Registration will begin at 4 p. m. on Friday and the convention will come to a close with an informal dinner-dance on Saturday evening.

Loving cups will be awarded the best publications. Lectures, round-table discussions of the problems of the college publications, and other helpful group discussions will make up the program.

It will be remembered by the upper classmen that the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association was organized by Evelyn Dulaney, editor of the Rotunda, and Alex Hudgins, editor of the Hampden-Sydney Tiger. This association held its first meeting at Farmville last year.

At a meeting of the Rotunda staff Tuesday the following girls were elected to represent our paper at the meeting in Richmond: Pearl Etheridge, Lucy Thompson, and Florence Booton.

The Virginian will be represented at the conference, but the delegates have not been selected.

THE "ROUGH RIDERS"

The "Rough Riders" orchestra, under the direction of Liz Munn, has proved so popular a feature of "Sing" and other entertainments that it has been suggested to them that they play once a week in the "rec" for the small sum of five cents. On last Monday night the orchestra played in the "rec" and the plan proved agreeably successful. If this suggestion is successfully adopted, the members of the orchestra plan to buy uniforms with part of the proceeds.

Station WRVA, of Richmond, has asked the "Rough Riders" to broadcast from their station. They will very probably accompany the Chromatic Club on their trip to Richmond to broadcast from the same station.

If there is anyone who plays either a cornet, saxaphone, or any brass or woodwind instrument, and who desires to play in the orchestra, she is requested to come to Liz Munn.

BENEFIT PICTURE

The Freshman Commission announces a benefit picture, "The Magnificent Flirt," at the Eaco Theatre, February 17.

E. H. SOTHERN IN DRAMATIC RECITAL

Actor of International Fame Lectures on Drama in Which He Starred Many Years

GIVES SCENES FROM SHAKESPEAREAN PLAYS

Startling Character Portrayals, Charming Personality Holds Audience

E. H. Sothern, probably the greatest of American actor-producers, gave a dramatic recital in the college auditorium on the evening of January 30. The evening's program undoubtedly equalled or excelled all recent programs given here.

Mr. Sothern who has played on the stages of England and America for nearly a half century has been an unusual success in his Shakespearean roles. His first effort in these parts was Hamlet, which he undertook as a still very young actor, having just achieved the name of the leading light comedian of the day.

His program here included two wonderfully played scenes of Shakespeare, the murder scene from Macbeth and the trial scene from The Merchant of Venice. In the former he gave a most vivid interpretation of Macbeth while in the latter Shylock

Continued on last page

CHRISTIAN WORLD EDUCATION SPEAKERS WILL VISIT S. T. C.

On February 13 and 14 three Christian Work Education speakers will lecture to our students. The purpose of this program is to help students to realize vividly what our modern world is like and what it means to be a Christian in our present complex civilization; to start them on their thinking on new issues; and to supplement the work done in the college curriculum by visits of persons with first-hand experience in various parts of the world. Instead of taking a few students off the campus for a conference, this plan brings the conference to the campus, making it available for everybody and fitting it into their on-going academic life.

Three speakers will visit our college:

Dr. R. B. Eleazer, is one of the South's most constructive and far-sighted leaders in the realm of better race relations, and does splendid work with students, approaching the subject from a factual basis.

Mr. Joyce Edwards comes from Allahbod, India, and has behind him a very interesting career as an Indian athlete, scholar, teacher and Christian.

Mr. Paul Harris, is a very attractive speaker and ideal forum leader on subjects pertaining to war and peace.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

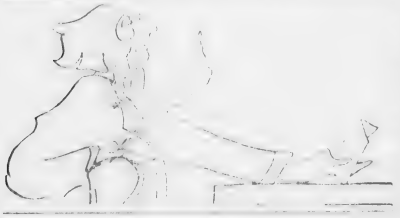
Editor-in-Chief PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor CATHERINE BENTLEY, '2
Literary GLADYS WILKINSON, '2
Athletic KATHERINE BULLY, '2
World News LOIS FRASER, '2
Intercollegiate News EVELYN THOMPSON, '2
Social FLORENCE REED, '31
Art CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '2
Humorous ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE. '3
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31



Proof Reader
MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager MARGARET WALTON, '2
Assistant FLORENCE BOOTON, '3
Circulation ELIZABETH BOWERS, '2
Assistant JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Sympathy

The college grieves this week with our beloved President in his loss. Never has sorrow so overwhelmed us.

Dr. Jarman has given his best to our college—given of himself until he has become a part of us. His joy is our joy; his sorrow our sorrow. His time is spent in loving service for us, the results of which have become so much a part of our lives that many times we do not realize the source of the privileges and comforts that greatly increase our happiness.

There is a very personal feeling for our President in the heart of every girl. There are few among us who at sometime during our college days do not receive a personal service upon which Dr. Jarman has centered his thought for one particular girl. Our love for him is comparable only with our love for our fathers. Our joys and sorrows, large and small, we take to him, with an assurance that they will be shared.

Some few of his problems Dr. Jarman has shared with us, and he has said that his girls have never failed him. Never before, however, has there been such a sorrow as this. Uniting our love and sympathy, we hope that by sharing his sorrow, we may ease Dr. Jarman's grief. We shall not fail him in his hour of need.

Boredom

"I wish I had a ticket to Siam
I'm getting pretty bored with where I am.
But when I'm in Siam, why all I'll do—
I'd wish I had a ticket for Peru."

When we hear a girl say that she is bored we think that must be an awful way to feel, because she says it so hopelessly: but in reality it isn't so bad if we exert ourselves enough to overcome our lack of interest.

What a queer world this would be if everyone was satisfied with his place here on earth. Where would we be, and what would we have, if we continued to spin our web in the sunshine as the spider does.

Some girls are always bored, and they are to be pitied; while others are only bored occasionally. These are the ones who accomplish something, because they are always seeking adventure, to free themselves from the meshes of boredom. Columbus was bored with his sordid life, so he set sail on his mighty conquest. We too, can follow in his footsteps and conquer our feelings.

If we keep busy doing things for other people we won't have time to be bored. Anyway, "'Tis not what man does which exalts him, but what man would do!"

Organization Hogs

How many organizations do you belong to? Of this number how many do you get any help from? The choice will be the one or the few that you yourself put something into.

Last year a teacher remarked to a student at S. T. C., "The farther you spread the thinner you get." You students who belong to so many organizations realize the truth of this! It is impossible for a person to derive any benefit from belonging to a society in name only.

Let's think this matter over and come to some sound conclusion. Let's investigate the meaning and the standards of all the organizations we belong to and select the one that best fits our own particular needs and the one that holds our interest all the time.

This is the only fair thing to do—fair to the organization because you are helping to lower its standard if you are an inactive member, fair to yourself because you are suppressing that desire for self-expression which you cannot develop fully in a large number of organizations, and fair to others because you are holding a membership which might be someone else's salvation.

College Days, Leisure Days

"Your college days are those of greatest leisure." This statement made by Miss Conde proved unusually thought provoking. College days—leisure! Certainly it sounds incongruous upon first thought. Can it be that the days we spend dashing from one place to another, from one thing to another, are days of leisure?

College days are free from the business of making one's own livelihood—in this sense they are days of leisure, for the development of our minds, for the pursuit of friendships, for the possession of all things beautiful and true.

The infancy of the human race is greatly prolonged, but not through the years one spends in college. According to the standards of society, most college students have reached the age when they should normally be engaged in a remunerative occupation. Yet in the background of a college vista are parents and guardians who have faith and love enough in us to make possible four glorious years of leisure in which to attain a point of development otherwise impossible.

The statement has become almost trite, that people may best be judged by the way they spend their leisure time. Yet how many people do we hear every day wishing their college days away!

Days if leisure, yes, they are; but leisure may be packed so full of invaluable experiences and ineffaceable joys that the whole of life takes on new meaning.

DEATH OF MRS. JARMAN

Continued from page one

besides her husband, children and grandchildren, she is survived by two brothers, Dr. E. E. Wiley of Morristown and Dr. George E. Wiley of Bristol, Tennessee. She is mourned by a very large circle of friends throughout Virginia.

Among Mrs. Jarman's varied interests and activities, music always held a leading place. She sang in the choir of the Farmville Methodist Church for many years and she participated actively as a leader in the musical undertakings of the community. She was largely instrumental in bringing to Farmville from time to time some of the best musical talent available in this country for concerts or recitals. As a culmination of her life-long work in behalf of music she gave the Prince Edward County Music Club a leading place among the music clubs of the state when as district chairman for the Federation of Music Clubs in 1927 she organized and carried through one of the most successful district meetings in the state. During the last week of her life she was an enthusiastic attendant upon the grand opera in Richmond.

Mrs. Jarman was the leading spirit in the founding of the Farmville Woman's Club, and as president for several years of this useful organization, she opened the way to progress in various lines of community interest. During the World War she performed a most important patriotic service as chairman and director of the woman's work of the local Red Cross. In 1922, as chairman of the Prince Edward committee for the Virginia Historical Pageant, she carried through a program of county-wide acitivties which aroused great interest in local history, produced a county historical pageant and a normal school pageant, besides a number of smaller projects, and sent creditable representations from this county and the Normal School to the "Vahispa" celebrations in Richmond. In later years she has been very active in promoting the work of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, the development of local interest in the Shenandoah National Park, the Longwood Garden Club, and other progressive movements. Many days of thoughtful planning and of actual labor with her own hands were spent in making her own garden and the grounds at the President's home the beauty spot of Farmville, and she was never happier than when showing its beauties to her friends. The Southside Community Hospital, at which she died, owed much to her. She always had the best interests of the community at heart. And no woman has been more keenly aware of its needs, or more self-sacrificing in her efforts to promote its progress, or more effective in its service.

A NARROW WINDOW

A narrow window may let in the light,
A tiny star dispel the gloom of night,
A little deed a mightly wrong set right.

A rose, abloom, may make a desert fair,
A single cloud may darken all the air,
A spark may kindle ruin and despair.

A smile, and there may be an end to strife;
A look of love, and Hate may sheathe a knife;
A word—ah, it may be a word of life!

—Florence Earle Coates

FAITH

In every seed to breathe the flower,
In every drop of dew
To reverence a cloistered star
Within the distant blue;
To wait the promise of the bow,
Despite the cloud between,
Is Faith—the fervid evidence
Of loveliness unseen.

—John Banister Tabb

BEREFT

To be surrounded by the throng, and feel
Alone for lack of one dear face not there;
To know that loving friends would gladly share
The sorrow that is yours, yet long to steal
Away from all their sympathy—somewhere
In solitude to mourn! What strong appeal
The silence holds, and darkness doth reveal
A light that shines not in the noonday glare.

O lonely heart, that heareth not the song
Of myriads if one sweet voice be still,
Whose eyes, tear-blinded, listless gaze along
Life's pathway—heavenward lift those eyes until
You courage take! The sorrow is not long,
And joy a whole eternity will fill.

—Jennie M. Tabb "For You"

CROSSING THE BAR

Sunset and evening star,
Ane one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.

But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark.

For tho' from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face,
When I have crost the bar.

—Alfred Tennyson

SOCIAL

Among those who attended the opera were the following: Lois Fraser, Lillian Bovell, Cora L. Philpotts, Ethel Wiley, Elizabeth Casey, Sue Moomaw, Mary P. White, Margaret Hubbard, Martha von Schilling, Jack Hix, Eunice Bassett, Evelyn Graybeal, Adele Hutchinson, Julia Asher, Margaret Davis, Mary M. Patrick, Virginia Robertson, Alice Hanmer, Jane Grey Irby, Harriet Mason.

The following girls attended the show, "The Singing Fool" in Lynchburg, the past week-end: Mildred Robertson, Margaret Loving, Anne Ferree, Alice Carter, Mayo Beaty.

Miss Elizabeth Watkins spent the past week-end at her home in Richmond.

Miss Marjorie Parkinson spent the week-end at her home in Norfolk.

Miss Billy Booth spent the week-end at her home in Lynchburg.

Miss Elizabeth Bowers spent the week-end at her home in Richmond.

Miss Edith Britt spent the week-end with Miss Marguerite Foster at her home in Lynchburg.

Miss Mary Brightwell spent the week-end at her home in Pamplin.

Miss Ella Clore was the week-end guest of Mrs. Joe Carpenter at Cumberland.

Miss Virginia Cobb spent the week-end in Blackstone.

Miss Hanna Crawley spent the week-end at her home in Cumberland.

Misses Marjorie and Sarah Rowbotham and Louise Vaughan spent the week-end at their home in Altavista.

Miss Elizabeth Jordan was the week-end guest of Mrs. R. C. Wood of Lynchburg.

Miss "Teeny" Myers spent the week-end at her home in Roanoke.

Miss Billy Paris spent the week-end at her home in Crewe.

Miss Frances Hanmer spent the week-end at her home in Keysville.

Miss Suzanne Holland spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Miss Virginia Compton was the week-end guest of Miss Elizabeth Williams at her home in Brookneal.

Miss Frances Davis spent the week-end in Richmond.

Miss Louise DeShazo spent the week-end with Miss Loulie Milner at her home in Lynchburg.

Miss Mary Bernard spent the week-end in Petersburg.

VOICES

All day with anxious heart and wandering ear
I listened to the city; heard the ground
Echo with human thunder, and the sound
Go reeling down the streets and disappear.
The headlong hours, in their wild career,
Shouted and sang until the world was drowned
With babel voices, each one more profound . . .
All day it surged—but nothing could I hear
That night the country never seemed so still,
The trees and grasses spoke without a word
To stars that brushed them with their silver wings. .
Together with the moon I climbed the hill,
And, in the very heart of Silence, heard
The speech and music of immortal things.

—Louis Utermeyer

TRAINING SCHOOL POETRY

The following poems are selected from the work of children in the fifth grade in the training school. The work of the young poets deserves commendation.

SPRING

Spring-time lovely soon will come,
With the birds and flowers gay,
With the bee's old dizzy hum
When the days no more are gray.

I am glad the cold has gone
Gone for a year to stay;
For I'm tired of the school bell's dong
Because now I want to play.

James Blanton

WINTER

Winter cold is coming soon
With its days so grey and doomed;
For the spring-time then I'll long
For the bluebird and its song.

For the robin so gay and red
And the daisies' pretty head;
But the cold will come instead
Flow'rs and birds must lie in bed.

James Blanton

LONELY WIND

I think the wind is curious
To know the thing we play,
Around the fires at evening-time
And every stormy day.

He rattles at the latch and trees
To blow our curtains wide,
He pushes at the kitchen door
As though to come inside.

Poor wind,—we shut him out alone
The live long winter day,
And not a bird or child outside,
With whom the wind may play.

Lucy Glass

FIRE FLIES

I like to chase the fire-flies,
Chase them to and fro;
I like to watch them dart about,
Their little lamps a-glow.

In the evening twilght dim,
I follow them about;
I often think I have one caught,
And then his light goes out.

I cannot tell just where he is
Until he winks you see;
Then, far away I see his light,
He's played a joke on me.

Lucy Glass

MY BOAT

One day while sitting by the fire,
I made a pretty boat.
I took it to a branch nearby,
To see if it would float.

To my surprise, float it did;
It got away from me
I've wondered almost every day,
Where my boat can be.

ohn Fisher

SORORITY SCHOLARSHIP CUP AWARDED SIGMAS

Pan-hellenic wishes to announce that Sigma Sigma Sigma won the scholarship cup for the fall quarter, 1928. Each quarter the sorority having the highest average is presented with this cup to keep during the following quarter.

About seventy of the higher institutions of learning in the United States are now giving courses in aeronautics.—Virginia Tech.

NEW REPUBLIC STARTS CONTEST

As a result of a recent controversy in the magazines over who should go to college, and who should not, the New Republic is offering a first prize of a hundred dollars and a second prize of seventy-five dollars to the college student or younger college graduate who writes the best essay not exceeding two thousand words on "College As It Might Be."

This contest is being put on in an effort to find out the student's opinions about higher education and the colelge man. At present the opinion held by some educators is that everybody should be given a college education and by other that only one-half of one percent should go to college.

The contest is open only to members of the college classes from 1926-1930. Paprs must be addressed to College Essay Editor care of the New Republic. The contest will close April 1 and the winning papers will be published before the present academic year is over.—Exchange.

TO A MUSICIAN

Who, now, when evening darkens the water and the stream is dull,
Slowly in a delicate frock, with her leghorn hat in her hand,
At your side from under the golden osiers moves,
Faintly smiling, shattered by the charm of your voice?

There, today, as in the days when I knew you well,
The willow sheds upon the stream its narrow leaves,
And the quiet flowing of the water and its faint smell
Are balm to the heart that grieves.

Together with the sharp discomfort of loving you,
Ineffable you, so lovely and so aloof,
There is laid upon the spirit the calmness of the river view:
Together they fall, the pain and its reproof.

Who, now, under the yellow willows at the water's edge
Closes defeated lips upon the trivial word unspoken,
And lifts her soft eyes freighted with a heavy pledge
To your eyes empty of pledge, even of pledges broken?

—Millay

THE BOOKMOBILE

The students of S. T. C. had the privilege last Saturday of seeing one of the newest advertising projects in the United States—the Bookmobile.

This long, deep-blue automobile, is being sent all over the country under the supervision of five large publishing houses. The main idea is to bring to the country as a whole, the same kind of exhibits and fresh information as are available at the booths of the national library conventions, giving all a chance to see and study near at hand the reference books, periodicals, equipment and binding methods that are making for progress in the libraries of the larger cities.

Marshall College, of West Virginia, has abolished the plan of having weekly assemblies because of "the poor interest shown by both students and the faculty."—Virginia Tech.

The students of the University of Texas voted nine to two to abandon the honor system, which has been followed by that institution since the opening of school.—Virginia Tech.

WORLD NEWS

Out of Moscow comes another announcement of vast historic interest. The executive committee of the Soviet government has forbidden the use of the word "Russia" and all its derivations in all administrative and judicial organs of U. S. S. R. Those initials stand for the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. Henceforth "Russia" and all words derived from it will be replaced by "Soviet" and its derivations. In the future history classes will not study about the Russian people; English classes will not delve into "Russian" literature. "Soviet" will be the correct, or at any rate the commanded adjective.

The longest railroad tunnel in America, an eight mile bore through the Cascade range 100 miles east of Seattle, was formally opened for train operation by the Great Northern Railway Company on January 12. The tunnel cost $14,000,000.

King Amanullah of Afghanistan, is just now being forcefully reminded of the fact that East is East and West is West.—Louisville Courier Journal.

Florida and California will approve the thirteen month calendar, providing the extra month is added to their winter season.—Deumont Press.

Not all the bad bills are passed by counterfeiters. Let us not forget our legislators.—American Lumberman.

'TIS BALDWIN'S MONTH IN FARMVILLE

Never before in the history of our store have we offered such amazing bargains.

Beautiful fur trimmed fall coats in the seasons latest colors, fabrics and styles are offered in this record breaking sale at extremely low prices.

Group No. 1—$16.50
Group No. 2—$27.50

Come in and try 'em on

BALDWINS

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"The Rexall Store"
CARA NOME TOILETRIES

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS — DRESSES
GLOVES — HOSIERY
SHOES — HATS
DAVIDSON'S
Great Semi-Annual 20%
Clearance Sale
GOING ON
Ends Saturday, Feb. 2
BUY NOW AND SAVE
20c
ON EVERY DOLLAR YOU SPEND
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
DRESS-GOODS — NOTIONS

Fashion Show of
New Spring Dresses
ADVANCE STYLES
CHIC MODELS
"COLORS"
"The Newest"
Prices
$16 75
$4.95 $9.95
"Charge It"
HUB
DEPT. STORE

COTILLION CLUB BIDS NEW GIRLS

The Cotillion Club wishes to announce the following new members: Martha Mackenzie, Jane Wiley, Mayo Beaty, Evelyn Holland, Mary Todd, Elizabeth Watkins, Mildred Owen, Marion Seay, Marjorie Parkinson, Carrie Lunsford, Jean Gibson, Mary W. Pugh, Nancy Putney, Martha Cecil, Florence Crawley, Lindsay White, Catherine Marchant, Lucy Thornton, Evelyn Jones, Anna Frances Barrett, Anna Bruce Whitmore, Sarah McCorkle, Mamie Preston, Doris Anderson, Elizabeth Etheridge, Nancy Duberry, Catherine Grinnan, Catherine Downing, Catherine Nichols, Pearl Johnson, Margaret Loving, Mildred Elmore, Dorothy Anderson, Loulie Milner, Martha Wood, Lula Mitchell, Jessie Smith, Mary Priest, Rosalie Rhea, Emaline Marshall, Susanne Holland, Sterling Thornton, Alice Carter, Edith Britt, Elizabeth Williams, Lucy Dortch, Virginia Compton, Nora Petty, Doris Walton, Helen Robertson, Mary S. Taliaferro, Elaine Goode, Carrie Bickford, Ella Simms Clore, Emma Lou Pulliam, Louise Munt.

SKIING

Montreal has a rival in winter sports. Farmville boasts a toboggan slide from the senior building all the way to the street. This was conclusively shown last week when the side walk was covered with ice.

Many of the artistically ambitious girls fluttered gracefully (?) down the incline only to arrive at the end of their journey in an indistinguishable heap, while the more cautious ones tripped daintily along with little squeals and heart-throbs. Here's hoping that we don't have any more ice or we will never be able to get to breakfast on time.

Then to top the climax another step line has just been added to those leading to the street, which means just one more to hit when we fall down.

Probably the stores down town will get in an extra supply of track shoes for the benefit of the juniors and seniors—but that is merely a suggestion.

WOMEN BEWARE

T'was the Opening class
And the Instructor had never
Taught before,
Especially, it was
A class on
The college
For teachers
And the young
Ladies(?)
Were sprinkled around
The room
When according to
Custom the instructor
Passed around
Little cards, he said:
"Will the gentlemen
Kindly fill in
Their names
And addresses."
And then,
Noticing the ladies,
He added,
"And will the young
Ladies kindly write
Down their
Telephone numbers."
I thank you.

—Black and Blue Jay

SING

Rush! Jam! Everybody rushing through doors. What's happening? Sing—of course.

Everyone gave a sigh of joy when Nora Petty appeared, featuring a toe dance. The roof of the auditorium almost raised with laughter when Sylvia Yost completed a very humorous reading, "Moo, Cow, Moo."

Last, there was a playlet "That Old Sweetheart of Mine" in which quite a number of S. T. C. students took part. While Miss Potts played numerous selections on the piano, fond memories were brought back to the hero, Nancy Nelms. The here saw many of his old sweethearts, some of whom were Etta Marshall, Liz Munn, Clara Norfleet, Evelyn Holland, Lucille Graves, Frances Millican and Mary Todd, each representing a different type of girl but the one he really loved was his first sweetheart, Etta Marshall.

During the playlet a minuet was given by Mary Todd, Alice Adams, Marian Seay, Martha Jones, Lil Bennett, Dolly Single, Louise Hilton and Juanita Womble.

The playlet ended with an original song written by Etta Marshall "You Are a Part of My Dreams" sung by Nancy Nelms and Etta Marshall.

ALUMNAE NEWS

On Saturday, January 19, Miss Alice E. Carter, alumnae secretary, Miss Ada Bierbower and Miss Carrie B. Taliaferro, attended a very interesting meeting of the North Carolina-Virginia division of the American Alumni Council which was held in Richmond. Mr. Richard E. Thigpen, Duke University, presided. Mr. Thigpen is treasurer of the Council and his question and comments were very illuminating, for one of the greatest problems of an alumni association is securing financial support. Miss Florence H. Snow, of Smith College, president of the American Alumni Council was the chief speaker in the morning and out of her wide experience gave valuable advice and information to those in attendance. Among the colleges and universities represented were Virginia, North Carolina, Davidson, Sweet Briar William and Mary, Duke, University of Richmond, Harrisonburg, R. M C. and R. M. W. A., Medical College of Richmond, Mary Baldwin, St. Mary's. Dr. F. W Boatwright, of the University of Richmond, was the speaker at the luncheon, which was in the Hotel Richmond.

Miss Thurzetta Thomas, formerly of Roanoke, now of Chester, Pa., was married anuary 22 to John Thomas Ross, of Chester. Mrs. Ross is a member of Pi Kappa Omega and has achieved distinction in social service work.

Mrs. Winifred Healy Canada, died in a Roanoke hospital early in January.

Miss R. Belle Burks, district home demonstration agent, has been visiting Miss Elizabeth R. Carmichael, county home demonstration agent in Spottsylvania county and planning the program of activities for the year.

Miss Ruth Clement of Appomattox, is teaching in the Arvonia High School.

PLUCKY FOREIGN STUDENTS IN U. S.

New York, January 16—Terming foreign students in American colleges and universities as future leaders in their own coutnries, Miss Anne Wiggin, Y. W. C. A. secretary, says that their opinion of the United States may be the making by our attitude towards them. As members of the educated class in their own countries, in the near future they may play a part in influencing public opinion toward the United States.

"When you realize that these students both men and women, represent 75 countries yearly here in American colleges, the importance of our friendly attitude toward them becomes important," she said. "Fifteen hundred young women are here annually for a college education that must be received in another language on the campus even more foreign and strange in habits and opinions. All face homesickness and prolonged separation from all that is familar."

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY

Have you heard about the spring play the Dramatic Club is going to give? You haven't Well, perhaps not, but I thought everyone would know by this time.

They're going to give "The Return of Peter Grimm" and Etta Marshall has the lead. Do I think it will be a success? I know it, has any play Miss Wheeler ever put on been a flop. And with Etta in the lead, why my dear, it just couldn't help being a success. When? Oh, the date hasn't yet been given out, but I for one intend to watch for the date and get my ticket as early as possible, I wouldn't miss it for the world.

What type play? Haven't you read it? No, well its a very unusual play entirely different from the fall play, a little deeper and more difficult, but one which will appeal to the audience.

E. H. SOTHERN IN DRAMATIC RECITAL

Continued from page one

was remarkably well played.

Besides these scenes he spoke briefly and charmingly of the history of the American theatre. The anecdotes which accompanied this were all fascinating and amusing. The audience seemed especially delighted with the part of Lord Dundreary taken from the play, "Our American Cousin" which was played in 1857. This character, which was made by Mr. Sothern's father was played by him for nearly twenty years.

The final feature of the program was the reading of four poems from the play If I Were King, in which he has often played the delightful part of Francois Villon, the vagabond poet.

Only to see Sothern was a privilege. To hear him in such a remarkable program was an invaluable opportunity. His power and vigor as an actor, and his charming personality as a gentleman can not be forgotten.

JUNIORS CONDUCT WEEK OF PRAYERS

Beginning with Tuesday the junior class has been conducting prayers each night this week. Ethel Fisher led prayers on Tuesday night and Margaret Leonard on Wednesday. Lucy Thompson will lead Thursday night, and Etta Marshall will lead Friday. Nancy Denit deserves special commendation for the lovely music she has provided each night.

EFFORT MADE TO SECURE ATHLETIC FIELD

Prof. T. C. Johnson attended a meeting of High Point citizens at the Commercial Club last week, held in the interest of a municipal athletic field. He urged that such a field ought to be located on the High Point College campus and pointed out the many natural advantages of the place designated for an athletic stadium by the landscape gardener's plot of the campus.-Among these advantages he stressed the place as easily accessible to the traffic from two of the main streets of the city.—The Hi-Po.

FREE FLYING COURSE OFEERED TO STUDENTS

An opportunity to win a free flying course is offered students of the University of North Carolina by J. S. Charles, head of the Charles Flying Service and operator of a large flying school at Richmond, Va.

Mr. Charles, a distributor of Eaglerock airplanes in North Carolina and Virginia, has announced he would award a free 10-hour flying course worth approximately $800, to the college student in his territory who makes the best showing in the aeronautical contest which the Alexander Aircraft company of Colorado Springs is holding this spring to arouse more collegiate interest in aviation.—The Tar Heel.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books. Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

At the Eaco Theatre

Week of Feb. 4th—9th

MON. & TUES.—Richard Barthelmess and Molly O' Day in "THE PATENT LEATHER KID", a super special road show production. The greatest human drama of all times? It's the new sensation in motion pictures! Hit New York harder than any $2 picture in history! Over capacity at every performance for sixteen solid weeks! Critics said: "One of the best pictures ever made. "Deeply moving romance. Huge spectacle. It is thrilling the world. Don't miss it! I cannot too strongly urge every one to see this great picture. Also news reel and football film. Matinee each day at 4 o'clock.

WED.—Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton in the special Paramount picture, "WIFE SAVERS." The king team of comedy back again! "Wife Savers", but no wife is safe from their hilarious laughter. Supported by an all star comedy cast headed by Zasu Pitts. Great entertainment. Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

THURS., FRI., & SAT.—Colleen Moore and Gary Cooper in "LILAC TIME" another big $2 road show, super special production. Everyone has heard of this great picture. Powerful, gripping, all inspiring! One of the most sensational and daring things of its kind included in its circus in the clouds. Played in New York for several months at 2.20 admission prices to packed houses. Also short subjects. There will be a matinee on this picture Thursday only. Please come Thursday or Friday as the theatre will be crowded to the limit Saturday night.

FRI. & SAT.—at mats. only.—Bessie Love and Tom Moore in the special production, "ANYBODY HERE SEEN KELLY." Yes, you'll go wild over this startling romance of a little French girl who came to New York to find her war time sweetheart. Did she find him? And how! Take our word for it—You'll love it. Also comedy.

Admission to S. T. C. girls getting tickets at college Wed. and Friday and Saturday mats. 25c. Other shows 35c.

COME TO THE CABARET SUPPER

ROTUNDA

FRESHMEN! PAY YOUR CLASS DUES

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA WEDNESDAY, FEB. 6, 1929 No. 16

SOCIETY OF ANCIENT INSTRUMENTS WILL APPEAR ON LYCEUM COURSE FEB. 14

Five Early Instruments Arranged in Varied Musical Program

The Society of Ancient Instruments of Paris, which had such a success last spring in Washington at the Chamber Music Festival, will give a concert in the S. T. C. auditorium on Wednesday evening, February 14.

The "Societe des Instruments Anciens," the the world famous virtuoso combnation was founded in 1901 by Henri Casadesus. It is made up of five string instruments, which were in common use two or three centuries ago. The repertoire offered by the society includes string quartets, quintets for strings and clavichords, symphonies, and fantasies for each respective instrument. Almost forgotten airs of the past are played upon the five remarkable instruments. Among some of the composers of the old music are Bach, Hayden and Mozart.

The society has been giving concerts in every important country on the continent, in England and in the United States for nearly thirty years. Through the tireless effort of the gifted Henri Casadesus and the superb artistry of each of the members the society has been made popular and successful and has enjoyed a great number of brilliant occasions. It has been acclaimed in Paris, in Bonn, at the Conservatory of Berlin, at the conservatories of Moscow and Petrograd and at the Conservatory of Brussels. Thousands of press notices have been collected concerning the triumphs of this world famous society and of the marvelous concerts given by it.

MADAME SCHUMAN-HEINK TO BE IN LYNCHBURG

Madame Schuman-Heink, noted contralto, will appear at the Smith Memorial auditorium, Saturday evening at 8:30, February 9, at Lynchburg. Some members of the S. T. C. faculty and student body will probably attend the concert.

DRAMATIC CLUB ANNOUNCES CAST

The Dramatic Club has finally consented to announce the characters of their next play, "The Return of Peter Grimm," to be given in the early spring. They are as follows:

Peter Grimm ..... Etta Marshall
Catherine, (Peter's adopted daughter) ..... Mary Ellen Cato
Frederick Grimm .... Jane Hunt Martin
Dr. Macpherson .... Henrietta Cornwell
James (Peter's secretary ..... Virginia Cox
Mr. Batholomew .... Adele Hutchinson
Mrs. Lawton ..... Elsie Clements
Colonel Lawton ..... Virginia Gurley
William ..... Anne Cox
Marta (the maid) Evelyn Thompson

DEDICATION

To those who once were Freshmen and to those who are yet to be, we, the class of '32, dedicate this, our Freshman issue of the Rotunda.

TWO CHANGES MADE IN FACULTY

There have been several changes in the faculty during the past week. Miss Barlow, physical education instructor, has discontinued teaching for the next two terms to study at Columbia. Miss Louise Robinson of Lynchburg, Virginia will take Miss Barlow's place during her absence. Miss Kelly, chemistry assistant, has also arrived to fill the vacancy left by Miss Whitfield. She will have charge of the laboratory work and several lecture classes.

CABARET SUPPER FOR HUNGRY STUDENTS

We are all complaining of being hungry. Well, here is a chance to get some real food at minimum cost. There is going to be a Valentine Cabaret Supper in the recreation hall from 5:30 to 7:30 P. M. on Saturday, February 9. The idea of St. Valentine's Day will be carried out in the decorations.

The menu includes ham or fried oysters, potato salad, stuffed celery, pickle, hot rolls, and coffee. The cost of the supper as given above will be fifty cents. Ice cream, home-made cake, and candy will be sold separately.

During the supper you will have the privilege of seeing and hearing some of the school's best entertainers. The program will be given twce; first, between 5:30 and 6:30, and second between 6:30 and 7:30. Music will be furnished for those guests who wish to dance.

MISS VIRGINIA BEDFORD

FRESHMEN PRESENT CLASS MAN JAN. 26

The freshman class of 1929 presented their class man, Miss Virginia Bedford, to the faculty and the student body in chapel, Saturday, January 26.

Dressed in white, with their rat caps on, the naive-looking freshmen, led by Miss Bedford and the class president, Virginia Cox, marched into chapel. While the class stood, they sang of their first days here and now—rat caps were taken off, for "We love you, Dr. Jarman, and we love the faculty," they sang.

Virginia Cox presented Miss Bedford as the freshman class man. Then, the vivacious freshmen sang "For Our Class Man, Hip, Hip, Hoorah!"

Miss Bedford is a native of Columbia, Missouri. She received her high school training in the University High School of Columbia. In June 1927, she graduated from the Univeristy of Missouri with a B. S. degree from School of Education with a major in fine, applied and industrial arts. During her school years, she was

Continued on page three

TENTATIVE PROGRAM OF CHRISTIAN WORLD EDUCATION SPEAKERS GIVEN

Five Speakers Will Discuss Christian World Problems

On Sunday, February 10, Dr. R. B. Eleazer will conduct the morning services at the Methodist Church. His subject will be: "What the Bible tells us about race relations." Mr. Sayre will speak at the Epworth League and Christian Endeavor on the Anglo-American relations.

Miss Willa Young, national student secretary of World Fellowship Committee will lead vespers and morning watch. She has sepnt most of her life working with college students, understands them, and has studied their problems, and is here to give us her time.

The three speakers for Monday are Mrs. Joyce Edwards, native of India; Miss Lindsey, and Mr. Starr. They wil ltalk to the different classes on these subjects: "Education as an Unifying Element in India," "Mother India," Southern Industrial Development and Geographical Sketch of India."

The freshmen and all other students will be given the opportunity to hear these speakers at song class, the regular chapel hour. If you can not attend chapel Monday there will be an open forum, at which the three leaders will talk to those interested. This will be from five to six in the Student Building lounge. Open forum will be a questionnaire on industry. international relations and other Christian world problems. Come with your questions. They will give the answers.

FRESHMAN STAFF

Editor-inchief Anna B. Whitmore
News editor Louise Elliot
Circulation Mgr. Henrietta Cornwell
Literary editor Loulie Milner
Humorous editor Martha Walters
Reporters — Katherine Downing, Marion Seay.

NEW MEMBERS OF RUFFNER SOCIETY

The Ruffner Liteary Society wishes to announce the following new members: Katherine Bully, Marjorie Crumpler, Mary Buford Epes, Ethel Fisher, Margaret Fisher, Elsie P. Fox, Alice Harrison, Louise Howerton, Margaret Hubbard, Elizabeth McCauley, Susie E. Odor, Ruth Owen, Virginia Fultz, Grace Rose, Easter Souders, Virtley Stevenson, Evelyn Stevenson, Mildred W. Steere, Laura M. Smith, Virginia Thompson, Martha von Schilling, Virginia Wagner, Frances Whitehead, Virginia Yarborough, Ann Stump, Kathryn Forest, Bruce Nicholson, Virgnia Robertson.

COTTAGE F HAS UNWELCOME VISITOR

Excitement as well as chagrin reigned in Cottage F Monday night after the basketball game with Harrisonburg. As some of the girls came on the porch, they noticed that one of the front windows had been raised. On nvestigating the downstairs bedrooms, it was found that a covetous visitor had paid an unappreciated call during the occupants absence. About $5 in money was taken and also a jewelry box containing several valuable rings and many peces of custom jewelry. Cousin Tommy was called as soon as the robbery was discovered, but no trace of the thief was disclosed.

SPECIAL SING FRIDAY

The Cunningham Literary Society is giving a special sing, Friday, February 8, admission 10c. The program will consist of readings, dances, music and a one-act play written by Kittie Johnson.

DEBATING CLUB

At the Debating Club meeting, held Thursday night, there was a very interesting debate on the question: Resolved—That we accept the naval cruiser bill proposed by Coolidge.

Jessie Smith and Alice Hanmer upheld the affirmative, and Mary Rose Wood and Martha Farris upheld the negative. The decision was two to one in favor of the negative.

At the business of the meeting, Mary Jane Vaden, was elected assistant reporter for the Debating Club.

The Monogram Club wishes to announce Miss Laura N. Smith as a new member.

FIRST VARSITY GAME WON BY HARRISONBURG

On Monday night, January 4, S. T. C. opened her basketball season with Harrisonburg in a fast hard fought game.

Although the visiting team defeated S. T. C. by the score of 30 to 9, our team proved a menace throughout the game.

S. T. C. started off on the right foot when Laura N. Smith made good a field goal but their small lead was soon cancelled when Harrisonburg found the basket to put them in the lead which they maitained throughout the remainder of the game.

Both of our forwards were quick to take their opportunities furnished by the excellent passwork of the centers and guards. On the other hand the perfect team work and good playing of the Harrisonburg team made possible the astonishing score which gave them the game.

The score at the end of the first half was 16—5 in favor of the opponents. During the second half our team ran the score up but was never in the lead.

S. T. C. showed plenty of fight through the length of a loosing game and also unusual promise for the season in their team work.

Under the leadership of Captain Hatchett and the coaching of Miss Iler we are looking forward to one of the best basketball seasons we've ever had.

We are proud of you, team!

The line-up for the game was as follows:

S. T. C.		Harrisonburg
L. N. Smith	F.	Smith
L. M. Smith	F.	Sullivan
Souders	S. C.	Ralston
Gurley	C.	Quisenberry
Hatchett	G.	Miller
Coleman	G.	Heiger

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... FLORENCE REED, '31
Art ..... CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE. '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader
MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

The Three Cs

Our grandmother went to school to learn the three Rs—Reading, 'Riting and 'Rithmetic. Now, we as students in the year 1929 have placed as our goal the three Cc—Character, Culture and Citizenship. Of course, the mastery of Reading, Writing and Arithmetic is among the necessary requirements of all education, but we as modern educators, place Character, Culture and Citizenship as our primary aim.

Character, Culture and Citizenship are closely related and are nearly always found together. This is especially true of Character and Citizenship. The term "good citizenship" applies to the person who participates in the work and welfare of his community, obeys all written and unwritten laws and is honorable in all things. In speaking of persons of good character, we think of honor, service and loyalty as their most outstanding traits, these being practically the same as those noted for citizenship. The good citizen inherits the rights of freedom and posterity; the person of good character finds the joy in living on earth and the joy of the life eternal. Culture to a certain extent, relates to our age-old Reading, 'Riting and 'Rithmetic, but the person of today meriting the term "cultured" must not only acquire mental training but must also possess a code of self-discipline and refinement.

No other group of people needs the acquirement of the three Cs more than the college group. No college course is complete without their mastery. No student or student body, individually or collectively, can hope to make a success without the three characteristics, Character, Culture and Citizenship.

Time

Have you ever thought how much time you idly waste each day, or have you analyzed the time you give to each phase of your activities?

Benjamin Franklin was an economist in time as in all things. Each day he planned so as to have time for work, play, service, self-improvement and communion with his Heavenly Father. Thomas Edison made his first and some of his most important inventions during his spare time. Henry Ford created his first "Lizzie" during his idle moments. And so, we see that the consideration and value of time well spent has played a great role in the success of our outstanding Ameircan citizens.

As in professional life, so in college, the consideration of time is worthwhile. Everyone needs time for work, for rest, for eating, and for play, but these should be planned in a proportion relative to their importance.

Few students have schedules filled to the extent of having no spare time. Most of us spend this spare time in—doing nothing. We just sit and talk, and sit and talk some more. This world is moving too rapidly to profitably allow such waste. Of course, talking is essential, but as in all things, moderation should play its part here.

The ideal schedule of time should contain, work, play, service, self-improvement and communion with our Father in Heaven. To formulate such a schedule of time, a set goal or purpose to accomplish one particular thing is quite helpful. That goal should be something beneficial, something that will broaden your life and give you a better understanding of your fellowmen.

Manners

During our high school career, all of us were told an innumerable number of times, and all of us had strongly impressed upon us the fact that we were no longer children but high school students; being such, we must leave our childish habits and manners and act the part of high school students. When a girl has reacher the college age she has, presumably, attained the manners which a college girl should have. All of us, however, still have retained to some extent our carelessness, if not our childishness.

Every girl here at S. T. C. has been taught manners, politeness, unselfishness, and courtesy, not only in high school, but also in her home. Many times, however, girls seem to forget their previous training acquired in home and school. For instance, we have always been taught that it is the height of rudeness to talk when another person is talking, but yet, we seem to forget this many times in the classroom, dining room and in chapel. In our buoyancy of spirit we are not only inattentive but even irreverent during the devotional exercise at chapel, and in the dining room while the grace or blessing is being said some of us do not seem to realize its purpose and seriousness. We seem to take the end of the blessing as a mere signal to start the meal.

These little breaches of scholastic etiquete are nearly always carlessness and forgetfulness on the part of the student. We have been taught good manners, which training may well be expressed in eevryday college life.

AN ARTIST OF THE SAND HILLS

In the little town of Southern Pines, North Carolina, there lives an artist. He is not a painter who talks of Raphael and Hitian, and not a sculptor nor a musician.

He works in wood, and the instruments he uses are the plane and calipers. The masters he studiees and strives to equal are Guarnerias and Amati, the famous violinists. He is a violin maker.

He is more than a craftsman; he is an artist. The creation of his brain and hands are not mere peices of wood; they are things having almost life and soul.

The artist is Allen Roberts, a native of England, but since 1901 a citizen of Southern Pines. His entire life has been devoted to the study and making of violins. Since the time when he first fashioned a violin and felt the thrill of a creator, he has never thought of following any other vocation. He is completely under the spell of the king of musical instruments. He talks violins, thinks violins, studies violins, and dreams violins. All the energy of his mind and body have been devoted to this one task.

Thus, the man has cultivated his talent into a lovely and beautiful thing.. From the wood of the North Carolina hills he fashions his work of art. He finds joy in the hills and the wood, they yield; he finds joy in both the making of his violins and in the finished product, and by that product, he is giving joy to the world. Could anyone live a more radiant life than this?

F. W. '32

COLLEGE

I was graduated from high school in quite a sudden manner. No one ever thought I'd finally pull through. It was much against my will that I finished, or rather was finished, for I could never quite feature myself as being anywhere but in high school. So it was a shock to my fond parents to find that the yhad a grown daughter o ntheir hands, who had finished high school and didn't have anything to do. If they had let me alone, I could have found plenty to do, because I'm really quite capable—of most anything. Instead, they began to nose around in the different college catalogues and unanimously agreed that Farmville was the institution in which I should pursue my course of higher learning.

At the graduation exercises, some distinguished citizen had expounded forth on the honor of a college course. The superintendent revealed unto us the pitfalls of life and a minister gave us a formula for reforming the human race. But no such noble motive had I in coming to college. After weeks of violent protestations that I didn't want to be an old school teacher, I finally submitted to my fate, as I could not resist my father's eloquence any longer. He uncovered to me virtues and assets of Farmville that I'm sure Dr. Jarman himself neevr knew existed. Dad could have made loads of money if he'd commercialized his eloquence and written advertisments for S. T. C., then I wouldn't have needed a profession.

I sent in an application and with its acceptance received a little brown book entitled "Student Handbook." After reading this book I received my first mpression of Farmville.

I had a vision of nine hundred and sixteen young ladies dressed in white, tripping along the sidewalk in a dignified manner, and religiously balancing themselves so as not to step on the grass or deface the sacred shrub-

(Continued on last page)

MORNING WATCH

I wake to see the golden, dewy night
draw near its end;
To watch God's starry candles slowly
burn out, one by one;
And with my Heavenly Father to
"commune as friend with friend,"
From dusky, cold-gray morn until the rising of the sun.

I kneel to pray there in the cloistral
shadows cool and dim,
And ask my God to help me, in my world of commonplace,
To live the like that Jesus lived, (for
I would follow Him)—
To find in simple things a depth of beauty and a grace.

And when the turquoise dawn begins
to break upon the land,
A tranquil peace comes to me that I've never had before;
God is so very near, and holds my hand within His Hand.
When pools of golden sunlight come
to ripple on my floor,

I remember that I cannot always dream among the stars,—
I must consume in work for Him the strength I've gained in prayer,
Again I place my ardent soul behind its prison bars—
But mother says I never brush the star-dust from my hair . . . .

A. H. '32

MY CASTLE

I've built a castle on a hill
Above this world of strife,
I've built this castle strong and fair
A place for love and Life.

Each day I add some one new thing
Though poor and small it be;
For in the end I want to find
It furnished completely.

Never shut is my house of dreams
It's doors ope wide each day--
That every thought, if good and true,
Will enter there to stay.

L. M. '32

WHY?

Why must sorrow come,
Why the grief and pain?
Why our souls be crushed,
Why our hopes all slain?

'Tis not because we're failing,
Nor because God's turned his face,
'Tis because He knows that joy
Must come in sorrow's place.

Sometimes in our sadness
We learn to cope with life
And know that up in Heav'n
There'll be no toil, no strife.

We also find a beauty
In things right here on earth,
And learn to smile at worries
And give to laughter birth.

That is why the sorrow,
The grief and bitter pain,
And after all we find
That hope is never slain.

Loulie Milner

SOCIAL

Miss Margaret Pumphrey spent the week-end in Blackstone as the guest of Mrs. Ashley Adams.

Misses Marguerite Swann and Rosalie Rhea spent the week-end in Greensboro, N. C.

Miss Mary F. Taliaferro spent the week-end in Richmond.

Misses Mary Wilson Pugh and Harriet Branch spent the past week-end at Sweet Briar.

Miss Martha Mackenzie spent the week-end at Sweet Brar, the guest of Miss Susan Marshall.

Miss Mary Page Archer spent the past week-end at Blackstone.

Miss Dorothy Anderson spent the week-end at her home in Danville.

Mss Carrie Bickford spent the week-end at her home in Roanoke.

Misses Lil Bennett and Mary Beasley spent the week-end in Richmond.

Miss Anna Bruce Whitmore spent the past week-end at her home in Manassas.

Miss Mary Will iVncent spent the week-end at her home in Emporia.

Miss Doris Walton spent the week-end at her home in Danville.

Miss Nancy Welborn spent the week-end at her home in High Point, North Carolina.

Miss Katerine Nichols and Miss Katherine Downing spent the week-end at their homes in Norfolk.

Miss Virginia Cobb spent the week-end in Blackstone.

Miss Vrginia Lowe spent the week-end at Annapolis, Maryland, where she attended the dances at the United States Naval Academy.

Misses Louise Foster and Genevieve Grimes spent the week-end in Richmond.

Miss Frances Hanmer spent the week-end in Crewe, the guest of Mrs. A. S. Faris.

Miss Sarah Harris spent the week-end in Lawrenceville.

Miss Jane Grey Irby spent the week-end at her home in Blackstone.

Miss Anna H. Jones spent the week-end in Winston-Salem, N. C., the guest of Miss Mildred Owen.

Miss Alice Adams spent the week-end in Richmond, the guest of Miss Elizabeth Watkins.

Miss Lela Germany spent the week-end in Charlottesville.

Miss Marion Seay spent the week-end in Richmond, the guest of Miss Mary Todd.

Mrs. P. A. Richardson visited her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Richardson this past week-end.

Miss Rachel Royall and Miss Lib Smitherman were the week-end guests of Miss Blanche Murrell, at her home in Lynchburg.

Miss Kitty Whyte spent the week-end with her sister, Miss Ida Whyte.

Miss Virginia Bledsoe had as her week-end guest Miss Kitty Johnson, at her home in Baltimore.

Mss Pauline Camper, a member of S. T. C. faculty, who is studying this year at Columbia, vistied here last week. She was welcomed by numerous friends.

Misses Turner, Davis, Anderson, Elizabeth M. Taylor and Lillian Bovell attended the Boston Symphony Concert in Richmond last week.

FRESHMEN PRESENT THEIR CLASS MAN

Continued from page one

a member of the Delta Phi Delta, national art fraternity, of the Kappa Beta, a sorority of Christian Church girls of the state universities, and of the Chi Beta Epsilon. For a year, she taught in Southern Texas and Ohio and the following summer in a Missouri State Teachers College.

DR. R. B. ELEAZER

Speaker on Race Relations

PICTURES OF CHILDHOOD ACTIVITIES OBSERVED

For the benefit of all students interested in primary activities, the Farmville Chapter of the National Childhood Education held an open meeting in the Student Building auditorium on Thursday night.

A large number of pictures indicating the development of projects in the primary grades of the College Training School was shown on the slide machine. These pictures were introduced by Louise Hardy, who briefly explained the significance of each activity.

Aside from the local pictures, a group of slides, representing schools all over the United States, was shown. These slides included pictures of the modern type of primary classrooms in action, individual and group activities, as well as a series of group activities.

he slides used in the exhibit were secured through the courtesy of Miss Mary Dabney Davis, specialist in nursery, kindergarten and primary education of the Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C.

FRESHMAN COMMISSION BROADCASTS

This is station L-I-S-S-E-N, broadcasting on a loud wave length. We wish to present t oyou the Freshman Commission, as they have some great news!

Girls! Now is your chance to see a delightful movie, aid the Freshman Commission and a possible chance of discovering unknown powers in your own make-up! At least we offer a suggestion by which you may get away from routine and familiar scenes; that is, see "The Magnificent Flirt". This picture was selected with your tastes in mind. Cute clothes, thrills, romance, fun and handsome men are all woven into this picture by Florence Vidor.

Dont' miss it. It's well worth your money.

Signing off,
The Freshman Commission

ALUMNAE NEWS

Miss Elizabeth Martin and Love Wright are teaching at Blue Ridge.

Miss Louise Stallings was married last August to Mr. Algernon Holloman.

Miss Kathleen Stallings of Elberon, Virginia, is taking a business course in Norfolk.

Miss Mary Wright has now taken up the teaching profession at Columbia, South Carolina.

WORLD NEWS

President-elect Hoover has been awarded the John Fritz medal, it has been recently announced by the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. he ohn Fritz medal established n 1902 is a joint award of four American engineering societies, civil, electrical, mining and mechanical. It is awarded annually for "notable scientific or industrial achievement."

Th American public has a new name, given it by Carl Sandberg, a poet. The San Francisco Call quoted him today as saying: "I shall not inflict another volume of poetry upon the egg-headed American public until 1932, and maybe not until 1935." Newspaper readers are wondering if this was "a dirty dig" or a friendly jest.

An earthquake in the Tajikistan region of Central Asia, near the Afghanistan border, destroyed several villages on February 3. The shocks lasted for about twenty minutes.

Chicago is generally thought to be a rather dangerous place for innocent bystanders who are liable to be attacked by machine guns at almost any time. On the contrary Chicago ranks low in its proportion of homicides. There were only 13.3 homicides per 100,000 population in 1927, while the city of Memphis leads the South with 69.3 homicides per 100,000, followed by Birmingham, Charlotte, Jacksonville, Atlanta and Miami ,all of which have higher homicide rates than Chicago.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH HOLDS MISSION SCHOOL

The Presbyterian Church held a Mission Study Class Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of last week. The school was divided into several classes: one class for men, one for women, one for the college girls, and one for the ntermediate boys and girls. The school assembled at six o'clock in the Sunday School Assembly room before going to the basement where a delicious supper was served.

Opening exercises were held in the assembly room after supper. At seven o'clock a bell was rung and the classes begun in their respective meeting places.

The school was very fortunate in having four returned missionaries from China. As instructors, Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Crawford and Mr. Graham. They gave many interesting incidents of their own experiences in China, which added interest to the school.

FRESH FROSH SPEAKS

The funniest thing of the week is the freshman who heard that all 'ecords were kept in the registrar's office, and asked Miss Jinnie for Gene Austin's latest.

HANDS

Hands—to me they seemed only the ends of one's arms, placed there for utility's sake. One day, however, I apused to give them a deeper meaning than this.

It happened that I was in a neighboring city and caught the trolley on my way back to the station. An old lady sat down beside me and as she did her hand brushed across my dress. They were ugly hands and I shuddered as she touched me. My feelings changed, however, when I saw her sweet tired face. When I associated that face and those hand together, my first impression took on another aspect. I could see hands working for loved ones; small children placing their little hands in hers and knowing that they would come to no harm. As my imagination went on these gnarled, wrinkled hands became beautiful because of their symbollic significance.

My thoughts were interrupted then, because she had reached her destination. Her place was soon occupied by a younger woman and I could not help noticing the difference in the two people's hands.

My second companion of the trolley was of a class that seeks to imitate the one just above them. Her hands were manicured but just a degree too much. The nails fairly glared at you, si highly were they polished. She could not, even by all this preparation, disguise the fact that her hands had been busy too, with small, hard tasks. You could almost see in those hands that hers had not been tasks of love. She had resented them and tried her best to cover them up. In doing so she had not realized that poor taste had been substituted for expression. Her imitation ha dfailed; the effect she made was not the one she had desired.

Oh, my, there were so many more hands there than I had wanted to study, but the station came into view, and I left, with a lesson learned from hands.

L. D. G. '32

'TIS BALDWIN'S MONTH IN FARMVILLE

Never before in the history of our store have we offered such amazing bargains.

Beautiful fur trimmed fall coats in the seasons latest colors, fabrics and styles are offered in this record breaking sale at extremely low prices.

Group No. 1—$16.50
Group No. 2—$27.50

Come in and try 'em on

BALDWINS

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"The Rexall Store"
CARA NOME TOILETRIES

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS — — — — — DRESSES
GLOVES — — — — — SHOES
HOSIERY — — — — — HATS
DRESS-GOODS — — — NOTIONS

DAVIDSON'S
Great Semi-Annual 20%
Clearance Sale
GOING ON
Ends Saturday, Feb. 2
BUY NOW AND SAVE
20c
ON EVERY DOLLAR YOU SPEND
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Fashion Show of
New Spring Dresses
ADVANCE STYLES
CHIC MODELS
"COLORS"
"The Newest"
Prices
$16 75
$4.95 $9.95
"Charge It"
HUB
DEPT. STORE

I have a little roommate
Who goes in and out the door,
But you wouldn't think she rooms with me,
For she never sweeps the floor.

Martha Walter: "But why do you always print such old jokes?"

"Liz" Turner: "We're afraid somebody might remember the new ones."

—Virginia Reel

Student: "Would you please let me have ten ones for this ten?"

Mr. Gilliam: "Student, eh? Yes, but you'll have to put your name and address on the ten!"

Loulie Milner says she can't understand why a person will take a year to write a novel when he could buy one for a dollar.

He calls his dog Jason because he is always hunting fleece.

—Stanford

There was once an old colored woman who named her triplets, Surely, Goodness and Mercy, so they would follow her all the days of her life.

—Amherst

He: "You ought to see the altar in our church."

Liz Walker: "Lead me to it."

"Shoot, if you must, this old gray beard, but spell my name right on the casualty list."—Northwestern Purple Parrot.

He: "My razor doesn't cut at all."

She: "Why Henry you don't mean to tell me that your beard is tougher than the linoleum."—Northwestrn Purple Parrot.

If education is so refining, what makes a college course?—Yale Record

JUNIORS ENTERTAIN BASKETBALL TEAM

The Harrisonburg basketball team was delightfuly entertained at a reception, Monday evening after the game, in the lounge. The reception was sponsored by the Junior class, under the direction of Etta Marshall.

May Marshall sang; Elsie Clements gave a reading; Mary Todd danced—and there was food; in other words, the party was a success.

QUARANTINE PENDING!

Due to the severity of the deadly marriage epidemic sweeping northward over Virginia from the Carolinas, the would-be authorities think it advisable to pronounce a quarantine of some months.

We are thankful that as yet there are but a few, these Freshmen, to be placed on the casualty list. One is Mrs. "Kid" Brewer nee "Our own Lib" alias "Walker" another Mrs. William Johnson wh used to be our own happy "Cy" Davis.

Mrs. Brewr, erstwhile officer of our dauntless class, when interviewed, stated, "as much as I love you all, I love him more!"

We regret to state that Mrs. Johnson left us before an interview could be arranged but we will say for her that now she will be a social butterfly instead of a "Rat."

Some few parties were given for the brides but those who were not invited to thes functions can not feel any more left out than those present on that last night.

We fele confident that the faculty and the entire student body will join us in best wishes for many happy returns.

Since the above was written another severe case has developed. The unfortunate (?) person is no other than Miss Sterling Thornton of Brookneal, Va. She has discontinued her studies and will be married in the early spring.

THAT OLD SWEETHEART OF MINE

Late one afternoon in November as I sat by the fire smoking my pipe and dreaming, as was my wont, my thought turned to Nell, an old friend of mine . . . . I loved Nell as I never loved another on earth. I can see her now as she looked then—young and graceful.

I was a young doctor, and as poor as young doctors usually are; yet Nell was my constant friend and companion. I never went to see a patient that she did not accompany me. Although I have more money now, I often wish for the old days when my world held only Nell and me. Then, we would go for long rambles together in summer, gathering wild flowers and green ferns, or whatever happened to catch the fancy. We would stop by some running brook and eat our lunches. In winter, we would take brisk exercises, enjoying the keen, bracing air to the fullest extent.

Nell was very quiet, but as I am a rather reserved man that pleased me; therefore we got along very well together—that is, most of the tme. She was xceedingly good-tempered. I do not think I ever saw her angry. Now do not gather from this that Nell was always quiet and peaceful, because when it pleased her, she could be the most perverse of all creatures. As much as I loved her, I sometimes thought I had never seen any living thing qute as disgustingly stubborn as she. We would start out together sometimes and go a long way in perfect peace and harmony, when suddenly she would decide to stop, and stop she would. I would beg her, scold her. In fact I would use every effort to make her resume the walk, but in vain. I occasionally—I blush to say it—abused her shamefully, but it did no good. No matter how anxious I was to go, she would not move until it suited her. I might be rushing to an ill patient, but this fact did not seem to worry Nell in the least. She pleased herself, and only herself.

Oh well! it is all over now. How I loved her! And how I hated for her to die! . . . . But I sincerely hope she has gone to that Paradise which the Lord has prepared for all good horses.

MR. JOYCE EDWARDS

Will Speak on India

COLLEGE

(Continued from page two)

bery of S. T. C. he Student Government Staff was a saintly looking crew who wore their hair straight back, high bridged noses, wore tennis shoes and walked around with a little brown book in their hands, reading quotations to girls who threw trash on the lawn and didn't go to church on Sunday. The chaperon of the cottages was of the type one reads about in girls' novels about boarding school—tall, thin, and angular, wearing sneakers and forever snooping and slinking into the shadows, intercepting love letters and spoiling elopements.

You can well imagine my surprise when I arrived at Farmville and found all of the aforementioned people to be actually human. Never, if I live to be a pensioner on a fund for broken-down school teachers, will I forget the day I arrived at S. T. C. The atmosphere was rather damp. Dad accompanied me to the door of Cottage "L" and left me standing on the porch with a rather vacant feeling. I walked in, found my room, unpacked and waited for the elderly lady who was to be my roommate.

I heard girls laughing and talking upstairs. I thought they must be seniors by the way they were making themselves at home. In spite of my deductions, they proved to be freshmen, as dull and green as I. Three of us clung together as if we were afraid of being swallowed up if we were parted. We adopted the title of "The Three Musketeers" and started itno college life or rather swam into t.

We huddled by the statue of Jeanne d' Arc feeling pretty miserable watching the "old girls" greet each other. Finally when I could stand it no longer I said to Mary, "You get at one end of the Rotunda; Peaches, you get at the other, and we'll rush up and kiss each other and make people think we're 'old girls'. After this operation we were feeling just as miserable as ever. I'd never seen so many girls n all my life before and now I was thrown in with nine hundred and sixteen of them, and I felt like the nine hundred and sixteenth! Then for the first time I happened to notice Jeanne d' Arc, gazing serenely above it all. The thought dawned upon me, "I wonder what Joan thinks of all this." She didn't seem to be getting any more notice than I. If Jeanne d' Arc, the spirit and inspiration of S. T. C. was being ignored, why should I, a poor, dumb, green freshman, feel hurt if I were in the same fix.

I managed to survive for the next few weeks on being just a girl. The hardest thing to become accustomed to was the bells. It would make me furious every time I'd think of how a mere bell was ruling me. For a while I hated Farmville as much as anyone could hate anything. I wondered why people wrote stories to deceive girls about college life. Not until I was home for the Chrstmas holidays did I understand. Dad was relating some of his escapades during college and he told me it was the most wonderful period of his life. No doubt one of these days I'll be looking back upon my college career as the happiest time of my life. Better still, I'll enjoy the reality and later on, I'll have the memories too.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

Headquarters for

S. T. C. GIRLS

Come in and get acquainted

We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S

For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville

Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry

Handkerchiefs, Pictures

Falconer Gift Shop

Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.

236 Main Street

Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

"WADE'S"

New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor

Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

Lovelace Shoe Shop

Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music

Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES

The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,

THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

AT THE EACO THEATRE
WEEK OF FEB'Y 11-16

MONDAY—Ken Maynard with his horse Tarzen, in a thrill-a-minute drama of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, "Code of the Scarlet." If you enjoy a real good, exciting action picture, be sure to see this one. It is extra good. Also a football reel and news. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

TUESDAY — Jacqueline Logan and Gertrude Astor in "Stocks and Blondes." Love! gold! woman! Wall Street—rocking to the speculative fury of frenzied finance! Love, arising above its maelstrom of greed. Fortunes lost and won. A slip of a girl, making, breaking, winning back the man of her heart. Also comedy and oddity. Matinee at 4 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY—George Bancroft and Chester Conklin in "Tell It to Sweeney." A Paramount picture. A story that is built strictly for laughing purposes, and if you don't like to laugh, please don't come to see this picture! Also 2-reel Western picture. Matinee at 4 o'clock.

THURSDAY—Lois Wilson, Huntley Gordon and George Hackathorne in "Sally's Shoulders," a special production from the famous novel. The story of a girl close to the heart of everyone—a girl who dared to be good in the face of taunt and temptation—a girl whose shoulders carried the family burdens and whose lips carried a smile. Also comedy. Matinee at 4 o'clock.

FRI. and SAT. at matinees only—George Lewis, Dorothy Gulliver, Kathlyn Williams and Bryant Washburn, in "Honeymoon Flats." A gay and frollicsome comedy, swift and sophisticated with sheiks, shebas, wise crackers and a "loving" mother-in-law. Also comedy.

FRI and SAT. at nights only—Lillian Gish and Lars Hanson in "The Wind." The screen's foremost actress comes now in a role totally different for her. A story actually thrilling and melodramatic, an epic of cyclone and lonesomeness and strange romance; and through it all the great emotional star weaves again her world-beloved web of magic. A big picture! Also collegiate comedy, oddity and news.

Admission to S. T. C. girls getting tickets at college, 25 cents to each show.

SOPHOMORE ROTUNDA

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA THURSDAY, FEB. 14, 1929 No. 17

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL GAMES PLAYED FEBRUARY 15 AND 16

Exciting Games Expected When the Class Colors Clash

CHAMPIONSHIP DECIDED SATURDAY NIGHT

The inter-class basketball games will be played Friday night, February 15 at 7:15 o'clock. The first game will be between the Sophs and the "Rats." This is expected to be a most exciting fight because the teams seem to be evenly matched. Both are well represented on varsity. Their players put up a hard fight in the Harrisonburg game and showed the student body what they could do when playing together. Now, it is left to see what they can do when playing on opposite teams.

The Senior-Junior game will immediately follow the fight between the Sophs and "Rats." This is expected to equal the first game in enthusiasm and probably surpass the first in skill since "practice makes perfect."

The teams have not been announced as yet, but the girls are still practicing regularly and doing their best to make their class team the champion.

Each girl is playing for her class—not for herself nor for her team. Then she expects the support of the class for which she is playing.

Saturday night at 7 o'clock the championship game will be played between the two winning teams. This will decide which colors will win the 10 points toward the athletic cup. As the points stand now, they are 20 to 0 in favor of green and white.

Every girl is urged and expected to come to the gym Friday night at 7 o'clock and uphold her colors by giving her loyal support to her team.

SENIORS TO ENTERTAIN "LITTLE SISTERS"

The Senior Class of '29 is giving a Valentine party, Wednesday night, February 14, after the Lyceum program in the Student Building lounge for their "Little Sisters." This will be the first social gathering the "Big" and "Little" sisters have had.

It is rumored the program will be a surprise. Each "Little Sister" is looking forward with great expectation to get her "invite" from her "Big Sister."

"TRYSTING PLACE" TO BE REPEATED

Requests for the "Trysting Place" to be repeated have been so numerous that the cast has consented to give anothr performance on February 18. "Th Trysting Place" is an attractive one-act play by Booth Tarkington. The plot is very interesting, because of the many complicated love affairs. A tense situation is met with when the three family members plan to meet their "dates" at the same spot. An unknown voice plays an important part in the play. Who is the unknown lover?

An interesting program of readings by Etta Marshall, music by the Chromatic Club, and special dances, has been arranged.

Dr. Simkins as Launcelot Briggs, the rejected lover, holds the interest of his audience through the play. Mary Ellen Cato (Mrs. Curtis) is the attractive young widow, around whom there is centered a mysterious affair. Elizabeth Antrim and Dr. Walmsley portray a belated romance to perfection, while Mr. Coyner and Leyburn Hyatt add much to the play in their hasty and interrupted meetings.

LITERARY SOCIETY PRESENTS SKIT

The Cunningham Literary Society presented a very enjoyable and laughable program Friday night entitled "The Cunning Skit". The first number was a song by Lillian Bennett, after which a one-act play, "Two Men and Two Maids' 'or "Four People," written by Kittie Johnson, was acted. Clara Norfleet was the booted and moustached villan. Nancy Nelms played the bold and dashing hero, with Mary Ellen Cato as the cute and winsome heroine. Bess Thompson was the attractive maid. Elsie Clements acted as the Vitaphone. After Billy's graceful fall, the curtain closed.

Etta Marshall and Nancy Nelms sang "The Roses of Make Believe." Mary Todd danced in her usual charming way and the Mary Todd clogging class clogged cleverly. Everybody wept with Alma Garlick as she gave a wailful reading, "Alice Has Fleas."

The "Cunning Skit" really was comic, cute and clever.

AN OVERSIGHT

In the announcement of the staff for the Freshman issue of the Rotunda the name of Evelyn Woods, art editor, was unintentionally omitted. This was entirely an oversight on the part of the staff.

MISS VIRGINIA POTTS

DEDICATION

When Saint Valentine wreaths tender thoughts of love around us, there is someone of whom we immediately think. Always she goes about among us with a merry smile of encouragement and a spiirt of enthusiasm. Our hearts are bound to her heart with strands of devotion and grateful appreciation of her interest in us. To our own Queen of Hearts, Miss Virginia Potts, we sophomores, lovngly dedicate this issue of the Rotunda.

UNIQUE MUSICAL PROGRAM FOR LYCEUM THURSDAY

The Society of Ancient Instruments of Paris wil lgive a concert in the S. T. C. auditorium on Thursday evening, February 14, at 8 o'clock.

The "Societe des Instruments Anciens" was founded in 1901 by Henri Casadesus. Since its foundation it has to its credit seventy-five large tours. It has traveled a distance equivalent to nine times around the world. Ten thousand press notices concerning the triumphs have been collected.

It is made up of five string instruments which were in common use two or three centures ago. The repertory comprises string quaytets, quintets for strings and clavichord, symphonies, ballets, trios for various instruments, and fantasies for each respective instrument. Bach, Haydn, Mozart, and many less known composers of that time are included in the repertory the society offers.

Boston Evening Transcript gves ths statement concerning the society: "To see these musicians play is to witness a group of men and women willing to lose themselves in the undertaking of their choice. Like lovers with their beloved were these four with their instruments and their music."

MEISTERSINGERS APPEAR ON FEB. 20

The Meistersingers of Boston who are to present a program in the College auditorium Feb. 20, will give a varied program featuring grand opera selections, negro spirituals, and the best of American ballads. They have the assistance of Norma Jean Erdman, soprano. One of the outstanding features is a complete presentation of the prison scene from "Il Trovatore" in which Miss Erdman in the role of Lenora has excellent opportunity to display the flexibility and beauty of her voice.

This organization has for twenty years occupied a prominent place in the music circles of Boston and has been an annual feature in the musical centers of New England. Constant rehearsals under the best conductors has developed great organ effects, artistic shading and blending, delightful articulation and correct reading and interpretation. Their long association together with but slight changes in personnel since their organization has made their ensemble well nigh perfect.

ANNUAL CABARET SUPPER A SUCCESS

I could not believe my own eyes, for the old familiar "rec" looked so different. The center of the floor was clear, and at either end of the room were tables, each bearing a big red heart and a candle. The candles from the many tables shed a soft glow over the "rec". The secret—Saturday night, the night of S. T. C.'s own cabaret supper. The attractive menu consisted of friend oysters, potato salad, rolls, and other good things. Many girls, dressed in white, were there to serve you.

Although the food and decorations were all that could be asked for, there were still other treats in store for the guests. Piano music was furnished throughout the evening; Mary Todd gave several "tap" dances to the delight of all; Nancy Nelms and Liz Munn sang several duets.

Sitting at the tables with only the candle light, you could easily imagine yourself at some exclusive night club. The whole affair was excellent, and S. T. C. hopes for many more in the future.

NOTICE!

The D. B. basketball team wishes to announce that they are in excellent condition and ready to play anyone who wishes to challenge them.

CHRISTIAN WORLD EDUCATION SPEAKERS LECTURE HERE

International Christian Problems Were Discussed

CONFERENCE HEADED BY MISS WILLA YOUNG

The student body enjoyed a rare privilege Sunday and Monday, Feb. 10 and 11 in having the opportunity of hearing a series of lectures presented by the Christian World Education speakers. The conference was under the direction of Miss Willa Young, national student secretary of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Young led morning watch Sunday morning in the Student Building lounge.

Dr. R. B. Eleazer, educational director of the commission on interracial cooperation, made an address at the morning service of the Methodist church. He brought out the fact that we try to bring our lives into harmony with God's. Our relationship is dependent upon a third relationship—not merely God and man but man and his fellow man working in perfect union and harmony with God; the relationship cannot be cut into segments. We are all God's children and "human beings are inherently sacred," so we have not right to say to another race, "so far shalt thou come and no farther."

This subject was further carried out in a discussion led by Dr. Eleazer in the lounge Sunday afternoon. He emphasized that one race should not feel itself superior to another; all races have the same privileges, but each should have a pride in keeping their race distinct.

At prayers Sunday night, Miss Matilda Lindsay discussed the industrial group. On Monday she also spoke to two history classes on "Southern Industry and what it means to the South."

Mr. Sayre, at the Presbyterian church Sunday night, discussed the inter-American movement. In chapel Monday morning his subject was, "What is essential for Inter-American

Continued on page three

SOPHOMORE STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... Elizabeth Temple
Associate Editor .... Mildred Maddrey
News Editor ..... Alma Hunt
Literary Editor ..... Jessie Smith
Athletic Editor .... Adele Hutchinson
Social Editor ..... Elizabeth Lacy
Art Editor ..... Katherine Schroeder
Humorous Editor .... Daisy Williams
Proof Reader ..... Elsie Clements
Circulation Mgr. .. Elizabeth Epperson

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor — LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor — CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary — GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic — KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News — LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News — EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social — FLORENCE REED, '31
Art — CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous — ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader
MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager — MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant — FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation — ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant — JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Joy and Success Through Service

After you have helped someone in some way, don't you feel better than if you hadn't done it? There's a certain feeling that can't be got otherwise. It's a kind of happiness different from that we get from frivolities—something indefinable. You just feel good all over.

The person who is willing to do a little more than is required is the one who succeeds in life. It's the person who sees an opportunity for service in the smallest things, and who really tries to serve, who attains the highest goal. Service sometimes may not mean gaining worldly wealth, but true success cannot be measured by material things.

We, at S. T. C., have many opportunities for service. We have chances daily to help someone in some way. Do we take advantage of these opportunities? Our service means much to the person we help, and it means more to us. Don't think that any act is too small, for the little thoughtful deeds really count most.

Richard Cabot in his essay The Call of the Job, says: "Service is one of the ways by which a tiny insect like one of us can get a purchase on the whole universe. If he finds the job where he can be of use, he is hitched to the star of the world, and moves with it."

Almost everybody has a desire, deep down in himself, to be of service. Are we fulfilling or are we supressing and crowding out this desire? Are we trying to carry out our sophomore motto: "Joy and Success Through Service"?

Lyceum

One of the greatest privileges of the students at S. T. C. is the possibility of their seeing and hearing some of the outstanding figures in the public life of today. The Lyceum program brings to many of the students and people of the college community the opportunity of enjoying entertainment of a really high grade, which they would never have otherwise.

Such a wonderful program is offered that each one of us should be able to find something especially suited to her taste. Quite recently we were delighted with the dramatic recital of Sothern, who is considered the greatest living Shakespearean actor. During the next week the music-lovers have a real treat in store for them. Tomorrow night we shall have the pleasure of hearing a musical program rendered by the Society of Ancient Instruments. The program will consist of selections of by-gone days played on stringed instruments which were in use several centuries ago. The very unusualness of the situation should appeal to anyone. Then on February 20 we shall have the Meistersingers.

Every girl who can possibly arrange to do so should plan to attend these entertainments since they are important factors in broadening her field of vision; parts of a liberal education which she should have, and enriching her knowledge which she may never again have the opportunity of enjoying.

The Future?

Sohphomores! Particularly the ones who are graduating this spring! How many are exepecting to come back next year to work towards our degree? Now that more than half our sophomore year has been completed, it might be well to give some consideration to whether or not we are planning to return.

Have we ever considered how much a degree really will mean to us? Although it is not now required of teachers in the elementary school, the degree of B. S. in Education is now offered by the Teachers Colleges represents genuinely professional training. It commands a premium of dignity. Any girl has a much better chance of securing a position if she has a degree. It has great influence upon promotion and upon salary. Those teaching without a degree often have to take extention courses to meet the new requirements. The degree teachers are saved this work. Instead, they may spend their time, if they so desire, upon work towards higher degrees which, in turn, are a power for promotion and better salaries.

Aside from this materialistic view, there is the hope of greater service. With more training it must be expected that a teacher will be better able to meet the demands for helping and serving the community. She will have a broader and richer field of facts and experiences upon which to draw. Thus, through serving others she will find greater happiness for herself.

The present Seniors, and all Sophomores who may not find it feasible to return with us next fall have our very best wishes, and they may know that we hope theirs to be a life of "Joy and Success Through Service."

WHAT IS CULTURE?

It is to take our shoes and tread with reverence the holy ground made sacred by the labor and suffering of the pioneer. It is to mingle our sweat with the sweat of the 100,000 slaves who toiled thirty years on the Great Pyramid in producing some work, tangible or intangible, which shall be of permanent value and help to preserve the sentiments and thoughts of the present for the future. It is to memorize a lullaby with which a hundred million mothers have crooned their babies to sleep. It is to appreciate a picture which detaches and lifts out of the confusing, distracting details of everyday life some great ideal. It is to let the dock laborer or the lumberjack introduce us to that multitude of homeless, wifeless, childless men who are ready to curse God and die. It is to walk the streets with the throng, and to find the meaning of life, vicariously at least, through sharing their purposefulness, even their desperation. It is to have a religious experience so sound that the gates of hell and the ministerial association combined cannot prevail against it. It is to read history and literature, and study science and art, in such a manner as to find one's way into that great company ,that apostolic succession of saint and martyrs, prophets and seers, tellers of tales and singers of songs, ye, and hewer of wood, and drawers of water, and diggers of ditches.—Walter A. Terpenning, in the February Journal of the National Education Association.

INTER-COLLEGIATE NEWS

Temple University makes the boast of having the most unique and original campus in the country. The campus of this institution of higher learning lies between Diamond and Oxfords streets and Twelfth and Seventeenth streets in Philadelphia. In this space are located 4 movie houses, 3 dance halls, 23 drug stores, 8 bowling alleys, 28 restaurants, ranging from the quick lunch stand to American restaurants, Chinese joints, a Russian place, 8 bakeries, 7 fruit stores, 29 cleaners, 14 haberdashers, 5 florists, 10 barber shops, 9 beauty parlors, 1 U-Drive-It Corporation, 2 pawn shops, 8 houses of worship. 1 antique shop, 1 convent, 3 chiropractors, 22 laundries, 1 pet shop (take it any way you want), 7 smoke shops, 4 five-tencent stores, 26 physicians, 6 undertakers, 1 cemetery, or what have you? Beat this, if you can!

A VALENTINE LOVE

Tina had always been a lovely lady on a fine Valentine. Her mistress, an artist, had drawn her countenance with care—and given her beautiful eyes and curly hair. She wore the most adorable dress that anyone could ever imagine. It was blue as the summer skies, with cream lace ruffles. She carried a little bonnet of blue and lace. Tina was placed in a big store window for display. Many people admired her, but soon the sun began to fade her face, her eyes, and even her golden hair. The lace paper which framed her and the flowery scenery in which her mistress had drawn her, became yellow—and crinkled.

When Valentine's day had almost come, the storekeeper took her from the windows and placed her on a counter with other far less expensive Valentines. She knew that she was faded and crinkled and it hurt her

Continued on page four

SOCIAL

Among those attending the dances at Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, were Lucy Dortch, Allie-Kae Libby, Mildred Field Elmore and Mary Fielding Taliaferro.

Ellen Fowlkes spent the week-end in Richmond.

Loulie Milner spent the week-end at her home in Lynchburg and had as her guests, Margaret Pumphrey and Elizabeth Lacy.

Anne Ferree and Virginia Raine were at their homes in Danville for the week-end.

Sara McCorkle and Lucille Norman visted Minerva Evans at her home in Lynchburg the past week-end.

Frankie Roberts attended a banquet and dance at William and Mary College, Williamsburg.

Mildred Robertson spent the week-end at her home in Wakefield.

Flora Martin and Martha Lanier spent the week-end at their homes in Petersburg.

Elaine Goode and Mary Will Vincent visited in Richmond during the past week-end.

Martha Jones was at her home in Lynchburg during the week-end.

Mary Page White and Martha and Margaret Faris were at their homes in Red Hill for the week-end.

Elizabeth Turner spent the week-end in Martinsville.

Allie Oliver attended her brother's wedding in Roanoke.

Marguerite Foster spent the week-end at her home in Lynchburg.

Elsie McLaughlin visited in Burkeville.

Courtney Godsey was at her home in Cumberland for the week-end.

Elizabeth Gill, Elizabeth Flippo, and Sarah Bailey were the week-end guests of Lee Bacon at her home in Kenbridge.

Thereasa Malone spent the week-end in Dundas .

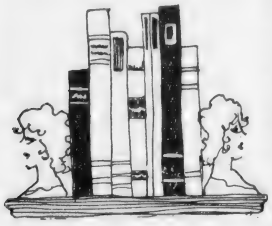
Julia Elam spent the week-end at her home in Trevilians and had as her guests, Gertrude McCall, Maria Warren, Virginia Osborn, Helen Dunkley and Pearl Johnson.

Letitia and Mary Keene Penn., Carrie Ward and, Margaret Loving spent the week-end at home in Roanoke.

Florence Ashburn went to Suffolk for the week-end.

Evelyn Mills spent the week-end at her home in Mineral, Va.

Frances Guthrie spent the week-end with Cathrine Cook at her home in Richmond.



Virginia Buxton of Portsmouth visited Elsie Clements and Mildred Deans during the week-end.

Elsie Fox, Mildred Varner and Catherine Claud vistied at Blackstone College for the week-end.

Anne Morris was at her home in Jetersville for the week-end.

Elizabeth Faulkner, Elizabeth Sawyer, and Elizabeth Richardson, spent the week-end at their homes in Norfolk.

Lelia De Shazo was at her home in Southerlin for the week-end.

A MOTTO

The ship sails on and on
That ship of Sophomores,
Many trials they have borne—
Yet their anchor never lowers.

We hope—we pray—we hope again—
That ship sails stoutly on,
Through ages of snow and rain,
To find a newer ideal born.

We've had many a happy time
We Sophomores of '29
We've lived our motto—nice—
"Joy and Success Thru Service."

J. C. S., '31

STARS

Stars are perpetuations of singing water
Caught in a moment brief to be fashioned in silver
And hung in the wide, blue spaces of midnight,
Stars are the hurried whispers of secret lovers
Softly entoned as the rise and the fall of a fountain
Sudden impulses of dull, deliberate thinkers,
Moments of passionate beauty imprisoned forever.

E. P. F., '31

FRIENDS

True, loyal, and kind are they,
The ones we'd like to find
But hunt as you might all day.
Not so easy to find that kind.

If once a treasure you spy.
In an old and obscure place.
Shelter, feed, and keep it—do not let it die
Let it the world embrace.

Keep it, relish it, cherish it too,
Now, always, even 'till the end,
Just to find such a treasure true
Is an ideal of life—a friend!

B. T. '31

SOPHOMORE-ISM

You can always tell a Freshman
By her green and frightened air,
And her sweet and bashful stare,
When her baby pranks are clear!
You can always tell a Junior
She is the collegiate clown
With her classes, never found.
And her mannish clothes and form.
You can always tell a Senior
By her dignified demeanor!
But just try to tell a Sophomore
——————— Anything!!!

J. C. S., '31

AN OLD, OLD VALENTINE

Valentine, so fair of face,
Ruffled 'neath the paper lace,
Are words and thoughts
So old, and yet, so new—
They scarcely seem a part of you.
'To my true love"—
The words run thus,
And then another line;
"I don't mind your age at all Since you're my Valentine."

W. S. '31

TWO VALENTINES

The postman brought
A Valentine to me,
Whispering of love
And mystery.
Gay, cupids smiled;
Lace flowers nodded,
And sweet words beguiled.
The postman left
A tiny heart—blood red—
Whispering of love
And thoughts long dead.
There came a half-smile, near, ...
A heart-beat
And a tear.

W. S. '31

THE ONE

'Twas Valentine morn when the Postman hurried by,
He forgot me—and I just had to heave a sigh.
Yet why blames the Postman—he's no Valentine!
And I wouldn't like him no matter however fine!
I didn't even care for a magnificent lacy one.
A big, red heart would have done, I reckon,
If it had said, "Be my Valentine" from —The One!

J. C. S. '31

Y. W. C. A. TO GIVE PARTY FEBRUARY 22

Every year the Y. W. C. A. entertains the student body at a party on Washington's birthday. This year is to be no exception. On the night of February 22 the girls are asked to be dressed either as Martha or George Washington. Of course it is impossible for every girl to get costumes in order to have the holiday spirit carried out perfectly, these girls are asked to wear evening dress.

After a regular Washington's birthday supper the girls are invited to the recreation hall. Here a program of dances and songs will be given. Of course there is the grand march for the girls in costume. Prizes will be given to the couple dressed most fittingly.

For Uniform Statistics

American delegates at the International Statistical Conference at Geneva made a plea for international and universal uniformity in the gathering, recording, and publication of statistics. This would seem to be a prime necessity. One of the chief values of statistics is for the purpose of comparison, and without uniformity comparison is always difficult and often impossible.

MISS ELSIE CLEMENTS

OUR PRESIDENT

"And now I see with eye serene
The very pulse of the machine;
A Being breathing thoughtful breath
* * *
The reason firm, the temperate will,
Endurance, foresight, strength and skill."

Holding the presidency of the Sophomore Class is merely a continuance of successful work begun by Elsie in high school. While at Woodrow Wlson she was president of the student body, a distincton of which she should be justly proud. She is carrying on this office with the same efficiency.

WORLD AFFAIRS

Flu in Great Britain

An epidemic of flu and pneumonia has struck Great Britain and northern Ireland, causing many deaths. Fifty school in Liverpool are closed.

Afghan Ruler Recalled

Former King Amanullah of Afghanistan has been recalled as ruler, as several tribes have expressd their loyalty: One of the causes of the revolt was the attempt of the queen to lead the women in discarding their veils and to introduce foreign customs.

From Anarctic to New York

Speaking for an entire hour across 10,000 miles, Commander Byrd talked by wireless from a plane in the Anarctic to New York. This is the longest connection of this sort ever made.

China United

Nothing is more important for the years to come in the Far East than the fact that China, after seventeen years of internal struggle, following the revolution of 1911, seems to be settling down on a basis of unity under the administration of the Nationalist Government at Nanking.

CHRISTIAN WORLD EDUCATION TEACHERS LECTURE HERE

Continued from page one

Friendship?" There are five points to be considered in this question: Should the U. S. soldiers and sailors intervene in the domestic affairs of her neighboring Latin-American countries? What should the U. S. do about the Panama Canal situation? Are private investors who are U. S. citizens to be protected abroad? Is the U. S. overstepping her authority in the present interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine? Can we develop friendship with these coutnries? Mr. Sayre also spoke to one of the government classes.

Mr. Joyce Edwards, in chapel, used as his subject "Jesus and India." He traced the development of the different religions of India, and their effect upon the natives. There are now in India a great many different languages, religions and peoples. Christianity which is being accepted by the Indians seems to be the only hope of unifying the nation. "Modern India has turned to Christ not because it is western, but because it is human."

Mr. Edwards is a native of India and is very well informed upon his subjects. He talked before a geography class upon "The Effect of Geographical Conditions upon the Habits and Customs of India." He also talked before education and history classes.

Mr. Starr talked before two history classes upon "Anglo-American Relations."

Sally, the sophisticated sophomore says—
Take heart, girls! Val(or ?)will come en time or is it time

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"The Rexall Store"
CARA NOME TOILETRIES

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

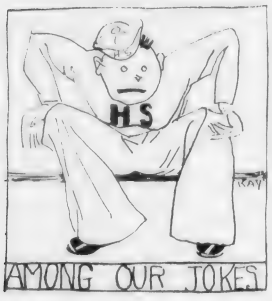
COATS — — — — — DRESSES
GLOVES — — — — — SHOES
HOSIERY — — — — — HATS
DRESS-GOODS — — — NOTIONS
SHOWING
New Spring COATS AND DRESSES
Priced
$5.75
Upward
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

NEW MODES
FOR THE SPRING STYLE PARADE

Along comes spring with a profusion of new designs, smart exclusive material and unusual trimming details.

Thus our dresses which have just arrived take their place so corectly in the parade of spring fashions.

We extend to you a hearty invitation to come in and see the very highest at



BALDWINS
"Where the girl who knows buys her clothes."

HOSIERY
FULL FASHIONS
Specially priced $1

There's style, quality and value in these beautiful chiffon hose that are silk from top to toe ,with reinforced heel and toe and picot tops. Lovely spring shades:
Single and double Pointex. heels.

Illusion
Dust
Champagne
Suntan
Atmosphere

HUB
DEPT. STORE

The Proper Place

'Tis done beneath the mistletoe,
'Tis done beneath the rose.
But the proper plac to kiss, you know
Is just beneath the nose.

Miss Purdom while calling the roll says to the Copeland girls, "Are you twins or sisters?"

Soph: "Teachers are worse than immigration authorities at Ellis Island nowadays."

Alumna: "How's that?"

Soph: "They have swiped the slogan, "They shall not pass."

A Sweet Time

Judge: "What's the charge?"

Officer: "Fragrancy, Judge, he's been drinking perfume."—The Echo.

Carrie: "I'm very fond of Kipling."

Daisy: "I've never kippled; don't know what it's like."

She: "I certainly love to dance."

Skim: "So do I."

She: "Shake."

Loulie to Lucile C.: "You look like Pola Negri with your hair down."

Aunt Lucy, arriving upon the scene: "What did ya say 'bout a po' lil' nigger?"

Katherine: "Louise, did you see John down town?"

Louise: "Yes, he's the last thing I saw as I passed out."

Butcher: "We have some very nice cured hams.'

Newlywed: "I'd prefer one that's never been sick."

Teacher: "What is the wind?"

Pupil: "Air in a hurry."

The joke editor may write
Unitl the tips of her fingers are sore,
But someone is sure to exclaim,
"Aw, I've heard that one before."

SING

One of the most attractive sings of the year was given Saturday night, Febuary 9. It was under the direction of Mary Todd and Elizabeth Etheridge.

The setting represented the Cavalier Beach Club. A chorus dance was given by the following girls: Liz Watkins, Louise Hilton, Alice Adams, Marion Seay and Dolly Sendall.

One of the best features was the collegiate jokes pulled off by Mayo Beaty and Evelyn Holland. Liz Etheridge interested her audience with "Sweetheart on Parade," and a charming dance.

Helen Robertson appeared. in a pleasing feature dance. Juanita Womble delighted the audience with her toe dancing.

"It was the cutest sing yet" was the popular expression heard on the halls everywhere.

SOPHOMORE CLASS MIRROR

(As the Class sees it)

Most beautiful	Mary F. Taliaferro
Most popular	Nancy Nelms
Best all-round	Adele Hutchinson
Most intellectual	Elizabeth Temple
Most dependanble	Alma Hunt
Most talented	Elizabeth Taylor
Typical sophomore	Elsie Clements
Most athletic	Laura N. Smith
Most stylish	"Bugs" Revercomb
Cutest	"Kap" Wayt

SONG BITS OF S. T. C.

"I Can't Do Without You" ..... Dr. Jarman.
"At Parting" ..... Miss Mary
"You're Wonderful" Miss Potts
"She's a Great, Great Girl" ..... Elsie Clements
"Ramona" ..... Sara Baker
"There's a Rainbow 'Round My Shoulder" ..... Clara Norfleet
"Dream Kisses" ..... Frances Millican
"Bum Song" ..... Mayo Beaty
"The Singing Fool" ..... Nancy Nelms
"I Loved You Then as I Love You Now" ..... Pannie and Lucile
"I Wanna Be Loved By You" .... Etta Marshall
"Gee! I'm Marvelous" Maria Warren
"I Must Have That Man" Liz Turner
"I'm Afraid of You" ..... Emma Woods
"Old Man Sunshine and Little Boy Bluebird" ..... Nelms and Munn
"That's My Weakness Now" ..... Food
"She's Funny That Way" .. Ida Trolan
"Me and My Shadow" .... Faris Twins
"Anything You Say" .... Alma and (?)
"My Treasure" ..... "39c"
"Lonesome in the Moonlight" ..... Us
"Ain't It a Shame?" .... We Can't Go Home.

A SOPHOMORE LINE

My dear I mean I Actually Think that you have the Cutest College—and your classmates are just Precious, Jim; but you Simply have missed just Oodles if you Haven't seen our Sophomore Class at S. T. C. We have the most Adorable class man, I mean she really is a Sugar, Jim; and she wears the Duckiest clothes—you know these Awfully French looking models of Paton Lavin—or some of those Sublime designers. We have the Sweetest motto, I mean we really do, Jim. It's something about "Joy and Success Through Service"'—I mean it Actually makes me feel Joan-of-Arc-ish when I actually Ponder over it and decide to be helpful and loyal. I mean I really do. You know you always Rather think that girls will be cattish—'specially college girls—But you know, Jim,— we really Aren't catty—I mean we are actually Noble that way, Imagine my Embarrassment, Jim, I've been keeping one of our Best Things to tell Till last. We Simply have some Invaluable officers in our class to keep us in Good Class Spirit. I mean Theyare actually Priceless—and do we appreciate them? Why, Jim, we actually Do—and How!"

A VALENTINE LOVE

(Continued from page two)

when people passed her by. One evening a poor little lad came up to her, and smiled into her blue eyes. He paid for Tina and reverently took her home. On the next day his grimy little hands carried her carefully to school. There he timidly pushed Tina into the hands of a dark-eyed little Miss. She looked joyfully, open-mouthed and starry-eyed at Tina. The little lady on the Valentine smiled for she realized the joy she had brought to the little girl was greater than the joy she could have brought to anyone else.

K. E. S., '31

SPORTS

VOLLEY BALL

Volley ball season starts next week, and until a definite program is made, everyone will come out at 4 o'clock.

Everyone come out and take part! No—it doesn't matter if you haven't played before. A majority of those who will play haven't played before unless they came from an unusual high school. Everyone must come out just once—and the rest of the times will take care of themselves.

Varsity basketball practice will be at 5 o'clock.

MONOGRAM NEWS

Have you won your monogram? What is a monogram, anyhow? What does the blue field with the white S. T. C. stand for?

The S. T. C. monogram stands for an all-round fully developed athlete, for to win the award a girl must be proficient in each sport and must be a good sport. To measure up to this a girl must have grit, determination and pep enough to come out and work, work and work until all tests have been successfully passed.

Monogram practices have started and announcements of the time are made before each practice. Hikes are held each Saturday so each girl who is anxious to wear her S. T. C. should be on hand at practices and help plac her colors on the cup. Ten points are to be given to the class winning the most monograms and the silver cup to the colors having the most points.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The sophomore staff wishes to express its appreciation to Elizabeth Faulkner, Bess Thompson, Willie Savage and Alice Covington for their help in preparing this issue of the Rotunda.

FACULTY CHALLENGE

The Faculty basket ball team has challenged the Student Council to a game to be played in the near future. No definite plans have been made yet, but it is expected that the game will be Wednesday night, February 20. Everyone is looking forward with a great deal of interest to seeing their favorite faculty member in action playing basketball.

HISTORY PRIZE OFFERED

The League of Nations Non-Partisan Association has made an offer in which all the History students should be very much interested. All the State Teachers Colleges in the United States are to participate in the contest. Those entering the contest are to begin doin research work immediately on the history and organization of the League of Nations. Later on during the year an examination will be given and the student presenting the best examination paper will be awarded a trip to Europe. This award is certainly worthy of innumerable hours of research and study.

S. T. C. FOUNDERS DAY CELEBRATION MARCH 9

Th Founder's Day Committee has approved the theme for the Founders Day program which was presented to them by the class council. The program will be given Saturday, March 9, and it is expected that many former students of S. T. C. will return for the exercises that day. As is customary, the graduating classes this year are writing to the graduates of the class whose tenth anniversary it is, especially inviting them to return for Founders Day.

The classes are expecting to start to work this week on their part of the program. Judging by the theme, this will be the best Founders Day program ever presented at S. T. C.

MISS HARRIS VISITS HERE

On Monday and Tuesday ,February 18 and 19, Miss Katherine Harris, Young People's Secretary of the Womans' Missionary Union of the Baptist Church of Virginia, will visit S. T. C. Miss Harris will speak at prayers Monday night and at chapel Tuesday morning. At other times, Miss Harris will be in Room 4, where she will be glad to meet and talk with any girls, especially Baptist girls, who wish to see her.

EXPRESSION OF SYMPATHY

The student body wishes to evtend its deepest sympathy to Mss Treakle whose father died recently.

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

"WADE'S"
New Frigidaire Fountain
Up-to-Date Ice Cream Parlor
Home-made pies and the best sandwiches in Farmville. We want your patronage. A. V. WADE. Phone 228

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books. Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Feb. 17—23

MON.—Fred Thompson and Edna Murphy in "THE SUNSET LEGION" a Paramount picture. Fred Thompson and Silver King! What a pair! you'll grip your seats with excitement when you see this wonderful pair in action. A romance of the west chuck full of thrills! Deep mystery, hard riding, straight shooting! Ride 'em cowboy! Also news reel and a 2-reel western picture. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

TUES.—Florence Vidor in "THE MAGNIFICENT FLIRT" a Paramount picture. First she flirts and runs away, then she flirts another day, and that's the story. This gorgeous scintillatng captivating creature of mad Parisian social whirl tosses her heart into the matrimonial ring. Also comedy and oddity. Mat. at 4.

WED. and THURS.—Billie Dove in the specal production, "THE NIGHT WATCH.' 'Two lovers, separated for years, find each other again on a battle ship. She, the wife of the commander has hidden in his cabin. He is her husband's best friend. What happens as the ship moves into action, makes one of the most startling love stories ever filmed. A big production in every respect. You will certainly enjoy this one. Also comedy and oddity. Mats. at 4 o'clock.

FRI. & SAT.—at mats. only—Marion Nixon, Richard Walling and Mary Nolan in "SILKS AND SADDLES." He loved the brunette—but he fell for the blonde—both fought for his soul and his honor—which won? Vivid, tense drama. A romantic drama of the night clubs and race track. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. at nights only—John Gilbert and Alma Rubens in "THE MASKS OF THE DEVIL", a big special. Take the most ardent love scenes of "Flesh and the Devil" and "Love" and put them together, and you'll get some idea of the thrills in store for you in John Gilbert's most daring romance! An unusual story of a man without a conscience about women, regenerated at last by a pure love. He wanted women—and he took them. Also news and collegiate comedy.

Admission to S. T. C. girls getting tickets at college, 25c to each show.

ROTUNDA

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA WEDNESDAY, FEB. 20, 1929 NO. 18

CUNNINGHAM LITERARY SOCIETY HAS INSTALLATION

Large Number Selected After Try-outs

The Cunningham Literary Society held a very impressive candle light installation service Wednesday night, February 13. The old and new members of the society, dressed in white, formed a circle and carried candles throughout the service.

Emily Carter, the president, told the history of the literary societies in our school. The first two, the Cunningham and the Argus, were formed in 1903. The Athenian and Pierian were formed later, which were followed by the formation of the Jefferson and Ruffner in 1910. These latter two were at first debating societies. All of the literary societies at this time had the closed system which was not very successful as many girls of literary talents did not receive bids. The six societies then vied working together in two groups and in 1927 reorganized into two large societies. These two societies, the Cunningham and the Ruffner named after the first two presidents of this school, are the two societies that we have now.

The purpose of the literary societies is "To offer an opportunity for self expression," which is carried out by individual group work within each society. The literary magazine is the big project of both societies.

After the new members received a lighted candle and a charge from the president, the old members pinned the ribbons on them. Each member feels that this will be a successful year in the Cunningham Literary Society.

The new members are as follows: Julia Asher, Ruth Hart, Mary Hendricks, Lillian Bovell, Elizabeth Dutton, Mary Robertson, Lucille Floyd, Louise M. Johnson, Pauline Gibb, Gertrude Richardson, Elizabeth Temple, Elizabeth Epperson, Mary Souders, Kitty Spittle, Lillian Sturgis, Retta Hardy, Gladys Clarke, Elizabeth Hurt, Marion Love, Annie Gee, Katherine Neblett, Mary Frances Shepherd, Katy Friel Souders, Louise Morriss, Hannah Hamlet, Elizabeth Falconer, Virginia Temple, Kathryn Johnson, Virginia Gee.

SENIORS ENTERTAIN LITTLE SISTERS

Red hearts have a special meaning to most of us, but read hearts and little sisters have another . . . that senior party in the lounge around a big open fire when every senior proudly showed off her little sister to the crowd, and crowd it was for every available spot was filled with either a senior or a little sister or both! The program was short—a song or two, a bit of music—then the delivery of

(Continued on last page)

DEDICATION

TO THE WASHINGTONS OF ALL TIME:—

Those who have given us the silver heritage of the past—
Those of golden todays—dreamers and builders of tomorrow—
Those of tomorrow who shall carry silver and golden Liberty across the ages into the eternity of the Sunset.

We, the Junior Class, reverently dedicate this issue of The Rotunda.

WILLIAM AND MARY DEBATE

On Friday night, February 22, Farmville freshmen will meet William and Mary on the forensic platform, in the opening contest of the season. The subject for debate is receiving a good deal of discussion throughout the world especially in the United States. It is of vital interest to everyone, from the pauper in the streets to the president: "Resolved, That there should be a substitute for the present system of trial by jury."

The affirmative will be upheld here by Anne Hopkins and Maria Warren. Polly Sheffield and Sara Hubbard will defend the negative there.

STAFF

Editor	Etta Marshall
Asst. Editor	Mary F. Shepard
News	Linda Wilkerson
Literary	Frances Wilson
Athletic	Mary Frances Hatchett
World News	Emily McGavock
Intercollegiate	Lucille Graves
Social	Billy Paris
Asst. Ed.	Ellen Fowlkes
Humorous	Clara Norfleet
Proof Reader	Laura Smith
Circulation	Ethel Fisher
Ass't. Circulation	Elizabeth Smitherman.
Reporters:—
	Nellie Talley
	Louise Whitlock
	Carolya Watts
	Mary Mann Baskerville
	Blanche Murrell

INTERCOLLEGIATE PRESS ASSOCIATION MEET IN RICHMOND

Third Annual Meeting to be Held at Radford

The Rotunda and the Virginian were represented at the Intercollegiate Press Association conference which met in Richmond February 15 and 16. Pearl Etheridge, Lucy Thompson, and Florence Booten represented the Rotunda, and Virginia Raine and Lucille Norman represented the Virginian.

Pi Delta Epsilon, journalism fraternity, in connection with the University of Richmond and Westhampton College, acted as host to the seventy-three delegates present.

Cups for the best publications were awarded as follows:

Class "A" (annuals having more than 250 pages)—First prize, Randolph-Macon Women's College, "The Helianthius;" honorable mention, V. P. I. "Bugle."

Class "B" annuals (annuals having less than 250 pages)—"Blue Stocking," Mary Baldwin Seminary, Staunton, first prize; honorable mention, "Briar Patch," Sweet Briar College.

Magazines—"Cargoes," Hollins College, first prize; honorable mention, "The Messinger," University of Richmond.

Newspaper—Virginia Tech, V. P. I., first prize; honorable mention, Flat Hat, William and Mary, and The Collegian, University of Richmond.

A cup by the Progressive Messenger to the editor of the best college paper was awarded to P. M. Jackson, editor of Virginia Tech, V. P. I.

A loving cup was presented E. C. Nininger for having written the best editorial in the freshman editorial contest. The cup was awarded by "The Collegian" and the Pi Delta Epsilon fraternity. The subject of the editorial was "Facing Your Life's Task."

Emanuel Emroch, of the University of Richmond, and retiring president, was presented a trophy for having been the most outstanding individual in the work of the organization during the year.

John Archer Carter was toastmaster at the banquet Saturday night. La-Motte Blakely, editor of the Times-Dispatch and Robert H. McNeil, editor of "The Epsilog," V. P. I., were the speakers. R. E. Price, of V. P. I., presented the cups.

J. L. T. Dickinson, of V. P. I., Blacksburg, was named president of the Intercollegiate Press Association at the final business session.

Other officers are: Miss Paula Vogelsang of Randolph-Macon Womans College, Lynchburg, first vice-president; Mr. Davis of Washington and Lee, Lexington, scond vice-president, and Miss Vivian Hornsberger, of East Radford Teachers College, secretary and treasurer.

RARE MUSICAL TREAT PRESENTED FEBRUARY 14

Societe Des Instruments Anciens Gives Lyceum Number

The concert given by the Societe Des Instruments Anciens last Thursday evening, February 14, in the College auditorium was an outstanding success. As a group of real artists the members of this ensemble of old instruments—the quinton, viole d'amour, ivola de gamba, basse de viole and harpsichord—showed themselves experts in the performance of archaic instruments and the music composed for them.

Madame Regina Casadesus attracted special attention due to the exquisite clarity and smoothness of her harpsichord playing. The quinton, upon which Marius Casadesus played, impressed all with the clear sweetness and delicacy of its tone. M. Henri Casadesus, founder of the society, performed skillfully on the violin d'amour which closely resembles the present-day viola in size and tone quality.

One could help but feel the charm of this old music when rendered by musicians who understood the spirit of it themselves. The freshness, the delicate rythmn, the spontaniety and grace of each number fascinated all who were present.

Such a delightfully refreshing concert as this was, will long be remembered by the enthusiastic audience which was completely won over by the unique charm of a music that was popular with its ancestors.

SOPHOMORES WIN CHAMPIONSHIIP

The championship game between the sophomores and juniors was played Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The sopohomores were victorious with a score of 16—11.

It was by far the fastest game of the season and would have been more evenly matched, but the juniors were outplayed due to their lack of basketeers; at the end of the first quarter the score stood 2—2 but at the half the sopohomores were 11 and the juniors still 2. The third quarter was the most interesting part of the game because the playing was better and the teams seemed to find each other quicker. The juniors came up to 10 and the sophs 14. When the final whistle b lew the deciding score was 16—11, which meant another 10 points for Green and White.

The line-up:

Sophomores		Juniors
Neblett	F	Whitlock
Sturgis	F	Smith
Smith	J. C.	Gurley
Reed	G	Paris
Coleman	G	Graves

Referee—Miss Iler.

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... FLORENCE REED, '31
Art ..... CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE. '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader

MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

Vision

The Washington of today in the little world of science, literature and art are making contributions, each in his own way, toward the betterment o fthe world in which we all live together. Each Washington feels it his duty and privilege to broaden the fields of his work and to make the rules governing the control of these new fields as democratic as possible so that we, the people, may be privileged to use the resources freely.

There are Washingtons in our little college world, too, who are working to make our government more democratic. These girls are our representatives and, as such, have the common good of the people at heart in every matter they are called up to judge. By their unceasing efforts and faith in us, our rules are far more democratic, and we have more privileges than did our big sisters who lived in our college yesterday.

With the work of the student councils of yesterday ,ours of today, and that we expect of those of tomorrow, we shall look for the day to come soon when our college shall have an ideal government "of the people, by the people, and for the people."

Challenge

One could have visions—visions which will penetrate the past, grasp the present, and pierce the future; but one"s visions can not end here. They must be such an integral part of us that they can find their way into our innermost heart. Did you know that it is our inner heart which is our best friend, yet which is also our director? It is divided into chambers. In one we find Truth; in another we find Love; Loyalty is found in a third, and in the fourth and smallest, is found the rare combination of the contents of the other three chambers. This indefinable character represents our attitudes ,our limitations and our radiations. And the best thing about this tiny, innermost chamber, is that it can grow if the proper stimulus is given. The power lies with you. Use it and watch the effect which will surely show upon the face of your friend, upon Joan's and upon your own. Your reward is here waiting for you. Will you have it?

Modern American Cherry Tree

Do you realize that in our midst we have a tree quite as famous and much more important than the one cut down by the father of our coutnry?

We have heard all our lives that money does not grow on trees; however, the popular idea in America today seems to be to the contrary. With our automobiles, extravagant dress, and high standards of living, we seem to have forgot that as our wealth must have a source—so does it have a limit. Too many of us take prosperity for granted and forget that somebody had to work that we might enjoy the luxuries of modern life. This wealth is not something that has sprung up over night; its foundations were laid with the foundations from country.

What use are we making of our money? As has been proved in the past, luxury leads to decay and ruin. Are we Americans level-headed enough to keep the mastery of our wealth, or will it get the upper hand of us and lead us on—an elusive phantom?

How many of those suffering mentally and physically in our penitentiaries today are there because they let their desires for gain rule them? Living beyond their incomes and overcome by the desire to keep up with their neighbors, they have been forced to get money by fair means or foul, and their greed has led to their ruin. Is not this longing for wealth—this love for the American dollar—the cause of a greater part of the crimes that are taking peace in our country today?

We are the wealthiest nation in the world. However, on all sides are conditions of poverty that might and ought to be relieved. Too many are blindly chasing the balloon of financial success and are heedless of the needs of those near them.

Is there a chance of our source of prosperity being exhausted?

Is there a danger of our modern money tree being destroyed as was the famous cherry tree of Washington?

Do we place too much faith in our money tree having the power of regeneration that was possessed by the cherry tree?

Rainbows

What is it about that strip of cloth and color, which nations call their flag, that chokes us, pierces us with poignant pride and tenderness and which overwhelms us with an urgent desire to serve it—and which may infuriate us to the extent of fighting all men, or encourage us to extend our hand to the world in brotherhood? Of course, to ships passing at sea, it is a cloth bearing "colors and devices to indicate nationality" and it is the symbolic representation of one nation to another; but to us—just people—who see our colors on the wind and who often reach to them without a conscious thought of what they stand for, what is it that for one—two—three ecstatic moment frees our souls from our bodies?

Some of us see in those waving symbols soldiers marching, with faces strained, yet ashine with the struggle of the sacrifice of home, youth and life. Some, perhaps, see mothers—walking the floor at night—praying, hoping—yet fearing for word of a son probably lost at sea; or a father, with courageously quiet hands, placing another kind of flag—one with a gold star on it—in a window; who, groping for some meagre consolation, murmurs to himself, "For his country—his country and his flag." Some see wide green coutnry-sides, bespeaking of peace and happiness. Some see—just the flag. Do people of all nations se those same things? Warm, vivid Spain, the splendor of her past all about her, with her red and yellow share of the rainbow—hurt France, slowly healing, still holding her flag above her wounds—what vital part of life do they hide in the folds of their banners?

Over the western horizon there bends another raibow. It is blended with the western sky at the time of day when everything save beauty ceases to be, and when all life pauses to wait on that beauty. Do we see our own red, white and blue, or do we see the sunset? At sunrise, do we see—

"—by the dawn's early light
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?"— or is it a part of the dawn?

The people of the nations—what do they seen in their flags?

GLAMOUR

"It is the most tragic affairs that so many Americans should insist both that Washington could not tell a lie and that his chroniclers may not tell the truth."

So states Rupert Hughes at the conclusion of the first chapter in his life of Washington and it is literally true. The younger generation from 1716 on has been taught the cherry tree tradition as gospel with the moral that if one would be great like George Washington he must never tell a lie. A very pretty example! However, the youngr generation has become incredulous and it looks for something which has really given Washington his name.

What have we to offer? Do we still cherish the hero worship of our childhood or have we caught the true spirit of the man Washington? Men such as Hughes have taught us the humaness of Washington—but that has not diminished his name. We rather love him the more for it. Greatness does not appear so far above our reach. Still, human qualities cannot make a man a great organizer, it makes him only popular with his people. Washington, the man did not make history with sword and pen—it was Washington, the soldier, the conservative statesman, the leader.

The qualities that made this possible helped him rise from an obscure major to the highest honor any American could attain. In the first place, he was intelligent and thoughtful, not given to accepting current opinion but formulating his own—thus he was conservative and at the same time original; he was courageous and dynamic in all his acts, possessing the tenacity of purpose through which his achievements were accomplished. However, the one outstanding characteristic which mad him what he was, was his universality of spirit. This has been the one common trait of all great leaders. We find it in such men as Roosevelt and Wilson. This it is that taught him gratness in the lesser things and which will make men who possess it like Washington, "First in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his fellowmen."

F. W., '30

GUESS WHO

Who is one of the very jolliest juniors? She can wear her roommate's clothes and not even feel self-conscious. Never does she meet us without a grin and some clever quip or witty remark to stimulate our sense of humor—oh, yes. She sells good sandwiches.

Who is one who does the most aesthetic acrobatics on the basketball courts? A good scout who is a sporting in character as in dress. To her, then, who is playing the game, plays it fair.

Who is the one who sings to us? makes the piano talk for us? thrills us with her dramatic exhibitions and wins us over with her generous smile? Her magnetic personality reaches out and holds us with its charm.

Who is the one whose serious smile invites our confidences—not merely because there must be someone but because we know instinctively that she will understand and sympathize. The one we couldn't do without?

FOUND!

In the Richmond Christian Advocate of 1863 or 1864 the following advertisement was found:

Farmville Female College
Spring term from 18th of February
to the 30th of June. 1864

Board, including fuel & washing	$450
English department	$75
Music (voice included)	$75

Thorough instruction—good fare
For additional information address:
A. Preat, President, Farmville, Va.

The expenses for four and a half month were $600. This of course was Confederate money. We can not help but see the interest that was felt throughout our state in education, even during the War between the States when most of the fathers and brothers were fighting. More than ever do we realize the sacrifices that were made by th women of th South.

Farmvill Female College was open during the four years of the war. It was under fire when the Northern army shelled from the hills east of Farmville and the Southern army retreated westward through Farmville.

According to a magazine article written by a student the college at the time when Lee surrendered at Appomattox, an appeal was made to Grant to give the students protection out of Farmville, since there were straggling soldiers throughout the vicinity. General Grant gave them safe pasage on army wagons and cannons to Burkeville where they started for their respective homes.

It is hard to state the exact date this college was established. It was a small college doing outstanding work during the Civil War and was owned by Farmville stockholders. At the time of this advertisement, a Frenchman, A. Preat was president.

When the legislature of Virginia was considering establishing a teacher training school, certain influential citizens of Farmville offered the property of the Farmville Female College to the State if the Normal was located here. The State accepted the offer and located the first State Female Normal School at Farmville in 1884. This was just nine years after the establishment of the George Peabody College for teachers at Nashville, the first teacher training college in the South.

The campus lay between High street and the street behind the kitchen and the two walks nearest the main entrance. This was enclosed by a fence. A three story building was within this enclosure but there was no training school. Soon after the Normal was established a small frame building was erected back of the main building to be used as a training school.

The school has grown most rapidly during the past twenty-seven years and we feel sure some of the first students of this school would have a hard time realizing this was ever as they first knew it.

APPRECIATION

Little sisters, we are only two years removed from the freshmen and so we feel honored to be the big sisters of a class of such calibre as you. We have watched you with pride in our hearts as you have become initiated into the various phases of our college life, and have become a part of us. We have been watching to strengthen your hands if you faltered. But you leave us assured as to our class tradition and to the spirit of Alma Mater! Thus, we thrill to the colors Red and White for the sake of the big sisters of our freshman year and now for your sake.

PICTURES

A cherry tree in snowy bloom—
A hatchet and a boy,
Slow quiverings of cherry blossoms—
A childish scream of joy.

A figure kneeling in the snow,
Soldiers, barefoot with closed eyes,
A prayer, a dream, a sacrifice
And a love that never dies.

A blinding, inky blackness,
A ship intent on victory—
Herculean efforts through blocks of ice
And the reward of victory!

A silent, motionless crowd listens
To the first President, Washington
A people eager, breathless
Turns toward the glory of the rising sun.

K. W., '30

YOU SHOULD KNOW THEM BY THESE LINES

"Forget thee—
One does not live so long!"
Miss Mary

"Open my heart and you shall see Graved inside of it—S. T. C."
Dr. Jarman

"I know! I know! I do not lie.
I shall go dreaming 'till I die."
Pannie Willis

"I was made of this and this,
An angel's prayer—a gypsie's kiss."
Martha McKenzie

"Here's a sight to those who love me,
And a smile to those who hate,
And whatever skies above me
Here's a heart for any fate."
Margaret Finch

"She had a heart—how shall I say?
Too soon made glad, too easily impressed. Eleanor Hogan

"And out of the houses the rats came tumbling.
Great rats, small rats, lean rats, brawny rats—
Brown rats, black rats, gray rats, tawny rats." Freshman Class

"You can judge a woman by what she laughs at."
Student body in chapel

"To love oneself is the beginning of a life-long romance."
Mary F. Taliaferro

"We are the music makers"
Rough Riders Orchestra

"Strew over him flowers—
Blue forget-1me-nots."
For a hopeful Easter

"When earth's last picture is painted"
Mary Ellington

"Listen, my children, and you shall hear—" Blanche Murrell

"Ah, but man's reach should exceed his grasp
Or what's a Heaven for?"
Etta Marshall

"Time, you old gypsy man, will you not stay?
Put up your caravan just for one day."
Senior Class

THE VOICE

The time is near at hand when we are looking forward to the first issue of our new college magazine— The Voice.

The magazine has for its purpose the fostering of the literary efforts in our college. The Voice has several distinct departments — short-story, drama and poetry—and under these headings will be published the various contributions of the students. It is hoped by the staff and by the literary societies fostering this attempt that The Voice will become a permanent publication of the college, ranking with The Rotunda and The Virginian.

The first issue of The Voice is due this week.

PERSONALS

Pearl Etheridge, Lucille Norman, Florence Booten, Virginia Raine, and Lucy Thompson attended the Intercollegiate Press meeting in Richmond the past week-end.

Katherine Schroeder spent the week-end at her home in Washington, D. C.

Carrie Bickford, Martha Wood, Ethel Weld, Mae Baldwin and Alma Hunt spent the week-end in Roanoke.

Virginia Cobb visited at her home in Blackstone last week-end.

Mary Simmerman, Lucille Feld, and Katherine Cooke spent the week-end in Richmond.

Alice Carter and Suzanne Holland were among those who spent the week-end in Danville.

Nora Petty and Louise Munt visited in Lynchburg last week-end.

Sterling Thornton returned to school for the week-end to attend the Hampden-Sydney mid-winter dances.

Emma Woods spent the week-end with friends in Richmond and Emporia.

Martha Baker, Frances Guthrie, and Mary Will Vincent visited their homes in Emporia during the week-end.

Ella Sims Clare spent the week-end at her home in Charlottesville.

Martha McKenzie vistied her home in Portsmouth last week-end.

Jessie G. Smith and Mildred Maddrey spent the week-end in Norfolk.

Mary Brightwell spent the week-end at her home in Pamplin.

Agnes Withers, Beverly Flippen, and Virginia Hamilton were the guests of Anne Withers and Mary Bernard during the week-end. They attended the Hampden-Sydney dances.

Reta Hardy spent the week-end at her home in Kenbridge.

Florence Gregory was at her home in Appomattox last week-end.

Blanche Murrell spent the week-end at her home in Lynchburg.

Among those attending the dances at V. P. I., were Mary Beasley, Dot Baldwin, Emily Gale, Harriet de Witt, Lucille Logan, Teny Myers, and Katherine Wayt.

Louise Foster, Lela Germany, Ruth and Ruby Hunt attended the dances at the University of Virginia.

The following girls attended the Hampden-Sydney mid-winter dances: Dorothy Anderson, Anne Chapin, Lucy Dortch, Mildred Elmore, Elizabeth Etheridge, Mabel Fitzpatrick, Anne Ferree, Genevieve Grimes, Nan Griffith, Elaine Goode, Virginia Gurley, Evelyn Holland, Flora Martin, Loulie Milner, Frances Millican, Florence McIntyre, Margaret Pumphrey, Marjorie Parkinson, Nora Petty, Mildred Robertson, Mary Frances Radcliff, Rosalie Rhea, Helen Robertson, Marguerite Swann, Mary Fielding Taliaferro, Frances Thornton, Elizabeth Turner, Sara Harris, Anne Withers, Elizabeth Watkins, Virginia Yarbrough, and Evelyn Mills.

LUCILLE GRAVES

To one who's been all one can be,
Who's led us on to victory—
A toast to her, on bended knee,
Our president, we lift our praise to thee!

UNDERSTANDING

Joy it was mine once!
Blessing of mankind,
I would my eyes were filled with joy,
To the rest, blind.

I have sought the Truth
Not for worldliness to make it bare
But to know and understand;
I seek it out—I dare!

Joy—it was mine once.
But what new joy, have I here.
Joy of sadness, born of knowledge
Truth and Beauty made more dear.

F. W. '30

SH—H—H!

This is supposed to be a large secret, but I think I can trust it with you. Well, come in close, because I must have your undivided attention. You will be surprised to death when I tell you—all right, now listen: "The faculty has a basketball team." "How about that?"

But wait, you just ought to attend one of their practices. You would be astounded! My gracious, Miss Grenels, their star forward, hardly has to look at the goal to get her balls in, and when Miss Jeter guards her, they have a scratching good time. So if you should begin to go to either one of their classes and see them nursing a large bruise or scratch you will know its source. Of course, that's confidential!

Miss Draper is champion when it comes to dropping overhead shots in the basket, and running out of her shoes. The other day Miss Purdom was guarding Miss Draper, and in gasping breaths she aid, "My, I feel like an elephant chasing a fly."

Quisenberry, that tall jumping center on the Harrisonburg team, wouldn't stand a ghost of a chance with Miss Cooper, because she only has to reach out after a ball and she has it. When it comes to being a good holder, Miss McCormick can't be beat because she sticks to her forward like a leech.

Miss Iler gets so very exhausted with coaching, refreeing, playing, and laughing when Miss Moran stands glued to the spot with outstretched arms, waiting for the ball, that she can hardly hang on her tie balls with Miss Bedford in the center.

Oh, let me tell you—one night Miss Moran was playing guard and, having probably read about the California football player that ran to the wrong goal, she suddenly snatched the ball, dribbled up to the basket and calmly shot said ball through her opponent's goal. Hurrah! Miss Moran.

Miss Mix is to be the official lemon boy when her team competes and Miss Turner is to be the cheer leader.

So I'm thinking the teams in school had better get in trim because I have an inkling that this faculty sextette is going to send somebody a challenge. That is why I'm giving you this tip.

THE TRYSTING PLACE

On Monday night at seven o'clock a charming little one-act play, "The Trysting Place" by Booth Tarkington was presented in the auditorium. As a prelude, there were three most attractive numbers: an Italian dance by Miss Robertson, our new gym teacher; a delightful reading by Elsie Clements; and a beautiful quartet, in which Lucretia Province, Margaret Hubbard, Adele Hutchinson, and Frances Hamner sang.

The play was quite an accomplishment four of our faculty members demonstrating great dramatic abilities. (Qualities of which we were heretofore quite ignorant.) To see Dr. Simkins impersonate a seventeen-year-old chap; Mr. Coyner, in love; and Dr. Walmsley "quite overcome at the idea of having been heard while practicing the gentle art of wooing," was quite amusing. While we didn't see Mr. McCorkle—we recognized his voice!

As for the ladies, Leyburn Hyatt an dMary Ellen Cato were charming sweethearts—though they did have a time trying to keep their affairs in secret. Elizabeth Antrim was an attractive "wi dow", with gray hair and sophistication!

The whole play went off with a "bang"—there was a great deal of humor and pep throughout.

NEW MODES
FOR THE SPRING
STYLE PARADE

Along comes spring with a profusion of new designs, smart exclusive material and unusual trimming details.

Thus our dresses which have just arrived take their place so corectly in the parade of spring fashions. We extend to you a hearty invitation to come in and see the very highest at

BALDWINS
"Where the girl who knows buys her clothes."

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

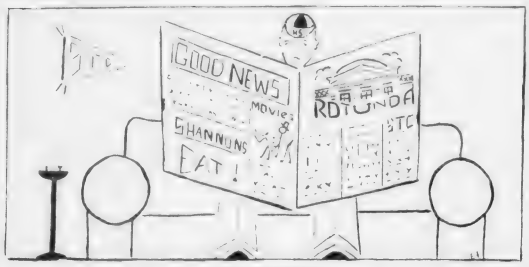
McIntosh Drug Store
"The Rexall Store"
CARA NOME TOILETRIES

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS — — — — — DRESSES
GLOVES — — — — — SHOES
HOSIERY — — — — — HATS
DRESS-GOODS — — — NOTIONS
SHOWING
New Spring COATS AND DRESSES
Priced
$5.75
Upward
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality



HAVE YOU SEEN THE NEW DRESSES, HATS, COATS, ETC., AT THE HUB

Mr. Weinberg has just returned from New York, where he made a wonderful selection of the season's newest creations. The most popular colors are tan and blue; printed dresses are all the rage—The Hub has it all and then some. The dresses are being sold rapidly—it is advisable that you come now and buy. If we do not have the dress you want in stock we will order it for you.

Come and see our new selections. Come and buy while they are here.

The Hub fashion show will be about March 1.

HUB
DEPT. STORE

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself has said
As he stubbed his toe against the bed
—!!!——!!!—
Collegian

Bachelor: "I want a pretty and intelligent wife."
Matrimonial Agent: "Impossible, that would be bigamy."
—Breeze

Landlady: "Why have you put your coffee on a stool?"
Student: "It was so weak that I thought that it had better sit down."
Collegian

Dr. Fields: "My dear girl, there is nothing the matter with you. You only need rest."
Clara Norfleet: "But Dr. Fields, look at my tongue."
Dr. Fields: "Needs rest, too."
—Breeze

Mary W. Vincent: "If you don't make an average of D you can't stay in school."
Reta Hardy: "What will they do—put us out in a cottage?"

Evelyn: (at H.-S. dance) "Wait right here for me, Ben, while I go powder my nose."
Evelyn (3 dances later) "Been waiting long?"
Ben: "No, but I've been looking all over this place for you to give you your compact."

Judging from all the hot air on Valentines Cupid didn't wear a fur coat this year.

Here comes the last one about the absentminded prof. who forgot to flunk anybody.

Some girls smile in the evening
Some girls smile at dawn
But the girl worth while
Is the girl who can smile
When her three front teeth are gone.
The Bull Dog

GAME OF BRIDGE

Honors—Our honor societies
Cuts—Things for missing classes
Clubs—Time taking organizations
Hearts—Lost and found articles
Diamonds—Things in rings like—oh, well—
Spades—What one should use for study
New Deal—A Happy New Year
Score—Teachers' guidebook
Double—Our own idea of our grades
Finesse—The art of bluffing.

SENIORS ENTERTAIN LITTLE SISTERS

Continued from page one

the Valentine by the biggest and best senior of all, Miss "Olive T." Oh, of course there were refreshments—red and white ice cream, little red hearts, and a heart-shaped cake for everyone. You ask was it a success? Ask a little sister.

JUNIOR JINGLES

A girl we love
Her name is Etta
Is she good?
Why she is better.

One athletic girl
Is Pannie Willis
To watch her play basketball
Will surely kill us.

A red-haired girl
Is Edith Page
She can dye her hair
But we all know her age

Miss William Alice Paris
She's named like a boy
But that name will trick you
For she's girlish and coy.

Virginia Cox
The pied piper of S. T. C.
All the freshmen love her.
And so do we.

Marguerite Swann and Rosalie Rhea
Don't mind eating the food
But they hate to pay.

My bonnet laid on the shelf in my closet
It fitted my roommate you see
She wore it home in a wind storm
Oh, bring back my bonnet to me.

A little freshman, a great check
A lot of bills to pay
A trip down town, a pretty gown
The check is gone that way.

BENEFIT MOVIE

Monday, February 25, the Junior Class is putting on a benefit movie, "His Tiger Lady" featuring Adolph Menjou. If that doesn't sound inviting, what does—or could? Who doesn't aspire to sophistication—the nth degree o feverything in the modern world; and where could one find a better example of sophistication than in the person of Adolph Menjou? He even "goes himself one better" this time.

You'll be missing a really good and worthwhile, and at the same time, thoroughly interesting and amusing picture if you let this chance slip. None of us can afford to do that!

TO YOU, OLD ROOMIE

What would we do without one another,
You and I old roomie, dear
To whom would we carry our ups and downs?
From whom would we get kind words of cheer?

There is none who can take your place
For I know you like an old shoe,
If I should have to lose you now,
What on earth would I do?

E. F. M., '30

ATHLETICS

VOLEY BALL

As soon as basket ball season is over that is a signal for volley ball to begin. The Athletic Association is getting out the nets and balls and starting things off right. Now, it's up to you to come out to practices and put volley ball over with a bang! Come on Red and White and Green and White! Who is going to get these 10 points?

VARSITY GOING TO FREDERICKSBURG

The varsity is leaving for a game with Fredericksburg Friday. They are hoping to bring back a victory, for they certainly have worked hard since the Harrisonburg game.

Last year Farmville won both games from Fredericksburg. They are leaving here Friday morning at 8 o'clock to go up there and play the very best game they can, hoping all the while that they can keep old S. T. C. on top. So come on student body, let's give them a good send off. They would appreciate it and certainly they deserve it. Onward Farmville!

HOLIDAY LOST

One of those momentous questions that come once in the life of men and of nations faced the Debate Club on Wednesday, February 13, when it was called to decide whether St. Valentine's Day should be made a national holiday. Sparkling wit, profound statesmanship, and tender sentiment were so entwined in the sitxy minutes of argument that the club rocked with laughter and again sobbed in sympathy with the forlorn women whose Valentine failed.

The hostilities were opened by Grigsby Peck, who invoked the muses, the graces and the disgraces, and hurled at the judges eight of the thirteen reasons why the calendar should recognize affairs of the heart. Her climax was reached when she made the startling discovery that one day was sadly needed in which timid maiden would be permitted to "make advances."

Rebekah Liebman countered with the assertion that love-making was a necessity of everyday life and should not be relegated to one short winter day, and brought forth floods of tears by her description of the wan old-maid teacher with nothing to do on a holiday except watch the happiness of others.

Louise Hilton marshalled the remaining five affirmative arguments laying most stress on the poor fellow who could not buy his Valentine during the long banking hours and must have one day set aside in which to make or buy his heart's expression.

The tide of sentiment was clearly running in favor of two speakers as opposed to one, and of one more holiday between Lincoln and Washington, when Margaret Hubbard delved into the mystic pages of history and discovered that "The Day" was a Christian metamorphosis of the Roman Lupercalia (Romulus' and Remus' pet wolf) and that St. Valentine was only a wolf in sentimental clothing. She also spoke of the dire results of letting the 100 per cent American know that a holiday was dedicated to a "furriner."

At the end of this speech the vast audience held its breath in awful suspense while the five judges, chosen from those who knew most of the ways of a man with a maid, tried to make up their minds and their faces. Three of them voted to continue the classes on February 14, doubtless in sympathy with the poor boy with more than one girl, who can now mail fourteen identical Valentines but who could not make fourteen holiday visits. One voted for the national holiday, and one froze to death in contemplation of the awfully uncomfortable position of Cupid in a February airplane. And thus, we, and the nation, lost a holiday and attended classes on St. Valentine's Day.

P. S.—Deep water flows still. Hampden-Sydney was not mentioned during the debate.

MR. W. D. BOWMAN

"For we love you now, as we loved you then,
You are ours in our hearts always."
Mr. Bowman, the class man of our first year is back with us again! With his guiding hand we press onward to new victories.

CONGRATULATIONS

We extend our hand in congratulation to the Freshman and Sophomores for their class issues of the Rotunda. Both classes have shown a true spirit of cooperation which is justified in their achievement. May their work be continued.

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Feb. 25—Mar. 2

MON.—Adolphe Menjou and Evelyn Brent in "HIS TIGER LADY" a Paramount picture. In this picture you get intimate glimpses of the backstage realms of the bizarre Follies Bergere; an amusing istuation done in the sophisticated Menjou manner. Also news, oddity and comedy. Mat at 4 o'clock.

TUES.—Olive Borden and Huntley Gordon in "SINNERS IN LOVE" taken from the True Story Magazine. Souls on the auction block of midnight whoopee! A girl who dared and a boy who cared! Corgeous, glittering life, lights, cabaret, whoopee! Also comedy andoddity. Mat. at 4 o'clock. As an extra added attraction this night Noelani Lopes' troop of real Hawaiians will entertain you with music and dancing immedaitely after the showing of the picture. Mat and night.

WED.—Tom Mix and his wonder horse Tony in "SON OF THE GOLDE NWEST". A cyclonic dramatization of the pioneer express. Bark and bite of the plainsmen's rifles! Roar of the derringer! War-whoop of the dreaded redskin! The pioneer girl! They are al lhere in this thrilling picture. Also 3 reel Western and a comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

THURS.—Marceline Day, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Henry B. Walthall in "THE JAZZ AGE". Stirring drama of tomorrow's America. Timely as today's lipstick—new as tonight's date. Girls—speed models a few with four wheel brakes. Boys—playing the game of life for a thrill. You saw "Our Dancing Daughter" now see this epic of heedless youth. Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

FRI. & SAT.—at Mats. only—Patsy Ruth Miller, and Glenn Tryon in "TRUE GATE CRASHER". Fun backstage. A great entertainment—includes hilarious comedy, real romance. A mystery plot and dramatic thrills. The kind of a picture you will tell your friends to see. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT.—nights only—Joan Crawford, Nils Asther, Aileen Pringle, and Carmel Myers in "DREAM OF LOVE." A special production. Love carried him to the brink of disaster! Is is to be a firing squad ending to this amazing romance? But you must see this picture by the man who made "Ben Hur" It's sensational pair of lovers—beautiful Joan Crawford and Nils Asther—will stir the heart of the world. Also collegiate comedy.

Admission to S. T. C. girl 25c to each show except Tuesday, if tickets are bought at college. Tues. Admission 35c.

SENIOR ISSUE OF
ROTUNDA

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA WEDNESDAY, FEB. 27, 1929 No. 19

S. T. C. AND W. & M. HAVE DUAL DEBATE

Home Teams Win By Oxford Decision

The debate season was opened Friday night with a freshman dual debate between S. T. C., represented by Anne Pleasant Hopkins and Maria Warren, and William and Mary, represented by Grace Mahan and Anna Cohan. The subject was the abolition of the jury system of trial.

The debate speeches were clear, pungent and effective, the arguments "clashed," the four speakers joined battle on three main points: does the jury fail more than it succeeds, can it be improved, would a substitute system of trial by judges be more efficient. The decision was by audience vote and the S. T. C. affirmative seemed to be more convincing, as they received 66 per cent of the votes, and were declared the winners. High praise was given to all the speakers for their clearness of thought and force of argument. The visitors left pleasant memories as worthy representatives of their college.

At the same time Polly Sheffield and Sara Hubbard spoke at Williamsburg on the negative side of the same question. Again the affirmative home team won, as our representatives received only 43 per cent of the audience vote. A close decision like this shows well-matched teams and if William and Mary's affirmative team is as good as their negative we feel distinctly proud of Polly and Sara.

On Friday night of this week there will be a dual debate with Westhampton College on the subject of public or private operation of hydro-electric power in the United States.

Washington's Birthday Fete at S. T. C.

Two weeks ago when we were told to appear in costume or evening dress for dinner on the night of February 22—George Washington's birthday—we had no idea of the treat that was in store for us. The tables were attractively decorated with favors appropriate for the occasion, with dishes of gaily colored candies and red hatchets at each place. The brightly colored frocks and costumes blended together to form a pretty background.

Upon investigation we found that the College Orchestra was in the balcony and was ready to play familiar and enjoyable numbers throughout the dinner.

After dinner we were asked to come down to the recreation hall. Here music was furnishd for dancing. At this time there a hush over the place,

Continued on last page

MEISTERSINGERS ARE NOTABLE LYCEUM EVENT

The Meistersingers of Boston, famous male choir, presented, under the leadership of Mr. Whitefield Laite, one of the baritone singers, an enchanting program at S. T. C., on the evening of February 20. The voices were rich and varied; and the program offered wonderful musical and emotional range, including selections to please all tastes—grand opera, folk songs, ballads, lullabies, special tenor and baritone solos, and a little unfortunately—Negro spirituals and secular melodies of the Negro race. So unusual was the tone quality of the chorus, so well blended and shaded the tone, so exquisite the articulation, so thrilling the dynamic effects produced, that it would be a pleasure to hear the Meistersingers interpret any type of music conceivable; yet one can but wish that thy might omit from their program the Negro melodies, for in these their artistry is undoubtedly something less than perfect.

Continued on page three

Miss Iler Has Varied Career

Miss Iler attended Pratt Art Institute of Brooklyn, New York and later Sargent Physical Education School of Cambridge, Mass. She then received a position with the Playground Atheltic League of Baltimore. After a few years with the B. A. L., she accepted a position as head of the Physical Education Department at Chevy Chase School, Chevy Chase, Md.

In the fall of 1925 she came to S. T. C., Farmville, accepting a position in the Physical Education Department. The majority of us, the prsent senior class, met her as our physical education teacher and when it came time to elect our class man we knew there was no one else for the place but Miss Iler. She guided the rats of '29 through thick and thin and may be said to have saved the rats from the cats. We found her filled with ideas, ideals and the spirit of cooperation.

Continued on last page

JUBILEE SINGERS FULFILL EXPECTATIONS

Last Monday evening, February 25, the Utica Jubilee Singers under the auspices of the Lions Club gave a most enjoyable concert.

Many familiar negro spirituals were included in the program which was frequently supplemented by recitation given by individual members of the quintet.

Among the spirituals which served to show the unusual ability of these singers in rendering Negro harmony were, "Deep River," arranged by Harry T. Burleigh, "The Gospel Train," "True Religion" and that very popular spiritual "Swing Low Sweet Chariot."

It was particularly noticeable that the Jubilee Singers exhibited splendid stage poise throughout their performance. A serene yet gracious spirit was felt, one which formed a most appropriate atmosphere in which to present the particular type of song which the evening program included.

FARMVILE DEFEATS FREDERICKSBURG

Farmville's Clever Passwork Is Outstanding Feature

On Friday night, February 22, our varsity defeated the Fredericksburg sextette on their court in a fast, well-played game. The first quarter was a tense one for the game was very close in the beginning, and the score was 6—6. After this Farmville took the lead and rolled up the score ending the half with a tally of 25—7 for Blue and White.

In the second half the lead was still held, and by fast playing and clever passing the Farmville team succeeded in raising their score to 47; the Brown and Gold score being 19.

The most oustanding feature of the game was the fast, clean passing and teamwork.

This Saturday night a return game will be played at S. T. C., when we shall have a chance to see our girls play Fredericksburg in our gym.

The line-up was as follows:

Farmville (47)		Fredericksburg (19)
Smith	F	Wiltshire
Wilkinson	F	Henderson
Gurley	J. C.	Vaughan
Souders	S. C.	Corkins
Reed	G	Harris
Hatchett	G	Perry

Substitutes: Farmville—Oliver for Souders. Fredericksburg—Shank for Henderson, Broaddus for Corkins, Wheeler for Broaddus, Broaddus for Perry.

Referee—Miss Lehr.

Umpire—Miss Roberts.

Scorer—Erdman.

Timer—Ellerton.

Choral Club to Present Spring Contest

On Monday evening, March 11th, at eight o'clock, the Choral Club will appear in its annual spring concert.

The program will be one of unusual variety, and at the same time show a high artistic quality as to material. Included in the several groups of songs to be presented are Edgar Elgar's lovely composition "Snow" (accompanied by violin obligato), a "Night Song" by Colkey, a short Negro spiritual "Rain," and a piquant love song entitled "My Lover Is a Fisherman."

To climax these lighter numbers the club will sing a cantata, "The Sleeping Beauty," the music of which is written by Miss Frances McCollin and the words taken from Tennyson's beautiful poem "The Princess."

It is of much interest to learn that

Continued on last page

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor LUCY THOMPSON, '30

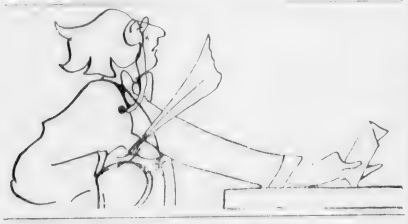
Board of Editors

News Editor CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social FLORENCE REED, '31
Art CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE. '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader



MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Air Castles

Air-castles—those habitations of the soul from which our earthly bodies are forever barred; those variegated bubbles of the spirit which ever elude our grasp and lure us on to seek the pot of gold at the rainbow's end—air castles, how many of us dwell in them in secret?

As seniors leaving the sheltering walls of our Alma Mater, we are all—some consciously, other unconsciously, perhaps—building other walls to take the place of these in which we have dwelt for four fruitful years. At present, most of these walls are no more substantial than the walls of dream houses. We are hopefully and trustingly building air castles for our future dwelling places. In our four years in college, we have laid a firm foundation for our castle of dreams. Yet how many of these air castles will have walls strong enough to shut out the buffeting winds of life? How many will have a roof which can protect us from the rains, snows, and sleets of sorrow, old age, and tribulation?

Should we give up our air castles? No; for then life would not be worth the living. May we not, however, fortify them with hope, faith, and love added to a practical, common-sense understanding of the realities of life? May we not fix them, one by one, firmly on the earth as habitations for the body, each time building a new air castle toward which the soul may strive? It is not "the castles we build in Spain" which help us to suceed in life unless we bring them down to earth for us to live in. As a poet has said:

"It is not the thing you meant to do,
But the thing that you did, my son."

Success of the Lyceum Course

The Lyceum Course came to a close February 20 with the most popular performance given at S. T. C. for some time. The "Meistersingers" performed before a packed house; practically every student attended the concert, and we would not dare suggest that it did not delight every girl present. The psychology of that audience rivalled in interest the excellent music of the singers.

As we consider each number of the Lyceum Course of the year, we reach one conclusion: that all the performances were of an unusually high order, and that the student body attended with greater enthusiasm and profit, than they had experienced in the last three years.

We wish to endorse heartily Dr. Jarman's new plan for entertainments. Since the small size of the town in which our college is located does not justify performances by artists of the greatest achievement, the students have access to concerts, lectures, etc., only when they are sponsored by the college. The experience of this year points to the fact that a few numbers of the highest quality are more satisfying than a greater number of lesser character.

Facing Forward

Is there anything in life more wonderful than "tomorrow" or "the future" around which we weave our dreams. There is a time in a senior's life when thoughts of the "tomorrow," when she will have gone forth from the walls of her Alma Mater, bring to her heart clouds of sadness. Yet through the clouds come the sun rays of a future, rays which challenge her to face forward and strive to attain the cherished ideals.

The challenge comes to us to so live that we may be worthy of the wonderful heritage left us by Virginia's womanhood and worthy of the trust our Alma Mater has in us.

College life as a wonderful life. Even it, however, brings to us disillusionments—facts heart-breaking, perhaps, but necessary if we are to grow in spirit and in truth. Let us use these disillusionments as means by which we may rise to finer and nobler heights, and let us face forward still dreaming dreams of life, but dreams built upon the truths which we have found.

Smiles—Cooperation—Attitude

When we were freshmen, during those first gloomy days, they told us to smile. Such a funny thing to tell a person who could not see a ray of sunshine anywhere—only confusion, rushing crowds, startled faces with expressions of utter despair. With some, this spell lasted only an hour or two, with other, longer, because it took some of us longer to find out that we smile for the sunshine, not just because of it. Now we all smile. When we learn to share our better selves with others, then we smile and others smile. Knowing the wonder and the power of a smile we can't understand how this splendor was ever imprisoned within us.

Another word we hear so much about is cooperation. It is the impelling, conquering, achieving force in the world. Walls are built by it, armies trained by it, battles won by it, and we hope for peace through it. We have learned the importance and the strength of cooperation in our school lines. It is necessary in order that any organized society exist. Much of our future will be determined by whether we are willing to cooperate. And cooperation means relationship with every noble purpose.

We know that our attitude or our feeling toward anything we attempt to do largely determines the results. Our minds must be open to what is going on, and with an attitude, honest and impartial, we choose the better things. This word "attitude" is so essential in our lives. Our attitude determines what we will enjoy, what we wil lreject, what we will do. It is our creed, our philosophy of life, our religion. Will our attitudes hinder or help us?

With an attitude of cooperation as we go on our way smiling, few things can buffet our aspirations. With the meaning of these three words in our hearts, we accept the future as a challenge, holding high the torch with a firm grasp and pressing forward with a steady faith.

THE SENIOR'S "BIG FOUR"

Everyone of us, when we have left the threshold of our Alma Mater, will cherish the friendship of "our favorite teacher." Each of us has chosen this friend when he or she voiced our unuttered thoughts and by true driving broadened our vision, ennobled our purpose, and enriched our lives. The friend we call our favorite teacher is a mother of individual choice. But there are several people who have played a part in the life of every Senior. These people will stand foremost in our minds when we leave our Alma Mater.

We shall always remember Dr. Jarman. Now that we have come to be Seniors we feel that he really belongs to us. We cherish his smile, we appreciate his vision, we admire his devotion to duty, a little more than ever before, because we know him better. The impress of his smile, his vision, and accomplishments have their place in our hearts, and they shall bear witness of him in whatever we accomplish.

When we think of the hours long and late when Miss Mary labored for us, we will know that she was our friend. She has listened to our most selfish wants and our most desparate needs, always helping us decide what was best. Every senior loves Miss Mary.

We just naturally move forward with a song in our hearts whenever we think of Miss Jennie. She is a living example of Alma Mater's "true daughters." We will feel a thrill of pride many years hence when we hear "All hail, Alma Mater, dear mother to thee," and it will be because it was our own Miss Jennie who lived up to the song she had dedicated to Alma Mater.

Four years ago when the class of '29 came to S. T. C., we chose our class man from the faculty. She came to S. T. C. at the same time we did. We were freshmen, sophomores and juniors together; now we are seniors together. Never one time in all those four years has she failed us, never once neglectd an opportunity to serve us, never lost faith in us. Now by her faithful guidance we have become seniors. Her aspirations for us, her forward march with us, her hope in us has given every senior something to work for.

OLD AGE

Long years have passed, and passing left their trace;
The hair once brown is turning gray;
the face
Once bright with youthful bloom shows many a line
And through the eyes both pain and sorrow.

But it only to the outward form
That change has come, for still the heart is warm
With life, and all its wondrous melodies
Are sung as clear as ever. He who sees

Naught beyond the surface cannot know
That in the breast warm youth is still aglow;
The soul unchanged, still young. The real I
Will ne'er grow old e'en though the body die.

Jennie M. Tabb

ON BEING A SENIOR

Forty days of bad weather follow if the ground hog sees his shadow; a rabbit foot brings good luck; a black cat brings bad luck; a Senior is dignified.

As is the case with many things, so it is with Seniors; appearances are deceiving. As we march down the aisle on Saturdays every student is aware of our solemn stateliness, and our aloof and preoccupied air. What dignity! What poise! Oh, yes, what poise. We are desperately anxious that our caps won't tumble off or that we won't trip on our gowns and stumble. We are trying to keep that bobbing tassel from making us wink and thus creating a furor of excitement among certain members of our faculty. Our preoccupied air is the result of our constant effort to remember our much-talked-about dignity. As freshmen, sophomores and juniors, we were permitted to act as silly and school-girlish as we pleased, and yet, three months after we had completed our third year of work, we were called upon to display the acme of dignity. However, may it be forgiven us if one of our number presumes to say that we have succeeded so well in our role that everyone looks upon a Senior with awe and trepidation. Sometimes we succeed so well that I am afraid we ourselves are convinced of our dignity.

A TRIBUTE

Steadfast and true, loyal too,
Your Seniors pledge their hearts to you—
Dr. Jarman
Whom he's like is hard to tell
One thing sure—he's liked mighty well—
Dr. Walmsley
Modest in his honors won,
But lovelier character have we none—
Mr. Grainger
Yes, we like his genial wit,
He is a friend we won't omit—
Mr Coyner
Here's to her, we'll all agree
One of the best at S. T. C.—
Miss Grenels
Friend we are very proud to own,
In whom are many virtues shown—
Miss Hiner.
So gentle, patient, and sweet,
The friend we always like to meet—
Miss Smithey
Willing, helpful all the way,
With always a kind word to say—
Miss Rice
Not a thing she can not do,
She is an inspiration true—
Miss Coulling
To our classman we will show
All the love we'd have her know—
Miss Iler

MISS JENNIE M. TABB VISITS MISS SUTHERLIN

At the invitation of Miss Carrie Sutherlin, Miss Tabb spent last weekend at Arlington Hall, Washington, D .C., where she made a short talk to the students on "Father Tabb."

Miss Sutherlin is one of our alumnae, was for a number of years a member of our English faculty, and at present is Acadamic Dean of Arlington Hall, a new junior college established as a branch of Sullins College.

REMEMBERED

When naught along your dark and lonely way
Of comfort or of solace seems to lend:
Behold, a star sends forth a gleaming
ray—
God sends a friend.

Jennie M. Tabb

BLUE

Flame of a hearth-stone fire,
Tint of a maiden's eye,
Color of Alice's gown,
Hue of the beautiful sky,
Name of the willow china,
A stripe of the rainbow line,
Memoirs of faded uniform—
Found in each varied design.

J. L. M., '29

TO YOU IN YOUR ROOM

The yellow-flowered curtains
Wave lazily
Through your window
Beckoning me to enter.

There upon your mantel
I see a tall blue vase
Holding a narcissus;
There within your room
I see you—smiling.

You are a cream-white narcissus;
Your room is a blue vase
Holding the flower of happiness
For me.

J. E. W., '29

DREAM POST

If I could have one wish—just one,
I know what it would be—
A lonely sandy place to go
And watch the rising sea.

A place to go and and hide away
To dream my dreams alone,
And if, perhaps, I've sinned a bit
A place I might atone.

If I could have one wish today,
One wish to make me free,
I'd wish that I might wander
To that dream-post by the sea.

Frances Willis, '29

SONG

Love hurt once is up again
Seeking for love to ease its pain;
It hides its ache 'neath laughter gay
And then goes smiling on its way.

Those who see Love smiling there
Will sneer and say, "She doesn't care."
They only see her smile is glad;
They cannot know her heart is sad.

C. D. B., "29

INFINITY

Whiteness, stillness, breathlessness
Covers the earth.
The silver moon
Chases the distance
Over a snow-tracked path,
And dips behind the the trees.

G. Elizabeth Rawls, '29

BLIND VISION

If I could stand on that far hill
And look below at you
I'd never see your face at all,
But just your dress of blue.

And so you stand a long way off
And you look down on space.
You never see my aching heart
But just my smiling face.

C. D. B., '29

GOOD FRIDAY

Silence, oppressive, infinite,
Broken by the sorrowful chant
Of a black-gowned choir;
Heart-rendering tones of an organ.
Agonizing the soul;
Hundreds of people kneeling,
Frail women, dark-eyed girls,
Strong men, awe-stricken children,
All eyes fixed on the cross;
Silence, expectant, breathless—
A voice from afar repeating,
"Father, into Thy hands I commend my spirit."
A clock strikes "One! Two! Three!"
Chimes toll out the death paean;
A shudder sweeps over the crowd;
Then a sign, heavy, profound,
Gives way to a perfect calm,
A knowledge born of faith
A Resurrection Morn.

C. M. H., '29

THE VOICE GIVEN FAVORABLE REVIEW

The first issue of The Voice marks a significant step forward on the part of the students in that it is very concrete evidence of the fact that the spirit of truth and of loyalty, and a real love of the beautiful are much alive among them.

In these days of readjustments, of constant change, of danger—there are indeed "Voices" all around us: voices which lead and voices which lure; voices which call us on to higher achievement and voices which (if heeded would ruin the morale of the college. There are voices of Encouragement and of Discontent, of Helpfulness and of Criticism, of Appreciation and of Disparagement, and upon us rests the responsibility as to which of these we hear and follow. One of the greatest opportunities of student life is that of building traditions: and every out-going class leaves behind it something, of good or of evil, that will be followed by those who come after. If we emulate the spirit of our Joan, hold fast to her Courage, Truth, Faith and Love, if we remain steadfast, the Voices of Good will triumph in spite of Discouragement, and Discontent will be overcome and lost in the stronger melody of Beauty.

As a literary production, The Voice is most worthy: the matter is well chosen, of a high order, and varied; consisting as it does of verse, short stories, plays, book reviews, it affords opportunity to a large number of students and gives recognition to literary talent along many lines. One fact is significant: throughout the whole there is a refinement, a daintiness, that is most refreshing.

I congratulate the editors of The Voice on a good piece of work.

Jennie M. Tabb

TIME

The hours are days and the days are years
When my love's on a foreign shore;
But the days seem hours, and the hours are not,
When my love's with me once more.

Jennie M. Tabb

MEISTERSINGERS ARE NOTABLE LYCEUM EVENT

(Continued from Page 1)

One of the most notable features of the occasion was the good humor and kindliness of the singers, who readily lent themselves to the somewhat hilarious mood of the audience, and responded with a will to encore after encore. The mosquito song and the "Naughty Marietta" laughing song were the popular hits of the evening.

MISS LOUISE FOSTER

OUR PRESIDENT

"Red" has shown her competency in the manner in which she has handled the Presidency of our class for two and a half years. When Mebane Hunt, our Sophomore president, decided in preference of a matrimonial venture, it was "Red" who succeeded her with utmost efficiency. With vigor and zest she has continued to lead us. As president of the Senior class more strenuous duties fall to her. But, aware of the support of the entire membership, "Red" will lead the class of '29 to a successful graduation.

SYMPATHY

To Mrs. Smith, who serves us in the Tea Room, the student body wishes to extend its deepest sympathy in the death of her husband.

To Florence Carmine, we express our heartfelt sympathy, in the death of her father.

MISS WHEELER MAKES INTERESTING TALK TO DRAMATIC CLUB

At the regular monthly meeting of the Dramatic Club last Thursday night, the members were delighted with an interesting talk made by Miss Wheeler on stage setting. She discussed the two main types of this factor in play production, naturalistic and impressionistic, and gave the general principles applicable to all stage setting; namely, definiteness, naturalness, picturesqueness and variety.

At this meeting a stage committee was appointed by the president to offer its services to Dr. Jarman in making the stage more attractive for entertainments. The following new members recently bid, were welcomed into the club: Evelyn Stevens, Loulie Milner, Evelyn Woods, Virginia Cox, Grigsby Peck, Suzanne Holland.

FACULTY AND STUDENT COUNCIL BATTLE FOR BASKET BALL HONORS

If you're depressed and looking for a big laugh, all you have to do is to invest one small dime in the big game in the gym Wednesday night. There are many surprises in store for you, because both the Council and the faculty are determined that you shall not only witness a good game but that you shall enjoy yourselves while you are seeing it. If you don't laugh then there's something wrong with your sense of humor.

SOCIAL NEWS

Miss Lucille Graves spent the week-end at her home in Roanoke.

Miss Frances Volk from Smithfield and Miss Nancy Dashiell from Newport News were week-end guests of Misses Irene Casey and Henrietta Binford.

Misses Peggy Walton, Louise Whitlock and Evelyn Graybeal spent Saturday in Lynchburg shopping.

Miss Virginia Carter of Raleigh, N. C., was the week-end guest of Miss Mary Hinton.

Miss Thelma Carey spent the week-end at her home in Lynnhaven.

Misses Louise Costen, Elizabeth Jarman, and Marnetta Souder, spent the week-end here with friends.

Miss Martha Tupper who has been spending the winter with her sister is visiting friends in Newport News.

Miss Mary Harrison Gray of Blackstone was the week-end guest of Miss Virginia Cobb.

Miss Brownie Brown from Salem visited her sister Jane Brown this week-end.

Misses Sammy Scott and Allie Kay Libby spent the week-end in Chase City, the guests of Margaret Finch.

Misses Frankie Roberts and Sallie Williams spent the week-end in Roanoke with Miss Elizabeth Ferrell.

STAFF

Editor-in-chief	Julia Wilson
Associate Editor	Juliet Mann
Literary Editor	Carolea Harris
News Editor	Gwen Hardy
Art Editor	Mary O. Ellington
Humorous Editor	Kate Whitehead
Proof Reader	Isabel Macdonald
Circulation Mgr.	Ellen Moore
Asst. Circulation Mgr.	Marjorie Poore

NEW MODES

FOR THE SPRING STYLE PARADE

Along comes spring with a profusion of new designs, smart exclusive material and unusual trimming details.

Thus our dresses which have just arrived take their place so corectly in the parade of spring fashions. We extend to you a hearty invitation to come in and see the very latest at

BALDWINS

"Where the girl who knows buys her clothes."

CAPP'S STORE

Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store

"The Rexall Store"
CARA NOME TOILETRIES

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS — — — — — DRESSES
GLOVES — — — — — SHOES
HOSIERY — — — — — HATS
DRESS-GOODS — — — NOTIONS

SHOWING
New Spring COATS AND DRESSES
Priced
$5.75
Upward
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

HAVE YOU SEEN THE NEW DRESSES, HATS, COATS, ETC., AT THE HUB

Mr. Weinberg has just returned from New York, where he made a wonderful selection of the season's newest creations. The most popular colors are tan and blue; printed dresses are all the rage—The Hub has it all and then some. The dresses are being sold rapidly—it is advisable that you come now and buy. If we do not have the dress you want in stock we will order it for you.

Come and see our new selections. Come and buy while they are here.

The Hub fashion show will be about March 1.

HUB
DEPT. STORE

He: "Say, there's to be a big dance at Union station tonight."

She: Oh, let's go. Who's giving it?"

He "Two trains are going to Charleston."—Michigan Gargoyle.

Any fool can go to bed but it takes a man to get up.

Plumber: "I've come to fix that old tub in the kitchen."

Youngster: "Mamma, here's the doctor to see the cook." —The Acorn.

Father: "Isn't that young man rather fast?"

Gurley: "Yes, but I don't think he'll get away."

Never do today what your roommate can do tomorrow.

Little grains of greenness,
Little grains of sass;
Little grains of dumbness
Compose a freshman class.
—The Acorn.

A student failed in all five subjects he took. He telegraphed to a brother: "Failed in five. Prepare Papa."

The brother telegraphed back: "Papa prepared; prepare yourself."

"Many hearts were broken when I married."

"How many women did you marry?"
Colgate Banter

"Brother Johnson," said the parson, "can't you all donate some small contribution to de fund fer fencing in de culled cemetery?"

"Ah, dunno as I kin, parson," replied Brother Johnson. "I don' see no use in a fence around a cemetery. You see them what's in there can't get out, and them what's out sho' doan' wanta git in."

Pretty Nurse—"Every time I take the patient's pulse, it gets faster. What shall I do?"

Doctor—"Blindfold him!"—London Everybody's Weekly.

Mabel: "Why so sad, honey?"

Leora: "That big sap that I was going to sue for breach of promise wants to marry me now!"—Life

"Dearest, I must marry you."

"But have you seen my father?"

"Yes, many times, but I love you just the same."—The Ghost.

"Before we were married, Henry," said the young wife reproachfully, "you always gave me the most beautiful Christmas presents. Do you remember?"

"Sure," said Henry cheerfully, "but my dear, did you ever hear of a fisherman feeding bait to a fish after he had caught it?"—Daily Phoenix.

COUSIN TOMMIE

There are some people here, who it seems to the seniors, are an integral part of S. T. C., and Cousin Tommie is certainly one of them. He's a friend of every girl from the time, when as freshman they have him escort them to their cottages, till when they become seniors, and crave food, call on Cousin Tommie to supply their wants along that line.

And he has never refused! What's more he goes about his work with a smile. Girls, we're surely going to miss Cousin Tommie when we leave S. T. C.

AUNT LUCY

"C'mere, chile. Who was dat good-looking man you had a date with las' night?"—and another life-long friend is made for Aunt Lucy; another girl goes away realizing the discrimination and good judgment hidden under Aunt Lucy's easy good humor.

A door is rapped on gently and opened quietly and we are greeted with, "Honey, got anything to eat?" Aunt Lucy—our institution within our institution; an integral and unforgettable part in our medley of memories.

SENIOR HINTS TO FRESHMEN

1.—Always pay strict attention to Sophomores—they are infallible.

2—Upon entering the postoffice, burst into song.

3—Never pay any attention to Miss Jennie's bulletin board.

4—Never hurry to meals, just take your time.

5—Always expect to leave Miss Grenel's class on time.

6—On taking Miss Davis' courses never expect to keep a notebook.

7—Remember always that Seniors are dignified.

8.—Keep your lights on as long as you wish. The proctor won't mind.

9.—Always go to classes with a blank mind.

10—Expect all classes in Courses I, II, and III to be "cinch" classes.

11—Let all upper classmen precede you in the package line.

12—If your classes tire you, get up and walk out.

13—Teachers don't mind you sleeping in class but be sure not to snore, as it is very disconcerting.

14—Don't forget to hang over the Rotunda rail on Saturday nights. Company is appreciated by the "dates."

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY FETE AT S. T. C.

(Continued from page one)

the floor suddenly became cleared and soon we found in our midst some ladies of the olden days about to dance the minuet. This dance was beautifully and gracefully done.

This was followed by a grand march, and the awarding of prizes to Catherine Roller for the best lady's Colonial costume and to Elizabeth Munn for the best gentleman's costume.

We want to congratulate the Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors for the creditable work in their special issues of The Rotunda.

VOLLEY BALL

All classes are practicing hard every afternoon for volley ball. There is a net the whole length of the gymnasium and each of the three divisions of the basket ball court is used as a volley ball court. Each player is trying to become an expert in his position and there is plenty of fun waiting for those who come out.

Claudie Fleming is head of the volley ball sport and she has a good backing of students from every class.

Come out, every one, and help your colors win ten points toward the cup.

All announcements of volley ball games and monogram practices will hereafter be posted on the bulletin board, instead of being read in the dining room. In this way there will be no misunderstanding or confusion, and all classes will be able to see any time of the day at just what hour their practice is to be held.

Girls, watch the bulletin board!

BRIDGE PARTY GIVEN FOR MISS LA BOYTEAUX

Mrs. J. H. Tabb entertained for Miss Ethel La Boyteaux of Richmond on Saturday night at three tables of bridge in the senior building living room. The room was attractively decorated with bunches of flowers and candles, carrying out the color scheme of pink.

Those playing, besides the guest of honor, were Misses Mary Clay Hiner and Winnie Hiner, Mrs. W. T. Jamison, Mrs. J. K. Laing, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Grace Moran, Miss Laura Anderson, Miss Marnetter Souder of Newport News, Mrs. Nettie Hurt, Miss Taliaferro, Miss Helen Draper, Mrs. J .H. Tabb. The prize for highest score went to Mrs. Laing and the consolation to Miss Winnie Hiner. The guest of honor was presented with an attractive prize.

After the game the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Walmsley, served a delicious salad course.

MR. JOHN E. STROUD WILL SPEAK HERE

Why have a Methodist Student Conference? It is the purpose of this state conference to bring together 150 student from the colleges, away from their daily routine of work, to consider the place of God in our personal experience, in the life of Christ, and to get inspiration to go back to our campuses to share His power in our every activity.

Who may come? Any college student, faculty member, and twenty-five pastors may come. You do not have to be a Methodist. The conference will be co-educational. Each school having its quota of delegates. Information about the school delegation may be secured from Mr. John E. Stroud who is coming to our college Thursday to speak in the interest of the Methodist Student Conference.

MISS ILER HAS VARIED CAREER

Continued from page one

When we came back as sophomores we re-elected Miss Iler as our class man, having realized just a little what her true value was to us as advisors. In the spring of that school year she became coach of the college athletics, having charge of volley ball, baseball, and field and track. During the entire year she proved a true and tried friend.

Next came our junior year and Miss Iler returned to S. T. C. as Athletic Coach and was re-elected as our class man. She introduced intercollegiate hockey, and archery as new phases of S. T. C.'s athletic life. Through her position as advisor to the Athletic Council she helped make the athletic program more attractive and inviting.

Now comes the senior year, the year '29 and we are glad to say Miss Iler is still our class man and ever ready helper. Her assistance in making our college life and the class of '29 a success, shall never be forgotten by those who receive their B. S. degree in June. If a friend in need is a friend in deed she is certainly the greatest friend there ever was, for whether the need be for work or play, she has been the ever ready and dependable person.

CHORAL CLUB TO PRESENT SPRING CONTEST

(Continued from First Page)

Continued from page one the club will be assisted by a guest soloist from Richmond, Mr. Joseph Whittemore, considered by many to be the foremost tenor of the South. Mr. Whittemore will take the leading solo parts in the cantata and also give a group of art songs.

The Chromatic Club will appear in costume during the concert, forming one of the most attractive features of the evening's program.

This being the only concert the club will give this year, we may be sure that it will be well worth attending.

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

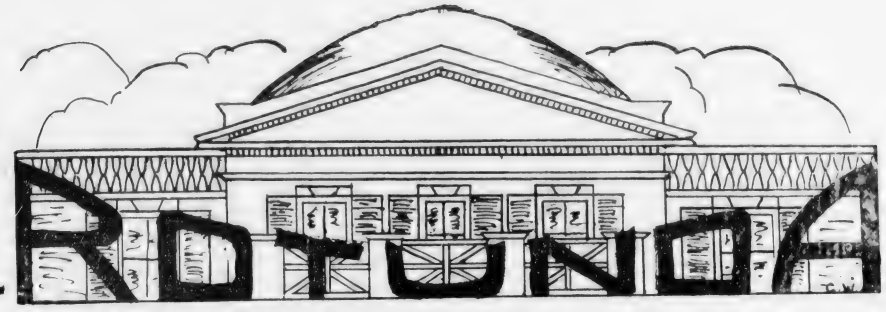
S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

At the Eaco Theatre Week of March 4—9

MON.—Esther Ralston and Gary Cooper in "HALF A BRIDE", a Paramount picture. A wild night. A wedding. Awakening! Will companionate marriage stand the test. Come and see. See the man she loathes become her idol on a desert isle. Also News reel. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

TUES.—Bebe Daniels and Neil Hamilton in "HOT NEWS" a Paramount picture. Bebe as a news reel camera girl in a picture with a red hot theme. Packed with all the thrills and action, daring and enterprise, keen rivalry and romance of these intrepid workers. "Hot News" is made to order for Bebe. It's her stuff. It's hot stuff. Also good comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

WED.—Esther Ralston, Lane Chandler and a big cast in the big Paramount picture, "LOVE AND LEARN" Kindergarten, grade school, high school, college. Learning, learning, and learning. Then Esther falls in love and finds she hasn't learned anything yet. Don't miss it! Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.



THURS.—No pictures will be shown this day or night because the theatre is rented to the American Legion and they will present on our stage a first class home talent show. Watch their newspaper advertisements.

FRI. & SAT.—mats. only—Irene Rich, and Warner Baxter in "CRAIG'S WIFE." 'Just her husband. He loved the woman who bore his name, but she thought more of her home than of him, yet he blindly endured her dominance until the dark spectre of tragedy entered their lives, then—a wonderful poignant story abrim with drama, emotion and deep heart appeal. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT.—at night only—Monte Blue and Raquel Torres in "WHITE SHADOWS IN THE SOUTH SEAS. A big special production. A paradise of romance! A South Sea passion flower! And filmed in this real tropical setting. Pathos, drama, a great romance, thrills unequalled. It took two years to make it. It is a great picture. Also news and collegiate comedy.

S. T. C. admission prices to all picture shows 25c if tickets are gotten at the college.

COME OUT FOR VOLLEY BALL

EXAMS BEGIN MARCH 13

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1929 No. 20

FOUNDERS DAY TO BE CELEBRATED MARCH 9TH

Large Number of Alumnae Epect to Return For Celebration

The first Founders Day program, celebrating the thirty-eighth anniversary of the founding of the State Teachers College of Farmville, was held on March 7, 1922. The program of that first Founders Day, or rather Normal School Day as it was then called resembles our program. The same songs, which are dear to the heart of every loyal daughter of S. T. C. were sung, many stunts were given and of course everybody enjoyed the occasion. The chief difference in that first program and ours was that all the money given towards the Student Building was sent by the alumnae chapter. The student body at large gave nothing. This may seem strange to us who have put forth every effort towards raising money for our Student Building. But we should remember that in 1922, the Student Building was only a dream, while now it is reality.

Each succeeding Founders Day seems to mean more and more to S. T. C. Every year more and more alumnae come back to celebrate the Great Day and 1929 is going to be no exception to the rule. The committee on Founders Day worked out a careful and inspiring program based on the guardian spirit of our Alma Mater—Joan of Arc.

Founders Day Program

10:00 A. M. Processional—Alma Mater

Continued on page three

"THE SLEEPING BEAUTY" GIVEN BY CHORAL CLUB

Everyone is looking forward to hearing the Choral Club in its opening concert next Monday evening, March 11 at 8 o'clock. You just cannot afford to miss this important musical event, nor can you let slip an opportunity of hearing the "South's favorite tenor," Mr. Joseph Whittemore. As guest soloist of the evening Mr. Whittemore will introduce himself with a group of old English songs, and will continue to take a leading part throughout the concert.

The program of the evening will include a number of light art songs which in their variety and individual charm cannot fail to appeal to all those who really love music. As a climax to these lighter numbers, the club will sing a cantata by Miss Frances McCollin, "The Sleeping Beauty," the text of which is taken from Tennyson's poem "Day Dream."

Another interesting feature of the program will be the appearance of the Chromatic Club in costume to present a most attractive group of songs.

All those interested in music may look forward to a delightful evening of entertainment and consider themselves in for a real musical treat.

VIRGINIA PRESENT AT B. S. U. MEETING

The fourteen southern states, Arkansas, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, South Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Virginia held their annual B. S. U. conference to plan the program for the coming year, in Nashville, Tennessee, February 22.

Virginia was represented by Miss Nellie Talley, the Virginia-Maryland B. S. U. president for 1929 and Mr. Arthur Stovall, the Virginia state secretary.

The Ridgecrest summer encampment was stressed, and Virginia's quota named.. They asked us to send 20, but we can better that, let's go! Student weeks, there are four per year, were also stressed, and your studnt magazine.

Throughout the meeting there was a Christlike spirit of fellowship.

JUNIORS INTRODUCE MOVIE STARS AT S. T. C.

Juniors Become Film Stars on Saturday Night, March 2

The throng moved on, grimly, slowly, but with one goal, one destination. Upon the lips of many were the words, movies, films, Garbo-Gilbert act. Did the path lead to Hollywood? No! To the college auditorium. Within a few moments Hollywood had lost its prestige and all were intent upon watching the Junior class film their first picture. The personalities of the Juniors became merged in the wave of movie emotion which held everyone.

For a brief moment Harold Lloyd in the person of Lillian Bennett, Virginia Grimes as Al Jolson, and Elsie Clements as Mr. Sothern held the audience enthralled with their exceptional dramatic ability.

As the curtain parted there appeared in the foreground the celebrated Cecil B. DeMille (Henrietta Cornwall) cleverly directing that much beloved Gary Cooper (Lucille Graves). The propellor of the airplane whirled and roared as Gary calmly adjusted the motor. What scene was being filmed? Wings. Yes, Max, the comedian, (Etta Marshall) had his doubts about riding in that airplane with Gary Cooper. Across the field Colleen Moore (Mayo Beaty) came just as the airplane was attempting to land. She didn't get hit but she got a kick from Gary (he thought that she was a boy) for interfering with the landing of his plane.

Greta Garbo (Lelia Germany) and John Gilbert (Pannie Willis) lived up to their undisputed reputation of love making.

Charles Chaplin (Marguerite Fos-

Continued on page three

FARMVILLE DEFEATS FREDERICKSBURG 45---19

Game Remarkable for Team-Work of Farmville, and Sportsmanship of Teams

Farmville defeated Fredericksburg 45—19 in an interesting game of basketball Saturday night. The game was played in the S. T. C. gymnasium and was backed by an enthusiastic and cheering crowd. Although Fredericksburg played well, they were outplayed throughout the game by the passing and team-work of Farmville.

From the beginning, Gurley got the tip-off and played the signals through almost perfectly. Souders played a swift and faultless game as side-center. The guards, Hatchett and Reed, played in their usual excellent way, blocking many of the opponents' goals and upsetting their passwork. L. Smith and Wilkinson, the forwards, made on the average more than a goal a minute.

The game was remarkable for the team-work of Farmville and the sportsmanship of both teams.

The line-up was as follows:

Gurley	J. C.	Vaughan
Souders	S. C.	Broaddus
Smith	F.	Wiltshire
Wilkinson	F.	Corkine
Hatchett	F.	Harris
Reed	G.	Perry

DR. JARMAN RETURNS FROM CLEVELAND

Dr. Jarman returned Saturday, March 2 from Cleveland, Ohio, where he attended a meeting of the American Association of Teachers Colleges. The department which especially interested Dr. Jarman at this meeting was the Department of Superintendence of the National Educational Association.

The general topic for discussion at this time was "The Teachers Colleges of 1950."

DEBATE CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

The Debate Club held its regular meeting February 31 in the Student Building auditorium. The debate for the evening was, "Resolved, That buying on the installment plan indicates thrift."

The affirmative side of this question was upheld by Mary Lee Godwin and Rena Robertson, the negative by Louise Moore and Edith Coleman. The debate was one of the most interesting of the season and very convincing argument was brought out by each debater.

The judges decided, however, unanimously, in favor of the affirmative side.

After the debate, and Dr. Walmsley's criticism, a short business meeting was held.

FACULTY RANKS IN ORGANIZATIONS

The recent election of Miss Grenels as second vice-president of the National Council of Geography Teachers brings to mind the fact that our faculty is taking a prominent part in national and state educational organizations.

Miss Mix is a member of the Child Study Committee of the International Kindergarten Union and last year was chairman of the Kindergarten Primary Department of the Virginia Education Association.

Dr. Simkins has just been honored by the National Social Science Research Bureau with a fellowship of one year to complete his Social History of Reconstruction in South Carolina.

Mr. Grainger is a member of the Board of Advisors of the Elementary English Review, and Dr. Walmsley is associate editor of Social Science.

Miss Tabb is chairman of the Normal School and Teachers College section of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars, and last year was Virginia chairman of this same association. She was also president last year of the Association of Virginia Registrars.

Miss Stubbs is a member of the executive committee of the Virginia Social Science Association and chairman of its course of study committee. She is also a member of the board of directors of the Cooperative Educational Association and a member of the State Advisory Council of Rural Sociology of V. P. I.

Miss Wheeler is serving in her second two year term as state chairman of Division of Literature in the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Haynes is state chairman of the National Council of Primary Education.

Miss Craddock has been for two years secretary-treasurer of the writing teachers section of the Virginia Education Association.

Dr. Jarman is president of the Co-operative Education Association.

Continued on page four

JUDGES DECIDE JUNIOR JUNIOR ISSUE IS BEST

Of the recent issues of the Rotunda edited by the classes, the Junior issue was selected as the best. The staff congratulates the Juniors and the other classes upon the excellent papers they produced.

FACULTY-STUDENT COUNCIL ENGAGE IN ATHLETIC FROLIC

Bringing cheers of delight and admiration from the S. T. C. student body, the lively members of the faculty made their appearance upon the gymnasium floor on Wednesday night, ready for the onslaught of the Student Council. Led by their dignified president, Pannie Willis, the Student Council players strode upon the floor with stately mien, viewing the coming fray with apparent calmness.

At the whistle of the referee, the players scampered to their places, ready to clutch the ball if it should stray by them. The faculty players developed their team-work to a surprising extent and the sturdy Council members left no stone unturned in making pretty passes. The strain of guarding Miss Draper, fast-working faculty forward, was so great that the anxious captain of the Council quint made a downward plunge with the ball and lay upon the floor, too exhausted to call "time out." Instantly the Red Cross Life Saving Committee in the person of Nancy Hudgins and Anne Ferree, rushed on the field bearing a stretcher.

Miss Purdom's brilliant playing was an outstanding feature of the game. Her alert movements and effective guarding proved an obstacle for her opponents. Once only did she fall to the floor in a dead faint, but the Red Cross relief girls came to her rescue with the handy stretcher. After lying upon the many pillows with the Stud-

(Continued on last page)

FARMVILLE DIVIDES HONORS WITH WESTHAMPTON IN DUAL DEBATE

The question of government ownership and control of the hydro-electric power was debated here and at Westhampton Friday night. This is a question of public discussion everywhere today, and the debaters gave clear and well-defined arguments for both sides. The main issues in the discussion were the economy and efficiency of government monopoly. Ethel Fisher and Frances Wilson of S. T. C. presented the negative side and Sarah Cohan and Johny Adams of Westhampton the affirmative.

The affirmative of the question was upheld at Westhampton College by Catherine Bentley and Evelyn Graybeal. The representatives of Westhampton ,who debated the negative side, were Catherine Branch and Elizabeth Gill.

The decision at both places was in favor of the negative with the same majority of two to one.

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor — LUCY THOMPSON, '30

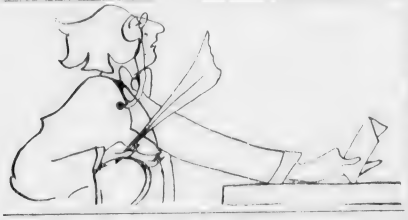
Board of Editors

News Editor — CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary — GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic — KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News — LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News — EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social — FLORENCE REED, '31
Art — CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous — ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE. '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader



MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager — MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant — FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation — ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant — JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

The Voice of the College

The class issues of the Rotunda, just completed, were very interesting from many points of view. Excellent work was done by members of each staff, revealing ability that had not been enjoyed before by all the students.

The purpose of class issues of our paper is two-fold: to arouse renewed interest in the paper; to bring to the attention of the staff girls who are interested and have ability in journalistic work. The last part of the purpose was realized to a gratifying extent.

The first part was realized during the progress of the program of class issues. We would not hesitate to surmise that those papers were more widely, more thoroughly read than any previous ones of the year.

The Rotunda, as we think of it, is or ought to be the voice of the student body. It should contain current history of the college—history of its deeds, its thoughts, its ideals, its humor. If the Rotunda does not accomplish these things, its purpose is not fully realized.

The staff works to produce such a paper. We are disappointed, thought not surprised, when we fail. After all, we are a very small group from the student body.

To be a success, the Rotunda must receive contributions of many kinds from many people. They may be additional news items, or editorial matter, or criticisms. Each is equally welcomed. The Rotunda is your paper—it is yours to enjoy and change when you suggest practical improvements. Most obviously, the Rotunda is yours to read. If you do not read it because it is dull, you are the person from whom we most welcome suggestions.

If a paper is to be the voice of all the students, then all the students must speak! Have you thought about the open forum?

Are You Master of Your Dreams?

Poets have a way of saying things that fit and hit. Did you feel hit when you read "If you can dream and not make dreams your master"?

Our dreams are a part of us. We would not be without them. Yet, are we doing anything to make these dreams come true? Are we sitting idly longing? Throughout the grades and high school some of us dreamed of the day when we would go to college. How about it, girls, now that we are here? Is the realization as great as the anticipation? No doubt for some it is, and already dreams more roseate and beautiful have replaced the old. Senior days, sorority bids, and even the dean's list can be ours in dreams.

And not just in dreams will these things be ours if we wake up. By our lofty dreams we have proved that we have ambition. These days that are to follow will test our power of achievement. It's no time to hide behind the petty excuse, "I didn't have time." Neither will complaining about the hard work or crying over a flunk note get us there.

"Let nothing discourage you; never give up" was the boyhood motto of Senator Upshaw of Georgia. Let us take it for ours and "find an opportunity in the face of every difficulty" as Miss Conde suggested. Then will we some day find ourselves masters of our dreams.

Student Government or Student Honor?

The State Teachers College at Farmville, Virginia is the very best college of which we have any knowledge. We had rather be a student at this college than at any one of a large group of colleges that we might name. It has virtues incomprehensible to those who have not known them from their own experience; it has fame of which we are justly proud..

Having expressed an implicit statement of our love for Alma Mater, we no longer hesitate to point our finger at the fault we consider the greatest in student life. It has been discussed for years, and some few notable accomplishments have been effected to relieve its condition, some of the best having been started at the last student body meeting.

Is it necessary to mention that our system of student government, often called student honor, is the subject of our concern? Our government is student in that a group called the student council is elected from the student body by a majority vote of that body, to deal with wayward girls, rendering punishment when rules are broken, a great number of which they themselves have no sympathy for. The rules by which they must "govern" are imposed by no vote of their own or of previous student councils or student bodies.

When with experience need comes of modifying regulations that were imposed in a previous age under different circumstances, our "student council" has no power to make such desired changes, nor does the student body itself have the power to modify any regulations, no matter how universal is the attitude toward them.

Theoretically, every girl is on her honor to obey every rule listed in the handbook and others imposed by authority. Theoretically, the girl who breaks one of these rules has broken her honor, a disgraceful event. Actually, we believe there is less than one per cent of the student body with any such ridiculous conscience. Actually, the girl who, acting upon reason rather than an unreasonable rule, uses the judgment which college theoretically renders safe for use, reflects discredit neither upon her own honor nor upon her college.

But—this act, in all respects sane and reasonable, adds its weight to the load that has broken down the respect of the student body for the government that is said to be its own. We quote a freshman, one whom we carefully nurtured and trained in the proper ways of thinking: "Student government is a farce."

Whether we go so far as to agree with her or not, that freshman voiced a popular feeling.

Our diagnosis of the situation is this: the student regulations themselves make student honor defined in terms of obedience to those regulations, impossible. Is our student body lacking in honor? No! Never! The fault is not with the student body nor with the student council: it is with the impossible code under which we are expected to live.

OPEN FORUM

TO THE EDITOR

It has been the custom and rule of the student body to go to church with dates on Sunday nights; it has also been the custom of the student body to be reverent during all such services, but some of us are forgetting that the Sunday night service, because it is short and informal, is a church service at all. In fact, at times the pastor even meets with competition from the balcony while trying to make himself heard by the congregation.

Surely if we stop and think a minute we shall neither talk during the service nor walk out of church while the doxology is being sung.

V. E. M.

A VISION

Today as I sat in the rotunda, I had a vision of my mother at S. T. C. I forgot the hustle around me. My thoughts were carried back years ago when my mother's footsteps sounded through these same halls. This was the vision that shut out the outside world.

The door of the rotunda swung back and a tall slim girl entered. She wore a long sweeping skirt and a blouse. Her waist was encircled by a wide belt. No hat adorned her short curls. Her pretty face was lit by a smile. She didn't seem to be lonesome or homesick but radiantly happy. She joined a group of girls of her own type and they went away laughing and talking. Perhaps they promenaded about the little village of Farmville, looking at the pretty trinkets in the shop windows or it may have been permissible for them to hire a horse and buggy and drive about the countryside. Then my vision changed a bit.

I saw the same girl with the short curls in her class room. She sat very primly in her seat with eyes and ears open, putting forth every effort to catch the words that fell from the lips of her professor. She didn't need a coach on spelling or vocabulary. I think my English teacher would have been pleased with any essay she wrote. After class I saw her rushing to the post office. There were no mail boxes so the girls stood in line at Miss Taliaferro's window. I can see those curls dancing and that face lighting with a smile when she saw there was a letter for her. It may have been from home or from some young getleman, who was going a-wooing.

Thus she went about from day to day, her smiles bringing her friends and love. She was everywhere—in spirit if not in person.

I gave a start. The girl with the curls was gone, and it was I, who was at S. T. C. There was no time now for visions. The dinner bell was ringing.

Nancy Shaner, '32

KEMP PERPETUAL STUDENT

Probably the late Dr. William Cullen Kemp holds the record for the longest college career in America. At the age of 18 a legacy bequeathed him a stated income as long as he remained in college. As a consequence he attended classs at Columbia University for 60 years, acquiring in the time a score of degrees.

They may fly high, but cupid is a pretty clever anti-aircraft gunner.—Manchester Union.

THE OLD DOMINION

V—ast and stately rise her mountains fair,
I—nterspersed with smiling valleys where
R—ippling streams that laugh and sing with glee
G—o onward to great rivers and the sea.
I—n such a land 'tis happiness to dwell
N—eath sunny skies; and those who love her well
I—n ceaseless praises laud her near and far,
A—nd sing a paean to their home—Virginia.

Jennie M. Tabb

THREE GIFTS

Dear Christ, three gifts I ask
That I may do the task
Thou hast assigned:

1.

A body firm and strong
To labor hard and long
And never mind;

2.

A big brain, deep and wise,
To give the world new eyes—
For it is blind!

3.

A great soul made up of
Thy living, boundless love
For all mankind.

A. Harrison, '32

HORIZONS

Just over our line of vision
Lies a Future, brilliant and bright;
Promise of Peace and Prosperity—
Understanding among all nations.

I see in this dream of the Future,
Citizens of a World
Grown larger, in mind, in character—
Grown closer in worship of God—
Grown happier in love for each other—
Grown nearer to that which is perfect.

Each nation leads in her way. All follow—
And our glory is that our own is the Leader.

The Horizon is far but approaching
With its promise of a new World.

G. Peck, '30

SOCIAL

Announcement is made of the marriage of Etta Rosalie Rhea and Bernard Shaw which took place Thursday, February 21 at the Presbyterian Church, Farmville, Va.

Miss Louise Foster was the week-end guest of Miss Flora Martin at her home in Petersburg.

Miss Jane Grey Irby spent the week-end at her home in Blackstone.

Miss Martha Lanier spent the week-end at her home in Petersburg.

Miss Nora Petty spent the week-end in Washington and attended the inauguration.

Miss Dorothy Etheridge visited her sister, Pearl Etheridge over the week-end.

Mrs. Rosalie Rhea Shaw spent the week-end in Greensboro, N. C.

Miss Anne Guy spent the week-end at her home in Hampton.

Miss Mary Beasley spent the week-end at her home in Hampton.

THE PERFECT FRESHMAN

Blessed is the freshman who seeketh not the foremost place in all organizations, who demandeth not a seat on the front row in every class and who contendeth himself with a position slightly less honorable than that of a senior. Truly, he is a marvel among the hordes of freshman that infest the earth.

Such a freshman is the perfection of etiquette in the hall of diners. He putteth not his elbow on the table nor his fingers in the soup. He placeth not his feet upon those of the suffering one at the opposite side of the table. Yet, so wondrously courteous is he that he even seateth the lady at the left before he seateth himself.

In the crowded room of the benighted souls who seek wisdom of the feet of the learned the perfect freshman demandeth not the front seat nor answereth question not intended to be answered nor plagueth the professor with irrelevant and unimportant interrogations until—lo, the professor becomes ill with disgust and mute with anguish. He taketh not volumes of notes and spends hours later copying them. So meek is he that he even admitteth that the professor knows more than he on that phase of the subject.

On the campus his light is not hid. He rusheth not unseemingly through the doors while ladies and seniors wait for passage. He giveth up tennis courts to proper owners at the proper time without complaint. He beginneth not every sentence with "I know—but in my high school—" He findeth some good in every professor—even if it be but infinitesimal—and generously admitteth the finding.—Exchange.

FOUNDERS DAY TO BE CELEBRATED MARCH 9

Continued from page one

Song.
Pageant—Spirit of Alma Mater.
Inspiration—Listening to the Voices ..... Freshman Class
Leadership—Joan of Arc Before Charles VII. Sophomore Class
Cooperation—Battle Scene Junior Class
Loyalty—Trial Scene Senior Class
Service—Joan of Arc in Our College, Stud. Organizat ions
Song—"When Gladsome Youth Lifts Smiling Face"
Greetings from Alumnae Chapters
Response ..... Dr. J. L. Jarman
Song ... There Is In Old Virginia
1:00 P. M. Alumnae Luncheon.
3:00 P. M. Alumnae Business Meeting Student Building Auditorium
4:30 P. M. Class Reunions.
7:30 P. M. Invocation Mr. C. F. Rankin
Solo ..... May Marshall
Address ..... Dr J. L. Jarman
Song "Sing, O, Sing", J. P. Dunn Double Trio

Fresh Frosh Speaks: The most optimistic person at S. T. C. is the 200 pound Freshman who went to the library to get a book she could lose herself in.

COLLEGE HIGH SCHOOL PLAYS RICE

The College High School basketball team played the Rice team last Tuesday, winning by a 36—14 score. The pass-work of the Training School team was especially good and the excellent shooting of the forwards marked a victory from the start. The Rice girls fought bravely but were outplayed by the Farmville sextette. The Training School line-up was as follows:

Guards ..... E. Mann, C. Bruce
Centers .. (j) V. Sanford, (s) K. Matherly
Forwards ..... G. Bernier, F. Potts
Referee—Miss Iler.
Umpire—Miss Hatchett.

JUNIORS INTRODUCE MOVIE STARS AT S. T. C.

Continued from page one

ter) and Gertrude Astor (Lillian Bennett) quite well portrayed "Romeo and Juliet". As usual in the Chaplin picture, laughs were plentiful.

All of S. T. C. had longed to see Douglas Fairbanks (Margaret Leonard) accomplish some of his acrobatic feats. At this time the audience breathlessly watched Doug vault over the ever-rising rope to the height of two feet.

Johnny McBrown (Doris Walton) and Joan Crawford (Elizabeth Watkins) entertained the spectators with a scene from their famous picture "Dancing Daughters". This met with great applause as the curtain closed and the mecca for movie actors was once again recognized as Hollywood.

HARVARD HAS LARGE LIBRARY

Nearly 3,000,000 books have been accumulated by Harvard Univeristy since it was founded in the seventeenth century.

CO-EDS LIKE CHEWING-GUM

According to statistics recently compiled by the campus store-keepers of the University of Minnesota, the co-eds of that institution spend $500 weekly on chewing gum. Ten thousand packages are sold every week, of which one-half are peppermint flavored.

A STUDY IN PSYCHOLOGY

Are you intelligent? What person, place, or thing do the following bring to your mind?

Cigar smoke and a cane accompanied by: "Good morning, good morning, good morning."

A wave of the hand and the words, "Single file, single file."

"Has you got anything to eat, honey?"

"Mail this for me, please. It must go off tonight."

"Practise the method of recall."

"See the point? See the point?"

"Give the principal points of the last lesson, please."

"Oatmeal, sausage, and biscuits."

"Sh—sh—sh—sh!"

"Think about it and come back later."

"Beg pardon, but did you say something?"

LITTLE SUNNY SUNSET'S PARTY

Little Sunny Sunset lived with his father and mother Gray Cloud far over in the West. It was a very beautiful house. Its walls were the loveliest of lovely blues, and it had the very softest of green rugs on the floor. Little Sunny Sunset had jolly times in his house, because you see, his Grandfather Sunshine stayed there all day, and he kept the house bright and happy, because he laughed all the time. Little Sunny Sunset was named after Grandfather Sunshine, and he loved him better than anybody else, excepting, of course Father and Mother Gray Cloud. Grandfather Sunshine could tell such nice stories about all the little boys and girls he could see playing far down here on earth. At night, Sunny Sunset's uncle, Mr. Man-in-the-Moon, stayed with him and he, too, could tell stories that Sunny loved about things he could see at night when nobody else could see. He always told Sunny stories just at bed time, and very often Sunny would go to sleep before the story was finished.

One day, Sunny Sunset decided to have a party. He invited all his little cloud playmates, and then he helped Mother Gray Cloud clean up and decorate the house for the party. They swept the green carpet, dusted down the blue walls, and hung little sunbeams, that Grandfather Sunshine had given them in the corners so the house would sparkle. Then little Sunny Sunset said:

"Mother Gray Cloud, night will be here before our party's over. It will be dark, and the sunbeams won't shine then. Hadn't we better get some moon beams, too?" And Mother Gray Cloud said:

"Well, yes. I think we'd better do that sure enough. Run over to Uncle Man-in-the-Moon, Sunny, and ask for some moonbeams, and tell him to be sure to come to the party—even if he comes late." So Sunny did as he was told. Sunny always did, except, sometimes, when he didn't. He brought the moonbeams back, and they hung them in the corners. Then the house was ready for the party and Mother Gray Cloud was ready to dress Sunny Sunset. She brought out his very best suit. It was a very beautiful suit with a tiny blouse and a tiny pair of pants of every color you can think of. Sunny was very beautiful when he was all dressed up, and he sat down—oh, so very carefully—on Mother Gray Cloud's lap to wait for his guests.

Presently, they began to come. There was little Bobby White Cloud, in a fluffy white dress; and little Pink Cloud in a pink dress with pink ruffles; and little Rose Cloud, Yellow Cloud, Purple Cloud, and Orange Cloud—all dressed in their prettiest dresses. They danced, and of all the good times anyone ever had, those Clouds—little baby Clouds had the best. The Stars, which were hiding behind Uncle Man-in-the-Moon, who was peeping over Grandfather Sunshine's shoulder, played music for them, and they just danced and danced.

Then little Sunny Sunset told them they were going to play a game. All the baby Clouds were to go out and look for something, and whatever they found that they liked, they were to bring back with them. The Cloud finding the best thing was to have a prize. Father and Mother Gray Cloud and Grandfather Sunshine were to decide which cloud should have the prize. All the clouds went a-sailing out, just looking and looking. After a while, they began to come back. Each had found something. Baby Yellow Cloud brought a balloon—a big red balloon. She said that a little girl had bought it from the balloon man at the circus, and just as she had started away, a big lion had roared. She jumped, because it scared her, and when she jumped, she let go her balloon, and it came sailing straight up to Baby Yellow Cloud. Baby Pink Cloud brought a kite she had found flying up in the sky. She said it belonged to a little girl. The little girl had cut the string to see where her kite would go, and now Baby Pink Cloud had it. Baby White Cloud won the prize. What do you think she found? From over in the corner behind a moonbeam, Baby White Cloud had gathered an armful of dreams. They belonged to little boys and girls down here who were sleeping. One little boy was dreaming of a great big slice of apple pie. Another was dreaming of a balloon he had lost. A little girl was dreaming of a kite she had sent up in the air—and there were lots of other dreams. Sunny Sunset gave Baby White Cloud the prize. Guess what it was! It was a piece of hair ribbon, cut off the end of the rainbow!

Just then, everything began to grow dark, and when they looked around to see what was wrong, they saw big old Black Cloud coming. Suddenly Sunny Sunset remembered that he'd forgotten to remember! He had forgotten to invite big, old Black Cloud to the party, and now big old Black Cloud was angry. He was coming after them. They started to run, but he caught them! He caught them and covered them all up and ruined their pretty dresses. He made them all dark—any Sunny Sunset's suit of all colors! You'd never know it was the same suit! They just cried and cried until all the little boys and girls down here with us thought it was raining. Finally, big old Black Cloud went away, and all the baby clouds took off their ruined dresses and went to bed. The next morning they felt better, and they decided that they'd

Continued on last page

NEW MODES
FOR THE SPRING
STYLE PARADE

Along comes spring with a profusion of new designs, smart exclusive material and unusual trimming details.

Thus our dresses which have just arrived take their place so corectly in the parade of spring fashions. We extend to you a hearty invitation to come in and see the very latest at

BALDWINS
"Where the girl who knows buys her clothes."

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"The Rexall Store"
CARA NOME TOILETRIES

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS — — — — — DRESSES
GLOVES — — — — — — — — — — SHOES
HOSIERY — — — — — — — — — — HATS
SHOWING
New Spring
COATS AND DRESSES
Priced
$5.75
Upward
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
DRESS-GOODS — — — NOTIONS

HAVE YOU SEEN THE NEW DRESSES, HATS, COATS, ETC., AT THE HUB

Mr. Weinberg has just returned from New York, where he made a wonderful selection of the season's newest creations. The most popular colors are tan and blue; printed dresses are all the rage—The Hub has it all and then some. The dresses are being sold rapidly—it is advisable that you come now and buy. If we do not have the dress you want in stock we will order it for you.

Come and see our new selections. Come and buy while they are here.

The Hub fashion show will be about March 1.

HUB
DEPT. STORE

"Gee, Pop, you're a swell guy—getting me in bad with the teacher."

"What's the matter?"

"Well, remember when I asked you how much a million dollars was?"

"Yes."

"Well, 'Heluva lot' isn't the right answer."

Ho hum, and in a few months now the bathing beauties will be back on the magazine covers.

Had Poe attended the Institute
Once upon a midnight dreary
As I pondered weak and weary
O'er many a quaint and curious volume of forgotten lore.
Suddenly there came the tapping,
As of someone gently rapping, rapping
At my chamber door—
"All right, ma'am," I cried as Mrs. Blanton passed by.

Bell Hop (after guest has rung for ten minutes): "Did you ring, sir?"

Guest: "No, I was tolling, I thought you were dead."

—Sniper.

Professor: "What is the commonest form of ground-hog?"

Poor (but honest): "Hamburgers, sir."

Lucy Thornton: "Have you read 'To a Field Mouse'?"

Virginia Rake: "No, how do you get them to listen?"

Old Lady: "You don't chew tobacco, do you, little boy?"

Little Boy: "No, mum, but I could let you have a cigarette."—The Log.

Judge: "Guilty or not guilty?"

Prisoner: "You guess first."

—College Humor

Elizabeth Lacy: "I know a girl who swallows swords."

Margaret Pumphrey: "That's nothing. I know a girl who inhales Camels."

First Aid Instructor: "What would you do if a man was pale, sweating profusely, unconscious, bleeding from the mouth, eyes and ears, and had a fractured skull and arms?"

Student: "I'd bury him."—Bucaneer

First Imbiber: "I found (hic) a half dollar."

Second Inebriate: "Itsh mine, itsh got my name on it."

"Whatsh your name?"

"E Pluribus Unum."

"Yea, itsh yours."

-oi — ,gse8ob elfcz.shrdluaoinrdlu

Nay nay, Eleanor, a bacteria is not the rear entrance to a cafeteria.

Tactful

He: "When did you first know you loved me?"

She: "When I began to get sensitive when people said you were brainless and homely."

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT PRESIDENTS

Lincoln was the first President that wore a beard. Grant was the first to wear a moustache.

Van Buren was the first President not born an English subject.

The first five Presidents were men who lived during the Revolutionary war.

Buchanon was the only real bachelor President we have had. Cleveland was a bachelor when he became Prsident, but soon married.

Garfield was well-versed in German and made a number of political speeches in that language.

Washington died in the last year of the century, the last month of the year, the last day of the week and the last hour of the day.

John Adams and Thomas Jefferson died on the same day, July 4, 1826. Jefferson's last words were, "This is the Fourth of July." Adams', "Thomas Jefferson still lives."

Zachary Taylor never voted or held an office until elected President.

Washington and Monroe were the only Presidents who served together in the Revolutionary War. They were in the battle of Trenton, where Monroe as a lieutenant was wounded.

Madison was the last surviving signer of the Constitution of United States.

John Adams and Thomas Jefferson were signers of the Declaration of Independence.

John Adams lived to be ninety—longer than any other President.

"Eight" was Benjamin Harrison's lucky number. He was nominated on the eighth ballot, elected in 1888, and there were eight letters in his first and last names.

It requires thirteen letters to spell Woodrow Wilson—and Herbert Hoover.

Bible names predominated among the early Presidents, James, five; John, three; Andrew, two; Thomas, one; Abraham, one; Benjamin, one.

FACULTY-STUDENT COUNCIL ENGAGE IN FROLIC

Continued from page one

ent Council "bench huggers," Miss Purdom quickly recovered.

Elsie Clements and Margaret Finch, playing in center, created much disturbance among the faculty players with their agile movements.

Miss Mix, the picturesque lemon boy for the faculty eased the doubt of the players by her cheerful greetings.

The final score of 13 to 21 in favor of the Student Council came as a distinct surprise to all present

The faculty cheers were led by Miss Turner, who ably marshalled the musical members of the orchestra. Pannie Willis responded to the faculty cheers by leading her black-gowned mates.

The line-up:

Student Council		Faculty
Thompson	J. C.	Cooper
Clements	S. C.	Moran
Savage	F.	Robinson
Woods	F.	Grenels
Foster	G.	McCommack
Woodhouse	G.	Thomas

NEW MEMBERS IN C. H. S. LITERARY CLUB

The College High School Literary Club had an installation service Tuesday evening, February 26, for admitting new members and installing new officers. The next evening the Club had a social in honor of the new members.

Jane: "George says that new flame of his is too good to be true."

Mary: "He's wrong. I know at least six fellows she's true to.

RESUME OF BASKET BALL SEASON

The final whistle at the game Saturdaynight marked the end of the basketball season.

About two weeks before Christmas the call went out for players, and every afternoon from then on, found the gym the scene of a lively contest between members of all classes. Then the varsity squad was chosen and work began in dead earnest.

Interclass basketball honors went to the Sophomores. The Junior- Senior, and Sophomore-Freshman games were first played, the Juniors and Sophomores coming out of the fray, victorious at the championship game the Sophomores defeated the Juniors by a close score giving ten points to Green and White.

The first varsity game was played on February 4, when Harrisonburg sent forth her blue and gold team to defeat Farmville by a 30—9 score.

This, however, only served to make the team work harder and when S. T. C. sent them forth to battle with Fredericksburg they brought back to Blue and White an overwhelming victory—the score of 47—19. This game was marked by the beautiful passwork of the Farmville team.

History almost repeated itself Saturday night, March 2, when Fredericksburg met Farmville on the home court and was defeated by a 45—19 score bringing the 1928-1929 season to a successful close.

VOLLEY BALL PRACTICE

In anyone would chance to go down into the gym any afternoon from four until six o'clock she would be greatly interested in the sight which would greet her eyes. On every side would be girls batting a ball over a net stretched across the gym. But she should not be surprised for they are practising volley ball, getting ready for the interclass games.

The schedule for practices will be posted on the bulletin board in the hall and all girls are expected down to help win the championship and give ten points to her class colors.

FACULTY RANKS HIGH IN EDUCATIONAL MEETS

Continued from page one

Mr. McCorkle was president last year of the science division of the Virginia Education Association, and Mr. Coyner is secretary of the psychology and education section of the same association. Dr. Walmsley has been president for two years of the Virginia History Teachers Association, and is a member of the program committee of the Virginia Social Science Association.

Miss Stubbs. Mr. Coyner, and Dr. Walmsley are members of the extension division of the University of Virginia.

Miss Grenels will teach at a summer school in Brevard, N. C., for teachers of the Parker School District of South Carolina, having been invited to fill a vacancy made by the head of the geography department of Peabody Teachers College.

WORLD NEWS

On March 4 when Coolidge turns over his office to Herbert Hoover, he will have been President for five yars seven months and one day. He succeeded to the Presidency on August 3, 1923 when Warren G. Harding died in San Francisco. In Mr. Coolidge's first message to Congress he emphasized a policy of economy and retrenchment. This policy is probably the popular symbol of this administration.

Some say, "Under the leadership of Mr. Coolidge we have enjoyed contentment and prosperity more abundant than that of any period in the history of the country. That is shown by all the indices by which men in and out of industry measure our material well being. Mr. Coolidge turns the nation over to Mr. Hoover with its house in good order and the family of states generally prosperous and content.

Mussolini is personally interested in flying. He states that after he has completed his work and is an old man he hopes to visit America. He hopes to cross the Atlantic by air. He predicts that twenty years from now a good proportion of transatlantic journeying will be done through the air.

LITTLE SUNNY SUNSET'S PARTY

(Continued from page two)

wash and iron their dresses and have, oh, just lots of parties, and sometimes, in the evening after dinner, if you look out your window, you'll see all the little Clouds at Sunny Sunset's house having their party. Sometime, too, you may see big old Black Cloud—they never invite him—going after them. Sometimes they get away, and when they do, they laugh and laugh; but, when they don't and he catches them and ruins their pretty dresses, why they just cry and cry until all the little boys and girls down here with us think its raining.

E. M. '30

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre Week of March 11-16

MON. Adolphe Menjou in the Paramount picture, "SERENADE." What is love when its built on the strains of a song? Is it strong enough to conquer all obstacles? Can it make one forget and forsake? See "Serenade!" It's a story of silk, lace and soft music—with Menjou as you've never seen him! Also comedy and news reel. Matinee at 2.

TUES.—A big Paramount picture, "PEAKS OF DESTINY" enacted by a select cast of stars. The age-old, yet ever new story of two men and a girl. There's beauty and young love, tense drama and unmatched photographic effects in this picture. It is a big one—see it! Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

WED.—W. C. Fields, Chester Conklin, and Sally Blane in the Paramount picture, "FOOLS FOR LUCK". Romance against a background of thrilling good humor. High finance hits the small town between the eyes. To see this one is to laugh. Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

THURS.—Ralph Ince and Estelle Taylor in "SINGAPORE MUTINY". A flaming drama of raging adventure, of shipwreck, bloodshed, romance, of two who felt a mighty hatred turn to a mightier love. A big, thrilling, exciting picture. Also comedy. Mat at 4 o'clock.

FRI. & SAT. at Mats only—Owen Moore and Marceline Day in "STOLEN LOVE" from the mighty newspaper novel by Hazel Livingston. Petting, loving, living, in a seething whirlpool of thoughtless pleasure. The glamorous story of a girl who wished for love—who had no time to count the cost, who plunged into a maelstrom of unreasoning thrills and emerged. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. night only—Ramon Novarro, Ralph Graves and Anita Page in the super special production, "THE FLYING FLEET" made with the cooperation of the U. S. Navy, this epic film is a true record of the laughs, the loves, the heroism, the countless thrills and dangers of the naval flyers. Novarro's greatest romantic role since "Ben Hur"! As extra added attraction we show Madame Dubarry a film in beautiful colors. Also news reel.

Admission to S. T .C. girls getting tickets at college Fri. and Sat. nights, 35c, other shows 25c.

EXAMS ARE ON! WATCH US WORK!

ROTUNDA

GREETINGS TO OUR ALUMNAE!

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA THURSDAY, MARCH 14, 1929 No. 21

CHORAL CLUB CONCERT GIVEN BY MISS TURNER

College Singers Give Splendid Performance in Annual Concert

MR. WHITTEMORE SOLOIST

Canatata "Sleeping Beauty" is the Climax of Interesting Portrayed

From the beginning of the overture through the cantata, "The Sleeping Beauty", the program Monday night proved to be a most creditable and interesting one. Both the vocal and instrumental selections were excellently done displaying efficient training under Miss Helen Turner and Miss Elizabeth Purdom.

The pianists, Miss Elizabeth Taylor for the Choral Club, Miss Turner for the Chromatic Club and the soloist, furnished perfect accompaniment throughout the entire program.

The score of the cantata was melodius and tuneful; the vocal effects of shading were pleasing, the parts blending to form a perfect whole. Especially was this true of the entrances for Mr. Whittemore which the girls prepared with ease.

The guest soloist, pleased his audience with two groups of songs; the first of old English ballads which were delightful; the second, a more varied group, reaching his climax with words from The Blind Ploughman:

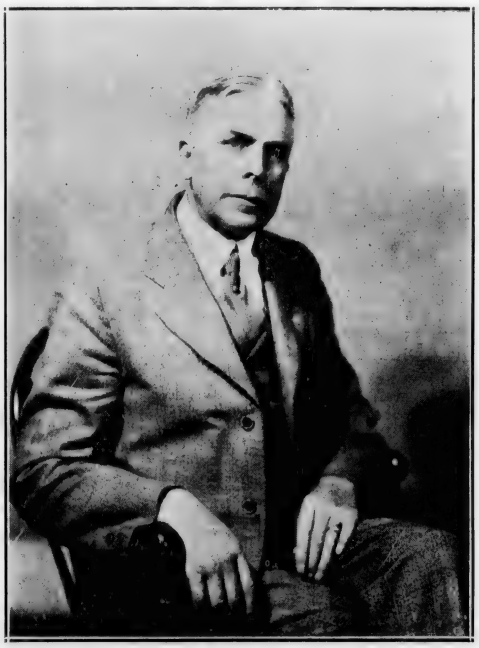
"God took away my eyes
That my soul might see"—

Mr. Whittemore's enunciation was splendid.

The orchestra, since its beginning has made giant strides. Brahm's, Hungarian Dance, in oriental meter formed a vivid contrast to the Forest of The Lanterns rendered with equal skill. The violin obligato in The Snow was particularly lovely.

The program:

Part I.



Orchestra ..... Aida-March
The Top O' the Morning, Mana-Zucca
The Snow ..... Edward Elggar
My Love is a Fisher, Lily Strickland
Choral Club
Old English Songs ..... 17th Century
Passing By ..... Purcell
When the Bloom is on the Rye, Bishop
My Lovely Celia ..... Monroe
Phyllis Has Such Charming Graces
Young
Mr. Whittemore
Rain ..... Harriet M. Turner
Night Song ..... Joseph Clokey
Choral Club
C'est Mon Ami ..... Old French Air
Choral Club Soprano—Nancy Denit

Part II.

Hungarian Dance ..... Brahms
Forest of the Lanters ..... Bennet
Blue Are Her Eyes ..... Winter Watts
The Lost Hour ..... Kramer

Continued on last page

OUR PRESIDENT FOR 27 YEARS

Dr. J. L. Jarman, who dreamed of a great college and made his dream come true, who lives in the heart of every alumna

DR. JARMAN REVIEWS HISTORY OF OUR COLLEGE IN FOUNDERS DAY ADDRESS

Dr. Jarman's address took the form of a most interesting and enlightening history of the college. He called attention to the fact that the institution is very much older in reality than it is generally supposed to be: the date of the establishment in 1884 of the State Female Normal School, the first teacher-training institution in Virginia, is, supposedly the beginning of the present College: this however is a mistake since Dr. Jarman has in his possession a brass plate taken from the cornerstone of the real beginning of the present plant. This old plate testifies to the founding, in 1839, of Farmville Female Seminary; this later grew into Farmville College which, in turn, developed into the Normal School—so, we are in reality celebrating ninety yars of ducational work on the present college site.

Dr. Jarman gave a sketch of the work and the character of the three presidents who preceded him, pointing out the fact that their special training for the work and their broad scholarship were an asset of unusual value in that, even from its infancy, the institution had realized its prime purpose and that never once had it swerved from it; there was no period of uncertainty or of vagueness: from the first opening of its doors it has been to its purpose of training teachers for the schools of Virginia.

Dr. Jarman pointed out the many lines along which there had been growth: the physical plant, the student body, the course of study. He stated that the expansion of the college was at one time greatly retarded on account of the feeling that the limited grounds would prohibit the building up of a great institution in Farmville. but that this feeling had been overcome since it had been demonstrated that the expansion was possible: from a half-square of campus the grounds have grown to twelve acres but in order to attain to this, the purchase of thirty-nine separate pieces of property was necessary.

The location of the college in Farmville was due to the fact that the town donated to the State the building and grounds of Farmville College; in speaking of this. Dr. Jarman paid high tribute to citizens of the town who were instrumental in obtaining the institution: among them. Dr. Jas. Nelson. pastor of the Baptist Church, and Judge Asa D. Watkins.

From a small Normal School, offering two years of acadameic work and one year of professional work (the former made necessary on account of

Continued on page three

COLLEGE SPIRIT PRESENT IN FOUNDERS DAY PAGEANT MARCH NINTH

Many Alumnae Return for the Eighth Founders Day Celebration

JOAN'S SPIRIT PORTRAYED

Contributions Presented to Dr. Jarman for the Student Building Fund

Associated as it was with the beloved spirit of Joan of Arc, Founders Day, which was observed on Saturday, March 9, proved to be a challenge and an inspiration to all the alumnae and students of Farmville State Teachers College who are interested in the program of the college.

Th spirit of Alma Mater was successfully portrayed in scenes taken from the life of Joan of Arc, who was considered the embodiment of the ideals of the institution. The final scene indicated the relationship of the spirit of Joan of Arc to the students of the college. The reproduction of the statue in the college reception hall was the unique feature of the scene. The entire pageant was of unusual character, in that the costumes adjusted settings were appropriately adjusted to the characters participating in the scenes.

Uniting in their efforts to produce a pageant which would typify the spirit of the college, the classes and organizations presented the following events of the pageant:

Inspiration—Listening to the Voices
Freshman Class
Leadership—Joan of Arc Before
Charles VII. .... Sophomore Class
Cooperation—Battle Scene,
Junior Class
Loyalty—Trial Scene .... Senior Class
Service—Joan of Arc in Our College
Student Organizations

The presentation of scenes in the life of Joan, the listener, leader, soldier and martyr, conspired to increase the inspirational significance of Joan on the campus.

As a tribute to the memory of Founders Day and as a birthday present to the College, Frances Willis presented the contributions of the classes and organizations to Dr. Jarman.

Miss Alice Carter, of the State Teachers College faculty, presided over the reports of the alumnae chapters. The audience was impressed by the amount of enthusiasm exhibited by the alumnae. The following chapters responded to the roll: Roanoke Rapids, N. C.; Kingsport, Tenn.; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Dinwiddie, Norfolk county, Winchester, Lynchburg, Staunton, Roanoke, Farmville

"9" CLASSES HOLD REUNION SATURD'Y

Welcome classes of '89, 99, '09 and '19." These were the words on the "tip of the tongue" of our student body on Founders Day. Of course, all alumnae and friends were warmly received, but these were especially welcomed. "Why?"—an outsider may ask. Why, don't you know? The classes of '89, '99, '09 and '19 had their reunion this Founders Day, the class of '29, both sophomores and seniors, were their special hostesses.

Several weeks ago the members of Class of '29 wrote to the other "'9" classes inviting them back for a reunion—it was to be very "niney" affair—and it was. Many alumnae of those classes were back. Some were old, some middle age and some young, —but no matter how varied the ages or how far apart their paths of life had become, they all seemed to have a bouyant love and tenderness for Alma Mater. "Best girl friends" chatted together once more and reminisced. A class reunion was held at four o'clock in the afternoon.

We hope they enjoyed being back as much as we enjoyed having them back. (We believe they did.) We hope that in '39 the affair will be equally successful, and our class of '29 will be 100 per cent present.

MANY ALUMNAE ATTEND MEETING

The annual business meeting of the Alumnae Association was held in the Student Building auditorium on Saturday, March 9, at 3:15 o'clock. After the reading of the minutes the president, Mrs. Coyner, extended a special welcome to the five reunion classes: 1889, 1899. 1909, 1919 and 1929.

Miss Hiner read an appreciation of Mrs. Jarman written by Miss Sutherlin. This was accepted by the association and it was moved and passed that a copy be recorded in the permanent records of the organization and another copy sent to Dr. Jarman.

A report was made concerning the Morrison Memorial Fund and the president asked that some definite steps be taken to bring the matter to a head. Several years ago the association voted to begin a memorial fund for Mrs. Morrison, matron of our college from 1882 to 1905, and invest this money in a small library. The money on deposit amounted to $143.11. It was decided that as soon as $200 had been raised that the committee invest the money in books to be placed in a corner of our college library and marked Morrison Memorial Library. New books would be added as the money came in. Mrs. James collected $24.35

Continued on page four

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor LUCY THOMPSON, '30

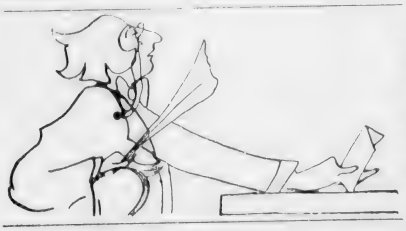
Board of Editors

News Editor CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social FLORENCE REED, '31
Art CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader



MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Are You a Democrat?

We quote the man who said, "A democracy is a state wherein any man is as good as any other man, if he is" Student government is a similar state—one in which any girl is as good as any other girl, if she is.

Was there ever a group of people which some did not feel that they were controlled by a chosen few who conspired against them? Queerly enough, the few usually lead because they were chosen by the grumblers.

It seems rather a shame that in a college group we can't rise above the level of less privileged communities. It is most probable that the complainers, those who feel "conspired against", are self placed in the inactive group. Others have risen to positions of some height because they have worked hard enough to justify promotion from the ranks. Hours spent in service are duly rewarded, as are hours spent in negligence. "Every girl is as good as every other girl, if she is."

True it is that many capable girls have not been discovered. Possibly they have not been placed in favorable circumstances. Though many of us will not admit it it is true that the girl who "inherits" places in sororities and organizations through no merit of her own, places the unknown girl at a disadvantage. Initiative and courage and perseverance, are the remedies for a girl so handicapped.

The fault does fall back on the leaders, too, when they make no effort to provide opportunities for the "timid talented type." If you are clamoring for democracy, use your efforts to develop every girl instead of condemning the few who have gone ahead. The time when we shall select new leaders is not far off. There is one vote for every girl!

Faith

Faith is the pivot upon which the earth's axis turns; faith is the strength of humanity; faith is the foundation upon which S. T. C. was built. No nobler feeling can there be, no achievement greater than the great ideal upon which it is founded. Faith—the keystone of all our buildings, the very bricks of the walk and the mortar which holds them secure—it is the power which has made possible the material realizations of State Teachers College at Farmville, Virginia.

The leader of us all who had vision beyond our sight, faith more deeply seated than ours, love which inspired us with his vision and faith and energy and determination powerful enough to make his dream come true, to confirm his faith, is, of course, Dr. Jarman. Without money, with few supporters, Dr. Jarman had that faith in his purpose which has never faltered, which has brought us material results named by others in the beginning foolish visions.

But greater than the buildings he has completed is the force he has fixed in the hearts of his girls. Dr. Jarman has faith in us, we have faith in him and in others. That courage to believe in the thing you know is right, has never waned in him; it has grown stronger in us. We, who lead the youth, will carry on a living faith, indomitable courge—and Dr. Jarman will live again, forever, live in the lives of those whose influence he has sent to the corners of the earth.

So we write, knowing all the time that it is a vain hope to express in empty words the dominant spirit of a college. Every person at S. T. C. for any of the twenty-seven years of Dr. Jarman's presidency, knows the feeling and knows that it is indescribable. It is the love and admiration of a people for a great man—words, often futile, can not speak the language of the heart.

To Our Alumnae

Founders Day was home-coming day for alumnae of our college. A great many returned for the events of the dual occasion. It was an inspiration to us who are still students to know those who were here before we came, and to discover the same light shining in their eyes that we see every day—love for Alma Mater.

No doubt it is often true that the present is not fully appreciated, that we students, happy and carefree in our beautiful college with opportunities open to us every day have no way of comparing it with the world beyond, and so don't quite grasp the significance of it all. Our alumnae, who too knew and loved the same Alma Mater, upon returning, spread a glow of appreciation and admiration that is wildly contagious. Through the eyes of others we see as new the familiar scenes that make our world different from all others.

We hope that the alumnae, too, caught an inspiration. The college grows every year, in more than physical size. Who could return and not sense a thrill as she finds the realization of the dreams for which she worked to make a reality? The Student Building, the bank in which we place our money, is beautifully complete, and almost paid for! The new dormitory adjoining it, and the rare senior building, too, are a never ending source of joy.

To those who could not return, we are sending this Rountda in which we have tried to include some of the things you will enjoy when you can return. You are always welcome; we are always happy when you come back for a dip into college life you used to live.

Spring's Around the Corner

Wind blown trees and purple violets tell us spring is here. It's happy news for school girls who like to stroll in the sunshine and hike miles into the country. But it's still around the corner, a formidable corner—exams! Nature is neglecting these glorious March days, because there's a force within the college walls stronger even than the lure of spring. Such earnest purpose and intense study, rare at other seasons, is much in vogue this week. We are bending every effort to make the finish a creditable one. When reports go home, then our efforts will show.

Oh, happy day—next Tuesday! The burdens of term papers and harrowing exams will be gone, disturbing us no more until the approach of June. Then spring will be here in truth. This will be the most exciting of all springs because Longwood will be open to us for picnics and week-end trips and other happy holidays.

LETTER TO OUR ALUMNAE FROM DR. JARMAN

Another Founders Day has passed, bringing with it the usual inspiration and pleasure for all connected with the college ;it means a great deal to us to have the "old girls" come back for a day or so and share with us the pleasure of the celebration, and become acquainted with the things that have come to the college since they were with us. I just wish every one of you could have been present.

When we think of Founders Day we naturally think also of our beautiful Student Building since it is on this day that students, friends and alumnae send or bring their "birthday gifts" to Alma Mater, and these gifts are used to reduce the debt on the building.

I am glad to report good progress: the cost of the building and furnishings is approximately one hundred and seventy thousand dollars. The State appropriated fifty thousand and the alumnae pledged fifty thousand—the rest was to be raised by the college, through donations, etc.

We have, naturally, had to borrow from the bank in order to meet our obligations but we have been fortunate in being able to take care of the interest from another source, and I want you to know that every dollar you have paid has gone, one hundred per cent, to the reduction of the debt and not to paying the interest on the note. The gifts and payments on pledges at Founders Day have brought the debt down to about twenty-nine thousand dollars. While this is very encouraging indeed, it is a pretty heavy load still and I am in hopes that you will all rally to our call for help and try to send in a contribution large or small: don't put it off; as soon as you finish reading this issue of The Rotunda, get out your check book and send in your check.

Remember, in all the years of her existence, this is the only call your Alma Mater has made upon you; the State made possible the training you had here and I am sure you feel sufficient appreciation of the opportunities afforded you to want to help out just as far as you can with this project which is so near to her heart. You will hearten those in charge to make them feel that your sympathy and support are with them and that you really have a desire to help.

With best wishes for each one of you, and the hope that a large number at least will be with us for next year's celebration, I am

Sincerely your friend,
J. L. JARMAN.

ELECTIONS!

Time is swiftly passing—so swiftly in fact, that we can hardy realize that it is now time to begin thinking seriously about the Y. W. C. A. elections. Let us first review our purpose:

"We, the members of the Young Women's Christian Association of State Teachers College, Farmville, Va., unite in the desire to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God. We determine to have a part in making this life possible for all people. In this task we seek to understand Jesus and follow Him."

After obtaining the full meaning of our purpose we are made more conscious of the fact, that the officers of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet must be girls who have the vision, the patience, and the knowledge to carry through this purpose. These girls must realize new possibilities within themselves, gain a new sense of joy and gaiety inherent in the doing of the friendliness of people.

The task of choosing the right girl for a certain office is a hard one. It is not something which can be done in a few minutes; but rather something which takes time and prayer.

Shall we not start now?

AN APPRECIATION

(Read at the meeting of the alumnae, March 9)

Since the last meeting of this body, our Association has lost one of the most valuable and steadfact friends we ever had; and with reverent spirits and sad hearts we pause at this moment to pay tribute to the honored memory of the late Helen Wiley Jarman. wife of our president, Dr. J. L Jarman.

A woman of gentle bearing, fine ideals, high courage, heroic enterprise, and almost incredible achievements, she served as a living example of the power of woman to guide those about her and to raise them to her own high level of useful service. Her variety of womanly graces endeared her to us personally; her winsome, radiant spirit adorned and cheered the social life of our school; and her gracious hospitality charmed many a distinguished guest, who left her home with the happiest memories of his visit, and with the impression of our college as a place, where order, beauty, and the fine art of living have reached a high state of perfection.

Now that we view the life of Mrs. arman as a finished whole, we see her fine ideals translated into fruitful deeds of generous devotion to the good of humanity. With her fine instincts she apprehended a need; and with patient, fearless devotion to the cause she believed to be right, she entered her whole personality. She was not the person to be identified with many organizations, she sometimes organized, sometimes led, and often did much of the most arduous work connected with the enterprise. Yet with high courage she carried on, frequently without encouragement, without praise, without reward; but ever with dignified obedience to the voice of duty.

We are deeply grateful for the memory of her useful years, crowded with rich records of abundant service to her day and generation, years given to enhancing the beauty of the world in which she lived.

We deplore the passing of our friend, for the present student body and for the generations of students yet to fill our halls, who shall not know the stimulating influence of her vital, radiant personality; for the community in which she labored as one of its most helpful citizens; for her co-laborers in the many organizations to which she belonged and to which she gave her wise counsel, her indefatigable effort. Finally, to our beloved President and his family we tender our profoundest sympathy in their deep sorrow.

Hers is a work that we must not let die, indeed, we cannot—it is immortal. "Her heart beat strong and cheerfully, left a hopeful impulse behind it, and bettered the tradition of mankind."

DR. WALMSLEY SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

As a gracious response to the request of the student body, Dr. Walmsley will speak in chapel each Tuesday morning on topics of world-wide interest. In the period of ten minutes devoted to his talks, Dr. Walmsley will give the students the benefit of his unprejudiced views and keen appreciation of present-day events.

Longwood, Country Estate, Latest Addition to S. T. C.

Beautiful Home and Estate of 90 Acres Constitute New Pleasure Center

Longwood, a beautiful remnant of Civil War days, is one of the most recent additions to the State Teachers College. It is an estate containing 90 acres of ground on which is a spacious sixteen room mansion. Longwood was at one time the home of General Joseph E. Johnston, famed Confederate leader. It has been bought by the college as a recreational center for its students, and is being remodeled to suit their most fastidious whims.

The house has true colonial charm. Most of the rooms have large fireplaces, which, of course, will be left to increase the home-like and cozy atmosphere. There are twin staircases running parallel with only a partition between them, each with its little iron railing. These were built in the good old days when modesty was predominant. One staircase was used by the women, one by the men. Modernity is being added to antiquity to give comfort as well as charm. Lights and heat have already been installed and the exterior of the house has been repainted. The back first-floor rooms are to be turned into a tea room and kitchen; there will be four large and four small bedrooms, each with a private bath; and a sunparlor is to be built on the east wing. The setting of this home is as beautiful and romantic as the home itself. Boxwood, holly trees, Virginia creeper, and many other varieties of shrubbery typical of the Old South surround the house. These are so arranged that a natural amphitheatre might easily be formed. Already some of the far-seeing students have suggested having our future May Day exercises at Longwood. Aside from their beauty the grounds offer wonderful possibilties for recreational activity. Among the recreational advantages, a nine-hole golf course is to be one of the outstanding features.

Longwood has been bought for the pleasure of the students, individually and collectively. It is to be their playground and mecca of pleasure. Dr. Jarman says, "It takes figuring and planning, but it's lots of fun." Has it not been this same indomitable spirit that has obtained for us so many of the vital possessions of S. T. C.? It is just another dream of Dr. Jarman's already coming true.

AN EXPLANATION

Some o fthe alumnae who receive this copy of The Rotunda did not receive a letter before Founders Day, telling of the alumnae meeting at that time and containing the ballot for the election of officers. There are several reasons for this, the chief one being that it is a big order to keep the alumnae files, the addresses of 3969 people, up to date when the work has to be done by volunteers whose leisure time. while given most cheerfully to the task is not very abundant. Changes of name and address have to be found accidentally, or sought for when a piece of mail is returned, because it is of rarest occurrence that an alumnae notifies the president or secretary when the wedding day or the moving day necessitates a change in the records. You are urged most cordially to remember that your Alma Mater is interested in you and desires this cooperation on your part.

Speculation as to Lindbergh's' future should cease now that his Morrow is assured.—Christan Science Monitor.

LONGWOOD

Longwood, former Home of General Joseph E Johnston, now owned by State Teachers College

FORMER S. T. C. FACULTY SERVING AT VARIOUS EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

It may be of interest, especially to the alumnae, to note what former members of the faculty are now doing.

Dr. W. A .Maddox is president of Rockford College.

Mr. S. P. Duke is president of the State Teachers College, Harrisonburg, Va.

Mr. Thomas D. Eason is secretary to the State Board of Education and director of certification.

Mr. R. V. Long is State Supervisor of School Buildings.

Dr. E. E. Jones has been teaching for many years in Northwestern University.

Dr. J. F. Messinger is teaching in the University of Idaho.

Dr. C. W. Stone is at the State Teachers College, Pullman, Washington.

Dr. W. F. Tidyman is at the State Teachers College, Fresno, Cal.

Misses Milliken, Graham, Willie and Lila London, Bullock, Camper, von Schilling, Pierce and Gill are studying at Columbia University this session.

Miss Dietrick is teaching grade work in Cleveland.

Miss Carrie Sutherlin is Dean of Women at Arlington Hall, Washington, D. C.

Miss Lula O. Andrews is working with the Extension Department of the University of Virginia.

Dr. Bessie Randolph is teaching in the Florida State College for Women at Tallahassee, Florida.

Dr. Joseph Meritt Lear is teaching in the University of N. C., Chapel Hill.

Mr. Mattoon is a draftsman at Woodstock, Md.

Juanita Manning traveled for several years with her husband, Dr. E. C. Harper, asissting in the conducting of tuberculosis clinics in the State.

Dr. Morris K. Turner is now at Converse College, Spartanburg, S. C.

Dr. Grover T. Somers is at the University of Indiana, Burlington.

Dr. Lulie G. Winston is an instructor in Meredith College, Raleigh, N. C.

Miss Mary St. Clair Woodruff is teaching at Anniston, Ala.

Miss Fannie Perkins is in Minneapolis, Minn.

Mr. Lee Bidgood is at the University of Alabama.

Dr. G. H. Bretnall is an instructor in the University at Baldwin, Kansas.

Dr Fannie W. Dunn is a member of the Rural Education Department, of Teachers College, Columbia University.

Mr. P. W. Fattig is teaching in Emory University, Ga.

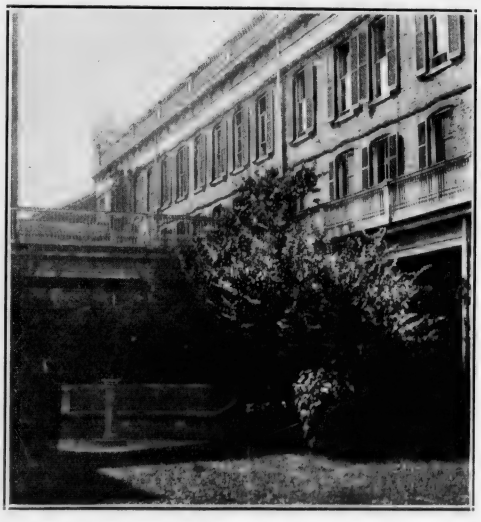
Miss M. W. Halliburton is Primary Supervisor, Waco, Texas.

Miss Christine Munoz is superising music in Alexandria, Va.

Miss S. Gay Patteson is teaching at Sweet Briar College

Dr. Loetitia M. Snow is located at Wellesley College.

Miss Frances Rohr has a factory in Lynchburg, Va., and manufactures many fancy articles.



Miss Mamie Rohr organized a corporation that bought a $100,000 apartment house on Riverside Drive, New York, and she's the manager of the corporation.

Miss Helen Blackiston is professor of biology in Alabama College, Monte Vallo, Ala.

Dr. Mary Brydon is working with the State Board of Health. Upon the

(Continued on last page)

MEMORIAL TO KAPPA DELTA FOUNDERS

This beautiful stone bench and sundial was presented at commencement, June, 1928, to this college by Kappa Delta Sorority, as a memorial to its founders

FOUR NATIONAL HONORARY FRATERNITIES CHARTERED IN 2 YEARS

S. T. C. has kept pace with other institutions of learning in "nationalization' 'in the last few years. Two new fraternities have come to our campus, and two locals have been nationalized.

Pi Gamma Mu, Social Science Fraternity

The Virginia Gamma Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu was organized at S. T. C. in 1926. It is the oldest national honorary fraternity on our campus. The purpose of Pi Gamma Mu is the inculcation of the ideals of scholarship, scientific attitude and method, and social service in relation to all social problems. The requirement for membership is not only a high scholastic standing, but also a promise of permanent interest in the field of social science. Pi Gamma Mu is not organized to oppose or advocate any particular social movement. It rather aims to instill in the mind of the individual a scientific attitude toward all social problems.

Pi Gamma Mu has fostered many educational features on our campus. The local chapter of the International Relations Club is composed of the members of Pi Gamma Mu.

Under the leadership of the three presidents, Cornelia Dickinson, Ella Louise Moore, and Lois Fraser the chapter has upheld its ideals. The following members of the faculty are members of Pi Gamma Mu: Dr. Jarman, Dr. Walmsley, Dr. Wynne, Dr. Simkins, Misses Cooper, Grenels, Thomas, Tucker, Stubbs, Peck, Potts, McCormick, Waters, and Pettit.

Pi Kappa Delta, Forensic Society

S. T. C. has the distinction of having the only chapter of Pi Kappa Delta in Virginia. There are on the roll 126 student chapters of this honor fraternity. This chapter was also the first state Alpha Chapter to be installed in a women's college. Pi Kappa Delta was established a sa recognition of outstanding debaters, orators and public speakers, to foster forensic development in the collegiate and intercollegiate world, and to arouse a greater interest in this field of extra-curricula activities.

The Virginia Alpha Chapter was installed on May 19, 1928, so it is a comparatively new organization. The requirements for membership in Pi Kappa Delta is the winning of one recognized intercollegiate debate or the participation in two losing ones: in the field of oratory the requirement is participation in a recognized intercollegiate oratorical contest.

On March 21 23 the convention of the South Atlantic province will be held in Raleigh, at North Carolina State College. The Virginia Alpha Chapter is planning to be represented at this convention.

Alpha Kappa Gamma

"Realizing the need in the State Teachers College at Farmville of an organization which aimed to interpret and foster the best ideals of leadership and service for the college as a whole rather than in any of its special fields of activity and in the hope of promoting broadly the best interests of the college by developing a high conception of the responsibility of leadership among the students," in 1926 the Joan Chapter of Alpha Delta Rho was organized by faculty members and students of the college.

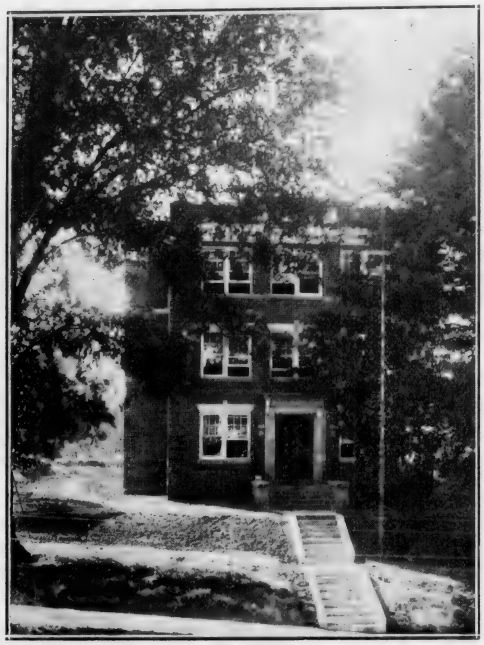
Continued on last page

DR. JARMAN REVIEWS HISTORY OF OUR COLLEGE IN ADDRESS

Continued from page one

the fact that at that time there were no high schools in Virginia except in the cities) the college has grown into a standard four-year college, an "A" Class member of the American Association of Teachers Colleges, a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, holding rank as one of the twelve outstanding Teachers Colleges of the United States.

Dr. Jarman said that the purpose of the administration and of all connected with the work, was to build a beautiful institution; that in after years the student is apt to forget much that is learned from books, but that the environment of her college life makes a lasting impression and that his ambition was to put into the lives of the students as much of beauty as was possible: beauty in material surroundings, beauty of ideals, and more than all else, the beauty of service. He pointed out the fact that any great institution is not an organization but a living organism that a college is not made by the administration, the faculty, the students, taken as separate entities, but, if it is to be what it should be, the three must be as one, giving their cooperation and their loyalty to everything that makes for the good of the whole.



PLAY GIVEN AT WORSHAM

The "Dust of the Earth," a four-act play was presented by the seniors of Worsham High School, Friday, March the eighth in the high school auditorium.

One of the leading characters, Miss Alice Rodgers, was unable to be in the play, because of the mumps. Her part was taken by Miss Mabel Fitzpatrick. who played the role in her usual charming way.

The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the Worsham school building.

THE PRIDE OF THE SENIORS

Junior- Senior Dormitory Opened
September, 1928

MODERN DORMITORY HAD BY UPPER CLASSMEN

Who ever thought we upper classmen would ever have such an "up-to-date" and "homey" dormitory? The entire building from top to bottom is very modern and contains every convenience a school girl could wish for—even an elevator. There are 68 rooms, all for two girls, with a bath between every two rooms. There is a kitchen, which for some time was only one in name, but now there is a beautiful brand new electric stove which will soon be the pride and joy of every girl in the new building.

Besides a sun parlor on each floor, there is a big living room on the first floor. This room has a fire place which has been a joy and a delight on cold afternoons and nights to all who love to sit around open fires, toast marshmallows, and tell fairy tales.

With all of these comforts and pleasures it is no wonder that such a fine spirit and "home-like" atmosphere exists among the girls. As the building is a dream come true, so we are hoping that within this building we will see a new form of student self government grow. Under the leadership of Etta Marshall, house president, all the girls are uniting in a spirit quite new to any dormitory.

MRS. CROXTON TALKS ON SOCIAL HYGIENE

Mrs. Fereba Croxton of the Social Hygiene Division, State Department of Health, Richmond, Virginia, gave a very interesting and helpful talk to the Health Education pupils last Monday and Tuesday, March 4 and 5 on sex hygiene. Mrs. Croxton has been connected with this department for ten years.

She divided her talk into three divisions taking the child from one to six; from six to twelve, and from twelve to eighteen. She discussed each group separately so that the primary, grammar grade and high school future teachers would know how to cope with the problems of their pupils.

Mrs. Croxton discussed the attitude that both mother and teacher should adopt in teaching and rearing the child, since both play such a vital part in the development of the child.

ALUMNAE WHO VISITED US FOUNDERS DAY

The following alumnae were among those present on Founders Day: Mrs. Katie Giddens Bourne, Mrs. Elva Hedley De La Barre, Rosalind Harrell, Mabel Grossclose, Mrs. Annette Leache Gemmell, Julia P. Leache, Mrs. Pearle Watterson Showalter, Mrs. Beulah Finke Horn, Otey Helm, Mary Nichols, Louise Brewer, Aileen McClenny, Mrs. Lucy Bosewell Montague, Mrs. Minnie Taylor Bentley, Alice W. Cole, Mrs. Lucy Wright James, Mrs. Maude Johnson Seaborn, Mrs. Daisy Ross Thompson, Virginia Ellis, Victoria Tune, Lillian Jennings, Kate Trent, Katherine Pannill, Eula Harris, Kitty Hatch, Ann Smith, Laura Meredith, Effie Meredith, Cornelia Dickinson, Evelyn West, Edith Cornwell, Carrie Spradlin, Beth Hopkins, Grace Chambers, Lorah Brewer, Jack Woodson, Mary Ruth Winn, Virginia Williams, Ida Hill, Evelyn Dulaney, Mrs. Julia Vaughan Lunsford, Mrs. Ella Godwin Ridout, Nelly C. Preston, Mrs. Nellie Jordan Woolling, Catherine Byrd Bray, Mrs. Maggie Taylor Cardwell, Mrs. Sallie Michie Bayley, Mrs. Mae W. Boney, Mrs. Ethel Abbitt Burke, Catherine Murdock, Sadie Baird, Gladys R. Stevens, Hazel A. Jones, Mrs. Ruby Leigh Orgain, Thelma Williams, Kathryn Cardwell, Doris Woodbeach, Lucy S. Treakle, Mrs. A. B. Treakle James, Pattie F. Garrett, Kathryn Jones, Margaret Thomas, Gladys Griffin, Virginia Hunter, Corrine Rucker, Louise Bunch, Vida Murfee, Mrs. Susie Robertson Turner, Mrs. Carrie Carruthers Johnson, Rubie Venable, Kitty F. Whyte, Mrs. Nora Garrett Lancaster, Nannie L. Crowder, Anni Alvis, Laura Anderson, Mary C Wilkie.

SISTERS AND DAUGHTERS OF ALUMNAE

There are members of our alumnae who have such strong affection for their Alma Mater that they have sent their daughters and sisters here, too.

These are some of the daughters and sisters:

Mary Will Vincent, Lucille Graves, Margaret Finch, Genevieve Grimes, Florence Carmine, Virginia Robertson, Mary Ellen Cato, Catherine Bentley, Anne Holladay, Natalie Holladay, Emily Holladay. French Hutt, Jane Grey Irby, Margaret Hubbard, Lillian Bennett, Allie Oliver, Parke Leigh Orgain, Grigsby Peck, Virginia Pettigrew, Marguerite Richardson, Mary Seaborn, Maude Seaborn, Virtley Stephenson, Alma Woodson, Anne Woodson, Mary Rose Wood, Lois Fraser, Myron Barnes, Rosalyn Topping, Louise Hilton, Dicia Bugg, Ruth F. Patterson, Ethel Kirkland. Myra Costen, Louise Vaughan, Mary Mann Baskerville, Maria Warren, Daisy Williams, Eleanor Dashiell, Virginia Bradshaw, Penelope Murdock, Louise Presson, Katherine Tucker, Rebecca French, Julia Feagans, Catherine Martin, Jessie G. Smith, Pauline Cibb, Louise Elliott, Margaret Walton, Bernice Burton, Madeline Hill, Alma Lee Spiers. Miriam Bray, Henrietta Cornwell, Flora Hobbs, Mabel Holland, Nancy Shaner, Odelle Dressler, Catherine Stevens, Gladys Bailey, Ruth Betts, Annie B. Anderson.

MANY ALUMNAE ATTEND ANNUAL REUNION

Continued from page one

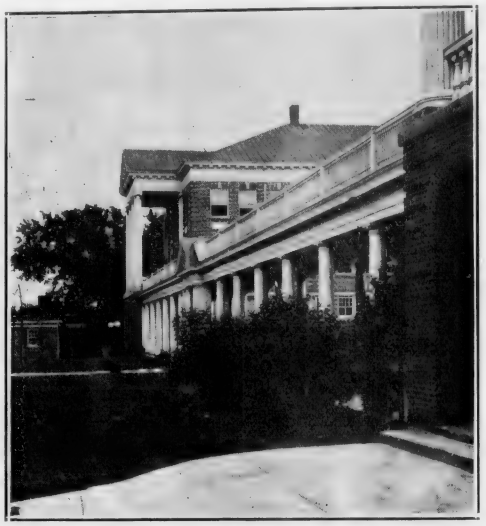
from those present at the meeting, bringing the amount on hand up to $167.46.

The alumnae present expressed approval of the change made by the executive board in the time for the annual business meeting. It is believed that the meeting will be better attended on Founders Day (which is always celebrated on the Saturday nearest March 7) than at commencement.

Report was made of the election of officers which was as follows:

President .... Miss Wilhelmina London
Director ..... Miss Lucy Allen
Nominating Committee—Misses Taliaferro, Grenels and Bierbower.

The society voted to elect Mr. Grainger honorary member of the association.



Mrs. Coyner asked that the alumnae bear in mind that the fiftieth anniversary is near at hand and be thinking of something that they could do to make it a real occasion. It was suggested that the chapters be asked to consider this and submit plans to those in charge.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

PRESBYTERIAN STUDENT SECRETARY HERE

Miss Cornelia Engle, representative of Christian Education Committee of the Southern Presbyterian church, visted our campus March 6 and .7. She came for the purpose of creating interest in organizing Presbyterian students in the college. She studied the needs of our religious activities and as a result of this survey we hope to have in the future a Presbyterian student secretary affiliated here.

VIEW OF COLONNADE

This beautiful colonnade connects the Student Building and White House Hall. Behind it is one of the new dormitories

INTERIOR OF COLONNADE

Another view of the classic colonnade. Not shown in this picture is a beautiful bronze equestrian statue of Joan of Arc, located in the center of the colonnade.

WHAT OTHERS THINK OF US

Some of Alma Mater's daughters have not been able to visit her for a long time, just as some of us have stayed away from home for a long time; it isn't that they are not loyal, but that they have other duties and responsibilities that detain them. The purpose of this article is to acquaint these busy children with the progress their Alma Mater is making in intercollegiate relationships.

1. The State Teachers College of Farmville, Va., is an A grade member of the American Association of Teachers Colleges.

2. It is a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

3. It is rated by the U. S. Bureau as a Standard Teachers College.

4. Howard J. McGinnis, of East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, N. C., conducted a study of the outstanding state teachers colleges in the United States; and as a result of the survey made, Farmville was rated among the first twelve, and as the best state teachers college in the South.

5. One-third of the rural supervisors of the state are furnished by the Teachers College, Farmville, Va.

6. Forty-seven graduates of this institution are officers of local associations of teachers.

Honors Awarded.

In 1928, one of our students, Marnetta Souder, won third prize in a national essay contest, and received the Garvan Scholarship Award, $200. Dr. and Mrs. Garvan, through the American Chemical Society, give the award annually in honor of their daughter, a chemistry student, who died shortly after her graduation from college. The essay contest is open to any bona fide student taking chemistry in a State teachers college. Miss Souder's topic was "The Relation of Chemistry to Agriculture and to Forestry."

In 1926-27, the Colonial Dames of Virginia offered a prize of $50 for the best essay dealing with Virginia history prior to 1785. The contest was open to the students in the four state teachers colleges.

Mabel Grossclose, one of our students, now Supervisor of Schools, Dinwiddie County, won the prize of $50, and Ann Holladaly was awarded a merit prize of $25, though no second prize had been offered. Honorable mention was made of three other papers, written by our students.

Selected Poetry

ON FIRST SEEING THE STATUE OF JOAN OF ARC IN ACTION

I gazed breathless—
I saw a figure quivering with emotion,
Loyal to a Voice, with true devotion;
I saw a body tense for eager action,
Eyes heavenward as if by strange attraction.

I breathed, waited—
I felt a heart beating with agony and pain,
Yet daring to advance and suffer again;
I sensed the soul of Joan in the air nearby,
And knew a Dreamer had dared—to live and die!

Rosalind Harrell

A WHITE IRIS

Tall and clothed in samite,
Chaste and pure,
In smooth armor,—
Your head held high
In its helmet
Of silver;
Jean D'Arc riding
Among the sword blades!

Has spring for you
Wrought visions
As it did for her
In a garden?

Pauline B. Barrington

JOAN OF ARC 1926

I have no solid horse to share with Joan,
I have no wit to contradict a duke
If there were dukes; I dream my dreams alone,
And cannot in the face of Rome's rebuke
Consider them divine. Rather I know
That nations are not worth the men they break,
And tardy Joans are destined to forego
Danger, and the incentive of the stake.

But I shall ride—most surely I shall ride—
Across a field more difficult than France,
Sternly upon a horse that is my pride,
And make a sword of each foul circumstance to conquer half the world disdainfully
Before a world, prescribed, can conquer me!

Virginia Moore

NOTICE

For those who, for one reason or another, did not have the opportunity to participate in person in the activities of a combined Founders Day and Alumnae Day, but who may wish to have some part in one or more of our college interests, this coupon is appended. Fill in, cut out, and mail with check to Alumnae Secretary, S. T. C., Farmville, Virginia:

Name .....

Address .....

.....

For Alumnae Dues ($1) .....
For Student Building Fund
For Morrison Memorial Fund
For Rotunda ($1.50) .....
For The Voices ($1) .....

TWO OF OUR UNFAILING LEADERS

Miss Jennie M. Tabb, Registrar
Miss Mary White Cox, Head of the Home

PI KAPPA OMEGA REUNION

Last May the chapter of Pi Kappa Omega on our campus was dissolved into Kappa Delta Pi an educational fraternity. Since that time there have been no further activities as Pi Kappa Omga, but it was thought fitting to have one last meeting of Pi Kappa Omega. This final meeting was in the form of a banquet on Friday night, March 8. Pearl Etheridge, as president of Kappa Delta Pi, was toastmistress. The idea of Pi Kappa Omega as a cocoon and coming out as a butterfly in Kappa Delta Pi was carried out in the decorations, toasts and addresses. The toasts given were: To the Founders of Pi Kappa Omega—Lois Fraser; To Pi Kappa Omega—Mrs. Olive S. Bowman; To the Spirit of Pi Kappa Omega—Miss Helen Draper; To the Future of Kappa Delta Pi—Leyburn Hyatt. Mr. Grainger who was one of the founders of Pi Kappa Omega ten years ago, told us, in a very interesting way the history of the organization.

At four-thirty Saturday afternoon all the Pi Kappa Omega alumnae who made the necessary arrangements were initiated into Kappa Delta Pi.

The Pi Kappa Omega alumnae who retunred were: Louise Brewer, Emily Calcott, Betty Hopkins, Lorah Brewer, Mary Nichols, Mabel Groseclose, Elva Hedley De La Barre, Rosalind Harrell, Grace Chambers, Katie Giddens Bourne, Anne Robertson, Cornelia Dickinson, Evelyn Beckham, Otey Helm, Carrie Spradlin, Virginia Ellis, Mrs. L. P. Montague, and Katherine Hatch.

Sixteen of this number were initiated into Kappa Delta Pi.

STUDENT COUNCIL ENTERTAINS MISS MARY

The Student Council entertained Miss Mary in honor of her birthday, March 12, at a delightful supper in the Tea Room. The color scheme of pink and blue was carried out in the decorations, place cards, and menu.

The Easter bunny had made a special trip to bring a little wagon load of handkerchiefs, and left them in front of Miss Mary's place. The guests, besides the guest of honor, included Miss Virginia Potts, and Dr. Jarman.

Rhea Scott is dean of the Domestic Science work in the University of Georgia.

Natalie Lancaster is dean of the Presbyterian Training School in Richmond.

ALUMNAE ENJOY LUNCHEON IN TEA ROOM

After the interesting Founders' Day exercises in the Auditorium on Saturday morning, the alumnae of the college and members of the faculty repaired to the Tea Room for luncheon. A spirit of cameraderie prevailed. Everyone vied with everyone else to make the most of the occasion.

Interspersed with the courses toasts were rendered and responded to under the direction of Maria Bristow Stark, '14, the toastmistress. The toast list follows:

Alma Mater, Helen Draper; response, song, "When Gladsome Youth Lifts Smiling Face," composed by Carrie Sutherlin, '04.

Dr. Jarman, Miss Grace Mix; response, Dr. Jarman.

"Niners," Ann Smith, '26; responses, Mrs. Montague, '89; Nellie Preston, '99; Mrs. Lucy James, '99; Lillian Minor, '09; letters read from Catherine Riddle, '19; Louise Foster, '29; Elsie Clements, '29.

Faculty, Caroline Cogbill; response, Miss Martha Coulling.

ALUMNAE ACHIEVEMENTS

Mrs. Bobbie Berkeley Burnet received her B. A. degree from George Washington Universityl in 1924 with the distinction of having the highest marks of any one of the four hundred who were graduated in the same class. In 1926, she received her M. A. degree and is now working for a Ph.D. She is contributing two biographies to the National Dictionary of Biography, one has been sent in, hte other goes in next year. Since September, 1928, Mrs. Burnet has been in London looking over manuscripts. Rockefeller gave a large sum of money to the Library of Congress for the purpose of getting facsimiles of manuscripts in European capitals relating to the history of the United States. Mrs. Burnet was asked to take up this work in London.

Mrs. Cabell Flournoy, former president of the Virginia Division of the U. D. C., and present historian, has just published a new U. D. C history, "Essays Hisorical and Critical," which has received most favorable comment. Mrs. Flournoy has won numerous prizes for essays on Southern topics and is in constant demand as a speaker. Her son, Fitzgerald Flournoy, who is a professor at Washington and Lee, delivered the Founders' Day address last year.

Miss Jennie Masters Tabb, our Registrara, is president of the Virginia Association of Collegiate Registrars, Chairman of Normal School and Teachers College Section of the Amer-

(Continued on last Page.)

WORLD NEWS

The Tacna-Arica boundary dispute born in war and thriving through 45 years on international strife, has been settled by peaceful means.

When Mr. Kellogg, secretary of state, used his good offices to bring about a resumption of relations between Chili and Peru last July the event was hailed as an outstanding stroke of diplomacy and hope was that the issue would be soon settled. This hope is now realized. Chili and Peru have divided the disputed provinces of Tacna and Arica between them, Peru taking Tacna and Chili taking Arica.

A heavy program, which runs the entire gamut of economic, social, intellectual, legal and political questions, confronted the League Council at its first session of 1929 when it assembled March 4. At least thirty questions are before the Council. Among these are the Boliva-Paraguay controversy. Another in the codification of international law and also disarmament.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has accepted his first official post with the government—technical advisor to the aeronautics branch of the Commerce Department. He will personally assist the government in all the phases of its regulation of civil aviation, the establishment of airports and airways, research and prevention of accidents.

The rumble of guns is again heard in Shantung, and the possibility of the renewal of civil war on a large scale looms up just as the world was congratulating China on her newfound peace and apparent political unification.

SPRING'S VERY
NEWEST HATS

Presenting a significant collection of hats for the new spring season-Hats a bit more sophisticated, of somewhat unusual—the last word in good taste and the charm of Paris. Brimmed and brimless models in every new straw and soft French felts.

Specially priced for

$2.95 $3.50 $4.95 $5.95

Select your complete Easter needs from

BALDWINS

"Where the girl who knows buys her clothes."

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"The Rexall Store"
CARA NOME TOILETRIES

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS —— DRESSES
GLOVES —— DRESS GOODS
HATS —— NOTIONS
SHOES —— HOSIERY

NEW SPRING SHOES
are here in
Blue, Green Blonde
Price $5 and up
We invite your inspection
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

THEY'RE HERE!
NEW DRESSES
The new Pastel Shades
GREEN, BLUE, YELLOW
FLESH, LIGHT ORCHID, & WHITE
Sizes 13 to 42
$15.00 Values, for S. T. C. Girls
$9.95
Lovely Spring Coats
$10.00 $15.00 and $25.00

HUB
DEPT. STORE

When a man buys an automobile, his income is the outgo and the upkeep is his downfall.

What Every Freshman Knows—It All.

Barney—I love you—I love you—I love you. I want you for my own! By the way, what's your name?

Arianna Green (at the theatre): "Give me back my amusement tax."
Manager: "Why?"
Arianna: "I wasn't' amused."

Eighteen more days 'till Easter.—Get busy girls, if you want those flowers!

I am a dime .
I am not on speaking terms with the butcher.
I am too small to buy a pint of ice cream.
I am not large enough to purchase a box of candy.
I am too small to buy a ticket to the movies.
I am hardy fit for a tip—but when I go to church on Sunday, I am considered some money.

"Where yo' all goin', niggah?"
"Ah's been rushed by Tri Kappa."
"What yo' all maen, Tri Kappa?"
"K. K. K., niggah."

A RECIPE FOR FLUNKS
(In case you want any)
Take a pound of bluffer. and stir in a few excuses, add an ounce or two, flavor with dates, and too much letter writing. Stir before using and serve with tears at the end of the semester.

Teacher: "Tommy, compare the adjective 'ill'."
Tommy: "Yes'm, ill, sicker, dead."

Footprints on the sands of time are not made by sitting down.

SILENCE IS GOLDEN

(To Miss Turner)

I love you so, Miss Turner; yet to you I'm just a pest.
I watch your dear gyrations (as I'm sure you must have guessed)
And sing as "forte" as I can; I sing with such a zest,
I forget that I'm all off the track,
Until a hard voice calls me back—
Your voice, but with no sweet inflection:
"Somebody's off in the alto section!"
I feel so hurt I canont sing. Oh, would I were the best
Among the sweet notes in your train!
But if my poor notes you disdain,
I cannot help but think that I would make a perfect rest!

A. Harrison, '32

VOLLEY BALL SCHEDULE

4. P. M.—Monday and Wednesday, Juniors and Seniors
4 P. M.—Tuesday and Thursday, Sophomores and Freshmen
5 P. M. Friday ..... All Classes

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

S. T. C. is proud of her basketball team. They reflected honor for Alma Mater.

NATIONAL FRATERNITIES

Continued From page 3

Believing, in 1928, that a national organization would aid the growth of he work successfully begun, the Alpha Delta Rho members entered the national organization of Alpha Kappa Gamma. This, in brief, is the history of the present chapter.

Character, influence and accomplishment explain the triune nature of the organization. Its members strive to interpret the spirit of Alma Mater to the student body and to others outside of the school. Knowing that, "Service is love expressed," the aim is to express the love for Alma Mater in terms of service to the institution.

Kappa Delta Pi Scholastic Fraternity

More than ten years ago a group of faculty members were considering seriously some means of acknowledging superior scholarship and uniting for service students who ranked highest in achievement. From that idea came Pi Kappa Omega, which was chartered in the fall of 1918. It held three ideals: scholarship, leadership, service. For many years it united the strongest girls in the college for greater service. Indidivual and group projects were completed every year.

A national organization, Kappa Delta Pi, which recognizes scholarship in professional institutions as does Phi Beta Kappa in liberal arts ones, was discovered to have purposes and ideals peculiarly like those of Pi Kappa Omega. Recognizing the advantages of the national organization, Pi Kappa Omega petitioned Kappa Delta Pi, and in May, 1928, Beta Epsilon Chapter was installed here. Requirements for membership are high scholastic record and service in the college.

INVITATION TO THE S. T. C. STUDENT BODY

Monday night, March 18, 1929, after it is all over—exams, we mean, and everybody is in the highest spirits, we will suddenly remember that Sunday, March 17, was the birthday of the Irish patron saint, St. Patrick. We want to have a joint celebration on Monday night at supper so every one is asked to come to supper in the best of spiirts, wearing her "Sunday best", and ready for a grand time. After supper there will be a program and dancing in the recreation hall.

Come one! Come all! And have a good time with us Monday night.

ALUMNAE ACHIEVEMENTS

Continued From page five.

ican Association of Collegiate Registrars, and member of the Nominations Committee and Fellowship Committee. Miss Tabb is included in the list of Contemporary American Poets and is well known through her two books, "Father Tabb," published in 1923, and "For You," a collection of poems, published in 1927.

Mrs. Fannie Littleton Kline, who is next in rank to the head of the Department of Psychology in Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, has completed her dissertation for a Doctor's degree from Ann Arbor University.

May Brinkley has recently published a book poems, "A Handful of Life," which has received very favorable comment. She presented a copy to the Library.

Miss Mary C. Wilkie has received both her B. A. and M. A. degrees from the University of Virginia, and is now head of the Spanish Department in the Petersburg High School

Emily Calcott and Katherine Kemp are studying for their Doctors degrees at the University of Virginia; Emily in English and Kitty in Biology.

Emily Clark is a teacher and student at the George Peabody Conservatory of Music.

Mrs. Jean Carruthers Boatwright, rural supervisor of Augusta County, is a candidate for the office of division superintendent of that county.

Helen Blackiston, professor of Biology at Alabama College, Montevallo, Ala., is enjaying a trip to South America.

Mary Finch is continuing her work in Japan; teaching in a school for girls at Hiroshima.

Florence Boston Decker is president of the Westhampton Alumnae.

Mary Dupuy has given up her work in WKentucky to accept an appointment to Berea College.

Ruth Jameson is County Demonstration Agent for Augusta County.

Martha Buchanan has had a brilliant career as a nurse and is now at Mayo Brothers.

Kate Ferguson is president of the Virginia Federation of Clubs.

Florence Buford is studying at the University of Virginia and teaching in Charlottesville.

Carrie Sutherlin is Dean of Women at Arlington Hall.

Georgie Sinclair is in charge of the Associated Charities in Roanoke.

STUDENT STANDARDS COMMITTEE MEETS

At the regular monthly meeting of the Student Standards Committee last Thursday, several important questions were discussed. Pannie Willis brought before the committee a tentative plan for a new system of student government in school, presented by the Council. This plan, supported by the committee, will be submitted to the administration for sanction. In addition, a committee reported suggestions for the unnamed buildings on our campus.

Someone has said that the Student Standards Committee is a clearing house between the faculty and students. The committee tries to look at all questions which arise in a fair, unbiased way and to solve these problems in a manner which proves satisfactory and beneficial to all.

FORMER S. T. C. FACULTY

(Continued from Page Three)

invitation of the National Education Association, she has spoken in California, Detroit and Boston in behalf of child health.

CHORAL CLUB CONCERT PRESENTED BY MISS HELEN M. TURNER

Continued from page one

I Came With a Song ..... La Forge
The Blind Ploughman ..... Clarke
Mr. Whittemore
Long, Long Ago ..... Bayley
The Lass With the Delicate Air, Arne
Bendemeer's Stream ..... Old Tune
Chromatic Club
The Sleeping Beauy—Cantata
Frances McCollin
Choral Club and Mr. Whittemore

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL
Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

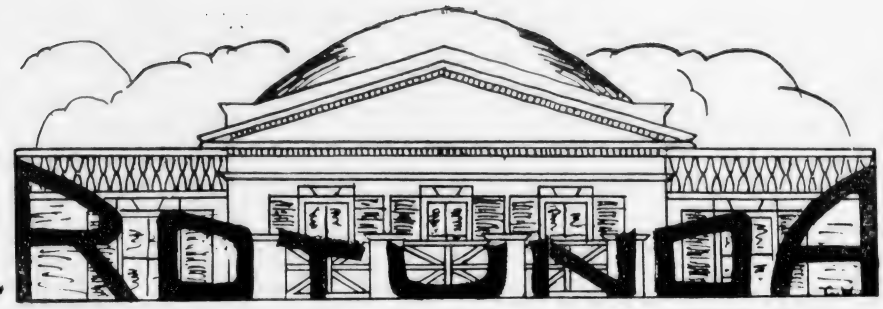
THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre
Week of March 18-23

MON. & TUES.—Dolores Del Rio, Ralph Forbes and Karl Dane in the super special production, "THE TRIAL of '98". A story of romance and adventure—of brave men and women stirred to the depths by the quest for gold. Here is what the critics say: "One of the most powerful pictures ever filmed."—Daily News. "Has unforgettable moments"—Evening Telegram. "Has thrills among the greatest brought to the screen"—Evening World. "One of the finest films ever made."—Evening Graphic. Showed at $2 admission prices in New York. Also news reel, Mats. at 4 p. m.

WED.—Lawrence Gray, Louise Lorraine and Polly Moran in "SHADOWS OF THE NIGHT". This picture has everything—love story, underworld, newspaper background, and "Flash," the wonder dog in an amazing role. It also has a good cast. It is a good picture. Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.



THURS.—Ben Lyon and Antonio Moreno in "THE AIR LEGION", a big special production. An epic of the U. S. air mail service. Two daredevils—sons of the soaring plane— service, their mission—duty, their God. Loving the same girl, proving their worth in lightning lashed storm and plunging peril! A great picture. Also comedy. Mat. at 4 o'clock.

FRI. & SAT. at mats. only—Lillian Gish, Ronald Coleman and a large supporting cast in "THE WHITE SISTER" playing a return engagement. The picture you've been waiting to see again—here at last! This is one of the most thrilling love stories of all times. You will enjoy seeing it again. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. at nights only—Betty Bronson and a big supporting cast in the special production, "COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE." A super cast! Unforgettable entertainment! Plus the most discussed theme of the age! Throws the spotlight on the new marriage idea that has startled the world. Judge Ben Lindsey's sensational book screened with a great cast. The most unusual love story ever filmed. Also comedy and news reel.

Admission to S. T. C. girls getting tickets at college, Mon. and Tues., 35c; other shows 25c.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE TONIGHT

EXAMS ARE OVER!

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA WEDNESDAY, MARCH 20, 1929 No. 22

STUDENT BODY CELEBRATES SAINT PATRICK'S DAY

Decorations in Dining Room and Party in Recretaion Hall for Festive Occasion

An announcement at sing that everyone was to come to supper Monday night dressed in Sunday best brought a ready response. Everyone was there on time and in good spirits. Shamrocks and the color scheme of green carried out in ice-cream and cake reminded us that Sunday was St. Patrick's birthday.

After supper the faculty and student body were invited to a program in the "rec". They were delighted with a piano selection by Elizabeth Hairston, dancing by Mary Todd, and Lil Bennett's songs; after which Pearl Johnson played for everybody to dance.

Needless to say everyone is hoping another birthday will be celebrated soon.

FURNITURE FOR DRAMATIC CLUB

Beautiful Antique Style Used Throughout

Due to the kindness of Dr. Jarman, the Dramatic Club can now boast of a room in the Student Building, and its members can sit back in ease and comfort while holding their meetings. That is, comparative ease and comfort, for as yet there aren't' quite enough chairs, but there will be soon.

The room is next to the little auditorium, just across the hall from the Rotunda office. It is to be a cozy, comfortable. old-fashioned room, with a sofa, a big wing chair, and a' that. The steps leading up to the stage, will be piled with nice soft cushions, and there'll be a little tilt-top table nearby, with perhaps an interesting book lying on it. Opposite the sofa, a desk and a ladder-back chair will invite you to come and write a letter, while at the same time another big arm chair will beckon you to come and rest in it. And of course, there will be sunny chintz curtains and quaint old lamps, to make you feel that maybe you've stepped into your own grandmother's living room.

HOW CO-EDS SPEND THEIR MONEY IN MINN.

Co-eds at the University of Minnesota spend more than $500 weekly on chewing gum, according to the campus storekeepers. The clerks state that more than 10,000 packages are sold every week, of which half have the flavor of peppermint. —The Cadet

PRE-CONVENTION DEBATE TONIGHT

S. T. C. Versus West Virginia Wesleyan in Pi Kappa Delta Meet

On Wednesday night, March 20 at 8 o'clock S. T. C. will meet West Virginia Wesleyan College in a debate on the subject: Resolved, That there should be a substitute for trial by jury in criminal and civil cases. The negative will be upheld by Phares Reeder and Hayward Hamrick of West Virginia Wesleyan; the affirmative, by Frances Wilson and Mary Mann Baskerville.

This is a pre-convention debate of Pi Kappa Delta debate fraternity. The team which wins the debate tonight will debate for the province championship in Raleigh on Saturday, March 23.

Besides the contest for debaters there is to be one for orators and another for ex tempore speakers. The girls who will represent S. T. C. in these contests are Ann Hopkins as ortor and Catherine Bentley as ex tempore speaker. Besides the affirmative tea the orator and ex tempore speaker the Virginia Alpha Chaptr is sending a negative team—Evelyn Graybeal and Virginia Pettigrew. Dr. Walmsley and Dr. Simkins will also attend the convention which is to be held at North Carolina State College, Thursday, March 21 to Saturday, March 23.

STATE STUDENTS PAY FOR "CUTS"

Another Way to Enforce the Class Attendance— Pecuniary Tax

That every student who misses a class without an excuse shall be required to pay a fine of fifty cents was a plan adopted by the general faculty of North Carolina State College at a meeting on March 2. It is hoped that the scholarship of the institution will be raised thereby.

The plan also rules that a student shall either make up or receive a zero on all written work missed for any reason, the make-up work to be done under the supervision of an advanced student or an instructor approved by the department that the work is in. Furthermore, a fee of fifty cents will be charged for the make-up unless the absence is excused by the dean of students, and this fee will be one dollar if the student fails to present himself for the work, unless the absence is excused by the instructor in the course.

There has been much adverse criticism of the plan, the students are radically opposed to it, and some have even said that they would leave the school if such a plan was put into ef-

(Continued on last Page.)

MRS. PRESTON, EDUCATOR OF WASHINGTON, HERE

Superintendent of Schools on Observation Tour Speaks at Chapel

Mrs. Joseph Corliss Preston, educator of Washington state, spoke before the student body Tuesday morning, March 12. Mrs. Preston has been superintendent of schools in Washington for the past twenty-five years and is spending this year traveling all over the United States visiting the schools, studying and contrasting their methods of instruction with those of the state of Washington.

Mrs. Preston emphasized the importance of concentrated study during the college years, which builds for the future teacher the foundation for success. She spoke of the high road and the low road that leads through all colleges and stressed the importance of choosing the high road at the very beginning of the college career.

S. T. C. enjoyed a rare privilege in Mrs. Preston's visit, as it is the only school in Virginia included on her route of schools.

CHANGE IN SPRING ENROLLMENT

New Girls Entering and Equal Number Leaving

As we start upon "the last lap" of this school year, we are conscious of the vacancies made by some of our "old girls" leaving. Some of them have completed the four year course; others have finished two years' work. It is with regret that we bid them "adieu"—but we wish them the best of luck and hope they will often return to their Alma Mater.

Old girls who have finished: Ruth Allan, Dorothy Baldwin, Yates Crowder, Anne Harrison, Elsie Frances Milam, Cora Elizabeth Moss, Annie Prillamen, Elizabeth Rawls, Edna Elizabeth Terry, Elizabeth Thrift, Sarah Louise Bailey, Mrs. Sallie Eubank.

Then at the end of the old quarter and the beginning of the new, we see strangers among us—but they won't remain strangers long. To the newcomers we extend hearty welcome.

News girls: Vera Abbitt, Melrose Debram, Cassie Dickerson, Mrs. Gordon Fant, Dorothy Gardner, Louise Oakes, Helen Pike, Emily Portlock, Alice Reese, Sarah Salsbury, Margaret Wetzel, Maude Wilson.

WRITE AN EDITORIAL

With this issue of the Rotunda begins a contest for the best editorial written by a student. All manuscripts must be submitted to the editor before 10 a. m., March 21. A prize of two dollars is offered for the best editorial; a prize of one dollar for the second best. They will be judged on the basis of subject interest, timeliness, and literary merit. All students except members of the Rotunda staff are eligible.

STUDENT MEETING AT CHARLOTTESV'LE

Fifteen Methodist Girls Represent S. T. C. at State Meeting

Fifteen S. T. C. girls expect to attend the Methodist Student Conference which will be held in Charlottesville, March 22—24. The Farmville Methodist Church is furnishing cars as a means of transportation. Adele Hutcheson is the delegation leader.

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY IN NEW YORK

David Belasco's "Return of Peter Grimm" Has Interesting History

The intrinsic interest of the play selected by the Dramatic Club for the spring performance, David Belasco's "Return of Peter Grimm" is almost equalled by its history. It was written in 1912, at the time when interest in spiritualism and the return of the dead was gaining importance in the public mind. Books by Coue and Sir Oliver Lodge had appeared shortly before, announcing the belief of the authors in this subject of mystery, which science was just beginning to probe. The door set ajar by science, imagination of the writing public hurried for a peek, and untold visions were recorded.

David Belasco, who always prided himself on his advance in the theatre, was the first to place this subject on the stage. His play, written particularly for David Warfield, had a long run on Broadway, partly because of its timeliness, partly because of its dramatic merit, and partly because of the successful acting of David Warfield.

Since its premiere, it has been revived several times. It has been translated into a number of foreign languages. Stock companies have played it in many cities; it has even been made into a moving picture.

Now our own Dramatic Club is producing "The Return of Peter Grimm." In a play of such a history the amateupr players will no doubt excell their past achievements.

NEW SCHOOL TERM BEGINS TUESDAY, MARCH 19

Classes Begin Without Interruption After Winter Exams

Tuesday, March 19 marked the beginning of the new term. After a week of examinations, the return to classes brought many happy smiles and some sorrowful looks.

To many the new term means a chances to begin anew, to atone for the mistakes made during the winter quarter. To many it means either a joyful or sorrowful return from "teaching." To many it brings fears for the next three months when the inevitable "Miss" haunts you in your dreams. Whatever the spring terms signifies, to individuals, there is always the joys of springtime that readily destroys the troubles of all alike at S. T. C.

MISS COULLING CONDUCTS VESPERS

Speaks on Classic Modannas of Number of Artists

Miss Coulling gave a most interesting talk at vespers Sunday on the pictures of the famous madonnas, after reading a few pasages from the gospels which were the inspiration for painting of many of them. She showed us many copies of these masterpieces pointing out qualities of beauty that we had never known before.

One of the most prominent earlier ones was "The Anunciation" by Fra Angelico, a monk. He did it as a fresco on the wall of the monastary which accounts for the pale tones. We can see the soul of the artist in his works.

Botticelli was a later artist. His pictures show more depth; and it is said that people either like his work intensely or do not care for it at all.

Raphael, in his madonnas, brought out richer and more beautiful tone qualities. His best liked is the "Maddonna of the Chair." The original was done on the end of a barrel. The occasion which furnished the inspiration was the sight of an old sweetheart with her two children sitting in the street. His greatest work is the "Sistine Madonna."

The art of every nation is closely related to its religion. We see this more than ever by contrasting the northern with the southern artists. The history of a nation's art is the history of its religion.

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

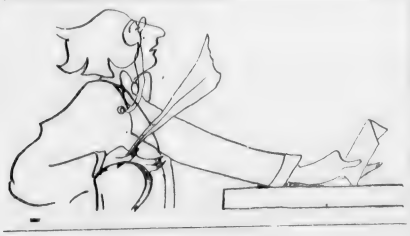
Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... FLORENCE REED, '31
Art ..... CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader



MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

We Begin Again

The new quarter begins! With more than a little sigh of relief we completed the work of last quarter, and now we dash to class early for the front seats or the back, according to our mental point of view.

The appearance of the student body is quite bedraggled. The winter's work has been difficult and continuous. The climax of exams took all the energy we had left. Our "beginning again" consequently is without enthusiasm or ceremony.

Facing students approaching exhaustion, we might hesitate to mention quality of scholarship, but this is the time for the subject. Spring time brings a thousand allurements; our distracted minds wander away from books. With nature conspiring against us, we must bend our efforts doubly toward achieving results. This is the last quarter many of us will spend at college. It is our last chance to dig for knowledge that will stand us in good stead when we face a class of perhaps forty eager children.

Bluffing sometimes misleads instructors, occasionally fellow students. But the hope is slight that the time honored practice will be of any service when we take up our noble profession. A sound foundation of information and an understanding of the class before us are essentials for successful teaching.

Even forgetting the work ahead of us, we can not ignore a personal loss when we let slip by opportunities for enriching our experience. The popular phrase, "I never crack a book," if true, is spoken by girls who are missing the essence of college.

Another quarter—a chance to begin again.

Steps for Independence

Many girls who come to college leave home for the first time. It is their first experience in independence. Never before have they been away from home and mother and father for more than a few weeks.

Gaining one's independence is among the approved list of achievements. Psychologically it is a big break away from habits of a life time. A little guidance from an older, more experienced person at such a critical time might change permanently a girl's attitude toward life, and aid in social adjustment.

There is not a community which does not remark of its college boys and girls that some return the worse for their college experience. Socially and mentally and spiritually, college fails some of us.

Isn't there a remedy for the situation? On the one hand we have a faculty, people with superior intellect, splendid education, broad experience, scientific understanding. On the other hand are students young, impulsive, lacking the discretion of maturity, following their own course with little guidance. Points of contact are rare. The students continue to bungle.

Some of the girls more fortunate than others gain immeasurably from contacts which sometimes grow out of class work and campus organizations. At best, however, there is a mere chance that girls who most need personal interest never receive it.

Classes and courses are provided of such quality that our college ranks high. Beyond the class room, however, are the tests which often determine what kind of women we will be. Personal interest and guidance of older people on our own campus may prove the decisive factor for the right turn in the crisis of a girl's life.

Your Rotunda

Again there come to us pleas for a better paper. As the college standards are raised, so must the student activties keep pace with the progress.

Contributions from the college community are solicited. To encourage you to give us your information and finished articles, we are placing a Rotunda contribution box in the hall near the cloak room, opposite that most popular of places "the-table-in-the-hall." Passing it dozens of times daily, you won't forget us so easily.

We are serious in our endeavor to raise the tone of our paper to increase its literary merit, but above all, to make it more interesting. When you read this article, you will understand that we are asking you personally to add your efforts to ours for a better Rotunda. And won't you remind your neighbor who doesn't read editorials? She might win the prize for the best one contributed by a student. There will be other contests, too, for different types of contributions.

Cooperation never fails at S. T. C. We are asking for it, adding our requests today to many former ones. You will not fail us!

April Brings Elections

There is little more than a week before Easter, when we hope for a holiday. Then it will be April, and we will vote for new officers!

To the five girls who are called major officers the students entrust the care of their student ideals. The girl who holds one of these offices leads the student body in their concerted efforts. It is a big position to fill. No girl should be eligible who has not proved herself worthy of the trust that has already been placed in her. The position demands serious thought, energy, self sacrifice, loyalty to the highest ideals of the college, interest in the students as individuals.

Are you thinking of the girls who will best fill these important places? Every girl has one vote.

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor:

We have in our school, nominally, an Honor System; yet how many girls realize the fact? Some of us try to live up to our present system; others have their own personal honor, which guides them; and, sad to say, there are some in our student body who seem to have no sense of honor.

What is the matter? Is something wrong with us as a student body, or is something wrong with our existing honor system? Let's find out what is the cause of all of this trouble, get at the bottom of it and try to correct it before the end of this term, so that when the freshmen come in next year they will realize that Farmville girls have a high sense of honor and that they display it.

Senior

To the Editor:

Our present system of student government is constantly being criticized from all points of view. The awareness of this fact shows that we are thinking and will express ourselves if we are given the opportunity. We feel that a student body this large has outgrown our present system and it is clamouring for something that is consistent with the age and ability of its make-up.

Students do not support our student government because they do not approve of the way in which it is enforced, with so much stress on petty regulations and less emphasis on things of major importance: Generally speaking, the students feel that their honor is not looked upon as a matter of dependability, and that in itself is a defeat of the purpose of an honor system.

If we adhered to all of the traditions of the past, we would have, in many instances, destructive forces at work in the progress of civilization. Just so, in adhering to all the traditions that have been handed down from year to year in S. T. C., we are following too much the echo of the past rather than the voice and call of the present.

We realize that we have to think and know what we want, not in a self-fish way, but keeping foremost in mind something that we will be proud to leave for those who are taking our places in the future years.

Honor systems are undoubtedly successful in college groups, and even if there are many weaknesses in beginning, it is obliged to be satisfying which the present system could never be.

G. C. H.

MR. CARR SPEAKS TO GRADUATING CLASS

On Wednesday night, March 13, at seven o'clock in the auditorium Mr. Carr, representative from the First Aid and Life Saving Service of the Red Cross, spoke to all graduating seniors and sophomores.

He explained the importance of the work which the Red Cross is trying to do in this department, namely that of reducing the number of needless death which occur in this country each year. He urged that all prospective teachers acquaint themselves with the work of the Junior Red Cross so that they may interest the children in it. This year in practically all sections of Virginia summer courses are to be give nin the Red Cross work. All teachers should take advantage of these courses so that they will be better prepared to carry on their duties next fall.

LITTLE JACK HORNER'S PIE

Tom, Dick, and Jack lived with their mother, Mrs. Horner, in a little green house right on top of a little green hill.

It was Saturday, and Mrs. Horner was making a great big pumpkin pie. It was so very large that poor little Jack couldn't even lift it. After she had baked it until it was a lovely golden brown, she called Tom, and told him to watch it while it cooled on the back step.

Now Tom was playing with a little frog that he had found in the garden, when his mother called. Instead of leaving the little frog where it belonged, he brought it to the house and put it on the step between him and the pie.

Everything was all right for a while, but when Mr. Frog began to look around for amusement, he saw the pie. Being a frog, he thought it was a great big yellow mud puddle. He gave one big hop and a skip and landed right in the middle of it.

When Mrs. Horner saw that her pie was ruined, she didn't know what to do, because she didn't have another single pumpkin. Then she decided to make a blackberry pie. Now this pie was smaller than the last one because Tom was not to have any of it. That wasn't all either—besides losing his slice of pie, he found out that warts were coming on his hands because he had been playing with little frogs.

Dick had been pulling weeds in the garden all morning, so he was glad when his mother told him to watch the pie. You see it would give him a chance to rest.

He hadn't been sitting there very long when he heard Duke barking. He knew that Duke was barking at Blackie, the cat, so without thinking, he jumped up and ran off.

When he returned, feeling well satisfied with himself for having seen the fight, he found that the plate was still on the steps, but the pie was gone. Not even a crumb was left for a very hungry little boy. Dick could not imagine where the pie had gone, and he never did find out. All that anyone ever knew about, it was that an old tramp had passed without stopping to ask for food, and that is a very unusual way for tramps to act, you know.

Mrs. Horner was tired of making pies by this time, so she made a little tiny mince pie and told little Jack to watch it for her.

Now Jack was a good little boy, and he was very glad to help his mother. He sat on the steps with his chin in his hands and watched and watched. Everything got so very quiet that the little Potatoes in the garden shut their eyes and went to sleep; great big Mr. Cabbage nodded his head drowsily, and Mrs. Squash curled up on her bed of leaves and slept and slept.

Presently little Jack saw the tiny little pie rising up in the air. He caught the edge of it, and it carried him up into the sky. It went so high that poor little Jack got tired and just had to let his precious pie go. He fell back to earth a-ker-plop! He made so much noise that the little Potatoes' eyes just popped right wide open, and they are open to this very

Continued on page three

SPRING

Soft, warm rains
Pattering
O'er green plains;
New fresh life
Flowing
Through old veins;
Tiny dewdrops
Sparkling
In the glow of sunrise;
Old love long
Forgotten
Once more revives—
God, I await these things
That Thou manifest in Spring.

B. N., '29

WHAT GREW IN JOAN'S GARDEN

What grew in Joan's garden?
(Gather up your swords and come!)
What grew in Joan's garden?
(Calls the clarion; sounds the drum.)

Daisies, pansies, Flemish lilies,
(Warriors, rise ye—row and row!)
Red hearts, stars, and daffodils.
(High the dark waves ebb and flow.)

Safely trellised, green shoots nestle
(Shout, O Voices, in her ear!)
Farther, higher strong boughs wrestle.
(On, O on, the day is here!)

What grew in Joan's garden?
In the dawn-sky do you see.
What grew in Joan's garden?
God, and France, and Victory.

Annette Wynne

THE SPRING TRA-LA!

With spring coming on, there is one type of human being that it is only fair to warn the public about: namely, the Spring Fan. As a fan, he's at least as bad as the proverbial baseball fan, the movie fan, etc., etc., etc.

You'll be walking with him early in the season, when suddenly he'll burst out, "Oh—isn't the spring air invigorating? That wonderfully earthy smell, too—surely does look like spring!" You murmur sympathetically, "Yes, yes, its wonderful—wonderful. No, it won't be long now . . . " At this first hint that he is an enthusiast on the subject, you should take notice, and carefully avoid him. He might even be locked up as the season progresses.

If not, the next time you're with him for a few minutes, he'll volunteer joyfully, "Oh—do you know, I saw the very first robin of the season today—right ouside of my window! And everything's beginning to bud; I saw a crocus bud almost a half inch long."

"Well, well you say, merely to humor him. "Not really a crocus!"

"Yes," he proceeds confidentially; "and I'm not sure,—but I think I saw a bluebird this afternoon! Just think—already!"

And you do just think. But you say, "A bluebird, not really! Why you don't mean you actually—"

"Yes—and I heard another birdcall that I'm not sure was . . "

—You will never persuade your friend that he is an idiot. The best thing to do is to humor him as you would a lunatic. This will lead him to believe that you are mentally ill-balanced, and that you are not fit company for him.

ALUMNAE NEWS

The March Virginia Journal of Education contains an interesting and suggestive article by Miss Louise Pruden, of the Walter Reed School in Newport News. It is entitled "Art and Industrial Activities" and describes six activities carried out by one of the grammar grades.

Miss Harriett Elizabeth Dunn, who has been teaching mathemetics in the Chase City High School this session, was married on March 10 to William Edward Eubank of Chase City.

The wedding of Miss Olga McClain Thomas, of Baltimore and Morattico, and Jean Allen Dillard, of Fredericksburg, occurred in the gold room of the Mount Royal Hotel, Baltimore, Md., on March 2. The bride and groom are now at home at 330 Sixteenth St., S. E., Washington, D. C.

Invitations have been sent out to the marriage of Miss Elsie Gladys Bell of Roanoke, to John Turner Carroll on Tuesday the second of April. They will be at home after April fifteenth in Jacksonville, Florida.

Miss Mildred T. Lohr is teaching in San German, Porto Rico.

HAMPTON QUARTET SINGS AT S. T. C.

The Hampton Institute Quartette won enthusiastic applause from both faculty and student body last Tuesday morning in appreciation of the program they gave in Chapel.

The quartette was most generous with its encore numbers, courteously responding to each new request. Of the two spirituals included in the program, "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," "Carry Me Back to Old Virginy" and "Goin' Shout All Over God's Heaven" were undoubtedly among the outstanding favorites. But the popular song, "Mighty Lak a Rose," sung as it has been harmonized for four voices, scored the greatest success, if one may judge by applause.

While listening to this most enjoyabtl concert one naturally thought of Miss Preston's reference to it at the close of her talk, "the music which we shall hear will give the great message of the morning."

LITTLE JACK HORNER'S PIE

(Continued from page two)

day. Old Mrs. Onion felt so very corry for him that she cried and cried. All the little Pea Pods laughed at Jack, because they were not very kindhearted. They laughed so hard that they popped right open, and all the little Peas fell out. You may be sure they didn't laugh any more.

Little Jack wasn't hurt a bit. He opened his eyes real wide and looked up at the clouds as if to see the pie floating among them. It wasn't there, however, but right on the steps where his mother had put it. You see he had just fallen off the steps.

Just then his mother came outside and was so glad to see the pie sitting safely where she had put it, that she gave the whole little pie to Jack. He was so proud that he didn't go off in a corner to eat it, but climbed way up in his father's great big armchair He looked at the pie and laughed and laughed. Then he stuck in his thumb and pulled out a great big plum, and what do you suppose he did with it? Why, he ate it, of course.

M. C. S. '29

SOCIAL

Frances Davis was called home last week because of the serious illness of her grandmother.

Catherine Bentley and Caroline Watts spent the week-end at their homes in Richmond.

Mayo Beaty and Alice Covington were week-end guests of friends at Randolph-Macon in Lynchburg.

Louise Whitlock and Catherine Watts spent several days in Richmond.

Ernestine Myers spent several days after examinations at her home in Roanoke.

Mary Olive Bowen, Sammy and Jane Scott were the week-end guests of friends in Richmond.

Jane Gray Irby spent the week-end at her home in Blackstone.

Sarah Bailey spent the week-end with Lee Bacon at her home in Kenbridge.

Lindsay White spent the week-end at her home in Arrington.

The student body is glad to welcome Miss Tucker back to school. Miss Tucker has been in the hospital here since before exams.

DRESSING IT OFF

"Dear me," said the little dress, "I wish I could be educated. People tell me that modern education prepares people to meet changes. Yesterday I was worn by a tiny, little girl, who played around in her childish way. Today I am being worn by a girl of entirely different proportions. I believe some girls come off to school to see how many dresses they can borrow instead of how much knowledge they can assimiliate. I have been stretched first one way and then another so much that I wonder sometimes whether I am made of cloth or whether I'm made of elastic.

In days gone by, ("When you and I Were Young Maggie") girls said that if they didn't wear their favorite dress to church it would walk there anyway, from force of habit. A modern dress would have to follow two or three girls to two or three churches; and by the way, there wouldn't be much dress left either."

FRESH FROSH SPEAKS

Fresh Frosh Speaks:—
Now that exams are over we can safely say fools ask questions that wise men can't answer.

WORLD NEWS

The revolt in Mexico had been foreseen by a few competent observers. It is in its early stage, but if it is true, as reports indicate, that eight states, the army and part of the navy, are suporting it, and that Vera Cruz is in the hands of the rebels, the movement would seem to be better organized than a sporadic revolt.

The opposition to the new president, Portes Gil, and to his backer, Calles, is based largely on the enmity of the Agrarians, of whom the late General Obregon was the leader.

White it is yet too early to determine the outcome of this revolt, it is probable that a more masterly stoke by the conservative element in Mexico will follow sooner or later.

The hard part in choosing a cabinet was to make gratitude and common sense agree on the same man.—Fountain Inn Tribune.

One of Italy's heroes is toppled from his pedestal by the recent finding of the board of inquiry, appointed by Premier Mussolini to learn the cause of the wreck of the dirigible Italia, and to fix the responsibilty for the loss of the airship. In the report of the board, made public March 3, Gen. Umberto Nobile, commander of the Italia on her voyage from Spitzbergen to the North Pole, is adjudged responsible for the crash of the dirigible and the disastrous ending of the expendition which cost the lives of eight of the Italia's crew and nine voluntary rescuers.

SPRING'S VERY
NEWEST HATS

Presenting a significant collection of hats for the new spring season. Hats a bit more sophisticated, of somewhat unusual—the last word in good taste and the charm of Paris. Brimmed and brimless models in every new straw and soft French felts.

Specially priced for

$2.95 $3.50 $4.95 $5.95

Select your complete Easter needs from

BALDWINS

"Where the girl who knows buys her clothes."

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"The Rexall Store"
CARA NOME TOILETRIES

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

OGDEN STUDIO
PORTRAITS
"SATISFIED CUSTOMERS"
Our Motto

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS —— DRESSES
GLOVES — NEW SPRING SHOES — DRESS GOODS
are here in
Blue, Green Blonde
Price $5 and up
We invite your inspection
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
HATS — SHOES —— HOSIERY —— NOTIONS

THEY'RE HERE!
NEW DRESSES
The new Pastel Shades
GREEN, BLUE, YELLOW
FLESH, LIGHT ORCHID, &
WHITE
Sizes 13 to 42
$15.00 Values, for S. T. C. Girls
$9.95
Lovely Spring Coats
$10.00 $15.00 and $25.00

HUB
DEPT. STORE

Tramp: Can you give a hungry man a scrap of meat, lady?

Housekeeper: I'm sorry but its Lent.

Tramp: When do you expect it back?

Dr. Simkins in History class—

"What was it Sir Walter Raleigh said when he placed his cloak on the muddy road for the beautiful queen to walk over?"

'32—"Step on it, kid."

Trees produce saps—especially the family trees.

Mistress: "Mandy, how do you manage to get your pie so neatly crimped?"

Mandy: "Oh, that's easy, ma'am, Ah jus' uses my false teeth."

Probably the reason for the decline of the popularity of chaperones is the increasing belief in guardian angels

---

The penalty for bigamy is two mother-in-laws.

A little boy from the city was playing in a strip of woods with some country boys when suddenly he came upon a box with several condensed milk cans in it.

"Hey, fellows, come here quick," yelled the city kid, "I've found a cow's nest."

Never kiss a girl and tell the world about it—she will.

"A directo route to V. M. I. and lectures to Herbert" by Jinks Grimes.

"The campus girl" by Emily Gale.

"Why Cope is the Prince of H. S." by Margaret Pumphrey.

"How I Keep My School girl Complexion," by Anne Ferree.

"Dancing Taught in Two Hours," by Mary Todd.

"The Perfect Blonde," by Liz Jordon.

Abie's S. T. C. Rose", by Elizabeth Taylor.

NEWS FROM THE COLLEGE ORCHESTRA

On Founders Day the College Orchestra presented a dinner program which was composed of Victor Herbert selections, Cossack's Revels, March of the Mighty, March Militarie and several other numbers. Following the Founders Day program the orchestra appeared in joint concert with the Choral Club cantata rendering the following numbers: March from Aida, Feast of the Lanterns, Hungarian Dance, and March of the Mighty.

Needless to say the orchestra has been working hard. As an incentive to have a full attendance at each meeting, a prize has been offered for the member who is at practice most number of times.

The College Orchestra is hoping that it will be possible to have many good practices this spring with the hope of making an equal amount of progress.

CLOTHES COUNT AT TECH

The Technique of Georgia Tech gives out the report that one of the professors admits he gives better marks to those dressed in white shirts and good looking ties. This professor recently sent a student to his room to change his sweater for a coat. The student returned dressed in a tuxedo. —The Cadet.

"Bachelor of World Affairs"—that is the all-embracing title of the new degree which the Floating University has created to crown its distinctive type of education. The ordinary B. A. and A. B. degrees are now offered, too, but the Bachelor of World Affairs will be the exclusive product of that unique university whose home is the billowy deep.

When the student qualifies for this degree he will have gained, the Floating University believes, "sufficient background in international relations and public affairs, adequately to prepare him for United States consul or diplomatic service, or for effective work in an international corporation." The degree is offered in a two-year or four-year program. The two-year course, for juniors and seniors, offers a thorough training in the fields of History, Government, International Relations, International Business and Sociology, all these subjects being correlated and given from the point of view of the world as a unit. To get this degree the student may take his first two years at a land university in preparation for two years of intensive work in the World Affairs division of Floating University, or he can take the entire four years as a member of the student body on the yearly cruise. —The New Student.

PROMOTION

Why are our "Jolly Juniors" becoming so very dignified all of a sudden? Sh! if you promise not to mention it, I'll tell you. Each one is wearing a new ring. Now, don't look shocked, they are only class rings; and the stones! I never did see such a variety before. It almost makes one wish he were color blind, unless, perhaps, he is a "lover of the beautiful." No wonder they are proud of them, because a ring is almost as awe inspiring as a cap and gown, and some think much prettier too.

Seniors, you know how it feels to get your degree ring, and underclassmen,—well, you surely have a thrill awaiting you.

INTERCOLLEGIATE

James Barrie's charming story "Peter Pan" was recently presented at Sweet Briar with great success. An enthusiastic audience enjoyed to the fullest the fanciful story of the little boy, Peter Pan.

The first production of the Dramatic Club at Fredericksburg was "Smilin' Through." The play, which has unusual drawing powers, was attractively presented and made a deep appeal to the audience.

These prevailing February rains and the proverbial March winds may not bring forth any May flowers in the arboretum for a long time, but perhaps they will reduce a few more collegiate April fools.—The Tar Heel.

Seventeen University of Missouri students are going abroad this summer as mule tenders. Just another example of what some members of this generation will do to get a kick. —Old Gold and Black, Wake Forest College.

According to the Fordham "Ram", its "No Kissing" campaign during the late, and much lamented flu epidemic saved at least half the school from the disease. Strange kind of students they have up there, or they must have some of the Republican campaign managers keeping training camp up there.—The Davidsonian.

(IP) "The American co-ed has not only 'pep' and life, but attains high scholarship," says Dr. Ludwig Mueller, German educator, who is spending some time at Northwestern University as an exchange professor.

"Your students are strange. The men beat one another in their fraternity houses and then go out and cooperate with one another to the fullest extent."

That Emory University co-eds are too beautiful is the cause advanced by the Emory Wheel, student weekly publication, for the low grades made by freshmen. One eigth of the entire student body is on probation.

The article states that in former years the freshman sailed through his courses with flying colors, but he had no women students to distract his attention. Two years ago there was a mere handful of girls in attendance, and these were graduate students. At present there are 63 beautiful ones and to make things still more interesting and work more difficult, the boys and girls study in the same library. It seems that the girls pull uniformly high grades, with A's in the majority, but the boys fail to gain very much with such diversified attractions present.—The Flat Hat.

Mary C. Brogden, dean of women at Southwest State Teachers College, San Marcos, Texas, has been asked to resign by the students. A mass meeting of the students was held and they decided to ask the dean to resign because of numerous unreasonable laws which she has been enforcing. Dean Brogden, according to the students went so far as to prevent men and co-eds speaking to each other on the campus. A girl could not speak to her own brother outside of dating hours, nor could she walk through town on Sunday. These charges with eighteen others were filed against the dean.

Members of the administration at this school, in an effort to prevent her being dismissed, have suggested that the rigid laws be done away with or altered.—The Flat Hat.

WORN GREEN

So it's a bit o' green I'm needing to wear on Saint Patrick's Day? And will you tell me if I'm not a' wearing it away? My teachers frown at my poor attempts to make my knowledge seen; and the girls punch each other and say, "Oh, ain't she green?" I walk up to the post office, and ask for some blue books, but the keeper of the post office just looks and looks and —looks! With History and Bio-Lab and four classes straight, I'm wishing that Saint Patrick had revised the poor snakes' fate. He might have chased some nuisances that are making my life sad. That is what I'm wishing and—I do wish he had!

STATE STUDENTS PAY IN CASH FOR CLASSES CUT

Continued from page one

fect. It appears that they will have to leave, for, according to President Brooks, the plan wil lgo into effect at the beginning of the third term, March 14, 1929. —The Tar Heel.

Night football will come into national prominence in 1929, when next November the Notre Dame eleven will meet the Drake University elven, at Soldier's field, Chicago.

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and
STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL
Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre
Week of March 25—30

MON.—Tom Mix in "KING COWBOY" with his wonder horse, "Tony." A thrilling masterpiece of outdoor action. The king of all Western stars in a red blooded action special with a thundering new kick. A pounding story of chilling danger and fiery romance. Also news and 2 reel Western picture.

TUES.—Harry Langdon in "Heart Trouble", a special production. The lighter side of love. A zero lover think's he's a hero lover and starts out to win a girl. You'll forget your troubles laughing at Harry's troubles. It's the crowning success of the clowning glory of the screen. Also comedy.

WED.—Adolphe Menjou with Evelyn Brent and a big cast in the Paramount picture, "A NIGHT OF MYSTERY." Adolphe Menjou's new dramatic story of life and love and friendship, a tender, appealing story of sacrifice on a background of terrifying mystery. A new Menjou picture, different, serious, gripping drama. Also comedy.

THURS.—Corinne Griffith, Edmund Lowe, Huntley Gordon, Louise Fazenda and a big cast in the special production, "OUTCAST." How much is love worth? If you were a penniless girl, and your beauty won a rich man, would you take $10,000 for his love? Beautiful Corinne Griffith tells the answer in a series of surprising sequences. One of the greatest pictures of the orchid of the screen. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT.—at mats. only—Wallace Bery, Raymond Hatton, Mary Brian and a big cast in the special Paramount picture, "THE BIG KILLING". This is a big laughing special and if you don't enjoy laughing, you should not see this picture. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. Nights only—Alice White in "SHOW GIRL" a special production. Nothing omitted from the thrill packed, love packed life of the show girl. She burned her way right through Broadway's hottest night club with four love affairs, one kidnapping, two fights, one musical comedy, but she couldn't get under the skin of the only man she ever loved. The hottest picture of the year. Also comedy.

Admission to S. T. C. girls, 25c to each show, if tickets are bought at college.

FARMVILLE WINS DEBATE WITH N. C. STATE

ROTUNDA

EASTER HOLIDAYS MARCH 28— APRIL 2

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA WEDNESDAY, MAR. 27, 1929 NO. 23

S. T. C. VICTORIOUS OVER N. C. STATE COLLEGE IN DEBATE ON TRIAL BY JURY

Graybeal and Pettigrew Represent S. T. C. on Negative Tuesday

DEBATE WAS STRONGLY CONTESTED

Did you hear the debate Tuesday night between North Carolina State College and S. T. C.? If you, by any chance, were so unfortunate as to be too busy to come, you missed the very best debate we have had this season.

This one of the Pi Kappa Delta debates, and the subjust was substitute for jury trial, the subject used for all official debaters of that organization this season.

N. C. State sent her best team to debate against our girls. Mr. Buchanon and Mr. Burroughs ably represented their college. Their arguments were good and manner delightful but Virginia Pettigrew and Evelyn Graybeal were true to our colors. They were not only good but better; not only delightful but more so. Not only did the students consider it a debate of high order but also our out-of-town visitors. One of our visitors called Virginia Pettigrew a real philosopher.

S. T. C. won the decision and richly deserved it though our N. C. State friends are splendid debaters and debated splendidly.

Virginia Methodist Student Conference

The purpose of the State Methodist Student Conference at Charlottesville, Va., March 22 to 24 was to bring together the students from the various colleges, to consider the place of God in their personal experience (in the life of Christ) and to get inspiration to go back to their campuses to share His power in their activities. Mr. John Strond, student pastor of the University and Mrs. Strond, planned the conference.

The conference was co-educational, and Farmville sent her quota of fourteen delegates who were: Margaret Carter, Marjorie Carter, Edith Coleman, Mary E. Cato, Virginia Cox, Verna Coleman, Eleanor Davis, Katherine Downing, Alma Garlic, Ruth Hart, Ruth Hunt, Adele Hutchinson, Easter Souders and Virginia Yarbrough.

The leaders of the conference were Dr. Joseph B. Matthews of Harvard University; Dean Thos. W. Graham, of the Graduate School of Theology, of Oberlin; Dr. J. Marvin Culbreth of the Board of Education; Mrs. Hume R. Steele; Mr. Floyd Shacklock, candidate secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement; and Rev. Horace E. Cramer.

Continued on last page

DR. WALMSLEY IS CHOSEN GOVERNOR FORENSIC PROVINCE

At the business meeting of the Pi Kappa Delta convention held at N. C. State College Saturday Dr. Walmsley was unanimously elected governor of the South Atlantic province for the ensuing two years, succeeding Professor C. C. Cunningham, of North Carolina State College. Virginia Pettigrew was elected secretary-treasurer.

The next biennial convention will be held here at Farmville in 1931 as guests of our Virginia Alpha Chapter. The province group went on record as unanimously endorsing the petition by the State Teachers College of Harrisonburg.

DRAMATIC CLUB SPRING PLAY

The Dramatic Club play this spring, "The Return of Petre Grimm," is a melodrama of a very unusual character.

Peter Grimm, the main character, is a Dutchman of an oldfashioned and stubborn nature. His return as a spirit after his death gives an uncanny and supernatural aspect to the play. However, Mr. Belasco has made his ghostly appearance most natural and in doing this he has accomplished something worthy of the highest praise.

The idea for the play was no doubt suggested to Mr. Belasco by Professor Hyslux and Professor William James of Harvard. These men awakened almost world1wide in terest in phsysics and their opinions are quoted in the play by one of the characters who is a staunch believer in the return of the personality after death.

33 NAMES ON DEAN'S LIST FOR SPRING QUARTER

The dean's list for the spring quarter was posted by the registrar Monday. The following girls met the requirements:

Catherine Bentley, Elizabeth Bowers, Emily Carter, Margaret Carter, Marjorie Carter, Rebecca Cocks, Marjorie Codd, Anna Cahoon, Mary Oliver Ellington, Marguerite Erdman, Pearl Etheridge, Anne Ferree, Margaret Finch, Lois Fraser, Thelma Garrett, Fannie Grainger, Hannah Hamlett, Carolea Harris, Martha Henderlite, Leyburn Hyatt, Anna V. Jones, Virginia Marshall, Virginia Raine, Lillian Rhodes, Sammy Scott, Mary Selden, Anna Ruth Snellings, Mabel Spratley, Evelyn Thompson, Marguerite Trimm, Louise Vaughan, Margaret Walton, Ida Whyte.

VOLLEY BALL CHAMPIONSHIP TO GREEN AND WHITE

Freshmen and Seniors Win in First Class Games Monday

SENIOR TEAM REMAINS UNDEFEATED

When the final whistle blew at the championship game Tuesday night it closed the season with senoirs victorious over the freshmen.

Monday the freshmen played the sophomores winning two games straight. Then the seniors met the juniors and this time the Green and White triumphed over Red and White, winning two out of three games.

At the championship game between the freshmen and seniors exictement and interest ran high and the two teams fought a fast game, encouraged by cheers from the balcony filled with supporters for both sidec. Both teams played well and fought hard and bravely but the seniors were able to keep the higher score.

Too much praise cannot be given to the freshmen for the excellent team work which was in evidence throughout the game. The team played remarkably well but was unable to overcome the seniors.

For the seniors, the championship meant a double victory. They are not only the winners this year, but during the entire four years the seniors have never lost a volley ball game. They go out this year leaving a record which cannot be broken.

S. T. C. DEBATERS

Virginia Pettigrew, Mary Mann Baskervill, Anne Hopkins, Dr. J. E. Walmsley, Evelyn Graybeal, Frances Wilson and Catherine Bentley.

S. T. C. WINS AWARD IN FORENSIC MEET

Representatives Attend Pi Kappa Delta Conference at N. C. State

On Thursday, March 21, the biennial convention of the South Atlantic province of Pi Kappa Delta began at North Carolina State College in Raleigh. Every chapter in the province except the chapter at Auburn College in Alabama was represented. The chapters sending delegates were: S. C. Alpha, Wofford College; S. C. Beta, Presbyterian College,; S. C. Gamma, Newberry College; West Virginia Alpha, West Virginia Wesleyan University; N. C. Alpha, North Carolina State College; N. C. Beta, Wake Forest College; Virginia Alpha, Farmville State Teachers College. The delegates from S. T. C. were Dr. J. E. Walmsley, Anne Pleasants Hopkins, Mary Mann Baskervill, Evelyn Elaine Graybeal, Virginia Wade Pettigrew, Frances Anne Wilson, Catherine Dodge Bentley. Elizabeth Kaninsky of Harrisonburg State Teachers College was invited to represent her college.

On Thursday night the debate team of Wake Forest College met and defeated the team of West Virginia Wesleyan University. This victory placed them in line for the final debate on Saturday night. At 12:30 Friday morning a business meeting was held. At this meeting the contestants in the ex tempore speaking drew the topics for their talks. The general subject was Press and Public Opinion. The contest was held at 3 o'clock the same afternoon. Phares E. Reeder of West Virginia Wesleyan placed first with his talk on "War."

(Continued on last Page.)

W. VA. WESLEYAN WINS DEBATE HERE

2 to 1 Decision Rendered by the Judges in Debate on Trial by Jury

On Wednesday night, March 20, the college auditorium was the scene of an interesting debate between this school represented by Miss Mary Mann Baskervill and Miss Frances Wilson and Wesleyan University of West Virginia represented by Mr. Hayward Hamrick and Mr. Phares Reeder.

The affirmative and negative sides of the question were upheld by the home and visting teams respectively. The question was: Resolved, That there should be a substitute for the present system of trial by jury.

Miss Baskervill, the first speaker on the affirmative, stressed the fact that in this progressive age of specialism and economy we seem rather backward when we allow our most inefficient citizens, who necessarily, on account of our exemption laws, become liable to jury duty to waste time and money in needless appeals and cases carried over.

Mr. Hamrick, first speaker for the negative, presented trial by jury as one of the basic principles of democracy and a most logical means of rendering justice. He pointed out in his argument that truly democratic government must rest with the common people.

Miss Wilson, on the affirmative, questioned the common laborer's ability to understand the technical details involved in most cases. She suggested a form of trial by three judges, all specialists.

Continued on last page

Doctor Stuerne Visits S. T. C.

Monday afternoon Pi Gamma Mu entertained at tea for Dr. Stuerne, who gave a delightful informal lecture on "International Relations in Western and Central Europe." She has lived in four or five European states and her knowledge of these people's customs and habits, as well as her knowledge of their political conditions made her lecture very interesting.

Dr. Stuerne is a Czechoslovakian reared and educated in Bohemia. She received her B. A. degree at Charles University, Prague, and her M. A. at Columbia University, New York City. She then returned to her own country and her doctor's degree in 1926. She has traveled extensively in western and central Europe and is familiar with the United States through her residence here as official representative of the Czechoslovakian government. She speaks English well with a unique accent and has a charming personality.

Dr. Stuerne was sent here by the International Relations Club of which this chapter of Pi Gamma Mu is a member. We are very fortunate to have Dr. Stuerne visit our campus, and her message from the "Heart of Europe" was greatly enjoyed.

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

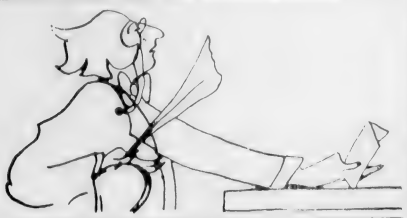
Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... FLORENCE REED, '31
Art ..... CHARLINE WILLIAMS, '29
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE. '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31

Proof Reader



MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Easter

Vacation begins tomorrow! Happy thought that sets us awhirl. It means home and home-friends and happy times and rest from work. No wonder we are glad, not because we aren't happy working at school, but—why explain?

The greatest home coming times in the year are Easter and Christmas, our Christian holy seasons. In this nation of ours where less than half the people are members of the Christian churches, all are affected by our sacred celebrations, consciously or not. There is a horde who have so desecrated the names that they have called Thanksgiving synonymous with football, Christmas with exchange of gifts, Easter with the flourish of new clothes. We flaunt these notions before their faces as pagan sacrilege, in righteous indignation that the most beautiful possessions we have should be even tainted by a shallow mob.

We are glad that we can observe Easter in our own familiar churches, where somehow it seems easier to sense the reverent atmosphere. We will be glad to hear the music rise, rejoicing on the day of days in memory of the event which is the foundation of the greatest force on earth—the Christian faith. We will worship and praise and be glad. New hope wil lbe born again this Eastertide, for we shall hear again of the miracle of new life through love.

A Hero Is Dead

Marshall Foch is dead. Tuesday he was buried, honored by all nations. He served his nation, he served the world, he served mankind. The generalissimo of the Allies of the World War, he directed the armies to victory, a triumph of guns and ideals.

Such men, leaders in war, lead farther in peace. Ruled by a passion for truth, right, loyalty, he inspired his men to carry on, following the fight. The fight won, there was an equal task in peace. The morale of the soldiers returning to a world upside down determined the progress of peace. So Foch, the general, the lighter of fires in men's hearts, played his part in peace.

Led by heroes the world advances. Those who have eyes to see beyond the horizon, who have hearts to reach the depth of human feeling, who have minds to plan and courage to execute ventures untried, know the best of the race, and by us are acknowledged. We pause to honor a great man whose life has come to an end, whose spirit lives while men have hope.

The Progress of Debate

Debate Club news seems to have accumulated with great rapidity. The write-ups, however, can be little more than indicative of the superior work of the debaters.

There is hardly any field of extra-curricula activities which requires as much preparation as debating. For a brief fifteen or twenty minutes speaking debaters will work in preparation twice that many hours. Absolute scientific knowledge of the subject is necessary for a presentable debate.

The number of forensic contests has been greatly increased in our college in the last few years. There has been, too, an accompanying increase in effectiveness of debate.

Pi Kappa Delta, the forensic fraternity established here last year, insures high standards and varied contacts with the best debaters of numbers of colleges.

We welcome the advance of this extremely worthwhile movement, and congratulate all those people who are responsible for its growth. Our kind words, however, are not nearly so effective as our presence at the debate. Taking a selfish point of view, we deprive ourselves of occoccasion of exceptional quality. Another motive of a higher type, possibly, might prompt a greater part of our students to attend debates.

As We Grow Older

"The things which I have seen I now can see no more."

The poet recalling his childhood senses the glamor, the rosy glow of vision that passes with maturity, and makes of his realization a monumental poem.

The student, in a sudden awakening finds that which once was his is gone—a quality not of the practical world, a faint dampness of the "fairy dew" of childhood. The intense practicability of the business of living will steal away before we miss it, the naive beauty of point of view that is ours before dollars or hours.

Maturity brings riches of experience and knowledge, newly disclosed vistas, untrodden ways. They are our heritage—life offers more with the passing of the years. Yet there are simple joys that pass beyond our grasp if we are not careful. There may be a day when we can not think lovely, careless thoughts, or love the gay, fantastic tales. Sad is the day. But if we recall our sensation of gladness with them, perhaps they will come back.

We would not cling unduly to the things which mark the years we have passed. But childhood is a glorious time, and the child must not die in the heart of the one who will find continued happiness.

New Students Enroll in Honor Course

The new girls who entered college this quarter were members of a student government training course conducted by the president of that organization. The motive is to give every new girl a conception of student honor and a knowledge of its practical application.

Student honor courses are impressive, they creat a desire to live honorably by a student's code of honor. They are given only once, on the theory that a sense of honor once stimulated is ever after active—a splendid theory.

It is only with an effort that we keep from cynicism on the point of student honor. We can, however, receive new inspiration by taking thought of the course that we experienced when we entered college, and be glad that the spirit of honor is ever vigilant, and always seeks to include every student in its sphere of influence.

WE RECEIVE A LETTER

Dear Editor:

Spring has—oh! but, I must pause to tell you that I have noted no less than thirteen pairs of blonde shoes, twenty-seven spring coats, countless girls in brightly colored sleeveless dresses, and one member of the home department in a new red hat. Also, I must not omit, I saw a young man carrying a suspicious looking box tucked safely under his arm going up the hill toward S. T. C. which perhaps, proves that, "In——"; but I almost betrayed what I was going to say when my subconscious mind brought in those other thoughts, namely, that—Spring Is Here!

—A Spring Fan.

P. S.—I read this over, and, do you know, I believe my subconscious mind was right in its associations; in fact, I believed everybody already knew.

BOOK OF CHILDREN'S POEMS TO BE ISSUED

After devoting a considerable amount of time and effort to the collection of children's poems, the Farmville Chapter of the National Council of Primary Education has combined the most interesting and helpful poems in a book entitled "Bricks for the Child's Chimney of Verse."

The arrangement of the book is such as to insure immediate help for the teacher who wishes to find an appropriate poem in a short period of time. The poems are arranged under such headings as "The Seasons," "Fairies," "Prayers," "Animals" and "Anything and Everything."

The poems included in the book are those that are less familiar than the generally accepted "teachers' list." Since these poems are easily procurable, they were omitted from the collection. Several of the authors represented in the book are Robert Louis Stevenson, A. A. Milne, Walter De La Mare, Mrs. Addis and Christina Rossetti.

The book will be placed on sale after the holidays. Only a limited number of copies will be sold.

VIRGINIA SOCIAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION TO MEET

"The Industrialization of Virginia" is to be the main subject of discussion at the third annual meeting of the Virginia Social Science Association which is to be held in Lynchburg on April 19 and 20.

On Friday, April 19, the Social Science Association meeting will open at Randolph Macon Womans College at 10 A. M. Registration will take place from 10 to 10:30 A. M., followed by sectional meetings from 10:30 to 12:30 A. M. In the afternoon a general meeting will be held at 2.30 P. M. at which meeting leading business men and educators of the State will talk on different phases of the industrialism problem. At dinner the association will be the guest of Randolph Macon Woman's College and at the evening session an address is to be delivered by a nationally known lecturer whose name has not yet been announced.

NEW STUDENTS ATTEND TRAINING COURSE

Pannie Willis, our Student Government president, conducted a training course for the new girls who entered our college at the beginning of this quarter. She explained the rules and regulations of the school that are found in the handbook. On Saturday afternoon an examination was given to these girls.

POETRY

(Selected from Contemporary American Poets published by The Stratford Company, 1928)

SPRING KISSES

A raindrop spattered on my upturned face
It made me greedy, and I asked for more
So God leaned down, and kissed me once again.

—Sallie Gaffney.

PANSY FACES

Little Pansy Faces
Your loveliness erases
The last dread sign
Of winter. For you shine

Upon our wintry heart
And remind us of our part
In this great seasonal game
Of life,—to shine the same

As you, with an inner light
Making the world more bright
And dispelling the winter's cold,
As the Pansies of spring unfold.

—Anne Pauline Clark

"BUDDING LIFE"

Springtime—and a baby red;
Blossoms, pink toes, curly head;
These are things that bring us joy
Purest gold—without alloy.

Daffodils and jonquils grand
Bloom to beautify the land;
Greater beauty we may see
In a child at mother's knee.

Violets in a shady nook
Peep at us along the brook.
Dancing eyes, oh what a pair!
Violets can't with them compare.

Tulips red and pink and white,
Thrill us with a great delight;
Little mouth we love to kiss
Fills us with a greater bliss.

Pussywillows, oh, so sleek,
How we love them on our cheek;
But a baby's soft caress
Smooths away life's cares and stress.

God made both—and both are sweet
Little buds and pattering feet;
Pure and wondrous—undefiled
Springtime flowers—a little child.

—John D. Costlow

THESE THREE

To feel, though years in mystic silence pass,
That all is right;
To know that each long speechless month but leads
Toward the light—
That, dear, is Faith.

To think with each new morn, perhaps some word
Wil come today,
Yet bearing disappointment with a smile
At each delay—
That, dear, is Hope.

To trust through evil days, forgiving all
That may have passed
To hope, to trust, to know that life and strength
Will come at last—
That, dear heart, is Love.

Jennie M. Tabb

SPRING

Spring is near and birds are here,
Singing with the best of cheer,
They are happy as can be,
Singing in the apple tree.
—Martha McCorkle, Fourth Grade Training School

SPRING

Oh! how I like for spring to come,
For over fields, then I may roam.
I can go down to the pretty little brook.
And sit for hours with my line and hook.

Spring is near an dbirds are here.
The birds are singing with great cheer
The violets, jonquils, and butter-cups
Are saying, wake-up, wake-up, wake-up.
—T. W. Brooks, Jr., Fourth Grade Training School

SENIOR THOUGHTS ON LAST TERM IN COLLEGE

Scarcely a day has passed this term than an ambitious senior has not been seen rushing to the post office to mail applications. How hopefully and yet fearfully she turns from the mailbox with a sigh of relief and perhaps regret! All of us are happy that we are nearing the goal which we have striven to attain for four years, but with this happiness is mingled a feeling of sadness at departing from our classmates, friends and Alma Mater.

We realize that graduation means not only parting but also new responsibilities. However, most of us are eager to assume these responsibilities which almost unconsciously we have encircled with dreams of happiness and success.

As we enter upon this last term of our school life ,we feel more deeply the spirit which Dr. Jarman and the faculty have imparted to us, that of doing one's best in little as well as big things and of serving freely and willingly.

RESURRECTION

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen,
The saddest are these—it might have been."

These words run through our minds, as we emerge from the depths of trunk and despair to survey a, once —"nice dress." We try it on. At last we realize that not only times, but people change. Maybe the once prized possession fits and maybe—oh horrors! it splits. What might have been a cool spring dress becomes the foundation for a rag rug.

Yes, Spring has indeed come, and the girls are sorting over the relics in their trunks to find something cool—in the way of dresses—for the coming months.

NEW MEMBERS OF PI GAMMA MU

The Virginia Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu announces the election of the following members:

Henrietta Binford
Gertrude Richardson
Marguerite Erdman.

V. M. I. HAS NEW LEADER

Major General John Archer Lejeune, former commandant of the United States Marines Corp, has accepted the invitation of the Board of Visitors of the Virginia Military Institute to become superintendent of that institution.

SOCIAL

Josephine Lyne is spending several days at her home in Orange.

Ernestin Myers, Mayo Beaty and Alice Covington attended the dance at A. M. A. last week-end.

Florence McIntyre spent several days last week in Dunham, the guest of her parents.

Elizabeth Thomas was called to her home at South Hill because of the death of her grandmother.

Marguerite Foster spent the week-end at her home in Lynchburg.

Gene Gibson, Anne Wren and Elizabeth Hurt attended the dances at Fork Union Military Academy Saturday night.

Mary Buford Epes was the week-end guest of hr parents in Chase City.

Frances Davis and Frances Hanmer spent the week-end in Richmind.

Elizabeth Falconer was called home because of the ilness of her mother.

Sarah Willson spent the week-end at her home in Roanoke.

GREEN SENIORS

We peeped around our next door neighbors and then settled back with litttle sighs and flutters of excitement. Yes, every seat was being filled. The Seniors were coming in from all directions. How proud we were. All we needed now was a word of praise from Dr. Jarman.

He stood up—we held our breaths—Then guess what?—Why he took most of us for new girls and told us that he couldn't tell the new girls from the Seniors—We closed our mouths again. I guess we did look rather foolish, but it wasn't because we are green, far be it from that, we were just so anxious for that compliment; and then too we were a little bit frightened to think of a whole row of seats being occupied, all at once, by nothing but Seniors.

FRESHMAN COMMISSION ENTERTAINS K. K. K.

Friday morning the Freshman Commission entertained the K. K. K.'s at an early breakfast in the meadow. The girls left school at six o'clock and cooked breakfast, returning to school in time for 8 o'clock classes.

K. K. K. is an organization which has been recently started by the high school girls who live in the college, under the supervision of Miss Mix, Adele Hutchinson and Alma Hunt.

The club was organized for the purpose of promoting the social activities of this group of girls.

At the first meeting the following officers were elected: president, Martha Jones; secretary-treasurer, Mary Shelton.

FRESH FROSH SPEAKS

And then there's the version, "In the spring a young girl's fancy seriously turns to thoughts of flowers.

AMONG OUR CAPS AND GOWNS

FRANCES WILLIS

Just as unusual as her name is the girl—"Pannie." Few girls have won for themselves the love and the friends that she has. Few girls have held two of the major offices in the school as proof of the feeling of the students toward her of their faith in her. Few girls can be interested in everything, about everybody, and be sincere in that interest. Few girls can be elected the most popular girl in the school, the "Queen of Hearts", for two years without a forceful and lasting personality. And—well, there are endless things that could be said, yet nothing that could quite express the feeling.

"Pannie" is one of the few who can dream, and yet recognize the possible and the practical. She has understanding, ideals, and ability. Her presence in the school is sensed; she is truly a leader who leads. Her work in the school has been of an exceptionally high type. The very hardest things her successors have to do is to live up to the standards she has set!

"RED" FOSTER

"Red" is one of those kind of people everyone likes—full of pep, enthusiasm and wit! One is first attracted to her by her hair—one learns to know her by her unfailing wit and one learns to love her for her sincerity.

She has served her Alma Mater in many, many ways—but one usually associates her with the present graduating class. President of the junior class, and then president again of the senior class, Rd has executive ability and she uses it with a tact that becomes an executive.

She will leave behind her many monuments to her interest and to her desire to improve the spirit of the school she loves so well.

To "Red" we are indebted for the organization and safe launching of the Class Council. She has served in nearly every organization in school, the Y. W. C. A. ,the Rotunda staff, and the Student Council.

June will come and "Red" will leave and yet her influence will remain in the friends she has made. First in the hearts of the seniors, "Red" has completed her four years, a living example of seniorhood.

DRAMATIC CLUB MEETS

The members of the Dramatic Club met for the first time in their new room last Thursday night. All enthusiastically admired the furniture and made suggestions for pictures, pillows and the other little things which add so much to the attractiveness of a room.

At the meeting Miss Wheeler talked on the principle of accuracy in stage setting. She stated that an important factor in amateur productions, which is often overlooked, is definite and accurate planning of details. The members of the club were very much interested in th subject and asked Miss Wheeler to continue her talk at the next meeting.

FOR EASTER HIKERS

A monogram hike will be held on Friday afternoon for the girls who remain here for the holidays. This hike will count towards the monogram points.

WORLD NEWS

March 25 is a memorable day in Italy this year for it is the tenth anniversary of the founding of the famous Fascist party.

Fascism in Italy is the prodigy child of the old, pre-war Socialism. In Russia Socialism produced the Soviet, in Italy it produced the Fascist party organized by Benito Mussolini and still controlled and led by him.

"It is I, Erda, Soul of the Universe." These words were sung a few days ago by Madame Schumann-Heink in the prolog to "Dei Rerg des Nebelurgen" at the Metropolitan, and the question is, when will like be heard again? Madame Schumann-Heink thus takes her farewell of opera.

The world is bowed to respect and to honor Marshall Foch, the greatest soldier of his age. Recognizing him as one of its own greatest war leaders, the United States will pay its highest tribute to Marshall Foch. A national salute of 21 guns will be fired at sunup on the day of the great leader's funeral by American military forces throughout the world. At all military posts, the flag will stand at half-mast throughout the day, and one gun will be fired every half hour until sunset..

Not since the death of Lafayette in 1834 has the United States paid such a tribute to a foreign soldier.

According to the announcement by Morrow, in the great game of hearts, an ace is soon to take a queen.—Council Bluffs Nonpareil.

If the daughters of the Revolution in Mexico were organized, they should be able to run things with ease.—Norfolk Ledger Dispatch.

SPRING'S VERY NEWEST HATS

Presenting a significant collection of hats for the new spring season-Hats a bit more sophisticated, of somewhat unusual—the last word in good taste and the charm of Paris. Brimmed and brimless models in every new straw and soft French felts.

Specially priced for

$2.95 $3.50 $4.95 $5.95

Select your complete Easter needs from

BALDWINS

"Where the girl who knows buys her clothes."

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
823 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"The Rexall Store"
CARA NOME TOILETRIES

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS —— DRESSES
GLOVES — DRESS GOODS
HATS — NOTIONS
SHOES —— HOSIERY
NEW SPRING SHOES
are here in
Blue, Green Blonde
Price $5 and up
We invite your inspection
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

THEY'RE HERE!
NEW DRESSES
The new Pastel Shades
GREEN, BLUE, YELLOW
FLESH, LIGHT ORCHID, & WHITE
Sizes 13 to 42
$15.00 Values, for S. T. C. Girls
$9.95
Lovely Spring Coats
$10.00 $15.00 and $25.00

HUB
DEPT. STORE

I'd surely like
To smash the clown
Who insists on shouting,
"I faw down—go boom!"

ANOTHER FAIRY STORY

The college girl who is too lazy to write home for money.

A well-dressed college man's' shirts got too small for him, so he began to wear them unbuttoned at the neck, and thousands of prep school boys thought it style!

—California Pelican

Sweehearts are like shoes. You're proudest of the ones that make the best impression on your friends. But it's the ones that don't cause you any suffering that you get most attached to.

"Hey, there feller! What you all runnin' for?"

"I's gwine to stop a fight."

"Who all's fightin'?"

"Jes' me an' another feller."

A Jewish father, wishing to teach his little son a lesson, placed him on the book case and told him to jump in his daddy's arms. The following conversation took place:

"Now, Abie, jump in papa's arms."

But papa, it's so far; I'm afraid."

"Abie! Do you want papa to lick you? Jump in papa's arms; come on, jump to papa."

Abie still hesitates but finally he jumps. His father quickly steps aside and lets little Abie crash to the floor.

The the father says to his son: "Now, Abie, that'll teach you never to trust nobody."

FIVE MOST IMPORTANT MEN OF ITALY

Benito Mussolini.

Benito Mussolini.

Benito Mussolini.

Benito Mussolini.

Benito Mussolini.

An instrument has been perfected that will throw the voice of a speaker a mile. Now for one that will throw the speaker that far.

PERFECTLY SIMPLE

How was he to extricate himself gracefully from the affair? he wondered all the night long.

The next evening, however, he met her prepared with a yarn of the most ingenious invention.

"I think you should know," she began before he had an opportunity of launching the subject, "I'm going to be married tomorrow."

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY ANNUAL PAN-HELLENIC DANCE AT S. T. C.

The Recreation Hall of S. T. C. Friday evening was a rare vision of pink glow diffused over gay and mellow shades of evening gowns of the beauties of Old Virginia, and of the formal black and white of fraternity men of Hampden-Sydney, as the annual Pan Hellenic dance ran its way. The music, the decorations, the ladies present, all combined to make the dance a highly successful one.—The Tiger.

STUDENT TEACHERS GIVE PLAY AT CUMBERLAND

On Friday evening, March 22, the former student teachers of Cumberland High School gave a program there.

The program consisted of a duet by Nancy Nelms and Etta Marshall, a reading by Nettie Boynton, "The Cunning Skit," "That Old Sweetheart of Mine," and "The Trysting Place."

The proceeds of the play will be used in paying for the new electric plant which has just been installed at the school.

PI KAPPA DELTA CONVENTION AT N. C.

Continued from page one

Farmville came in second and Catherine Bentley is wearing the official Pi Kappa Delta medal for second place in the ex tempore speaking contest. Her special topic was "Press—Public Opinion and Politics." Her speech was rated first by the dean of the graduate department of N. C. State College who was one of the three judges. F. Carlisle Roberts, Wofford College representative, placed third speaking on "Capitalism and Labor."

The delegates of the convention were the guests of Wake Forest College at dinner on Friday night. After dinner the oratorical contest was held in the Wake Forest auditorium. Elizabeth Kaminsky of Harrisonburg State Teachers College won first place with her oration "The Key to Our Education." Walter W. Cahoon, of Wake Forest placed second. He spoke on "A True Eldorado." Lee R. Mercer, the representative of N. C. State College, was third. his subject was "The Champion of Our Liberty."

On Saturday morning at 11 o'clock the active members of Pi Kappa Delta were invited to take part in the initiation of the new members of the N. C. Alpha and N. C. Beta chapters. After the initiation a business meeting was held for the election of officers. In the afternoon a matinee party was given by the N. C. Alpha Chapter.

Wake Forest and Wofford College met for the South Atlantic province championship debate at State College at 8 o'clock Saturday. The decision was given in favor of the negative, upheld by Jae L. Carleton and Wade H. Bostick of Wake Forest. Dwight F. Patterson and F. Carlisle Roberts of Wofford argue the affirmative. After the debate the delegates were the guests of honor at a dance given by the Chi Alpha Sigma fraternity. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cunningham and Dr. J. E. Walmsley chaperoned the dance.

According to Pi Kappa Delta point system of rating Wake Forest College scored 185 out of a possible 300 points; West Virginia Wesleyan College ranked second with 150 points; Wofford College came third with 135 points. S. T. C. through the victory in ex tempore speaking made 85 points. It is obvious to all concerned that the convention was a great success.

WORSHAM GIRLS LOSE BASKET BALL GAME TO GREEN BAY GIRLS

On Thursday evening, March 21, the Worsham girls played the Green Bay team on the home court. Both sides played well though the final score was 17 to 5 in favor of the visiting team.

On the same evening the Worsham boys played a hastily gathered group of Hampden-Sydney students who adopted the name of "Outlaws" and defeated them 43 to 32.

FRESHMAN COMMISSION HAS BREAKFAST PICNIC

"I never thought I would see Farmville at dawn." "I just know that's a mocking bird." "Doesn't spring make your blood tingle?" These were the main topics of the conversation of the Freshman Commission as they hiked to "The Meadow" for breakfast Friday morning. Besides enjoying the little city at dawn and discovering first signs of spring a real campfire breakfast was treated with unusual justice. The menu, which would put many breakfasts we have known to shame, consisted of bacon, hot dogs, rolls, coffee and pickles.

Miss Bedford and the college high school girls were guests of the Commission at the breakfast party.

VIRGINIA METHODIST STUDENT CONFERENCE

Continued from page one

Dr. Matthews gave two addresses, "God in My Life as Expressed Through Personal Experience" in which he gave some wonderful experiences during his stay in the Orient where he has done literary and educational work for six years; and "God in My Life as Revealed in My Neighbor." In the latter address, Dr. Matthews said that our religious problem will not find its solution until we have more and better thinking.

Dean Graham also made two addresses: "How I Share God," and "God in My Life as Revealed in Christ."

He said, "The problem of finding God in Jesus is a practical one. It must be tested by experiment. There is in the heart of the universe a spirit like Jesus. Until this can be said, Jesus will be the only true man; only good man."

There were discussion groups on "Methods of Work with Students," led by Dr. Dr. J. Marvin Culbreth; "The Uniqueness of Christ," led by Dean Graham; "The Modern Approach to Missions," led by Mr. Shacklock; "Prayer and Worship" led by Dr. Matthews; "The Student's Relation to the Church," led by Rev. Cramer; "The Family," led by Mrs. Hume R. Steele. All of these discussions were most interesting and valuable.

A pageant entitled "The Search for Truth" was presented by the Wesley Club Saturday night.

Saturday afternoon was spent in a most enjoyable tour of Charlottesville. The students were taken in cars to the home of Thomas Jefferson, "Monticello," and from there were taken to the University of Virginia..

An account of this conference would not be complete without mentioning the kindness of Mr. Chappell, Mr. Putney and Mr. Lewis Hubbard in supplying the transportation for our delegates by giving their time and cars for the purpose.

ATHLETIC NEWS

Baseball

With the coming of spring the thoughts of young America always turn to baseball. S. T. C. is not to be found lacking in this respect because as soon as the Easter holidays are over baseball practices will be held. Juniors, seniors, freshman and sophomores are asked to come out and support their classes, for the championship team gives another ten points to the athletic cup.

The schedule for practices will be posted on the bulletin board each day. Everyone—from the most dignified senior to the freshest freshman will have a chance to come out on the diamond and prove herself a Babe Ruth.

Monogram News

Regular work will be started on the monograms immediately after Easter. The time has come for all girls who are trying out to be down on the gym floor and working hard. Hikes will be held every clear Saturday and the practice schedule will be posted on the athletic bulletin board.

W. VA. WESLEYAN WINS DEBATE WITH S. T. C.

(Continued from page one)

Mr. Reeder, the last speaker, stated that besides being democratic and logical, trial by jury meant trial by 12 fellow citizens whose 12 opinions brought to a head in the final verdict must be fair as well as practical. He suggested changing the laws of exemption, also.

The speakers were all convincing in their arguments but the judges' decisions were finally two to one in favor of the negative.

The University of Virginia Extension library has written asking for a copy of both of the speeches of the S. T. C. debaters. They also requested a copy of the bibliography used by our team.

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

At the Eaco Theatre

Week of April 1 to 6

MON.—Florence Vidor and Gary Cooper in "DOOMSDAY", a Paramount picture. She hated drudgery and wanted riches with love. She could have one, but without the other. See how this pretty girl decides, and ultimately gets both. Also News reel and comedy.

TUES.—Richard Barthelmess in "THE WHEEL OF CHANCE". Two brothers, caught in the wheel of chance—both in love with an unfaithful woman! One wanted to kill her—the other did. Then fate put them both in the same court room, brother vs. brother! and only one could win! What drama! What suspense! Here is one of the really great screen moments. Also comdy.

WED.—Ken Maynard with his wonder horse Tarzan in "THE UPLAND RIDER," greatest picture Ken ever made. More riding thrills, more fighting,, more comedy and a great endurance horse race over the open range that will give you your biggest movie thrill! Also 2 reel Western picture.

THURS.—Clive Brook and Irene Rich in "THE PERFECT CRIME." Rocking a nation with new sensations! Most amazing mystery picture o fthe year! Creepier than "The Bat", spookier than "The Gorilla" more thrilling than "The Cat and the Canary!" A great picture. Don't miss it. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. at mats. only—Iya de Putti, Don Alvarado and Warner Oland in "THE SCARLET LADY", a big special. She is alluring, beautiful, haughty, unusual! She is "The Scarlet Lady". A daring story of surging passions pictured with true pathos and rare understanding. A big picture. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. at nights only—Billie Dove with Antonio Moreno in "ADORATION," a big special production. See beautiful Billie Dove as a mannequin, wearing gorgeous clothes that are one year ahead of the style. Its just one of the many surprise thrills in this sensational drama. Billie Dove's great picture. Also news reel, comedy and oddity reel. Please come Friday night.

Admission to S. T. C. girls getting tickets at college, Friday and Sat. nights, 35c, all other shows 25 cents.

15 RAHS FOR OUR NEW OFFICERS!

ROTUNDA

SEE "RETURN OF PETER GRIMM" TOMORROW NIGHT

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1929 No. 24

CAST GIVES PROMISE OF SPLENDID PERFORMANCE OF PLAY TO BE GIVEN TOMORROW NIGHT

"The Return of Peter Grimm" To Be Given at S. T. C.

MARSHALL HAS LEAD

Fame of Many of Cast Gained in Previous Performances

"The Return of Peter Grimm," by David Belasco, will be given in the auditorium Friday night, April 12, at 8 p. m. This play with its unusual theme and splendid presentation promises to be one of the biggest and best attractions of the year.

The cast is supported by girls who have proved their dramatic ability in the past, and who play their parts with a skill near to perfection. Etta Marshall, who plays the lead, has shown her versatility many times in taking character parts in plays. Her big hit was made in her freshman year when she was "Miss Phoebe," a quaint old maid, in "Quality Street." Her ability to play the part of a crochety old gentleman was displayed last year in "Trelawney of the Wells," when she took the role of Sir William Gower. Again we saw her in an entirely different type as the whimsical painter, Mr. Bodie, in "A Kiss for Cinderella." As Melisanda, the heroine of "The Romantic Age," given last commencement, she showed us that she could successfully play the part of a dreamy, romantic girl. Although Etta has won fame in a variety of roles, she will no doubt reach the pinnacle of success at S. T. C. in the character of Peter Grimm, a part which is admirably suited to her ability.

Mary Ellen Cato is the heroine of the play. She won for herself a reputation in dramatic art when as Rose Trelawney she contributed so much to the success of "Trelawney of the Wells." Have you heard that Virginia Cox is the hero? Certainly

Continued on page three

S. T. C. REGISTRARS ON STATE COMMITTEE

Last Wednesday Miss Tabb and Miss Henderlite were in Richmond for the meeting of a committee appointed last fall at the annual Teacher Training Conference, of which Miss Tabb is a member.

The institutions represented on this committee are University of Virginia, William and Mary College, V. P. I., Richmond Normal School, the four Teachers Colleges; Supt. Harris Hart, Dr. Myers and Mr. Eason of the Department of Public Instruction also were present.

ETTA MARSHALL

President-elect of Student Body and Hero of Play Tomorrow

MISS JENNIE HEADS REGISTRARS AT MEETING

Miss Jennie Masters Tabb left Wednesday for Seattle, Wash., where she will attend the annual meeting of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars, April 16 to 18.

Miss Jennie, as chairman of the Normal School and Teachers College section of the Association, will preside over the meetings of this group. At the meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, last year, she was made chairman. S. T. C. is proud to know that Miss Jennie, who has for a long time been konnw to us as a person of rare ability, has been recognized by a national organization.

She will return in about two weeks.

SIX GIRLS ELECTED TO KAPPA DELTA PI

Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi announces the following new members:

Carolea Harris.
Gertrude Richardson.
Mabel Spratley.
Margaret Walton.
Frances Wilson.
Emma Woods.

CLASSES PRESENT ONE HUNDRED-DOLLAR GIFT

Dr. Jarman gave the student body a lovely Easter present in the form of a four-day vacation ,which was more than gratefully received. In returning the compliment, the classes presented Dr. Jarman with one hundred and one dollars with which to meet a note that was due on our buildings. One hundred dollars were for the note and the surplus dollar was given with an explanation that it was to "grow on."

MARSHALL, HUTCHINSON, SMITH, THOMPSON, NORMAN, CATO TO HOLD MAJOR OFFICES 1929-30

Popular Vote Tuesday Follows Primary on Saturday

TAKE OFFICE IN MAY

Large Part of Student Body Participate in Elections

The following girls were nominated by the student body for the major offices of S. T. C. Saturday, April 6:

President of Student Government: Etta Marshall, Lucille Graves.

President of Y. W. C. A.:Virginia Gurley, Adele Hutchinson.

President of Athletic Association: Mary Frances Hatchett, Laura M. Smith.

Editor of The Virginian: Lucille Norman, Frances Wilson.

Editor of The Voice: Mary Ellen Cato, Elizabeth Temple.

Editor of The Rotunda: Virginia Pettigrew, Lucy Thompson.

Elections were held Tuesday, April 9, and the following girls were elected:

President of Student Government: Etta Marshall.

President of Y. W. C. A.: Adele Hutchinson.

President of Athletic Association: Laura M. Smith.

Eidtor of The Virginian: Lucille Norman.

Editor of The Voice: Mary Ellen Cato.

Editor of The Rotunda: Lucy Thompson.

Of a student body of about 950 students, 737 votes were cast. This is an excellent improvement over previous years. Cottage 1 was the only building which voted 100 per cent.

VIRGINIA GURLEY ELECTED MAY QUEEN

Elizabeth Revercomb, Maid-of-Honor; Festival Will Be Given at Longwood

Following the trend of the season, the students of Farmville State Teachers College recently elected Virginia Gurley as Queen of May and Elizabeth Revercomb as her Maid of Honor.

An unusual feature of the election was that of selecting the May Court, which has been chosen heretofore by the May Queen, her attendant and members of the faculty. The entire student body had the privilege of participating in the selection of the most beautiful and graceful girls in the college. The attendants of the Queen are: Anne Ferree, Red Foster, Mary Page Archer, Pete Hanmer, Alice Covington, Mary Beasley, Mary Fielding Talliaferro, Lucy Thompson, Margaret Davis, Mary Miller Patrick, Elaine Goode, Mary Priest, Etta Marshall, Jane Hunt Martin, Eleanor Hogan and Lucretia Province.

The theme of the May Day Festival will be that of "Sleeping Beauty." In accordance with the old legend, the Prince will crown the Princess as Queen of the May, amid the acclamation of her court.

Plans for the May Day program are already under way and rehearsals will be announced in a few days. The directors have urged that the festival be on a cooperative basis in order to make the entertainment one of ususual beauty and quality.

The students and faculty members of the college may be interested to know that Virginia Snider, a former student of Farmville, has been elected May Queen of fthe Radford Teachers College.

ADELE HUTCHINSON

Y. W. C. A. President-elect.

MARY ELLEN CATO

Editor-elect of the VOICE and Heroine of the Dramatic Club Play

WILLIS AND MARSHALL TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

The fourteenth annual conference of the Southern Intercollegiate Association of Student Government will meet at H .Sophie Newcomb College, New Orleans, La., on April 17120.

S. T. C. will be represented at this conference by Frances Willis and Etta Marshall ,the president-elect of our Student Government Association. The student body is indeed proud of "Pannie" because while attending this conference she is one of a very few girls listed on the program to make a talk. Her subject will be "Helping the New Girl to Find Herself."

"Pannie" and Etta will leave Sunday, April 14, for New Orleans. They carry with them the best wishes of the entire student body for a most successful and beneficial conference.

CHORAL CLUB TO BROADCAST FROM WRVA

May we not feel proud of the fact that next Thursday evening, April 18, our Chromatic Club and several members from our Choral Club are to be heard over the radio? The girls will begin broadcasting at 7:30 from Station WRVA in Richmond, and will probably sing for an hour.

Frances McCollins cantata, "The Sleeping Beauty," will be sung as it was given here at the recent Choral Club concert, Mr. Joseph Whittemore consenting to take the solo parts again.

LUCY SMITH WRITES BEST EDITORIAL

The prize offered by the Rotunda for the best editorial submitted by a student has been awarded to Lucy Smith for her editorial "It is an Opportunity," which appears in this issue of the Rotunda.

STUDENTS INVITED TO CONFERENCE

Stop! Look! Listen! Something important is happening! Stop! stop at the Student Building auditorium on April 13, at 4 o'clock, in the afternoon. Enter this room and find yourself a comfortable seat. The time has at last arrived when the Virginia Gamma chapter of Pi Gamma Mu wants to make known to the public what she has been doing during the past year. Therefore, we cordially invite the student body and the public to be present at our model Pan-American conference, which is preliminary to the one held in Montevideo in 1932.

Look! look on the stage and behold the many representatives of all the Latin-American countries, from disgruntled Argentina to irate Nicaragua.

Listen! listen to what these representatives have to say for and against "Making the Monroe Doctrine a Pan-American Doctrine."

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor — LUCY THOMPSON, '30

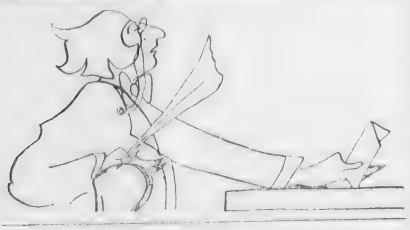
Board of Editors

News Editor — CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary — GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic — KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News — LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News — EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social — GILBERTA KNIGHT
Art — LOULIE MELNER
Feature — MARY SELDEN
Humorous — ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31
ANNA BRUCE WHITMORE

Proof Reader



MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager — MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant — FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation — ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant — JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

IT IS AN OPPORTUNITY

Someone has said that troubles revolve in circles; therefore they come back to us, but opportunities travel in straight lines and never return.

Swiftly, oh, so swiftly they go by—golden opportunities for self-improvement and service. Do we realize that they will never return? It is true that some which may seem the same to us may come again, but they will not be the same. Like minutes they pass and are gone, and we have no power to call them back again.

College life is an opportunity. Some girls do not think so. Some think and speak of their life here as if it were a burden thrust upon them. Maybe they do not know that many girls are working days and lying awake long into the nights trying to plan some way by which they may spend at least a year in college; yet the world is full of such. Had the "burden" not been thrust upon you and me, we, too, might have been victims of such circumstances. Had the opportunity that is yours and mine been theirs, they might be thinking and speaking of it as such.

Julian Green in his book, "The Closed Garden," tells of a girl who became insane because she was denied opportunities for friendships and self-improvement. Just such opportunities as come to you and me everyday she craved. May we take advantage of them while we may, and when prone to pass one by, may we remember that a past opportunity means an opportunity gone forever.

L. S.

WE VOTE 78%

Nominations and elections of major officers held during the week were significantly successful. A greater number of votes were cast than ever before in the history of the college. If we may judge by the apparent lack of disturbance and "politics," these votes were cast according to the best judgement of each voter, not the influence of the party followers. Evidently we are growing up, having left behind the furore and impulse of our younger days. It might be highly desirable for our government to take a lesson from this collegiate one.

WE LOOK AT OUR OFFICERS-ELECT

Six girls were elected Tuesday to head the six major organizations of our extra-curricular activities. As we consider the girls, we find that each has had successful experience in the particular organization which she now heads. If the future takes its promise from the past, then we have reason intellectually to expect success under the leadership of these girls. Emotionally, we expect it—our vote is evidence. We confidently entrust to them the chare to "carry on" at a higher level than we have reached before. We depend upon them to keep vitally alert the forces of spirit which have grown a part of us and our college, and to which we look for unfailing guidance. With their election, they pledge to us their time, their efforts, their personality, as much as their positions need. Having been elected by us as leaders they are ours for service.

OUR OFFICERS LOOK AT US

A popular vote is the means of expressing confidence in the people whom we choose from a large number to lead us—to speak and act as our representatives. The new officers beginning their tasks, lacking the foresight and strength that comes with experience, require now more than at any other time, absolute cooperation, sympathy, and enthusiasm of the student body. They have a right to demand it—was it not the students who placed them in their positions?

There are nearly a thousand of us—enough surely to make light the burden of a few. Strange it is, however, how easy it is to slip our part to our leader's shoulder, and how heavy her load becomes! We are a group of people, ever changing, ever growing, capable of amazing accomplishments and failures, according to our desire. A group—a mob—is deputed to be rarely dependable. This must be a discouraging fact to new leaders. Then they remember that this group, the student body of the Teachers' College, is not a mob, but an association of interesting, responsible individuals, each of whom will do her part toward perfecting the whole. As they remember, so we resolve: we shall not fail them!

OUR CAMPUS

When we go into a strange place we judge the people living there by the appearance of the premises. So it is with schools. If the campus is not attractive, the school is judged likewise by it. Paper, rags and trodden paths go to make a very unattractive campus.

Now, to give our campus the best appearance is not one girl"s job. The lawn keepers may do their part, but we, the girls, must cooperate. To do this, requires very little time, but much careful thinking. When we are in a hurry and want to cut across the campus, let us not forget that trodden paths are unsightly and that our cement walks were made for us to walk on, in order that we may save our verdant grass to beautify our campus. When we go to Gilliam's, or elsewhere to get articles, let us have some consideration, and put the paper in our pockets rather than on the campus.

We take pride in our Alma Mater and want to make her the most attractive and progressive in the State. Let us co-operate with the clean-up campaign in Farmville beginning April 7, and be listed among the boosters.

THE CHILD

Let us set the child in our midst as our greatest wealth and our most challenging responsibility. Let us exalt him above politics, and above all the petty, selfish things that weaken and destroy a people. Let us know that the race moves forward through its children and, by the grace of Almighty God, setting our faces toward the morning, dedicate ourselves anew to the service and welfare of childhood.—Joy Elmer Morgan, Journal of the National Education Association.

A Letter With Professional Advice

To the Seniors and Sophomores.

Dear Girls.

All of this session you are wondering: "Oh, will I get that grade I want in———?" "Will I get a place in ———?" and finally, "Will I get a place?'

Some of you have strong preference for certain school systems. You know of certain good rules and customs that prevail there that you think are good to work under.

How did those things come about? Because the teachers organized and little by little have secured those conditions that you think are good.

Girls, if they have done that much for you before you came, you owe it now to help make things better for those who come next.

Join the Teachers' Association wherever you teach. You will find some teachers there who are not interested, who may laugh at you for your interest. But you are on the right road. You have joined a profession. so support it.

Find out what the local group is working for. If they stand for Tenure, Accumulated Leave, Group Insurance.

Your State Association needs and deserves your support. Your National Association is a big organization, doing big things. Join it.

May you get your position where you most desire it. May you give to the profession the support which it is due.

Yours Cordially,
Lucy Mason Hall.

BOOK REVIEW

Disraeli—By Andre Maurois

Disraeli, the picturesque and flamboyant personality, the man of ambition and pride, has become thoroughly humanized for us in his biology by Audre Maurois.

He tells us the most intimate like story of the most fascinating figure of the Victorian Age. Disraeli moves through the book in such a natural way that the reader feels personally acquainted with him. His alert, brilliant mind startles you.

Brand Whitlock has said "Disraeli is a charming and distinguished piece nf work, and will be the book of the season, or else artistic appreciation is dead in America."

The New York Herald-Tribune said of the book, "Disraeli, a master of epigram and ironical efforts, ever startling, never dull, would have rejoiced in this understanding biography. Beneath a simple and apparently naive style, Maurois has probed to the roots, rescuing all the magic in the career of the Hebrew conjuror. His account is historically accurate and yet more vivid than a great novel. One of the best biographies of the decade."

GIPSY WINGS

When the blossoms now are dying,
When earth's motley cloak is lying
All about me, and keen-edged breezes blow,
And the dim blue hazes grow,
It is then my soul leaps up and sings—
I needs must don my gipsy wings!

F. W. '31

GRAY MISTS

Out in the woods the trees
Are merged in dull, dark shadows---
Dappled shadows—
Of misty gray, pale green and russet brown,
All gray—blue, and purple at a distance
And from the sodden ground
Beneath dead leaves
Fresh moss is sprinkled o'er with violets.
Among the roots of trees,
Forget-me-nots, shy, lift their tender blue.
The whirring wing of bird,
The swishing of the rain-drenched leaves,
And the fall of tiny drops,
Are the only sounds which break the solitude.
And the whispering breezes
Over the lapping waves,
To the pearl buds are green pods—
New water-lilies.

A. S. H. '32

A SONNET

I see the cedar even in my dreams,
A silhouetted candle from afar.
Above its tapered heights a red flame gleams,
For every eve God lights it with a star.
A rifted cloud, an argent pinion, holds
The saffron moon against her dimpled breast;
The moon smiles softly from the filmy folds,
And lingers in her journey to the west.
The weary wind moans as it climbs the hill,
Rustling the dead leaves where the violet grows.
It pauses at the summit, and is still
And quiet, breathing gently, for it knows
That then I kneel in passionate, longing prayer—
The sighing breeze comes in to touch my hair.

A. S. H. '32

Hurt you? You say I've hurt you—that if I ever stopped to think, I'd know that happiness would never come with words I'd said to you? I only said I loved you—let you in where only dreams had ever been. You entered like a gust of wind, so coldly, that I closed the door to keep my dreams warm, but they'd frozen, broken—died, and—
you say I've hurt you.

E. M. '30

SOCIAL

The following are among the girls from S. T .C. who attended the Easter dances at the University of Virginia this past week end:

Mary Bernard, Alice Covington, Louise Foster, Lela Germany, Katherine Grinnan, Rubie Hunt, Martha Lanier, Virginia Lowe, Mary Priest, and Mary Fielding Taliaferro.

Among those attending the Easter dances at V. P. I., are the following girls: Mayo Beaty, Lucy Dortch, Elizabeth Etheridge, Marguerite Foster, Emily Gale, Nan Griffith, Emilie Grosclose, Evelyn Holland, Jack Hix, Marjorie Parkinson and Liz Watkins.

Mary Buford Epes spent the past week end in Richmond with her mother.

Mary Page Archer was the week end guest of friends in Blackstone.

Helen Robertson and Nora Petty spent the week end at their respective homes in Lynchburg.

Ann Guy was the week end guest of Loulie Milner at her home in Lynchburg.

Retta Hardy spent the week end at her home in Kenbridge.

Sarah McCorkle, Mabel Fitzpatrick, Lucille Norman and Charline Williams spent Saturday afternoon in Lynchburg.

ALUMNAE NEWS

Miss Lucy Irving, who is private secretary to the Dean of Spanish School in Middleburg, Vermont, spent the Easter vacation at her home in Farmville.

The Farmville Herald of April 5 contains the folowing item: Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Bondurant, of Rice, announce the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Walton, to W. Richard Topham. Miss Bondurant is a teacher in Tazewell High School. Mr. Topham, formerly of Wytheville, has for the last two years been connected with the Electro-Metallurgical Company of Niagara Falls. and was recently transferred to Duluth, Minn. The weding will take place in the aerly summer.

"THE RETURN OF PETER GRIMM" TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY NIGHT, APRIL 12

Continued from page one

a better one could not have been found.

Another lead is taken by Jane Hunt Martin, who began her career in dramatics when only about eight years of age in an operetta given by Miss Munoz. You will be surprised to see how well she plays the part of the unprincipled nephew of Peter Grimm.

Little Anne Cox, who made her first appearance on our stage in the Prince Chap," lends a touch of pathos to the play and makes a decided human appeal.

The cast includes other able actresses who play their parts equally as well as those mentioned:

Peter Grimm, Etta Marshall.
Catherine, Mary Ellen Cato.
Dr. McPherson, Henrietta Cornwell
Frederick Grimm, Jane Hunt Martin.
James, Virginia Cox.
Mrs. Bottomley, Elsie Clements.
Mr. Bottomley, Adele Hutchinson.
William, Anne Cox.
Colonel Lawton, Virginia Gurley.
Marta, Evelyn Thompson.
The Clown, Grigsby Peck.
Children, Lela Germany, Maria Warren, Mabel Fitzpatrick, Elizabeth Taylor.

Admission, 50c for S. T. C. girls; $1 for town people.

WORLD NEWS

The Prince of Wales is likely to become a regent within the next few weeks. The General Elections are held in May and as the King is not expected to well enough to assume the duties of the State for several months yet to come, so it will be necessary to have a regent. Hence the present discussion over appointing the Prince of Wales to the office. There is no doubt but that the appointment will meet with widespread approval. One of the most remarkable developments in British politics is the renewed popularity of the Prince of Wales, and the part he has been playing in developing public opinion.

News of particular interest to teachers and students is contained in the forecast that President Hoover intends to create an educational administrative department of government, a Department of Education, Health and Public Welfare, with, of course, a cabinet member as its executive head.

Herbert Clark Hoover, President of the United States, has twenty-six college degrees, nine more than any person listed in the latest edition of Who's Who in America," recently published. Charles Evans Hughes, former Justice of the Supreme Court, and Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, are tied for second place with seventeen degrees each.

After painstaking research, we have discovered what the Mexican Revolution is about. It is absentover.—The New Yorker.

President Hoover has asked everybody to obey the prohibtion laws. We are glad that's settled.—Jackson News

Dr. Jarman has accepted a place on the Executive Committee of the Better Homes Organization for the State of Virginia.

THE CALL TO CAMP

Every spring, at just this time of the year, there seems to be a certain little something which whispers to me and a tiny little voice which says, "The flowers are blooming; God's world is becoming most gloriously beautiful ;the spirit of the great out-of-door life is calling. Come to camp! Come and lift up your eyes unto the hills. Come, and in this life, exempt from public haunts, find tongues in trees, books in running brooks, sermons in stones, and good in everything. Will you ont answer the call?"

It is with the greatest of rejoicing thta my tired, worn spirit cries out, "Through nature to nature's God shall be my avenue of approach to my soul life. I'll heed the call! God's great open life seems to have an indescribable magnetic power over me; something which I could not resist should I happen to want to. Yes, spirit, gladly will I come!"

And so the call to many camps is heard, but especially clear is that of Blue Ridge. In the distance one seems to faintly hear the sound of the bugle call:

B-L-U-E R-I-D-G-E—Blue Ridge!
"Sunlight is gleaming o'er mountain tops ,
Earth's radiant loveliness thrills with her youth,
Moonlight shines over the water ,
And Blue Ridge is calling to follow the truth."

AMONG OUR CAPS AND GOWNS

MARGARRET FINCH

Whatever one may forget when she leaves Farmville, Margaret Finch is one personality which will always demand first rank among school memories. "Marnie" attended S. T. C. several years ago, but last year she returned to work for her degree. She accepted the position of secretary of the Y. W. C. A. last year and fulfilled its duties most faithfully. Then, as acknowledgment of her work and love for her alma mater, she was elected president of the Y. W. C. A., by the student body. "Marnie" has prov ed herself one of the ablest presidents the "Y" has ever had. Her love of girls an dher faith in them have endeared her in the hearts of all. S. T. C. is a much better place for having had 'Marnie" as one of its members, and outstanding leader, during the past two years.

VIRGINIA RAINE

Virginia, better known as Raine, has an appeal that all of us desire, but few of us have. Perhaps that appeal lies in her poise and graciousness, but then perhaps it may be that it lies in her fun-loving spirit, at any rate we know that her ideals, her ambitions, and her executive abilities have given untold services to our Alma Mater.

Few girls have held as high and responsible positions as she, and have carried them through with as high-flung banners of success. From her start here in her sophomore year till this her last year with us, she has given her various talents to numerous organizations. She has all the qualities of a leader and an executive, but still she is ever mindful of the small, thoughtful things that make up so vital a part of our every day life. So as we see her ahead of us, pointing the way, we still find her beside us with her hand in ours ready to help us when things go wrong, and to laugh with us at the fun that comes our way.

SIGNS OF SPRING

Spring has indeed come. We both see it and feel it. In fact, anyone would think from the temperature that we should be celebrating the "Glorious Fourth' instead of attending classes.

Those teachers who suffer from nerves need have no fear at this stage. Nothing ever happens in the class room to disturb her. She does not hear an aimless shuffling of feet or subdued murmurs. In fact, few words are said except by the instructor.

All those who have wondered what was hidden in the little square plot of land by the tea room, have at last discovered the secret. Upper classmen always look forward to seeing this spot turn from an ugly brown to a rainbow hue, and now the Freshmen know what to expect when anyone refers to Miss Mary's tulip bed.

The budding trees, the pretty dress, and more letters, all tell us that Spring is here with flying colors.

NEW SORORITY PLEDGES

The following sororities wish to announce new pledges:

Gamma Theta—Bruce Nicholson.

Delta Sigma Chi—Katherine Roller.

Mu Omega—Nancy De Berry.

SPRING'S VERY NEWEST HATS

Presenting a significant collection of hats for the new spring season-Hats a bit more sophisticated, of somewhat unusual—the last word in good taste and the charm of Paris. Brimmed and brimless models in every new straw and soft French felts.

Specially priced for

$2.95 $3.50 $4.95 $5.95

Select your complete . needs from

BALDWINS

"Where the girl who knows buys her clothes."

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
"The Rexall Store"
CARA NOME TOILETRIES

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS —— DRESSES
GLOVES —— DRESS GOODS
HATS —— NOTIONS
SHOES —— HOSIERY

NEW SPRING SHOES
are here in
Blue, Green Blonde
Price $5 and up
We invite your inspection
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

THEY'RE HERE!
NEW DRESSES
The new Pastel Shades
GREEN, BLUE, YELLOW
FLESH, LIGHT ORCHID, &
WHITE
Sizes 13 to 42
$15.00 Values, for S. T. C. Girls
$9.95
Lovely Spring Coats
$10.00 $15.00 and $25.00

HUB
DEPT. STORE

Another theory has been advanced as to why George Washington stood up in the boat. He was Scotch and had just had his pants pressed.

The little groups of country folk had been watching the band play for several minutes. They had never seen a trombone before, and the player of that instrument received particular attention. Finally, one little hick nudged another with his elbow. "Come on," he said, "is's a fake. He don't swallow it every time."—Carolina Buccaneer.

ATTA BOYS!

It was noon at the mosque. The high priest was intoning, "There is but one God, and Mohammed is His prophet."

A shrill, clear voice broke out, "He is not."

The congregation turned around as one, and among the sea of brown faces could be distinguished one small, delicate yellow one.

The genial priest straightened up and smiled, "There seems to be a little Confucian here."

How are there enough men in the world to furnish all the photos women have on their dressers?

He was reading Mother Goose last night and have been worried to death all morning. "Did Mother Hubbard's dog starve or did she find a bone somewhere else?"

Owner of Collitch car on witness stand: And then the truck bumped the fender on my car.

Attorney: Which fender?

Wtiness: THE fender.

IN CHICAGO

When thrown out of a cabaret be nonchalant—light a bomb.

"Just before we got to the railroad crossing," explained the victim at the hospital, "we had idled down to sixty-five miles an hour."

HOW FARMVILLE CHANGES

Booster: See the large building on our right?

Stranger: Yes.

Booster: Did you notice it was on our left when we came downtown?

Stranger: Yes.

Booster: Well, that gives you some idea how quickly our city changes.

Dean of Women: Did you read the letter sent you?

The shipped Soph: Yes'm. I read it inside and outside. On the inside it said, "You are requested to leave college,' and on the outside it said, "Return in five days," so here I am. —Annapolis Log.

LUCILLE NORMAN

Will Edit Virginian of 1930

FIELD AND TRACK RECORDS AT S. T. C.

The following shows just what has been accomplished in athletics at S. T. C. for the past four years. To any girl who can break one of these records, the Athletic Association stands ready to give 100 points toward her blazer:

1. Dash (50 yds.); 6.5 seconds. Kitty Reid; 1926.
2. Dash (75 yds.); 9 seconds; Juliet Jones; 1927.
3. Running broad jump; 14 ft. 11 in.; Jennette Johnston; 1926.
4. Shot put; 30 feet; Emma Woods; 1927.
5. Hop—Step—Jump; 30 ft. 3 1-2 in.; L. Welchin; 1926.
6. Javelin; 69 ft. 9 in.; Mary Frances Hatchett; 1927.
7. Hurdles (60 yd.); 9 seconds; Jetty Talley; 1927.
8. High Jump; 4 ft. 4 3-4 in.; Virginia Perkins; 1926.
9. Baseball Throw; 188.4 ft.; Virginia Pierce; 1927.
0. Relay; 1 min. 24 4-5 seconds; Freshmen; 1926.

Can you break one?

Volley Ball Varsity—Honorary.

Sue Cross, '32.

Frances Edwards, '32.

Mary Frances Hatchett, '30

Martha Henderlite, '29.

Kathleen Hundley, '32.

Easter Souders, '32.

Dot Thompson, '32.

Louise Vaughan, '29.

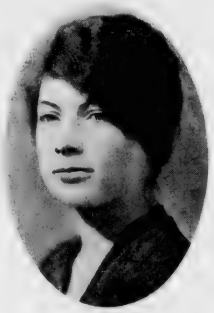
APPRECIATION OF WORK WELL DONE

We have had many heads of sports and they were more or less interested in their work, but when it comes to real interest and real efficiency, we think that the prize goes to Claudia Fleming, the head of volleyball for the past season. Every afternoon she was out for practice and she always saw that the net was taken down after practice and that the court was well lined and the balls in good condition. Also at the end of the season she took down the net and saw that it was put away where it belonged. This may not seem a very big thing to some of us, but when we take into consideration the fact that the head of the department has to do the things that the girls who are appointed are too uninterested to do, we see that it means a great deal to have each girl do her work well. Therefore, we wish to express our appreciation of the splendid cooperation which we received from Claudia and our hope that she will always be as interested and efficient as we have found her to be.

ATHLETICS

BASEBALL

Spring is here! Of course it is. Haven't you been out on the athletic field and watched the baseball practices? What better proof do we want to say that spring has come? For spring to modern America spells "baseball."



Practices are held every afternoon and Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors are expected to be on hand to help their classes on to victory. So come out you unrecognized Babe Ruths and knock a few home runs for your class.

FIELD AND TRACK

The last part of the athletic year is devoted to field and track, and herein lies a chance for everyone. Whether you run, jump or throw, there is a chance for you Just come out to the athletic field at the scheuled time and you'll have a chance to surprise us all and show just what you can do.

Are you tired, weary, of so much studying; do you feel worn out? Do you fall asleep in class, only to awaken with a start upon hearing your name called? Then you have contracted a severe case of spring fever and the Athletic Association holds out to you a free cure for it; it is to come out to the athletic field and work, work, work hard.

LAURA M. SMITH

A. A. President-Elect

ATHLETIC SCHEDULE

Monday, 4 p. m., baseball; 5 p. m., baseball.

Tuesday, 4 p. m., field and track monogram; 5 p. m., baseball.

Wednesday, 4 p. m., baseball; 5 p. m., baseball.

Thursday, 4 p. m., baseball; 5 p.m., field and track.

Friday, 4 p. m., baseball; 5 p. m., baseball.

Ten-mile hike Saturday, 2 p. m.

LUCY THOMPSON

Newly elected editor-in-chief of Rotunda

MONOGRAM

Monogram practices are being held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons so all girls, who have perseverance, determination, pep and sportsmanship, are expected to be on hand. The coveted monogram can be won through continued hard work and no one should find herself leaving school without one just because she failed to come out and work.

We are all members of S. T. C., and the Athletic Association has made it possible for each girl to wear the symbol of her Alma Mater —a symbol which means that the wearer does not excel in just one sport, but that she is an all-around athlete.

Then, too, ten points go to the colors having the highest number of monograms won during the year. Loyalty to your class demands that you go out and help put your colors on the athletic cup.

Wake up everybody and come out, for there are only a few more practices to be held.

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

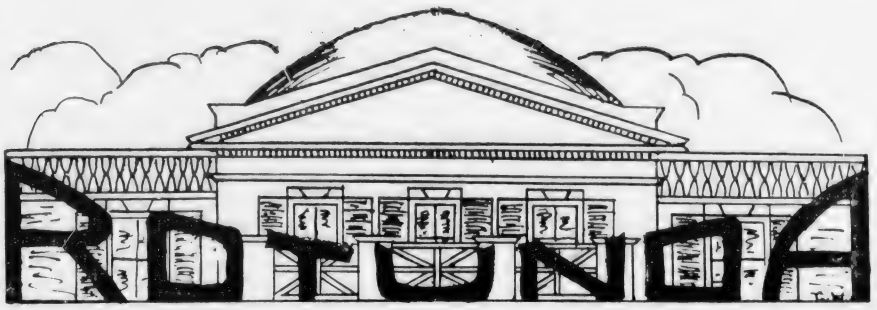
At The Eaco Theatre

Week of April 15-20—Matinee Each Day at 4 P. M.

Monday:—W. C. FIELDS and MARY BRIAN in "RUNNING WILD," a Paramount picture. The story of a hen-pecked husband that turns into a roaring lion. This picture in running for comedy honors of the season. It's the hit of a lifetime. Come and enjoy a field's day of fun. Also comedy and News Reel.

Tuesday:—KEN MAYNARD with his wonderful horse, "TARZAN" in a thrill-packed, love-packed story of the first transcontinental telephone. A mighty epic of the West, told with all the breathtaking riding that has Ken Maynard famous. Said to to be the best Maynard picture ever made. Also 2 reel Western.

Wednesday:—JACK MULHALL, GRETA NISSEN and GERTRUDE ASTOR in "THE BUTTER AND EGG MAN", one of the season's greatest hits. Rich with racy, unique types of Broadway "insiders," Intimate revelations of the inner workings of play production. Teaming for the first time two great lovers, Jack Mulhall an Greta Nissen. Also comedy.



Thursday:—OLIVE BORDEN and JACK PICKFORD in "GANG WAR," A BIG SPECIAL PRODUCTION. A drama that dares to be different. The story of people struggling for happiness when the price of life is often death and courage is the test of friendship. A climatic master piece — thrilling — chilling. A PICTURE THAT LIVES.

FRI. & SAT. AT MATS. ONLY:—THEODOR VON ELTZ, BRYANT WASHBURN and JANE WINTON in "NOTHING TO WEAR." A hundred gowns and still she insisted on starting for a party in her lingerie. The outcome of this wild escapade will keep you on the qui vive as the story unfolds upon the screen. IT IS GOOD! YOU WILL LIKE IT! Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. AT NIGHTS ONLY:—GRETA GARBO, LEWIS STONE and NILS ASTHER in "WILD ORCHIDS" A BIG SPECIAL PICTURE. SHE WAS STARVED FOR LOVE! then a love of the East offered her a Romance she had mised in marriage. Great Garbo, most fascinating of screen stars, shine through this amazing drama of the Tropics like a gem in a setting of jewels! YOU MUST SEE IT! Also comedy. Oddity and News Reel.

Admission to S. T. C. girls, 25 cents to each show, IF TICKETS ARE BOUGHT AT THE COLLEGE.

VARSITY DEBATES THURSDAY and FRIDAY

VOTE FOR MINOR OFFICERS FRIDAY

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, APR. 17, 1929 No. 25

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY GREAT SUCCESS

Characters give Admirable Interpretations of Their Roles

ETTA MARSHALL STARS

"Return of Peter Grimm" Type Play New to S. T. C. Audience

"The Return of Peter Grimm," presented by the Dramatic Club on the evening of April 12, surpassed in excellence the high standard which we had every right to set for it. Mr. Belasco's play is unique and excitingly interesting, the cast was well chosen, and each actor executed her part with insight and skill.

Experience in the past has taught us to look forward to the plays produced by our college dramatic club as one of several of the most enjoyable entertainments of the session, whether presented by visiting artists or local talent. Moreover, nearly every member of this cast had alreaay made a successful debut in previous performances, and we looked forward to their reappearance with confidence in their ability and a warm welcome in our hearts.

"The Return of Peter Grimm" is perhaps the most difficult play that the S. T. C. Dramatic Club has ever produced, and Miss Wheeler and the cast are to be congratulated on the ease with which difficult scenes were handled and the theme of the play gotten over to the audience. A touch of overacting in the parts of Peter, Dr. MacPherson or Catherine could have easily thrown the play into near-melodrama or unconvincing comedy.

The lead was taken by Etta Marshall, who played the part of Peter. Her ability to put herself unreservedly into the part, the meaningfulness of her every motion, and the apparent ease with which she adapted herself to both the natural and the supernatural in the most difficult role in the play, are only a few of the things we admired in Etta's acting. Her presentation of the old man who through a false idea of love undertook to regulate the lives of his household in much the same way that he experimented with his orchids, was admirably done. But it was in the second act that she won our hearts and filled us with respect and actual affection for ghosts. The story of Peter'si difficulties in trying to remedy as a ghost the mistakes he had made before he "knew better," carries with it touches of both humor and pathos.

As Peter's' niece, the heroine of our play, Mary Ellen Cato outshone her own title roles in previous performances. She handled the emotional scenes with conviction and delica-

Continued on page three

PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE HELD AT S. T. C.

Question Discussed: Shall Monroe Doctrine be Adopted as Pan-American

CONDUCTED BY PI GAMMA MU

The Student Building Auditorium Saturday was the scene of a very interesting meeting—a model Pan-American Conference conducted by Pi Gamma Mu, in which representatives of seventeen republics of North and South America discussed a question vital to the Americans; Shall the Monroe Doctrine of the U. S. be adopted as a Pan-American Doctrine?

The session, conducted by Miss Lois Fraser, chairman, representative of the U. S., represented the second day of the conference which was held in Santiago, Chile, as a preliminary to the Pan-American Conference in Montevideo, Brazil, in 1932.

Speeches by the delegates revealed the attitude of Pan-America toward the Monroe Doctrine proposed as an all-American doctrine. The students who represented each country had made an intensive study of her republic during the year, so that each had assimilated not only detailed knowledge of the people and their affairs, but also the spirit of the country.

The countries at the conference and their representatives are as follows:

Argentina, represented by Catherine Bentley and Gertrude Richardson; Bolivia, by Pearl Etheridge and Mabel Spratley; Brazil, by Martha Henderlite and Hannah Hamlett; Chile,

Continued on page three

S. T. C. REGISTRARS ATTEND MEETING

Saturday, April 13, the registrars of our college, Miss Bugg, Miss Henderlite and Miss Blanton, motored to Lynchburg to attend the annual meeting of the Association of Virginia Registrars. An informal meeting was held at Randolph-Macon College, and afterward the registrars drove out to Sweet Briar College, where they were entertained at a tea. Later on they drove back to Lynchburg and were guests at dinner at Lynchburg College. During the dinner, music was furnished by some of the Lynchburg College girls.

The meeting was continued that evening at Lynchburg College, at which time election of officers was held and Col. Cooper, of V. M. I., was elected president for the coming year. Miss Knox, of Hollins College, was re-elected sevretary.

The meeting next year will be held in Lexington and the registrars will be entertained by V. M. I. and W. and L.

TWO INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATES THIS WEEK

Bridgewater and Harrisonburg to be Met by S. T. C. Thursday and Friday

Two debates are scheduled for this week, one to be held Thursday night between Bridgewater and S. T. C. and the other to be held Friday night between Harrisonburg and our college. In addition to the debate Friday night, there will also be an oratorical contest.

The question to be debated is: Resolved, That There Should be a Substitute for Trial by Jury. Martha Ann Laing and Catherine Bentley will represent us Thursday night and Friday night Virginia Pettigrew and Evelyn Graybeal will represent us. Contrary to the usual custom, the negatives are "staying at home" this time.

You are cordially invited to attend both debates, for the girls on both teams are splendid debaters and you will surely enjoy them in spite of the fact that the subject for the debate is the same both Thursday and Friday nights.

VIRGINIA GLEE CLUB HERE APRIL 22

What a pleasure it is to learn that next Monday evening, April 22, at 8:15 o'clock, the University of Virginia Glee Club will appear at S. T. C. under the leadership of Dr. Arthur Fickenscher.

A group of 40 men's voices, the club will include both choral and solo numbers in a program which promises to ze interesting in its variety, ranging from classical numbers, such as Brahm's "Lullaby" and MacDowell's "Dance of the Gnomes," to negro spirituals, hunting songs and sea chanteys.

During the performance, there will be frequent duets, quartets and two solo numbers by Mr. Joseph O'Donnell, tenor—"Little Bateeste" and "The Blind Ploughman."

Th second part of the program will comprise a group of popular melodies, "Fantasies in Rhythm and Humorous Specialties," arranged by members of the club for piano, banjo and voice.

The University Glee Club has recently made great strides in the musical world, receiving encouragement and praise from all sides. As a choral organization, it is setting the present standard for college affairs of its kind. Knowing this, we are anticipating a most enjoyable evening.

Sign up for tennis doubles as soon as possible on the athletic bulletin board in the hall. The tournament will start as soon as the courts are ready and the girls are signed up.

APPRECIATION OF BACK STAGE PERFORMANCE

Congratulations to Miss Wheeler, Coach and Stage Managers

They say that life is a "give and take proposition," but it seems that some give more than they get thanks for and others take more than they give thanks for.

Perhaps there isn't an organization in the school that has done more toward bettering our school community than the Dramatic Club in the field it occupies. For many years two good plays have been presented each year, whch show the work of an original brain, with the executive ability to put good drama within the reach of the average college student.

Miss Leola Wheeler has given more than she gets thanks for. She has given the results of her extensive study and experience, her time, her energy, and sometimes forfeited her good disposition for us. She knows what she wants and she usually gets it, and everyone admits she can make people work.

Miss Wheeler, we thank you for making it possible for us to see a play so unique as "The Return of Peter Grimm" and for the exquisiteness of its charm.

When we see an excellent dramatic performance, one that takes us out of this sordid and material world, as some of our "pesimistic literati" wish to express it, we are forgetful of the many hours of labor spent to perfect the ship that carries us off on the dream voyage.

The perfect interpretation of the lines of the play, will not be all that is essential. First of all, there must be atmosphere. This is created by stage scenery, costumes, lighting effects and the use of different properties.

Continued on last page

PROFESSOR ROUSE CONTRIBUTES STUDY IN RESEARCH

Dr. Charles A. Rouse has published in the Publications of the Modern Language Association of America for September, 1928, an article in English research. The study, entitled, "Thomas Heywood and the Life and Death of Hector," constitutes a contribution to the authorship of a large book which was published in the first quarter of the seventeenth century. Recently the article has been listed, with complimentary note, among the outstanding bibliographies of the present year. The appearance of Dr. Rouse's contribution in the journal of the largest organizations in America is in itself worthy of note. Dr. Rouse is a member of the Modern Language Association of America.

SKLAREVSKI APPEARS IN PIANO CONCERT

Brilliant Technigue of Russian Artist Impressive

PROGRAM FROM ROMANTIC COMPOSERS

Alexander Sklarevski, Russian pianist, showed himself an artist of unusual merit in the concert he gave here Tuesday evening.

As an interpreter of the romantic composers, Mr. Sklarevski was delightfully expressive. His playing was skillfully colored; one truly caught the sterling contrasts and dramatic climaxes of a Bethoven sonata, the delicate grace of Mendelssohn's "Songs Without Words," and the intimate simplicty and fascinating rhythm of Chopin's lovely "Berceuse."

The delicate passage work exhibited in Von Weber's "Invitation to the Dance" and the clear singing tone heard in the melody passages of Mendelssohn's "Lost Ilusions" gave evidence of an admirable technique ana beauty of touch on he part of his talented pianist.

Mr. Sklarevski was most generous with his encores, playing three extra numbers, the last of which was the famous "Turkish March." This familiar composition brought the evening's concert to an end, and the final applause of an enthusiastic audience expressed universal praise and admiration for the works of a real artist.

PICTURE STORIES PRESENTED

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Roth, of the "House on Wheels," entertained the student body Wednesday, April 10, when they presented a group of original nature-tinted photographs of the natural wonders of America.

After traveling 50,000 miles in their "House on Wheels," Mr. and Mrs. Roth have taken a number of interesting pictures which develop the illusion of taking an actual trip through America's spots of beauty. Mr. Roth took his audience from the brink of Niagara Falls to the Canyon of Colorado, the wonders of Yellowstone Park and the cottonland of the South. Owing to Mr. Roth's entertaining tales of adventure, the pictures proved doubly enchanting.

After the entertainment, Mr. Roth, assisted by the Eskimo pup, Babe, invited the more interested students to inspect the various objects which they had accumulated in their travels.

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

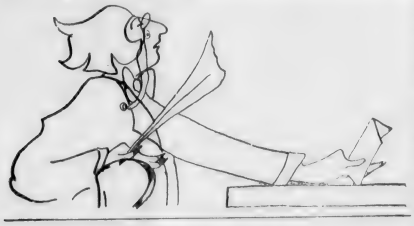
Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... GILBERTA KNIGHT
Art ..... LOULIE MELNER
Feature ..... MARY SELDEN
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31
ANNA BRUCE WHITMORE

Proof Reader



MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

AFTER THE PLAY

Weeks passed when practice took place every night, weather or whim disregarded. The process of transforming school girls into experienced actors continued uninterrupted.

Then came the night of the play, when actors and audience alike fairly trembled in eager expectancy, so much did we expect of the performance about to begin.

The parted curtains revealed a stage setting designed, built and painted by our girls, worthy of a premiere. All during the play lighting effects and stage management were so perfectly executed we had no reminder that our theatre was managed by amateurs.

This was, however, only a setting in which the actors proved their ability and unfailing efforts. The emotional response of the audience was tribute to the effectiveness with which the players "put it across." The results were possible only because of hard practice, with sacrifice of personal pleasures, and because of superior training by a sensitive director.

The student body is grateful for the superior work of our own theatrical folk. Though the distance from cities prevents us from seeing plays of professionals, plays by amateurs of professional ability have been brought to our own auditorium. The pleasure our own plays bring to us is far keener than the pleasure we find elsewhere.

ELECTIONS CONTINUE

Today girls were nominated for offices we call minor—secondary offices of the six major organizations on campus. These are the girls who will do most of the actual executive work of the organizations. The leader caries the responsibility first, but it is shared with those girls whose offices are closely asociated with the leader, and who must carry thru the plans launched by the president or editor.

Election time will come again next year—and then we will look to this group of girls to fill the major offices. So as we place a girl in a responsible position, we are giving her the opportunity of apprenticeship in that phase of school activities. Thinking this far ahead, we might take even more care in the way we cast our vote.

An apathetic attitude is inexcusable. In the last election we voted 78%. In this one, we ought to reach a higher mark. If some of the girls nominated are not familiar, look them up, find out how well they meet the requirements of the position. A girl would not receive nomination for an office if she were not well worth knowing, even though only one can be elected.

TRANSITION

Keeping together theory and practice is not among man's easy social tasks. One rushes ahead, the other lays behind. A new era brings problems that require solutions unknown to the times preceding, and much that we have accumulated as a guide for our society becomes bungling and cumbersome in a new light.

The magazines are filled with discussions of college life and college problems, discussions unbiased or prejudiced, practical or skeptical. To a greater extent than ever before, the social eye is focused upon college life.

Our own college is not different from others in the point of change. We see changes yearly that the administration effects—changes made by others wiser than we, and in which we have little voice. Change in student life, however, is regulated in large part by the students themselves. The agitation of the year concerning some of our quite medieval remains of student government is an expression of the unrest that several student generations have set in motion.

At last we have the outlines of a new plan, one which promises growth in student responsibility and greater content with campus life. Working out the details of that plan is a task of preponderous size. Trial and error will of necessity reveal the way we must go. The new student council—honor council, we hope to call it—faces the new day of S. T. C. student government. They will work with and for the student body. We have great hopes for the outcome!

SPORTSMANSHIP

What is sportsmanship? It has been written about and talked about times without number and yet it is doubtful whether we really understand the deeper meaning of the word. More often the word sportsmanship is used in connection with athletics and it is in athletics that the highest type of sportsmanship may be shown. Many of us, no doubt, think that the games that are played and the various athletic events that are presented are held merely for the sake of someone or some team winning and so receiving a reward. But do we ever stop to think of the other side of the question Do we know that true sportsmanship makes playing the game for the sake of the fair play involved the main thing and not winning? Of course, we all like to win, which is natural. But no one who possesses the true sportsmanship will put winning above fair play; will place the reward or honor which may be won above the enjoyment of the game for the game's sake. And the fact that one may win points does not mean that they are entitled to win an award. The person who wears the college blazes must be able to win points and to show the spirit of sportsmanship.

This is true not only in athletics but in every activity of school and life. Let's see if we can change our way of thinking and try to take part in activities for the sake of participating and working for enjoyment and not for the sake of the reward we may be able to get.

CONFEDERATE CHILREN HONOR FATHER RYAN

The following invitation was sent to Miss Georgie Norris, leader of the Farmville Chapter of the Children of the Confederacy. This memorial is a tribute of love from the Southern Children of the Confederacy:

The United Daughters of the Confederacy request the honor of your presence at the unveiling and dedication of the

Memorial Window
to
Father Abram J. Ryan
Southern Patriot, Poet, Priest, Chaplain in the Confederate Army
Thursday, April twenty-eighth nineteen hundred and twenty-nine ten o'clock in the morning
St. Mary's Church
Mobile, Aalabama

SENIOR DIDDY

A is for Archer,
So trim and so neat;
B is for Bully,
Our star athlete;
C. is for Carters,
As like as two peas;
D is for Dunton,
Who never makes C's.
E is for Elder,
Just watch her play ball;
F is for Fraser,
The friend of us all;
G is for Graybeal,
A debater of fame;
H is for Hardy,
Gwen's other name;
I is for Iler,
Our class-man so true;
J is for Johnson,
Our secretary, too;
K is for Kitty
Rhodes, can't you see?
L is for Ligon,
As sweet as can be;
M is for Mann,
So smart and so fine;
N is for Nellie,
A Senior this time;
O is for Orgain,
She plays tennis quite fine;
P is for Pricey,
Oh! what a line;
Q is for quarter,
Our last one to be;
R is for Rhodes,
Who draws marvelously;
S is for Shepherd,
Who's always working;
T is for Thompson,
Who never is shirking;
U is for us
Seniors so true;
V is for Vaughan,
We love her, don't you?
W is for Wilson, Willey and Whyte
There are other Seniors, too,
Whose names I can't write.

LIFE

To live is all I ask,
To love and laugh and live,
For that is all of life
The gods can ever give.
—C. D. B. '29.

LOVE

Love is like a candle
Lighted by a star,
Piercing through the darkness,
Guiding where you are.
C. D. B. "29.

SPRING

Spring is near and birds are here,
With all things else we love so dear,
Flowers sweet with perfume rare
Fill the gentle morning air.
Clouds that float up in the sky
Look like soldiers passing by,
Birds and bees and butterflies
Tel how near the spring time lies.
—Margaret Dowdy, 9 yrs.
(Fourth grade Training School)

BOOK REVIEW

"THE BISHOP'S WIFE" —ROBERT NATHAN

Bobbs-Merrill Co., 1928

If anyone has a few hours which she would like to spend in reading a book; a book that is good, a book that will hold her interest till the very end, a book that will give her pleasure, a book that will give her something to think about, and a book that in no sense is like the ordinary novel, "The Bishop's Wife," by Robert Nathan, is the book for her.

The story is of a girl who had dreams, thoughts and ideals of love and marriage, and how her dreams and thonghts were all crushed and a vast disappointment came to her when she did marry. Her married life was not the same as she had beheld in her girlish visions.

The author gives a very vivid and interesting sketch of what the girl had to confront, and the new thought that came to her when she became the wife of a famous bishop. Particularly is it interesting to see how cleverly the author brings in "Angel," who later became the bishop's helper, and changed the life for the wife, in fact, for the bishop's entire household. "Angel" is a new problem for the wife, and it is intriguing to read to see how she faced that new problem.

INVITATIONS

At last the Seniors are thinking. About what? Why, they are trying to count up their friends and otherwise, so they can shower them with invitations. Aunts and cousins are miraculously discovered after being ostracized for years, and childhood friends are suddenly forced into the limelight. What a blessed thing for us that we do not believe in ancestor worship!

DRAMATIC CLUB PARTY

Perhaps the peals of laughter issuing from the auditorium Friday night after the play made you wonder what was taking place. The Dramatic Club was having a party. If the curtain had been opened on that scene, it would have revealed a curious sight. Girls were perched on the arms of chairs, sandwiches covered the tables and an array of dopes decorated the mantle. The entire scene radiated fun, frolic and good eats. The orchestra girls were there, too. It was the Dramatic Club's way of showing them that their splendid music between acts was appreciated.

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY GREAT SUCCESS

Continued from page one

cy. Those who saw her last year in "Trelawney of the Wells" feel that the development of her art as observed in a comparison of the two plays is the highest compliment that could be paid to the training which the Dramatic Club offers its members and to Mary Ellen's own achievement. She did well as Trelawney; she was splendid as Catherine.

Jane Hunt Martin surprised us in the role of the villain. She succeeded in absolutely divorcing from our minds all our preconceived notions of her. It was with relief that we saw her Saturday morning as the same genial Jane Hunt, with not a trace of last night's villainy upon her. Her acting in the last two acts was perfectly in accord with the character of Frederick, but we would suggest that in Act I, since Frederick himself was craftily playing a part, (only revealing his own nature in an unguarded moment or two) that Jane Hunt would have done well to have appeared less obviously the villain in the opening scene.

We should like to take the space to enumerate in detail the dramatic virtues of each individual member of the cast. There was not a poor actor among them, and each played her part with the same interest and understanding that she would have displayed had she been the central character of the play. Virginia Cox did well in what was probably the least colorful role of the play. Little Anne Cocks, who acted the part of William, displayed a poise and lack of self-consciousness most unusual in a child, and did no small part in making the play a success.

The character parts were especially successful. Dr. Andrew MacPherson, the good-hearted, eccentric physician, who in a sense was responsible for what happened, was both amusing and lovable. Marta exactly filled her "place." The clown made us circus-hungry. Many declared that the Bathalommeys made the play worth seeing even if the other parts had been poorly played. Certainly Elsie Clements was the perfect representative of a pious gossip.

When reading the cast of characters on our programs we were reminded of our recent school elections. Never before, we venture to say, has the Dramatic Club starred in one performance such a number of school officers. Besides two class presidents, who have held office all year, we recognized three of the major officers elected several weeks ago—our student body president as the hero of the play; the new editor of The Voice as the heroine, and next year's' president of the Y. W. C. A. as Rev. Henry Bathalommey. Other members of the cast are prominent in college activities of one kind and another. But who, let me ask you, could ever have recognized in the somewhat portly Colonel Lawton, our recently elected Queen of the May!

Y. W. C. A. NEWS

Let it rain! Let it pour!

We don't mind the rain no more!

Did someone mention rain? Yea, verily! The cabinet had planned a morning breakfast and worship out in the meadows last week, only to awaken on the appointed day at six o'clock to find the heavens weeping bitterly. We naturally joined in (the diffusion of tears, I mean) and didn't cheer up one bit until "Marnie" announced that we'd all have supper in her room. Such a lay-out! A feast for kings! Hot dogs with bacon, onions and mustard, crackers and cheese, pickles, coffee, bananas and oranges were quickly devoured—proving the fact that supper and breakfast are one and the same; there is only a slight difference in time.

To further particulars we refer you to Miss Mary Clay Hiner!

PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE

Continued from page one

by Frances Wilson; Colombia, by Margaret Walton; Cuba, by Lucille Norman; Guatemala, by Elizabeth Bowers; Honduras, by Lucy Thompson; Mexico, by Juliet Mann; Nicaragua, by Margaret Hubbard; Panama, by Virginia Raine; Peru, by Marguerite Erdman; Salvador, by Mary Eggleston; United States, by Lois Fraser and Henrietta Binford; Uraguay, by Carolea Harris; Venezuela, by Lucille Graves.

At seven o'clock Pi Gamma Mu held its annual banquet in the tea room. Elizabeth Woodson, Helen Davidson and Ella Louise Moore, alumnae, returned for the occasion. Lois Fraser, president of the chapter, acted as toastmistress. The following toasts were given:

"The Light That Never Fails," to the national organization, by Margaret Hubbard.

"The Love That Never Fails," to the local chapter, by Carolea Harris.

"The Guide That Never Fails," to the chapter President, by Virginia Raine.

"The Friend That Never Fails," to Dr. J. L. Jarman, by Juliet Mann.

FRESH FROSH SPEAKS

We don't understand about this new game, Field, the athletes are all talking about with Track

AMONG OUR CAPS AND GOWNS

SAMMY SCOTT

When we hear the name "Sammy" we expect some masculine figure, but who could be more feminine than our own Sammy? In the three years that she has been here, she has acquired much distinction for herself. Now, as Y. W. C. A. vice-president, an outstanding debater, a member of four honorary sororities, an active participant in other school activities, Sammy is finishing her senior year. She is never too busy for a friendly greeting or a word of cheer, and no adage could be more properly used than "to know her is to love her."

ANNE FERREE

Sunshine, smiles and Anne Ferree—for they all seem to belong together. Anne has won a place in all our hearts by her attractive personality, her willingness to help, and her enthusiastic interest in everything worth while.

In her four years here she has taken a vital part in every phase of school life and rendered a real service to her class and her Alma Mater. She is always ready when there's work to be done and equally so when there's fun on hand.

In our storehouse of treasures and memories of college days, Anne will always have a very dear and important place.

The word alimony, dear readers, is merely a contraction of "all his money."

WORLD NEWS

The whole of Turkey is at present engaged in learning to read and write a new alphabet which became the official alphabet April 1. Ever since the constitution of the House of Osman the chosen writing of the Turks has been comprehensible to only a minor portion of Turkey's population. When Mustapha Kemel Pasha, the present ruler, came into power, he realized that this condition was interfering with the progress and the westernizing of his country, so he decreed that the old Arabic characters should be replaced by simple Latin characters. Thus the reason for Turkey suddenly starting to read and write.

"The best liked ambassador to France since Benjamin Franklin," according to the Philadelphia Inquirer, died in the Embassy at the French capital, March 31. He is the last of an outstanding World war trio—Marshall Foch, General Sarrail and Ambassador Herrick. Myron Herrick's death was hastened by his long march with head bared in the Foch funeral procession.

France greatly loved and respected Myron T. Herrick.

Instead of a trip to Europe, General Dawes, relieved of his vice-presidential duties, will spend the next few weeks in the capital of the Dominican Republic, establishing, with the aid of a corps of carefully selected assistants, a modern budget system. "He is unquestionably the best man available for the task," thinks the Brooklyn Eagle.

Another difference between the United States and Mexico is that Mexican ex-Presidents don't write magazine articles.—San Diego Union.

SPECIAL THIS WEEK

146 Beautiful new Spring Frocks in the season's most charming styles and color combinations. Frocks for dress, street and sport wear.

Values to $12.95—Special:

$4.85

BALDWINS

"Where the girl who knows buys her clothes."

CAPP'S STORE

Next to the Theatre

Toasted Sandwiches

Sodas and Candies

MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for S. T. C. STUDENTS

Mack's Beauty Shop

323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store

MOTHER'S DAY CARDS

WHITMAN'S & NUNNALLY'S Candy For MOTHER'S DAY

Just One Block From Campus

G. F. BUTCHER & CO

The Convenient Store

For Good Things to Eat and Drink

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.

Dealers in Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Southside Drug Store

Kodak Films Printed and Developed (One Day Service)

ELIZABETH ARDEN

Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS —— DRESSES

GLOVES —— DRESS GOODS

HATS —— NOTIONS

SHOES —— HOSIERY

NEW SPRING SHOES

are here in

Blue, Green Blonde

Price $5 and up

We invite your inspection

DAVIDSON'S

The House of Quality

THEY'RE HERE!

NEW DRESSES

The new Pastel Shades

GREEN, BLUE, YELLOW

FLESH, LIGHT ORCHID, & WHITE

Sizes 13 to 42

$15.00 Values, for S. T. C. Girls

$9.95

Lovely Spring Coats

$10.00 $15.00 and $25.00

HUB

DEPT. STORE

Frosh: Do you know what the three balls of the pawnbroker's shop stand for?

Soph: Why, no.

Frosh: Two to one that you won't get it back.

Motto of most college students: Here today—here tomorrow.

Did you hear of the Frosh who walked through the new art museum and stopping in front of a mirror exclaimed, "It must be a Rembrandt!"?

Little boy: "My father's a professor."

"Oh, yeh?"

"Yeh!"

"And what does he do for a living?"

She kissed her husband very sweetly and didn't ask him for a new hat, or a new coat, or a new dress; in fact, she kissed him for no reason at all. And he, poor fellow, sank to the floor murmuring, "The thrill that comes but once in a wifetime."

DEFINITIONS

Dmocracy is an overgrown infant bawling for the moon which it does not want.

Infinity is a flowr Kawiuk"iW

Infinity is a floorless room without walls or ceiling.

Literature is the voice of a hundred billion souls crying in the darkness for an explanation.

A fresh air fiend undoubtedly invented the doughnut

"A certain druggist has anopthecary's scales that will weigh the pencil mark on a piece of paper."

"Well, I supopse he needs a delicate instrument like that to weigh the sandwiches."

"Ain't the acoustics fine?"

"You bet. I'll have to congratulate 'em before I leave."

NOVELISTS OF VIRGINIA DISCUSSED

At one of the recent meetings of the Cunfingham Literary Society, the novel group, with the assistance of Miss Rice, faculty adviser, had a most interesting program. The program centered around a study of the novelists of Virginia, with special attention given to James Branch Cabell, Ellen Glasgow, Sidney Harrison, John Fox, Mary Newton Standert, John Erskine Cook and Mary Johnston. Several interesting incidents connected with these novelists served to make interest keener. It was learned that Mary Johnston was born not far from Farmville and was related to Col. Joseph E. Johnston, whose home was "Longwood." Ellen Glasgow often visited in and near Farmville.

Miss Whitten, at one time a member of the faculty of our college, has written chiefly short stories. It was quite appropriate and entertaining to have a story told which she wrote and submitted to a national contest, winning the first prize. Our own Miss Jennie has written a story of the life of Father Tabb which has aroused much interest throughout the country and is especially interesting to us.

It was decided that at the meeting the first week in May the society would elect officers for next year. At a special meeting these new officers will be installed after which they will be ready to accept the full duties of their office.

STUDENTS INTERESTED IN TOWN BEAUTY CAMPAIGN

Make Farmville Beautiful Month is now in progress, and many improvements are being made in the town. Miss Florence Stubbs, of the S. T. C. faculty, is in charge of the work which is being carried on through the Woman's Club. A select committee from the men and women of the town and college is in immediate charge of the work, there being a district committee for each section of the town.

The plan is to devote the entire month of April to an effort to get people to make certain improvements in their premises, cleaning up and painting up where needed. Much of this work is really being carried on throughout the year, but it is hoped that the movement now on foot will call more strongly to the attention of the people of Farmville the fact that there are many possibilities in the town

Dr. Reed, of V. P. I., was here last Wednesday and Thursday conferring wtih the committee as to improvements that could be made in many sections of the town. It is hoped that all residents of the town, including the S. T. C. students, will make efforts to carry out the idea back of the Make-Farmville-Beautiful movement.

APPRECIATION OF BACK STAGE PERFORMANCE

(Continued from Page 1)

For two years Frances Wilson has been the efficient property man for the Dramatic Club. This year she has as her assistant, Maria Warren, who is being trained in the way property men should go.

The effects created through scenery, lights and costumes are the results of the creative genius of Mary Oliver Ellington, Loulie Millner, Nettie Boynton, Myra Costen, Leyburn Hyatt and Evelyn Henderson. The conscientious efforts on the part of these girls made "The Return of Peter Grimm" possible and the prestige of the Dramatic Club certain.

FIELD AND TRACK

Where, oh where, are the runners and jumpers of S. T. C.? Field and track practices have been held and only a few of this very athletic student body have even put in an appearance. Do not fail to come because you are not among the best. None of us are, but think of the fun you will have dashing up and down the field or breaking your record in the high jump. Don't be bashful, but come out and practice and surprise yourselves and all of us. Keep the athletic thermometer up to the 100 per cent mark by doing the best that you can.

The athletic association wishes to remind the student body that elections of minor officers will be held this week, and to ask that each student carefully consider the candidates before voting.

This year the heads of sports will not be elected, but they will be appointed by the Athletic Association as the seasons come around. In this way, those girls who are most interested in will be appointed as head of that particular sport.

MONOGRAM

Are you going to win your monogram or your blazer this year? If so, get busy and get all the required points, because by 6 p. m., May 11, all monogram points must be in. Hikes will be held regularly and practices scheduled until that date. Members of the monogram club will be present to help all who come out to practice.

It is an honor to wear the monogram with its field of blue and the white S. T. C. for it is the symbol of our Alma Mater. It likewise means that its wearer is proficient in all sports, for in the monogram requirements each sport is represented.

So Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors, come out and work and enjoy wearing the reward which will come to you, and give to your class a chance of having its colors wave on high.

S. T. C. SUPERLATIVES

Typical Senior	Pannie Willis
Typical Junior	Lucille Graves
Typical Sophomore	Elsie Clements
Freshest Freshman	Martha Walters
Most Original	Etta Marshall
Most Literary	Pearl Etheridge
Best Debater	Virginia Pettigrew
Most Sophisticated	Frances Millican
Biggest Baby	Anne Chapin
Best Sport	Nancy Nelms
Best Athlete	Mary Frances Hatchett
"Miss Vogue"	"Tune" Casey
Most in Love	Baby Fitzpatrick
Biggest Man Hater	Anna Cehoon
Peppiest	Edith Britt
Most Fascinating	Bugs Revercomb
Best Shagger	Alice Covington
Wittiest	Clara Norfleet
Laziest	Dot Anderson
Sweetest	Pannie Willis

Five Most Popular Teachers—Dr. Walmsley, Miss Iler, Miss Grenels, Mr. Bowman, Mr. Coyner.

BASEBALL

The rain served not only to dampen the spirits of every girl at S. T. C., but also the baseball diamond, making it impossible for even the bravest girls to venture forth and try her luck.

But with the scattering of the clouds practice will begin once more. Everyone is expected to be out for the game, all the more able to play because of the long rest.

FIELD AND TRACK

If you feel that it's exercise you lack,
Why not come out for field and track?
If you cannot jump very high,
In the dash you could certainly fly.
If in hop, step, jump you cannot make distance,
Over the hurdles—this may be no hindrance.
If you cannot throw a javelin with grace and ease,
You may throw a baseball just as you may please.
No matter what your talent may be,
We can satisfy you with a great variety.
If you cannot help your class on field and track day,
Why not be in the obstacle relay?

—Gwen Hardy.

The Athletic Association delightfully entertained the new girls at a party in the lounge from 10 to 10,30 p. m., Monday night.

Childhood days were recalled as the girls played simple games and a prize was awarded to the winner.

Before the party broke up, refreshments were served. After partaking of ice cream and cake, the girls went home feeling that another large chunk of ice was broken and S. T. C. a pleasanter place to live in.

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

AT THE EACO THEATRE
WEEK OF APRIL 22-27
Matinee Each Day at Four O'Clock.

Mon. and Tues, "Syncopation," the great road show atraction will be shown. The greatest attraction ever brought to the Eoca Theatre. A program loaded with harmony, hot tunes and happiness, Radio Pictures, all talking, all dancing, all singing revel. Special equipment will be installed in the theatre. You will see and hear everything just as this attraction was shown in New York at $2.00 admission prices. This great 12 reel production is one of the greatest road shows now showing in the large cities. Also M. G. M. news

Wdnesday, "Adventure Mad," a special Paramount picture enacted by a big selected cast The thrillingly dramatic story of a man who loves adventure more than his beautiful young wife and then his eyes opens to the futility of it all. It is something different. Also good added reel.

Thursday: Lon Chaney, Anita Page, Mae Busch and Polly Moran in the big super special, "While the City Sleeps." A love story in the grim shadows of the tombs. A gorgeous romance with a beautiful new leading lady. A splendid cast—and a story you'll never forget. Also good comedy.

Fri. and Sat. At Mats. Only: Lois Wilson with excellent supporting cast in "Object Alimony." Here's drama of the sort that holds you enthralled while an intensely human story of love, pride and adventure unfolds before you. You'll like it. Also comedy.

Fri. and Sat. At Nights Only: Janet Gaynor with Charles Farrell in "The Street Angel" a super special production. She came to him out of the murk and fog of a Napolitan waterfront—tantalizing, adorable. Then the ghost of her past came back to haunt their nights of love, bringing heartache and scene upon scene of the most intense kind of drama. One of the best pictures of recent years. Also news. Oddity and comedy.

Admission to S. T. C. girls at college: Mon. and Tues. tickets sold at Thatre only, mats. 50 cents, nights, 75 cents; Fri. and Sat. nights, 35 cents, other shows 25 cents, if tickets are bought at college.

COME OUT FOR BASEBALL

ROTUNDA

TECH SCANDALS HERE SATURDAY

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, APR. 24, 1929 No. 26

S. T. C. DIVIDES FORENSIC VICTORIES

Wins One Each of Dual Debates With Bridgewater and Harrisonburg

SHEPHEARD WINS IN ORATORY

Bentley and Laing, Graybeal and Pettigrew Win in Debate on Jury System

If a fifty-fifty division is fair to all, the result of public speaking contests engaged in by S. T. C. last week should have been satisfactory to all, as S. T. C. won half of the contests. and her opponents won the other half. Bridgewater College and Harrisonburg State Teachers' College were each met in a duel debate. Nellie Talley and Ann Pleasants Hopkins went to Bridgewater and lost on the affirmative of the question that there should be a substitute for trial by jury. Catherine Bentley and Martha Ann Laing debated the negative of the same question here Thursday evening and gained a unanimous decision from Bridgewater. Frday evening Evelyn Graybeal and Virginia Pettigrew won a unanimous decision from Harrisonburg on the same question.

Friday evening Gertrude Shepheard defeated Eilzabeth Kaminsky, the Harrisonburg orator, at Harrisonburg, and Martha Ann Laing lost to the Harrisonburg orator here. The subject for all four orations was "Woodrow Wilson, a Martyr to World Peace." Elizabeth Kaminsky is the champion orator of this province of Pi Kappa Delta. She has been at work in this field for seven years and has never been defeated. This is Miss Shepheard's first oration.

DR. DOUGLAS SPEAKS ON VISUAL EDUCATION

Speaking from a knowledge of various experiments in his own laboratory, as well as his experiences with educational films in the State of Wisconsin, Dr. Douglas, of the University of Wisconsin, enumerated the advantages of visual education in a lecture Wednesday, April 17, at chapel hour.

Through the efforts of Miss Heinrich, extension director of Citizenship Education at the University of Virginia, the educational film is being recognized and used in the State of Virginia. In introducing Dr. Douglas to the student body, Miss Heinrich expressed the hope that visual education would be more extensively used in the future.

In speaking of his classes at the University of Wisconsin, Dr. Douglas emphasized the fact that few of his pupils had ever seen a live starfish, since they were found to use

Continued on page three

SECONDARY OFFICERS AND CLASS LEADERS ELECTED DURING WEEK

GIRLS RECENTLY ELECTED TO HOLD SECONDARY OFFICES

Top Row—Blanche Murrill, Secretary Y. W. C. A.; Martha Farris, Treasurer Y. W. C. A.; Rena Roberston, Undergraduate Representative Y. W. C. A. Middle Row—Virginia Gurley, Vice-President Student Council; Eleanor Hogan, Secretary Student Council; Virginia Robertson, Campus League Chairman; Frances Wilson, Literary Editor Virginian; Elizabeth Taylor, Business Manager Virginian. Bottom Row—Laura N. Smith, Treasurer Athletic Association; Nelly Tally, Business Manager The Voice; Virginia Pettigrew, Associate Editor Rotunda; Sara McCorkle, Business Manager Rotunda. Those girls whose pictures are not included—Suzanne Holland; Treasurer Student Council; Margaret Leonard, Vice-President Y. W. C. A.; Allie Oliver, Vice-President Athletic Association; Claudia Fleming, Secretary Athletic Association; Frances Whitehead, Art Editor Virginian.

Executive Board of Organizations Completed by Popular Elections

LAURA N. SMITH HEADS JUNIORS

Class Representatives to Student Council for 1929-30 Elected

Friday, April 19, the student body elected its minor offices following up the major elections of the previous week. The results are:

Student Council

Vice-President	Virginia Gurley
Secretary	Eleanor Hogan
Treasurer	Suzanne Holland
Campus League Chairman	Virginia Robertson

Y. W. C. A.

Vice-President	Margaret Leonard
Secretary	Blanche Murrell
Treasurer	Martha Farris
Undergraduate Representative	Rena Robertson

Athletic Association

Vice-President	Allie Oliver
Secretary	Claudia Fleming
Treasurer	Laura N. Smith

Virginian

Business Manager	Elizabeth Taylor
Literary Editor	Frances Wilson
Art Editor	Frances Whitehead

The Voice

Business Manager	Nellie Tally

Rotunda

Associate Editor	Virginia Pettigrew
Business Manager	Sara McCorkle

It is felt that these girls will prove adequate leaders of Alma Mater for '29-'30.

At a meeting of the Sophomore class Wednesday night, the following officers were elected:

Continued on last page

S. T. C. CHORAL CLUB BROADCASTS FROM WRVA

Sing Cantata "The Sleeping Beauty"; Nancy Denit, Soloist

Thursday, April 18, the Chromatic Club and several members of the Choral Club motored to Richmond to broadcast from Station WRVA, under the direction of Miss Helen Turner.

The feature of the program was a cantata "The Sleeping Beauty," by Frances McCollin, with Nancy Denit as soprano soloist and Mr. Jos. Whittemore, of Richmond, as tenor soloist. Besides the cantata the following numbers were given:

"Salutation"—Gaines.

"Sing, Oh Sing"—James Dunn.

"When the Roses Bloom"—Reichardt.

"My Lover is a Fisherman"—Strickland.

"Night"—Clokey.

"Rain"—Harriett Turner

"The Top O' the Morning"—Mana-Zucca.

"Blest Are the Pure in Heart"—Berwald.

"C'est Mon Ami"—French Air.

After the program the club was guest of Mr. Bishop WRVA manager, who served refreshments.

Continued on last page

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF ALPHA KAPPA GAMMA APRIL 26-27

Circles Send Representatives to S. T. C. for First National Conference

The first national convention of Alpha Kappa Gamma, woman's honorary fraternity in leadership, will be held at S. T. C., April 26-27, Joan Circle acting as hostess. National officers and official representatives of each circle will meet to consider problems of the fraternity, make future plans and perfect the organization of the new fraternity.

The annual formal banquet of Alpha Kappa Gamma will be held Friday evening, for which many alumnae are expected to return.

Alpha Kappa Gamma had its beginning in 1928, when representatives from organizations of this college, of Queen's College, Charlotte, N. C., and University of South Carolina met to create the new fraternity.

In our own college the organization has had an interesting history. "Realizing the need in the college of an organization which aimed to interpret and foster the best ideals of leadership and service for the college

(Continued on last Page.)

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB PRESENTS FINE PROGRAM

Collegiate Singers Please Audience With Variety of Songs

The University of Virginia Glee Club, under the direction of Dr. Arthur Fickenscher, opened its program here last Monday evening with a group consisting of the college "Alma Mater Song," Arcadets' "Ava Maria" and a modern spiritual by Burleigh.

Following the opening numbers came a series of other group selections which were particularly enjoyable in their variety. Included among these were several solo numbers by Mr. Joseph O'Donnell, one of which ("The Blind Ploughman") proved itself to be a general favorite. That lovely duet, "In This Solemn Hour," from La Forza del Destins, was also enjoyed as sung by Mr. O'Donnell and Mr. Howell.

The second part of the program das designated to "Fantasies in Rhythm," as arranged by the Glee Club members for piano, banjo and voice. We might mention here that Mr. Elliott and his trio left us with no doubt as to the "peppy" qualities of our modern popular melodies.

Continued on last page

SCANDALS OF V. P. I. COME TO S. T. C.

Saturday night, April 27, we are looking forward to an entirely new feature at S. T. C. The V. P. I. Dramatic Club will present a Musical Review in our auditorium. "Tech Scandals" has a cast of thirty boys who promise a most interesting entertainment. The program has been presented at Radford S. T. C. and Harrisonburg S. T. C. with great success.

A word or two about the choruses will convince you that Saturday night holds a lot of fun and frolic in store for you. There will be a very taking feature n which the characters will be dressed in the "Gay Nineties"—basque, bustle and all. Then there are boys who dance the Argentine Tango. They are as good as any professionals. This is done in costume, of course, the lady wearing a costume of black lace, and scarlet and gold brocade. Another attraction is the "Gibson Girls" in a chorus with a colonial number.

The program is varied, exciting, and elaborate in color. You can't afford to miss it. Fifty cents for everybody and the hour is eight o'clock.

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

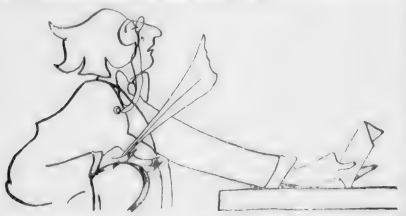
Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... GILBERTA KNIGHT
Art ..... LOULIE MELNER
Feature ..... MARY SELDEN
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31
ANNA BRUCE WHITMORE

Proof Reader



MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

BLUE RIDGE INSPIRATION

Happiness and abundant living are inevitably described in terms of height: heights of joy, peaks of inspiration, lofty ideals, and the like. High places are as strength for us: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, whence cometh my help."

Blue Ridge, in the heart of our glorious mountains, is the peak of a college girl's experience. Here, if ever, a girl finds the best that she has, and knows the joy of the expression. It is a time of revelation of the great forces of the world and the greater perhaps, of the single soul. Work, play, worship, friendship, all old, are new at Blue Ridge, as a new note is touched. The truest, the most beautiful, the finest of all we have known, in some strange way, finds itself a part of us in the ten days of complete joy. Whether it be the superb mountain tops blue from Lee Hall, the sincerity of a Christian heart, the lure of the mountain trail and the open road, the enveloping peace of quiet, the gaiety of song and chatter, the satisfaction of tennis and swimming, the midnight hour by a dying fire when the best is left unsaid, or the questioning search of our own selves, there is here a spirit in and about and through it all, known only to Blue Ridge, but the epitome of happiness.

Words are futile, again. The most or the least, we might say, is perhaps equally unsatisfactory. Spirit understands what mind cannot express. Blue Ridge is accessible to many. Take thought, and find your way to Blue Ridge in the land of the sky!

"THAT IS SUCCESS"

Another school year is drawing to a close, with its heartaches and its pleasures. Other girls are going out into the world to seek for Life and Love and God. Some of them will leave school with a song on their lips and adventure in their hearts. Others will take up the task of the potter and mold the minds of our future citizens. Still others—a few—will leave with drooping shoulders and downcast eyes, because the goal for which they were striving was not reached and they see only failure ahead.

It is never too late to start again, or it is never too late to complete the task. Within the next few weeks why not try to get the most out of everything so that you too can go away with a smile of courage and satisfaction

Before God's footstool, to confess
A poor soul knelt, and bowed his head.
"I failed!" he cried. The Master said:
"Thou dids't thy best—That is success."

SERVICE A PRIVILEGE

It is no longer deemed adequate that a teacher be proficient in subject matter only. Every department in the institution lends its assistance to the department of education in inspiring young teachers with the loftiest ideals of what a true teacher should be and what sort of service should be given to the state.

If we lived in the institution and did not imbibe the spirit of college ours would be a limited service.

"School Spirit," a seemingly hackneyed phrase, at times is the only one which can and does express our feeling toward alma mater. Grown old, with use, we seldom, if ever, think of its real significance. "School Spirit" in our institution bears a meaning peculiarly singular to our school. It has meant, from the beginning, a spirit of friendliness, of service, of loyalty and devotion among faculty, students, the administration and the employees of the college; an interest in people reaching a point where our willingness to serve outweighs our obligation; a translation of duty into privileges; a desire to make life fairer, finer and happier.

It is our privilege to so imbibe this spirit which permeates our campus, that our lives and the lives of those we reach as teachers will be better for our having lived here, thus rendering the highest possible service as future citizens of the state of Virginia.

YOUR PART IN MAY DAY

May Day is little more than a week away. The festival this year will be unique in its setting and theme. Longwood will be used for the first time for festivity of the entire college. Its beauties, already known to most of us, will form a setting of rare quality for the May Day festival, the occasion of all the year in which most people have a part. The theme, Sleeping Beauty, will be at once realistic and fantastic. The beautiful costumes conform neither to period nor place, but are selected from the most attractive of apparel of time, in true fairy fashion. We know people don't lose their love of the charm of a fairy tale; now they will see one come true!

Anything truly beautiful demands the most careful attention to the whole and examination of most minute details. When two hundred people compose the cast, then all those and many more must give their best to make a successful whole. Dependability, a sturdy, solid quality is the first essential upon which the beauty of the festival depends.

The faculty and students in charge have been working for a long time to perfect the details of the plans. Now the process of seeing the plans work out demands many hours of work. Unfortunately, the happy spirit of co-operation has not always been in evidence. Volunteers are needed to complete the work, and unquestioning co-operation must be shown by all already taking part to insure the perfect thing of beauty which is our ideal of May Day.

OPEN FORUM

CHAPEL AT S. T. C.

Dear Editor:

We usualy think of chapel as an hour of reverence for the students and the faculty. It is the only time during the day that all the students are together. I am inclined to think, however, that if a stranger were to visit our chapel he would get the wrong impression as to the meaning of chapel to us. He would also form a bad opinion of the students as well as the college.

In the first place we are forced to attend chapel, a fact that seems a little out of harmony with the purpose of chapel. It should be a privilege to join the students in their morning worship. The girls do not seem to think about it in this way. They are continually devising ways of cutting out chapel and of keeping from having a seat assigned. This is a very bad attitude that the girls take. It is this attitude of some few of the girls that makes it necessary to have strict regulations for chapel attendance.

The girls get their morning mail on the way to chapel which mars the sacredness of the occasion. In the hands of a great many students are new letters, over which we hear a continual chatter, and then a loud laugh. The pianist strikes a chord to remind them where they are. This impresses only a few, and others turn a deaf ear to the signal.

The pianist begins to play the Alma Mater. The students rise automatically with a few exceptions. A few of the girls remain in their seats as if they were glued there. Some read dime novels, others peruse their most interesting letters. What is the matter with these individuals? Haven't they any respect for the school and its faculty?

Dr. Jarman rises to read a selection from the Bible. Although his voice is very clear and carries well, he is very seldom heard in the back of the auditorium. It seems as if courtesy does not exist at all among the students.

And so we find the chapel problem to be the most difficult problem to handle on the campus. Is it the fault of the student government or does the responsibility lie upon us as individuals? I think we can easily say that to make chapel a success at S. T. C. each individual must have a part in the effort.

B. N. '31

COSMETICS

"Beauty is only skin deep." Is this absolutely true? When one speaks of a beautiful person, we think of mere physical appearance, but real beauty is something more than that. Perhaps it might be true that prettiness is only skin deep, but is it possible for a small souled person to be beautiful? I've known a girl who was called beautiful and yet her face was always a blank. She had no animation and no pep. That is not what I call beauty. Of course lovely features are a great asset; in fact we would hardly say a homely girl was beautiful regardless of her character, but neither would we call a girl with no high ideals beautiful regardless of her face. I have never seen a girl, no matter how lovel her features, who, if she were not fine, didn't show it in her face, and I've never seen a beautiful character that didn't show also.

Let all of us think of this and try to improve our looks. This remedy is worth any number of beauty aids.

SUNRISE ON THE LAKE

The glooms of the forest are woven,
Into intricate shadows and shades,
And the somber pine-trees are cloven
Into myriads of dark, dusky glades;
And virginal twilights are hidden
In gray closets of lonely desire,
Where lovers of solitude, bidden,
Come to dream, and to hope, and aspire.
On the verge of the lake, in long lines,
Stand drab cat-tails, and dull, broken reeds;
And bright berries gleam forth from the vines
Like clusters of red coral beads.
Then a delicate, bluish-gray mist
Mounts to flacculent clouds, that lie
At the gates of the dawn, and are kissed
By the primrose suffusing the sky.
Now gold with the primrose is blending;
I watch the soft pink fade away—
The pale night is rapidly ending
To make place for the radiant day.

A. S. H. '32

ON HAVING CURLY HAIR

When I was a child small enough to believe in fairies, I often wished that one would suddenly spring "out of the nowhere into the here" and say to me, "My little girl, you may have one wish come true." Do you think I would wish for a million dollars? Would you? Well, I liked the shining coins; I loved the pretty dolls and pink dresses they would buy, but I knew even then that money could not buy the thing I wanted most—curly hair. You see, I had talked it over with mother, and she had said that you could not buy curly hair with a million dollars.

And so I concluded that some people are just born lucky. I wasn't. Friday, the thirteenth, has gone down in the encyclopedias and dictionaries as the unluckiest of days. Well, I didn't have any say so about the day on which I was born. Why should I have to suffer.

Years passed. My hair grew longer and straighter, if possible. Once I spent my only half-dollar for a bottle of pink soap-sudsy liquid called "Curlene." Thinking myself almost grown up now, I longed more than ever for this neccessary asset to beauty. Although to me fifty cents pieces were not handed out for the asking, I was willing to exchange this one for the Curlene.

Yes, you have guessed right. It was like the jelly that would not jell. It made my hair all messy and sticky and pasted it right to my head. I thought perhaps it was going to make it flat for I had heard that curly hair is flat and straight hair is round. I waited patiently for something to happen, but in vain. My hair went on being as straight as ever. The lady said perhaps I had not used it right. Perhaps I didn't, I don't know. I do know that I bargained for fifty cents worth of curly hair and not one strand did I get. I have never had the same feeling for cosmetic agents since.

Someone has said that there are folks we like to pass on and folks we like to keep. Now I know I'd like to keep in my memory always the little girl who first curled my hair. It was an easy task for her. With a few

S. T. C. GIRLS JUDGE IN COUNTY DEBATE CONTESTS

On Friday, April 19, 1929, the counties surrounding Farmville held their debate and oratorical contests. Several of the Superintendents came to S. T. C. to get judges for these occasions. Mr. Babbitt of Charlotte County asked Sammy Scott, Peggy Walton, and Catherine Bentley to serve on the committee for the contests at Charlotte Court House. Frances Wilson, Mary Mann Baskerville and Grigsby Peck judged the contests held at John Randolph. The subject of the debates was the adoption of the county manager form of government in Virginia.

DELTA SIGMA CHI BANQUET

Delta Sigma Chi celebrated its tenth anniversary Saturday, April 20 with a lovely banquet; the theme centered around a spring garden and spring flowers were used profusely. Among the "old girls" back for the occasion Irene Stone, Agnes Tell, Virginia Burks, Mrs. Harry George (Jo Culin) Mary Culin, Girlie Wright, Mary Blackwell Parker, Kitty Roche, Virginia Ellis, Mary Minor Carter, Lillian Minor, Min Mason, Polly Aderholt, and Frances Sales.

BEING LARGE

I have an affliction—a terrible affliction. I am big. Do you realize the full import of that awful statement? It has a deep and terrible meaning. I am going to try to tell you just what it is to be large, so that you may thank your lucky stars you are small.

Bigness excludes romance from any situation. Can you imagine a girl five feet, nine inches and weighing a hundred and seventy pounds tripping lightly down a flight of steps to meet someone? If I tried it I would probably stumble and fall and look utterly awkward.

If I dance and jump around, everyone looks at me as if I were crazy. And all because I am a little, or rather, a good deal larger than somebody else. I must always be stately and dignified, or I look absolutely silly. I can never express my feelings properly. If I do, I look like an elephant trying to execute the "shag."

Also I am continually being teased. I am always hearing such remarks as "Watch out! that chair doesn't hold but three hundred pounds," or "Help! Eleanor stepped on my toe." As if I weighed a ton.

There are various other implications. If I go anywhere in a crowded car, I am always the one to be sat upon. And I am sure I couldn't be any heavier than some of the girls that sit on me.

Also so much is expected of one. Simply because I am big and look old enough to be able to grasp a little konwledge, I am expected to write poetry and behave like a lunatic (if you understand what I mean). Ever since I was very young (I don't think I've ever been small) I have always had to act about four years older than I really was. I'm getting tired of it. Do you suppose it would do me any good to quaff the contents of that little bottle that says "Drink Me?" It had some effect on one person. Perhaps it would work in my case. I think I'll try. . . . .

Wait! before I do it, let me tell one more of my many troubles. Clothes! Never can I find a dress to fit me. I become enraged, pull myself to pieces, use bad words—all in vain. The saleswoman says sweetly, "I'm afraid that's a little too small."

It's a terrible life! —E. D. '32.

WORLD NEWS

Uncle Sam's prize handy man has another job. Former vice-President Charles G. Dawes who receives the title from the United press, is going to London as President Hoover's Ambassador to the court of St. James. He will succeed Alanson B. Houghton.

As we understand it, the ship-building race between the United States and Great Britain is the first slow nation race in history. Kay Features.

The U. S. Airplane-Carriers Saratoga and Lexington—the two largest ships afloat—could rest, without their masts, side by side inside the airship hangar soon to be erected at the Muncipal airport, Akron, Ohio; and the Washington monument and the Statue of Liberty, end to end, could lie alongside them and still there would be room. This immense hangar will be used in the construction of the first of the two gigantic airships for the United States Navy. It will cost $2,500,000.

A huge petrified forest, rivaling and perhaps exceeding in extent and interest those of our own land, has been discovered in South America by a German explorer and rediscoverer.

TRAINING SCHOOL LITERARY SOCIETY HAS INTERESTING PROGRAM

The Literary Society of the Training School presented a very interesting program Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

The president, Mary Diehl, called the meeting to order, and after a little preliminary business, turned the program over to Elizabeth Burger. Poets of different sections of America were discussed, and several selections by each were read.

The most attractive number on the program was a reading by a delightful darkey. Later, we were told it was Martha Scott Watkins.

The last number on the program was a poem, "Teachers in Parade," composed by Mary Diehl.

ON HAVING CURLY HAIR

(Continued from page two)

strings and a little water she rolled it over always and tied it under. Next morning with a twist and a twirl I had six long beautiful curls.

Don't think I minded the misery of the process, or the uncomfortableness of sleeping with little knobs all over my head. I endured it like a martyr.

Today I'm so glad that smart people have invented so many fixtures for curling hair. Perhaps too, they were not born lucky.

"Rosemary for Remembrance," they say, and though I have none, I shall keep always one of those little ragged strings in remembrance of the little girl whom I would not like to pass on.

L. V. S. '32

DR. DOUGLAS SPEAKS ON VISUAL EDUCATION

Continued from page one

pickled specimens in the laboratory. Because of the unusual traits of the starfish, he was unwilling to dispense with the study of its life processes. Visual education has eliminated all difficulties in the study of the starfish, and as Dr. Douglas pointed out, this is only one example of the changes wrought by the motion picture in the educational field. He said, "The students can see, with their own eyes, the great life processes. The great possibility of visual education is the opportunity of teaching life at first hand."

AMONG OUR CAPS AND GOWNS

EMMA WOODS

Emma's four years at Farmville have been four years of service and devotion to her alma mater. Whatever she undertakes she does it well. In her estimation, anything worth doing at all is worth doing well.

As an outstanding leader in athletics, she is one of the three girls who have won a blazer. She has also done outstanding work on the student council, and in other phases of college life.

To sum up all of her characteristics in one adjective, it would be "dependable." When she tells you that she will do something for you it is as good as done then. Once a friend, always a friend.

The senior class of 1930 will have a hard time finding anyone capable of filling Emma's place, but wherever she goes she will have our best wishes and love.

MABEL FITZPATRICK

An A. C. D. Mitchell sketch of a big fur coat, dizzy-heeled slippers, a jaunty felt hat, and a very small girl—that's "Baby," with her sophisticated air and haughtily tilted chm. To those who know her best, there is also Mabel, with her fascinating charm that enables her to keep about her always a host of friends. In the short time that she has been here we have discovered what an able artist she is. But it is not alone for her dramatic ability that we love her. Her sincerity and willingness to assist in the smallest of tasks has proved what a friend and ready helper she can be. Mabel Fitzpatrick, the most completely unselfish and lovable child who ever smiled and loafed and dreamed—she has found her way to the depths of the hearts of us all.

PEGGY WALTON

When anyone meets Peggy Walton they in reality meet about four people, for there is Peg, the Business Manager; Peg, the Teacher; Peg, the Student, and Peg, the Friend.

For two years Peggy has been the Business Manager of the Rotunda. She manages our financial affairs so well that we are never in debt. It was partly thru her initiative that our new literary magazine, The Voice, was begun. Because of her outstanding ability in these many phases, Alpha Kappa Gamma has recognized her leadership; Pi Gamma Mu, her interest and proficiency in Social Science and Kappa Delta Pi, her scholastic achievement. If there were an honor society, for the recognition of friendship, Peg would make that too, but there isn't so we, her friends, must take its place and recognize this side of her character. When June comes and our Seniors leave, there will be few so genuinely missed as Peggy.

SPECIAL THIS WEEK

146 Beautiful new Spring Frocks in the season's most charming styles and color combinations. Frocks for dress, street and sport wear.

Values to $12.95—Special:

$4.85

BALDWINS

"Where the girl who knows buys her clothes."

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
MOTHER'S DAY CARDS
WHITMAN'S & NUNNALLY'S
Candy For
MOTHER'S DAY

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS —— DRESSES
GLOVES — NEW SPRING SHOES — DRESS GOODS
are here in
Blue, Green Blonde
Price $5 and up
We invite your inspection
HATS — DAVIDSON'S — NOTIONS
The House of Quality
SHOES —— HOSIERY

HUB FASHION SHOW
Thursday, May 2
EACO THEATRE
This will be the most comprehensive display of latest designs on living models ever seen in Farmville.
You are Invited
Benefit of the Southside Hospital
HUB
DEPT. STORE

ROTUNDA JOKES

A college is like a laundry—you always get out of it just what you put in it but sometime you have a hard time recognizing it.

A Fairy Tale—Once a man had a cigarette lighter that lighted as infrequently as the humorous publications would have us believe.

Prohibition Officer: "Sonny. d'ya wanna make five dollars?"

Mountaineer Boy: "Sure. How?

Officer: "I'll give you five to take me up this creek to the whiskey still."

Mountaineer: "All right. Give me the five."

Officer "Oh, I'll pay when we come back."

Mountaineer: "Mister, you hain't coming back."

Well, if he can't write a love letter that I'm proud to show to the other girls in the house, I'll just have to send him back his pin, that's all.

—Texas Ranger.

Just the Same—Centuries may pass, but humanity remains very much the same. The Bible tells us that Lot's wife looked back and turned into a pillar of salt. The other day one of the faculty members looked back and turned into a telephone pole.

Here lies John Doe, a lawyer—an honest man.

The youth looked at this sign on the grave and turning to his companion, said: "Must be hard up for land when they get to burying two men in one grave."

Stewdent—Shay, whatsa big idear trine ta crib offa thish paper of mine?

Student—I wasn't trying to crib, I was trying to figure out how you got the same answer I did.

Disgusted Lady—"Does your mother know you smoke?"

Small Boy—"Does your husband know you speak to strange men on the street?" —Ghost.

So your father knows the exact moment he will die, does he—the exact year, month and day?"

"Yassuh, he had ought to. The judge tole him."

BRAZILIAN RACE PROBLEM DISCUSSED BY MR. BILDEN

The members of the Pi Gamma Mu had the pleasure last Monday of hearing a talk by Mr. Rudiger Bilden on some aspects of the Brazilian race problem.

Mr. Bilden is a native of the Rhinelands, but for the past fourteen years he has lived in the United States. He is now studying at Columbia University. For the past three years Mr. Bilden has been a Research Fellow in Brazilian History and is a member-elect of the Brazilian Academy of History and Geography He is at present writing a history of Brazil in the light of that country's slavery problem.

ALICE DAVIS WINS VOCAL PRIZE AT FREDERICKSBURG

Miss Alice Davis, one of our alumnae, was recently declared the winner student contralto in the junior student and young artists musical contests held at Fredericksburg. The contest was held under the auspices of the Virginia Federation of Music Clubs and the Virginia Music Teachers' Association, in joint session.

Alice is now teaching in Hampton.

ENTERTAINMENTS

Anyone would think we were living in a metropolis because there is something to do or somethng to see from now till June.

Almost every club and organization is having a picnic "if it doesn't rain," and every Saturday night we have some form of entertainment booked.

Wouldn't it be nice if all of them were free? As it is some of us have to make a choice. That is hard to do, because we are not supposed to flip coins; and we can't select the best, because they are all good.

One thing that we are all looking forward to, however is May Day. That is something that none of us can miss.

BLUE RIDGE FUNDS OPEN TO STUDENTS

The Y. W. C. A. conference will be held at Blue Ridge, N. C., June 5-15. This is such a wonderful opportunity that is open for all who wish to go, that there has been set aside a Blue Ridge fund, from which students may borrow the money for the conference. These loans will be without interest for three years, after which the interest will be 4 per cent. Former students have borrowed from this fund. Now the opportunity is given to you. The trip will cost opproximately $65 or $70. Any "Blue Ridger" will tell you the conference is worth more than the money spent.

BASEBALL GAMES SCHEDULED IN MAY

The baseball games will be played the first week in May, so all girls should be out at all scheduled practices. The first game will be played between the Sopohomores and Freshmen, the second between the Seniors and Sophomores. This year the interest in baseball runs high. For the past three years honors in baseball have gone to red and white. Will the championship still remains with them, or will the green and white break forth and capture the baseball points?

RESULTS OF ELECTION

Continued from page one

President, Laura N. Smith.

Vice-President, Martha Faris.

Secretary, Catherine McAllister.

Treasurer, Alma Hunt.

Student Standards Representative, Margaret Faris.

Class Council Representatives, Elizabeth Taylor, Mildred Maddrey.

Miss Virginia Potts was unanimously elected a classman for the coming year.

Student Council Representatives, from the Junior Class are Emily McGavock and Ruch Royal.

Freshman representatives for next year are Ruth Hunt and Nancy Hudgins.

ALUMNAE NEWS

Miss Marjorie Thomas, of South Hill, represented the Seventh senatorial district as princess at the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.

The school children of Winchester presented a pageant, "The Builders," as one of the outstanding features of the Apple Blossom Festival. The gorgeous and artistic costuming for the five hundred children participating was under the direction of Miss Eula Harris and Miss Katherine Pannill.

Mrs. Robert Lee Turman. who is a sister of Dr. John Garland Pollard, has been speaking for the National League of Women Voters at conventions in Tennessee. Mississippi, Florida and South Carolina. She was one of the principle speakers at the ninth annual convention of the Virginia League of Women Voters held in Norfolk on April 18 and 19. In Tennessee she spoke at the victory luncheon celebrating the passage of the notice of marriage bill, on which the league had worked for several years.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Weldon Smith, of Farmville. have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ellen Harriett, to William Leon Mason, of Bloxom, Va. The wedding will take place in June.

Another summer wedding will be that of Miss Elmer Stringfellow, of Culpeper, whose engagement to A. Landon Gray, of Waverly, has just been announced.

MONOGRAM CLUB ENJOYS PICNIC

The members of the Monogram Club, with their Freshmen guests, hiked to Longwood Tuesday afternoon where they were delighted to find an open fire and a picnic supper waiting for them. After eating bountifully of hot dogs, bacon and sandwiches, they were told to go out and hunt for hidden treasure. The treasure when found was a huge freezer of Eskimo pie.

At about seven o'clock, the homeward hike was begun and they arrived at S. T. C., tired and worn out but satisfied with the world.

ATHLETIC SCEDULE

Monday, 4 p. m., Junior and Freshman baseball; 5 p. m., Senior and Sophomore baseball.

Tuesday, Field, track and archery.

Wednesday, 4 p. m., Senior and Sophomore baseball; 5 p. m., Junior and Freshman baseball.

Thursday, Field, track and archery.

Friday, 4 p. m., Junior and Freshman baseball; 5 p. m., Senior and Sopohmore baseball.

Saturday, 2 p. m., 5 and 10 mile monogram hikes.

S. T. C. CHORAL CLUB BROADCASTS FROM WRVA

(Continued from First Page)

Those broadcasting were:

Miss Helen Turner, director; Lucretia Province, Elizabeth Taylor, Nancy Denit, Margaret Hubbard, Mary Farrier, Gertrude Jarman, Ethel Willey, Letitia Penn, Frances Guthrie, Florence Cralle, Emiline Marshall. Lois Fraser,Virginia Marshall,Annie Belle Anderson, Adele Hutchinson, Edith Coleman, Ellie Cutchin, Lillian Holstead, Frances Hanmer.

The club is particularly indebted to Messrs. Coleman, Paulette and Hubbard, and Miss Lucretia Province for their kind services in taking the club to Richmond.

Love—the delusion that one woman differs from another.

ALPHA KAPPA GAMMA CONVENTION APRIL 26-27

Continued from page one

as a whole rather than in any of its special fields of activity and in the hope of promoting broadly the best interests of the college by developing a high conception of the responsibility fo leadership among the students," in 1926 the Joan Circle of Alpha Delta Rho had its beginning. The three Greek letters symbolized character, accomplishment and influence. The purpose was triune in its nature:

1. To foster high ideals and set up standards for constructive leadership among the students of the college.

2. To promote desirable coordination of various college interests, activities and organizations.

3. To secure the co-operation of representative students and representative members of the faculty in the solution of college problems.

Realizing, too, that throughout the country on other campuses there were other groups attempting like projects and believing that contact with other colleges would lead to more judgment gained through experience, this group joined the national fraternity of Alpha Kappa Gamma. With a few changes the purpose was the same.

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB PRESENTS FINE PROGRAM

(Continued from page one)

The concert was brought to a grand finale by the entire chorus singing the "Good Old Song," a truly familiar air to all of us.

S. A. LEGUS

TAILORING

CLEANING

PRESSING

FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

Electric Shoe Shop

Will Fix Your Shoes

WHILE YOU WAIT

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

Headquarters for

S. T. C. GIRLS

Come in and get acquainted

We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S

For the Best Place

TO EAT AND DRINK

in Farmville

Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry

Handkerchiefs, Pictures

Falconer Gift Shop

Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.

236 Main Street

Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop

Work done While you Wait With

First Class Material

110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—

Go Across The Street

GILLIAM'S

FOR EATS

OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music

Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, aesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES

The Odorless Suburban Cleaner

Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls

Washing Car for hire

Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,

THE JEWELER

The Store with

A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

AT THE EACO THEATRE

WEEK OF APR. 28-MAY 4

Matinee Each Day at 4 P. M.

Monday—Dorothy Mackall and Jack Mulhall, in "Waterfront." She was just a sailor's sweethetrt—when she wigwagged "I love you," half the navy asked for a night off. Imagine the fun when four jolly tars keep the same date with the same girl! A human love story with lots of laughs and a romantic background. Also Oddity and news reel.

Tuesday—Buster Keaton, in "The Cameraman," with Marceline Day in the supporting cast. The story of a newspaper cameraman whose efforts to make good, led him into many laughable blunders. This picture is one that will cause you to have many enjoyable laughs. Don't miss it! Also comedy.

Wednesday—George Bancroft with Evelyn Brent, in "The Dragnet." A Paramount picture. This is the strongest picture that Bancroft has yet appeared in. In it are rounded up all the tense and stirring drama you could hope for in a film. It is very good. Also comedy.

Thursday—Tom Mix with an excellent supporting cast, including Tony, his wonder horse, in "Outlawed," the type of outdoor picture that all lovers of action and thrills will enjoy. Tom is said to pull many unusual stunts in this production. Also 2-reel Western picture as added attraction.

Friday and Saturday (matinees only)—Ben Lyon and Dorothy Revier in "The Quitter." Love triumphs against the whole world in this thrilling drama of a man's regeneration. There is a thrill in every scene in this poignant love story. A sensational and intensely dramatic film. Also good comedy as added attraction.

Friday and Saturday (nights only)—Norma Talmadge with Gilbert Rolwand in "The Woman Disputed." A super-special production. The screen's greatest emotional actress in the greatest heart drama of her career. The love life of a redeemed woman set against a seething background of conflict and man-made passion. A cinema canvas to treasure as long as pluses beat and women love. Entertainment extraordinary. Also news and a special, "Manchu Love," shown in beautiful colors.

Admission to S. T. C. girls buying tickets at college, Friday and Saturday nights, 35c; all other shows, 25c.

FRESHMEN SPONSOR RAMBLIN' KEYDETS

ROTUNDA

MAY DAY AT LONGWOOD SATURDAY

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, THURSDAY, MAY 2, 1929 No. 27

ALPHA KAPPA GAMMA MEETING AT S. T. C.

First National Meeting Held Here April 26—27

JOAN CIRCLE IS HOSTESS

The first National meeting of Alpha Kappa Gamma was held on our campus last week-end, April 26—27. The organization originated last year when representatives from Farmville State Teachers College and University of South Carolina met at Queen's College, Charlotte, N. C., to form a national fraternity. The three circles, Joan, Florence Nightingale, and the Olympic, have looked forward to the meeting this year with great anticipation.

The convention opened on Friday evening with a banquet after which Miss Lula Andrews gave a most inspirational speech which had as its central theme, "Leadership in Thinking." Miss Andrews served as a faculty member here for fourteen years; then as head of the English Department of Peabody; later as dean of Winthrop College; and now she is head of extension work of University of Virginia with her headquarters at Richmond. Miss Andrews is the first honorary member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, and we felt greatly honored to have her with us throughout the convention. She did a most valuable service as advisor to the various committees.

The national officers which have served for the last year will be retained for the next:

Eirene Mayers, Univ. S. C. ..... Pres.
Louise McCormick, S. T. C..... V.-Pres.
Edith Cornwell. S. T. C. ..... Sec.
Rosalie Turner, Univ. S. C. .... Treas.

Jean Craig of Queen's College, who has been historian, was elected editor-in-chief of the bulletin. The Torch Bearer, which will be published quarterly; and another member of her group at Queen's will be elected to fill her place as historian.

The National Council felt that it

Continued on page three

SOPHOMORE CLASS PRESIDENT 1929-'30

VIRGINIA COX

S. T. C. DEBATES LYNCHBURG COL.

Thursday night, April 25, S. T. C. held her first debate with Lynchburg College. This is the first year that the girls of Lynchburg have ever debated. The subject was the much discussed jury question.

Anne Pleasants Hopkins and Nellie Talley upholding the affirmative side of the question defeated the representatives of Lynchburg College with a unanimous decision. The negative team which represented S. T. C. was composed of Martha Ann Laing and Catherine Bentley. This team lost by a 2 to 1 vote.

This debate was announced as the last of the season, but arrangements have been begun by Hampden-Sydney to arrange the resuming of our forensic relations with that college. Last year we did not meet Hampden-Sydney for several reasons, but it seems that perhaps some agreement may be reached this year.

Our record, as it stands now is about a fifty-fifty affair. We have won 6 debates and lost 7, we won in one oratorical contest and lost another. One of our Pi Kappa Delta representatives won second place in the ex tempore speaking contest at

Continued on page 3

MAY DAY TO BE PRESENTED AT LONGWOOD

Beautiful Natural Setting for Fairy Festival

VIRGINIA GURLEY, QUEEN

Everything is ready—dress rehearsals are in progress for the May Day Festival which will be held at Longwood Saturday, May 4. The program will begin at five forty-five or six o'clock. All of the May festivals given by S. T. C. in the past have been a credit to our Alma Mater, and this year will be no exception. The theme is that of the Sleeping Beauty, with a modern court as the background. Invite all your friends to be at Longwood by Saturday!

TECH SCANDALS PLEASES S. T. C. AUDIENCE

Presenting a group of dances, songs and skits in Tech Scandals on Saturday night, the Virginia Tech Dramatic Club receivd the aplause of a highly pleased audience.

The V. P. I. Quartet was particularly entertaining with its selection of popular song hits. Some of the dances rceiving special comment were the Argntine Tango, The Apache Dance, and the Novelty Dance. The Military Wedding and th Gay Nineties were amusing in their unique manner of presentation

Following the performance, the members numbering about thirty were entertained at an informal reception in the Student Building lounge.

DOLLY REED WINS TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

A fast well played tennis match closed Tuesday afternoon leaving the fall tennis championship to Dolly Reed.

In this game the contestants were both green and white. Martha Henderlite, a senior, played Dolly Reed, a sophomore, giving five points to green and white.

The score was 6—1, 5—7, 6—3. It was a hard match, especially in the second set, Henderlite almost winning the game from Reed but the sophomore proved the better of the two, and carried off fall tennis honors for the class of '31.

HONOR GRADUATES ANNOUNCED

Honor graduates were announced by Dr. Jarman in chapel Wednesday. In the senior class Pearl Etheridge receives first honor and Margaret Walton second. In the sophomore class Elizabeth Brockenbrough receives first honor, and Elsie Clements, second. The first honor graduates of the two classes will be valedictorian and salutatorian at Commencement, June 4.

SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT 1929-'30

LUCILLE GRAVES

STUDENT COUNCIL IS INSTALLED

Taking the plans of the old members of the Student Council, the new members were sworn into the active membership of the Student Government Association in the impressive ceremony which was held Monday night at seven o'clock.

After giving the oath of office to Etta Marshall, the new student government president, Pannie Willis removed her cap and gown and gave it to Etta, wishing her and her new council every success in their undertaking and thanking the student body for its cooperation during the year.

As the new members of her council were sworn into office, Etta Marshall said, "A student government is what the entire student body makes of it.'

STUDENTS INVITED TO Y. W. INSTALLATION

The entire student body is invited to attend the candle light installation services of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock. At this time the new cabinet will officially assume its duties.

GREEN AND WHITE CLASSES ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Graves and Cox Will Head the Graduating Classes of '30

PRESIDENTS RE-ELECTED

The junior class elected its officers for the coming year at a meeting Tuesday evening. Those chosen are:

President ..... Lucille Graves
Vice-President ..... Virginia Moore
Secretary ..... Billie Paris
Treasurer ..... Ethel Fisher
Student Standards Representatives—
Julia Asher, Mary F. Hatchett.
Class Council Representative—Nellie Talley

The freshman class, also, met and elected new officers Tuesday evening. They are:

President ..... Virginia Cox
Vice-President ..... Dot Thompson
Secretary ..... Lib Walker Brewer
Treasurer ..... Easter Souders
Student Standards Representatives—
Mary Priest, Virginia Bledsoe.
Class Council Representative—Henrietta Cornwall.

"PEG O' MY HEART" TO BE PRESENTED IN PETERSBURG

The Hampden-Sydney and S. T. C. Dramatic Clubs are planning to present their joint production "Peg O' My Heart" in Petersburg May 13. All of us remember with enjoyment this charming play which was given last fall. We are glad that our players have the opportunity of presenting one of the most enjoyable entertainments of the year in another vicinity.

V. M. I. RAMBLIN' KEYDETS AND MINSTREL HERE SATURDAY, MAY 4

One of the most attractive programs of the school year will be given at 8:15, Saturday evening, in the S. T. C. auditorium when the V. M. I. Minstrels will present their annual show. The program is divided into two parts; the first, the minstrel, which consists of music and all types of humorous selections. The second part is a playlet with the setting of a fashionable roof garden. The "Ramblin' Keydets,' well known V. M. I. orchestra will accompany the minstrel and enliven the program with various popular syncopations.

Several S. T. C. students have seen the program that will be presented here Saturday evening and say that it is the peppiest and most attractive minstrel they have ever seen.

The Freshman class is sponsoring this presentation and tickets may be bought from any member of the class, price fifty cents.

TRIP PLANNED FOR STUDENTS TO WASHINGTON AND HISTORICAL SPOTS

The History department of S. T. C., Farmville, Va., working in cooperation with the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce in their "Know Virginia Better" program, is offering to our students a historical tour of Virginia, May 10, 11, 12. As the trip is planned the party will leave Farmville early Friday morning for Charlottesville, where Monticello, the University, and other places of interest will be visited. During the afternoon the party will ge to Alexandria, where they will spend the night. Saturday will be spent in and about Washington. The trip from Washington to Jamestown, Williamsburg and Yorktown will be made by boat, Saturday night. Sunday morning the party will visit the places connected with the earliest settlements of our country and will attend services at historical Bruton Parish, Williamsburg. From here they will go to Richmond, where the afternoon will be spent. The party will return to Farmville Sunday night.

Girls interested in this trip may see Miss Pettit for expenses and further details of the trip. Because this is being carried on in connection with the Chamber of Commerce, the expenses will be as little as possible.

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... PEARL ETHERIDGE, '29
Associate Editor ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30

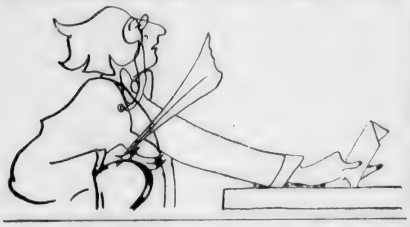
Board of Editors

News Editor ..... CATHERINE BENTLEY, '29
Literary ..... GLADYS WILKINSON, '29
Athletic ..... KATHERINE BULLY, '29
World News ..... LOIS FRASER, '29
Intercollegiate News ..... EVELYN THOMPSON, '29
Social ..... GILBERTA KNIGHT
Art ..... LOULIE MELNER
Feature ..... MARY SELDEN
Humorous ..... ELIZABETH TURNER, '31

Reporters

GILBERTA KNIGHT, '31 WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
ELIZABETH BROCKENBROUGH, '31
ELIZABETH FALCONER, '31
ANNA BRUCE WHITMORE

Proof Reader



MARY JANE WILKINSON, '29

Managers

Business Manager ..... MARGARET WALTON, '29
Assistant ..... FLORENCE BOOTON, '30
Circulation ..... ELIZABETH BOWERS, '29
Assistant ..... JANE COTTEN, '31

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

The Beginning of the End

Monday the new student government officers were formally installed; Thursday the new Y. W. C. A. cabinet will take their places. The Virginian staff of 1930 has met. This marks the last issue of the Rotunda of the 1928-'29 staff. So we realize that the year has come almost to a close.

As Pannie placed upon Etta her cap and gown, she gave to all new officers a symbol of their beginning, and relinquished the hold of all those of this year on the privilege of service which was theirs.

We who are leaving look back over the months that passed so rapidly until a year was done, and find many markers which pause the flight of memory. We started, happy and vigorous, idealistic and earnest, fired with the determination to carry on better even than our predecessors. We viewed our co-workers and found them good; we studied our student body; we served and knew that there was none better; we searched our field of endeavor tabulating this and that to accomplish, rejoicing in its possibilities.

The work began, harder than we had anticipated, but satisfying, though we hardy knew the element of content, so eager were we to press forward. Joys there were untold of work well done, of ability uncovered hitherto obscure, of friendships gained, of vision increased, of service to those who knew not we served, of opportunities seized, of growth in character. Sorrows were not lacking: days came when only disappointment was in sight, when trusts were broken, irremediable errors made; bitter tears they were that followed. But these were not for long: unswerving purpose kept us on the way ahead, and we were stronger for our trying experience and our vision keener for our deeper insight.

The months passed by, not one like the one before. We grew more confident and thought our work better. Then came a time when a thought struck us with a blow: it is ours to serve only a short time longer! We had not counted time before. Now jealous of our place we bend our last effort, until our work was done.

Now it is passed, this year of happiness, and we pass on to realms ahead, giving to another the mantle we have borne. With it goes our love and hopes so keen that they who receive cannot know until they too will pass them on.

Even this must end—this writing to girls the things we think in our hearts. Now we would not tarry, but the going is quite hard!

Personality—Individual or Mob?

Lost in the mob! It happens too easily before we know it. Personality submerged beneath the surging, moving crowds of people, may be hidden completely out of sight.

A sea of faces passes by every day. Too many we fear, are strange to us, though we probably see most of them every day. Among a thousand girls it is impossible for all to be familiar. But we can know many more if we use a little conscious observation. Have you had a rather dismayed sensation when you were questioned about a school mate unknown to you, who is a very interesting person to your questioner It is more than unfortunate that we know well so few of the girls in our college who would make our lives much fuller.

A few weeks in this year are yet left to us. Shall we make these weeks of "personality observation," and incidentally personality development?

Policy

The poet who gave to youth its everlasting challenge "Hitch your wagon to a star" has not been left unquoted when any undertaking was begun.

The goal we never reach, but strive toward, holds us in its fixed grasp. We are drawn, as though by magnetic power, in its direction. The goal we never set is also powerful, but the way is not so good.

All the organizations of our college have policies, more or less clearly defined. Obviously, the more clearly defined, the better is a purpose understood, and the more meaning action takes.

Spirit is expression of policy. We take pride in S. T. C. spirit, unique in an indescribable though understandable way, and spirit is an expression of policy. It is not amiss to take thought of the definite substance of our policy, as responsibility to turn to new people. Give it a name and keep it ever before us. A policy might prove a radiant "star" to direct our future accomplishments.

Standards of Entertainments

The last few weeks have brought a rush of entertainments from other colleges. University of Virginia, V. P. I., V. M. I., have sent us their entertainments. It is a good thing to see productions of other colleges and meet students whose point of view is slightly different from ours.

Comparison of the product of other colleges with our own naturally follows. We check up on ourselves to see whether we measure up to the type of production our state colleges send out. Our own dramatic club with Hampden-Sydney will soon give "Peg O' My Heart" in a nearby city. What impression will we make, and how will people compare our college with others?

We have set our standard of entertainments. We should insist that all performances given in our college meet our requirements. If others bring superior productions, we may well find a challenge to improve our own.

PROFESSOR ROUSE HAS RARE MANUSCRIPT

Professor Chas. A. Rouse has a very interesting manuscript, which he has exhibited to his class in English literature. It is a bona fide Indenture, or contract, drawn for Gregory Jiampansy, of London. on excellent parchment. The document is thirty inches long and twenty-four inches wide. The upper laterial edge consist of 5 gradual indentions which extend to a well-preserved base line, and into which the unknown duplicate of the Indenture was exactly fitted. The lower line is straight, along which the parchment has been folded to form a margin two inches wide, for signatures and for the attached strap, which still bears the original nodule of red sealing wax. The first line of the manuscript, which gives the name and the date, runs as follows:

This indenture made the ninth daie of Octobex in the Fyteenth yere of the raigne of our soveraigne Ladie Elizabeth by the grace of god Queene of Englande, France and Irelande Defender of the Faith Betwene Gregory Jiampansy of London gentleman of thone partie and Richard Payne.

When asked as to the value of the Indenture to the student of English literature Dr. Rouse said: "This rare manuscript is of interest because it is a fine specimen of sixteenth century professional script. Notice the appearance of the handwriting; it is striking for its artistic workmanship. Incidentally, I may say that many invaluable documents of an earlier period are dated entirely by the handwriting. "Beowulf." the greatest of Old English poems, is in manuscript of the year one thousand; hence it is known that the poem had been written by that time.

"In the second place, since this is a genuine example of indentures, I indulge my imagination in seeing William Shakespeare signing one like the one in my hand, when he became a member of the famous Globe Company. The business men of the Elizabethan London were perhaps as shrewd and hard-headed as those of New York City of the present year of our Lord.

"Again, this has very great significance because of the frequent occurrence of "indenture" in English literature of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. Look here in Ben Jonson's ode entitled "Sir Lucius Cary and Sir H. Morison," line one hundred. The author uses "indenture" to illustrate the friendship between the two men was not formal but heartfelt. You see by knowing the illusions you make literature concrete and vivid. Take another illustration. In Keats' "The Eve of St. Agnes" occurs the line, 'Who keepeth closed a wondrous riddle-book." Now, the author had seen or heard of a book of riddles. Do you know that riddles have had no slight part in the structure of literature? Read Samson's riddle of the skeleton of the lion in the Old Testament; then read a few ballads in English, which are accessible. Do you not think that students would be delighted to run down significant allusions in the masterpieces which they study?

"But I must not omit to remark, finally, that this Indenture is particularly important because it bears the signature of Joshua Heywood. I have been trying for some time to ascertain the family connections of Thomas Heywood, who was one of the most productive authors of the age of Elizabeth. According to his own statement. he had a hand or a main finger

(Continued on last Page.)

PAGAN GODS

Gypsy am I with a pagan soul
That leaps when the wind blows high;
A soul that gazs at the stars
And knows that it cannot die.
Oh, heart alight with the glow of life
Ah, loves of pagan gods,
I laugh and love on such a night
When the high wind plays with the stars,
When the wind goes whirling on through space
And cleanses from my heart
All sordid thoughts and laughs for me,
My pagan gods—my life apart!

C. D. B. '29

MY SILVER SHIP

Silver ship that sails a silver sea,
Misty ship agleam with morning light
Thru the dawn I saw your sails aglow
From the dawn's red sun you came to me.

C. D. B. '29

PIERRE TO YVETTE

Oh, you are made of moonlit bliss,
A sea-gull's cry, and a gypsy's kiss;

Of joy and laughter, love and light,
A mocking bird's song in a Southern night;

A dreaming heart and a soul which cries,
The golden glory of sunrise.

But I—oh, I am Harlequin's son,
With a game to play and a race to run.

Made of the glimmer of pale starlight,
And the wailing wind on a stormy night;

Made for laughter and for joy—
Less of man and more of boy.

Made of rock from the earth's dark bowl,
And the tearing anguish of a half-god's soul.

Alice LeB. Ribble

REVERIE

Calm night and silv'ry stars,
All alone,
Dreams weave a phantom of love
Around my lonely throne.
Soft breezes, twilight shades,
Heavenly mists
I peer into the heart of a rose,
And find for me, a kiss.

Calm night and silv'ry stars,
Sad and blue.
My thoughts wander on like a ship at sea
And those thoughts are all of you
Soft breezes, twilight shades
Reveries dear.
I peer into the heart of a rose—
And find for me a tear.

Ruth Floyd '30

SONG

The stars will shine through April mist
And gleam for you like amethyst;
And everything my heart would say
The stars will tell you until day.

And in the morning when the rain
Softly taps your window-pane,
Waken quickly, dear, and know
That I love you—love you so!

J. E. W. '29

ALUMNAE NEWS

The engagement of Miss Margaret Rodeffer, of Purcellville, Va., to James Harold Westlake, of Patterson, N. J., has been announced. Miss Rodeffer has ben teaching in the Leesburg High School.

Miss Lottie Bell West, of Surry, Va., was married on March 30 to Oscar B. Whitehurst, of Elizabeth City, N. C. The bride has been teaching in Richmond for the past year. The groom is a graduate of the University of Mechanics in Nashville, Tenn. They will make their home in Richmond.

The picture supplement of the Richmond Times-Dispatch of April 21 contained a picture of the art room at Binford Junior High School. This room received the prize for having the most beatuiful class room in the junior high schools of Richmond. Miss Marjorie Goodwin is the teacher.

Miss Georgiana Sinclair is the new executive secretary of the Family Welfare Association of Roanoke, Va. Under her direction the organization will take over more extensive work supervising cases which have formerly been cared for by other local charities. Miss Sinclair, in addition to years of experience in the welfare field, has completed the two-year graduate course in family case welfare work at Western Reserve University, at Cleveland, Ohio, where she received field work training under the Cleveland Associated Charities. After attending Farmville State Teachers College, she studied at the University of Virginia, the Missouri School of Social Sciences and Western Reserve University. In September, 1921, she became the executive secretary for the United Charities of Helena, Ark., and of the Red Cross for Phillips County, Arkansas. The position she is leaving is executive secretary of the Valley Family Service Society of Sharon, Pa.

SOCIAL NEWS

Anna Bruce Whitmore and Marguerite Foster were the guests of Virginia Bledsoe at her home in Baltimore.

Ella Sims Clore and Pidgeon Taylor spent the week-end at the former's home in Madison.

Loulie Milner, Margaret Pumphrey, Elizabeth Turner, Alice Covington, Helen Robertson, Mildred Elmore, Jinx Grimes, Anna ones and Marion Seay attended the dances at V. M. I. last week-end.

Katherine Watts, Marion Cobb and Hazel Burgwin visited friends in Boydton.

Lelia Germany, "Bugs" Rivercomb and Nora Petty spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Minerva Evans, of Lynchburg, spent the week-end with Lucille Norman.

Mamie Preston spent the week-end at her home in Roanoke.

Among the girls attending the Kappa Sigma dances at Hampden-Sydney who were guests at S. T. C., were Polly Aderholt, City Point; Eleanor Bowen Hollins; Helen Dort, St. Joseph's College; Mary Harrison, Blackstone College, and Zazie Carter, Lynchburg.

Elizabeth Lacy spent the week-end at her home in Richmond.

NEW ADVISORS FOR Y. W. C. A. CABINET

At a recent student body meeting four faculty members were elected as the new advisors for the incoming cabinet. Miss Iler, Miss Bedford, Miss Camper and Miss Purdom will guide the cabinet in carrying on its work and in fulfilling its purpose next year.

CUNNINGHAM LITERARY SOCIETY ENTERTAINS

On Wednesday night, April 24, the Cunningham Literary Society entertained the members of the English department, Miss Mary, Dr. Jarman, members of the "Voice" staff, and officers of the Ruffner Literary Society at an informal reception.

Four members of the society presented in a very charming manner a one act play "The Heart of a Clown, under the direction of Mary Ellen Cato. Those taking part in the play were as follows:

The Clown ..... Elizabeth Epperson
Harlequin ..... Juanita Womble
Columbine ..... Alma Garlick
Gypsy ..... Lillian Rhoads

Mrs .W. D. Bowman, accompanied by Adele Hutchinson, entertained the group with several violin selections.

The color scheme of the literary society, green and white, was carried out in the refreshments which were served after the program.

COLLEGE HIGH SCHOOL HOLDS DEBATE

Friday night the College High School juniors defeated the representatives of the senior class in debate by a decision of 3—2. The question which was discussed was, Resolved that Virginia should adpot the county manager plan of government. The juniors who upheld the negative side of the question were Margaret Armstrong and Mary Shelton. Charlotte Bruce and Virginia Sanford as representatives of the senior class, debated the affirmative. Five members of Pi Kappa Delta, the college honor forensic fraternity, served as judges. These members were Frances Wilson, Virginia Pettigrew, Svelyn Graybeal, Ethel Fisher and Catherine Bentley.

EXTRA! EXTRA!

Rain stops long enough for girls to go on a picnic.

Wednesday afternoon, April 24, the members of the Ruffner Literary Society went on a picnic to Longwood. It was such a short walk and such a nice day that we didn't' leave our food "to home," but carried it with us. Each girl had to convey her own 'dope" in her hand (hip pockets having gone out of style due to the dry weather). In fact almost every means of primitive transportation was employed except the head.

Dr. Jarman had "cleaned up" Longwood to such an extent that we had to do a little excavating on the side line in order to find some fossils and prehistoric remains for fuel.

After eating and drinking everything we carried, except the boxes, we found that we had several celebreties in the group, who were capable of amusing the multitude. Some one had also brought along a musical instrument so everyone sang a number of good ole' songs to her own special tune.

ALPHA KAPPA GAMMA MEETING AT S. T. C.

Continued from page one

was necessary to have a faculty advisor. We feel highly honored at the election of Miss Florence Stubbs to this office.

The convention was a most successful one. All groups are planning their next year's program which leads them to the next National meeting of Alpha Kappa Gamma which will be held April, 1930, at the University of South Carolina, Columbia, S. C.

AMONG OUR CAPS AND GOWNS

LOIS FRASER

Some of us have good looks, some have brains some ability, some have personality—and we content ourselves with the thought that we can't have everything. When we think of Lois, our philosophy is torn down and if we all didn't love her so much that green-eyed monster would persistently creep in. for Lois has all those qualities. With her other gifts she has one of the loveliest and most unselfish of dispositions.

To have known Lois these four years is a privilege and a treasured opportunity, for she is an inspiration to all her friends—we admire her, we respect her and we sincerely love her.

GWENDOLYN HARDY

Every June when the senior class teams, those girls who remain are heard to remark on the impossibility of proceeding without certain members of that class. This year we feel that it will be difficult to find a girl to fill Gwen Hardy's place. In her four years here Gwen has been an outstanding athlete. She has played on our varsity basket-ball and hockey teams in many games and helped bring us victory. Gwen as president of the Athletic Association in 1928 led the A. A. in a successful year. During that year a new point system in athletics was begun. A new system of awards was established, for the first college blazers were given. Then finally we see Gwen as a friend—soft spoken and tactful, smoothing over rough places in a way true to Gwen Hardy. We'll miss her and we wish her happiness and success.

WORLD NEWS

Britain's foremost financier, the Morgan of the Empire, John Baring, Baron Revelstake, died suddenly in Paris last week. He had been working with John Pierpont Morgan, Owen D. Young and other financiers of unsurpassed prestige in a supreme effort to revise the Dawes plan and place the reparations debts of Germany on a business not a political basis.

It is typical of Lindbergh that he flies nonchalantly over a whole war to call on his fiancee—Arkansas Gazette.

Halin is working for the recognition of Soviet Russie by the United States which if accomplished he would consider not only to be a diplomatic victory but an excellent financial stroke. One of his aids in attaining his objective is Maxine Litoinov as Foreign Minister. It seems that all of Litoinov's recent activities have been confined to methodical preparation for an accord between Moscow and Washington.

Ex-President Coolidge has been granted a permit to fish in Connecticut. His son's future father-in-law, Governor Trumbull, was empowered by the General Asesmbly to issue complimentary fishing and hunting licenses. Mr. Coolidge has already caught his first trout of this season.

S. T. C. DEBATES LYNCHBURG COLLEGE

(Continued from page one)

the fraternity convention in N. C. This record while it does show defeats is a very commendable one. We feel that a great deal of honor should go to Dr. Walmsley for his work as coach.

SPECIAL THIS WEEK

146 Beautiful new Spring Frocks in the season's most charming styles and color combinations. Frocks for dress, street and sport wear.

Values to $12.95—Special:

$4.85

BALDWINS

"Where the girl who knows buys her clothes."

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
MOTHER'S DAY CARDS
WHITMAN'S & NUNNALLY'S
Candy For
MOTHER'S DAY

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS —— DRESSES
GLOVES —— DRESS GOODS
HATS —— NOTIONS
SHOES —— HOSIERY
NEW SPRING SHOES
are here in
Blue, Green Blonde
Price $5 and up
We invite your inspection
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

HUB FASHION SHOW
Thursday, May 2
EACO THEATRE
This will be the most comprehensive display of latest designs on living models ever seen in Farmville.
You are Invited
Benefit of the Southside Hospital
HUB
DEPT. STORE

ROTUNDA JOKES

It's love that makes the world go round; but its a kick that makes us realize it.

Heard in Dye House

Foreman: "And in that large room in the rear we have several dyeing vats."

Lady Visitor: "Oh, isn't that a shame! And can't you do a thing for them?"

I thought she was to inherit a fortune.

She would have, but she would never admit that she was the oldest.

The next war, it is said, will be fought in the air. Why it sure does look that way with all the broadcasting stations furnishing justifiable homicide in the form of Laugh, Clown, Laugh, and Sunny Boy.

Restaurants are now using checkered bowls so that the guests can do cross word puzzles with alphabet songs.

"And how is your son doin' at college, Ole?"

"Me and Ma is sure proud, Hiram, the Dean wrote and said he was delinquent in ALL of his classses. Ain't he smart?"

"And then the engine died and the plane started on a tail spin for earth."

"Didn't you lose your head?"

"Not for a minute; when I saw the plane start to fall I ran for the nearest house."—Yale Record.

"I see by the paper that policemen are going to be vaccinated.'

"What for; they never catch anything."

Baseball Coach (to players): "Remember that baseball develops individuality, initiative, and leadership. Now get in there and do exactly as I tell you."

MISTAKE CORRECTED

The Rotunda staff wishes to correct the error made in the announcement of the Sophomore class officers, of last week's issue. Student Council Representatives are Elizabeth Taylor and Mildred Maddrey. The Sophomore Representative to the Inter-Class Council is Emily Simpson.

The relationship of Alpha Delta Rho to Alpha Kappa Gamma was misstated. Alpha Delta Rho merged into Alpha Kappa Gamma, the entire membership included among the charter members of the latter fraternity.

"PALETTE" ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

At an important meeting of The Palette Thursday night th following officers were elected for next year:

President ..... Elizabeth Epperson
Vice-President ..... Kay Schroeder
Sec.-Treas. ..... Katy F. Saunders

It was decided to continue work in fabric oil painting and canvas wool embroider.

MEMBERS ANNOUNCED

The Farmville Chapter of the National Council of Primary Education announces the following new membrs:

Nettie Boynton, Mary Ledford, Bernice Morris, Freda Bingham, Elizabeth Mann, Gladys Valentine, Maude Williams, Jane Hunt Martin, Iska French Hutt, Virginia Norfleet, Marjorie Martin, Elizabeth Falconer, Lucy Dorrance, Annie Phillips, Margaret Northcross, Nancy Nelms, Frances Joliffe.

PROFESSOR ROUSE HAS RARE MANUSCRIPT

Continued from page 2

in the composition of two hundred and twenty plays by 1633, eight years before his death. In addition to the writing of plays, he instructed young men in play-building, and wrote voluminously in both prose and narrative poetry. He was one of the gentlest and noblest contemporaries of Shakespeare, whom Heywood called "mellifluous Shakespeare." I shall be very glad if I can find that the Heywood of the Indenture was related to the author of "A Woman Killed by Kindness" and "The English Traveler." Students of literature must be alert and open-minded, else they cannot get the thrill which awaits those who are eager to discover the facts, rather than be content to be fed from a spoon or through a straw."

Floating University Exams at Siam

The Floating University students held their mid-term examinations in the Royal Palace in Bankok, Siam. The strangeness and grandeur did not distract the students in their efforts to make good grades, according to Edward A. Ross, Director of Education. King Rama of Siam complimented the students and called them "splendid ambassadors" in the cause of international Good Will.

ARCHERY

Shades of Robin Hood, William Tell and all other heroes of the bow and arrow. Yes, truly those shades can be seen on the athletic field every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon, gaily endeavoring to hit the bulls-eye. And some of them do it too—with only a few weeks' practice. If this can be accomplished within a few weeks what might some of you freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors not do with practices for the rest of the term!

Archery is open to everyone. Come out to try your skill and surprise even yourself.

MONOGRAM

By Saturday of next week all monogram work must be completed so this last warning is given. Get out and get busy in the next ten days. Remember those ten points towards the class cup and a big blue field with a white S. T. C. for yourselves. Win this emblem which proves you to be an all-round athlete and a sportsman of whom Alma Mater will be duly proud.

BASBALL

The interclass baseball games will be played on the 6th, 7th, and 8th of May. The Sophomores will fight the Freshmen on the first day, to be followed the following day by a game between the Juniors and Seniors. The third day will witness the final game in which the victors of the two preceding games will take part. All members of all classes are expected to be on hand those days to back their teams and cheer them on to victory for these are the final team games of the year.

FIELD AND TRACK

The annual field and track meet will be held the afternoon of May 15. No one will be allowed to participate in the meet who has not been out for at least two weeks' practices.

The events are:

Running broad jump
Running high jump
Hop-step jump
Shot put Dash
Javelin throw
Hurdles
Baseball throw
Class relay
Class obstacle relay

Contestants may enter two running or jumping and one throwing event or two throwing and one running or jumping event.

Virginia Miiltary Institute Has New Commandant

Major General John Archer Lejune, former commandant of the United States Marine Corps, has accepted the invitation of the Board of Visitors of Virginia Military Institute to become superintendent of that institution.

JUNIOR ALPHABET

A—is for us all—bright be our fate
B—for Baskerville—so wise in debate
C—for Celeste of the curly hair
D—stands for Davis with features fair
E—is for Eleanor—Hogan her name
F—is for Fisher of cooking fame
G—stands for Gurley we all adore
H—is for Hatchett just watch her score
I—is the egotist—we'll leave that out
J—stands for Janes, quite a few about
K—is for Clara—if spelled with a K
L—is our Leonard—fair in work or play
M—is Etta Marshall—near to our heart.
N—for Norman we know she's smart
O—is for Owen with eyes of blue
P—is Peck with hair of reddest hue
Q—for our Lucille—queen of our class.
R—for Royal—she doesn't stand last
S—means Shepard of the boyish ways
T—for Thompson—she uses well her days.
U—means united as each class should be.
V—is Vincent—known by you and me
W—is for Wilkinson—quite a literary lass
X—means of course, our exceptional class
Y & Z—haven't a name
So we'll make them a wish for our future fame.

WE WILL DYE YOUR SHOES

any shade wanted free of charge. We carry the snappiest line of shoes obtainable.

CINDERELLA BOOT SHOPS
311 E. Broad, Richmond
328 Granby, Norfolk

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

At the Eaco Theare Week of May 6 to 11

MON.—Fred Thompson in the Special Paramount picture, "KIT CARSON." A thrilling story of life and love in the olden west. Swift and sure pioneer justice meted out to those who overstep the law. Crazed Indian riders Action. Suspense. Drama. A big production. Also oddity and news.

TUES.—"THE STRANGE CASE OF CAPT. RAMPER". An international hit! Sensation wherever shown! Comes here direct from the Roxy, New York. Into the arctic wastes as an air hero. Back to civilization as a beast man. He looked like a beast! Lived like a beast! Ate like a beast, until he fell in love with a beautiful girl! Very unusual picture. Also comedy.

WED.—Virginia Valli in "THE STREETS OF ILLUSION." A soul-stirring drama of the theatre revealing the loves, joys and sorrows of stage players. A high powered cast in an unusual production. A mighty good picture. Also comedy.

THURS.—Dolores Del Rio and Charles Farrell in "THE RED DANCE" a big special production. Out of the carnival of revolution a peasant girl emerges as the great Red Dancer of Moscow—a private soldier becomes a Red general and a Czarist prince a pauper. A very fine big production Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT at mats. only—Norman Kerry and Sally Eilers in "TRIAL MARRIAGE". A romantic drama of modern marital mix-ups—gorgeous sociey setting—colorful story—plenty of action, romance and real thrills. You will enjoy this one. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. nights only—Madge Bellamy and a large suporting cast in "MOTHER KNOWS BEST." A big special production. Edna Ferber's most popular story is now the screen's most entertaining picture! Has a daughter the right to live her own life? See the answer in this picture. Also 2 reel picture in colors and news reel.

Admission to S. T. C. girls getting tickets at college, Thursday 35c, and other shows 25c.

BLUE RIDGE WEEK, MAY 6—11

ROTUNDA

CHAMPIONSHIP BASEBALL GAME THURSDAY

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 8, 1929 No. 28

Y. W. C. A. CABINET IS INSTALLED

Adele Hutchinson Selected as 1929-'30 President

MARGARET FINCH RETIRING HEAD

Old Cabinet Lights Candles of New in Impressive Ceremony

Amidst the light of candles and before the blue triangle, the new members of th Y .W. Cabinet were installed last Thursday evening. Each old member with a lighted candle marched in with the girl who was to fill her office who carried an unlighted candle. The old and the new cabinets came in singing "Ancient of Time."

After Margaret Finch, who chose as her theme, "Not by might nor by power, but by My Spiirt," sayeth the Lord of Hosts, had wished the new president and her cabinet the most success for the coming year, she presented the constitution to Adele Hutchinson, the new president of the Y. W. Cabinet, Adele's answer carried one's thoughts back to the noble work and success of Marnie and Pannie.

Then in turn the old members changed places with the new telling each her particular duty as a member of the Y. W. Cabinet of '29 and '30. As the girls exchanged places the old members lighted the candles of the new members to carry on the work begun in years gone by.

The girls marched out together singing "Follow the Gleam", accompanied by the student body.

The members of the new and old cabinets respectively are:

President, Adele Hutchinson—Margaret Finch.
V. Pres., Margaret Leonard—Sammy Scott.
Sec., Blanche Murrell— Margaret Leonard.
Treas., Martha Faris—Elizabeth Atwater.
Prayers, Rachel Royall—Elizabeth Lacy.
Music—A. J. Scott—May Marshall.
Amusement, Dolly Reed—Virginia Gurley.
Social, Allie Kae Libby—Marguerite Foster.
Service, Evelyn Stephenson—Rachel Royall Royall.
Alumnae, Elizabeth Temple—Elizabeth Bowers.
World Fellowship, Julia Asher—Ethel Wiley.
Reporter, Jessie Smith—Margaret Pumphrey.
Publicity, Loulie Milner—Mary Ellington.
Church Cooperative, Elizabeth Newton— Jane Hunt Martin.
Town, Claudia Fleming—Elizabeth Newton.
Conference and Convention, Florence Booten—Leyburn Hyatt.
Membership, Margaret Leonard—Sammy Scott.

ROTUNDA STAFF OF 1928-29

H. S. C. JONGLEURS TO GIVE PLAY

"Le Voyage De Monsieur Perrichon", a comedy in four acts, will be given by the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs on next Thursday evening, May 9, at 8:00 o'clock in the auditorium of State Teachers College, Farmville, Va.

This play has already been presented this spring at Victoria High School, Victoria, Virginia, to a large and enthusiastic audience on the evening of April 19. This presentation in Farmville will mark its second appearance.

This play represents a radical departure of the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs under the direction of Prof. Herman Bell from that type of play given in the last two years. It is simply a laugh provoking comedy with the primary role of "Monsieur Perrichon" handled very ably by Mr. Thomas Keessee, a senior of Hampden-Sydney College. It should not fail to delight an audience. The laughable pomposity of Monsieur Perrichon and the amusing situations in which he finds himself at times should not fail, if laughter lengthens life, to add a year or so to anyone's normal span.

The play by Labiche, French dramatist, is one that is familiar in the French to students of that language. But this represents perhaps its first presentation in the English by a college dramatic club. It was translated into the English at the instigation of Professor Bell, by Professor Vermont of Converse College, Spartanburg, South Carolina. It will be an entirely new presentation for the American audience of amateur the-

Continued on last page

DEDICATION

To the staff of 1928-29, the staff of 1929-30 humbly dedicates this, their first number of THE ROTUNDA. The new staff has for its purpose to put in print the standards and ideals of our Alma Mater, and to keep THE ROTUNDA on as high a level as the staff of 1928-29 did.

BOOK OF CHILDRENS POEMS COMPLETED

Work of the Farmville Chapter of the National Council of Primary Educaiton

Presenting the book as its principal project for the year, the Farmville Chapter of the National Council of Primary Education announces the completion of "The Child's Chimney O' Verse."

This anthology of children's poetry is the result of research work covered by members of the local chapter. Only those poems which are not ordinarily procurable are included in the book. These poems were selected with the idea of aiding teachers of young children.

Some of the authors represented in the anthology are A. A. Milne, Walter De La Mare, Christina Rossetti, Robert Louise Stevenson, Eugene Field, Rose Fyleman, Clinton Scolland and Mrs. Aldis.

The cover and foreword of the book are illustrated with linoleum prints, made by members of the chapter. Each copy contains thirty-eight pages.

V. M. I. CADETS PRESENT MINSTREL

Confronted with the problem of amusing a capacity audience on Saturday evening, May 4, the participants in the V. M. I. minstrels made a creditable attempt at adoption.

Act One, the customary minstrel show, was poorly executed. The humour of the six end men failed to measure up to that of the entire audience. The singing was good, making the act more worthy of applause.

The V. M. I. cadets redeemed themselves in the numbers of Act Two. The intelligence with which the cast used the improvised elevator indicated their ability to put on an excellent production. Mr. Briggs' dance was almost a professional performance and Mr. Mill's singing was enthusiastically received.

The Ramblin' Keydets contributed to the performance with a peppy bit of playing. The unusual "symphony" brought down the house.

RADIO DEBATE

On April 25 representatives from the University of North Carolina debated with representatives of the University of Virginia, over the radio.

Much interest has centered on this contest in view of the fact that it was the first radio debate ever staged in this section of the country. Plans are to make it an annual event between the two institutions.

The debate was broadcast from Station WRVA, Richmond. The query was, "Resolved, That national advertising as it is now carried on is both socially and economically harmful."

LONGWOOD IS SITE OF MAY FESTIVAL

Virginia Gurley is Crowned as Queen of the May

"SLEEPING BEAUTY" IS BEAUTIFUL THEME

Miss Louise Robertson Proves Efficient Director

Weaving a mystic spell of loveliness about the old orchard at Longwood, the characters in "Sleeping Beauty" assembled on the green to participate in the presentation of the charming old fairy tale, in the S. T. C. May Festival which was held on Saturday, May 4, at 6:00 p. m.

The prologue of the festival was especially significant in its treatment. Groups of merry children from the first and second grades of the Campus Training School made a play of the fairy tale, rejoicing at the awakening of the princess and crowning her as Queen of the May.

Amid the flare of trumpets and the merry-making of the good fairies, the nurse of the court enters in the wake of the King and Queen, bearing in her arms the tiny princess of the kingdom. Breaking this scene of harmony, the wicked fairy appears with a threatening curse of death, only to be dismissed by the fairy queen who changes the threat to life with years of sleep, followed by love in the person of an handsome prince.

Virginia Gurley, the charming princess of the fairy tale, next appears as a maiden, who intrigued by a butterfly of fascinating colors, does not see the spinning wheel which is brought by the gnomes of the wicked fairy. The black fairy of hate and jealousy tempts the princess to the spinning wheel where she pricks her finger to the diabolical merriment of the evil fairy. The princess falls asleep and the wicked fairy dances madly away, unheeding the Dwarf of the Seven League Boots who has viewed the act from behind a nearby tree.

At the call of the dwarf, the good fairy appears in her chariot drawn by eagles. More fairies come and weave a web of magic to cover the sleeping princess. At the bidding of the good fairy a hedge springs up to shield the Sleeping Beauty.

The seasons pass, flaunting colors ranging from the vivid orange and red of Autumn, the snow-white of Winter, and the delicate green of Spring to the exquisite flower-like hues of Summer. Threatening storms with sharp flashes of lightning are sent by the evil fairy, but still the sleep of the princess is undisturbed. The rainbow fairies and the passing of the moon and clouds herald the coming of the Prince, who has followed the silvery path of rose leaves to the side of the Sleeping Beauty. Awakened by his kiss upon her hand, the princess looks upon the loveliness of the world again and shyly accepts

Continued on last page

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor ..... VIRGINIA PETTIGREW, '31

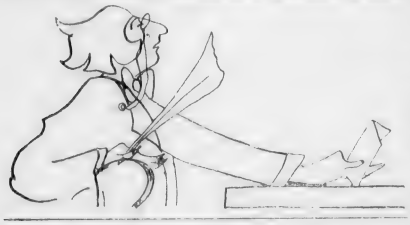
Board of Editors

News Editor ..... WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
Literary ..... LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic ..... MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News ..... GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News ..... A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social ..... RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art ..... VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature ..... KITTY JOHNSON, '31
Humorous ..... BILLIE PARIS, '30

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32

Proof Reader



SARAH BAKER, '31

Managers

Busines Manager ..... SARAH McCORKLE, '30
Assistant ..... PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation ..... MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant ..... NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

We Accept the Challenge

When the new Rotunda staff met for the first time last week they realized to the fullest extent the significance of their position in relation to the college and to the ideals of S. T. C.

They realize that theirs is a responsible position in putting in print articles representative and worthy of our Alma Mater. The staffs which have served before us have set the pace, and we shall endeavor to keep pace with them, and if possible—even pass them.

As Etta said at the Student Government Installation service, "The Council can be no better than the student body," so can we say, "The Rotunda can be no better than its staff, and the staff can be no better than the student body."

The Rotunda is your paper. You can make of it what you wish. If there is any criticism to be made we would appreciate it if it could be made directly to us, and we will endeavor to improve over our faults. We ask for your cooperation, and sincerely pledge our service to our Alma Mater.

A Hint to the Wise

Everywhere one turns these days, one hears "Only four more weeks," uttered in tones of joyous hilarity by most freshmen and some upper classmen in tones of deepest dejection by seniors and sophomores who do not expect to come back. The last three weeks of meeting classes will probably be the hardest of the year for the faculty because at this time it is hardest to get anyone interested in school work with June so near and such a beautiful May outside. The one damping factor on the high spirits of all concerned is the fact that before the long expected fourth of June, exams must be put behind us. When this sudden idea enters the head of any member of the student body, instantly there is a feverish search for books and an intensive application to some very difficult subject matter for—oh! fifteen minutes, perhaps, then other things claim the attention. To get the full joy of the expected holidays, this fifteen minutes must be stretched to hours. No one can be happy with a "flunk" or two, and anyone who can pass examinations here without study is beyond the comprehension of most of us.

Credit to Whom Credit Is Due

That May Day was a success every one agrees. That everyone enjoyed it, participants and onlookers, is another point that is universally agreed on. When both success and enjoyment are derived at the same time it proves that someone has been a very efficient organizer and director.

To the director of the Festival and her assistants much credit is due. They succeeded in making the May Festival this year one of the loveliest our college has ever had. Working against difficulties in presenting the Festival at some distance from the college, and in a place that had never been used as a May Day setting before those in charge accomplished this feat with an unusual amount of smoothness and lack of friction.

Transportation for the participants was arranged so that not a minute was lost. Everyone was on time, and everyone attended to her own business.

Only through the cooperation of everyone could May Day have been a success, an overwhelming success. The entire student body is to be congratulated on the production which resulted from the combined efforts of each member of the student body.

A Tribute to Mother

There is an old saying that "God couldn't be everywhere, so He made a Mother." Mother. That delicate word, bathed in Heaven's own dew, stirs the infinite pulsations of our hearts by tender memories and captivating dreams of our childhood.

And now we stand on the brink of the stormy sea of life. But Mother has transmuted the omnious roar of the mighty waters into a challenge to great deeds and great goals by her sympathy in our failures and her happiness in our successes.

The best thinkers in all ages acknowledge the supremacy of the maternal buffeting the changeable throb of life. The immortal Lincoln said, "All that I am, or hope to be, I owe to my Angel Mother." To this add the tribute of Napoleon, "Let France have good mothers and she will have good sons." Wallace said, "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." Such declarations can be duplicated over and over again from the literature of all countries and all times.

So let us pause, a moment, and offer a breathing prayer of gratitude for the unfathomable love in a Mother's eyes, the gentle chidings of her voice, the caressing touch of her weary hands, the secret hopes and supplications of her heart, for these have woven a golden web that will ever keep us one in heart, in ideals, and in faith.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

A Knitting Craze Sweeps Through Smith College

Northampton, Mass.—A knitting craze has broken out like an epidemic at Smith College.

The more severe manifestations are as yet confined to dormitories, but it is feared that campus and classrooms may yet feel the effects of the sweep. In its wake are found such utilitarian articles as sweater suits rather than the more strictly domestic comforter.

The most desolate locality in the stricken houses is the dining room. Students, according to a newly passed regulation, are not allowed to bring their knitting to meals, lest, perchance, the yarn become confused with the food, it said, including that food with the Italian name.

The Victorian pastime is explained by the victims, not as a return to naive artlessness, but as a triumph of sophistication.

More Bachelors

A movement for the total abstinence from the use of cosmetics and razors has been started by the students of the University of Arizona. Money saving, to say the least, and if the co-eds can stand it, I guess that the rest of the student body should. Anyway you can get a low down on how the fair one will look across the breakfast table in the mornings before she had had time to apply the mask.—The Plainsman.

CHORAL CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

At the regular meeting of the Choral Club last Thursday the following officers were elected for next year:

President ..... Elizabeth Taylor
Vice President and Reporter .... Lillian Bovell.
Secretary ..... Florence Cralle
Treasurer ..... Mildred Maddrey

It was decided that the club should adopt a constitution, and a committee was appointed to draw up the articles. With the help of a constitution it is felt that the high standards of the club will be emphasized to greater advantage and a keener sense of cooperation developed.

MOTHER'S DAY

Mother's Day is almost here. We shall all be wearing roses. Some shall be white for those dear ones who could not stay and help their daughters along the road of life. They are not here, but their influence is in the hearts of their daughters and the white roses express the pure love that is always felt for them.

The red roses are alive with the love of living mothers and we almost feel a though our mothers are with us on this day.

Mother's Day is put aside for one who does os much for us. On this day we can, in a small way, express the great love that we have for someone who makes life more dear, and home a place that is a paradise to us.

MOTHER

Twilight, and sunsets glow,
Evening time—
Thoughts turn and wander
Into a realm sublime.
There, in a tranquil world,
Where love and peace entwine,
I find an angel reigning there
You—oh, Mother mine.
I see through the dusk of night,
Two eyes of heavenly blue.
God must have made them
From the skies own lovely hue.
I see the little wrinkled brow,
Times' sorrows planted there.
The frail shoulders slightly bent,
From burdens hard to bear.
Twilight and sunsets glow
Evening time—
Thoughts turn and wander
Into a realm sublime
There in a tranquil world
Where love and peace entwine—
I find the rarest gem on earth,
You—oh, Mother mine.

Ruth C. Floyd '30

THE DREAMER

The dream was his—the will to make
But his a life for another's sake:
(God, is it faith that makes men like?
God is it love that makes men give—
Of their life blood?)

His thoughts within a castle wall,
His heart on beauty to enthrall,
But bread sought out by hungry hands
Leads to work in dreary lands
Though Romance claims a soul.

Oh beautiful to strive a trodden way,
He's good, we hear his people say
But there within his bosom sleep—
Fragile things which weep and weep,
Dreams of a long-lost day.

F. W. '30

EVENING

Red glow streaming from the pane
Of the ivy-framed chapel window
Tints the paleness of a face—
Worn ivory with love and care
Stains the brow with you and beauty long forgot
I ponder—shall it be there when I am old,
Not weary of living
But quiet and full of years
To sit within the glow
Of faded passion.

F. W. '30

PUPPY LOVE

He looked at her with loving eye—
The curley-haired youth,
She neither asked him how nor why,
She knew he spoke the truth.

Long he lingered at her feet
Until her love she spoke,
And told him in words true and sweet
That him she'd ne'er forsake.

"I've owned a lot of pups you know,
All colors, large and small,
But, Fido, dear, don't worry so,
I love you best of all."

M. W. Dickinson

Taken from "The Focus" (January-February, 1918).

A DEBT OF HONOR

Friday night, after Y. W. C. A. installation, Dr. Jarman talked to the student body on the subject of class dues.

Dr. Jarman appealed to the honor of the students in such a way as to bring direct and hearty response. He explained that class dues were not just another unreasonable expense, but a real debt of honor.

His talk was in keeping with the solemnity of the Y. W. C. A. installation and his serious straight-forward words impressed the students for more than any criticism of them would have.

More than one student resolved to pay her dues, after this talk, judging from the fervor with which they sang, "What's the Matter with Jarman? He's alll right!"

WHY GO TO BLUE RIDGE?

On many a campus in the South, students are asking, "Shall I go to Blue Ridge this summer?" Once they have been to a conference there the question is not "Shall I go?" but "How can I go again?"

What is it that Blue Ridge has to offer which makes hundreds of students long to return?

To those who live in the lowlands Blue Ridge offers the stimulating atmophere of a high altitude; a chance for mountain climbing; after the hurry of college life the peace and calm of the eternal hills; a new realization of the greatness of God as one sees the splendor of his creation; a new sense of things which are of real value.

Blue Ridge offer a venture in friendship—ten days of association with students from other colleges with whom problems are discussed, projects planned and friendships formed. It offers an opportunity to broaden one's outlook through contacts with students from other nations; to know some thing of great international organizations and movements.

It offers us the chance to talk with older men and women who are keenly alive to world problems and who gladly share with us their thought and experience.

It challenges us with the compelling idea of a world which knows no discrimination of race, class, creed or nation: of seeking to make Jesus' law of Love effective in life's relationships: of experiencing "full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God."

From the service of worship which begins the day to the group meetings at night, there is much which will appeal to every student: Workshop hours for cabinet members to discuss problems and work out plans for a more effective Y. W. C. A. on the campus next year: Studio hours for the delightful pursuit of one's favorite hobby; quiet trips to places of interest—much which goes to make an integrated personality, so, "Why not go to Blue Ridge?"

LAWN FETE IN MAKING

The Freshman Commission has given may lovely entertainments to the student body this year, but the lawn fete to be given next Saturday evening promises to be the best of them all. It will take place in the colonnade from five-thirty to six-thirty on May 11. Supper will be served at 50c a plate, and sandwiches, cold tea, salads, ice cream and cake will be sold separately. There will be a very attractive program rendered, on which, we have heard it hinted, is a dance by Mary Todd. There will also be special musical numbers.

SOCIAL NEWS

Miss Edith Britt and Mrs. Kid Brewer spent the week-end at their homes in Winston-Salem.

Misses Katherine Watts and Anna Jones spent the week-end at their homes.

Miss Virginia Raine spent the week-end in Danville.

Misses Louise Deshazo and Emmeline Marshall spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Misses Elizabeth Bowers and Ellen Moore spent the week-end in Richmond.

S. T. C. girls who attended the K. A. dances at Hampden-Sydney last week-end were: Mae Baldwin, Mayo Beaty, Mary Bernard, Mary Brightwell, Mary Beasley, Louise Foster, Mabel Fitzpatrick, Anne Ferree, Lila Germany, Genevieve Grimes, Emily Gale, Nan Griffith, Virginia Gurley, Evelyn Holalnd, Lucy Dortch, Flora Martin, Florence McIntyre, Nora Petty, Frances Radcliffe, Dolly Reed, Frances Thornton, Elizabeth Turner, Anne Withers, Anne Chapin, Frances Millikan, Margaret Pumphrey, and Liz Watkins.

The annual spring Cotillion Club dance will be held Saturday night, May 11, in the recreation hall. The Carolina Buccaneers will furnish the music.

Wednesday afternoon, May 1, at 5 o'clock Miss Mary White Cox gave a picnic for the old and new Student Councils at Longwood.

Like all of Miss Mary's parties everyone had a wonderful time.

Some of the out-of-town guests at the May Day Festival were: Mrs. S. T. Pulliam and son of Richmond; Mrs. Hagan and Mrs. Antrim, Misses Evelyn Dulaney, Edna Brown and Elinor McCormick of Roanoke; Mrs. S. R. Gurley of Suffolk; Misses Greenhow Parker, Lucille Walton of Danville; Miss Virginia Cogbill and Mrs. O. B. Crowder of Boydton; Miss Helen Hanes of Randolph-Macon Woman's College; Misses Marion McCoy and Frances Maddrey, Mrs. Cox, Cason, Anderson Simpkins of Norfolk.

Pi Kappa Sigma announces Armistead Jane Scott as a new pledge.

The Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma wishes to announce as a new faculty member: Miss Grace E. Mix.

SPANISH CLUB HOLDS MEETING

If you went walking up High Street day of the same week.
Wednesday after supper, you probably met the Spanish Club in high spirits. No wonder! They were on their way to Miss Dickinson's for one of the most delightful meetings held this year. There was Spanish music and Spanish conversation—it was lots of fun to discuss things like neighbors, roommates, and love in Spanish; and then there were the most delicious refreshments.

The officers elected for next year are:

President	Alma Garlick
V. President	Martha Ann Laing
Sec.-Treas.	Mildred DeHart

AMONG OUR CAPS AND GOWNS

PEARL ETHERIDGE

Efficiency, dependability, originality, an unusual amount of ability, lovableness, a good sport—these, and any number of qualifications comes to mind when one thinks of Pearl Etheridge.

All through her four years at S. T. C. Pearl has been one of the outstanding students at S. T. C. As a member of three honor societies she has caught the true spirit of the college, and the service rendered by her to her Alma Mater has been invaluable.

As editor of the Rotunda during the past year she has set a standard for our college paper that will be hard to surpass.

Pearl has the unusual distinction of having won first honor twice during her college career. She was chosen first honor graduate of the two-year class of 1927, and again this year she has been chosen first honor graduate of the degree class.

EVELYN THOMPSON

Evelyn has the ability to participate in extra-curricula activities and make splendid grades at the same time. Her work on The Rotunda staff and in the Dramatic Club has been of high merit. She is also a member of Kappa Delta Pi, which proves that her scholastic record is one to be proud of. Her record further shows a host of friends, a willingness to perform any task requested of her, and an unwillingness on the part of her friends to forget her.

KATHRYN BULLY

"Bully" is one of those energetic little mortals whom you can never find in the same place twice, unless it is in the chemistry laboratory or out on the atheltic field.

For four years Kathryn has taken part in all forms of athletics from hockey to track besides doing outstanding work in other fields. As athletic editor she has kept the school informed as to the physical prowess of our student body.

Whatever she has been given to do she has done it willingly and efficiently. Not only will the seniors miss her next year, but the student body will lose one of its most capable and versatile students.

Bully, the senior class appreciates the loyal spirit shown in your contributions to your class and to your Alma Mater. We all unite in giving you as a last toast success and happiness through the coming years.

Humming Bird
Full Fashioned Hosiery

NEW!

A new arrival of Humming Bird Full Fashioned Hosiery makes our stocking department resemble sunrise on a May morning. See these glorious new shades, sponsored by the Paris representative of the mills. Beautifully styled heels, very fine texture, unusual length, sandal soles, step-up toe guard.

The Smartness of Youth
The Splendor of Royalty

Picot Edge, all silk chiffon,

French heels, $1.95

Other Styles $1.50

BALDWIN'S
DEPARTMENT STORES
LYNCHBURG, VA. DURHAM, N. C. RICHMOND
Farmville, Va.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
MOTHER'S DAY CARDS
WHITMAN'S & NUNNALLY'S
Candy For
MOTHER'S DAY

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS —— DRESSES
GLOVES —— HATS
DRESS GOODS —— NOTIONS
NEW SPRING SHOES
are here in
Blue, Green Blonde
Price $5 and up
We invite your inspection
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
SHOES —— HOSIERY

GRADUATION FROCKS

Of lovely Silks, all the newest, all the smartest.

$5.00 $9.95 $16.75

A price to meet the needs of anyone.

Just now, many sub-debs are busy with detestable exams and the fun of selecting graduation dresses. Flat crepe, chiffon, georgette, crepe de chine and taffeta are the important material for these important dresses for the big occasion. In white and lovely opaque pastel shades.

HUB
DEPT. STORE

ROTUNDA JOKES

Old Gentleman, indignantly: "Look at that girl—wearing knickers—and her hair cut just like a man's. Why, its a disgrace!"

"Sir—that's my daughter!"

"Oh! I beg your pardon, I didn't realize you were a father."

"Father, heck, I'm her mother."

—Octopus

Hampden-Sydney: "I'm half inclined to kiss you."

Liz Turner: "How stupid of me; I thought you were merely round-shouldered."

Teeny Myers (at dance): "Wait right here for me, Bill, while I go powder my nose."

Teeny (three dances later): "Been waiting long?"

Him: "No, but I've been looking all over for you to give you your compact—Soul Owl.

Mike Hughes: "To what sorority do you belong?"

F. Thornton: "Sigma, Sigma, Sigma."

Mike: "I heard you the first time."

Billy Yeager: Good-bye, my dear, I must leave you."

Anne Ferree: "How much?"

"Honey," she whispered, "do you really love me?"

"No," he whispered back. "but I certainly admire your taste."

Absent-minded Professor (coming home at night): "Do I hear anyone?"

Burglar (under bed) "No!"

Professor: "That's odd; I was positive I heard someone under the bed."

Nell Armfield: "I want to see the captain."

"He's forward, Miss.'"

"That's all right, I've been out with the Hampden-Sydney boys.—Octopus.

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY JONGLEURS TO GIVE INTERESTING PLAY

Continued from page one

atricals.

Tickets for this play, which have been placed uniformly at fifty cents for residents of Farmville and both S. T. C. and H. S. C. students, will be on sale at White Drug Company, and the H.-S. College Shop from Wednesday, May 6, through Thursday.

LONGWOOD UNUSUAL SETTING FOR FESTIVAL

Continued from page one

the love of her prince.

During the celebration of the court and the subjects of the kingdom, the princess, accompanied by her court, is crowned as Queen of the May.

The artistic arrangement of the entire festival blended successfully with the natural setting for the drama of "Sleeping Beauty." Due to the untiring efforts of Miss M. Louise Robertson, director, and her associates, Miss Leola Wheeler, Olive Iler, Esther Thomas, Mary B. Haynes, Louise McCormick and Mary Frances Hatchett as well as the cooperation of the entire cast, the festival, which was held at Longwood for the first time in the history of the College, met with the approval and admiration of the audience.

Those girls taking part in the production were:

Queen ..... Virginia Gurley
Maid of Honor Elizabeth Revercomb
Attendants—Anne Ferree, Red Foster, Mary Page Archer, Pete Hamner, Alice Covington, Mary Beasley, Mary Fielding Taliaferro, Lucy Thompson, Margaret Davis, Mary Miller Patrick, Elaine Goode, Mary Priest, Jane Hunt Martin, Eleanor Hogan, Lucretia Province, Frances Millikan.
Heralds—Margaret Carter, Marjorie Carter.
King ..... Blanche Murrell
Queen ..... Emily Portlock
Nurse ..... Lillian Rhodes
Wicked Fairy ..... Mabel Fitzpatrick
Good Fairy ..... Juanita Womble
Gnomes—Martha Farris, Margaret Farris.
Butterfly ..... Mary Bernard
Dwarf of Seven League Boots—Mary Frances Hatchett.
Eagles—Dorothy Lohr, Allie Oliver
Moon ..... Lucille Norman
Clouds—Catherine Bentley, Grigsby Peck.
Rose ..... Mary Ellen Todd
Lords and Ladies—Mary Browning, Myra Costen, Margaret Waddill, Dorothy Ziegler, Lillian Bovell, Vashti Brisbois, Catherine Stearns, Rebekah Savedge, Jennie Lee Jones, Elizabeth Hurt, Pansy Hill, Mary Simmerman, Parke Leigh Orgain.
Fairies—Irving Armstrong, Blanche Price, Ellen Moore, Carolyn Watts, Mabel Holland, Frances Booth, May Marshall, Elizabeth Newton, Katherine Bentley, Caroline Williams, Ariana Green, Margaret Fisher, Mildred Owen, Louise Elliott, Elizabeth Lacey, Margaret Mecum, Enza Evans, Elizabeth Taylor, Juanita Womble, Nancy Denit, Laura Mottley, Claudia Fleming, Lois Fraser, Annie Belle Anderson, Pearl Etheridge, Mary Ellen Cato, Ida Trolan, Elizabeth Etheridge.
Hedge—Sue Moomaw, Maude Seaborn, Kitty Johnson, Elizabeth Levick, Louise Clark, Pauline Blankenship, Louise Hardy, Ethel Kirland, Sally Elliott, Annie Phillips, Mildred Cooper, Mildred Snider, Lucille Field, Beatrice Carieo, Bess Thompson, Virginia Robertson, Hilda Ligon, Jane Gray Irby, Helen Adams.
Summer Dances—Mary Ellington, Katherine Wayt, Allie Kae Libby.
Autumn Dance—Mary W. Vincent, French Hutt, Nancy Watkins, Annie Lee Bowden, Nellie Talley, Sally Gates, Mary Farrier, Gertrude Jarman, Madeline Hill, Mamie Preston, Jane Reid, Emily Simpson, Rachel Royall.
Winter Dance—Katherine Grinnan, Elizabeth Jordan, Louise Driscoll, Louise Henderson, Nancy DeBerry, Nancy Boykin, Ruth Floyd, Virginia Pegram, Mary Pugh, Virginia Barby, Katherine Pitts, Jane Wiley.
Spring Dance—Adele Hutchinson, Gertrude Jarman, Gertrude Richardson, Lucille Norman, Nancy Watkins, Elizabeth Smitherman, Virginia Moore, Mary Frances Shepard.
Storm Dance—Margaret Pumphrey, Nora Petty, Helen Robertson.
Rainbow—Blanche Price, May Marshall, Louise Moore, Edith Coleman, Martha Henderlite, Marion Cobb, Elizabeth Copeland, Anna Cahoon, Ida Trolan.
Elves—Charlotte Hutchins, Irene Pratt, Marion Petrie, Catherine Marchant, Elsie McLaughlin, Martha von Schilling, Sue Thomas, Loulie Milner, Lucy Williamson, Virginia Parke, Louise Scruggs, Easter Souders, Grace Woodhouse, Ella Clore, Josephine Evans, Julia Elam, Jane Witt, Cleo Quienberry, Dorothy Bloomfield, Anne Hopkins.
Peasants—Polly Sheffield, Katherine Tucker, Gwendolyn Daniel, Louise Nininger, Hazel Halloway, Sara Lane, Mabel Eubank, Margaret Stiff, Edna Buchanon, Virginia Brinson, Mary Cake, Katherine Nichols, Louise Hilton, Vivian Forrest, Melrose Debnam, Elizabeth Rawls, Pattie Butterworth, Lucy Ann Lane, Elizabeth Drewry, Catherine Martin, Rebekah Butterworth, Maria Warren, Vera Abbitt, Mary Ellen Mawyer.

The following committees assisted in making the festival a success:

Setting—Mabel Fitzpatrick, Margaret Finch, Louise Vaughan.
Costumes—Miss Katherine Tupper, Miss Virginia Bedford, Blanche Murrell, Elizabeth Epperson, Elizabeth Smitherman.
Program—Etta Marshall, Pearl Etheridge.
Music—Pearl Johnson, Nancy Denit, Adele Hutchinson, Elizabeth Taylor, Gwendolyn Hardy.

FIELD DAY

On Friday, May 17, S. T. C.'s athletes will do their best in our field and track meet. Anyone may enter the meet who has been to at least 6 field and track practices. It's not too late to start now. Be sure to get to work immediately. Practices will be held Thursday and Friday and all of next week.

Participants are limited to entering one running or jumping and two throwing events, or one throwing and two running or jumping events. The class relays may be entered in addition to these.

By coming out for field day you may gain points for your blazer and also help your class to win points towards the cup. Take your choice of the events and sign up on the bulletin board. Help make field day a success.

ARCHERY

Try your luck with the bow and arrow! You'll enjoy trying to hit the bull's-eye, and a few practices may disclose hidden talent along this line. Plans are now being made for an archery tournament to be held the latter part of May. Practices will be held on Thursday and Friday afternoons.

GET YOUR MONOGRAM

What have you done about that monogram? There are only a few more days to check up and catch up on points. Now is the time to get busy! Are you sure you have passed your physical efficiency test? Everyone must pass this test before getting a monogram. Look up your record and be sure of your points.

You have one more opportunity to go on a ten-mile hike. This is one of the requirements, so fall in line Thursday afternoon at 3:30 and step off that 10 miles.

A word to the wise is sufficient. All points must be made before Saturday, May 11. The last practices will be held in Thursday and Friday afternoons. Be there!

COLLEGE HIGH SCHOOL HONOR GRADUATES

The honor graudates of the College High School were announced Monday morning, May 6. First honor goes to Miss Charlotte Bruce, while Miss Mary Swift will be the second honor graduate.

As we understand the World Court situation, Elihu Root has devised a formula that will be accepted with pleasure by the entire human race and rejected by the United States Senate.

The New Yorker

COLLEGE HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC MEET

The College High School held an athletic meet on Monday afternoon. The eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh grades participated. The eighth grade led in the class scoring and Kate Matherley, a member of the eigth grade, got the highest individual score.

The following is a record of the events and the winners:

Event —Record	Winner	Second —Third	Fourth
50-yd. dash—6 1-2 sec.	Edith Mann	K. Matherley—A. Burger	N. Stokes
Run. high jump—4' 6 12"	Cecil Upton	K. Matherley—M. Fischer	M. Jones
Baseball throw—186' 4"	Nell Stokes	M. Bernier—M. Fischer	V. Sanford
Run. broad jump—15' 4"	Edith Mann	V. Sanford—N. Stokes	H. Moore
Basketball throw—90'	Kate Matherly	Charlotte Bruce
Obstacle Relay	8th & 9th grades	10th & 11th grades

WE WILL DYE YOUR SHOES

any shade wanted free of charge. We carry the snappiest line of shoes obtainable.

CINDERELLA BOOT SHOPS

311 E. Broad, Richmond
328 Granby, Norfolk

Electric Shoe Shop

Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S

For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures

Falconer Gift Shop

Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.

236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop

Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music

Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES

The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,

THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

S. A. LEGUS

TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

At the Eaco Theatre Week of May 13—18

MATINEE EACH DAY AT 4

MON.—Charlie Murray in DO YOUR DUTY. Vamped by a bobbed haired bandit while the crooks make a big haul. But does he get his man? Just watch comical Charlie in the funniest picture he ever made. Also News reel and Oddity reel.

TUES.—Tim McCoy in THE BUSH-RANGER with excellent supporting cast. An Australian outdoor romance, the first of its kind, is McCoy's newest thrill picture. Amazing stunts with boomerang and bullwhip, dare-devil riding, hair-rasing battles and escapes. They are all here and a love story that's just grand. Also good comedy.

WED.—William Haines, Lionel Barrymore and Karl Dane in ALIAS JIMMY VALENTINE. No detective could trap him—but when he looked into a pair of lovely eyes—well, the game was up! Haines is just grand as the bank buster and heart-breaker champ! One of the best Haines pictures ever produced. Also comedy.

THURS.—Dorothy Mackail, Ralph Forbes and Anna Q. Nilsson in THE WHIP, a big special production. Twelve smashing, thrilling, wonder scenes—powerful love story of racing horses and Ritzy women, men who dare for a woman's smile, and the biggest train wreck you've ever seen. All in this big picture. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. at mats. only—Leatrice Joy in TROPIC MADNESS. A stirring romance of the land below the line . . where there ain't no ten commandments and love is the only law. Youth in its maddest moments, daring, fresh, timely. A big show is ever there was one. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT. night only—Dolores Del Rio in REVENGE, a big special. A conflict of hearts and hates aflame. in a stirring drama of singing gypsies; now blazing from a bandit's eyes, then leaping to a fiery intensity amidst the pomp and pageantry of gypsy carnival. Glorious romance heart throbbing drama, eye-lurking beauty. You'll enjoy the memory of it for days! Also comedy and news reel.

Admission to S. T. C. girls, 25 cent to each show, if tickets are bought at college.

Kappa Delta Pi to Recognize Scholastic Achievement

ROTUNDA

Field and Track To Be Held Friday, May 17

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 1929 No. 29

UNIORS WIN BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Red and White Teams Clash in Final Game

The first interclass baseball game was held on last Tuesday afternoon between the Juniors and Seniors. Supporters of each team were out to cheer their side. The Seniors, although short of players, put up a hard fight against their opponents, but were forced to yield the victory to the Juniors, the score being 6-0.

The line-up:

Seniors.

Ellen Moore	c
M. G. Wilkinson	p
Louise Vaughan	1b
Marie Elder	2b
M. Erdmann	3b
M. Carter	lf
Katherine Bully	ss

Juniors.

Louise Whitlock	c
M. F. Hatchett	p
Laura M. Smith	1b
Carolyn Watts	2b
M. S. Anthony	3b
Ruth Owen	rf
Thelma Maddox	cf
Elizabeth Payne	lf
Mary Rose Wood	ss

Umpire—Mr. McCorkle.

Freshmen and Sophomores Meet on Wednesday.

The Sophomores met defeat when they played the Freshmen on Wednesday afternoon. Each team did its best to down the other. The freshmen led for the first four innings. In the fifth inning, the sophomores got a 9-8 lead, but it was not for long. The freshmen started bringing in more runs, and they held down the sophomores. The final score was 15-9.

The line-up:

Sophomores.

Laura N. Smith	c
Claudia Fleming	p
Emily Simpson	1b
Edith Coleman	2b

Continued on last page

ARE YOU HELPING IN THE CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

The Campus League has endorsed the Clean-up Campaign and we are very anxious to have the cooperation of each student. For the past week, the campaign has been going on, and we are indeed glad to say that the appearance of the campus has been improved. From now until June, the League is going to continue its campaign and it asks that each student do his part to make our campus beautiful.

Subscribe to the Rotunda and get all the news of your college.

S. T. C. DEBATES HAMPDEN-SYDNEY

Loses in 2—1 Decision

Wednesday night, May 8, the affirmative debate team of Hampden-Sydney met and defeated the negative team from S. T. C. by a score of 2—1. The subject for the debate was the well known and much discussed jury question. Evelyn Graybeal and Virginia Pettigrew represented Farmville, while W. A. Johns and Crawford Carson debated for Hampden-Sydney. Each team is to be commended for its manner in handling the questions.

This debate is the first we have had with Hampden-Sydney in two years. It is the first time we have ever debated them on their platform, for in years before Hampden-Sydney has always been the visiting team.

The debate with Hampden-Sydney closes a very successful season for the represenatives of Farmville. There have been defeats, but victory is founded on defeats, and no training is complete without a taste of it. Often a loss is deemed a defeat when in reality it is a victory or a step forward toward the ultimate achievement of success.

PLAY DAY IN TRAINING SCHOOL

On Friday, May 10, the Training School held a Play Day. The whole elementary school marched over to the athletic field at eleven o'clock and assembled in front of the trees back of the infirmary. Here Miss Rice, the county health nurse, gave the Five Point Certificates, issued by the State, to about 75 children representing all the gardes from the kindergarten up.

The children then dispersed to their appointed places on the field and entered into the games and contests that had been planned, for the morning.

Even the little kindergarten children had a relay race among themselves, passing blue banners down their lines. Many difficult games, stunts, and contests were entered by different groups. The spirit of play and friendly rivalry in the contests made a happy morning, for the children, and student teachers who took active parts in the affair.

Miss Esther Thomas and Miss Louise Robertson of the physical education department were in charge.

NOTICE

Don't miss the game between the S. T. C. Faculty and the College Pickups Friday afternoon after Field and Track Meet!

S. T. C. MAY QUEEN

MISS VIRGINIA GURLEY, Queen of May festivities staged by S. T. C. students at Longwood.

KAPPA DELTA PI TO ENTERTAIN

Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Phi will be hostess at a formal reception on their Founder's Day, Tuesday, May 21, at 9 p. m. Invitations will be issued to the faculty and to those freshmen and sophomores whose entire scholastic record is within the upper quartile of the college.

OLIVER HEADS BASEBALL FOR '29

For the great success of the series of baseball games which ended Monday afternoon, we wish to extend our greatest appreciation to Allie Oliver, head of baseball for this season. Allie has proven herself not only capable of her position, but also a willing hand and enthusiastic worker. During the last few weeks it has not been an unusual thing to see her bending over the athletic field, pouring lime, carrying balls and bats to and from the gymnasium, and in between times enthusiastically encouraging others to participate in athletics.

S. T. C. is fortunate in having a girl of Allie's calibre as next year's vice-president of the Athletic Association, and we feel that her successful beginning is only a sample of what she will accomplish.

H. S. JONGLEURS GIVE PROGRAM

Comedy in Four Acts

The Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs presented "Le Voyage de Monsieur Perrichon," a comedy in four acts, Thursday evening, May 9, at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of Farmville State Teachers College.

Due to the fact that the performance on Thursday night marked the second appearance of the play under the auspices of the Jongleurs, the members of the cast were able to give an extremely creditable interpretation of the play.

"Le Voyage de Monsieur Perrichon" is a rollicking comedy in which the ingenious egotism of Monsieur Perrichon plays a conspicuous part. This role was cleverly played by Mr. Thomas Keesee of Hampden-Sydney in his interpretation of an honest, impressionable old gentleman who is thoroughly delightful in his attempts to place himself in the limelight.

Armand Desroches and Daniel Savory, the infatuated youths who followed the fascinating Henrietta and her family from Paris to Switzerland and back to Paris, did an admirable bit of acting. "Madam Perrichon," although slightly inclined to a demonstration of masculine voice and movements, gave an expert interpretation of the role, the importance of which was heightened by the compilcation resulting from the Major's entrance into the drama. The Major's peculiarities were not accentuated to the point of exaggeration. His comment on the nature of love at his age is reminiscent. "Love," said the Major, "at my age is like the rheumatism; it can't be cured."

The charming Henrietta, who appeared thoroughly feminine to the most critical eye, played the part of a devoted daughter with a divided amount of skill.

The play by the French dramatist, Labiche, is not widely presented in the English. At the suggestion of Professor Bell, the play was recently translated by Professor Vermont of Converse College, Spartanburg, South Carolina.

The performance on Thursday night represented the combined efforts of Professor Bell, the director of the play, and the members of the cast.

The members of the cast included:

Monsieur Perirchon	T. O. Keesee
Madame Perrichon	R. H. Ropp
Henrietta	A. W. Potts
Armand Desroches, E. L. Kendig, Jr.
Daniel Savory	J. G. McAllister, Jr.
The Major	S. S. Baker
Marjorie	L. P. Dillon
The Innkeeper
The Porter N Turner	McDowell, Jr.
Joseph	W. S. Lacy
John	C. L. Cabell
Flower Girl	Margaret E. Atkinson

THE "SOUTHSIDE CHORUS" MEETS IN FARMVILLE

Dr. Jarman Welcomes Over 500 Children

Over 500 children representing what is known as the "Southside Chorus" were cordially welcomed here by Dr. Jarman last Saturday afternoon, May 11, when they held their joint meeting in our college auditorium. Eleven schools were represented: — Aspin, Charlotte Courthouse, College High, Curdsville, Farmville High, Halifax Courthouse, Keysville, Phenix, Rice, Worsham and Wyliesburg.

The program of the afternoon which was announced by Dr. Asa Watkins of Hampden-Sydney, one of our most enthusiastic promoters of music education in Virginia, opened with a "march" played by the College Orchestra under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Purdom.

Following this selection the entire chorus under the leadership of Miss Helen Turner and accompanied by Mrs. Robert Chamberlayne sang "America," a fitting selection for the occasion.

Included among the various selections completing the program were several groups of folk songs sung by the High School Chorus. Of these the English songs, "Begone Dull Care" and "The Lass of Richmond Hill" were particularly well done. The children seemed to readily catch the happy carefree spirit of the former, and the tone quality exhibited in the singing of "The Lass of Richmond Hill" was noticeably light and sweet. On the whole, the chorus showed the result of careful training, doing surprisingly good work throughout the program.

A most attractive feature of the afternoon was the folk dancing, the first number of which was an Irish lilt danced by four S. T. C. girls, and the second a Scotch dance performed by a group of the College High School students.

Continued on page three

LONGWOOD IS SCENE OF BANKER'S CONVENTION

The annual bankers' convention of Virginia was held at Longwood Saturady afternoon, May 11. Tables and chairs were placed on the lawn for the bankers and their wives, and friends. The meeting was followed by a supper served out of doors.

An attractive program was arranged for the bankers and their guests. Miss Robertson's aesthetic dancing class gave several excellent numbers accompanied by an orchestra. The Chromatic Club sang a few sclections. After the program the orchestra played in the house and all were invited to dance.

The convention this year was very successful. About two hundred people were present.

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — VIRGINIA PETTIGREW, '31

Board of Editors

News Editor — WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
Literary — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature — KITTY JOHNSON, '31
Humorous — BILLIE PARIS, '30

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32

Proof Reader

SARAH BAKER, '31

Managers

Busines Manager — SARAH McCORKLE, '30
Assistant — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

"In the Spring—"

What host of thoughts these three words conjure up in our minds! In the spring one thinks of bright, sunny days—such a change from the dull, cold days of winter. In the spring one thinks of new clothes. They, too, must be bright and gay, in contrast to the darker, more sombre colors of our winter wardrobe. In the spring S. T. C. girls get that longing for home. Assignments for classes seem to be longer. Class periods drag by like so many days. In the spring, one simply cannot escape that malady, spring fever. It is inevitable.

Our advice to you, however, is to "snap out of it." There are exactly ten more days to attend classes. You still have the chance to make that final impression before your term grades go in. Get busy now! Gather up the loose ends of your studies, and then really enjoy your examinations.

It is really remarkable how quickly you will recover from spring fever if one will just forget that such a malady exists, and do some real, honest-to-goodness work. If you are dubious about it just try it. It is unfair, to say the least, to pass judgment before you have given it a fair deal. All of us believe in doing the fair and square thing at all times, but are you being fair to yourself when you waste your time in lounging around wishing that summer would hurry up and come? This is today. Make the most of it, and all of the other days will take care of themselves.

Consult Your Doctor

Have you been attending Prayers lately? If you have, you have not doubt noticed the decrease in attendance. Must we attribute this, too, to spring fever? Spring fever is nothing more nor less than a disease of the mind—a disease which causes one to dwell in one's self, and her troubles, or believed-to-be troubles. When one has a disease one consults a doctor or a specialist, if the case proves to be of a serious nature. If you have a serious case of spring fever, homesickness, or any other ailment peculiar to college girls, why not ask the Great Physician's advice? His office hours are from six-thirty to six forty-five every night. Of course, though, as it is with all doctors, He may be called on at any time during the day or night in case of an emergency.

The best policy, so we are told by those who know is to prevent a disease, rather than to try to cure it. Taking this advice, then, we should consult our Doctor regularly. Due to His efficent management, He is able to see anyone at anytime. Keep yourself fit in mind and soul, by consulting the greatest of all physicians. You owe it to yourself, you owe it to those with whom you come in contact with, and you owe it to God to consult Him and ask His advice on all matters.

Let's Do It!

Had you ever thought that many of us young collegians skate on very thin ice in more ponds than we realize? More than we imagine our character is judged by our penmanship; it is an index to our personality. Then there's a philanthropic side to be considered too! I am quite sure our instructors and friends would give us a vote of thanks if we understood the necessity of good handwriting at all times. Judging by much of the writing noticed recently, the thermometer has been within a few degrees of a killing frost. But 'tis spring now; the ice has melted. It is ideal weather to get out our pens and practice for good penmanship. Let's do it!

How to Treat a Book

If all the "bricks" thrown at the student body of S. T. C. in a year's time were piled together, there would be enough material to complete a new building for us. Most "bricks" thrown are not effective because the ones at whom they are aimed are too hardened for them to make an impression). One more "brick," however, is about to increase that pile.

This particular one is aimed at those who would deface a book. It will probably, as nearly all other "bricks," fall short of its mark since no amount of scolding has done much good. We still see the piteous sights of books with covers brutally torn off; books with horrid inscriptions written on the margins; books forlornly ragged; books with their most vital parts missing.

Some one has said that we should treat a good book as a fellow-being: love, respect and reverence it.

Why Not Swim Here?

Although we are up to date in very nearly all our equipment, in our buildings and furnishings, we lack one big factor, a swimming pool. Each of us has probably felt the need of this in our gymnastic work. It is a means of recreation and a means of developing muscle and general physical condition.

In Virginia there are three State Teachers Colleges that have swimming pools of the very modern type. These colleges are in Harrisonburg, Radford, and Fredericksburg. Farmville is the fourth and last college of this type in our state but she, unlike the rest lacks a pool.

Farmville State Teachers College is looked upon by people who know as the best college of its kind in Virginia and it is listed among the twelve best in the United States. Recently she was admitted into an association that permits her students to attend other colleges and yet receive full credit for their work at Farmville. She is the only State Teachers College in Virginia to whom this privilege is granted. Why, with all these splendid records, can she not raise funds to install a swimming pool that will aid in obtaining further prestige?

SOPHOMORE ALPHABET

A—is for Adele, our Y. W. leader
B—is for Brockenborough, no one can beat her.
C—is for Clements, a talented lass.
D—is for Davis, an asset to our class.
E—is for Epeprson, tall and brown-eyed.
F—is for Fleming, she can't be denied.
G—is for Garlick, a blonde we all know.
H—is for Hunt, she makes our class go.
I—is for Irby, with her winsome way
J—is for Juniors, what we'll be some day.
K—is for Klasses, Kizzes and Kurls.
I—is for Lacy, she's one of our girls
M—is for Munn, a leader we love
N—is for Nelms, whose music we love
O—is for Oliver, she runs up the score
P—is for Potts, the classman we adore.
Q—is for questions that we all abhor
R—is for Reed, at tennis she'll score
S—is for Smith, big Laura, our pres.
T—is for Thompson, our lovable Bess
U—is for no one we know in our class.
V—is another we'll have to let pass.
W—is for Webb, our Ella so jolly
X—for exams, an end of our folly.
Y—is for youths, we Sophomores love 'em
Z—is for zeroes,t we want no more of 'em.

GLIMPSES OF CLASSES

Should the thoughts from the printed page. . . . . .

Practice the method of recall. . . .

Who should take the initiative—the teacher or the pupil?

Now, let's come right back to the subject, though there is a certain correlation. But I'm going to confine the discussion, for the sake of saving time, to the community in which you live.

That's the thing—you do not want to violate the sentiment of the community. Whether right or wrong, there is a certain sincerity in the feeling of a community.

Do you read about them much in the newspapers? Do you pull off big stunts like these movie actors? No, these judges are remarkably free from personal prejudice and vanity, aren't they?

Well, here is one illustration, isn't it? What is another?

* * *

If you really want to cultivate your voice, you can do it. What you get from this course depends upon you.

SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY AT FARMVILLE, VA.

Discovered! A new species of hedge was discovered at Longwood in the vicinity of Farmville, Virginia, at the May Day Festival on May 4, 1929. It was observed by several critical bystanders who, being botanically inclined, jotted down the following notes:

We first noted a green mass moving rapidly up from the woods. It planted itself so quickly and symmetrically that we were at once convinced that it was permanently fixed and our observation of the manner of its appearance was merely an hallucination. On closer inspection the mass revealed an extraordinary production of peculiar sounds. These were carefuly recorded as follows:

"Do we stay here all the time?"

"Naturally, and if they forget to take down the scenery we'll stay here all night."

As the festival progressed they became more lively and the noises in-

Continued on last page

POETRY

SOUL OF ENTERPE

She touched the keys with fingers firm and strong,
And then her perfect voice thrilled into song—
Such song, that even casual hearts were stirred
To depths of unknown feeling; eyes were blurred
With stinging tears.
It seemed that she alone
Was unmoved; every deep and tender tone
She sang, brought all hearts to her shrine; they kneeled,
And showed her their bare souls, whom hers concealed.

But once—she gave birth to her hidden spirit;
I saw its tiny wet wings. I could hear it
Breathe.
Yet e'en before its birth I saw it rise,
Within the quiet womb of her dear eyes,
And stir with throbbing tenderness,—but after—
She drowned the lovely, new-born thing in laughter.

A. H. '32

DREAMS

O! Those lovely Dreams
In the peaceful hours of twilight,
Come to us if we but let them,
With their hopes so pure and so bright.
Dreams enfold the Unknown future
In a radiant golden glow
O! If each one in his lifetime
Would grasp them, never let them go!
But true Dreams will only linger
In the hearts of the ones who love
Someone great and true and tender,
As our Father up above.

First we see the Youthful Dreamer
And then comes time to change his view
Now we find the soul that hungers
For sweet companionship so true.

As each Dream in turn is realized
And the swift years go flying by,
Dreams both young and old are fading
We cannot hold them though we try.

Spirit seeketh Spirit in Heav'n
The Paradise of Dreams come true,
Though earthly Dreams may vanish, there
Those lovely dreams will come to you.

Virginia Rawlings Temple '31

FORGET

You may forget—so not regret—
Our happy hours—But I—
Forget? Never—nor I'll regret
Those trysting places—Ours
To me—forever!

Other friends to me will come
And go—
For there must be an end
Even to the best!
But to forget? My heart is slow!
Perhaps you're gone—
But forgotten?
No!

Martha von Schilling '31

Miss Mary Ollie Bowen and Sammy Scott spent the week-end in Richmond.

Miss Virginia Cox visited in South Hill last week-end.

Miss Elizabeth Davis spent the week-end at her home in Brookneal.

Miss Louise Whitlock spent the week-end at her home in Milton, N. C.

Misses Ethel Fisher and Ellen Moore spent the week-end at their homes in Richmond.

Miss Ernestine Myers spent the week-end at her home in Roanoke.

Misses Mary Martin and Bess Thompson spent the week-end at their homes in Lynchburg.

Miss Betty Randall is visiting friends in school.

Miss Jane Wiley had as her guest for the week-end Miss Liza Mount of Lynchburg.

Miss Mary Priest had as her guest for the week-end Miss Jenny Mapp of R. M. W. C.

The French Circle had a picnic at Longwood Wednesday afternoon, May 8.

Mrs. Laing will be glad to see any S. T. C. girl who is considering going to Univeristy of Virginia for summer school work. She will be chaperon at the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

The following girls spent the week-end at their home in Emporia: Virginia Daughtrey, Nancy Boykin, Martha Baker, Madeline Lee, Mary W. Vincent, and Lucy Thompson.

Y. W. C. A. PARTY

"Hot dawgs! hot dawgs! Come get a nice hot—hot dawg, girls!" And when you went after your "hot dawg" you didn't have to look sideways into a window where smoking rolls and chili sauce made your mouth water, because there they were all free at the Y. W. party.

You see the girls dressed up in sweaters and skirts went out to Longwood and cooked their supper over a bonfire. "Who were the lucky girls, you ask me? "Why, haven't you heard that the old Y. W. cabinet gave the freshmen a party last Wednesday afternoon?"

We all came back so happy, because don't you think it makes one happy just to get out in the open sometimes?

Yes, I think everyone had the very best time possible at the party?"

GAMMA THETA BANQUET

Those who returned for the Gamma Theta banquet Saturday night, May 11 were: Elizabeth Ball, Anna Burgess, Jeanette Morris, Carroll Cromwell, Mahill Carlton, Nancy Cole, Virginia Venable Waddill, Marion Grimes, Anne Palmer, Mayo Bass, Bessie Meade Riddle, Polly Riddle, Elizabeth Scott, Katherine Franklin, and Frances Malbon.

COTILLION CLUB DANCE

The annual spring Cotillion Club dance was given in the recreation hall, Saturday night, May 11.

The hall was decorated in pastel shades giving the effect of a spring garden with two archways, one at the foot of each stairway.

Guests attended from all over the state and neighboring states. The music was furnished by the Carolina Buccaneers.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION HOLDS INSTALLATION

May 7 at 6:45 the Athletic Association held its installation services. Mary Frances Hatchett, the outgoing president, administered the oath of office to Laura M. Smith, the new president. The other officers installed are:

Allie Oliver ..... Vice-President
Claudia Fleming ..... Secretary
Laura N. Smith ..... Treasurer

STUDENT COUNCIL AND Y. W. CABINET ENTERTAINED

An event, which took place last year, was repeated Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. J. J. Marshall entertained the old Student Council and Y. W. Cabinet at her home near Farmville. After delicious strawberry shortcake and hot chocolate were served, the girls were invited into the garden, where there were many beautiful spring flowers. Mrs. Marshall's kindness was greatly appreciated and enjoyed by both the Council and the Cabinet.

THE KINDERGARTEN MAY DAY

At eleven o'clock Monday morning, May 13, the kindergarten children in a happy procession walked from the Training School to the front of the auditorium to celebrate their May Day.

At the head of the line, the small and smiling May Queen, Kitty McGann, led the way. She was dressed in white, and a long tulle veil floating gracefully from her head, was lifted from the ground by her attendants, Mary St. Clair Bugg and Marjorie Smith.

The children followed, walking two by two, wearing crowns and headdresses of their own manufacture, made of delicate shades of crepe paper.

After the May Queen was seated under the arch of the auditorium entrance, the children entertained her with dances. The boys played little games of jumping horses, and marching soldiers. At the end the Queen commanded them to "play elephants."

The piano accompaniment was played by Annie Frances Barrett, Anne Wikles, and Frances Millican had charge of the rhythms and dances.

SOUTHSIDE CHORUS MEETS IN FARMVILLE

Continued from page one

As an appropriate addition to this afternoon of folk music the College Orchestra played several delightful old English dances—a "Morris Dance" and "Shepherd's Dance" by Edward German. The gay liveliness of these dances was well portrayed in their rendition and sopke favorably for the fine work which our orchestra is doing.

In addition to the College Orchestra our own Choral Club also contributed to this program singing Elgar's "Snow" and that gay little song "The Top O' the Mornin' " by Mana Zucca.

As a source of pleasure and inspiration Saturday's program will long be remembered. Such gatherings as this serve to give children that true musical background which is their due.

AMONG OUR CAPS AND GOWNS

ELIZABETH BOWERS

Elizabeth is one of the most lovable and friendly girls in the Senior Class of '29, but its difficult to describe her in mere words because she is so real. Her four years of college life have been ones of service and loyalty to her Alma Mater. For four years she has served on the cabinet of the Y. W. C. A.; she has worked on the Rotunda staff, and entered into other college activties with the desire to do her best. Her leadership was recognized by Alpha Kappa Gamma, and her great interest in social science gained her membership in Pi Gamma Mu.

But there's another side to Elizabeth, and perhaps after all, this is the best side, for she's a genuine friend. Her readiness to help and ability to understand are two of her outstanding characteristics. Elizabeth's ready smile and cheery greeting makes her company very desirable. In other words she is the kind of person you like to be with.

MARTHA HENDERLITE

When we think of athletics, especially tennis and volley-ball, those of us who have been here for four years immediately think of Martha.

Kappa Delta Pi recognized Martha's ability as a student and Pi Gamma Mu recognized her special ability as a student of social sciences by electing her into the membership of these two honor societies.

Those of us who are fortunate enough to know Martha intimately recognize in her a friend—"tried and true."

MARGARET HUBBARD

"Music hath its charm"—
and so has "Hubbard!"

Margaret is very talented along many lines, but especially in music. She not only plays well, but she possesses a splendid voice. "Hubbard" is an outstanding member of the Chromatic and Choral clubs. Her interest in nearly every phase of the college life is evident. She is a member of Pi Gamma Mu also. "Hubbard" is always ready to help others and for this reason along with many others, we have grown to know and admire her for her fine characteristic qualities.

Co-eds of the University of Colorado in the Delta Delta Delta sorority house had to flee for safety in nearly zero weather with nothing on but pajamas recently when fire broke out on the third story of their dwelling. It is reported that the fire department has received a large number of applicants for membership since the fire.—The Brackety-Ack.

Humming Bird
Full Fashioned Hosiery

NEW!

A new arrival of Humming Bird Full Fashioned Hosiery makes our stocking department resemble sunrise on a May morning. See these glorious new shades, sponsored by the Paris representative of the mills. Beautifully styled heels, very fine texture, unusual length, sandal soles, step-up toe guard.

The Smartness of Youth
The Splendor of Royalty

Picot Edge, all silk chiffon,

French heels, $1.95

Other Styles $1.50

BALDWIN'S
DEPARTMENT STORES
LYNCHBURG, VA. DURHAM, N. C. & RICHMOND
Farmville, Va.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
MOTHER'S DAY CARDS
WHITMAN'S & NUNNALLY'S
Candy For
MOTHER'S DAY

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here.

COATS —— DRESSES
GLOVES —— HATS
DRESS GOODS —— NOTIONS
SHOES —— HOSIERY
NEW SPRING SHOES
are here in
Blue, Green Blonde
Price $5 and up
We invite your inspection
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

GRADUATION FROCKS

Of lovely Silks, all the newest, all the smartest.

$5.00 $9.95 $16.75

A price to meet the needs of anyone.

Just now, many sub-debs are busy with detestable exams and the fun of selecting graduation dresses. Flat crepe, chiffon, georgette, crepe de chine and taffeta are the important material for these important dresses for the big occasion. In white and lovely opaque pastel shades.

HUB
DEPT. STORE

ROTUNDA JOKES

W. & L. Frosh (at the Cotillion Club dance): "I am very happy to meet you.

Holland: "Fortunate is the word, Sonny."

Dolly Reed: "Stop. My lips are for another!"

He: "One moment please and you'll get another."—Whirlwind.

Dot Anderson: "I'm awfuly light on my feet."

Boy friend: "How about other peoples?"

Athlete: "I saw Liz up in the gym lifting a dumbell."

Gymnast: "Chinning herself?"

Pannie: "You know its peculiar about one's always hearing how the Greek gods had nectar."

Lucille: "But Pannie, they were human."

Chemistry Prof.: "You took my tip on Ethel last night, didn't you?"

Assistant: "Yes, I went slowly and the results were great."

Student in Lab.: "I thought he said not to give any hints to anyone on experiments."

Hampden-Sydney: "You are leaving me entiely without reason."

S. T. C.: "Well, I always leave things as I find them."

"May I break?"

Old girl who has been stuck for half an hour with Mary's boy friend: "You can go to pieces for all I care."

He "Have you heard the one about John Gilbert and Greta Garbo kissing?"

Innocent she: "No."

He: "Well, you see, it was like this . . . . .—"—Jack O' Lantern.

Bugs: "Red, I hear you are engaged?"

Red Foster: "Yes, but I didn't accept Cotten the first time he proposed."

Bugs: "No, dearie, you weren't there."

Dr. Simkins: "Well! What made you late this morning?"

Liz Turner: "I overslept. You see there are eight in our house and the alarm was only set for seven."

Meda: "What's the game with the most sex appeal?"

Simm: "Don't know. What?"

Meda: "Tag! Someone's always it."

She: "Adieu!"

He: "You do?"—The Cajoler.

Keydet: "Waitress, do you stuff olives here?"

Pretty Waitress: "No, I don't think so, but I fill dates."—Sniper.

SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY AT FARMVILLE, VA.

(Continued from page two)

creased momently.

"Gee, look at Blanche Murrell!"

"Aren't the Carter twins darling?"

"I bet no hedge ever had limbs as twisted as mine."

"Look green, Hilda, look green! It ought not to be hard to do!"

"There goes that safety pin, Liz, Help me fix this garland."

"If my mother could see me now."

"We look like a cross between Lon Chaney and Peter Pan."

"Most time to grow up!"

"Ready!"

"Left knee, right knee!"

Then there was noted a remarkable change. The shrubbery had begun to move slowly toward us

"Left!"

"Right!"

"Left!"

"Right!"

"Are we almost there?"

"Ouch! My toe!"

"Now—!"

"Right knee!"

"Down!"

"Get your garland out of my eye."

"Grow up, now Mil, grow up!"

"I can't see."

"Heck!"

Various changes were noted here in the outward aspect of the shrubbery. They increased in size in an unbelivable manner.

"You've got to be useful and not just ornamental this one time."

"Look at the prince!"

"Stop wiggling!"

Again the animated scenery shifted.

"Sit down, Ethel, sit down!"

"Gee, what relief!"

"Doesn't Gurley look beautiful?"

"Say nub, as a hedge, you"d make a better cauliflower!"

"I'm about to freeze."

"Me, too!"

"I don't mind being a Virginia shrub, but I'll drawn the line at an Alaskan perennial."

We then noted astonishing developments of agile limbs that vanished rapidly into the woods and were seen no more.

The phenomenon is herein recorded in the hope that future botanists can come nearer a solution of this mystery.

JOIN THE ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION!

One night this week a number of the Y. W. Alumna Committee will visit the rooms of those girls who are not planning to return to school in September to enroll them in the Alumnae Association. The purpose of this association is to keep its members informed concerning the activities of the Y. W. and of the college as a whole.

The membership fee is $1, and may be paid either now or in the fall after the members start teaching. The money thus obtained is used to help some Christian worker who has graduated from Farmville S. T. C. and who is doing good, constructive work either as a misisonary or as a mountain-teacher.

Thus, by joining the Y. W. Alumnae Association, the members may give pleasure to themselves by keeping in touch with their Alma Mater, and they aid others. When the girls visit your rooms this week, please cooperate with them by joining the Association.

TENNIS

Where, oh where are our faculty tennis players? They have sadly neglected to sign up for the tennis doubles tournament. A few have entered, but we know there are others who are equally as good sports. An opportunity will be given for other faculty aspirants to enter in the next few days. This will be the last chance as the card will be taken down from the bulletin board this week. We're counting on having more of the faculty turn out and show their skill.

All first and second round matches of the student tennis tournament must be played by Saturday, so that the whole tournament may be completed before exams. Get in touch with your opponents immediately.

It is planned that the winners of the faculty tournament will play the winners of the student tournament. Everybody get busy!

ARCHERY

"Hey, there! Where are you going?" Why, haven't you heard about archery practice this afternoon?" Come around to the athletic field every afternoon from four to six o'clock, and show the girls how you can shoot. You will have a chance to show S. T. C. how easy it is to hit the "bull's-eye."

FIELD AND TRACK MEET

Field and track meet will be held Friday, afternoon May 17, at 2:30. Come out and help your side to win the points, and win some yourself toward the coveted blazer. At present the Green and Whites have 50 points toward the cup and the Red and Whites 35. Hhere are the present records at S. T. C. Come out and try to break one of them, or see your friends do it.

Dash (50 yd.)—record	6.5	seconds
Kitty Reid, winner	1926
Dash (75 yd.)—record	9	seconds
Juliet Jones, winner	1927
Running b. jump—record	14 ft. 11 in.
Jeannette Johnson, winner	1926
Shot Put—record	30 ft.
Emma Woods, winner	1927
Hop-step-jump—record	30ft. 5 in.
Louise Moore, winner	1924
Javelin—record	69 ft. 9 in.
M. F. Hatchett, winner	1927
Hurdles (60 yd.)—record	9	sec.
J. Talley	1927
High Jump—record	4 ft. 4 3-34 in.
Virginia Perkins, winner	1926
Baseball throw—record	188 ft. 4 in.
Virginia Pierce, winner	1927

MARRIAGE IMPROVES STUDENTS' GRADES

Not very long ago a report was printed in the Tar Heel to the effect that a certain college would, after a given date, disbar married men and women from its classrooms. And now we have another report, this time stating that "Marriage improves students' grades" and that there is a greater tendency to settle down in the state of wedded bliss and attend more strictly to books.—The Agnostic.

JUNIOR WIN BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Continued from page one

Elizabeth Peake	3b
Lillian Beard	rf
Mildred Maddrey	cf
Allie Oliver	lf
Louise Hardy	ss

Freshmen.

Easter Souders	c
Kathleen Hundley	p
Anita Crane	1b
Sue Cross	2b
Sallie Morrison	3b
Frances Edwards	rf
Cleo Quisenberry	cf
Lindsay White	lf
Lucile Floyd	ss

Umpire—Mr. Coyner.

Substitutes for freshmen—Mary Robertson and Fanny Neal.

Juniors Are Champions

On Monday the juniors and freshmen played for the championship with Mr. Coyner umpiring. This was the most exciting game of all. The quick decisive plays furnished plenty of thrills to spectators. Both teams were Red and White, but both were determined to win.

It looked as if the freshmen were going to claim the victory during the first few innings when they led with a 3—1 score. The juniors began to pick up,however, and after a hard battle gained the championship. The score was 8—4. This is the third baseball championship the juniors have won.

The game was witnessed by fans who were full of pep. What the group of spectators lacked in size it made up for in enthusiasm. Those who missed this game missed a real baseball game.

WE WILL DYE YOUR SHOES

any shade wanted free of charge. We carry the snappiest line of shoes obtainable.

CINDERELLA BOOT SHOPS

311 E. Broad, Richmond
328 Granby, Norfolk

Electric Shoe Shop

Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

SHANNON'S

For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.

236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop

Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music

Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, aesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES

The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,

THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

S. A. LEGUS

TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

At the Eaco Theatre Week of May 20—25

MON.—Tom Mix with Tony his wonder horse and Bernard Bolden and his white mule Uncle Sam, in THE DRIFTER. Another action show of the kind only Mix can give you—see him as a daredevil buckaroo of saddle and plane. Also News reel.

TUES. & WED.—H. B. Warner, Anna Q. Nilsson, Alice Joyce, Nils Asther and Carmel Myers in the big special production "SORRELL AND SON." This is the most discussed novel of recent years. Now the best lovedw picture of the present day. At no time has there been prepared for the eyes of the world such a living glorious, stirring story of sincere love. The love of a father for his son; a love that laughed at a world that called him a failure—a love that asked of life only one reward. "Make me a success as a father." Could a mother do more for her daughter. Truly a great picture. Also comedy.

WED.—Jean Hersholt, Phyllis Haver, Belle Bennett, Don Alvarado and Sally O'Neil in D. W. Griffith's great production, THE BATTLE OF THE SEXES. Are there sex standards? Is a man love free and women love-bound? Thrillingly, laughingly and tearfully answered by the genius of the screen. A big production. Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT.—Mats. only. Olive Borden and Noah Beery in LOVE IN THE DESERT. Man and woman swept away in the swift torrents of desire. All the blazing splendors of love that flames behind the curtained portals of the east! Directed by Geo. Melford, creator of the "The Sheik". Also comedy.

FRI. & SAT.—Belle Bennett, Neil Hamilton, Victor McLaglen, Ted McNamara and Ethel Clayton in MOTHER MACHREE, a big special production. Even as the song has sung its way into the hearts of every race, so will the picture capture the heart of the world. Eearth's greatest miracle—Mother Love—at last portrayed in all its flaming beauty on the screen. Also news and comedy.

No theatre has ever shown as many big attractions in one week as we present here.

Admission to S. T. C. girls 25c to each show if tickets are bought at the college.

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, 1929 No. 30

HOCKEY SEASON IS A SUCCESS

Seniors Have Record of An Undefeated Team

On Thanksgiving morning at 9 o'clock Elizabeth Walker Brewer led the freshman hockey team on the athletic field to meet the sopohomore team led by Laura N. Smith. This game started off the annual interclass hockey games. Although the sophomores had an additional year of training the freshmen team under the direction of Miss Iler displayed as much skill and team work as the sophomores. The final whistle blew just as the sophomores made the deciding score of 3 to 2.

The juniors and seniors, older in age, as well as older in experience, held the spectators spell bonud as the ball traveled up and down the field. The captain of the junior team, Mary Mann Baskerville spurred her team on while Emma Woods encouraged the seniors. The seniors proved to be more up-to-date in the game and won with a 3 to 1 score.

The came the time for the sister classes to play the championship game. During the first half each team made one goal. Both teams went on the field the second half with an even greater determination to dash through the defense. Both teams fought hard and furiously but the seniors, proving too much for their sister class, made another goal, leaving the score 2 to 1. This was the final game for the seniors and they leave S. T. C. this year with a record of an undefeated team.

On November 11 Farmvill S. T. C. and William and Mary hockey teams met in a fast and fiercely fought game. The first score was made by Moore, the captain of the William and Mary team. At the end of the first half the score stood 1 to 0. In the second half, Mary Frances Hatchett, the captain of the Blue and White team played especially well and supported Baskerville as she shot the ball beyond the William and Mary goal keeper. The final score was 1 to 1.

Farmville was very proud of a tie score. This was an improvement over last year as she was defeated by a score of 9 to 4.

The girls to represent the blue and white in this game were chosen by Miss Iler, our coach, Mary Frances Hatchett, the captain and Marie Elder, the manager. They are as follows:

A. Oliver—R. W. ..... Class '331
L. M. Smith—R. I. ..... Class '30
M. M. Baskerville—C. F. .... Class '30
K. Bully—L. I. ..... Class '29
K. Rhodes—L. W. ..... Class '29
G. Hardy—R. H. ..... Class '29
M. F. Hatchett—C. H. ..... Class '30
M. Elder—L. H. ..... Class '29
D. Reed—R. B. ..... Class '31
L. Walker Brewer—L. B. .... Class '32
F .Edwards—G ..... Class '32

Umpires: Miss Lehr, Baltimore; Miss Gary, Sweet Briar.

MARY FRANCES HATCHETT

High Point Winner in Field Day First Place in Javelin Throw, Baseball Throw, Tied for Second Rank in High Jump.

Freshmen and Sophomores Honored

Kappa Delta Pi entertained the upper quartile of freshmen and sophomores, and the faculty at a reception, Tuesday night, in the Student Building lounge.

Those freshmen and sophomores who were invited to the reception were: Eleanor M. Davis, Mary Louise Elliott, Alice St. A. Harrison, Ruth Hart, Sara Hubard, Kathleen Jones, Doris Robertson, Lucy Smith, Beatrice Tittsworth, Louise Woodson, Lucy Adams, Elizabeth Brockenborough, Mary Ellen Cato, Margaret Chilton, Elsie Clements, Minnie Elliott, Virginia Ray Fulton, Alma Garlick, Pauline Gibb, Hazel Virginia Poarch, Elizabeth Mae Taylor, Jennie Elizabeth Temple, Mattie Brown Williams.

MISS ILER LEADS S. T. C. IN SUCCESSFUL ATHLETIC YEAR

Who else could we be talking about except the most beloved and fairest of coaches? There are few things that Miss Iler has left undone in the field of athletics in the past two years. She has given a large part of her time toward making them the best S. T. C. has ever had. It is a known fact that if you are looking for Miss Iler in the afternoons from 4 to 6, you can always find her either out on the athletic field coaching hockey, baseball, track, and archery, or in the gym instructing in volleyball or basketball. In other words, there are not many afternoons that Miss Iler isn't helping someone accomplish the five points in athletics.

Miss Iler, acting as advisor to the Athletic Council for the last two years, has given them many good ideas and helped them put these ideas into practice.

It means much to have someone around us who is always willing to help in any possible way and not remind us of the services rendered, one who helps us to remember that life is what we make it. That someone is Miss Iler.

MONOGRAM CLUB ENDS YEAR'S WORK

The Monogram Club ends its work this year with a sense of pride, and it is looking forward to next year's work even more. The club's purpose is to instil into all a higher sense of sportsmanship and to make the wearer of the college monogram feel her responsibility to her school when she becomes the possessor of the coveted S. T. C. Membership includes a scholastic average of C, sportsmanship, physcial efficiency test, and 400 points in all.

To the prospective new members of the club we extend the challenge anew—to carry with their monograms the duty which it inspires and the honor which it demands.

OLD AND NEW A. A. PRESIDENTS

LAURA M. SMITH Heads Athletic Association for 1929-'30.
MARY FRANCES HATCHETT, Retiring President.

Student Body Adopts New System

At a special meeting of the student body Tuesday night, Etta Marshall presented a new proctor and study hour system. The student body voted unanimously to adopt the new system and it will be put into practice next year. Next year each hall will elect a hall president who will serve for the entire year. A council of hall president, with vice-president of Student Council as ex-officio member, will meet twice a month to discuss dormitory problems and designate penalties for offenses. The second part of the plan dealt with study hour regulations. Next year we will not have closed study hour as it has existed this year. In each room there will be placed an official "busy" sign, and when this sign is placed upon a girl's door it means that no one is to enter that room under any condition. Between 7:30 and 10 o'clock there will be absolute quiet on the halls, but when necessary a girl may enter another girl's room without permission during study hour, provided she is quiet and there is no "busy" sign on the door.

ANNUAL FIELD AND TRACK MEET MAY 17

Green and White Wins High Score

On Friday, May 17, the annual field and track meet was held. The Green and White came out on top with 57 points to 45 for the Red and White. This gives Green and White 10 points toward the cup. The scoring by classes was: freshmen 26 points, sophomores 49 points, juniors 19 points, and seniors 8 points.

The record for baseball distance throw was broken Friday. The former record was 188 feet, 4 inches, and was made by Virginia Pierce in 1927. Mary Frances Hatchett threw the ball 190 feet, 8 inches, exceeding the record by more than 2 feet.

Hatchett was high point winner, having 12 1-2 points to her credit. Dorothy Lohr and Louise Moore tied for second place with 10 points ahead.

Gwendolyn Hardy was head of field and track.

ARCHERY TOURNAMENT TO CLOSE SEASON

Frances Edwards is Head

Shades of William Tell, Robin Hood, and other less renowned followers of the arrow! What meaneth this assembly of girls, with an occasional faculty member all conscientiously trying to hit the "bull's eye"?

The explanation is simple. You may have guessed it already. The aforementioned group have been practicing archery, anticipating the tournament which is to be held Thursday and Friday afternoon, May 23 and 24 from 4 to 6. ,

The trouble, though, is that only a very few seem to be interested in developing good aim and marksmanship. Why don't some more of you come out and join the fun, for fun it certainly is. (If you don't believe it, ask Miss Robertson or Dr. Rouse. Both of them have been testing their skill and have put all of us to shame).

You can spare some time in the afternoons for a little recreation. You can study better at night after having played a while. There will be a practice every afternoon this week from 4 to 6, so come on out!

Hockey, basketball, volley ball, tennis, baseball, field and track have had their places among our sports for the past session. The tournament will end athletics for the year. Each class has a chance to win more points toward the color cup. This is the first time we have had an archery tournament and because of the fact that it is the first time we are expecting it to be the best sport of the season. We have some girls who would put Robin Hood and William Tell to shame. One girl shot at Mr. Coyner's hat the other day and would probably have hit it if he hadn't been nervous and moved. This is your last chance to support your colors.

Frances Edwards is head of archery.

FIELD DAY RECORDS
MAY 17, 1929

Event	Record	Winner	Second	Third	Fourth
1. Dash	11 seconds	E. Coleman	E. Souders	D. Lohr	M. E. Todd
2. Running broad jump	13' 11 3-4"	L. Moore	K. Bully	C. Fleming	K. Hundley
3. Shot put	28' 7"	L. N. Smith	E. Souders	M. Erdman	L. Floyd
4. Hop-step-jump	29' 10 1-2"	L. Moore	F. Schofield	K. Bully	C. Fleming
5. Javelin	63' 10"	M. F. Hatchett	D. Lohr	L. N. Smith	E. Coleman
6. Hurdles	9 seconds	D. Lohr	E. Coleman L. M. Smith	L. M. Smith
7. Running high jump	4' 1"	C. Quisenberry	M. F. Hatchett	S	T. Maddox
8. Baseball throw	190' 8"	M. F. Hatchett	K. Hundley	L. M. Smith	C. Quisenberry
9. Relay	47 seconds	Sophomores	Freshmen

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor ..... VIRGINIA PETTIGREW, '31

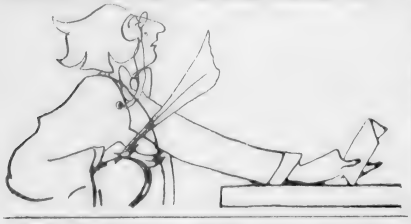
Board of Editors

News Editor ..... WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
Literary ..... LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic ..... MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News ..... GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News ..... A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social ..... RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art ..... VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature ..... KITTY JOHNSON, '31
Humorous ..... BILLIE PARIS, '30

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32

Proof Reader



SARAH BAKER, '31

Managers

Busines Manager ..... SARAH McCORKLE, '30
Assistant ..... PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation ..... MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant ..... NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

The Soul of Good Sportsmanship

"Sportsmanship is the badge of a nation's greatness and an emblem of its destiny," wholeheartedly buoyant about every undertaking, reaching towards the best, earnest in purpose, ever dependable, loyal to friends, generous and courteous to opponents, impartial in judgment, gracious in manner,—these virtues symbolize the soul of good sportsmanship. fi

This being the athletic issue of "The Rotunda" something must be said about the value of athletics in training for sportsmanship. The necessity for "grit", consideration for others, and appreciation for an opponent's efforts are instilled in the participants and the boosters of athletic sports. Remember even if you can not take part in athletic events, your sportsmanship will be developed by giving your hearty support and cooperation because the fundamental principle of athletics is sportsmanship.

Playing the Game

Life is a game. It is one long game from the minute we enter the world until we leave it.

The tiny child knows nothing whatever about life. He has to learn everything about it. At first he learns only the essential things. Gradually he learns the fine points of living—how to get the most enjoyment out of life. So it is with any beginner in learning to play a game. He has to learn, first, the fundamental rules of the game—rules that can never be violated. Skillful playing comes only after the principle of the game has been mastered.

The most enjoyment is derived from life if we live each day fully, if we put our best efforts into every task set before us, if we live for the pure joy of living. The most enjoyment is derived from a game if we call into use all of our knowledge about the game, if we perform each play as perfectly as is humanly possibly, if we play for the pure love of playing.

Do you enjoy better the game which is won, regardless of how it is won, or the game which is lost, fighting hard to the very end, but scrupulously observing the rules and the spirit of the game? And so it is, again, with life—we admire and pay tribute to the man who knows how to live, who knows how to take defeat, who knows how to make his defeat merely a stepping stone for rising higher—not the man who thriumphs, in a certain sense of the word, regardless of the feelings of people, who disregards the spirit and the rules of the game.

We admire the sport in every phase of life. It is he who is remembered long after the score of the game, and the minor details are forgot. Be a sport, girls! This game is so short, but we can make it worthwhile if we will only let our true selves come to the surface.

And, then, there is always a coach to teach us how to play. How fortunate we are to have The Coach to teach us the rules of life—One who knows everything about the rules—One who is always ready to help us overcome our weak points—One who is sympathetic—One who has a personal interest in every player.

Associates

There are two great forces constantly struggling for supremacy in the lives of all of us. The success of each one of us depends largely upon which one of these forces gain the mastery. The direction in which we go is, in a great measure, due to the comparisons with whom we are associated.

One's companions may lead either in the right or in the wrong direction, and, for this reason, it is very necessary to choose our associates wisely and carefully.

In almost every case a young person's first offense is due to the influence of an evil companion.

If a person has been so situated that he has become accustomed to being influenced by bad associates, he should make every effort to break away from these companions and their influence.

It is true, nevertheless, that there is an equal possibility of being lifted up by good associates. Therefore, if we do choose our associates wisely, success in life will be much more assured.

Examinations

Examinations begin next week. Our student body is divided into two groups in regard to its attitude toward examinations.

The first group is composed of those girls who always "put off until tomorrow" the things which should be done today. As examinations approach they become frantic as the sudden realization comes to them of how much they do not know. Numerous "busy" signs appear; there is much hasty poring over books, and then this groups appears for examinations with a frown, and a worried look in their ayes.

Then there is the group who masters each lesson as they proceed. They look forward to examinations as a real test of their knowledge. They are eager to know exactly what they have accomplished during the past term, and it is to this group that examinations really mean something.

To which group do you belong?

Are Bitter Experiences Valuable?

In reading an essay the other day I came across this statement: "A man who never makes a mistake, will make nothing." Immediately there came tumbling into my mind thoughts of the various and sundry mistakes of my life—mistakes which at the time, seemed inexcusable blunders. I began to think whether or not these mistakes had helped me to "make something." Did they not point the way to something better next time Certainly I have avoided making again the same mistake, but I have also worried over them and thought many a time that my life would be much more efficient if I had only taken the other course in some instances, or perhaps left undone something that I did do. Now I realize that I should get rid of those regrets, should realize that mistakes are unavoidable to one who at least tries to take her part in the world, and what I am on account of what I have experienced. I can begin at last to see that even the bitterest experiences may be the highest stepping stones to real achievement.

ALUMNAE NEWS

At the recent meeting in Suffolk of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. W. C. Flournoy, of Lexington, was elected vice-president. Mrs. Flournoy, known as Birdie Boyd in her student days, is well known as a speaker and writer, her latest book being entitled, "Essays Historical and Critical." A critic speaks of her as a "talented historian."

The May-June number o fthe Virginia Club Woman contains an article on International Relations by Mrs. Katherine Ferguson Morehead, of Salem.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is planning to establish on a permanent and ever-widening basis a cultural, civic and educational reciprocity among the women of other nations. As a step forward it is suggested that an Inter-American Conference of women leaders of the Western Hemisphere be called in Washington at some time in the coming year. Another practical method suggested is the extension of the 'Junior Year Abroad" movement by which college students may take their Junior college year in some recognized foreign institution, returning to their own college for Senior year and graduation.

Miss Lillian Minkel is a member of the graduating class of the Presbyterian Assembly's training school in Richmond.

Miss Constance Rumbaugh returned from the European mission field, brought an earnest message to the Woman's Missionary Society of the Virginia Conference, M. E. church, South, at its annual meeting held in Danville in April.

The engagement of Miss Virginia Carter Blasingame, of Ashland, to Roland R. Uptegraft, of Hartford, Conn., has been announced. The wedding will take place in June.

FRESHMAN ALPHABET

A—lma Mater, freshmen love you.
B—ritt and Brewer, they're peppy and true.
C—ox, our leader, our hearts she claims.
D—unkley, very high grades she attains.
E—lam is blond, a good-natured child
Freshmen, we're freat!—That's putting it mild.
G—oode is pretty and so sedate.
H—unt and Hudgins make us go straight.
I—gnorance is bliss, bit it ruins our rep
J—ordan, the school-girl complexion has kept (K—is the Kourage we need to go on).
L—ibby's a small but peppy one.
M—ilner, her versatile gifts advertise us
N—inger, her musical abilities surprise us.
O—wens excells in natural dancing
P—riest and Petty, through whom we're advancing
Q—uisenberry, treasurer, makes ends meet.
S—ouders, an athlete, whom everyone knows.
T—odd, our girl with the twinkling toes.
U—rhart, only those can say it who-'ve know her.
V—on Schilling could easily pass for Ramona.
W—omble and Whitehead, those talented two,
X—, I can't think of one, can you?
Y—arborough, to the whole class is a friend.
"—Zis is all, therefore ze end.

POETRY

THE ONLY STAR

Have you no sisters, you lonely star?
Or have they deceived you tonight?
Your rays alone are seen afar.
Making a world, of darkness, light.

Are you not lonesome in the heavens alone,
As you flicker and twinkle your light?
You serve as a guide to the traveler from home,
As he plods on his way in the night.

You serve as an inspiration to many a man,
Who has lost all hope, and bowed in grief.
Come, sister stars! do all you can,
To help other travelers who need relief.

E. F. M. '30

KIND DEEDS

When we are tired and feeling sad
And nothing seem to make us glad,
Just think of something kind to say
Good work will help us on our way.

Just try to do some kindly deed
For those who are in woeful need.
I think this is the very way
To bring ourselves a happy day.

Elizabeth Hunt '30

STATUETTE

The moon found nothing
On that night of still, cold calm—
Save only a shivering
Child of misery,
Hovering about the pillars
Of the tall, white church.
Lighted windows beckoned,
But all doors were barred;
And the wraith-like creature
Leaned wearily against God's house .
Somewhere betwixt the morn
And the silver rays of moonlight
That turned the child
Into a snow-white image,
A voice cried—and was stilled.
The moon forsook her vigil . . .
In the morning,
The sun found a solitary child
Grasping, with fingers of death,
The pillars of God's house.

Willie Savage '31

GOLDFINCH

A yellow flower-petal drifts slowly past my window.
Another crocus-colored bloom drops down,
And then a golden shower descends.
Can God be scattering these sunny petals,
Great drops of perfume, from His wild-rose garden?

The green below is covered now with petals;
But look! each yellow petal has taken root;
Wild roses change to golden buttercups.
So close they are, the green scarce shows beneath them.

Wild rose or buttercup, which can it be
That drifted for a moment past my window?
But does a rose have wings?
Do buttercups rise swiftly from the earth
To blossom on the trees?
Did Midas touch that dull, old scraggy tree?
Or does it bloom with golden-throated birds?

C. M. H. '29

Misses Nancy Holt and Phyllis Pedigo were back the past week-end for the Pi Kappa Delta banquet.

Zeta Tau wishes to announce Virginia Bledsoe as a new pledge.

Miss Marian Cobb spent the week-end in Bedford.

Misses Catherine Watts and Mildred Owen spent the week-end in Richmond with Hazel Burgwin.

Miss Emma Luke visited in Cumberland last week-end.

Misses Lucile Norman, Laura Anderson, Macy Clay and Winnie Hiner spent the week-end in Staunton.

Misses Emmie Lou Pulliam and Allie K. Libby spent the week-end in Richmond.

Miss Ellen Fowlkes spent the week-end at her home in Kenbridge.

Miss Mae Baldwin spent the week-end in Durham.

Misses Liz Watkins and Ellen Griffith spent the week-end in Keysville with Frances Hanmer.

Misses Emilyn Mills and Myra Reese spent the week-end in Mineral.

Miss Jacque Hix spent the week-end at Prospect.

Miss Elizabeth Bowers spent the week-end in Richmond.

PI KAPPA DELTA BANQUET HELD

Pi Kappa Delta had its founders day banquet, Friday, May 11 at 6:30 in the banquet room.

The fraternity colors, red and white were carried out in the decorations.

New members at the banquet were: Virginia Pettigrew, Ethel Fisher, Evelyn Graybeal, Gertrude Shepherd, Mr. and Mrs. Bowman, Martha Ann Laing, Nellie Talley and Ann Hopkins.

ZETA TAU BANQUET

Zeta Tau had its annual spring banquet, Saturday night, May 18. The recorations carried out the scheme of fairyland.

Alberta Collings, Norfolk, Va., returned for the banquet.

H.-S. TAU KAPPA ALPHAS HAVE BANQUET MAY 15

The Hampden-Sydney Chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensic fraternity, had an unusually enjoyable banquet Wednesday night, May 15, in S. T. C. Banquet Hall. The courses were interspersed with appropriate and clever toasts, with Mr. T. O. Kesee as toastmaster.

Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Walmsley, Miss Mary Pettit, and several members of the State Teachers College Debate Club.

Y. W. TEA

The new Y. W. Cabinet gave the old Cabinet a tea last Monday afternoon, May 20, from 5 to 6 o'clock. The faculty was invited to attend the tea also.

Everyone assembled in the Student Building lounge around a log fire. Tea and cakes were served.

Great Britain signifies her willingness to discontinue the use of submarines in warfare, which is to say, a celebrated swordsman signifies his willingness to discontinue duelling with pistols.

MISS MARY ENTERTAINS ORCHESTRA

Thursday afternoon, May 16, Miss Mary gave the orchestra and all of the teachers that board in college a picnic. They left the college in a bus at five o'clock and arrived at Longwood in plenty of time to just "fool around" until supper was served, and oh boy, what a supper! Chicken—cake—pie—punch, and all was served out under the trees!! Everyone ate until it was just an impossible task to try to eat "just another piece."

Of course, after all fashion, to be "etiquettable", there must be music; so to the accompaniment of a banjo, they sang many songs. As all good things go contrary to facts. It did end as the old bus rolled up High Street, but they called it a day, and oh what a day!

PI GAMMA MU VISITS HISTORICAL SPOTS

Thursday morning, May 16, the members of Pi Gamma Mu left for a trip to historic points of interest in Virginia. Blanford Church in Petersburg was the first stop made. The poem written on the wall by the unknown Irish comedian was of especial interest. From here the party went on to the Crater battlefield. The story of the battle was told and many of the traditions explained and wondered over. The next step was perhaps the most interesting, for after a rather up and down ride over a corduroy road the "tourists" reached Lower Brandon. In spite of the dust the bumps and the hard knocks everyone agreed that Brandon was worth it all Cool, shady walks, big old trees, and quaint flower gardens gave an atmosphere truly reminiscent of hoop skirts and minuets. The big crystal chandelier with the wedding ring was an object of much discussion. The most impressive scene here was the long, green law, stretching out to the bank of the river. Many of the girls were ready to spend the rest of the day at Brandon, but several adventurous spirits decided to continue the trip.

When the group reached Surry Courthouse, they were indeed glad they had continued for there it was that lunch was served and enjoyed. After lunch a visit was paid to Bacon's castle with its triple chimneys. One of the party immediately decided that all her chimneys were to be built like those in the ruins of the picturesque, iron-clad old church at Surry. We knew that the crowd was quite versatile, but we had to wait until we reached Scotland Ferry before we found that Kitty Bully was an experienced pilot. It was she who piloted the good ship Captain John Smith across the river to Jamestown. After a delightful hour spent in the scenes of earliest American history the party left for Williamsburg. Here they visited old Bruton Parish and gave thanks that they were not locked in the gallery as President Blair's William and Mary students were. The reconstruction of old time Williamsburg was of much interest since both Henry Ford and John D. Rockfeller, Jr., had been recent visitors there. From these scenes on ancient history they turned their minds and steps to the relatively modern town of Richmond. Here they gave up the romance of Pocahontas for "The Trial of Mary Dugan."

Leaving Richmond at ten the party returned to school full of the wonders, beauties and historical value of our own state—Virginia.

Subscribe to the Rotunda and get all the news of your college.

AMONG OUR CAPS AND GOWNS

LOUISE VAUGHAN

Louise—the best old sport in the school, and if anybody tries to argue the fact, we'll introduce them to her.

We hear a lot of noise that makes us think that something must have happened—or will pretty soon. It is Louise conversing energetically, eyes sparkling, and grinning for dear life. We suppose that Louise does get serious sometimes, though, because she is one of the most dependable people we know. She never refuses to do anything, and does it thoroughly, so she was elected senior class treasurer, and president of the class council.

It is in athletics that Louise excels. She stars in nearly every phase—tennis, hockey, baseball, and volley ball. For the part that she has played in these varied activities and her all-round leadership, Louise has been recognized by Alpha Kappa Gamma.

That's Louise, the kind we call "old time," and the friend to whom we hate to say good-bye.

MARY JANE WILKINSON

Of Mary Jane we could say nothing that is more aptly descriptive than that she is a good sport in every sense of the word.

Throughout her four years at S. T. C., Mary Jane has been outstanding in her athletic work. We have seen her on the hockey field, on basketball and volley ball courts, and on the baseball diamond, always giving her best and doing much to bring

Continued on last page

COLLEGE TALENT SHOWN AT CHAPEL PROGRAM

Unusual musical talent was exhibited by students of S. T. C. on Saturday morning at chapel, May 18, when the following enjoyable program was presented under the direction of Miss Helen THurner and Miss Elizabeth Purdom:

Morris Dance ..... Orchestra
Shepherd's Dance ..... Orchestra
Londonderry Air ..... Orchestra
Vocal solo—"The Moon Ship", sung and composed by Nancy Denit.
Piano solo—"Student's Parade" played and written by Elizabeth Tayler.
Freshman Song Class—"Stars of the Summer Night."
Piano solo—"March of the Regiment" placyd and written by Nancy Denit.
Vocal solo—"The Fairy Cow", sung and composed by Elizabeth Taylor
Orchestra ..... Panorama

The college orchestra under the direction of Miss Purdom made an excellent showing in its spirited interpretation of those sparkling rhythmical folk dances which flavor of old England.

Elizabeth Taylor and Nancy Denit are to be complimented on their original piano compositions and songs, all of which were thoroughly enjoyed. The songs were especially clever; each built on a melody of plaintive sweetness.

As a group chorus the freshman class sang remarkably well, under the direction of Miss Helen Turner. The light, sweet tone quality produced was pleasantly noticeable, and the words of each song were heard very distinctly.

It is evident that music at S. T. C. has taken many steps during the last two years. Such a program as the one presented on Saturday comes as a surprise, as it indicates the trend of musical development in the college.

Humming Bird
Full Fashioned Hosiery

NEW!

A new arrival of Humming Bird Full Fashioned Hosiery makes our stocking department resemble sunrise on a May morning. See these glorious new shades, sponsored by the Paris representative of the mills. Beautifully styled heels, very fine texture, unusual length, sandal soles, step-up toe guard.

The Smartness of Youth
The Splendor of Royalty

Picot Edge, all silk chiffon,

French heels, $1.95

Other Styles $1.50

BALDWIN'S
DEPARTMENT STORES
LYNCHBURG VA DURHAM N C RICHMOND VA
Farmville, Va.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
MOTHER'S DAY CARDS
WHITMAN'S & NUNNALLY'S
Candy For
MOTHER'S DAY

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS —— DRESSES
GLOVES —— DRESS GOODS
HATS —— NOTIONS
SHOES —— HOSIERY

NEW SPRING SHOES
are here in
Blue, Green Blonde
Price $5 and up
We invite your inspection
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

GRADUATION FROCKS

Of lovely Silks, all the newest, all the smartest.

$5.00 $9.95 $16.75

A price to meet the needs of anyone.

Just now, many sub-debs are busy with detestable exams and the fun of selecting graduation dresses. Flat crepe, chiffon, georgette, crepe de chine and taffeta are the important material for these important dresses for the big occasion. In white and lovely opaque pastel shades.

HUB
DEPT. STORE

ROTUNDA JOKES

A Human M. D.

Doctor: "I can't prescribe whiskey unless I am convinced that you need it."

Student: "I've gotta blind date with a girl my aunt wants me to take to the basketball game."

Kind Doctor "How much do you want?"—Punch Bowl.

Prof: "Allie, I fear you are giving too much of your time to athletics. Why, I haven't a grade for you this whole week."

Allie: (After the rest of the class had disappeared). "Oh, professor, if I've no chance of passing I might as well kiss you good-bye". (She kisses him). "Good-bye."

Prof: "You'll pass the course anyway. Come back again."

S. T. C. girl "Get the center's name so that we can write her mother she is hurt."

Referee: "Bully says that her mother already knows her name."—Exchange.

Gurley: "Let's go down and watch the women's crew."

Etta: "Why?"

Gurley "The paper says the coach now has the girls rowing in combinations."—Widow.

Man at door of sorority house: "Is May in?"

Beautiful but dumb pledge: "May who?"

Man (becoming exasperated): "Why, May O'Naise of course."

Beautiful but dumb pledge: "Sorry, but May O'Naise is dressing."

Mayo: "What do you suppose caused 'Snooty' to be such a back seat driver?"

Doris: "The wrecks she used to have with Hampden-Sydney boys when they use to use one arm."

He: "You've broken my heart."

Basketball captain: "And you—you've broken my training."—Frivol.

"Well, I finally got into the base ball game."

"You really did! And how?"

"Oh, I paid the usual fifty cents."—Augwan.

A Real Close Game

Smith (at a Scottish football game) "Why don't they start? They ought to have kicked off an hour ago."

Scotty: "Aye, something serious has happened."

Smith: "No one was hurt was there?"

Scotty: "Worse than that. They canna find the penny they tossed up wi'."—Green Goat.

Sleepy: "Look at that man."

Jane Hunt: "That snow man?"

Sleepy: "The heck it's not."—Ghost

Hatchett: "You can't go wrong trying athletics."

Norfleet: "Well, I don't want to be trying any athletics then."

First Place Winners in Field Meet

GREEN AND WHITE GETS TEN POINTS FOR VOLLEY BALL

Volley ball for the year of '29 was a great success. About sixty girls came out and the daily attendance at practices was very good. Each afternoon from four to six o'clock everyone had a chance to practice.

The first game was played by the freshmen and sophomores. The score was 2 to 0 in favor of the freshmen. The seniors defeated the juniors with the score of 2 to 1 in the second game. The championship game was played between the freshmen and seniors, with the seniors winning.

In that game both colors were represented and many supporters for both teams put much pep and enthusiasm in the game.

The captains of the team were: Frances Edwards for the freshmen, Louise Hardy sophomores, Laura M. Smith, junior and Martha Henderlite for the seniors. The honorary varsity was: Sue Cross, Frances Edwards, Mary Frances Hatchett, Kathleen Hundley, Martha Henderlite, Easter Souders, Dorothy Thompson, Louise Vaughan.

The head of volley ball was Claudia Fleming.

This year the Green and White received ten points towards the cup so next year we want everyone to come out and work to put her colors on.

FACULTY-STUDENT TOURNAMENT TO CLOSE TENNIS SEASON

In the fall, tennis claimed the attention of many. There were a large number of entrants in the singles tournament. Participants were eliminated as the rounds were played. Reed and Henderlite came out in the finals.

It was necessary, however, to postpone the championship game until this spring, when Reed defeated Henderlite, 6-1, 5-7,6-3. Thus the sopohomores won 5 points towards the cup.

The doubles tournaments are still in process. This year a faculty doubles tournament has been arranged instead of a singles tournament. Last year in the faculty singles tournament Dr. Walmsley was champion and Mr. Coyner runner-up. This year there is much curiosity as to who will win out.

The winners of the faculty tournament are to play the winners of the student tournament. This match which should prove very interesting, will mark the end of the tennis season.

Martha Henderlite headed tennis for this year.

BASKETBALL RESUME

The class basketball games went off with a bang this year under the leadership of four able captains and Miss Iler, our coach. The freshmen, headed by Easter Souders, in the game with the sophomores under Laura N. Smith's leadership, showed much sportsmanship, but the green and white team came out on top with a score of 34 to 4. The juniors, led by Virginia Gurley, played a fast game against the seniors of whom Marguerite Erdman was captain. The juniors won by a score of 23 to 7. In the championship game the sophomore won by a margin of 5 over the juniors, the score being 16 to 11.

Our varsity had fewer games this year due to the fact that suitable dates could not be arranged with Radford and for a return game with Harrisonburg. However, under the peppy leadership of Mary Frances Hatchett, the varsity won two out of the three games played.

Fredericksburg (here) 19 ..... F. 47
Harrisonburg (here) 30 ..... F. 9
Fredericksburg (there) 19 ..... F. 45

The team deserves three cheers from the student body for its splendid team work and for the time spent in practices and her's fifteen rahs for Miss Iler!

The varsity team is as follows:

Mary Jane Wilkinson ..... forward
Laura N. Smith ..... forward
Virginia Gurley ..... jumping center
Easter Souders ..... side center
Dolly Reed ..... guard
Mary F. Hatchett (capt.) ..... guard

Adele Hutchinson was head of basketball.

BASEBALL SEASON ENDS; JUNIORS ARE CHAMPIONS

Baseball season opened this year with great enthusiasm; interest in the sport did not wane the entire season.

At the meeting of the end of the season, captains of the teams were elected. They were as follows: Marie Rider, captain of senior team; Louise Whitlock, captain of junior team; Emily Simpson, captain of sophomore team; Sallie Hundley, captain of freshman team. Under the leadership of these captains the teams played with much spirit.

The juniors won the game from the seniors 6 to 0; the freshmen beat the sophomores 15 to 9. When the championship game was played, much excitement was displayed by people in the bleachers. The freshmen put up a strong fight, but their sister team proved stronger, which gave the juniors the championship game with a score of 8 to 4.

Everyone hated to see the bats and balls being put away, for everybody realized that it will be a year before we can play baseball again.

As the games were being played Miss Iler and Allie Oliver, head of baseball for the season, picked those who displayed the greatest skill for an honorary varsity. They were: Mary Frances Hatchett, Claudia Fleming, Allie Oliver, Kathleen Hundley, Cleo Quisenberry, Frances Edwards, Sally Weston Morrison, Anita Crane, Sue Cross.

MARY JANE WILKINSON

Continued from page three

victory to her team. Her membership in the Monogram Club shows that she has taken part in field and track, too.

However, Mary Jane's achievements have by no means been limited to her performances upon the athletic field. As a member of the Rotunda staff for the past year, she has proved her efficiency and business ability.

WE WILL DYE YOUR SHOES

any shade wanted free of charge. We carry the snappiest line of shoes obtainable.

CINDERELLA BOOT SHOPS
311 E. Broad, Richmond
328 Granby, Norfolk

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL
Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, aesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

At the Eaco Theatre Week May 27—June 1

Monday and Tuesday: George Jessell and a notable cast in "Lucky Boy," our first talking picture. A sound picture that's different. Singing, talking, joking, music, dancing, in a drama of a boy's ambition that knew encouragement from only his adoring, faithful old mother. It may interest you to know that George Jessel was the original "Jazz Singer" of the stage and was first booked in place of Al Jolson to sing in the picture "The Jazz Singer." Also news reel.

Wednesday: Tim McCoy with Dorothy Janis, in "The Overland Telegraph." This McCoy triumph takes us out to the pioneer West, when the humming telegraph wires kept pace with the parade of the covered wagon. Action! romance! rare riding! Also a 2-reel comedy.

Thursday: John Gilbert, Ernest Torrence and Mary Nolan, in "Desert Nights." She hated him—scorned his advances—and then in the burning desert, he gave her his last precious drops of water. A new—greater—John Gilbert is here! The high point of his romantic success. Don't miss it! Also comedy.

Friday and Saturday: Charles Farrell, Greta Nissen and Mae Busch in "Fazil," a super special production. A beauty among beauties, she was the idol of Paris and Venice. Huaghty, voluptuous, desired. Men admired her—worshipped her—thrilled to the glory of her smile, yet none could baost of favor until she wilted under the fateful gaze of Fazil, Prince of Araaby. Big! lavish! flaming! startling! spectacular! With this picture as added attractions we show news, oddity, regular comedy, and a two-reel all talking subject, "The Joy Ride."

THE ROTUNDA

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 29, 1929 No. 31

GREEN AND WHITE WINS ATHLETIC CUP

Six Seniors Receive Blazers As Athletic Awards

Saturday in chapel Laura M. Smith presented the Atheltic Cup to the Green and White classes, since they have won more points this year than the Red and White classes.

Announcement was also made of the athletic awards. The following girls have won blazers this year:

Laura N. Smith	'31
Laura M. Smith	'30
Mary Jane Wilkinson	'29
Louise Vaughan	'29
Marguerite Erdman	'29
Katherine Bully	'29
Gwendolyn Hardy	'29
Allie Oliver	'31
Marie Elder	'29
Thelma Maddox	'30

Marguerite Erdman and Marie Elder won numerals with their blazers. Mary Frances Hatchett won her S. T. C. and numeral for her blazer. The three new Monogram Club members were also announced.

"PEG O' MY HEART" IS SENIOR CLASS PLAY

"Peg O' My Heart" will be presented as the senior class play, June 3. With one exception the cast will be as before. The graduating classes greatly appreciate the kindness of the Dramatic Club in presenting this play for them.

The cast will be as follows:

Mrs. Chichester,	Henrietta Cornwell
Jarvis	Joe Perry
Ethel	Elizabeth Revercomb
Alaric	John McLaughlin
Christian Brent	Selden Baker
Peg	Mabel Fitzpatrick
Mr. Hawkes	Jack Costenbader
Maid	Martha Lanier
Jerry	George Francis

DR. JARMAN IS HONORARY MEMBER OF KAPPA DELTA PI

The Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Phi, a national honorary society in education, takes great pleasure in announcing as its first honorary member, Dr. Joseph Leonard Jarman, our own great educator.

LONGWOOD TO BE OPENED

It is planned that Longwood will be opened on Thursday afternoon, May 30. Students are invited to Longwood between the hours 3 and 6 on that day.

Subscribe to the Rotunda and get all the news of your college.

Senior Class Officers

Student Standard Committee Ends Work

The old and new members of the Student Standards Committee held the last meeting of the year on Thursday, May 9. Mary Frances Hatchett was elected as new chairman and Virginia Bledsoe as secretary.

The following list represents the work of this committee for the year 1928-'29:

1. It appointed a committee to check up on the point system.
2. It sent a request to all organizations asking them not to have any more meetings than possible and to have all posters censored by the adviser or president of the organization before being put up.
3. It asked the Freshman Commission to take charge of the traffic situation at the post-office, at chapel, and supper time.
4. It sent a letter to Dr. Jarman answering his request of how to solve the going away situation.
5. It endorsed the plan the Student Council has worked out for next year trying to raise the honor system in our school.
6. It has taken steps to name the buildings.
7. It has asked the English Department to investigate study conditions of the girls in three and four-girl rooms.
8. It has asked the Student Council to take some steps against thieving in school.
9. It started a movement of less saving of seats in the movies and other entertainments.
10. It aided in less noise being made in the tea room.
11. It helped carry on the last elections.
12. It has made inquiries of how to improve chapel exercises.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM AT S. T. C.

Friday, May 31
Senior Banquet
6 p. m. ..... College Tea Room
Saturday, June 1
Senior-Sophomore dances on the lawn, in the afternoon.
9 p. m. ..... Reception
Sunday, June 2.
5 p. m. ..... Senior Vespers
8 p. m. .... Baccalaureate Sermon
Lantern Parade
Monday, June 2.
10 a. m. .. Sophomore class day Exercises
4 p. m. ..... Daisy Chain and Senior Class Day Exercises
8 p. m. ..... Senior Play
Tuesday, June 4.
10 a. m. .... Graduation Exercises

WHAT THE FACULTY WILL DO IN SUMMER

In these days when commencement is only a week off, at the mention of the word vacation, the heart leaps to heights not often experienced by prosaic folk like you and me. Everyone is asking his neighbor and his friend, "What are you going to do this summer?" Everyone is interested, naturally. As most of us stand rather in awe of the dignified members of our faculty, it is seldom that we can summon courage enough to question them about this all important problem. We have taken this occasion to find out where they will be and to impart the knowledge to you. If you read this article carefully, you will be certain to find out where your favorite teacher will be during the next

(Continued on Page Four)

Debate Club Elects Officers

The Debate Club elected new officers for the coming year at the meeting on Wednesday, May 15. Those who will take the places of the present officers are:

President	Nellie Talley
Vice-President	Mildred Maddrey
Secretary	Jane Witt
Treasurer	Ella Webb

Chairman of the Council— Virginia Pettigrew.

Members of the Council—Mary Mann Baskerville, Anne Pleasants Hopkins.

Reporter	Mary Jane Vaden
Asst. Reporter	Louise Elliott

Miss Louise McCormick was chosen as the alumnae representative for next year.

Much has been accomplished for a large number of the club members have won some degree, either collegiate or varsity and a few girls have won both degrees this year. Watch them make an even better record next year!

MADDOX WINS ARCHERY CHAMPIONSHIP

The athletic season for 1928-'29 ended last Thursday and Friday with an archery tournament, the first of its kind to be held at S. T. C.

As a few members of the faculty have manifested some interest in archery, it is hoped that a faculty tournament can be arranged next year.

Thelma Maddox won the archery tournament with 58 points, thus giving the Green and White 10 points towards the cup. Laura M. Smith was second with 40 points and Dot Thompson third, with 33 points.

SENIORS PRESENT CHAPEL PROGRAM

Impressive Ceremony Marks End of Year 1928-'29

At the chapel hour on Saturday, May 25, the seniors of S. T. C. were given complete charge of the exercises as a gesture of farewell to their Alma Mater.

Margaret Finch gave the scripture and morning prayer with a dignity and simplicity that reflected credit on the present senior class.

The music, directed by Nancy Denit, included a song to Miss Iler, the senior class man, one to Dr. Jarman and the farewell to S. T. C.

Louise Foster, president of the senior class, read the announcements in the place of Dr. Jarman.

GIRLS CHOSEN TO GO TO BLUE RIDGE

During the last week the girls were chosen by the various organizations to go to Blue Ridge.

The Rotunda staff is sending Lucy Thompson and Sarah McCorkle; Student Council, Virginia Gurley; Freshman Commisison, Evelyn Stephenson; and the Y. W. Cabinet, Adele Hutchinson, Rena Robertson and Allie Kay Libby.

These girls were chosen as ones the students, as a whole, think will be efficient and capable of bringing back to the school what they receive at Blue Ridge.

It is hoped that quite a number of other girls who are interested will also go to Blue Ridge and represent this school in the best possible way.

FACULTY TENNIS DOUBLES PLAYED

You must admit that the S. T. C. faculty members are good athletes and the best of sports. They showed great athletic powess in their basketball battle with the Student Council during the winter quarter. Now they are taking up their racquets and staging a tennis doubles tournament, the winning team to play the winning student team.

All faculty aspirants who have not done so are urged to sign up on the bulletin board as soon as possible. It is hoped that first round matches in both the student and faculty tournaments will be played off by the end of this week. All second round matches must be completed by the end of next week, as the finals must be played before exams.

Spectators will see tennis of the Wills and Tilden variety when our faculty turns out and vies with the students.

ROTUNDA JOKES

A Human M. D.

Doctor: "I can't prescribe whiskey unless I am convinced that you need it."

Student: "I've gotta blind date with a girl my aunt wants me to take to the basketball game."

Kind Doctor "How much do you want?"—Punch Bowl.

Prof: "Allie, I fear you are giving too much of your time to athletics. Why, I haven't a grade for you this whole week."

Allie: (After the rest of the class had disappeared). "Oh, professor, if I've no chance of passing I might as well kiss you good-bye". (She kisses him). "Good-bye."

Prof: "You'll pass the course anyway. Come back again."

S. T. C. girl "Get the center's name so that we can write her mother she is hurt."

Referee: "Bully says that her mother already knows her name."—Exchange.

Gurley: "Let's go down and watch the women's crew."

Etta: "Why?"

Gurley "The paper says the coach now has the girls rowing in combinations."—Widow.

Man at door of sorority house: "Is May in?"

Beautiful but dumb pledge: "May who?"

Man (becoming exasperated): "Why, May O'Naise of course."

Beautiful but dumb pledge: "Sorry, but May O'Naise is dressing."

Mayo: "What do you suppose caused 'Snooty' to be such a back seat driver?"

Doris: "The wrecks she used to have with Hampden-Sydney boys when they use to use one arm."

He: "You've broken my heart."

Basketball captain: "And you—you've broken my training."—Frivol.

"Well, I finally got into the base ball game."

"You really did! And how?"

"Oh, I paid the usual fifty cents."—Augwan.

A Real Close Game

Smith (at a Scottish football game) "Why don't they start? They ought to have kicked off an hour ago."

Scotty: "Aye, something serious has happened."

Smith: "No one was hurt was there?"

Scotty: "Worse than that. They canna find the penny they tossed up wi'."—Green Goat.

Sleepy: "Look at that man."

Jane Hunt: "That snow man?"

Sleepy: "The heck it's not."—Ghost

Hatchett: "You can't go wrong trying athletics."

Norfleet: "Well, I don't want to be trying any athletics then."

First Place Winners in Field Meet

GREEN AND WHITE GETS TEN POINTS FOR VOLLEY BALL

Volley ball for the year of '29 was a great success. About sixty girls came out and the daily attendance at practices was very good. Each afternoon from four to six o'clock everyone had a chance to practice.

The first game was played by the freshmen and sophomores. The score was 2 to 0 in favor of the freshmen. The seniors defeated the juniors with the score of 2 to 1 in the second game. The championship game was played between the freshmen and seniors, with the seniors winning.

In that game both colors were represented and many supporters for both teams put much pep and enthusiasm in the game.

The captains of the team were: Frances Edwards for the freshmen, Louise Hardy sophomores, Laura M. Smith, junior and Martha Henderlite for the seniors. The honorary varsity was: Sue Cross, Frances Edwards, Mary Frances Hatchett, Kathleen Hundley, Martha Henderlite, Easter Souders, Dorothy Thompson, Louise Vaughan.

The head of volley ball was Claudia Fleming.

This year the Green and White received ten points towards the cup so next year we want everyone to come out and work to put her colors on.

FACULTY-STUDENT TOURNAMENT TO CLOSE TENNIS SEASON

In the fall, tennis claimed the attention of many. There were a large number of entrants in the singles tournament. Participants were eliminated as the rounds were played. Reed and Henderlite came out in the finals.

It was necessary, however, to postpone the championship game until this spring, when Reed defeated Henderlite, 6-1, 5-7,6-3. Thus the sopohomores won 5 points towards the cup.

The doubles tournaments are still in process. This year a faculty doubles tournament has been arranged instead of a singles tournament. Last year in the faculty singles tournament Dr. Walmsley was champion and Mr. Coyner runner-up. This year there is much curiosity as to who will win out.

The winners of the faculty tournament are to play the winners of the student tournament. This match which should prove very interesting, will mark the end of the tennis season.

Martha Henderlite headed tennis for this year.

BASKETBALL RESUME

The class basketball games went off with a bang this year under the leadership of four able captains and Miss Iler, our coach. The freshmen, headed by Easter Souders, in the game with the sophomores under Laura N. Smith's leadership, showed much sportsmanship, but the green and white team came out on top with a score of 34 to 4. The juniors, led by Virginia Gurley, played a fast game against the seniors of whom Marguerite Erdman was captain. The juniors won by a score of 23 to 7. In the championship game the sophomore won by a margin of 5 over the juniors, the score being 16 to 11.

Our varsity had fewer games this year due to the fact that suitable dates could not be arranged with Radford and for a return game with Harrisonburg. However, under the peppy leadership of Mary Frances Hatchett, the varsity won two out of the three games played.

Fredericksburg (here) 19	.....	F. 47
Harrisonburg (here) 30	.....	F. 9
Fredericksburg (there) 19	.....	F. 45

The team deserves three cheers from the student body for its splendid team work and for the time spent in practices and her's fifteen rahs for Miss Iler!

The varsity team is as follows:

Mary Jane Wilkinson	..... forward
Laura N. Smith	..... forward
Virginia Gurley	..... jumping center
Easter Souders	..... side center
Dolly Reed	..... guard
Mary F. Hatchett (capt.)	..... guard

Adele Hutchinson was head of basketball.

BASEBALL SEASON ENDS; JUNIORS ARE CHAMPIONS

Baseball season opened this year with great enthusiasm; interest in the sport did not wane the entire season.

At the nearing of the end of the season, captains of the teams were elected. They were as follows: Marie Iler, captain of senior team; Louise Whitlock, captain of junior team; Emily Simpson, captain of sophomore team; Kathleen Hundley, captain of freshman team. Under the leadership of these captains the teams played with much spirit.

The juniors won the game from the seniors 6 to 0; the freshmen beat the sophomores 15 to 9. When the championship game was played, much excitement was displayed by people in the bleachers. The freshmen put up a strong fight, but their sister team proved stronger, which gave the juniors the championship game with a score of 8 to 4.

Everyone hated to see the bats and balls being put away, for everybody realized that it will be a year before we can play baseball again.

As the games were being played Miss Iler and Allie Oliver, head of baseball for the season, picked those who displayed the greatest skill for an honorary varsity. They were: Mary Frances Hatchett, Claudia Fleming, Allie Oliver, Kathleen Hundley, Cleo Quisenberry, Frances Edwards, Sally Weston Morrison, Anita Crane, Sue Cross.

MARY JANE WILKINSON

Continued from page three

victory to her team. Her membership in the Monogram Club shows that she has taken part in field and track, too.

However, Mary Jane's achievements have by no means been limited to her performances upon the athletic field. As a member of the Rotunda staff for the past year, she has proved her efficiency and business ability.

WE WILL DYE YOUR SHOES

any shade wanted free of charge. We carry the snappiest line of shoes obtainable.

CINDERELLA BOOT SHOPS

311 E. Broad, Richmond
328 Granby, Norfolk

Electric Shoe Shop

Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

SHANNON'S

For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.

236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Lovelace Shoe Shop

Work done While you Wait With
First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?——
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music

Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES

The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,

THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

S. A. LEGUS

TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

At the Eaco Theatre Week May 27—June 1

Monday and Tuesday: George Jessell and a notable cast in "Lucky Boy," our first talking picture. A sound picture that's different. Singing, talking, joking, music, dancing, in a drama of a boy's ambition that knew encouragement from only his adoring, faithful old mother. It may interest you to know that George Jessel was the original "Jazz Singer" of the stage and was first booked in place of Al Jolson to sing in the picture "The Jazz Singer." Also news reel.

Wednesday: Tim McCoy with Dorothy Janis, in "The Overland Telegraph." This McCoy triumph takes us out to the pioneer West, when the humming telegraph wires kept pace with the parade of the covered wagon. Action! romance! rare riding! Also a 2-reel comedy.

Thursday: John Gilbert, Ernest Torrence and Mary Nolan, in "Desert Nights." She hated him—scorned his advances—and then in the burning desert, he gave her his last precious drops of water. A new—greater—John Gilbert is here! The high point of his romantic success. Don't miss it! Also comedy.

Friday and Saturday: Charles Farrell, Greta Nissen and Mae Busch in "Fazil," a super special production. A beauty among beauties, she was the idol of Paris and Venice. Huaghty, voluptuous, desired. Men admired her—worshipped her—thrilled to the glory of her smile, yet none could baost of favor until she wilted under the fateful gaze of Fazil, Prince of Araaby. Big! lavish! flaming! startling! spectacular! With this picture as added attractions we show news, oddity, regular comedy, and a two-reel all talking subject, "The Joy Ride."

THE ROTUNDA

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

VOLUME IX. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 29, 1929 No. 31

GREEN AND WHITE WINS ATHLETIC CUP

Six Seniors Receive Blazers As Athletic Awards

Saturday in chapel Laura M. Smith presented the Atheltic Cup to the Green and White classes, since they have won more points this year than the Red and White classes.

Announcement was also made of the athletic awards. The following girls have won blazers this year:

Laura N. Smith	'31
Laura M. Smith	'30
Mary Jane Wilkinson	'29
Louise Vaughan	'29
Marguerite Erdman	'29
Katherine Bully	'29
Gwendolyn Hardy	'29
Allie Oliver	'31
Marie Elder	'29
Thelma Maddox	'30

Marguerite Erdman and Marie Elder won numerals with their blazers. Mary Frances Hatchett won her S. T. C. and numeral for her blazer. The three new Monogram Club members were also announced.

"PEG O' MY HEART" IS SENIOR CLASS PLAY

"Peg O' My Heart" will be presented as the senior class play, June 3. With one exception the cast will be as before. The graduating classes greatly appreciate the kindness of the Dramatic Club in presenting this play for them.

The cast will be as follows:

Mrs. Chichester,	Henrietta Cornwell
Jarvis	Joe Perry
Ethel	Elizabeth Revercomb
Alaric	John McLaughlin
Christian Brent	Selden Baker
Peg	Mabel Fitzpatrick
Mr. Hawkes	Jack Costenbader
Maid	Martha Lanier
Jerry	George Francis

DR. JARMAN IS HONORARY MEMBER OF KAPPA DELTA PI

The Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Phi, a national honorary society in education, takes great pleasure in announcing as its first honorary member, Dr. Joseph Leonard Jarman, our own great educator.

LONGWOOD TO BE OPENED

It is planned that Longwood will be opened on Thursday afternoon, May 30. Students are invited to Longwood between the hours 3 and 6 on that day.

Subscribe to the Rotunda and get all the news of your college.

Senior Class Officers

Student Standard Committee Ends Work

The old and new members of the Student Standards Committee held the last meeting of the year on Thursday, May 9. Mary Frances Hatchett was elected as new chairman and Virginia Bledsoe as secretary.

The following list represents the work of this committee for the year 1928-'29:

1. It appointed a committee to check up on the point system.
2. It sent a request to all organizations asking them not to have any more meetings than possible and to have all posters censored by the adviser or president of the organization before being put up.
3. It asked the Freshman Commission to take charge of the traffic situation at the post-office, at chapel, and supper time.
4. It sent a letter to Dr. Jarman answering his request of how to solve the going away situation.
5. It endorsed the plan the Student Council has worked out for next year trying to raise the honor system in our school.
6. It has taken steps to name the buildings.
7. It has asked the English Department to investigate study conditions of the girls in three and four-girl rooms.
8. It has asked the Student Council to take some steps against thieving in school.
9. It started a movement of less saving of seats in the movies and other entertainments.
10. It aided in less noise being made in the tea room.
11. It helped carry on the last elections.
12. It has made inquiries of how to improve chapel exercises.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM AT S. T. C.

Friday, May 31
Senior Banquet
6 p. m. ..... College Tea Room
Saturday, June 1
Senior-Sophomore dances on the lawn, in the afternoon.
9 p. m. ..... Reception
Sunday, June 2.
5 p. m. ..... Senior Vespers
8 p. m. .... Baccalaureate Sermon
Lantern Parade
Monday, June 2.
10 a. m. .. Sophomore class day Exercises
4 p. m. ..... Daisy Chain and Senior Class Day Exercises
8 p. m. ..... Senior Play
Tuesday, June 4.
10 a. m. .... Graduation Exercises

WHAT THE FACULTY WILL DO IN SUMMER

In these days when commencement is only a week off, at the mention of the word vacation, the heart leaps to heights not often experienced by prosaic folk like you and me. Everyone is asking his neighbor and his friend, "What are you going to do this summer?" Everyone is interested, naturally. As most of us stand rather in awe of the dignified members of our faculty, it is seldom that we can summon courage enough to question them about this all important problem. We have taken this occasion to find out where they will be and to impart the knowledge to you. If you read this article carefully, you will be certain to find out where your favorite teacher will be during the next

(Continued on Page Four)

Debate Club Elects Officers

The Debate Club elected new officers for the coming year at the meeting on Wednesday, May 15. Those who will take the places of the present officers are:

President	Nellie Talley
Vice-President	Mildred Maddrey
Secretary	Jane Witt
Treasurer	Ella Webb
Chairman of the Council—	Virginia Pettigrew.
Members of the Council—	Mary Mann Baskerville, Anne Pleasants Hopkins.
Reporter	Mary Jane Vaden
Asst. Reporter	Louise Elliott

Miss Louise McCormick was chosen as the alumnae representative for next year.

Much has been accomplished for a large number of the club members have won some degree, either collegiate or varsity and a few girls have won both degrees this year. Watch them make an even better record next year!

MADDOX WINS ARCHERY CHAMPIONSHIP

The athletic season for 1928-'29 ended last Thursday and Friday with an archery tournament, the first of its kind to be held at S. T. C.

As a few members of the faculty have manifested some interest in archery, it is hoped that a faculty tournament can be arranged next year.

Thelma Maddox won the archery tournament with 58 points, thus giving the Green and White 10 points towards the cup. Laura M. Smith was second with 40 points and Dot Thompson third, with 38 points.

SENIORS PRESENT CHAPEL PROGRAM

Impressive Ceremony Marks End of Year 1928-'29

At the chapel hour on Saturday, May 25, the seniors of S. T. C. were given complete charge of the exercises as a gesture of farewell to their Alma Mater.

Margaret Finch gave the scripture and morning prayer with a dignity and simplicity that reflected credit on the present senior class.

The music, directed by Nancy Denit, included a song to Miss Iler, the senior class man, one to Dr. Jarman and the farewell to S. T. C.

Louise Foster, president of the senior class, read the announcements in the place of Dr. Jarman.

GIRLS CHOSEN TO GO TO BLUE RIDGE

During the last week the girls were chosen by the various organizations to go to Blue Ridge.

The Rotunda staff is sending Lucy Thompson and Sarah McCorkle; Student Council, Virginia Gurley; Freshman Commisison, Evelyn Stephenson; and the Y. W. Cabinet, Adele Hutchinson, Rena Robertson and Allie Kay Libby.

These girls were chosen as ones the students, as a whole, think will be efficient and capable of bringing back to the school what they receive at Blue Ridge.

It is hoped that quite a number of other girls who are interested will also go to Blue Ridge and represent this school in the best possible way.

FACULTY TENNIS DOUBLES PLAYED

You must admit that the S. T. C. faculty members are good athletes and the best of sports. They showed great athletic powess in their basketball battle with the Student Council during the winter quarter. Now they are taking up their racquets and staging a tennis doubles tournament, the winning team to play the winning student team.

All faculty aspirants who have not done so are urged to sign up on the bulletin board as soon as possible. It is hoped that first round matches in both the student and faculty tournaments will be played off by the end of this week. All second round matches must be completed by the end of next week, as the finals must be played before exams.

Spectators will see tennis of the Wills and Tilden variety when our faculty turns out and vies with the students.

THE ROTUNDA

Member National Intercollegiate Press Association
Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by the Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd. class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — VIRGINIA PETTIGREW, '31

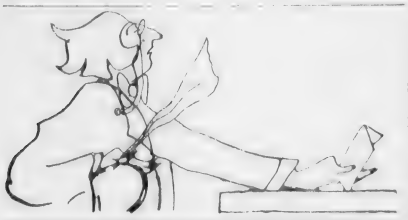
Board of Editors

News Editor — WILLIE SAVAGE, '31
Literary — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature — KITTY JOHNSON, '31
Humorous — BILLIE PARIS, '30

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32

Proof Reader



SARAH BAKER, '31

Managers

Busines Manager — SARAH McCORKLE, '30
Assistant — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

A Gate to the Hunting Ground of Life

There's always a little sadness mingled with the gladness at commencement season. Classmates, who have played, toiled, tustled, dreamed together, who have thrilled at the same joys and wept over the same sorrows, who have fought bravely on sharing the conquering, interminable spirit of Joan of Arc, will separate; perhaps never to meet again,—who knows? And there is the gladness that one of life's mile posts has been reached.

But comencement is the beginning, not the end. The cap and gown horde is passing through the gate that leads to the vast hunting ground of life. May each of our graduates have success in her quest for the treasures of this hunting ground. May she not be awed or discouraged by the seething pools of hard knocks and disappointments; but may the indomitable spirit of Joan continue to create in her heart noble aspirations for higher heights, where the richest joys of life may be found.

Growth of the College

A dream was once visualized which has culminated into the State Teachers College of Farmville.

Each brick held a dream, an idea or a hope and it was placed with others of its kind and bound together with the mortar of cooperation. Imagine, if you can, a vast structure being put together without mortar. It can not stand. Imagine also an institution founded without cooperation. Such a thing can not exist.

This college will always live in our minds and in our hearts, because of the spirit which dwells in its halls. Let each of us see that its bricks are always held together, because

"All are needed by each one,
Nothing is fair or good alone!"

Shall S. T. C. Have An Honor System?

Next year we are undertaking the first steps toward establishing a true honor system at S. T. C. in every sense of the word. Whether this dream of an honor system becomes a reality is up to the returning freshmen, sophomores, and juniors. When you voted to adopt the new system of hall presidents, and open study hour you pledged yourselves, next year's upper classmen, to abide by the rules governing them. Whether this new system will be adopted by the incoming freshmen in the right spirit is entirely up to you. Do not fail the trust that has been placed in you!

"I Haven't Cracked a Book."

Despite the innumerable tests, the numberless term papers, and the tragical other assignments for the following day, Pan, the "brag student", nonchalantly shrugged her shoulders and vehemently declared: "I'm not going to crack a book!" Well, my suspicions thickened as I noticed that the young lady secreted herself in her room for hours. I was consumed with curiosity, so I rapped on her door. There was a bustle and a scurry inside; and when the door was opened, Pan was lying in bed nibbling chocolate creams. Yes, I saw the text books she had hurriedly shoved under her pillow and the term papers she had tried to cram in her table drawer. Yet she feebly insisted that she had not "cracked a book." We are all well acquainted with this type.

Many of us students have the wrong attitude toward study. It seems to be ranked as a disgrace. We must not continue to foster this attitude that prompts ambitious students to prevaricate about "not cracking a book." We must realize that the high scholarship that results from study reflects honor on the student.

It Is Up To You

In a very short time the student body will disband for three months and each member will go her way. It seems almost impossible that today our environment is the school life here, and those first in our minds are our school-mates, and tomorrow it will be so different. Today we are all living a very similar life, tomorrow they will all be widely different.

Most of us will loaf and play through the next three months; some of us will work and some go to school, but in spite of what we do the effect of this last school year will dominate our lives .We can't get away from it. What this effect is depends on us. Our student body is so large that you can derive almost any benefit from the atmosphere here—or any harm to your self—so it is up to you.

The Rotunda wishes every member of our student body a happy and profitable vacation. We want to say, we look forward to the return of those who will come back and bid a loving farewell to those who will not.

Farewell, Sophomores!

To those sophomores who are not returning next year we wish to extend our sincerest wishes for a successful, happy career, and to bid you a fond farewell.

It does not take four years to imbibe the spirit which pervades Alma Mater, and we feel sure that you are taking something out into life with you which will grow ever dearer to you as years pass.

Congratulations!

The Rotunda staff wishes to congratulate the Virginian staff upon the year book of 1929, which is being delivered this week. The 1929 annual is a credit to the staff, and a distinct credit to our Alma Mater. Again, let us say, "Congratulations!"

WORLD NEWS

Cal Coolidge and Al Smith are now in civilian competition. Coolidge was recently made director of the New York Life Insurance Co., and Smith was made director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. The two companies operate in keen competition with each other.

The fall of Constantinople has been averted by the bolstering up with a column of cement of an ancient crumbling Linden tree. Tradition has it that when this particular tree falls, the city will fall into the hands of the traditional enemy, Greece. From the limbs of the tree rebel Janissaries once swung by order of Sultans. Nothing remains save a tall gaunt trunk.

Papers found in Genoa show that the famous Columbus trip cost six thousand dollars. You couldn't start that much trouble today for twice the money.—The New Yorker.

The American Club at Shanghai has announced that it will now admit Chinese to membership. This change of policy suggests growth of sympathy and understanding between the Occident and Orient. The venerable Tong Shoo-yi, former Premier and personal friend of President Hoover, will be one of the first Chinese to be admitted to the American Club.

The largest meteorite in the world has been found in a lonely corner of southwest Africa. The upper surface is nine by ten feet in size and it is from four to five feet deep. Its weight is estimated about fifty tons. Aeons ago this great mass, white hot, hurtled through the sky at lightning speed and then hit the earth with a crash, burying its nose in the layers of limestone and sand.

The eight women who comprise the feminine contingent of the new Congress are either married or widowed.

President Portes Gil of Mexico is planning a campaign to make his country dry. He wishes to avoid repressive measures and intends instead to create a public sentiment against alcoholic drinks, by launching an educational drive.

Experiments in Cleveland show that electricity is the cause of life. So it seems we are nothing but a lot of current events.—The New Yorker.

The Mexican church-state controversy is to the fore again; General Calles having put down the major revolution, is stamping out minor ones, and there are reports of attempts to assassinate him. A Mexican Harding would call it a return to normalcy.

The struggling infant republic of China is keeping abreast of the times. Within six months it hopes to have air mail. Schools for training pilots are to be established immediately. The proposed route will link Nanking with Peking, Canton with Hankow, and Shanghai with Hankow.

For Abraham Lincoln, President Hoover has special reverence. Lincoln's oldtime cabinet room in the southeast corner of the second floor of the White House, he has changed from a guest chamber to a study. From the attic has been brought a dusty old chair which the President believes originally stood there.

POETRY

PAGAN FAREWELL

Dear Lord, may my last vision be—
Of sky, of earth, of bitter sea,
Bright with Thy last blessings—
Not for me the cold and drip of rain
The dark crouched there against the pane,
Of my room window.
Before I sink into the night—clear-eyed
Grant me the glow of sunlight, wind frothed, tide.
And a lone gull above.
Grant me a day of limpid light,
That garners all Thy beauties to my sight—
And spread them on display;
That I might live all years and days in one
Awake to fresh of roseate sun.
And there a new day
To sense its dark, its burn, its heat.
To know the flowers that are more sweet
Than ever mortal knew.
Just when the blue of heaven grows dim
And lines of red in the west are slim—
Then—shall I go home!

F. A. W., '30

MOON-MADNESS

Tell me where, oh Summer Moon,
Has fled the joy you brought to me.
Was it a gift for just an hour
When my lover whispered of things to be?—
Or was it a dream that died at dawn,
A dream of love that was never born?
Then let me linger in your silver light
And dream—
Oh, Summer Moon.

L. L. R., '29

VANISHED APRIL

And so the days of April mist are gone—
I had not known that I should care;
But that was in the early spring—
And you were there.

Within my heart I still have April's love;
The beauty of this May I shall let go—
Dear, how can I wait for April?—Now—
I need you so!

Julia E. Wilson, '29

REMINDER

Grey storm clouds trailing after a storm—bring memory of eyes to me.
Your eyes—grey and searching—
With a mist drawn through
Sun shadows of tall popular trees,
Standing there—set against the sky,
Limit my horizon—
And recall you to me
How you absorb my vision.
These things bespeak you to me—
And quiet, molten bronze sunset
Would that I had power
To bind you to my heart forever.

F. W. '30.

Mary brought a little sheep
With her to S. T. C.
She found it very hard to keep:
'Twas always lost—so she
To hold it safe, just starved it till
It grew so very thin
That when she graduated, she Took home a small "sheepskin."

Jennie M. Tabb

Senior Class of 1929

"PEG O' MY HEART" PRESENTED IN PETERSBURG

The second appearance of "Peg 'o My Heart," presented by the S. T. C. and H.-S. C. dramatic clubs, Wednesday night, May 15, in the Junior High School at Petersburg, proved to be as successful as its first appearance. The Petersburg paper congratulated the dramatic clubs on their well presetned performance. "It was not just a well acted play. The plot brought loud applause from the audience."

The Farmville American Legion took the cast, and others, to Petersburg. Petersburg American Legion, sponsors of the play, entertained the cast at the country club with a dinner party after the performance.

Both dramatic clubs report the trip a success.

PROGRAM FOR FIRST SCHOOL WEEK IN SEPTEMBER 1929

Program which will be followed the first week of school next fall, concerning freshmen:

Tuesday—1. Y. cabinet and Council girls will meet freshmen and carry their suit cases up from trains.

2. There will be an information bureau for freshmen.

3.—Old girls will see that new girls find places at tables for meals.

Wednesday—Morning: New girls will make schedules. Afternoon—The Freshman Commisison girls will manage the tours for new girls.

Thursday—Classes meet. Finish tours.

Friday—Night Y. W. reception (big sisters will take their little sisters.)

Saturday—"A Little Sister Hike to Longwood" at 3:30 p. m. Sing at 6:45.

Sunday—Big sister take little sister to church.

ALUMNAE NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parsons, of Petersburg, announced the engagement of their daughter, Louise, to Francis L. Kain, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kain, of this city. The wedding will take place in June.—Richmond Times Dispatch.

The summer quarter faculty of the College of William and Mary included three Farmville graduates, Misses Florence Ingram and Charlotte Wray, both instructors in Education, Richmond Normal School, will be members of the Education Department. Miss Ariana Amonette, critic teacher in Richmond Normal School, will be in charge of the seventh and eighth grades of the demonstration school.

Very often the Virginia Journal of Education publishes an article written by a Farmville alumna. Miss Mary Rives Richardson, Hopewell High School, contributed to the April issue, "Lesson in Appreciation", the particular topic being "How to Teach 'To a Skylark'," by Shelley. The student teachers of English will find it suggestive.

ALUMNAE NEWS

Mrs. Julia Johnson Davis was, for several years, assistant in the kindergarten department. Since her marriage many of her poems and stories for children have appeared in leading magazines. A poem which was published in "The Churchman," Jan 5, 1929, is reprinted here.

Certainty

Still skeptic and logician try to prove,
Each in his way,
How vain a thing, how futile is our faith,
And still they say
That prayer is but a breath, a foolish cry
Lost on the wind—
I only know that asking, I receive,
And seeking, find.

With words precisely cool and logical
They think to show
There was no Man of Gallilee, no Christ,
Long years ago.
We but delude ourselves who think Him real,
They both agree—
And yet I know that through one bitter night
He stood by me!

The engagement of Miss Mary Alice Blanton of Richmond, to Robert C. Carden, Jr., has been announced. The wedding will take place in June. Miss Blanton's picture appeared in the Richmond Times-Dispatch of May 26.

Professor Clarence Moody Faithfull, for five years professor of psychology at the College of William and Mary and before that a member of the education department of Farmville S. T. C., died last week at the Blue Ridge Sanitorium, where he had been a patient for the past six weeks. Professor Faithfull made many friends among the faculty and students during his stay in our college and they will learn of his death with deep regret.

Prof. Bell's daughter, Elizabeth, has completed her thesis for the master's degree at the University of Illinois and last week passed the oral examination. She receives her degree at the commencement, June 12, after which she returns to the University of Virginia where her husband, Dr. Swertfeger, is engaged to teach the courses in philosophy for the summer quarter beginning June 14.

PICNIC AT LONGWOOD

Thursday afternoon there was another picnic at Longwood when The Palette had their last meeting, a hilarious time, and plenty to eat.

The members of The Palette wish to express their appreciation of the help given to them by their faculty adviser, Miss Bedford, and the club is looking enthusiastically toward another successful year under her guidance.

WHAT THE FACULTY WILL DO THIS SUMMER

Continued from page one

three months.

Many members of our faculty expect to stay here and teach this summer. They love the old school and the job. Among these are the following: Miss McCormick, Miss Haynes, Miss Pettit, Dr. Wamlsley, Miss Potts, Mr. Coyner, Miss Purdom, Mr. McCorkle, Miss Foster, Dr. Grainger, and Miss Thomas. Several of the others will teach here for a while and then take lovely trips. Miss Cooper will tour this state and the city of Washington and then drive to Atlanta, Ga. After the first summer school session. Mr. Bell will teach the first term here and then go to New York state and to Massachusetts. Others of our teachers through their love for the town or some other reason, tell us that they also will be here, following various pursuits. Mrs. Warren will continue her work with the home department and Miss Winnie Hiner will be in the business office. Miss Mary will also be here during the hot months. Miss Dickinson says she expects to "loaf" here. Dr. Rouse will spend the summer completing a piece of literary work, in Farmville. Miss Marshall will serve as assistant librarian in this school during the summer. Miss Hiner is planning to teach at Peabody. Miss Jennings will teach at State Teachers College, Greenville, N. C., and Miss Coulling and Miss Craddock expect to teach at Emory and Henry.

Some members of our faculty expect to spend the summer as we have spent the winter, in school. Miss Moran and Mr. Bowman will both be at the Univeristy of Chicago; Miss Waters will probably be taking classes at Peabody while Miss Turner, Miss Stubbs and Miss Penny plan to be at Columbia. Miss Bedford will go first to Blue Ridge, then to Columbia and lastly she will take a trip to Missouri.

The other instructors have planned rather a heterogenous collection of places to go and things to do. Miss E. Davis plans to spend her summer at Long Island. Mrs. Hurt will be at her home in Salem, Va. Miss Sara Tucker plans to visit Lake Junaluska the early part of the summer and possibly go to the N. A. meeting at Atlanta, Ga., later. Miss Cash tells us that she will go first to her home in Springfield, Ill., and later to visit her sister at Spokane, Washington. Miss Iler is looking forward to a delightful summer at Monmouth Beach, N. J., while Mr. and Mrs. Jeffers plan to go to the cold places. They will be in Labrador. As all of us know, Miss Draper sailed last Wednesday for France. Miss Lucy Davis will be at her home in Middlesex county this summer. Miss Wheeler anticipates quite an active season. She will work on the New York Herald Tribune for one month, followed by six weeks at Columbia and then she will enjoy plays in New York until time to return here. Miss Smithey will spend the vacation at Weyanoke Place, her home in Amelia county. Miss Grenels will first take classes at Peabody, then teach at a teachers training camp in Brevard, N. C. Miss Jones will be in Alabama, until the N. A. meeting at Atlanta, which she may attend. Dr. Simkins will be in South Carolina doing research work on the social history of that state.

YOUR AFTERSELF

By David Starr Jordan

Your first duty in life is toward your afterself. So live that the man you ought to be may, in his time, be possible, be actual. Far away in the years he is waiting his turn. His body, his brain, his soul, are in your boyish hands. He cannot help himself. What will you leave for him? Will it be a brain unspoiled by lust or dissipation; a mind trained to think and act; a nervous system true as a dial in its response to the truth about you? Will you, Boy, let him come as a man among men in his time? Or will you throw away his inheritance before he has had the chance to touch it? Will you turn over to him a brain distorted, a mind diseased, a will untrained to action, a spinal cord grown through and through with "the devil-grass, wild oats"? Will you let him come and take your place, gaining through your experience, happy in your friendships, hallowed through your joys, building on them his own? Or will you fling it all away, decreeing, wantonlike, that the man you might have been shall never be? This is your problem in life—the problem which is vastly more to you than any or all others. How will you meet it, as a man or as a fool? It comes before you today and every day, and the hour of your choice is the crisis in your destiny!

TENNIS TOURNAMENT NEARING COMPLETION

The tennis tournaments are fast nearing completion. The student tournament has been carried to the finals. Reed and Bernard are matched against Henderlite and Vaughan for the championship. Last year these same couples met in the finals, and Henderlite and Vaughan were victorious. Who will claim the championship this spring?

The faculty tournament is also progressing. Thus far, Miss Thomas and Mr. Coyner are in the final round. Their opponents have not yet been determined.

We are sure the championship matches will be hard-fought battles, and well worth witnessing.

TO MISS BEDFORD

There's a certain modest maiden
Whom we freshmen all adore.
Though with all the graces laden,
Yet she does not lack in lore.

Tall and willowy is this lass.
Lovely eyes and soft blonde hair
She's the pride of all our class,
For her loveliness she shares.

When our eyes for beauty yearn,
Or with problems we're beset,
Then to her our glances turn
And the best advice we get.

Now to all, these lines make clear
That her to whom we here refer
Is our lovely classman dear
And we pledge our love to her.

M. F. '32

Ohio Petitions.

Students at Ohio college petitioned to leave the class room when the instructor was dull. An instructor said that he was in favor of the request being granted if he would be allowed to leave when the students showed signs of dullness.

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

RUFFNER LITERARY SOCIETY INSTALLATION

The Ruffner Literary Society held its installation service in the Student Building auditorium, Thursday night at 7:30.

Margaret Walton, the out-going president, administered the oath of office to Ruth Owen, the new president. The other officers installed were:

Evelyn Stephenson	Vice-president
Frances Whitehead	Secretary
Susie Odor	Treasurer
Elsie Melam	Reporter

CUNNINGHAM HOLDS INSTALLATION SERVICE

Wednesday, May 19, installation of the new officers of the Cunningham Literary Society took place in the Y. W. C. A. room. The candle light service was used, which was most impressive.

Emily Carter, the outgoing president, administered the oath of office to Linda Wilkinson, the new president. The other officers installed were:

Julia Asher	Vice-President
Ruth Hart	Secretary
Mary Robertson	Treasurer
Mary Saunders	Memory Book Keeper.
Annie Gee	Reporter

JOAN OF ARC DAY OBSERVED

Friday, May 24 was celebrated as Joan of Arc day at S. T. C. Fitting programs were rendered at chapel and at prayers, under the auspices of Mr. Grainger.

At chapel, Miss Helen Turner accompanied by Mrs. Gill at the piano, and Mr. Grainger on the flute sang, "Ave Maria."

Following this Elizabeth Thornton introduced the girls who were to speak upon the significance of the spirit of Joan of Arc to each class in our school.

Carolyn Roberts made an appeal to the freshman class to prepare themselves for the reception of the new girls next year, meanwhile using Joan as a model.

Nannie Sue Anthony appealed to the juniors who are to assume leadership next year to keep before them the ideals of Joan of Arc—leadership loyalty, and service.

Grigsby Peck congratulated the sophomores upon the excellent way in which they had caught and upheld the spirit of Joan of Arc, appealing to them to continue the work as they go out from here.

Nellie Tally urged the seniors to keep ever before them the ideals of Joan of Arc.

The program was continued at prayers. Margaret Elliot spoke of "Joan the Listener," while Nancy Watkins talked about "Joan the Doer."

ON PROLONGED YOUTH

I should like to invent a "Tinker Bell" and go sailing off into the blackness of the night to Never-Never land, and there I should like to pay a special visit to Peter Pan. I should be an imposter, of course, and feel unwanted, but nevertheless, I should pick out the biggest box, cross my legs, and begin my interview with the noted "Sir"!

I should inquire of his health, his happiness, his home, and then begin to question him (my real purpose on making the trip) as to his formula for keeping youth. He, of course, would be very pleasant (fairies usually are, I am told), and begin a long discourse on pirates and the like; but I, growing very much out of patience, would insist that he be more specific.

"You see, my dear sir," I would hasten to explain, "I am here in behalf of those poor unfortunates who are continually seeking a new and successful method of retaining their youth. At night they may be seen frantically searching the pages of "Vanity Fair," "Vogue", or "College Humor", and finally resorting to news paper advertisments for some means of reaching their goal. During the day they haunt the country clubs, the golf courses, the reducing classes, and the "Follies." In vain they seek. Some of them have gone so far as to take extensive tours into strange lands in search of the fountain of youth, but in spite of their efforts hair continues to turn gray, wrinkles must out, and figures lose their grace. Is there no answer to their questioning? Is there no hope for them? Are you not the boy who never grew up? I only want your formula, nothing more."

And he in his fairy manner would say nothing—except "Dream dreams!"

F. W. '29

Penn. State has Hungry Co-Ed.

Hot dog. A Penn. State co-ed recently chewed her way to a hot dog crown by eating 12 of the sandwiches at one sitting. When the bell rang for the close of the contest the coed nimbly skipped away for her evening meal.—The Chronicle.

Honor Graduates of Senior Class

Left to right—Miss Pearl Etheridge and Miss Margaret Walton who received first and second honors respectively.

SENIOR CLASS SONGS

Song to S. T. C.

(Tune "Little Gypsy Sweetheart")

S. T. C. we bid you fond adieu
Soon we will leave you for aye.
Still our hearts will ever sing your praises
E'er we'll be true to you.
Alma Mater daughters we'll be loyal
Proud to claim you as our own
S. T. C. so stately, fine and royal
Adieu to our beloved home.

To Miss Iler

(Tune "Ramona")

Miss Iler, Our parting time has come at last;
Miss Iler, you've been our classman in the past,
Today we will honor the best at dear ole S. T. C.
Our guide and our leader—the finest she will always be.
Miss Iler, we look to you our leader true;
Miss Iler, your class of '29 loves you—
And to the memory of your spirit we'll be true—
Miss Iler, we love you—we do.

To Dr. Jarman

(Tune "Mother Machree")

There's a shrine in our hearts
A shrine built for you
Where we offer our love
That is steadfast and true;
Our love, our respect, our praises we'll give
To you -Dr. Jarman as long as we live.
Chorus:
For dear Jarman we love you
The whole senior class
And the college will know it
Before we will pass
From freshmen to seniors.
Dear Jarman, we're true.
You're the dearest and best here
And we all love you.

Carolina Tarheels Play in Va.

Alex. Mendenhall and his Carolina Tar Heels have returned from State Teachers College, Farmville, Va. They played at the spring dance while at this school.

It will be remembered that the Tar Heels definitely determined their position on the campus in a recent battle of music. The orchestra has also come rapidly to the front in neighboring states, where it has worked up an enviable reputation. It has just been learned that they will play the final dances at Hampden-Sydney College. They have also been booked to play at several other schools and colleges in the Old Dominion.

FOUR YEARS HAVE PASSED

Four years have passed—
And forth we step
With tight rolled symbols of our storm and strife
To face a world of laughter and of scorn.
Today we leave our life of learned ease,
Tomorrow "sail upon uncharted seas."
Or so they tell us
As we impatiently,
To test what we have learned
While—
These four years have passed.
You say, I'm cynical,
Perhaps you're right,
I said so too,
Before—
Four years had passed.

—Lucasta (The Stampede)

PALS

Pals are friends above the rest,
Pals are those who know whats best.
Pals talk and council and give advice
And for their pal they sacrifice
All they have and maybe more
And take nothing: no more.

Pals talk in terms one understands,
They're always there with helping hands,
They share one's woes and sorrows, too
They cheer one up when he feels blue
They come out true and hit you hard
And show you when to trump a card.

They're not essential; but still
They will confide; say what you will.
They know your faults and point them out
And give you aid when you re-route
Your path toward things that should be done
And share your joys when you have won.

God made the pals that walk on earth,
And only He knows what they're worth.
We're taught to love each living thing
And to the world we all should bring
Joy, happiness and all the rest
But a pal's the one that does it best.

—Bud (The Stampede)

Yale Prefers Scholarship to Athletics.

Sports are not uppermost in the minds of Yale seniors. We hear that they much prefer a Phi Beta Kappa key to a major "Y" in athletics. This news was learned through a preference vote taken by that class recently. It is interesting also to note that English was voted as the most valuable subject and psychology as the least valuable.

SENIORS MAKE HIGH ATHLETIC RECORD

The class of '29 during its stay at S. T. C., has gained, among other honors, an eviable athletic record. All the facts are not available, so we hope any omissions will be pardoned.

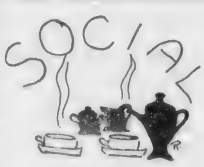
Three tennis tournaments have been won by members of this class. In the fall of 1925, when the present senior class was at the beginning of its college career, Mildred Morris, a freshman, won the tennis championship. The following year Martha Henderlite, another member of the class of '29, became singles champion. In the spring of 1928 Vaughan and Henderlite won the doubles championship. Before the senior class leaves S. T. C. there is a possibility that another tennis doubles championship may be added to its list of athletic honors.

The class of '29 has won the hockey championship ever since we have had hockey at S. T. C. Hockey was started in the fall of 1926. Besides having the championship team every year, the class has furnished many players on the hockey varsity. In 1926 the following were put on the honorary hockey varsity: Mary Jane Wilkinson, Nellie Talley, Katherine, Rhodes, and Marie Elder. Last year we had our first varsity hockey game and the juniors playing were: Gwendolyn Hardy and Marie Elder. Also Katherine Rhodes and Emma Woods were varsity substitutes. This year the seniors again furnished varsity players. They were: Katherine Rhodes, Katherine Bully, Gwendolyn Hardy, and Marie Elder.

Although the class has not won in basketball it has had members on the and Mary Jane Wilkinson were both basketball varsity: Gwendolyn Hardy on the varsity for 1926-'27. Mary Jane Wilkinson, Elizabeth Atwater, Gwendolyn Hardy, and Marguerite Erdman played on the varsity for 1927-'28. Mary Jane was on the varsity again this year.

The seniors have made an unexcelled record in volley ball. For the four years of their stay at S. T. C., they have been volley ball champions each year. Members of the class of '29 have also been on the honorary volley ball varsity. Last year Louise Vaughan, Marie Elder, and Martha Henderlite won this honor. This year the seniors were represented on the honorary varsity by Martha Henderlite and Louise Vaughan.

Members of the out-going class have also shown their ability in the athletic meets. When they were freshmen, they won first place in the field day events. This feat they repeated in their sophomore year.



Last year the Athletic Association changed its system of awards. Although the juniors had to start at the bottom, yet two of their number, Louise Vaughan, Marguerite Erdman, won monograms; and another junior, Emma Woods, a blazer. This year six seniors were awarded blazers. They are: Mary Jane Wilkinson, Louise Vaughan, Marguerite Erdman, Katherine Bully, Gwendolyn Hardy, and Marie Elder.

The seniors have made an athletic record that they may well be proud of.

BANQUET GIVEN

The Farmville Chapter of the National Council of Primary Education, gave its first annual banquet on Saturday evening, May 25.

The plan of decoration suggested a flower garden which was further carried out by the gay little nose-gays in basket programs. The theme of the toast further corresponded with the flower idea.

Miss Margaret Baker, of Richmond, spent the week-end with Allie K. Liby.

Miss Mary Ann Mallison of Hampton spent the week-end with Martha von Schilling.

Misses Margaret Davis and Marguerite Foster motored to Lynchburg Friday afternoon.

Misses Betty Travis and Elizabeth Rodiger of Danville vistied Suzanne Holland and Anne Ferree last week-end.

Miss Ellen Fowlkes spent the week-end at her home in Kenbridge.

Miss Lucy Thompson spent the week-end in Keysville.

Miss Lois Fraser spent the week-end in Petersburg.

Miss Katherine Nichols and Emily Portlock spent the week-end in Appomattox.

Miss Lucy Dortch spent the week-end at her home in South Hill.

Misses Mabel Fitzpatrick and Nora Petty motored to Arrington Sunday.

DRAMATIC CLUB PICNIC

The Dramatic Club gave its annual picnic at Farmville Lake, Wednesday afternoon, May 23.

The girls with Miss Wheeler left school on a truck carrying with them many sandwiches, pickles, cakes and much ice cream.

The officers of the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs, and the boys who were in the cast of "Peg O' My Heart" were guests of the club.

ROTUNDA STAFF HAS BANQUET MAY 22

Decorated in the lovliest colors of the rainbow, the S. T. C. banquet room was the scene of the Rotunda staff banquet on Wednesday night. Both the old and new staffs attended the banquet.

Each guest was delighted to find unique favors at her plate in the form of black leather coin purses decorated with the Rotunda key.

THE VIRGINIAN BANQUET

On Tuesday evening at six o'clock the '28-'29 Virginian staff entertained the '29-'30 staff and the advisers at dinner. To all members of The Virginian staff this annual banquet or dinner is a gala occasion, for there is no date on the school calendar anticipated with more genuine interest and sincere pleasure.

There were twenty-eight present at the dinner party and it was the concensus of opinion that "we had the best time ever—like all Virginian parties 'cept a little better."

There was everything that should be at a dinner party: exquisite decorations, delectable food and candle-light. But the most essential feature was the spirit of the affair, a most delightful informality and spirit of comradeship and interest in each other and The Virginian.

ORGANIZATIONS HOLD NUMEROUS ELECTIONS

PITTSYLVANIA CLUB ORGANIZES

The girls of Pittsylvania county met May 24, 1929 and organized a Pittsylvania county club. The following officers were elected:

Elizabeth Rison ..... President
Ruth Owen ..... Vice-President
Doris Adams ..... Secretary
Kathleen Hundley ..... Treasurer
Virginia Rorer ..... Reporter

Members:

Virginia Rorer
Ruth Owen
Marjorie Jones
Mary Virginia Thompson
Maria Carrington Warren
Neva Reynolds
Frances Whitehead
Amye J. Hall
Frances Edwards
Kathleen Hundley
Elsie Milam
Maude Williams
Ray Fulton
Viola Oakes
Fannie Smith

GRAND-DAUGHTERS' CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The Grand-daughter's Club held its quarterly meeting in the Little Sitting room Friday night, May 24.

The following officers for the year 1929 and 1930 were elected:

President ..... Jane Grey Irby
Vice-President ..... Rebecca French
Secretary ..... Sue Cross
Treasurer ..... Allie Oliver

Following the business meeting a program on "Mother" was given under the leadership of Rebecca French. After this program Miss Jennie Tabb, honorary member of the club, entertained the members by taking them to see "Mother Machree."

MONOGRAM CLUB HOLDS ELECTIONS

Friday night the Monogram Club held installation services for its new members. The new members admitted were: Laura N. Smith, Easter Souders and Mildred Maddrey. Election of offices was held and the following will serve for the coming year:

President ..... Allie Oliver
Vice-President ..... Thelma Maddox
Secretary ..... Mildred Maddrey
Treasurer ..... Easter Souders

FOUNDING OF CLASSICAL ASSOCIATION

On Thursday night, May 23, a group of students particularly interested in Latin, met in Miss Rice's class-room for the purpose of forming a society to make Latin a live, not a dead language. This has been done in other colleges by their classical associations giving Latin programs, publishing Latin newspapers, making English translations of Latin poetry and prose, and parallel reading in both Latin and English.

The name of the society was not decided upon. The dues are to be one dollar a year per member. The officers elected were:

President ..... Lucille Bowyer
Vice-President ..... Pauline Gibb
Secretary ..... Elizabeth Temple
Alumnae Secretary ..... Florence Moore
Treasurer ..... Eleanor Davis
Reporter ..... Alice Harrison

Nothing will be done by the society this year, but it is looking forward to active work next year.

CLASS COUNCIL OFFICERS ELECTED

At a meeting of the class council held on Monday, May 20, Henrietta Cornwall was elected president for the coming year. Emily Simpson was chosen as secretary of the council.

The representatives for next year are:

Sophomore ..... Henrietta Cornwall
Junior ..... Emily Simpson
Senior ..... Nellie Talley

DRAMATIC CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The officers for the Dramatic Club for next year are: president, Henrietta Cornwall; vice-president, Lela Germany; secretary, Suzanne Holland; business manager, Virginia Pettigrew; stage manager, Loulie Milner; property manager, Evelyn Stephenson.

COTILLION CLUB OFFICERS

The Cotillion Club elected the following officers for the year 1929-'30:

President ..... Alice Covington
Leader ..... Helen Robertson
Treasurer ..... Mary Priest
Reporter ..... Elaine Goode

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF PRIMARY EDUCATION

Announces New Members

The Farmville Chapter of the National Council of Primary Education announces the following new members

Helen Williams
Willie Ozlin
Florence Townsend
Katherine Trent
Mae Baldwin
Rebecca Allen
Marjorie Crumpler
Alice Williams
Mrs. Eloise Turner
Elizabeth Levick

JULIA WILSON

(The Rotunda staff wishes to express its regret that a picture of Miss Julia Wilson was not obtainable at the time this article went to press.)

Whenever one thinks of Julia, one immediately thinks about "bits of rose" also. The senior class of '29 would never have been complete without Julia. She is the class poet and song writer and has never failed when called upon to use her literary ability. But there are other things which endear her to the girls at S. T. C. Her clever wit and gay sparkling laugh have made her an enjoyable companion. As for her school spirit—well, Julia always seemed to be there with just a little more than others. She is always ready to do her bit whenever she is needed. With these characteristics we are sure she is going to make a success in everything she attempts after she leaves S. T. C.

Mussolini holds eight cabinet jobs now. But he hasn't charged King Vistor Emeritus rent yet.—Dallas News.

AMONG OUR CAPS AND GOWNS

CATHERINE BENTLEY

A sunny smile, merry eyes, a happy disposition—that's Kitty. These things together with a loving heart and a very unselfish nature have endeared Kitty Bentley to the hearts of all of us.

Not only does she have a host of friends because of her self, but she has shown marked ability in more ways than one. We find her smiling face present at Pi Gamma Mu meetings, we see her at Pi Kappa Delta meetings—as its president, and when the issue of the Rotunda that was dedicated to the old staff came out, Kitty's picture was in the group. She has taken a very high place on the intercollegiate debate team this year.

MARY OLIVER ELLINGTON

"Life would be utterly lifeless," as old Eunius expresses it, without a friend whose kindness and fidelity one might confidently repose."—Marcus Tillius Cicero.

Such a big quotation for such a little girl; a little girl but one who has a big place in our hearts and affections. This big place has been won by her sincerity, helpfulness, kindness, ability and the most essential of all characteristics—the ability to be a real friend.

We call upon her to help in every phase of our school life—and she's never failed us yet. Besides her willingness to help she is gifted with many talents, all of which we call into service.

One with whom we like to play; one with whom we like to work; one with whom we wish we could keep on going to school—that's "Mary Allie."

ELIZABETH ATWATER

In glancing down the "Caps and Gown" column, we realize the help these girls have imparted since they have chosen S. T. C. as their Alma Mater. We cannot miss Elizabeth Atwater in this column of the Rotunda.

We recognize "Slig's" dependable capability in the handling of the Y. W. funds as treasurer, for the past two years, and have found her ever faithful to perform this duty which was hers.

We cannot forget the untiring grit and pep with which "Slig" played in the hockey games of 1927-'28. She also played on the basketball varsity in 1926-'28. We must recognize her enthusiastic interest in athletics during her years at S. T. C.

Her fine sportsmanship does not apply to athletics alone, however, for she has indeed proved herself to be ever ready to accept her share of responsibility whatever the occasion. What more could we say of any senior?

If you are in search of a sterling, sympathetic friend, you will find her in "Slig", for she is ever ready with good suggestions and always willing to lend a helping hand. We wish her much success in her chosen career.

Humming Bird
Full Fashioned Hosiery

NEW!

A new arrival of Humming Bird Full Fashioned Hosiery makes our stocking department resemble sunrise on a May morning. See these glorious new shades, sponsored by the Paris representative of the mills. Beautifully styled heels, very fine texture, unusual length, sandal soles, step-up toe guard.

The Smartness of Youth
The Splendor of Royalty

Picot Edge, all silk chiffon,

French heels, $1.95

Other Styles $1.50

BALDWIN'S
DEPARTMENT STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches
Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Headquarters for
S. T. C. STUDENTS
Mack's Beauty Shop
323 MAIN STREET

McIntosh Drug Store
MOTHER'S DAY CARDS
WHITMAN'S & NUNNALLY'S
Candy For
MOTHER'S DAY

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & CO
The Convenient Store
For Good Things to Eat and Drink

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Southside Drug Store
Kodak Films Printed and Developed
(One Day Service)
ELIZABETH ARDEN
Beauty Preparations on sale Here

COATS —— DRESSES
GLOVES
HATS
DRESS GOODS —— NOTIONS
NEW SPRING SHOES
are here in
Blue, Green Blonde
Price $5 and up
We invite your inspection
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
SHOES —— HOSIERY

GRADUATION FROCKS

Of lovely Silks, all the newest, all the smartest.

$5.00 $9.95 $16.75

A price to meet the needs of anyone.

Just now, many sub-debs are busy with detestable exams and the fun of selecting graduation dresses. Flat crepe, chiffon, georgette, crepe de chine and taffeta are the important material for these important dresses for the big occasion. In white and lovely opaque pastel shades.

HUB
DEPT. STORE

ROTUNDA JOKES

Red: "I could still tango with you when I'm old and feeble."

Cotten: "Say, who do you think would want to tango with you when you're old and feeble?"

A little boy was selling newspapers yelling as he sold: "Great swindle sixty victims."

Pannie stopped to buy one, and after looking over the headlines: "I don't see anything about it in the paper?"

"Great swindle," shouted the youth even more loudly, "Sixty-one victims."

He: "Some dew outside."

Becky: "Yeah, but I don't.—Shiper.

Hampden-Sydney: "I love you more than anyone."

Senior S. T. C.: "Why?"

Hampden-Sydney: "Because you let me."

They laughed when I sat down at the piano. It was fully five minutes before I could find the slot for my nickel.—Satyr.

Finch: "I just saw a comedy by Shakespeare."

Mary Ellington: "Who's he?"

Finch: "Don't be dumb—he's the guy who endorses Coca Cola."—Beanpot.

Peggy Walton: "Poor Sammy—education got her."

Kitty Bentley: "What happened? Did she have a nervous break-down?"

Peggy W.: "No, she blew the dust off her text book and choked to death."—Spartan Spasms.

A mushroom? Easy. A mushroom is merely a closet filled with love letters.

Billie Booth: "Can you remember when you proposed to me? I was so overcome that I couldn't speak for an hour."

John: "Yes, it was the happiest hour of my life."—Scream.

Departing Senior: "I've never had dates out in town, smoked, or cut a class since I've been in college."

Another Senior: "I wish I could say that."

Lois Fraser: "Why don't you? She did."—The Wampus.

"It tickles," cried Ferree.

"What tickles?" asked Raine.

"Spectacles," giggled Ferree, and the joke was on Raine.—Aggrevator.

"Mother, will S. T. C. girls go to heaven?"

Mother: "Yes, but they won't like it."

Brad.: "Don't pull the spark down, it heats up the motor."

Leyburn: "I will too, it looks better this way."—Widow.

Well, Seniors, the joke's on you this time.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

On the University of Texas premises there is the deepest hole ever drilled into the earth. It is an oil well which has a depth of 8,523 feet, and produces 500 barrels of oil and 8,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. Incidentally, the finding of oil on the property of the University of Texas has helped its endowment tremendously.

Miss Lillie Parker, of Chapel Hill and Durham, has enrolled in the flying school conducted at Chapel Hill. She passed the rigid physical examination, and intends to begin on the course immediately. The course she is taking will require three months or more to complete, 50 solo hours being necessary to qualify her to take up passengers.

Miss Parker is the 13th student to enroll at the airport but black cats and thirteens have no effect on her, she says. Miss Parker's home is in Durham, but at present she is living with relatives in Chapel Hill.

Y. W. NEWS

At the last regular meeting of the Y. W. Cabinet last Saturday afternoon Martha Faris reported that the budget had been fixed, and was in working shape.

It was reported by the town girls' committee that Dr. Jarman is thinking about fixing up the room for the day students. Since the girls have to wait in this room for classes, it is hoped that it will be made more attractive for them in the near future.

At the end of the meeting the cabinet members were given a little quiz on the Y. W. Part of the hand book.

SENIOR CLASS TO GIVE BANQUET

The senior class will have its farewell banquet at 6:30 Friday evening, May 31 in the banquet room.

Dr. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox and Miss Iler will be guests at the banquet. Eighty-six seniors will attend.

Profs. Immune to Pretty Girls.

Professors at Southwestern University have classed themselves as being immune to the wiles of pretty co-eds who use other methods than study to get grades. One professor said, "All our co-eds are beautiful, so no one has a better chance than others." How this affects the gentlemen of the University is not mentioned. We gather that their beauty is insignificant.—Exchange.

SUBSCRIBE TO THE ROTUNDA FOR 1929-'30

Seniors and Sophomores, if you wish to subscribe to The Rotunda for next year, fill in the blank and give it to the editor or business manager with the subscription price. The price for one year is $1,50.

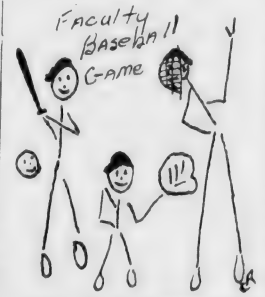
Name .....

Next year's address .....

.....

.....

.....



.....

And then there was the hockey player who lost her head and ran in the wrong direction.

FACULTY VICTORIOUS IN SPITE OF MUSTACHE

The faculty of S. T. C. played an astounding and astonishing game of baseball last Wednesday afternoon. Although the College Pick-Ups were in their usual good form they were overwhelmingly defeated. This is not surprising when we take inventory of the adroit players representing the Faculty.

At the beginning of the game we felt qualms as to the success of the Pick-ups. Rouse with his never-miss batting struck terror into the hearts of us all. And why hadn't Bell let us know before that he used to be one of the stars of the New York Giants? His handsome baseball uniform testified to his past glory.

Coyner and his collegiate knickers won a throng of girlish admirers. Bowman came to the foreground with his remarkable skill at catching and McCorkle stood second base unusually well. Cash was a staunch short stop and Iler and Bedford efficient fielders. Holton, alas, played nobly until he was so rudely ousted from the game in the fourth inning. The line-up was as follows:

Faculty	Pick-ups
Pitcher—Coyner	Hundley
Catcher—Bowman	Fleming
Short stop—Cash	Seaborn
R. Field—Bell	Oliver
L. Field—Iler	Todd
C. Field—Bedford	Quisenberry
1. Base—Holton	Hatchett
2 Base—McCorkle	Souders
3. Base—Rouse	Bully

The game throughout displayed surprising agility on the part of the Faculty. They seemed not the least daunted by our champs, the Pick-ups. Bell saw his team was winning easily, so he withdrew in favor of Walmsley. Walmsley was greeted with applause as he entered the field! The climax came at the fourth inning when the umpire received the following telegram:

Miss Mary Jane Wilkinson,
S. T. C.

Rules of the National and American Leagues prohibit the participation in a game at any girls' college of anyone with a mustache. K. M. Landis, Commissioner of Baseball.

The crowd went wild and Holton, game to the last, had to be forcibly removed.

We noticed and admired the good sportsmanship displayed by both teams. Especially remarkable was McCorkle's failing to steal a home run on a fly ball.

Congratulations to both the Faculty and Pick-ups! We're proud of the 12—3 and it's 12—3 you'll all be league champions some day.

Coach: "What kind of player was she last year?"

Training school girl "Oh, average."

Coach: "Just what do you mean by average?"

Swann: "Well, it must be something to lay eggs on because mother says that our hens lay six eggs a week on the average."—Dirge.

RED LETTER DAYS FOR SENIORS 1928-1929

The year 1928-1929 has been a busy and eventful year for seniors. Although it has brought to them the sadness of parting, it will, in the future, be one of their happiest memories.

There have been some special days which every senior would like to live over. The first of these was probably the day of senior installation, in October. This brought the privilege of wearing caps and gowns every Saturday morning at chapel.

On November 19, the seniors presented Miss Olive T. Iler, as their class man. They sang two original and appropriate songs.

Then the seniors gave their little sisters a party, which was a very enjoyable affair.

Thanksgiving day brought victory to the class of '29. The senior hockey team was the winner of the day. Their hockey team has not been defeated.

On Saturday, May 25, the seniors led chapel. They sang a song to Dr. Jarman, one to Miss Iler and an adieu to their Alma Mater. The devotion was the thirteenth chapter of Corinthians, which truly expresses the spirit of the senior class.

This was the seniors' last march to the front to "All Hail, Alma Mater," until their final march to receive their degrees and go out of the halls of S. T. C., leaving a vast emptiness for us who must carry on.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"SOMETHING ROTTEN IN THE STATE OF DENMARK"

THIS is an expression that is frequently encountered in the most matter of fact speech where it is desired to indicate suspicion which a certain situation arouses against the people involved.

The words are over three hundred years' standing, their author being that master of figure and rhetoric, the bard of Avon. It is in "Hamlet," written in 1602, that we find the original use of the phrase, "There's something rotten in the State of Denmark." It occurs in the fifth scene of the first act when the ghost appears, beckoning to Hamlet, who against the entreaties of his companions, Horatio and Marcellus, goes off with it. In commenting on the strange proceedings of the night, Marcellus says to Horatio: "To what issue will this come?" "Something is rotten in the State of Denmark!"

(Copyright.)

"The woman who used to have a reputation for making fine ginger bread," says Observing Olivia, "now has a daughter who is popular with cake eaters."

Lovelace Shoe Shop
Work done While you Wait With First Class Material
110 Third Street

ARE YOU HUNGRY?—
Go Across The Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL Conservatory of Music
Piano, vocal, violin, theory, harmony, asesthetics, Etc. Reasonable tuition rates.

THOMAS JEFFRIES
The Odorless Suburban Cleaner
Special Prices for S. T. C. Girls
Washing Car for hire
Phone 221—610 Main St.

MARTIN,
THE JEWELER
The Store with
A THOUSAND GIFT THOUGHTS

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING
CLEANING
PRESSING
FARMVILLE - - - VIRGINIA

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Headquarters for
S. T. C. GIRLS
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You

WE WILL DYE YOUR SHOES
any shade wanted free of charge. We carry the snappiest line of shoes obtainable.
CINDERELLA BOOT SHOPS
311 E. Broad, Richmond
328 Granby, Norfolk

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

SHANNON'S
For the Best Place
TO EAT AND DRINK
in Farmville
Sodas 10c Short Stirs 15c

Costume Jewelry
Handkerchiefs, Pictures
Falconer Gift Shop
Complete line of Greeting Cards

CANADA DRUG CO.
236 Main Street
Come to us for your cosmetics and STATIONERY

Rotunda
Sept. 25 1929 - May. 24 1933
Vol. 10-13

To Miss Francis Potts, Business Manager

As a token of the pleasant associations, and and of our appreciation of your many courtesies in the production of this volume.

The Farmville Herald

Welcome Freshmen

ROTUNDA

Welcome Freshmen

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1929 Number 1

BLUE RIDGE MEET WAS ATTRACTIVE TO SUMMER GUESTS

Farmville Delegation Brings Returns from Christian Conference

(By Adele Hutchinson)

Those of us who were so fortunate as to have been your representatives at Blue Ridge feel wholly at loss when asked to tell what Blue Ridge is like. It is so wide-awake, there in the midst of the most rugged scenery near the roof of the Appalachian Range in the Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina. There, surrounded by sixteen hundred acres of virgin forests, mountain streams, near a lake for boating and swimming, several tennis courts, horses for riding, excellent food and above all, among people vitally interested in us and our lives, we find such inspiration, rest and recreation, that it will live a long, long time in our memories as one of the outstanding summers of our lives. We absorbed unconsciously all of the fine ideals, orginal ideas, and every experience made us stronger and finer than ever before. It seems so unfair to you that we cannot give you all of those experiences that we shared, but we shall do our best to give you all that we can.

Our cottage, (yes, Farmville has a cottage) was the scene of many a happy evening. We shared our cottage quite often with girls from Georgia, Wesleyan, Fredericksburg, Harrisonburg, R. M. W. C., and others. It was a congenial crowd when Sara, sitting around our old stone fireplace Evelyn, Rena and Miss Beford were writing and drawing , and Allie-Kae, Gurley, Jackie Woodson, '28, and Adele came bursting in with food and books from the Bookstore. Among these are, "Christ in the Poetry of Today,'" and "A Guide to the Scriptures." These and others will be in the Y. W. library in the cabinet room.

The conference was not onl yfun, it was education. New thoughts for everyone, new doubts, new plans and electricity itself seemed to be in the air. Suggestions for Y. W., athletics, Rotunda, student government, annuals, clubs and parties just poured in.

There are pictures that come to our minds when we see a candle or a fireplace that gives us a wondering feeling in our hearts and makes us wish to give you the clean, open beauty of those hills, the strength from those heights, and the quiet reverence of our services there—singing on the steps of Lee Hall; walking through mountain ivy, rhododendren and leafy glens; following streams of bubbling

(Continued on page 2)

ASSOCIATE EDITOR DOES NOT RETURN TO SCHOOL

Virginia Pettigrew, associate editor of The Rotunda, did not return to S. T. C. this year, which means a vacancy on the staff to be filled. This officer is elected by the members of the student body.

An opportunity will be given you this week at a student body meeting to elect this officer. In the meantime you are urged to be thinking of girls who will be capable of filling this position, so that you may nominate your choice at the meeting.

OUR PRESIDENTS

ETTA MARSHALL
President of Student Body

DR. J. L. JARMAN
President of S. T. C.

ADELE HUTCHINSON
President of Y. W. C. A.

MANY ATTEND Y. W. C. A. RECEPTION

Our large gym with its big open spaces is a problem of every decorating committee. Even after our blue and streamers are fluttering around the balcony something is lacking. However, nothing was lacking last Friday night during the Y. W. reception, or so said the faculty on viewing it from above, for any artists might well have been inspired by the general effect and blending of colors. This scene resembled an old-fashioned flower gadren, for even though there were many pastel dresses seen, at intervals there wer dark, vivid, or the more wintry shades.

They were constantly twirling and flitting of course, but to se them all cluster around the piano to be entertained delightfully by Dorothy Dudley, a freshman, then suddenly border the room with color to enjoy Ella Dunt Davis' attractive jig, was spectacular.

"On the Road to Mandalay" given by Estelle Honeyman and "En couragement" by Elma Wilson, both well done, completed the freshman contest. The winner, received very appropriately, as a prize, a rat!

Mary Todd, in a clever new dancing costume of black and silver, gave both old and new girls a real treat by her tap dance.

The dancing and games mixed the participants so thoroughly that one marveled at the rapidity which they lined up for the grand march—perhaps the refreshments apparent on a nearby table caused things to quicken. For soon they were all eating cream and cakes between exclamations of, "Oh, I've never been so thrilled! I'll write home at once and tell the family that I've met and shaken hands with Miss Jennie Tabb, Miss Mary White Cox, Dr. Jarman, Miss Camper and all the most important officers of the school organizations."

You see, the receiving line was in the Student Lounge where the reception began in a lovely reception-like manner and later a more frivolous part took place in the gymnasium.

(Continued on page 3)

LAURA SMITH
President Athletic Association

FRESHMEN, TRY-OUT FOR THE ROTUNDA STAFF

The Rotunda needs new members on its staff so, freshmen, here is your chance. Just across from the table in the hall, next to the cloak room, is a box in which you may drop articles for the Rotunda. If you like to write editorials ,write one and drop it in the box. If you like to write news articles better, write up any current happening in school and drop it in the box. Or if your talents lie along literary lines drop in a poem, essay, short story, or whatever you may have.

Sign your name plainly to each article, and the editor of the Rotunda will notify you if you are appointed to the staff.

This applies to upperclassmen as well as to freshman. Everyone who is int. rested in newspaper work is urged to try out.

ORGANIZATIONS OPEN TO FRESHMEN

Freshmen—here is your chance to catch the true spirit of S. T. C. and enter into the very heart of our college life. We are glad to be able to offer you the choice of any number of organizations whose one underlying purpose is to help make your college life richer and happier in every way. Become a member of some of these far-famed school activities and help carry on the spirit of your new Alma Mater.

Every girl is already a member of the Student Government Association. As the name implies, this association is composed of all the students for the purpose of upholding the ideals and standards of our college. It is the key to all our college activity.

The Y. W. C. A. is open to every student. Everyone has noticed its various activities—the Freshmen Reception—Freshman Tours—Vespers. Serve in the spirit of Christian fellowship by participating in the work of this organization.

No doubt many freshmen are fond of athletics. There is a wonderful opportunity for all of you in this line, for there will be a class team in hockey, basket-ball, volley-ball, baseball and track. Everyone is invited to come out and try for a place on the teams. Aim to be a true all-round sportsman, and work for an athletic monogram which means that you may become a member of the Monogram Club.

Try-outs for the Dramatic Club have already begun, and the Debate Club try-outs will soon be in progress. If you are interested in dramatics or if you enjoy debating, make good the opportunity and join these clubs. There is always a need for new girls.

Musicians are always in demand. Any girl who can play a musical instrument has a chance of making the College Orchestra. The orchestra has develpoed splendidly during the past year and would gladly welcome any new members who are interested in helping it to grow even larger.

(Continued on last page)

MISS VON SCHILLING AND R. C. BRISTOW DIE IN SUMMER

Connected With State Teachers College, Farmville, For Many Years

(From the Farmville Herald)

Miss Irma von Schilling, principal of the College Training School died Wednesday afternoon, July 3 in the Elizabeth Buxton Hospital at Hampton, where she had undergone a major opertaion a week ago. She was on a leave of absence last session to complete the work for a masters degree at Columbia University. She was forced to return to her home in Hampton early in April on acount of sickness, which terminated in the operation, as a last resort to save her life.

Before coming to Farmville Miss von Schilling was principal of the Sims Eton School at Hampton. She become supervisor of the sixth grade at the College Training School in 1927, and at the time of her death she was principal of the school.

She was actively identified with the social life of the community, being first president of the Woman's Club, organized in 1919, and again president of the club from 1925 to 1927. She was an active and earnest worker in the Episcopal church, a member of the Patrons League and a moving force in the Junior Red Cross. Always eager and ready to give time and talent to any cause concerning the betterment of the community and especially the children of the community Miss von Schilling won the love and respect of the entire community.

R. C. Bristow, 67, native of Gloucester county, and esteemed citizen of Farmville for the past thirty years died Tuesday night, June 4 at 6:15 o'clock, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. H. Sandidge, 3411 Wilson avenue, Lynchburg. Mr. Bristow suffered a stroke of paralysis April 18, while driving alone in his automobile to attend the District Lions Club convention in Lynchburg. He managed to drive the car into the city and was hurried to a hospital, and later was transferred to the home of his daughter.

Mr. Bristow for the past five years had been superintendent of buildings and grounds at the State Teachers College, and acted in the capacity of business manager. He was widely known and popular.

Mr. Bristow is survived by his wife, Mrs. Esther Trevilian Bristow, and two daughters, Mrs. H. H. Sandidge, of Lynchburg, and Mrs. Thomas J. Starke of Richmond.

(Continued on page 4)

ENROLLMENT NOT YET DETERMINED

The enrollment of the student body as to the respective classes has not yet been determined. It is reported that the enrollment this year shows a decrease in number but a member of the faculty was heard to remark that this is one of the best student bodies in the history of S. T. C. A statement in regard to the enrollment will be published in the next issue of the Rotunda.

39567

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 33, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

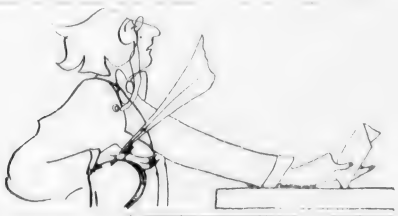
Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor

Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKERSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '30
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '30

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 — JESSIE SMITH, '31
Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31



Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. Thsse will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Beginnings

Of all God's gifts to His children, the ability of beginning again is the kindest. To be able to leave our mistakes behind and begin again means a renewal of the life He has given us to make the most of here on earth.

We are beginning a new session at S. T. C. We have a clean record before us to use as we will. There are no mistakes upon it—they are all in the past and can in no way affect the future. Let us make this year of our Alma Mater one of perfection, a year that has never been equaled before, a year that will be outstanding in the history of our college, a year that will call for no beginning in the fall of 1930, but will require only a continuation of the accomplishments of the session 1929-'30.

Appreciation

The Rotunda staff wishes to thank the Farmville Herald for the splendid service rendered them in the past, and for the interest shown in The Rotunda work. The paper has been benefitted by the suggestions offered by members of the staff of the Farmville Herald and takes this means to acknowledge the help and to express our sincere appreciation.

The advertisers in The Rotunda also owe the Farmville Herald their appreciation and thanks in that the Farmville Herald has enabled our Business Manager to offer the advertisers cheaper rates, thus allowing them more space in which to advertise.

The Rotunda wishes to thank our advertisers for their loyal support of the paper in the past, and to express a wish for the continuation of this relationship in the future.

Shall We Have An Honor System?

S. T. C. is making its first steps toward an honor system. Beginning with this week we are adopting a new system of study hour. Up to this time we have had closed study hour from seven-thirty until ten in which no one could go into another girl's room without special permission from the proper authority. Now, we still have study hour from seven-thirty until ten, but we can go in other girls' roms if necessary, unless there is a "Busy" sign upon the door. We are put upon our honor not to violate this sign. We are also put upon our honor not to waste our time in unnecessary visting about, and in idleness.

If this system of open study hour is successful we may be given even more privileges in our dormitory life. Who knows? What the result is, however, all depends upon our attitude toward this liberty granted us. Let's show those in authority that we can be trusted in simple dormitory regulations, and perhaps some of those "rules and regulations" that we find irksome will be removed in time.

VIRGINIA GURLEY IS "MISS VIRGINIA" AT BEAUTIFUL FESTIVAL

One important event of the summer was the rhododendren festival in Asheville, North Carolina in this festival, all the southern states were represented. S. T. C. was honored in having her May Queen, Virginia Gurley, selected as "Miss Virginia."

"Gurley," as she is best known to us, was a credit to our school and state. These representatives were chosen for their beauty, and no one could have filled these qualifications better than "Gurley."

This festival is held every year to bring recognition to the flower, the rhododendren, that is so bountiful in the mountains of North Carolina. Many social functions are given during this time. The culmination of the event is a pageant when each sponsor represents the flower of her state in costume.

HEARD IN FRESHMAN TRAINING CLASSES

"Who is this Etta I hear so much about?"

"Where are the irons that go in the pressing room?"

"And do they start regular meals in the dining room next week, when they assign tables?"

"What mornings do they send breakfast to our rooms?"

"The maid forgot to give me my other sheet!"

"I haven't found any water running on the halls like it says here in the hand book."

"Where can I find the maid who cleans the rooms on our hall? Mine is getting rather dusty."

"Can I stick nails in the holes already in my walls, for pictures of my family? There is a hole for each one. We are twelve."

"Would it be all right to tell Miss Taliaferro to put my mail up on time? I can't be bothered—waiting around."

"My classes aren't interesting. Whom should I see abount it?"

Frosh: "It's perfectly all right to hold a boy's hand downtown, isn't it?"

Teacher: "Well, no!"

Frosh: "Why, I saw Lucille Graves doing it this afternoon."

"Where is 'thy fountain' that they sing about in the Alma aMter?"

"I don't think I'll bother with practice teaching next year. I'll just omit it."

Frosh No. 1: "Are you going to 'Sing', tonight?"

Frosh No. 2: "At home I never do anything by solo work."

BLUE RIDGE CONFERENCE

(Continued from page 1)

water; pledging friendships in the circle of candle light—all of these, and countless others that we keep recalling can only make us more grateful to you who gave us the opportunity and the inspiration to seek the greater and higher things in life at Blue Ridge.

THE MONOGRAM CLUB BEGINS YEAR'S WORK

Come out, girls, and win your monogram. The first monogram hike was taken Saturday on the Hampden-Sydney road. To be a member of the Monogram Club you must work hard for your school and class athletics. Let's make this year the biggest and best year for the Monogram Club.

HEADS OF SPORTS

Every sport must have a girl to head it. By an amendment to the Athletic Association constitution these heads of sports are appointed by the Athletic Council. The head of each sport will be announced as the season approaches. Two have been appointed thus far: Mary Frances Hatchett is manager of hockey and Dorothy Thompson, of tennis.

Hampden-Sydney: "Whisper sweet nothings into my ear."

S. T. C. Freshman: "All right,—sweet nothings.'"—Louisville Satyr.

FRESHMAN STUDENT GOVERNMENT CLASSES

The Student Government and Y. W. C. A. of 1929-30 deserve great commendation for the efficient, systematic and successful way in which they conducted the Freshman training classes.

The freshman class was divided into groups or twenty-two and a Y. W. C. A. of Student Government girl was put in charge of each group. The classes were held Wednesday, Thursday and Frdaiy nights and the examination given on Saturday afternoon.

On Wednesday night, the freshmen studied the Handbook, picking out the essential regulations and learning to distinguish betwen major and trivial rules. They were told by the teachers that these regulations were not made merely to bind them, but for their own good, that the Handbook is an expression of the very highest ideals of the present and past student bodies and faculties of S. T. C. Questions about the Handbook were answered by the teachers.

Thursday night the teachers tried to instill the spirit of Alma Mater in each Freshman, that high reverence Joan of Arc teaches us, that we are all one great family, as Dr. Jarman so truly said in chapel Friday morning. The proper attitude toward our student government and toward each student, is the most important thing for a Freshman to learn. The freshmen were given a conception of that loyalty, school-spirit, sportsmanship in everything, that makes a successful and happy student body.

Friday night the teachers advised the freshmen to bring out all the best qualities of character innate in each one. If each freshman constantly brought out the best in her, there would be no need for talks on honor, and cheating, and breaking rules.

The teachers showed the difference between gossiping or "tattling" and openly reporting a questionable act, both to the doer of the act and the student government. Each student owes it to her student body, not only to be above dishonorable acts herself, but to protect her student body from one who does indulge in them.

Next, honesty with self is the foundation of an open character. The Student Government wants the student body to catch the spirit of the law and then the law will be obeyed.

After all, it isn't just dry laws we go by—we have an honor system, made up of the idea of every girl in S. T. C. and surely, we should follow the dictates of our own ideals.

"SING" UNUSUALLY GOOD

The mad rush for the auditorium after supper on Saturday night was a very familiar sight for the old girls, and a proceeding in which most of us participated. After all of us were seated to our satisfaction (some of us to their dissatisfaction), Adele Hutcheson introduced the ministers of the town and they welcomed us to their various churches. After that the fun began in real earnest. The curtain rose on a lovely doll shop. Allie K. Libby, especially, seemed to think it lovely. She came with her mother, Mary Priest, to buy a doll. Marion Seay as a young lady doll was very lovely, Helen Robertson, as a Scotch doll, entertained us highly with her dancing, the Ferris twins as rag dolls were really splendid, and there was an old fashioned doll, a black mammy doll, but the real treat came in "from storage" as Margaret Leonard, the clerk, told us. This was Mary Todd, the dancing doll. She gave us two lovely dances, and no one ever tires of seeing Mary dance. The first "Sing" was a great success and we wish to congratulate the committee on it.

TENNIS PRACTICE BEGINS

Want to keep your girlish figure? Want to have a great time? Just take your racquet and come out for the tennis singles.

The matches will be played soon, so start your practicing right away.

SOCIAL

Miss Mary W. and Margaret Vincent spent the week-end at their home in Emporia.

Miss Nan Griffith visted in Richmond last week-end.

Miss Regina Brown vistied in Crewe last week-end.

Miss Lillian Womack spent the week-end at her home in Keysville.

Miss Lucy Lee Williams spent the week-end at her home in Blackstone.

Miss Stella Cheatham spent the week-end at her home in Green Bay.

Miss Melrose Debnam visited in Lynchburg last week-end.

Miss Lula Crowder spent the week-end at her home in South Boston.

Miss Helen Tweedy spent the week-end at her home in Concord Depot.

Miss Mary B. Epes spent the week-end in Richmond.

Miss Mary Linney spent the week-end at her home in Crewe.

WEDDING BELLS CHIME

Some of our S. T. C. girls who were married this summer are:

Sarah Williams to Charlie Jett.

Nora Petty to "Shilly" Langhorne.

Elizabeth Williams to Lew Lunsford.

MISS CAMPER LEADS MORNING WATCH

Miss Camper led the first morning watch of the school year last Sunday morning in the Student Building Lounge.

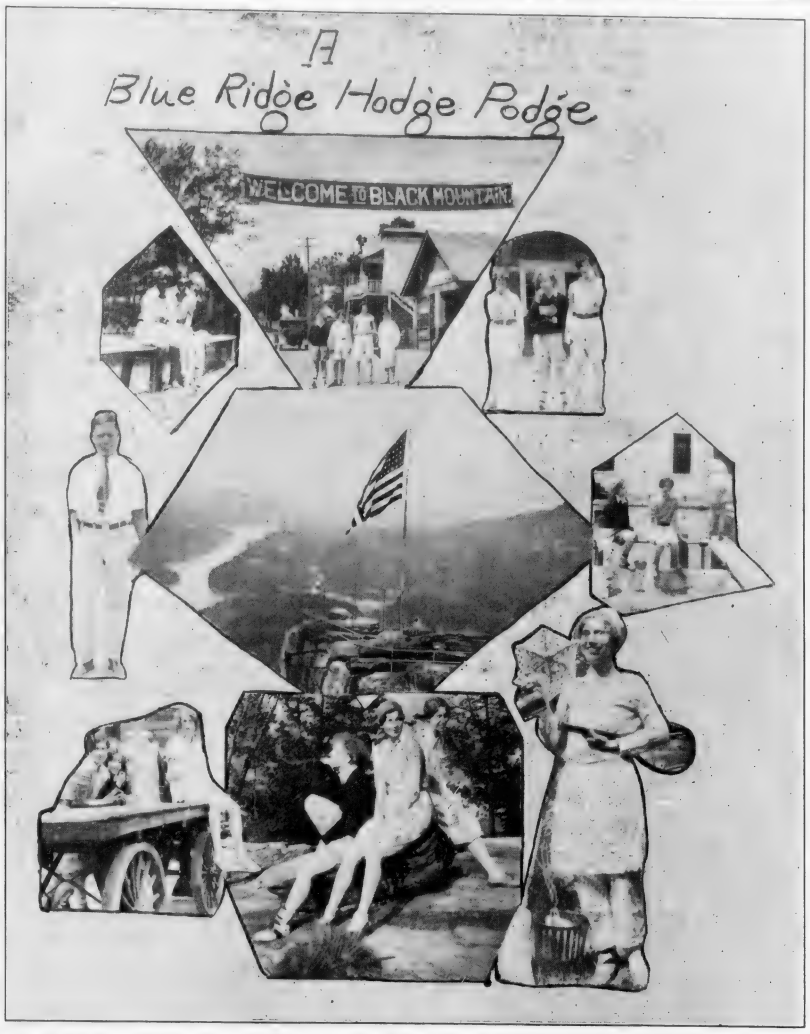
The idea she brought to the group, especially to the freshmen, was that of testing one's religion which had been previously taught and lived in the home. Miss Camper compared this test to that of mixing elements in the laboratories here. By adding a certain portion of an element to another we prove a theory. Likewise one may test her religion daily.

The point of using the right amount of elements was stressed in our chemical laboratory. Thus one must use the right test in her own life to get the best results.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB CONDUCTS TRY-OUTS

Not least among college organizations is our Dramatic Club. Contrary to general opinion this organization does not belong to the whole student body.

The members of the organization are naturally entitled to the various privileges of the club. Each year a special course of study in some subject of dramatic interest is given the members of the club. Some of the courses taken up are: Make-up, costuming, stage setting and the study of plays in general.



In addition, two plays are put on by the club each year. One play is given during the fall or winter term, and another during the spring term. Last year the fall play was put on with the Hampden-Sydney dramatic club or the "Jongleurs" and the same thing is being planned for this year.

Not only does the dramatic club put on these two plays for school benefit, it helps out at various times with scenery, costuming and stunts for entertainments throughout the year.

Every girl in school who has dramatic ability and is interested in the type of work that the Dramatic Club is doing has an opportunity to try-out for the club. The list of successful aspirants to Dramatic Club membership will be published in next week's Rotunda.

FIRST STUDENT BODY MEETING A SUCCESS

The first student body meeting of the session 1929-'30 was held Wednesday, September 18, after dinner. Etta Marshall, student body president, reminded the members of the responsibility placed upon all students by the installation of their new system and asked for the cooperation of every one. The effectiveness of the House Council plan depends upon the attitude taken by students. It is hoped that the spirit shown at their first meeting, will continue throughout the entire year.

S. T. C. STUDENTS ATTEND BLUE RIDGE CONFERENCE

WELCOME THE NEW FACULTY MEMBERS

We take this opportunity to welcome the new members of our faculty and to say that we sincerely hope that each one spends a happy year with us.

The new members of the faculty for 1929-'30 are: Miss Carolyn Cogbill, assistant supervisor, of Pittsburgh, who is a graduate of State Teachers College, Farmville, Va.

Miss Mary Louise Drake, assistant professor of English, of Waynesboro, Va., who received her B. A. degree from Randolph Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., and her M. A. degree from the University of Virginia.

Miss Susie V. Floyd, assistant supervisor, who graduated from State Teachers College, Farmville, Va.

Mr. Raymond H. French, assistant professor of chemistry, who received his B. S. and M. S. degrees from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va.

Mr. C. G. G. Moss, associate professor of History of Lynchburg is returning after a leave of absence.

Miss Mary Nichols, assistant professor of Modern Languages, who received her B. S. degree from State Teachers College, Farmville, and her M. A. degree from the University of Virginia.

Miss Mary D. Pierce, associate professor of Education, of Hamilton, Va., who is returning.

Miss S. Avice Roane, supervisor at Curdsville from Staunton, Va.

Miss Mabel Spratley, instructor in English, who recieved her B. S. degree from State Teachers College, Farmville, Va.

Mrs. Stella B. Taylor, assistant professor of English, who received her B. A. degree at Fairmount S. N. S., is a graduate of Emerson College or Oratory, and has had one year at Columbia University.

MANY ATTEND Y. W. C. A. RECEPTION

(Continued from page 1)

The freshmen voiced their opinion of the reception as "a grand time", and the upperclassmen said "it was the best yet." So Miss Mary, Adele, and her Y. cabinet are rewarded for their efforts! It was a big success.

Freshmen, if you turn on the hot water faucet and get cold water; if you turn on the cold water and scald your hands, be nonchalant—you're at S. T. C. now.—Green Goat.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

Please send THE ROTUNDA to the address below, for which I am enclosing one dollar and a half ($1.50) which pays my subscription until June, 1930.

Name _____

Address _____

Please send blanks to SARA McCorkle, Business Manager, of The Rotunda.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Quality—Price—Service
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You With Us
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

FALL SHOWING OF
HATS
THE HAT SHOPPE
Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES
Farmville - - - - Va.

CANADA DRUG CO.
Next to Baldwin's Store
Come to us for your cosmetics and
STATIONERY
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Falconer Gift Shop
Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving
COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE
Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh films)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S
is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP
Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials
110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS
Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop
323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY
The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP
Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING , CLEANING
PRESSING
Farmville - - - - - - - - - - Virginia

WELCOME S. T. C. GIRLS!
Opening week special, full fashion Onyx Chiffon Hose _____ $1.00

Make this store your store. We are leaders in style at the lowest possible cost.
New Rumble Seat Coats, snappy walking oxfords, the best silk hose to be gotten, Allen A, Onyx and Gold Stripe, every pair guaranteed or a new pair.
Beautiful dresses of satin crepe, sik tweeds, Jersey and transparent velvet.
And a thousand other things girls love to wear.

OPEN A CHARGE ACCOUNT

Bigger, better than ever.

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Frosh Booth: "Are they very strict at Farmville?"

Sophomore: "Are they? Well, when a girl dies during a class, they prop her up in there until the end of the hour."

Proud Father: "Daughter, of course, you're on the basketball team?"

Freshman Daughter: "Well, yes; I do the aerial work."

Father: "What is that?'"

She: "I blow up the balls." Lafayette Lyre.

Liz Antrim: "Well, Hogan, they tell me you have a fine, all-round freshman for a roommate."

E. Hogan: "So I have."

L. Antrim: "What's she like?'"

Hogan: "Practically everything I own."

Medora Ford: "Oh, I just hit my crazy bone."

F. Potts: "You poor girl. You must hurt all over."

Helen Robertson has such beautiful curly hair it's a pity she isn't a dog so she could have it all over.

"Who is that, honey, over there?"

"Oh, that's Frances Thornton. A sorority sister of mine."

"What's she doing on the campus?"

"Why, a— she's looking for her husband."

"Oh, pardon me. What's his name?"

"She doesn't know yet."—Clan.

Senior: "What is it that lives in a stall, eats oats, and can see equally well at both ends?"

Freshman: "By me."

Senior: "A blind horse.'"— Colby White Mule.

Doctor: "Let me feel your pulse."

Meek sixteen: "Oh, doctor! That's the way you all begin!"—Allapod.

"How's your new girl?"

"Not so good."

"You always were lucky.—Boston Beanpot.

ORGANIZATIONS OPEN TO FRESHMEN

(Continued from page one)

All girls interested in any type of literary work should decide to try out for either the Cunningham or the Ruffner Literary society. These two societies are very important as college organizations, and each has a large membership. Very shortly you will be given a chance to become a member also; don't fail to try out.

You are needed freshmen! These organizations need your membership, they need your cooperation; they need your service. Come out and join them, they are here for your benefit and they are eager to welcome each and everyone of you.

MISS VON SCHILLING AND MR. BRISTOW DIE

Continued from page one

For some years Mr. Bristow engaged in the decorating and painting business, but his greatest work was as landscape gardener, the attractiveness of the State Teachers College grounds attesting to his ability in that line.

Mr. Bristow was a member of Farmville Lodge I. O. O. F., and of the Farmville Lions Club, and was known as a genial, warm hearted friend, with a happy word and kind thought for his fellow man.

The remains were brought overland from Lynchburg, and funeral services were held at the grave in the Farmville cemetery, Thursday morning.

Services at the grave were very impressive. Rev. Henry W. Davis read the scriptural passage, after which the simple, but impressive I. O. O. F. service was held. Many friends attended and the floral offerings were profuse and beautiful. The active pallbearers were Dr. J. P. Trent, Dr. J. L. Jarman, R. K. Brock, T. A. McCorkle, A. T. Gray and Dr. Chas. Carter, while members of the I. O. O. F. and Lions Club were honorary pall-bearers.

SCHEMMEL

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony

Aesthetics, Etc.

REASONABLE TUITION RATES

Hockey Schedule and Monogram Practices

MON.—4 p. m.—Upperclassmen hockey.

TUES.—4 p. m. Freshmen hockey; 5 p. m. Monogram practice.

WED—4 p. m. Upperclassmen hockey; 5 p. m. Monogram practice.

THURS—4 p. m. Upperclassmen hockey; 5 p. m. Freshman hockey.

FRI.—4 p. m. Freshman hockey

At the Eaco Theatre

Week Sept. 30-Oct. 5

(Mat. each day at 4 o'clock)

MON., TUES. and WED.—we present Delores Del Rio in "EVANGELINE", Henry Wardsworth Longfellow's immortal love epic. The romance of a maid who loved forever. The poignant romance of the Acadian girl and boy separated at their betrothal and their yearning search for each other through the wilds of pioneer America. With a cast of over 1000 people. Longfellow's eloquent poem, read by a hundred and fifty million people, pictured with heart-breaking fidelity and power. A masterful picturization of the sweet romance of two centuries. Dolores Del Rio sings to you in this picture and you will hear the theme song written by Al Jolson. We are showing this famous picture three days so that every man, woman and child in and around Farmville can have a chance to see and hear it. Serial and news Monday. News and talking comedy other days.

THURS., FRI. and SAT.—we present FOX MOVIETONE FOLLIES OF 1929, the world's first great musical comedy revue of the talking screen. With Sue Carrol and a great supporting cast. It is the fastest, peppiest, most tuneful musical extravaganza ever produced on stage or screen with more infectious song hits, cyclonic dancing, riotous comedy, dazzling ensembles, gorgeous costumes, scenic splendors have all been combined to captivate amusement-mad America. With this picture we show comedy and news. Serial Sat. night. We are showing this great picture three days. Please come Thursday or Friday night to avoid the college crowd Saturday night.

Admission prices to adults, all matinees 25 cents, all nights 35 cents. Children under 12 years old, 15 cents to each show.

FRESHMAN PLAY DAY WAS SUCCESS

Thursday night perhaps you heard shieks of mirth issuing from the gym and you wondered what was causing such hilarity. The freshman play-day was in full swing. Many of the old girls had teams of nine girls each and they had all kinds of relays and games, each participant enjoying it thoroughly. The contests were friendly and everyone kept her temper, which added to the fun of the occasion. Much to the delight of those present, the hostess of the play day, served chocolate lollies at the end of the games.

WELCOME!!

S. T. C. STUDENT BODY

You are invited to make our store your headquarters
Watch this space for future announcements

SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES

MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

THE BAND BOX SHOPPE

IT PAYS TO DEAL
at
GREENBERG'S DEPT. STORE
First in Style
Lowest in Price
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

McIntosh's Drug Store

New State Teachers College

STATIONERY

Farmville - - - Va.

DISPLAYING

Stylish

Dresses

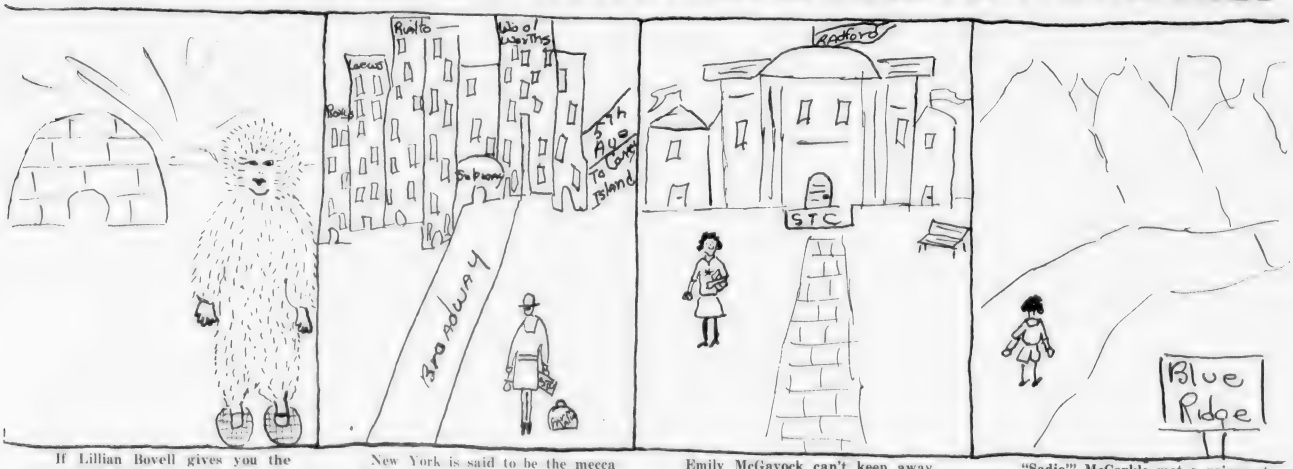
Coats

Millinery

BALDWIN'S

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.

The House of Quality



GYM OUTFITS for the COLLEGE GIRLS

Black Sateen Bloomers	$1.50
White Broadcloth Shirts	$1.00
Gym Shoes, Laced to toe	$1.35

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.

FARMVILLE, VA.

S. T. C. STUDENTS TRAVEL DURING SUMMER

If Lillian Bovell gives you the "cold shoulder", it's because she's been to Nova Scotia.

New York is said to be the mecca of newlyweds. Wonder why Lucille Graves went?

Emily McGavock can't keep away from an S. T. C.

"Sadie'" McCorkle met a prince at Blue Ridge. She believes in meeting royalty.

TRY OUT FOR VARSITY HOCKEY TEAM

ROTUNDA

LONGWOOD TO BE OPENED OCTOBER 5

Volume X — THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1929 — No. 2

"THE VOICE" BEGINS YEAR'S WORK WITH MUCH ENTHUSIASM

Literary Magazine Puts on a Drive to Secure Subscriptions

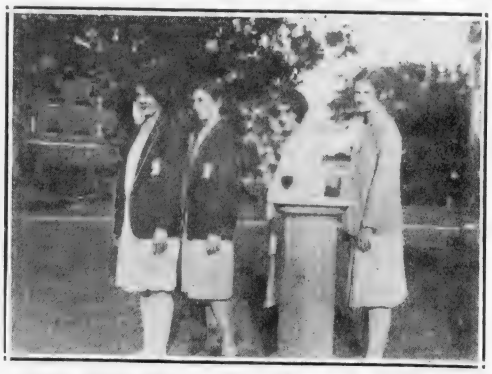
At their first meeting, the staff of "The Voice" outlined plans for their year's work. There will be four numbers of "The Voice" published, and it is the purpose of the staff to make these of a very high grade of literary work.

Although "The Voice" was started last year and is published by the Cunningham and Ruffner Literary Societies, it is a publication of the student body, and as such should receive the support of each student. The object is to give an outlet and recognition to those students who are desirous of doing literary work. Short stories, poems, essays, and book reviews are featured. Any one in school may, and is urged to make contributions.

A drive is now under way to secure subscriptions to "The Voice." The price is only one dollar (1.00) for the four issues. Each girl in school should subscribe and support the literary magazine of the school. There will be a table in the hall for several days in the near future where those who have not already subscribed may do so.

S. T. C. HAS "LITTLE SISTER" PLAN

The "little sister" plan which has been in effect for two years has proven very successful. Through a freshman's big sister the freshman meets a larger number of people. The upper classman also helps her charge by showing her around the building and by helping her to become the right type of citizen within the school. In other words the big sister has become a guide.



At the Y. W. reception probably a great amount of the success was due to the big sister who helped to see that the little sister became acquainted and also that she should have a good time.

It is a genral opinion that the "little sister" plan is without a doubt a success.

"Y" Installs Freshmen By Impressive Services

Friday night the "Y" cabinet installed the freshmen in one of the loveliest services held on the campus of S. T. C. At a quarter of seven, a choir singing "Lead On, O King Eternal" preceded the Y. W. C. A. cabinet who marched to the front of the auditorium carrying lighted candles.

After a talk by Adele Hutchinson, president of the "Y", in which she discussed the pervading spirit of love in our school, the freshmen lighted their candles from those of the members of the cabinet. Following the cabinet members out on the campus the newly initiated freshmen sang "Follow the Gleam." They formed a circle on the darkened campus lighted only by flickering candles. Holding the shining candles to the sky, everyone repeated the Y. W. C. A. motto: "Not by might nor by power,, but by my spirit,' saith the Lord of Hosts."

Girls Who Wear the Monogram Blazers

(Left to Right)—Mary Frances Hatchett, 1530 points; Laura M. Smith, 935; Allie Oliver, 1130; Laura N. Smith, 835.

REQUIREMENTS FOR A COLLEGE BLAZER

Point System—Athletic Association.

I. Physical Efficiency Test
- (1) 9 events with 4 stunts and 4 field and track events 75
- (2) 9 events with 7 stunts and 7 field and track events 100

II. Teams (having participated in 60% of the games played)
- (1) 1st class team in any sport 50
- (2) 2nd class team in any sport 25
- (3) Attendance at 60% practices of each sport 25
- (4) Championship team 50
- (5) Runner up 25

III. Honorary varsity 25

IV. Varsity team 50
- Varsity squad 25

V. Hiking
- 6 five-mile hikes per year 50

VI. Field Day
- (1) 1st in any individual event 25
- (2) 2nd in any individual event 15
- (3- 3rd in any individual event 10
- (4) 1st in any relay 10
- (5) 2nd in any relay 5
- (6) Breaking a college record 50
- (7) Participating in meet 5
- (8) First place in meet 100

VII. Tournaments (Tennis, Archery)
- (1) Championships .....
- (a) singles 50
- (b) doubles 25
- (2) Runner-up
- singles 25
- doubles 15
- (3) Those in after first round 5

VIII. Scholarships
- (1) "C" average—no failures .. 25
- (2) "B" ave. nothing below "C" 50
- (3) "A" average—nothing below "B" 75

And Sportsmanship!

Awards—Blazers.

Class colored with old English "F" 700
Class colored with Numerals 1000
Cass colored with S. T. C. 1300
Navy blue with S. T. C. 1600
Navy blue with College Seal 2000

NEW MEMBERS OF THE CHORAL CLUB

The Choral Club held its final try-out last Friday afternoon in the little auditorium.

More than 25 new members have been admitted this year, and with the help of this splendid new material the club plans to put on—well, it plans to give an Indian operetta.

An operetta requires a large cast

(Continued on last page)

HOUSE COUNCIL INSTALLED AT S. T. C.

The members of the House Council were installed Tuesday night, September 24 at the installation services which the members of the Student Council and the members of the House Council took part. This new system duly went into effect that night.

The members of the House Council are

Marion Seay ..... President
Easter Souders ..... Secretary
Virginia Gurley .... Ex-officio Member

Sue Casey, Gladys Clark, Beulah Green, Lucille Graves, Estelle Armstrong, Dorothy Snedegar, Anna Macon Warde, Ruth Jones, Permele Byrd, Virginia Bledsoe, Sarah Ford.

Each hall elected its own president to serve the entire year. This girl, elected by her hall, automatically becomes a member of Council of Proctors which shall meet once every two weeks. This Council called the House Council. This board elected from its body a president (Marion Seay) and secretary (Easter Souders), and the vice-president of the Student Council acts as ex-officio member of the board and reports all punishments given and actions take to the Student Council.

The duties of the Hall Presidents are

1. That of maintaining absolute quiet during study hours.
2. That of maintaining quiet after 10:30 p. m.
3. That of turning light out on the hall at 11:00 P. M.
4. That of giving permissions
   a. All light permissions
   b. All study permissions.
5. A record must be kept of all permissions given and the dates on which they were given.
6. That of attending the meeting of the House Council which shall be held every two weeks.
7. That of doing all in her power by conscientious example and effort to promote and maintain a high sense of honor and citizenship responsibility on her hall and in all with whom she comes in contact.
8. a. The duties of the President of the House Council shall be the same as those of the other Hall Presidents.
   b. She shall call and preside at all meetings of the House Council. In case of her absence the vice-president of the Student Council.
9. The duties of the secretary of the House Council shall be the same as those of all Hall Presidents. She shall record the proceedings of the House ouncil and keep a permanent record of the same; also, she shall submit a complete bi-weekly report of the meetings to the ex-officio member of the House Council.

S. T. C. HAS VERY ENTHUSIASTIC PEP MEETING THURSDAY NIGHT!

Freshmen Initiated Into School Spirit of Alma Mater by Upperclassmen

The gym was the scene of more pep and school spirit, Thursday night, than has been displayed at S. T. C. for a number of years. Etta announced at supper Thursday that all freshmen were to assemble in the auditorium at a quarter to ten, and all upperclassmen were to come to the gym at ten o'clock that night. No one knew what was going to happen until ten o'clock that night.

The upperclassmen found the gym lavishly decorated in the class colors, green and white, and red and white. Etta announced that they were going to initiate the freshmen into our school spirit.

Promptly at ten o'clock Laura N. Smith, president of the junior class, led the freshmen into the gym to the strains of "Onward Farmville" played by Miss Virginia Potts, and Lucille Graves at the pianos, and Adele Hutchinson at the drums.

Etta, acting as cheer and song leader, led the classes in the college songs and yells, after which she led the student body in a snake dance out on the campus. Everyone reassembled in the gym and sang "Alma Mater." One student was heard to remark, "I never knew what our Alma Mater meant until tonight." This remark was typical of the feeling and enthusiasm shown at the pep meeting.

Student Body Numbers Eight Hundred Girls

The enrollment of S. T. C. this years is 800. The respective classes are numbered as follows: 94 Seniors; 118 Juniors; 265 Sophomores; 323 Freshmen.

There are girls registered for the first time from forty-two different institutions; thirty-four classical colleges, junior and senior, four teachers colleges and four universities are represented. The girls come from Virginia, North Carolina, West Virginia, South Carolina, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Missouri, Georgia, Kentucky, District of Columbia, and Canada.

"SING" ATTRACTIVE

"Enjoyed by everyone" — That's what can be said of our Sings. Last Saturday night Etta Marshall captivated her audience with a delightful reading. Pearl Johnson carried the student body off into a world of music as she played "Kitten on the Keys."

To have seen Adele Hutcheson performing in her clown suit would have changed any pessimist to an optimist.

Jessie Smith and Alice Adams, dressed in outfits that characterized their parts, sang "Down By the Old Mill Stream"—and nearly did fall down—but not by the old mill stream.

"Toodles" 'Booth with her balloon dance was "plenty good."

But there's something amiss! We haven't spoken of Nancy Nelms! Yes, Nancy was back—with her banjo and her songs we all love so well. Nancy played and sang a number of songs. She ended with "Big City Blue."

THE BAND BOX SHOPPE OPENS AT WEYANOKE

The Band Box Shoppe is the new dress shop just across the street from college which is run by two S. T. C. alumnae, Miss Erna Shotwell and Miss Eula Harris. They were once "in our shoes" so to speak, and they know just what we want to complete our wardrobes. If it is a sport dress, an inexpensive flannel, a dainty frock or perhaps accessories such as gloves, purses, hats and hose, you can find what you want there. Then, too, the Band Box Shoppe has a complete line of most attractive lingerie.

The Band Box Shoppe is operated on a cash basis in order to give their customers a maximum of service at a minimum price. Thus, the saving that accrues from the elimination of bookkeeping can be directed toward improving and increasing the quality and quantity of materials.

However, a credit system can be established if students of the college demand it.

We want to congratulate the Band Box Shoppe on its fine beginning and assure them of our support and best wishes for every success.

NEW MEMBERS OF DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic Club wishes to announce the following new members:

Jenilee Knight
Elizabeth Rawls
Permele Byrd
Frances Martin
Eloise Davis
Verina Greaves
Sara Wills

Deans' List For Fall Quarter, 1929

Anthony, Mary
Bowen, Mary Ollie
Bowyer, Eloise B.
Graves, Lucille
Gurley, Virginia
Harper, Janice M.
Mason, Harriet B.
Moran, Grace Browning
Newton, Mary Elizabeth
Norman, Lucille
Owen, Ruth Esther
Pollard, Annie Crowder
Richardson, Gertrude Pauline
Smith, Laura M.
Somerville, Betty Guy
Stump, Ann Carrington
Tally, Nellie
Thompson, Lucy
Vaden, Mary Jane
Wilson, Frances Anne

Requirements of Dean's List: A. or B. on all subjects for preceding quarter (except floor work in phyisical education, a C is allowed on this), and an average of not less than C for the three previous terms. Whenever any grades fall below B, the student's name shall be dropped.

39567

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 33, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

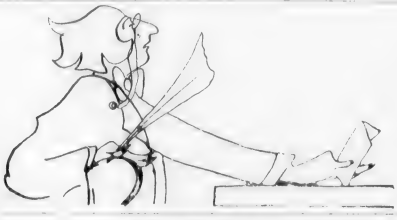
Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor

Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '30

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 — JESSIE SMITH, '31
Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31



Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. Thsse will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Our Joan of Arc

The ashes of Joan of Arc were thrown into the Seine five hundred years ago. At the same time, her spirit entered into the bodies of men. It has quickened and softened their hearts and inspired and elevated their minds; it has convinced them of their close kinship with God. It is her spirit which for many years has been the greatest influence on the life at S. T. C. When we enter the College for the first time we become aware of a personality, a silent participant in all our activities. And yet, it is through this silence that her voice is heard. Who has not while in the midst of conversation and laughter or in the midst of melancholy self-analysis, unconsciously glanced at the statue of Joan and been encouraged to aspirt to fields of high endeavor?

Let us not think of Joan of Arc as a spirit, mysterious and remote, but as a very near companion who daily sets an example for us to follow. It is true she died five hundred years ago; it is, also, true that she still lives in the heart of S. T. C. May her example in nobility of character, and simplicity of life, lead us to drop all pretense and artificiality. Like her may we have courage in our own convictions; and may we use our lives, as she, for service to others.

To the incoming Freshmen of 1929, we "old girls", would say this: "Through Joan we have heard the "voices"; you, too, will hear them. May all of us heed the voices and forgetting self-interests, broaden our interests and actions to include everyone at S. T. C.—and even the whole universe."—C. M. H.

The Call for Volunteers

In the recent World War the first call was for volunteers. Young men went forward gladly, willing to give their best to the country they lived in. It was something to be proud of—this glorious country of ours therefore it made the struggle the more worth while.

All the men who went were not patrons of excellence. Some were slower on the tigger than others. Some could not hold out long on account of physical strength, yet each gave his all accompanied by a stout heart that made his bit count.

Today at S. T. C. we have something to fight for. We want to surround our college with glory and fame. A wonderful chance is given in the athletic field. The need is not only for the best athletes, but for those who are interested and willing to try. The coach does not expect all of us to be Hercules and Mercuries in the game, but she does expect, and respects, effort and clean sportsmanship.

Not only will the college be better benefitted by our participation in spirts, but we ourselves will feel better, become stronger, and will be in a better position to help build up the physical condition of pupils whom we may teach.

All of us can never be star athletes, but there are some of us, who may have the makings of one, if we would give ourselves a try out. Regardless of that ability the great thing is to remember—

"For when the Great Scorer comes,
To write against our name—
It matters not whether we won or lost
But how we played the game."

KATHLEEN WOODSON

PRAYERS

Every night after supper the Y. W. C. A. conducts a service known as prayers. This is a splendid opportunity for each of us to spent a few minutes each day in worship. The service lasts only for ten or fifteen minutes and it is well worth our time to go. If you go once you will go again. Go and you will help the service and it will help you.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER UNION HAS MEETING

(By Alyce Harrison, president)

Our Council meeting began Friday night at 7:30 and lasted through church on Sunday morning. Several people inquired "what on earth we were doing all that time," but every single minute was filled to the brim with things to do and to think about.

We met in the Student Lounge the first night, and occupied about a half hour getting acquainted with new members, and talking with old ones. Then Raynard opened the meeting with I. John, Ch. 1. During the other four sessions of the conference he read the other four chapters of this book. Then we discussed the group work being carried on the various campuses represented. Mr. Sedam, from national headquarters, gave many suggestions as to how we coud more effectively do work in our own schools.

We had a business meeting all Saturday morning. Lloyd Arehart gave a report of the National Conference he had attended, and many point he made were discussed and decided upon. Bird Talbot, vice-president and, accordingly, chairman of Deputations, asked for the aid and suggestions of all present as to how these were to be carried on this year. All realize that this is one of the most important phases of our state work. Louise Scott presented last year's budget, and several charges were made in it, including the addition of $90, for this year.

Saturday afternoon we held a short meeting in the ministerial cabin at Hampden-Sydney, when several of the officers told their plans for the coming year. We soon adjourned, however, to attend the football game.

After supper we worked until nine o'cock, when we went down to the Presbyterian church for the last half of the "aeroplane party."

We met for the last time Sunday morning at 9:30. Mr.Sedam conducted a short devotional period. Afterwards the Council went to the Presbyterian Church for morning services.

We wish to extend our heartiest thanks and appreciation to Miss Mary, Mrs. Tabb, Adele, and Florence Booten, for making the Council feel that S. T. C. is a delightful, interested and hospitable place.

VOTE FOR VANITY FAIR

A somewhat different plan is to be followed this year in choosing our representative girls for Vanity Fair.

The nominations are to come from the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes, and the voting by the student body, and will be carried on at a table in the hall. This plan has been adopted because the staff of the Virginian feels that the upperclassmen, knowing the girls as they do, are better able to select more representative candidates.

Upperclassmen, remember that the Virginian is your annual, and nominate your candidate.

Freshmen, muster your school spirit, take an interest in what will be your first annual and vote for the girl you think is best fitted for each particular honor. The Virginian staff is expecting a hundred per cent vote of the student body for Vanity Fair.

WHO ARE THEY?

There are some we love in life
There are some in whom we trust
And some in whom we can confide
Because we know they are just.

These are the dearest on earth to us,
When we think of those who are true
Because then we have only them
Just them, the faithful few.

We may cause them much worry
Just to put them to the test
But when it is all over
They have proved to be the best

Now consider, then reconsider
Just who these people are
Why! they are our friends
Who surpass the rest by far.

Then let us always be to our friends
As true as true can be
For 'tis then and only then
We're at last and conscience free.

S. E. O., '32

THE DOOR OF DREAMS

It is open at last before you—
The door of your greatest dreams,
Behind it lies a wealth of gold
That the sun envies its gleams.

There's a certain fame to be won in college,
In scholarship, athletics and other fields too,
And the realization of the goal you seek
Lies entirely within you.

It isn't all work in the college world,
Nor is it composed of play.
There are smiles and tears, hopes and fears
To be met along the way.

But whatever may come in the land of school—
The vision must be held always,
For the dream of the trail at the rainbow's end
Should be with us to the close of our days.

On the sea of opportunity,
Sail our dream ships of silver and gold.
See that the cargo is loaded
With the finest things life can hold.

When college days are over,
You will be proud of your four years' gain,
And the sacrifices made each day
Will prove the door of dreams not in vain.

K. W., '30

HELPFUL HINTS FOR FRESHMEN

Be sure to be noisy in the hall by the postoffice, it helps the postmistress to put up the mail more quickly.

Pop chewing gum in the library, it helps the others concentrate.

Come to the dining room in your pajamas and without hose. Miss Mary just loves that.

Leave the dining room early. Avoid the rush.

Wear your gym suits to get packages from the postoffice.

Tack your pictures on the wall, they stay up better.

Hang over the Rotunda on date night; it helps the Campus League.

Be noisy in chapel. It's also a good place to read your letters.

Carry hymn books out of chapel. You can leave them in your room.

When you are too tired to walk up the steps, by all means use the elevators.

Go through the reception hall on date nights, it helps to make confusion.

Wear tan hose and chew chewing gum when you go to Miss Iler's class. You will make a hit with her.

S. T. C.

Farmville, Farmville, dear old Farmville,
School of our girlhood days
To thee, our Alma Mater,
We lift hearts of love and praise.

When summer months come to an end
And autumn leaves begin to fall,
We hurry back, O Farmville,
To the shelter of thy walls.

Through September, October and November
We strive and work to learn;
Until December brings us the holidays
We've labored so hard to earn.

Classes and examinations are over,
So we turn our faces toward home.
There to enjoy the Christmas season
With friends and loved ones, our own.

But as December ebbs away,
Our joyous days will cease
Then we gladly return to S. T. C.,
Our store of knowledge to increase.

Through the winter months we toi',
Until examination time has come.
We finish these up with a hearty will
And wait for the teachers' "well done."

But ere our reports can reach our homes,
We hear our President say:
"You may have an Easter holiday,
Provided you're inclined that way."

We take these days and use them,
Though they are short and few,
Then we come back to school again
With courage and vigor anew.

We cast aside the indoor sports
And give baseball full sway.
We work with a never-ending grit
To make our colors win "the day."

The spring brings hikes and picnics,
And other sports galore.
We only long for other things
When these can be no more.

But as is the case in every line,
"Good things must come to an end."
So we lay these aside and struggle
Our college grades to mend.

Then comes the sad, sad time
When S. T. C. days will cease
When we have said our last good-bye
And departed for home in peace.

We cast one longing look behind,
And wonder if we'll ever be
At another place we love so well,
As dear old S. T. C.!

S. E. O., '32

SOLITUDE

Up to the mountain of mystic blue
Where its breast heaves and touches the sky,
And clouds like froth on a wrathful sea
Float down, on its crest to lie,
I go alone in quest of peace,
My life to sanctify.
I seek the quiet of the forest deep,
The shade of the foliaged trees,
And like a happy elfin child
Cast sorrows to the breeze.
I see the lofty, rising peak
Pierce the smoldering setting sun,
And with my eyes to God upturned,
I kneel in prayer when day is done—
In thanks for solitude.

R. Foyd, '32.

NEW MEMBERS OF PI GAMMU MU

Virginia Gamma Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu takes pleasure in announcing the following new members:

Martha Anthony
Claudia Fleming
Antoinette Parker
Elizabeth Taylor

SOCIAL

Miss Lucy Dortch spent the week-end in South Hill.

Miss Doris Walker spent the week-end at her home in Roanoke.

Miss Dorothy Anderson spent the week-end at her home in Danville.

Misses Elaine Goode visited in Richmond last week-end.

Miss Harriet Mason spent the week-end at her home in Lynchburg.

Miss Regina Beaven visted in Crewe last week-end.

Misses Suzanne Holland and Frances Thornton spent the week-end at William and Mary, Williamsburg.

Misses Alice Covington, Marguerite Swann and Vernie Oden attended the dances at V. M. I. last week-end.

Miss Ruth Agee spent the week-end at Alcoma.

Miss Elizabeth Carter spent the week-end in Ashland.

Miss Hanna Crawley spent the week-end at her home in Cumberland.

Miss Frances Hutchins spent the week-end R. M. W. C., Lynchburg.

Miss Loulie Milner spent the week-end at her home in Lynchburg.

Misses "Jackie" Woodson, Nancy Nelms, Jane Hunt Martin, Mary Baldwin, Marguerite Foster and Greenhow Parker were vistors at S. T. C. last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elmore are receiving congratulations on the birth of a fine daughter. Mrs. Elmore was formerly Mary Christian Royall, president of the student body 1927-1928.

DEBATE CLUB TEAS

The Debate Club entertained at a tea in the Student Building lounge on Monday afternoon from 5 to 6. The guests included about 130 members of the freshman class. This tea was the first of a series to be given by the club for the freshmen. It is hoped that these teas will help to create an interest in the club and its activities.

Soon after the other teas have been given, an opportunity will be given to those freshmen who would like to become members, to try out for the club.

MANY ALUMNAE FOLLOWING TEACHING

The teaching addresses of some of the 1929 degree graduates:

Elizabeth Atwater, Prince George.
Louise Beasley, Charlotte, N. C.
Catherine Bentley, Kingcrest Parkway, Richmond.
Henrietta Binford, Hopewell.
Mary Elizabeth Bowers, Colonial Heights, Petersburg.
Dorothy Brantley, Courtland.
Katherine Bully, Phoebus.
Florence Carmine, Norfolk.
Emily Carter, Courtland.
Marjorie Carter, Millboro Springs.
Elizabeth Casey, Hopewell.
Rebecca Cocks, North Staunton.
Anna Cahoon, Warrenton, N. C.
Alfred Collins, Norfolk.
Isabel Crowder, Surry.
Lelia DeShazo, Darvills.
Margaret Ann Dunton, Smithfield.
Mary Elizabeth Eggleston, Winston-Salem, N. C.
Nancy Marie Elder, Isle of Wight county.
Marguerite Erdman, Upperville.
Anne Ferree, Lake Junaluska, N. C.
Margaret Finch, Greenville, S. C.
Louise Foster, Norfolk.
Lois Fraser, Ford.
Gladys Fraughnaugh, Grundy.
Thelma Garrett, Covington.
Fannie Graniger, Student Assistant University of N. C., Chapel Hill.
Frances Hamner, Bowling Springs.
Gwendoline Hardy, Covington.
Carolea Harris, Norfolk.
Martha Henderlite, Hampton.
Ann Holladay, Kenbridge.
Margaret Johnson, Arlington.
Anna Ham Jones, Hilton Village.
Anna V. Jones, Staunton.
Hilda Ligon, Campbell County.
Lucille Logan, Crewe.
Josephine Lyne, Gordonsville.
Peggy Madison, Applegrove.
Juliet Mann, Kenbridge.
Lora Manson, Roanoke.
Lavalette Morton, Landrum, S. C.
Betty Moses, Student, Columbia University.
Penelope Murdock, Crewe.
Virginia Raine, Spring Garden.
Ruby May Ramsey, Moneta.
Elizabeth Rawls, Powhatan.
Lillian Rhodes, New London Academy, Forest.
Virginia Robertson, Whitmell.
Virginia Rucker, Isle of Wight.
Sammy Scott, Dante.
Gertrude Shepeard, Norfolk.
Anna Ruth Snellings, Wilmington, N. C.
Edna Terry, Dayton.
Bernice Terry ,Amelia.
Evelyn Thompson, Collierstown.
Mary Elizabeth Thrift, Unionville.
Marguerite Trimm, Union Level.
Doris Tucker, Crewe.
Catherine Watts, Blackstone.
Ida Whyte, Norfolk, Va.
Gladys Wikinson, Midlothian.
Ethel Willey, Norfolk.
Frances Willis, Norfolk.
Julia Wilson, Ameia.
Katharine Womack, Methodist Orphanage, Richmond.
Emma Woods, Craddock.
Frances Roberts, Great Bridge.

HOCKEY SEASON BEGINS

Hockey season started Monday, September 23rd, and are we glad!—well how? Just come out on the athletic field any afternoon at 4 o'clock and you will see! We are expecting everybody out because we want to make this hockey season go over with a bang! and be the best we have ever had. So come on and let's go!

VARSITY TRY-OUTS FOR HOCKEY BEGIN

Now that hockey season has really started, we must begin working on our varsity. There are going to be varsity try-outs every afternoon this week at 5 o'clock. Come out and try even though you may not know the game as well as you should like to, because you know you all need polishing up. After trying out for a week, Miss Iler will pick the varsity squad, and they will begin working hard to make a varsity that you will be proud of and one that will give Westhampton fits. Everybody come out and let's make that old sod hum.

TENNIS LADDER TOURNAMENT

In this type of tournament names of entrants are placed on slips of paper and put in a box. As a name is pulled out, it is placed on the ladder which is numbered one two, three, etc., on a paper according to the total number entered.

The rules of the tournament are that anyone may challenge any of the three people ahead of her, and, if successful in defeating that person, takes her place, while the person defeated drops back to the place of the other individual. If you are challenged you must either play within one week from the time you received the challenge or default. The best two sets out of three wins the match.

For instance, if No. 4 should challenge No. 2, then No. 4 should put a slip behind No. 2's name stating the place to meet to discuss the matter. The loser should put the results in Miss Iler's mail box so Dot Thompson, head of tennis can attend to any change on the Ladder.

This tournament is to be conducted through the year and the student who is No. 1 at the end of the school year will be considered the school champion.

Be sure to sign up if you play even a little. You have the whole year to improve your game.

SOMETHING TO WRITE HOME ABOUT

Nickels, pennies, dimes and quarters have a way of going though we often try to stop them, so be on the safe side and write home all about October 10. Tell Mother and Dad that the money, one dollar and sixty-five cents they send you for that day will go for something that all who see will say, "It is good!" You, yourself, after a glance in the mirror, will say, "It does look sorta' like me!" So do not forget to write home for that dollar and sixty-five cents because the photographer, Mr. Sedill, will be here October 10 to take the picture for the annual. Have your picture taken. The Virginia wants you to be represented in it.

PATRONIZE TEA ROOM

The Tea Room was first opened in November, 1921 under the management of Mrs. Smith. Its purpose is to serve the students of S. T. C. and at no time in its history has it been better fitted than now to met our needs. Here we may find school supplies such as notebooks, pencils, pens, ink and paper, as well as eats of various kinds. Regular meals are a specialty.

We should feel especially obligated to support the Tea Room since it is operated for the benefit of the Student Building. Let us evidence our spirit of cooperation and loyalty to our school by patronizing the Tea Room.

Novelty Jewelry at

The Band Box Shoppe

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Quality—Price—Service
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You With Us
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

FALL SHOWING OF
HATS
THE HAT SHOPPE
Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES
Farmville - - - - Va.

CANADA DRUG CO.
Next to Baldwin's Store
Come to us for your cosmetics and
STATIONERY
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Falconer Gift Shop
Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving
COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE
Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh films)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S
is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP
Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials
110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS
Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop
323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY
The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP
Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING , CLEANING
PRESSING
Farmville - - - - - - - - - - Virginia

WELCOME S. T. C. GIRLS!
Opening week special, full fashion Onyx Chiffon Hose $1.00

Make this store your store. We are leaders in style at the lowest possible cost.
New Rumble Seat Coats, snappy walking oxfords, the best silk hose to be gotten, Allen A, Onyx and Gold Stripe, every pair guaranteed or a new pair.
Beautiful dresses of satin crepe, sik tweeds, Jersey and transparent velvet.
And a thousand other things girls love to wear.

OPEN A CHARGE ACCOUNT

Bigger, better than ever.

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Old Man Catapult (springing on Young Crowbar): "See here, young fellow, I want you to stop prying around my daughter, Ellen!"

Young Crowbar (wrenching himself loose): "Sir, cannot lever alone!"—Pitt Panther.

Mildred Field: "I got insomnia."

Alice .H "How come?"

Mildred Field: "I woke up three times during the last class period."'—Lampoon.

He: "Shall we walk or take a taxi?"

She: "I'm tired. Let's walk."—Frivol.

Young Man: "Lady, may I trouble you to rise. You're sitting on my hand."

Ellen Fowlkes: "How dare you!"

He: "But I'm sure I laid my cards there."'—The Owl.

Me: "Say did you see that good looking mamma I had out last night?"

It: "Well, what about it?"

Me: "She sure had affectionate eyes."

It: "What do you mean, affectionate eyes?"

Me: "Well, I tell you, its this way. They're always looking at each other."—Arizona Kitty Kat.

"Which would you prefer in your future husband—wealth, ability or appearance?" asked E. Good.

"Appearance, my dear," replied Munt, "but he's got to appear pretty soon."

Etta: "I'm delighted to see you, Snooty. I've heard so much about you."

Snooty: "You can't prove anything."

M. Swann: "Is the registrar in?"

"Nope, she just went out for lunch."

Swann: "Will she be back after that?"

"Not likely; that's what she went out for."—Columbus.

Crowd: "Hey! Sit down in front!"

Assistant Manager: "Quit yer kidding. I don't bend that way."—Lampoon.

Pure: "I asked her for a kiss without avail."

Tan: "I don't like kissing through those things either."—Sour Owl.

Alice Covington: "Hello, old fellow! What college do you go to?"

He: Notre Dame School."

Alice: "Well, well, that's too bad, but I wouldn't swear about it."—Judge

Frosh (observing bowlegged co-ed): "Santa Claus sure played a dirty trick on that girl."

Soph: "Why?"

Frosh: "Look what he put in her stocking."—Mampus.

Doug.: "How many time have we kissed tonight?"

Mary: "Twice. Remember when I had to answer the door bell."—Stone Mill.

REQUIREMENTS FOR AN S. T. C. MONOGRAM

To obtain an S. T. C. monogram you must pass the physical education test and have a total of 400 points. In addition you must have an average of "C" for the two preceding terms and also a high standard of sportsmanship. Whop it up, girls, and come out to practice!

WORLD NEWS

"Human ugliness is waste!" With this slogan the city of Berlin has established the first Advisory Bureau of Social Cosmetics.

The Bureau will try earnestly and scientifically to render reasonably presentable poor folk who are now too repulsive in appearance to get work.

One case, for instance, among the pitifully ugly and poor who has applied to the Bureau is a half-starved seamstress who had had no clients since her face has been covered with large nauseating warts. The government is now keeping her up until the warts have been removed. Then it is hoped that she will win back her trade.

The Graf Zepplin arrived at Friedrichshafen, Germany, on September 4th after having made a trip around the world from Friedrichshafen in 20 days and 4 hours, one day and 3 1-2 hours less than she took in flying from Lakehurst to Lakehurst around the globe.

The most foreign-policied President since Woodrow Wilson is Herbert Hoover. In six months in office he has stirred up a new naval disarmament to-do, and last week he opened up another question, discarded not so long ago: U. S. adherence to the World Court.

Mrs. Coolidge is authorizing too. Young John is the only strong silent member left in the family.—Dallas News.

A New York physicist claims no two objects in the universe can be separated by more than 54,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles. That fellow has never travelled a detour.—Jacksonville Journal.

A delegation of American citizens of Arabic origin asked Stimson, Secretary of State, to use his good offices to procure abandonment of the Jewish homeland project in Palestine, and the establishment of a representative Arabic government, saying the problem in Palestine is a conflict between Arab nationalism and Zionism.

NEW OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED MONDAY

Due to the fact that Virginia Pettigrew, associate editor of the Rotunda, did not return to school, and Suzanne Holland, treasurer of the student council, had to resign on account of ill health, it is necessary to re-elect these two officers. They both hold very important positions in the routine of our school life and we should be careful whom we select to step into the shoes of these two girls. The election will take place Monday night at student body meeting, and we wish to advise the student body to be seriously considering candidates for the office, who will be a credit and help to us.

ELIZABETH ETHERIDGE LEADS MORNING WATCH

Elizabeth Etheridge led morning watch Sunday morning in the Student Buiding lounge. Her theme was the beautiful vision that Helen Keller could see through her ideals. This unusual personality could see what really counted better than most of us who have eyes for visions. Most of us are blinded by our own thoughts of self.

The service ended with the Y. W. motto.

14 CLUB ANNOUNCES NEW MEMBERS

The 14 Club has the honor of announcing the following new members: Martha Sanders, Toodles Booth, Margaret Gothright, Frances Parker, Louise Ellis, Budsey Carter, Frances Hutchins, Medora Ford, Gazelle Ware, Margaret Vincent, Lillian Hogan, Edith Jones, Martha Moore, Milisia Mullens, Anne Huddleston, Jane Beale Alice Hardaway, Pattie Ellison, Nannie Belle Clendenin, Martha Walters, Ella Simms Clore, Rena Robertson.

HOCKEY SCHEDULE

	MON.	TUES.	WED.	THURS	FRI
4 P. M.	Upperels'm'n	Fresh	Upperels'm'n	Fresh	Fresh
	Varsity	Varsity	Varsity	Varsity	Mono
5 P. M.	Try-out	Try-out	Try-out	Try-out	Practice

SORORITY RUSH RULES

I. Rushing shall start two weeks after school opens in the Fall Quarter. There shall be no relations with freshmen during these two weeks. Explanation of "no relation"—from the day school opens in September until rushing officially begins, sorority girls must conform to strict rules in regard to their relations with freshmen and new girls. This is done to protect the over-conscieentious girl.

1. Sorority girls may speak to the freshmen on the halls and on the campus.

2. Sorority girls may not have any written communication with freshmen.

3. Sorority girls may not walk around the campus, nor down town, nor through the halls with freshmen.

4. There shall be no financial rushing. This includes patrons and friends.

5. Sorority girls may not visit freshmen's rooms at any time.

6. Sorority girls may not dance with freshmen in the recreation hall.

7. Sorority girls shall not wear their sorority jewelry during the first two weeks.

Note an exception to those rules may be made for girls on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet whose duty it is to help freshmen get settled. Also, on the night of the Y. W. . A. reception the "little sister"' plan shall prevail.

II. Rushing will continue for four weeks; the rush days shall be Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday from four to six P. M. There shall be the same relations between sorority girls and freshmen before and after the hours as were held the first two weeks of school.

During rush hours, a sorority girl may not mention the name of her sorority or of any other sorority on campus. During rush hours a sorority girl may visit a freshman's room, go to the movie with a freshmen, or down town, or on the campus.

NEW N. B. B. O. MEMBERS

N. B. B. O. takes pleasure in announcing the following new members: Alice Adams, Virginia Gurley, Mary Trimyer, Margaret Rickertts, Catherine Marchant, Dot Thomas, Sue Deitrick, Alma Garlick, Retta Hardy, Mary Wilson Pugh, Bruce Nicholson, Nancy DeBerry, Grace Tritton, Pearl Johnson, Anne Minter, Dorothy Ritchie, Sara Willis, Jenilee Knight, Jane Royall, Elsie Burgess, Rene Greaves, Margaret Priest, Jacque Lee, Vernie Oden, Mary Randall, Dorothy Good'ce, Marion Seay, Dorothy Anderson, Jane Wiley, Doris Walton Madeline Lee, Ellen Jones, Martha Farris, Margaret Farris.

NEW MEMBERS OF THE CHORAL CLUB

Continued from page one

and plenty of talent, and in the expectation of getting both, the Choral Club takes great pleasure in announcing the following new members: Margaret Addleman, Edith Britt, Sue Casy, Linda Clark, Katherine Downing Sally Elliott, Catherine Ellison, Elizabeth Etheridge, Ruth Flippen, Elizabeth Folk, Rubie Hunt, Ruth Hunt, Anna James, Allie Kae Libby, Virginia Love, Sue Moomaw, Virginia Moore, Mary Priest, Nancy Putney, Anne Rice, Louise Scruggs, Martha Seabury, Helen E. Smith, Pauline Smith, Grance Tunstall, Jane Witt, Dindsay White.

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Oct. 7 to 12

Mon. and Tues.—Billy Dove with Antonio Moreno in "Careers." A Vitaphone picture. Is any price too big to pay for a career when happiness hangs in the balance? Her beauty alone stood between her husband's success and his dismal failure. Should she use it to sway his destiny? Billie Dove's greatest characterization. Seven screen favorites in the supporting cast! One of the finest pictures shown this season. Also serial Monday, and talking picture and News Tuesday.

Wed. and Thurs.—Louise Fazenda, Chester Conklin, Thelma Todd, James Ford and many others in "The House of Horrors," a Vitaphone picture. Now you can hear these screen stars talking and yelling and screaming in "The House of Horrors." Vitaphone takes you right inside this spook-packed house—into the eerie cellar—up into the ghostly garret—you'll hear noises that will scare the laffs out of you. Don't miss it! Also talking comedy.

Fri. and Sat.—William Haines, Joan Crawford and Karl Dane in "The Duke Steps Out," a talking picture. A sparkling romance of today. He swept all before him in the prize ring—he was the champ! And then a breezy, little co-ed looked at him—and he was down for the count! Bill Haines was never funnier or more attractive than as this battler who takes it on the chin from Dan Cupid! And when you see the alluring Joan Crawford, you'll fall for her too! A sound subject in colors will be extra attraction. Also News reel. Serial Saturday night only.

Admission prices — Nights, adults 35 cents, matinees 25 cents; children under 12 years old, 15 cents to each show.

IT PAYS TO DEAL
at
GREENBERG'S
DEPT. STORE
First in Style
Lowest in Price
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

McIntosh's Drug Store
New State Teachers College
STATIONERY
Farmville - - - Va.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL
CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony
Aesthetics, Etc.
REASONABLE TUITION RATES

Candy Department
Feature This Week!
PEANUT BRITTLE
Pound 10c
SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES
MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

DISPLAYING
Stylish
Dresses
Coats
Millinery
BALDWIN'S

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
The House of Quality
GYM OUTFITS for the COLLEGE GIRLS
Black Sateen Bloomers $1.50
White Broadcloth Shirts $1.00
Gym Shoes, Laced to toe $1.35
DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

Freshman Week To Be Observed October 14 to 19

ROTUNDA

Have Your Picture Taken For The Annual!!

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1929 No. 3

HATCHETT AND SMITH ELECTED TO NEW OFFICE

New Treasurer of Student Council and Associate Editor of Rotunda

At the student body meeting last Monday night elections were held for the refilling of two major offices—treasurer of the Student Government Association and associate editor of the Rotunda. The outcomes of the elections show that Mary Frances Hatchett will be the new treasurer of our Student Government and Jessie Smith the new associate editor of the Rotunda.

We all know that Mary Frances is competent to fill her new position. Her abilities were easily recognized for not only was she the choice of the student body but she has also found approval with the Home Department and Dr. Jarman, a necessary requisite for any nominee who runs for an office on our Student Government. Mary Frances has already shown herself a leader as president of the Athletic Association this past year, and we feel sure that she will carry over her pep and enthusiasm into this new position.

The Rotunda staff wishes to welcome Jessie Smith as its new associate editor. Most of us know that Jessie has already had experience in newspaper work both in High School and here at College where she has contributed much to Rotunda news. Her past experience and her present interest in journalism indicate that Jessie will make a splendid associate editor. We know that she will work hard and we hope that she will enjoy her new position.

Elections remind one of certain obligations and trusts which always go hand in hand with any type of self-government. As Etta suggested, the Student Government Association is of our own making and it is our duty to uphold and support its officers and the regulations they are trying to enforce. We have been given privileges this year in regard to study hours, etc. Let us not abuse them, but do our best to cooperate with our Student Council and help put them across.

LONGWOOD

Recreational Center of State Teachers College.

RESULTS OF VANITY FAIR ELECTIONS

The election for Vanity Fair, held on last Friday, was very successful. The vote polled was quite large, showing that the majority of the student body was interested in the annual.

The results were:

Most Beautiful	Virginia Gurley
Most Stylish	Lucille Graves
Most Cultured	Lucille Norman
Most Athletic	"Big Laura" Smith
Most Modern	Alice Covington
Most Intellectual	Lucy Thompson
Most Versatile	Mary Ellen Cato
Most Popular	Etta Marshall

The staff wants to thank the student body for their cooperation in making our feature section a success.

ALUMNAE HAS ARTICLE PUBLISHED

It will be of interest to the students of S. T. C. to know that one of her aumnae had an article printed in the September issue of "The Normal Instructor and Primary Plans." Miss Nettie Boynton, who completed her two-year course in the spring, 1929, submitted an article entitled "Reading Games" to this magazine, which was accepted and published on the page of "The Teachers' Help One Another Club."

Honors Courses Offered to Students

The faculty feels that the Dean's List has probably stimulated increasing numbers of seniors toward higher standards of scholarship, but that these students are not using the privilege of being absent from class recitations to carry on independent work.

Therefore, it has been suggested by the committee of the faculty that the students on the Dean's List be granted the privilege of entering upon work leading to graduation with honors in the fields of their major interests. Such honor courses would consist of the carrying out under the direction of the department of a definite undertaking in study, research, writing, or experimental teaching, beyond the work required in any class and of a nature satisfactory to the committee on Honor Courses.

It is believed that there should be some means such as the above whereby students of unusual ability may be afforded an opportunity for an incentive toward independent study and investigation beyond that of the average student, with the additional advantage of individual contact with the members of the faculty in the fields of their teachers' special investigations, training, and interests.

Normally such work as the above should extend throughout the senior year. Graduation with honors will mean that such work has been done with a high degree of efficiency in addition to the regular work of the student's course, which has been kept at the level of the Dean's List. The degree awarded such a graduate shall designate the subject of the honor work, and the honor graduates shall receive appropriate recognition as a group at the college commencement.

PERMELE BYRD IS CHOSEN VICE-PRESIDENT OF MONOGRAM CLUB

Due to the fact that Thelma Maddox failed to return to school this fall, the Monogram Club found it necessary to re-elect a vice-president. At a Monogram Club meeting Friday night Permele Byrd was elected to this office.

MISS JENNIE TABB RECEIVES HONOR

The American Association of Collegiate Registrars now has more than seven hundred members and will offer this year, for the first time, a Fellowship for Registrars who wish to take graduate work in the Registrar's Field; the Fellowship will amount to one thousand dollars.

Our registrar, Miss Tabb, has been appointed to the Committee on Fellowships, along with the Registrars of the following institutions: University of Minnesota, University of Chicago, Teachers College of Columbia University, and the University of Arkansas.

MR. GRAHAM SUCCEEDS MR. BRISTOW

Mr. Samuel L. Graham, successor to the late Mr. R. C. Bristow, has recently entered upon his duties as superintendent of the buildings and grounds of the College.

Mr. Graham, having had a commercial course at King's Business College, Raleigh, N. C., in addition to two years at Hampden-Sydney, is well qualified for the work. He was for a number of years a merchant at Kenbridge, Va., but for the past two years has been engaged in the tobacco business at Kenbridge, and other points.

Mr. Graham's wife and children expect to move to Farmville in the near future.

FORMAL OPENING OF "LONGWOOD" HELD SATURDAY

"Miss Mary" Hostess at Historic Home of General Joseph E. Johnston

For several weeks Longwood has been the one word whispered in the halls of S. T. C. Freshmen have been looking forward to the opening day that they might have the pleasure of seeing this beautiful place for the first time. "Ole" students have been even more eager because they have seen it and want to see it again. Their hopes were realized when on Saturday afternoon, October 5 "Miss Mary" was hostess at a reception for the College girls and others in Farmville.

Tea was served by the following girls: Adele Hutchinson, Etta Marshall, Lucille Graves, Eleanor Hogan, Mary Randall, Lucille Norman and Virginia Gurley. Afterwards we wandered through the spacious house and strolled about the lawn. We were convinced of the spendid choice of Longwood by Dr. Jarman as a recreation center for S. T. C.

Longwood was a part of the tract of and granted by George III. to Peter Johnston, the grandfather of General Joseph E. Johnston. The first building on this land was a log cabin with four rooms, built in a line. Afterwards the log house was replaced by "the old Johnston house," which was occupied by Peter Johnston. This house was Joseph E. Johnston. This house was burnt. Afterwards Samuel Woodson Venable, of Farmville, purchased this tract of land and his son, Nathaniel Venable, became the owner and built the house now standing.

The following from a sketch by William M. Thornton gives a picture of "Longwood" as it used to be:

"A broad level lawn, shadowed by spreading trees with grass growing long and green and thick up their very trunks . . . ; a big garden stretching away in the rear with democratic mingling of cabbages and roses and violets . . . . .; and in the midst, the old square house with its great wide hall and its high pitched rooms, dim and cool and fragrant, and its floors polished like mirrors and slippery as ice itself, and the stately old lady, with delicate white cap and black silk gown, serenly beautiful in her honored age—This was Longwood." Yet, even more beautiful it is today than formerly.

PHOTOGRAPHER COMING THURSDAY; DIFFERENT DAYS FOR EACH CLASS

Mrs. Sidel, the photographer for the Virginian, will be here on Thursday, October 10, to begin taking pictures.

A schedule has been worked out by which each class is allotted particular days for their pictures. The Freshmen will arrange to have their pictures made at some time on Thursday or Friday of this week, October 10 and 11. Saturday has been reserved for the girls teaching in the country and for rural supervisors. Monday and Tuesday, October 14 and 15, are reserved for the Sophomores. The Juniors are to arrange for their pictures on Wednesday, and the Seniors on Thursday.

Any girl who cannot find a convenient time to have her picture made on the day reserved for her classes, may make an appointment for some other day at the table in the hall on Wednesday afternoon and Thursday.

Pictures of the faculty will be taken on any day convenient for them, and their appointments may also be made at the table in the hall on Wednesday afternoon or Thursday.

S. T. C. DEBATE CLUB ENTERTAINS AT A SERIES OF TEAS IN STUDENT BLDG.

The Debate Club entertained the freshmen at a series of teas in the Student Building lounge from 5 to 6 p. m. on Monday, September 30, Wednesday, October 2, and Friday, October 4, respectively. The purpose of these teas was the creation of more interest in debate, oratory and ex tempore speaking as collegiate and intercollegiate activities.

Each afternoon after the guests were received refreshments were served and a short program rendered. The general scheme of the programs was as follows: a talk by the president, pose and activities of the club, the phases of work open to freshmen, and an announcement of try-outs, for memberships, which are to be held on Tuesday night, October 8. Dr. J. E. Walmsley then gave a few words of explanation concerning the entrance, try-out, membership and degree requirements, closing with a resume of the year's program for both collegiate and intercollegiate work. A musical selection was then rendered,

(Continued on last page)

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — JESSIE SMITH, '31

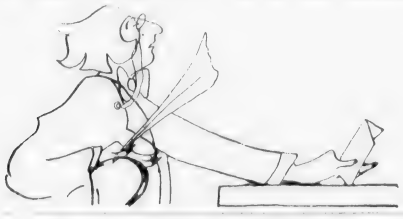
Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '30

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 — KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30

Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader — JESSIE WATKINS, '33



Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

The Ideals of Honor in College

For what better purpose could a college education serve than to instill into us the right ideals of living and esteem for only that which is honorable? College is a highway to life, work and achievements.

Among the many ideals which this college strives to preserve and promote in its students are promptness and fidelity to duty, and consideration for others. It endeavors also to maintain high moral and Christian standards, creating an atmosphere of earnestness.

Every student is placed on her honor, an encouragement to self-respect and responsibility, and it is here we learn that a truly successful career depends on truth, honor and consideration for each other.

Sulphide or Bromide?

Are you active or inactive?? Is your personality such that your enemies as well as your friends can tell what you're going to say before you have said it? Enter your personal laboratory. Conduct an experiment, the problem of which will read thus: "Am I a sulphide or a bromide?"

The truth is, when we start an experiment we usually try to explain the facts, found, in accordance with what we think should be true. So, with this personal scientific investigation of ourselves, we begin thinking, "I wonder which would be the proper thing to be; I don't know much about sulphides and bromides, except that bromides are calm, quiet and trustworthy, while sulphides are unreliable, sputtering, effervescent, and usually cause a perfect disorder. I guess I'd rather be a bromide!" Well, this seems to be, at first, a perfectly natural way of reasoning, but, on further consideration the problem appears slightly different.

Ask a chemist which he prefers having and he will probably tell you that bromides are safer to work with, but, for getting action he prefers the sulphides. You may argue that it is better to play safe even at the risk of lacking results. However, the chemists big aim is to get results, and this he works for, regardless of dangers, big or small.

What is true in the chemist's laboratory is true in life—for after all, life is a laboratory, in which each generation makes its search for truth and records its conclusions as a heritage for the future. but not one generation ever discovers all the truths in store. It is not the person who says and does the same things each time you see him that will amount to most. It is not the peron who will say, "Yes," when the crowd says "yes" and "no" when they say "no" that the world needs today—not the person who shows a self-sufficient reserve or a calm aloofness that is going to get much out of life or give anything to it. Rather, it is the sulphide type to which we must look for leadership. His ideas may not be any better than those of the bromide type in some instances, but he dares to put his best forward; he is not afraid of what people will say when he is acting according to his own convictions. He is an eager worker among his fellowmen.

Are you a sulphide or a bromide?—M. H., '31.

A PACKAGE SLIP

"Oh, goody, a package slip—not so bad after all! But, say, do I have to wait 'till all this line gets through before I get my package? The stuff mother sent will spoil while waitin'. 'Sh, sh, sh!'—Say what are they always saying 'sh' in this hall for? ? . . There, one less in line—oh, but that girl has a big package. Just you wait to see mine, though. It's going to be the biggest one; and what it won't have in it—well, I'm not saying."

"Hey, Jane, you got a package slip too? She? well, I'm talkin' under my breath, now. Remember, I'm your friend, Jane."

Five ahead of me yet—and I've been waitin' here half an hour. What was that we learned in English about patience and perseverance? S. T. C. gives a special course in both at the Post office.

Finally the line dwindles down to two. The other girl leaned on the plank; she stammers .I draw myself up straight and resolve not to break any Postoffice rules.

Oh, the other girl is gone. Before I realize I am stammering out the three named connected with Box 205. Miss Taliaferro retires to the back of the office and returns with a huge package. Well, this is worth waiting a half-hour for! I can hardly wait to open it. . . . . .

Looking down, notice that the box is for my roommate.

INTERESTING CHANGES IN S. T. C. SINCE 1914

In 1914, the classes in S. T. C. were: first, second, third and fourth years high school, Junior Class, Senior Class, third and fourth Professionals.

The president and vice-president of Student Government came from the Senior Class; two vice-presidents from the Junior Class and the secretary from the third or fourth year high school. The points stressed by this Student Government were: study hour (monitors being placed on each hall), conduct in public places, cheating, and defacing property especially papers in the reading rooms.

There were only five hundred students.

There were four literary societies and two debate clubs.

The gymnasium was under "gym hall" or where the Post office is now. The majority of the students danced in the "gym" every night after supper, the faculty attending on Friday nights.

The notices were read in the old dining room by the Home Department and the mail delivered at the tables.

There were no Student Building, no New Building, no Annex, no Post office, no librarians, no Tea Room, and no hockey!

The Cotillion Club had four dances a year, and elaborate figures for these.

There was only one cottage. It stood where the Student Building now is.

The Infirmary was over the library.

Greater emphasis was placed on such forms of sport as hiking and basket ball.

"SING," AN IMPROMPTU AFFAIR SATURDAY

In spite of the fact that the little boys who were to dance Saturday night, disappointed the program committee, we thoroughly enjoyed the impromptu program rendered. Alice Adams and Lois Hilton gave a most entertaining tap dance, and everyone enjoyed Pearl Johnson's playing. Dorothy Dudley played and sang "Maybe" and other selections. Someone was very wise in making a request that Etta play and sing. She sang several selections and we only hope we can get much more of the same quality. "Sing" was a big success on last Saturday night.

SHOES

N[illegible] scheduled carver and time and no lunch companion as yet! But that was the way with women. Never in time to anything or anywhere. I was becoming very disgusted with women as a whole and began to look at the different women that passed my way.

Some were trying to flirt, some giving the inquisitive look of "Who are you?," others a cool stare; a few "would be" kindly smile. As if I wanted a kind smile from a "skirt." I had a good mind to bust that date and go on to lunch by myself, but as she was the wife it wouldn't do at all. I would catch it at home if I did and I knew there would be no peace in the family for days if I did so I made up my mind to be patient and wait.

As my vile temper was sharpened by women, I started noticing them again but not their pert faces but to the other extremity entirely—their feet.

The first pair I noticed was a small pair of feet, neat looking in well kept tan oxfords with their comfortable crepe soles. Nice looking ankles and legs, too—now maybe I should say limbs, being a married man. My eyes traveled on up the person and I noticed a tired looking pale face. I judged that she was a shop girl and poorly paid as she was shabby, in dress and poise, too.

She passed on by and the next person I noticed was a large tall girl. Her feet were large and she wore cracked shoes. Her hose were coarse and shiny with a run sewed up over the ankle. as I looked at her again I saw that she was terrible cheap looking. Her coat was cheap, her hat, her face and gloves and pocket book were cheap—everything was cheap about her. No, I don't say for a moment that she could help it. Her parents were probably dead and she had to get out on her own hook and work. Maybe all the education she had had was the kind that teaches—five and five makes ten—give back a nickle and kept a nickle for a five-cent bag of candy. Yes, she certainly did look as if she worked in "Woolworth's" or "Roses" or some ten-cent store.

She passed on out of sight and the next person I noticed was an old lady. Her feet were long and boney and she wore high-top black shoes with her skirts coming just below the tops. She had a very sweet face and silvery white hair which reminded me so much of my mother only she was prettier and sweeter looking. This old lady's son thought the same thing about her as he thought about his mother.

My eyes followed her as long as she could be seen in the crowd and then she faded on away. My attention was drawn then by a beautiful girl alighting from a Packard roadster. She was a typical example of the idle rich. She was well-dressed and from the toe of her small brown high-heeled shoe to her close-fitting brown hat, she looker like "Miss Style" herself.

She was probably going to meet someone then and most probably she was late. It seemed to be a polite form of etiquette to be late to appointments, among the women. Why my wife was even late to her own wedding and kept the preacher and me waiting. Well I suppose she'll be late to her own death, too, and I hope she is. She is a sweet little thing even if she does keep me waiting for half an hour. Here she comes, maybe that's why I'm blessing her up instead of out!

—JAC MORTON,
College High School.

(Contributed by Students of College High School)

FACES

As you walk from day to day
Down miles of streets to places,
You chance to greet, but not to meet
Many unfamiliar faces.

There are many with lines of worry,
'tis true,
And some who are placed with the devil's crew,
Yet some hold the radiance of God's light—
Those are the ones we think of as right.

These and others you always see
You are one, I am one, we all have to be,
Yet we may not realize that in their places
These soon become familiar faces.

—Margaret Armstrong,

A BEAUTY INDEED

Lo what a beauty you have grown and so slender,
A glorious color with splashes of black.
To my hungry eye it does render
A desire which has never been the like,
Tired business men long for you
With your curves so round and feminine.
Children cry sometimes for you, too,
But to me now, you always will win.
If you are on the street and people try to walk on you
Even a Tom and Dick or a duchess
Will regret for in a certain way or place they will be blue,
You are the same to all more or less.
Oh! Enchantress, you are enticing me from my writing.
Reynolds with all his art couldn't make a picture finer of Lady Hannah
Than you with your perfumes so delicious and exciting.
Come, I must eat you, my pretty banana.

—Mary Diehl,

UNCLE PETE'S PHILOSOPHY

Chil'e can't you neber be content
Wid de weather dat is sent?
Here you is complainin'
'Bout it bein' rainin'.

And jes' de odder day,
I knows I heard you say,
Dat you couldn't have no fun
'Cause dere was too much sun.

Now dat aint right ob you
To get all flustrated laks you do.
But you jes' allus do ya bes'
An de Lawr will de de res'.

—Martha Scott Watkins,

"WELL DONE"

Life is not life if you know not Christ,
Christ and his wonderous gift;
Life is not life if you live for self
And no other's load you lift.

Christ's life was lived for his fellowmen,
To love them and help them too;
His hope was to show them the way of life
And the service that they could do.

God, give us the strength that we may be true
To Thee, our God and King;
That we may follow Thy plan for us
And the earth with Thy praise shall ring.

Then when we've finished Thy plan for us,
And we near the setting sun,
We can hear Thy voice with it's welcome sweet
When Thou sayest to us, "Well done."

—NELL STOKES,

SOCIAL

Misses Anne and Julia Drew spent the week-end in Burkeville.

Miss Annie Denit spent the week-end at her home in Salem.

Misses Elizabeth Smitherman, Jane Wiley and Mildred Owen spent the week-end in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Miss Louise Ellis spent the week-end in Ashland.

Misses Josephine Evans and Sue Crass spent the week-end at Concord Depot.

Miss Lois Dodd vistied in Lynchburg last week-end.

Miss Jane Reid Venable of Richmond, visited friends at S. T. C. last Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Gladys Clarke spent last week-end at Kenbridge.

Miss Hanna Crawley spent the week at her home in Cumberland.

Miss Nell Armfield spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Miss Jane Brown spent the week-end at her home in Salem.

Misses Frances Millican of Greensboro; Miss Anne Chapin of Newport News; Miss Virginia Raine, and Greenhow Parker, of Danville; Sarah Cross of Suffolk; Mable Fitzpatrick of Arrington; and Mrs. Walton of Danville visited friends at S. T. C., the past week-end.

Miss Louise Brame spent the week-end at South Hill.

Miss Sue Casey spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Misses Lula Mitchell, Julia and Frances Martin and Jacqueline Lee spent last week-end in Durham.

Miss Vernie Oden spent the week-end in Greensboro.

Miss Lela Germany spent the week-end with her sister in Lynchburg.

Miss Ethel Ficher spent the week-end at her home in Richmond.

Miss Hazel Burgwin and Marion Seay spent the week-end in Richmond.

Miss Louise Whitlock spent the week-end at her home in Milton, N. C.

Miss Mary F. Cassady visited in Lynchburg last week-end.

Miss Elizabeth Jordan spent the week-end in Richmond.

Miss Linda Wilkinson spent the week-end at Powhatan.

Miss Grace Rose visited at Evergreen the past week-end.

Miss Margaret Varner spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Miss Margaret Leonard spent the week-end at her home in Richmond.

Miss Emmaline Marshall spent the week-end at her home in Martinsville.

Miss Lucy Thompson visited friends in Victoria the past week-end.

Miss Madeline Lee spent the week-end at her home in Emporia.

DAVIS-DICKINSON WEDDING SATURDAY

The marriage of Miss Mildred Dickinson, former teacher of S. T. C., to Mr. Charles Hall Davis of Indiana, took place Saturday, October the fifth, at the chapel at Hampden-Sydney.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her unce, Dr. Asa D. Watkins of Hampden-Sydney, wore a gown of white satin. Her veil of tulle was caught at both sides with orange blososms. She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Emily Barksdale of Roanoke, who wore a crushed mulberry chiffon velvet gown and carried an arm bouquet of asters was the maid-of-honor.

The bridesmaids were Miss Esther Thomas, former teacher at S. T. C., and Miss Mary Stephenson, alumnae of S. T. C. They wore coral chiffon velvet gowns fashioned alike, and carried arm bouquets of asters.

A lovely reception followed the wedding at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Asa D. Watkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis will make their home in Indiana.

"Y" OFFERS BOOKS FOR USE OF STUDENTS

The "Y" cabinet would like to extend to the student body the privilege of using the books in the "Y" cabinet room. These books are very interesting, and will be a great help to those girls who lead prayers. The books to be found in the cabinet room are as follows:

"Light My Candle" Henry van Dyke, and Tertius van Dyke.

"The Christ of the Indian Road," E. Stanley Jones.

"Christ at the Round Table," E. Stanley Jones.

"The Campus Blue Bird," Ballow.

"The Book Nobody Knows," Bruce Barton.

"Students and the Future of Christian Mission," Detroit convention 1928, Gordon Poteat (editor).

"The Process of Group Thinking," Elliot.

"The Foreign Student in America," edited by Wheeler, King and Davidson.

"A Challenge to Life Service," Harris-Robbins.

"What's the Matter with Mexico?", Whitney.

"The Man Nobody Knows," Bruce Barton.

"What's the Matter in China," Elmer T. Clark.

"The Southern Mountaineers," Samuel Tyndall Wilson, D. D.

"The Master of the Heart," Speer.

"Parodology," E. O. Harbin.

"China Her Own Interpreter," Milton Stauffer (assembler and editor)

"Roads to the City of God," Matthews.

"An Indian Approach to India", (assembled and edited) Mitlon Stauffer.

"The New Paths for Old Purposes," Margaret E. Burton.

"Facing Student Problems", Bruce Curry.

"As Protestant Latin America Sees It," (assembled and edited) Milton Stauffer.

"The Bible and Missions," Montgomery.

"The King's Highway," Montgomery

"Courage," Jeannette Marks.

"Heart Stories," C. M. Sheldon.

"Student Standards of Action," Elliot-Cutler.

The Popular and Critical Bible Encycopedia, pamphlets—Vol. II and III.

"East of Suez," Helen Taylor.

"One of the Shining Ones," Persis Breed.

"Bargains," Jean Paxson.

"Saki, New Woman," Ruth Ragan.

"The Mask on the Loaf," Mary C. Nute.

"The Russian Chair in Stage-coach," Elizabeth Clark.

"Berry-go-round, the Orient," prepared by Foreign Department.

"Not So Very Different," Marian Ryder Robinson.

"Straford Books,"—summer 1927.

'The Various Angles of the Triangle"

"World Fellowship," the students of the U. S. for the students of the world.

"The Advisory Committee," Bertha Conde.

"Explorers," Marion Dudley.

"The Chalice and the Cup," Mary S. Edgar.

"Association Membership and the Church Work," Bertha Conde.

"A World Student Fraternity for Christian Liberty," James H. Lewis.

"Racial Relations and the Christian Ideal" discussion course for college students.

"Youth and Renaissance Movements," a discussion course.

"What Makes Up My Mind on International Question."

HORSEBACK RIDING IS AN ACCREDITED COURSE

Horseback riding is now an accredited course on the curriculum of the Michigan State Normal College. For the first time credit will be received for having a good time. Students may receive four hours credit or combine the riding with two hours tennis, archery, horse shoe pitching or swimming.—The Critograph.

WORLD NEWS

Wilhelmn says that if he goes back to Germany he will go back as Kaiser. He must like Holland.—Springfield (O.) Sun.

Agitation goes on steadily for the reform of our allegedly combersome and unweildy method of reckoning time. George Eastman of Rochester, New York, is one of the most ardent champions of the latest proposal which suggests the introduction of thirteen months of twenty-eight days each, with a day left over for some special holiday. The months would always begin on the same day, and business houses urge that many advantages would come from the orderly repetition of months and days.

They are organizing a United States of Europe. Wonder where the vice-president's folks will sit?—Jacksonville Journal.

Dr. McIlwaine has asked the Virginia state budget committee for a new state library. The weight of the additional 10,000 books each year may bring a floor colapse it is feared. The old building is too congested now, for proper administration. The desired site for the new library is the old Ford Hotel ot facing capital.

If you think it a simple matter to establish naval parity, try to determine how many cows equal six sheep. —Publishers Sydnicate.

Hand-made Handkerchiefs at "ALICE JANE"

The Band Box Shoppe

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

Quality—Price—Service

Come in and get acquainted

We're Glad to Have You With Us

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

FALL SHOWING OF

HATS

THE HAT SHOPPE

Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery

AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Farmville - - - - Va.

CANADA DRUG CO.

Next to Baldwin's Store

Come to us for your cosmetics and

STATIONERY

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE

Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Falconer Gift Shop

Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving
COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh films)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S

is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP

Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials
110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS
Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop
323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY
The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS

TAILORING CLEANING
PRESSING
Farmville - - - - - - - - - - Virginia

Now is the Time to Buy Your

FALL COAT!

Beautiful Fox fur trimmed coats $22.50 to $49.50.
New Flapper Skirts with and without suspenders, $2.50 to $4.95.

Sweaters to match skirts, $1.98 to $2.98.
3 piece Jersey Suits, all color combinations, special at $5.95.

"CHARGE IT"

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Mary (at end of quarter): "Now, that you've kissed me, Professor, what do you think?"

Prof.: "You'll fail. I need you in my class next quarter."

L. Munt: "What is your idea of nothing to do?"

Helen R.: "Having a date at S. T. C."—Oklahoma Whirlwind.

Ellen (entering room: "Don't I hear the clink of glasses? Say, kid, are you holding out on me?"

Liba D.: "Don't get nervous pod, that's only 'Al' Wimbish rolling her eyes at some poor boy."—Texas Ranger.

Snooty (at the prom.): "Would you mind if I danced the next one with Bill?"

V. M. I. Cadet: "Not at all, not at all!"

Snooty: "You needn't say it so enthusiastically."—Green Hat.

Etta Marshall: "Why do you keep going to the doctor? He said it was no longer necessary."

Blanche M.: "I'm reading a continued story in one of his waiting room magazines."

Adam was toiling home at the end of a hot summer's day, carrying his shovel and hoe, while little Cain trotted beside him.

On reaching the Garden of Eden, little Cain peeped through the palings and said: "Gee, Pop, I wish we lived here."

And Pop replied: "We did once, until your mother ate us out of a house and home."—Annapolis Log.

Ella Simms: "Hey! Don't you know there's a sick person around here? Cut out that talking will you?"

M. Walters: "Yeah! Who's sick?"

Ella Simms: "I am—sick of hearing you."

Boy Friend (in sorority chapter room): "How many controls are there on that radio set?"

Inmate of room: "Eleven—ten girls and the house president."

At last we have the definition of the familiar old phrase Biological Urge—a worm digging its way to the surface in spring.—Annapolis Log.

C. Norfleet: "There was a panic in the recreation hall Saturday night."

Reba French: "What, a fire?"

Clara: "No, the place was suddenly plunged into complete light.""—William's Purple Cow.

Joe College (at door of sorority house): "Is May in?"

Beautiful (but dumb) Pledge: "May who?"

Man (becoming exasperated): "Why, May O'Naise, of course."

Beautiful (but not so dumb) Pledge: "I'm sorry, but May O'Naise is dressing."—George Washington Ghost.

Toodles Booth (arrested for speeding): "But, your honor, I'm a college girl."

Judge: "Awfully sorry, little girl, but ignorance doesn't excuse anybody."

Lucille Graves: "Do you read Poe?"

Eleanor Hogan: "Naw—read pretty good."—V. M. I. Skipper.

Magistrate: "Didn't you see the 'Go Slow' sign?"

Student Culprit: "Yes, but I didn't think it meant the car."—Pitt Panther.

MONOGRAM HIKES ARE WELL ATTENDED

The Monogram hikes have started off with a bang. An unusually large number of girls have been taking these hikes on Saturday afternoons. One Saturday there were 40 who went the five miles afoot, and another Saturday there were between 20 and 30. It is hoped that there will be just as many girls this Saturday. It's lots of fun! Come out and hike with us!

TENNIS

Be a sport and sign up for the tennis tournament! As yet, very few girls have signed up, and we know there are many more interested in tennis.

In the type of tournament we are having this year, every kind of player has a chance. No player will be eliminated. Tournament experience will be valuable to those who have played very little. It's an opportunity for improvement. This is your chance! Get out your racquet and practice up!

NEW SYSTEM USED IN THE LIBRARY

Our library is one of the most popular places in school and might almost be considered a part of some of us. It will therefore interest everyone to learn, for instance, that 1245 new books have recently been added to our shelves.

Miss Snead, our new librarian, a graduate of Pratt Institute, is classifying the books under the Decimal System instead of the Cutter, the system used up until this year.

We need only glance in the reading room to see the latest clever device for holding magazines, which not only holds the magazines more securely, but also gives more working space.

Those of us who have been here awhile know that the library improves steadily year by year. We may well be proud of its growth.

ENROLL 2,351 AT UNIVERSITY OF VA.

University, Oct.—Every state in the union is represented among the 2,351 students who are enrolled at the University of Virginia in the largest enrollment in the history of the institution, president Edwin A. Alderman said yesterday at convention exercises held in Cabell hall marking the formal opening of the university.—The Lynchburg News.

CADETS CHOOSE LOCAL STADIUM

Blacksburg, Oct. 3—The Virginia Polytechnic Institute corps of cadets officially expressed its desire tonight that home-coming football game between Washington and Lee University and V. P. I., November 2, be played in Lynchburg.—The Lynchburg News.

V. M. I.-FLORIDA GAME TO BE PLAYED IN RICHMOND

The V. M. I.-Florida game will be held in Richmond next year. Major Blandy B. Clarkson chose the new Richmond stadium as the place for the struggle to be held on October 4, 1930. This year the game is to be played at Tampa, Florida, on Oct. 5. Under the contract signed between the two schools, the University of Florida had complete control of the designation of the gridiron for the contest of this year's field lies entirely to the Institute.

The Richmond Stadium, Inc., has already received and accepted the bid for the V. M. I.-Forida games, thus making it practically assured that no future change may occur in the location where it is to be played.—The Cadet.

CORRECTION

The following name was omitted from the Dean's List for Fall Quarter, 1929, which was published in the last issue of the Rotunda:

"Billie" Paris

OVER THE TEACUPS

Huh! Talk about work, why, my dear, she knows how to give it. Why I spent two hours in the library for her class. Yes—while I was there I read all the the "funny sheets" and —let me tell you I planned the cutest dress by one in The Vogue. It's precious! You know one of those kind—that fits you—oh, so snug, and I will [illegible] Clara Bow in the dark!

How 'bout Lucile and Emily being up for the most stylish girls in school! You know before I voted I flipped a coin to find out which was the most stylish. Wish they could have decided on two, don't you?

Yes, she did come to my room too! There were some girls in there who had just left their dates—with a box of candy! No—I guess we were making so much noise we didn't hear the bell—but kid, you'll never know the rapid beat of this child's heart when Etta came in!

The Rats? Why yes, they are a very cute bunch of children! You know who I've heard—that Melisse Mullins has had a date every time that it has been possible since she's been here. Cute men, too. Know what? I think I'll make a friend of her. And Frances Parker and her date—No—I mustn't tell you 'bout that—Ask her! Wonder if he liked her?

You know I've worried over Clara! Clara who? Why, Clara Norfleet! You know after you've been in several classes with her you wonder if she's like Peter Pan who never grew up. It must be terrible to be childish all your life even if you are cute!

Believe it or not but I'm gonna study tonite. I am—ah, I must be going! Did I tell you 'bout the brand new "Smart Set" and "Screen Romance" I have? Guess maybe I'll have time to read a story or two tonite, but I shall study first!

Well so long, girls. I enjoyed hearing you all talk so much!

IT PAYS TO DEAL
at
GREENBERG'S
DEPT. STORE
First in Style
Lowest in Price
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

McIntosh's Drug Store
New State Teachers College
STATIONERY
Farmville - - - Va.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL
CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony
Aesthetics, Etc.
REASONABLE TUITION RATES

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Oct. 14-19

MON. & TUES.—Loretta Young and Carroll Nye in "THE GIRL IN THE GLASS CAGE." A Vitaphone talknge picture. Something new! Something better! A new kind of drama! A new kind of mystery-play! A girl who would sacrifice her life to protect a boy's honor. A boy who was ready to sacrifice his honor to save her life. Seven villians! Two lovers! A hundred thrills in a mystery you'll never fathom; a sensational court room scene you'll never forget! Also news, and color singing classic. Serial Monday night only.

WED. & THURS.—Lon Chaney with Lupe Valez and Estelle Taylor in "WHERE EAST IS EAST" a Vitaphone picture with sound and music. This is an extra good picture where thrills are thrills! Where Chaney is Chaney at his superb best! Where romance, drama, action, surprise follow each other at bewildering speed! The kind of a picture that you will enjoy and remember because it is different from most other pictures you have seen and heard. As added attraction, we are showing talking picture, "Leaping Lover."

FRI. & SAT.—Norma Shearer in "THE LAST OF MRS. CHENEY," the finest picture she had ever made. A talking picture. You loved her in "The Trial of Mary Dugan" and you will be wild about her in the newest all talking hit! Men adored her. Women envied her. Through London's gilded society she wept, leaving a trail of broken hearts, and stolen jewels. Never has charming Norma Shearer had a role like this! The sparkling stage hit has ben made into a picture filled with wit, unexpected happenings, gay scenes. One of the finest pictures of the year. Also oddity and news reel. 14th episode of TARZAN Saturday night only.

Admission prices, matinees, adults 25 cents, nights 35 cents, children under 12 years old, 15 cents to each show.

"Y" NEWS

Morning Watch

Rena Robinson led morning watch last Sunday morning in the Student Building lounge. Rena showed the difference between the two interpretations of the Lord's Prayer. The services closed with the "Y" motto, "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit saith the Lord of Hosts."

Poetry Hour

The first Poetry Hour was held last Sunday evening at 6:45 in the Student Building lounge. Adele Hutchinson read to the girls around a log fire. Among the poems were "These Three" and "Does It" from "For You" by Miss Jennie M. Tabb.

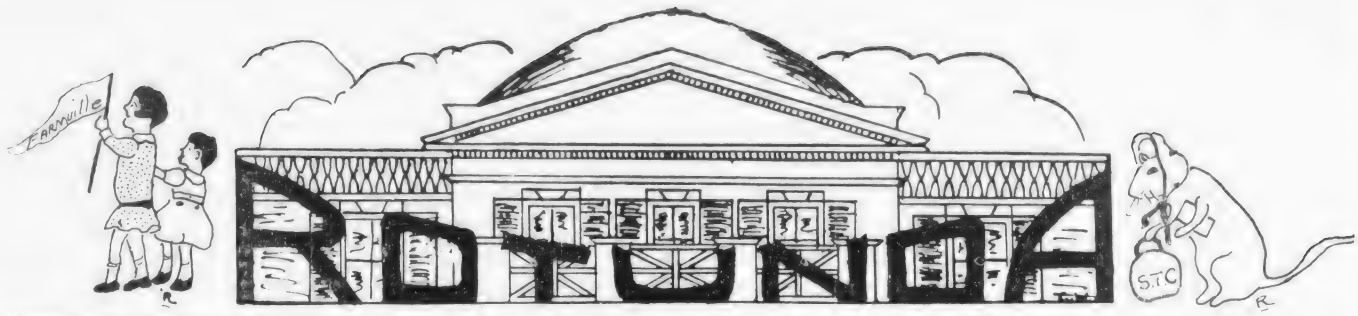
Open Cabinet Meeting

Open cabinet meeting was postponed until this Saturday, October 12, because of the opening of Longwood last Saturday.

S. T. C. DEBATE CLUB ENTERTAINS AT TEA

Continued from page one

by Jane Witt, followed by an equally bright reading by Frances Wilson. An introduction of club, council, and Pi Kappa Delta officers concluded the program.



The subjects to be used for membership try-outs are as follows: debate, "Resolved, that there should be freshmen initiations at S. T. C."; extempore speaking, general subject, "Women in Business"; oratory; left to individual choice.

Candy Department
Feature This Week!
PEANUT BRITTLE
Pound 10c
SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES
MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

DISPLAYING
Stylish
Dresses
Coats
Millinery
BALDWIN'S

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
The House of Quality
GYM OUTFITS for the COLLEGE GIRLS
Black Sateen Bloomers $1.50
White Broadcloth Shirts $1.00
Gym Shoes, Laced to toe $1.35
DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1929 No. 4

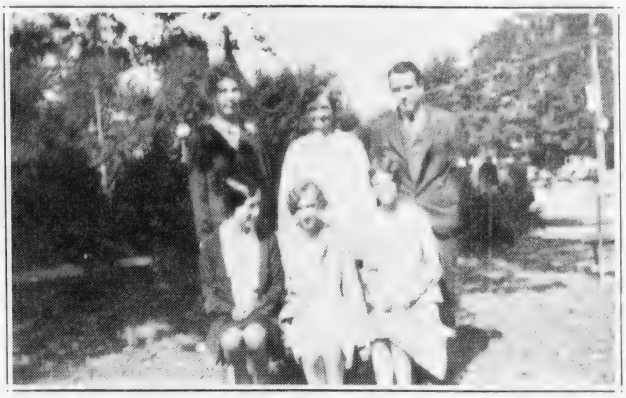
ORGANIZATIONS' PURPOSES GIVEN IN ONE-ACT PLAY

Freshmen Receive Rat Caps From the Sophomores October 4.

Every freshman must have experienced a thrill last Monday night when she stood to receive the celebrated "rat cap" from Virginia Cox. As Virginia suggested, one should consider it a privilege to be allowed to wear a "rat cap;" it signifies that you are ready to carry on the colors of your school.

Following the downing of the "rat caps" came a clever one-act play in which every organization in school was represented. Lucy Thompson and Elizabeth Taylor parading as tin soldiers represented the Rotunda and the Virginian, while Mary Ellen Cato in the costume of Joan of Arc spoke for the "Voice," iur new literary magazine.

Adele Hutchinson, president of the Y. W. C. A., after dancing a graceful minuet in costume, reminded us of the fact that the spirit of the Y. W. is one of service to its Alma Mater. Preceding Adele's dance came Laura Smith who very cleverly dramatized her plea to come and play with the A. A.



The Dramatic Club and Debate Club represented by Henrietta Cornwall and Nellie Talley convinced us that after all "the play's the thing" and "one must learn to think on her feet."

One of the most attractive representations was that put on by the Choral Club. Elizabeth Etheridge would surely be a credit to any Victrola and made us all appreciate the real spirit of song.

Linda Wilkinson and Ruth Owen gave a clever little speech as to the purpose of the Cunningham and Ruffner Literary Societies and following them came a country folk dance in favor of the French and Spanish Circles.

To conclude this attractive program Etta as representative of our Student Government spoke of the purpose of this prime organization as one which will strive to keep our ideals high and true throughout our school life at S. T. C.

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS.

(Left to right) Standing—Mrs. Taylor, Miss Pierce, Mr. Moss.
Seated—Miss Drake, Miss Nichols, Miss Spratley.

College Orchestra Plays in Chapel

Everybody made it a point to be present at chapel last Saturday morning to hear the College Orchestra in what may be called its "debut performance."

Besides playing the hymn and the march for us, the orchestra played two other selections which proved to be delightfully familiar—Paderewski's "Minuet," and the "Londonary Air," an old Irish folk song.

The orchestra showed evidence of careful practice, playing easily and producing a very sweet quality of tone. We all know that our orchestra works hard and is ever faithful on the job. We appreciate its good work and always enjoy its performances.

WORK FOR YOUR MONOGRAM

Monogram practices have gotten into full sway and now is the time to win your points!

Monogram practices are held every Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the gym. Come out and pass the physical efficiency test. You have another chance to win points on Saturday afternoon. Attend the hikes that are held every Saturday and watch the points pile up.

You have the whole year before you. Get busy!

TENNIS LADDER IS POSTED ON BOARD

The tennis ladder has been made out and is posted on the bulletin board. Now it is up to you to get to work and challenge someone.

Anyone may challenge any of the three people ahead of her, and, if successful in defeating that person, takes her place, while the person defeated drops back to the place of the other individual. If you are challenged you must either play within one week from the time you received the challenge or default. The best two sets out of three wins the matches. The loser must put the results in Miss Iler's mail box, so Dot Thompson, head of tennis, can attend to any change on the ladder.

The following is the ladder as it now stands:

1—Dorothy Godloe
2—Frances Hutchins
3—Mary Seales
4—Oreanna Revin
5—Joyce Overall
6—K. F. Sanders
7—Allie Oliver
8—Mary Jones
9—Isabelle Fleshman.
10—Doris Walton
11—Billie Paris
12—Mary Frasier
13—Mary Frances Hatchett
14—Julia Martin
15—Adele Hutchinson
16—Polly Ellison
17—Jenilee Knight
18—Mildred Maddrey
19—Sarah Wills
20—Laura M. Smith
21—Marguerite Swann
22—Madeline Blair
23—Woodruth Towler
24—Dolly Reed
25—Dorothy Snedgar
26—Permele Byrd.

Debate Club Selects New Members

The Bebate Club tryouts for membership were held on Tuesday night, October 8 at which time the following new members were chosen:

Debators:

Marguerite Bunch	Edenton, N. C.
Carrie DeShazo	Sutherland, Va.
Martha Gunter	Evington, Va.
Margaret Hix	Wise, Va.
Estelle Honeyman	Petersburg, Va.
Elizabeth Johnson	Norfolk, Va.
Polly Madison	Farmville, Va.
Doris Robertson	Church Roads, Va.
Sarah Salisbury	Norfolk, Va.
Elizabeth Walthall	Dante, Va.
Lillian Womack	Keysville, Va.

Orators:

Anne Johnson	Norfolk, Va.

Tryouts will be held again in the near future. This tryout will be principally for upperclassmen though those freshmen who could not tryout on Tuesday will have another opportunity.

HONOR SOCIETY BIDS NEW MEMBERS

The Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi announces as new members:

Martha Anthony
Elizabeth Taylor
Harriet Mason
Ann Stump
Elizabeth Temple

NOMINATIONS FOR FRESHMAN CLASS PRESIDENT HELD

Johnson, Hogan, Fleming, Snedger, and Priest Are The Candidates

A meeting was held by the Freshmen in the auditorium Tuesday night for the purpose of nominating the class president. The six nominees selected were as follows: Anne Johnson, Lillian Hogan, Frances Fleming, Dorothy Snedger, Martha Moore, Margaret Priest.

Anne Johnson of Norfolk, Va., was a very popular girl in high school. She belonged to the Latin Club, Cheerio Debating Club, Student Club, Cheerio Club, French Society, and the Dramatic Club. She was vice-president of the Latin Club, secretary of the Girl's English Society and served on the Maury News staff.

Lillian Hogan of Roanoke, was a member of the Girls Reserve Club and secretary of her class.

Frances Fleming of Farmville, was one of the most outstanding girls in the Training School and held several important positions. She was president of the senior class, president of the student body, and editor of the annual her senior year.

Dorothy Snedger of Roanoke, a girl of unusual ability, was reporter of the Junior World News, president and vice-president of her literary society, member of the Scroll and Quill organization and treasurer of the French Club. She was well known for her athletic ability.

Martha Moore of Lexington displayed remarkable talent as editor of the high school paper.

Margaret Priest of Norfolk, Va., belonged to the Dramatic and Cheerio Club. She is very original and full of pep.

Freshmen, discuss these candidates among yourselves and let's have one hundred per cent votes.

"TRY-OUT" FOR THE CUNNINGHAM SOCIETY

Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors are invited to "try-out" for the Cunningham Literary Society between now and November 1. Any original paper will be considered. Short stories, poems, feature articles, plays, essays and book reviews are a few examples of acceptable material. All papers must be left in Rooms 61 or 9 New Building before November 1, 1929.

JOHNSTON'S HOME, EXTENSION OF S. T. C. CAMPUS, FINE PLAYROUND FOR ALL

The other day in one of his History classes Dr. Walmsley said something like this: "Joseph E. Johnston was not only one of the greatest of the Confederate generals, but he has also given us a Tea Room. Some of us may have forgotten the Civil War, but certainly none of us have forgotten or will forget the Tea Room out at Longwood."

Last Wednesday morning Dr. Jarman reminded us that Longwood had been bought in order to extend the campus of S. T. C. and that it is only through our use of it that the College will feel repaid for its purchase. Not only is Longwood a place for receptions and parties—it is open for the enjoyment of all. You may go out in hiking or sports clothes and feel just as free to go in and enjoy yourself as if you were dressed for a fancy ball.

In connection with Longwood, we have opened up a tea room, which is an added incentive to going out there. Walking always brings a good

Continued on last page

INDIAN OPERETTA, EVENING OF NOV. 8 CHORAL CLUB TO GIVE BEAUTIFUL

Have all of you noticed that most attractive poster just over the entrance to the auditorium announcing the coming of "The Feast of the Red Corn," that Indian operetta which the Choral Club will present the night of November 8.

The weird, fanciful charm of Indian life woven around the desire of an Indian Queen for the celebrated "red ear of corn"—what could be more intriguing as a theme?

Then too, one will be sure to hear so many of those catchy little tunes that all operettas are noted for. Can't you imagine the lively melody of a song entitled "What did Impee Light Do?" Well, come to think of it, what did she do anyway. Can you make a guess? No, don't try to guess and don't ask anybody to tell you, but wait until November 8 and come and find out for yourself.

MISS ILER IS FRESHMAN CLASS MAN

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — JESSIE SMTH, '31

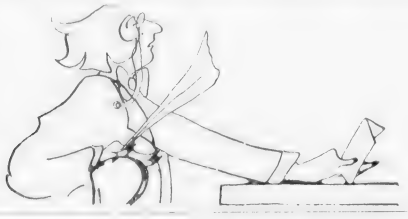
Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '30

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 — KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30

Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader — JESSIE WATKINS, '33



Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Watch Your Record

"The survival of the fittest" has become an practice as well as a theory at S. T. C. Between seventy-five and eighty students here last year weren't able to return because of low grades. Some where—somehow, these girls sidetracked on their way to their goal, a goal whose worth is uncomparable in its importance. As our work is attacked this year the suggestions offered by those who know, should be as light to us on a dark night.

It is only a minimum requirement when we hear that "a student who fails on 50 per cent or more of her work the first quarter shall be put on probation the second quarter, and must make an average of "D" on all her work the first year in order to be permitted to return to college for the second year. Because this requirement is so very lenient it is not necessary for any girl to question her lack of ability to be a school teacher if she isn't able to reach the above standard. Since S. T. C. is a professional school, a girl who isn't willing to prepare herself in the best possible way to become an instructor and example for children should realize Farmville isn't the place for her. If she wants college work, a classical school is open for her even if she doesn't wish to become a teacher.

Each girl must watch her own record! She alone is the one to change it. This can be easily done because failure and warning notes are sent out every two weeks. The purpose of the notes is to warn the student that her work isn't satisfactory and that she must work harder to pass. When this girl's report goes home, it shouldn't be a surprise to the girl to see low grades since she doesn't work. If such work keeps up, the student's family will be warned by her term report that she will not be eligible to return the next year.

People are beginning to feel that it is a sort of crime to inflict a teacher on pupils when she could not make a grade of "D" on her work in college. Much of this inability found among students in college is due to a poor teacher in the past years of their training. There has to be a check some place. Here and now is the time for that check.

Since we are working for higher standard in education, elimination is necessary for those who are not willing to be "excelsiors" in our profession. We are not willing to be drones!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Readers of Rotunda:

May I call your attention to the hour of the day at the mail box room giving the time when you can reasonably expect to find the incoming mails in the boxes? These hours are posted to avoid confusion and to save your time in "waiting around" until the mail is put up. Obviously the exact time is determined by the quantity to be distributed.

An ideal arrangement would be for the mail to run from the trains into the boxes but, since no such device has been perfected, it must go through the slower process of going to the main office where it is separated and sent to Station No. 1 (State Teachers College), where it must be again separated by sections and distributed to the boxes.

The average morning mail is from 300 to 800 letters, a ½-sack of newspapers and about 60 parcels. As the clerk is not a professional, it takes from 1¼ to 1½ hours (one and one-quarter to one and one-half) to do this work which is delayed by confusion. On Sundays, when there are no packages, it takes from ¾ to 1 hour.

At no time has there been any impatience shown except at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and on Sunday mornings. It would seem that the very few impatient ones might exercise a little forbearance that the considerate many might be served promptly.

This tardy commendation of the thoughtfulness and patience of the student body has been due to the fact that every effort has been to reducing work to routine and 13 hours a day have not left time enough for even a few words of appreciation for the consideration and sympathy that has made this work possible.

Cordially yours,
M. K. TALIAFERRO.

THE TEA HOUND

(With apologies to Mr. Kipling, in case anyone should see a resemblance to his "Vampire.'")

A fool there was and she made her prayer,
Even as you and I.
To a poor little simp with slick-back hair—
We called him a nut that wasn't all there—
But the fool she named him a jewel rare,

Oh, the flask he wore and the words he swore,
And the cigarettes strewn around!
And still the fool girl, she did not know
And now we know that she never could know
That he was a mere tea-hound.

A fool there was, her hours she spent
Even as you and I.
Tagging along to the places he went,
And the line he shot her he never had meant,
But a fool must follow her natural bent
Even as you and I.

Oh, the grades she lost and the sleep she lost,
And the hours that he hung around!
Why, she fell for his line and never could see
The rest of us knew he never could be
More than a mere tea-hound.
The fool she fell for this college sheik,
Even as you and I.
She swallowed his line in a manner too meek.
He threw her up in less than a week.
She allowed him to go without even a squeak,
Even as you and I.

But she up and died from the shock to her pride;
They planted her under the ground.
It's awful to know that she never could know
Seeing at last she never could know
That he was a mere tea-hound.

—Flat Hat.

HOW IT FEELS TO BE A RAT?

By One Who Knows

Well, at last our caps have come.

* * *

Not putting off the agony of wearing them any longer.

* * *

What must be done, must be done.

* * *

Of course my head would be six sizes too large for the thing.

* * *

It sits upon the top like a clown cap.

* * *

All I need, now, is about two inches more of ears, and I'll be a perfect jackass.

* * *

I sure do feel like a clown.

* * *

Feature me, marching down town like this!

* * *

I'd have to walk like a wooden soldier.

* * *

Hold the head up high; if I don't the blamed thing will fall off.

* * *

This is worse than being a freshman at Hampden-Sydney.

* * *

Boys don't mind making dummies of themselves.

* * *

If mother could see me now!

* * *

She'd think I have pneumonia of the brain or somethin'—

* * *

Hafta wear this kinda cap, to keep the water on the brain from freezin'—

* * *

Only it won't even fit my brain!

* * *

And what would pop say?

* * *

"That's where my money goes—"

* * *

Well, there's one consolation: I'm not by myself.

* * *

I'm just one of the "Four Hundred."

* * *

And another thing—Next year I can laff.

* * *

'S'nuff sed—Here goes!

WE FAW DOWN 'N GO "BOOM!"

We play horsie? Yes! and we play monkey, spider, and elephant, too! You wonder why? Well, we are the tumblers and are really not losing our minds, or anything like that, but the circus is coming, you know, and we must have all the trained animals in our circus. Oh, of course, there will be clowns and acrobats, too. Most of us are just beginning our training so we faw dawn 'n go "boom!" frequently.

Miss Iler and "Punk" Hatchett are among the best trainers to be had, so before long we will not be amateurs, but among the professionals.

"Come to the Big Circus on November 2, and fed the elephants peanuts!!"

BAPTIST RECEPTION HELD FRIDAY, OCT. 11

The Baptist Reception was held last Friday night, Oct. 11 in the Sunday School room of the church. A delightful program was given by the Baptist girls and boys. It was as follows:

Piano Solo — Staton Noel
Reading — John T. Doyne
Violin Solo — J. C. Patillo
Solo — Carrie DeShazo
Reading — Nell Slingeuped
Piano Solo — Frances Armistead
Reading — Sallie Elliott
Solo — Jane Witt
Reading — Catherine Rawls
Chinese Song — Nellie Putney

Then a welcome was given by the pastor after which the refreshments consisting of ice cream and cakes were served.

THE MAIL RUSH

He raved over the city of New York—
Of the crowds that thronged her streets
He did not know that in our own college
We are given the very same treat.

He waxed eloquent over Fifth Avenue
How powerless one is in the rush—
If he could see the office hall at chapel time
It would surely make him hush.

No jam in that wonderful city
Could equal to the one in the hall—
We are pushed forward, sideward, backward.
Or flattened against the wall.

Heels are stepped an pittilessly
We glare with an angry frown—
Useless—our toes are smashed
And elbows go up and around.

Then we make for the open spaces
Relieved from the torturing pain.,
And we smile over New York's rush
Because we know ours would put it to shame.

K. W., '30

"A TIME FOR ALL THINGS"

Black chile, wha' fo' yo' bawlin'?
Shet right up an' stop dat squawlin'.
Humph! Dat chile is sho' de limit!
'Taint lak he's skairt or timit—
Ef yo' ain't glad yo' oughta be,
'Cause yo's plum lucky, 'pears to me.
Now I's got cause fo' discontentment,
Yit I ain't got no resentment.
I'se gotta go an' fix dat plow,
An' den I'se gotta milk de cow.
H.t's harvest up or hoe os sow,
An' dat ain't all — it's mo' an' mo'.
Dere's time to grumble—yes, it 'tis—
W'en you's as ole as yo' uncle is.

—M. F. S., '30.

MEDITATION

When my thoughts grow strangely dim.
Visions of other lands steal away
Into my heart they always stray.
Where only Gypsies pass the day
'Mid paths of flowers where they stray,
Singing Pagan songs of love
With only blue skies then stars above—
Then my heart aches for you—
Would I were a Gypsy too!

J. C. S., '31.

BITS OF WISDOM

It isn't how much you give
But how much it takes to give it
It isn't just a life to live
But the way in which you live it.

K. W., '30

NEW MEMBERS OF COTILLION CLUB

The Cotillion Club wishes to announce the following new members: Allie Kae Libby, Alma Garlick, Martha Walters, Alice Adams, Bruce Nicholson, Dot Thompson, Rena Robertson, Teeny Myers, Lela Germany, Retta Hardy, Hazel Burgwin, Ellen Fowlkes, Ruth Hunt, Ruby Hunt, Harriet Branch, Gilberta Knight, Louise Howerton, Martha Farris, Margaret Farris, Polly White, Elizabeth Antrim, Nell Armfield, A. J. Scott.

The usual bidding of freshmen will follow at a later date.

DE-HO-EC CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The first regular meeting of the De-Ho-Ec Club was held October 10 for the purpose of electing officers.

Those elected were as follows:

President — Elizabeth Anderson
Vice-President — Evelyn Simpson
Sec.-Treas. — Alma Woodson
Reporter — Nancy Richardson

SOCIAL

Guests on Campus

Misses Evelyn Holland of Norfolk, Margueret Huyett of Charlottesville, "Jackie" Woodson of Salem, Nancy Nelms of Roanoke; Mary F. Taliaferro of Orange; Martha Lanier of Petersburg, Anna Jones of Morrison, and Katherine Bentley of Richmond, alumnae of S. T. C. spent the week-end on campus.

Week-end Trips

Dot Anderson and Doris Walton spent the week-end at their home in Danville.

Mary Brightwell spent the week-end at her home in Pamplin.

Mary Ollie Bowen spent the week-end in Richmond.

Frances Davis and Gilberta Knight spent the week-end at the former's home in Clarksville.

Evelyn Jones, Sarah Harris and Louise Howerton spent the week-end at their homes in Clarksville.

Mabel Gregory spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Lucy Thompson and Louise Whitlock spent the week-end in Keysville.

Margaret Swann spent the week-end at her home at Virginia Beach.

Louise Munt spent the week-end at her home in Petersburg.

Mary Clare Booth spent the week-end at her home in Lynchburg.

Martha Saunders, Martha Moore, Medora Ford and Edith Britt attended dances at Washington and Lee last week-end.

Lucy Dortch and Mayo Beaty attended dances at V. P. I. last week-end.

Catherine Cogbill spent the week-end in Boydton.

Margaret Faris spent the week-end at Red Hill.

Doris Webber spent the week-end in Roanoke.

"Joe" Swanson visited friends in Richmond last week-end.

Billie Paris spent the week-end at her home in Crewe.

Nannie Belle Clendenien spent the week-end at her home in Greensboro, N. C.

Virginia Cobb spent the week-end at her home in Blackstone.

WORLD NEWS

That Chinese-Russian War can't amount to much, neither side having asked the United States to lend it money.—New York Evening Post.

"It's a genuine pleasure to welcome Ramsey MacDonald to this country both as an individual for whom we have the greatest respect and as the Prime Minister of the Labor Government in Great Britain." Mr. MacDonald is a man whose personal worth sheds more luster upon him than does his office as important as that is. He had the intelligence to forsee the World War as many now see it in retrospect. He had the courage to say that he thought at a moment when it cost him his reputation and position. Now that critical time has passed and he is welcomed everywhere and hailed gladly.

Chemists are of the opinion future wars cannot last long because of the modern methods of destruction, but what the world wants are future wars that don't start at all.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Pu Yi, who was in 1912 the Bay Emporer of China and apparently securely fixed on the "Throne of Heaven," is now moving from a house renting for $250 a month to one which is $50 a month cheaper. It was only a few years back that he laid off 1100 servants when he wanted to save a little money. When he fled from China in 1924 as an outcast he made his home in Japan. He has no better feeling for the nationalistic government in political ways, but he does have some personal prejudices against them.

OVER THE TEACUPS

Do you like my hair combed this way? And is this dress becoming? How's my make-up? No, I haven't a date. My dear, I'm going to have my picture taken. Yes, I understand that the photographer is a lady this year. What a pity. It's so much nicer to pose for a man, especially if he's good-looking. I think that ought to be considered when they pick the photographer, don't you?

Am I on the Dean's List? I certainly am. What's the matter—don't I look intelligent? I really haven't found out what it's all about yet. A mistake that I'm there? Why I came to that conclusion long ago. My worry at present is how soon the faculty will discover the error of their ways and decided that they don't need my name in their business any longer.

Let me tell you, my dear, the latest wise-rack from a freshman. Somebody mentioned practice teaching at the dinner table the other day and a freshman asked: "Do you get paid for practice teaching?" Now isn't that about the worst? And have you ever seen anything quite so fresh as some of them? Really, something should be done about it! The same girl had the nerve to tell me the last time we had dessert that she had no idea of stacking the dishes. I've never seen anything like it. Things are coming to a pretty pass when a mere freshman has the nerve to tell an upperclassman that she has no idea of doing something, and especially when she has such a supercilious air. I just tell you, things aren't like they were when I was a freshman.

By the way, I knew there was something else I had to say. Didn't I see you coming from the Post Office with a big package this morning? A box from home you say? It's lovely of you to ask me, and I can't wait to come, but please, sugar, don't get the idea that I was fishing. I only intended to mention it.

There comes Lib! Wonder where she's goin?

Hello girlie. where'm I going? To have my beauty struck! For what other reason would I be so dressed up? You're headed the same way? Well, fine! Yes, I suppose we had better dash on around toward the Little Sitting Room. I was due there at eleven and it's even-fifteen now. But then, if they're as anxious for my picture as they seem to be, I guess they can wait for me.

Lovely of you to tell me all the news, and don't forget I'm coming around to get some of that box, If it's only to chew the string!

So long!—I'll be seeing you!

EPISCOPAL PICNIC

Saturday afternoon was just another day for some of the S. T. C. girls, but what visions and expectations were in that date for others. Three o'clock found girls, laughing, excited, jolly girls—not even one who didn't have a grin—waiting on the lawn of the Episcopal Church. Not long did they wait, however, for cars were there to take them to Farmville Lake on a picnic. There were so many girls that they just filled the place; and we mustn't forget the town boys and girls who went with us and initiated us into the fascinating sports of see-sawing and swinging, there on the lakes' edge.

When the automobile horns signalled that all was ready, people flocked from everywhere. See-saws, swings, boats were left reluctantly, and the girls and boys climbed into the automobiles after spending a very pleasant afternoon at Farmville Lake.

OPEN CABINET MEETING HELD SATURDAY

The first open cabinet meeting of the year was held last Saturday afternoon in the "Y" reception room. Rachel Royall led the devotionals. Each chairman of a committee gave a report of the committee's work. After all this business was attended to, the visitors were invited to stay and have tea which was served by Allie Kay Libby and her committee.

EASTER SOUDERS LEADS MORNING WATCH

Easter Souders led morning watch last Sunday morning in the Student Building Lounge. Her theme was the Golden Rule. She explained the rule so that we could apply it to our everyday lives. If we could live up to this rule then we would do as He commanded in the Lord's Prayer: "Forgive us for our trespassers as we forgive those who trespass against us."

The service ended with a prayer and the "Y" motto.

JAPANESE WOMEN DEMAND EDUCATION

Japanese women in Tokyo are beginning a campaign to obtain equal educational facilities with men. Many Japanese Universities admit women to their classrooms as visitors, but they are not regarded as students and get no credit or degrees. They are demanding co-education until women universities become sufficient to take care of all who would attend.—The Critograph.

Just arrived—New Assortment of NOVELTY JEWELRY at

The Band Box Shoppe

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

Quality—Price—Service

Come in and get acquainted

We're Glad to Have You With Us

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

FALL SHOWING OF

HATS

THE HAT SHOPPE

Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery

AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Farmville - - - - Va.

CANADA DRUG CO.

Next to Baldwin's Store

Come to us for your cosmetics and

STATIONERY

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE

Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Cradies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Farmer Gift Shop

Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving
COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh Film)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S

is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP

Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials
110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS
Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop
323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY
The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS

TAILORING CLEANING
PRESSING
Farmville - - - - - - - - - Virginia

Now is the Time to Buy Your

FALL COAT!

Beautiful Fox fur trimmed coats $22.50 to $49.50.
New Flapper Skirts with and without suspenders. $2.50 to $4.95.

Sweaters to match skirts, $1.98 to $2.98.
3 piece Jersey Suits, all color combinations, special at $5.95.

"CHARGE IT"

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Coincidence

Two farmers met at a crossroads.

"Sy," said one, "what did you give your horse last when he was sick?"

"Turpentine," said Sy. "Giddap!"

A week later they met again.

"Sy,' said the former. "I gave my horse turpentine and he died."

Sy responded briefly, "So'd mine. Giddap!"

First Old Grad: "Personally, I prefer the Mid-Victorian type of girl."

Second Souse: "I don't. A lot of bustle and you never get anywhere."—Jester.

Sweet Young Thing, to coal man: "Did my father order some coal this morning?"

Coal Man: "This load of coal is for a Mr. Zell."

S. Y. T.: "That's fine, I'm Gladys Zell."

Coal man: "So am I."—Malteaser.

Crowd: "Hey! Sit down in front!"

Adele: "Quit yer kidding. I don't bend that way."—Lampoon.

Man: "I am here to bring light and sunshine into the heart of your office."

Lucille Norman: "Oh, dear, I've never before had anyone say that to me."

Man: "Cut out that stuff lady, I'm the window cleaner.—Stone Mill.

Lucy Thompson (to hostess as they walk to the table): "And may I sit on your right hand?"

Hostess: "No, I'll have to eat with that. You'd better take a chair."—Tid-Bits, London.

First Sailor: "Sit down, you're rockin' the boat."

George Washington: "Can't."

Sailor: "Why not?"

George W.: "My pants are too tight."

Moral: "So they painted him standing up.—The Owl.

Did you hear about the Englishman who swindled the Scotchman out of five dollars?"

"No!"

"And you never will."

"Did you say your girl's legs were without equal?"

"No, I said they knew no parallel.

Hampden-Sydney: "Aw come on I'll give you a nickle for a kiss."

Melisse Mullins: "I guess not. The doctor at the infirmary will give me a quarter for taking Castoria."

Pett: "Nancy, how do you earn your living while at College?"

Nancy: "By continuously writing."

Pett: "Wrting what?"

Nancy: "Home." (for money)

October 26, 1929

HOCKEY VARSITY SQUAD IS CHOSEN

Now that hockey season has really started the varsity squad is working very hard because they want to be ready to meet Westhampton in November. The varsity squad was picked Thursday and these girls are putting their very souls into the game, but they need your cooperation because none of us can do things successfully without the support of the entire student body. The squad as it is now is composed of the following girls:

Nannie Sue Anthony
Theodosia Beacham
Permele Byrd
Edith Coleman
Anita Crane
Sue Cross
Lucille Crute
Frances Edwards
Elsie Hardy
Mary Frances Hatchett
Kathleen Hardy
Frances Hutchins
Kathleen Hundley
Adele Hutchinson
Mildred Maddrey
Allie Oliver
Billie Paris
Cleo Quisenberry
Elizabeth Rawls
Dolly Reed
Duvall Ridgeway
Dorothy Ritchie
Hildegarde Ross
Mary Acoles
Laura M. Smith
Dorothy Snedgar
Easter Saunders
Lucille Transon
Anne Tucker

Johnston's Home, a Playground For All.

Continued from page one

appetite. After getting out there you will doubly appreciate the sandwiches, salads and sundaes prepared by Miss Gleaves, an alumna of S. T. C.

Let's go to Longwood, and by going, show our appreciation of what Dr. Jarman and the State have done for us.

GAME AT NIGHT

Until last year, William and Mary was the only team in the state to play night football. Last year, however, Emory and Henry installed a lighting system on their field and have been playing all their home games at night since. The Indian-Wasp fray tomorrow night will be played under artificial light.

—The Flat Hat.

FOOTBALL DOPE

There will certainly be some stinging next Friday when the Hornets and Yellow Jackets both come from the hive and race down the gridiron. Captain Bell plans to lead his squad in such a manner that the Hornets will continue to hold the record of outstanding the Yellow Jackets.

—The Critograph.

THE WASPS AND YELLOW JACKETS

The Wasps gained their twenty-third victory at the hands of the Jackets. We wonder when the Mountaineers will strike their match. But then the Emory and Henry aggregation doesn't battle with any of the Big Four, that probably accounts for them not having lost a game in three years.—The Yellow Jacket.

STUDENTS GO TO DUKE STADIUM DEDICATION

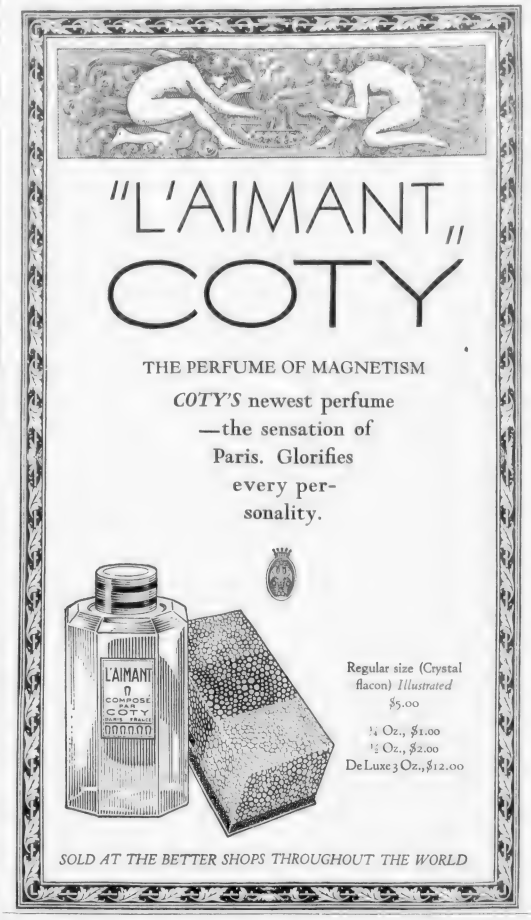
About twenty High Point college students attended the dedication and opening of the Duke stadium, when the Blue Devils met the Panthers, of Pittsburg, last Saturday. Local persons admit that they had never seen such a well organized team as came out of the north, invading the city of Durham. Many of the representatives of High Point, were members of the football squad, seeking to learn more of the fine points of the game. —The Hi-Po.

At the Eaco Theatre Week of October 21 - 26

Monday and Tuesday Conrad Nagel with Dorothy Mackaill and a fine supporting cast in "Three Girls Lost" is all talking drama. A millionaire marries his secretary. The clash between his wealth and position and the girl's family is brought to the talking screen in a drama of immensely stirring qualities, rich human understanding, swift drama. As a stage play, it ran in New York for almost a year. It is even a greater attraction as a film. Serial Monday night. News reel Monday and Tuesday nights.

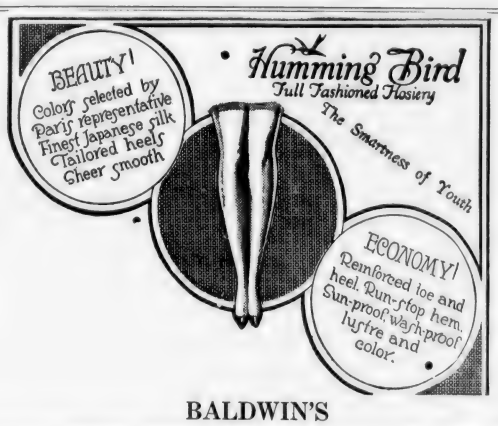
Wednesday and Thursday Ramon Novarro with Renee Adoree in "The Pagan" a singing and sound picture. Hear Novarro sing "The Pagan Love Song"—the whole world will be huming it! Moon-lit lagoons! Whispering palms Love untamed, unashamed! Then the shadow of the conquering white man! Novarro as a native South Sea Islander reaches new romantic heights! Actually filmed in the tropics, a year in the making! Beauty, drama, pathos to sweep you off your feet! Novarro's singing the year's picture sensation. Also a colored sound classic.

Friday and Saturday—Milton Sills and Dorothy Mackail in "His Captive Woman." A Vitaphone picture Here is your chance to hear these two stars talk. He trailed this murderess to the end of the world, and there fell in love with her. He didn't know he would some day take her back to law as his wife—and tell the horrible truth to a murder jury. Packed with dramatic punches and aimed at your heart. The miraculous story of a Broadway pet who became a Madonna. She was the hottest mama on Broadway—the tropics cooled her down. The glitter of Broadway and the lure of the South Seas. Oddity and News each night and serial Saturday night.



Admission — adults, at nights, 35 cents; matinees, 25 cents. Children under 12 years old, 15 cents to each show.

IT PAYS TO DEAL
at
GREENBERG'S
DEPT. STORE
First in Style
Lowest in Price
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.



McIntosh's Drug Store
New State Teachers College
STATIONERY
Farmville - - - Va.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL
CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony
Aesthetics, Etc.
REASONABLE TUITION RATES

Candy Department
Feature This Week!
PEANUT BRITTLE
Pound 10c
SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES
MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

BALDWIN'S

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
The House of Quality
GYM OUTFITS for the COLLEGE GIRLS
Black Sateen Bloomers $1.50
White Broadcloth Shirts $1.00
Gym Shoes, Laced to toe $1.35
DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

SEE—
"THE DUMB WAITER"

ROTUNDA

PAY
CLASS DUES
EARLY

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1929 No. 5

LYCEUM COURSE TO BEGIN AT. S. T. C. IN SHORT TIME

Choice Offerings of the Season To Be Presented to the Student Body

MANY PLAYS & LECTURES

We are looking forward with a great deal of impatience to the first number of the Lyceum Course. The plays, lectures and choruses which they have brought us in the past give us reason to think that each number will be both enjoyable and educational.

"The Tales of Hoffman" is scheduled for November 15. It is one of the grand operas written by Offenbach which has had a deserved success. While listening to this opera, you will forget that you are an S. T. C. student and will become one of the revellers in Luther's Tavern, listening sympathetically to the tales of Hoffman's three, luckless love-affairs.

On January 6 we shall have with us Sir Philip Ben Greet and a notable English company which for forty years has been prominent in England for their splendid performances in London, Oxford, Cambridge, Stratford-On-Avon, and other places in Shakespeare's England. Ben Greet's Company was the first to be invited to appear on the White House grounds. This was during the administration of Theodore Roosevelt. He presents the best in dramatic literature with true, histrionic art and in a way not to be excelled by any other producer.

On January 29 the Sprague players will be here for both matinee and night. Those of you who read "Back Home," by Irvin Cobb in the 'Saturday Evening Post" will enjoy this new version of them, a comedy in three acts "Back Home" is a wholesome, humorous story which, once heard, is never forgotten. Also, the Sprague players will present the "Rivals," that delicious comedy of Sheridan's which "has entertained millions and will prove just as appealing to the present generation as it did to the theatre-goers of the past. Rich and rare, a faint odor of lavendar, memories—these are words suggestive

Continued on last page

Athletic Association Entertain Freshmen

"School days, school days,
Dear old golden rule days."

Truly all the children of the Old Woman in the shoe were dressed in their best rompers and dresses and taken to the party in the gymnasium Saturday night. What for? Because the Athletic Association was giving a kid party for the freshmen.

The Hampden-Sydney orchestra was there to play for everyone to dance and there was a surprise when Laura Smith announced that there was to be a lucky number dance. Each couple got a number and when the number was drawn out, by a 1910 alumnae, number sixty-six was the prize-winner. There were also prizes for the best dancers and for the cutest dressed couple. The prizes carried out the decoration scheme by being of Hallowe'en note.

The refreshments must not be forgotten or discarded lightly. Doughnuts, apples, candy, suckers and ice-cream lollies were served and enjoyed.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

(Left to right) Anne Johnson, Lillian Hogan, Frances Fleming, Margaret Priest

MISS TABB TO GO TO REGISTRARS' MEET AT UNIVERSITY

Committee to Study Advisability of Requiring Degrees for Ele. Teachers

At the annual conference of heads of teacher-training institutions last fall a committee was appointed to study the question of the advisability of requiring a degre for teachers in the elementary schools, and to take up the question of revision of certificate regulations.

This committee will meet on Saturday, October 26, at the University of Virginia; several sub-committees will hold their meeting on the day before and be ready to make their report as a whole to the State Board of Education.

Miss Jennie M. Tabb and one of her assistants, Miss Rachel Henderlite will attend these meetings; Miss Tabb is a member of the committee, and is on the sub-committee which is to take up the question of the certification of teachers in the elementary schools. Other members of her special committee are: Mr. W. D. Ellis, of the Richmond City Normal School, chairman; President M. L. Combs of the Fredericksburg State Teachers College; and Mr. Thomas D. Eason, secretary to the State Board of Education, and Supervisor of teacher-training for the State. The entire committee is composed of the following members in addition to those mentioned: Dr. J. L. Manahan, of the University of Virginia, chairman; Mr. J. P. Whitt, Registrar of the State Teachers College at East Radford; Dean K. J. Hoke of the College of William and Mary; Mr. E. C. Magill of Virginia Polytechnic Institute; President S. P. Duke, of Harrisonburg State Teachers College.

After the close of the conference, members of the committee will be guests of the University at the football game between Virginia and St. John's University.

H. S. Lad: "Are you the Mary that had a little lamb?"

Mary Ellen (holding up her kid gloved hand): "Yes, but the poor thing died on my hands."

DATE OF PRESS MEET IS CHANGED

J. T. L. Dickinson, Jr., president of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, has announced that the third annual meeting of this association will be held at the State Teachers College East Radford, and V .P. I., on November 22 and 23.

Tentative plans for the meeting at East Radford include addresses by several noted Southern authors, a play sponsored by the Ingles Literary Society of the State Teachers College, and a reception given by Dr. J. P. McConnell, president of the Radford institution.

The program at Blacksburg will include, as a special entertainment feature, a football game between the V. P. I. freshmen and the V. M. I. freshmen. This game will be followed by a final banquet sponsored by President J. A. Burruss of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Plans are under way to provide for a dance at Blacksburg after the banquet.

The delegates from the girls' colleges throughout the state of Virginia will be the guests of the S. T. C., East Radford, Virginia. The male delegates will be the guests of Tau Beta Epsilon honorary journalistic fraternity at V. P. I.—The Tech.

Every time the Chinese take a look at the Manchurian Railroad they see Red.—Arkansas Gazette.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS WERE ELECTED LAST FRIDAY EVENING

Anne Johnson, Lillian Hogan, Frances Fleming & Margaret Priest are Officers

MISS ILER IS CLASS MAN

Friday night the Freshman Class met to elect the fololwing class officers:

Anne Johnson	President
Lillian Hogan	Vice-President
Frances Fleming	Secretary
Margaret Priest	Treasurer

Anne Johnson is a graduate of Maury High, Norfolk, Va. Her record in high school is a ready proof of her capabilities as a leader. On hearing of her election Anne immediately extended her appreciation of the honor given her, promising to do all in her power to lead the class on to success. We congratulate Anne upon her election and know that she will have 100 per cent backing from her class.

As vice-president Lillian Hogan brings a knowledge of leadership to her position for she was secretary of her class in high school. She is fully competent to fill her new position.

With Frances Fleming as secretary and Margaret Priest as treasurer, the Freshman class need never worry about the direction of its business affairs. Frances has had plenty of experience as one of the outstanding girls in the Training School last year. Margaret Priest has that quality of "pep" which makes things go over with a bang! Both these girls are good workers and will not hesitate to use their energy for the good of their class.

Miss Iler, Freshman class man, gave a short talk at the close of the meeting. She prophesied a successful year in the belief that the class will always back her and its officers.

As their class man, Miss Iler assured the Freshmen that she would be glad to give them advice at any time and expressed the hope that she might soon know them all as individuals.

HISTORY OF OUR STATUTES OF JOAN

First Statue Presented by the Senior Class of 1914

All of us are probably familiar with our statutes of Joan of Arc and are justly proud of the spirit which pervades the school due to her quiet influence. There are some of us, however who are perhaps unfamiliar with the history of these two statues.

The statue of Joan which is placed in the center of our reception hall was presented to the school by the Senior Class of 1914. From that time Joan of Arc has been the patron saint of our college and in the hall she sits in repose, but listening with open ears at our joys and our sorrows.

The second statue, which stands in the colonnade, has a history which is unusual. It was given as a gift to the school by Mr. Archer Milton Huntington in honor of the sculptor, Mrs. Huntington. The Alpha Delta Rho honor society, which is now Alpha Kappa Gamma, wished to present to the school something which would embody the ideals of the college. A committee selected the equestrian bronze statue of Joan of Arc, which was sculptored by Mrs. Anna Hyatt Huntington of New York. A letter was written Mrs. Huntington in reference to the statue and she in answer replied that her husband wished to present the statue as a gift.

It is interesting to note that there are only three other copies of this statue. One is on Riverside Drive, one in France, and the other in Mrs. Huntington's native state, Massachusetts.

This gift was formally presented to the college at an unveiling here April 9, 1927. It has given us what it signifies power, vitality, and force. May we look to our statues and draw our inspirations from the Joan of Arc who marched "Forward with God."

WATCH FOR DATE OF COLLEGE CIRCUS COMING TO S. T. C.

Children who enjoy circuses and wit will have an opportunity not only to enjoy one but to take part in one this fall. All the animals of the zoo, tumblers of the first degree, and many other interesting things will visit our gym on Nov. 2. The circus is given under the auspices of Alpha Kappa Gamma, but every organization is

(Continued on last page)

DEBATE CLUB CHOOSES MEMBERS FROM THE UPPER CLASS MEMBERS

The Debate Club held tryouts for upperclassmen on Wednesday night, October 16. Numerous contestants particitpated. Those proving themselves most capable in the field of forensic work were selected for membership. This was the last tryout for membership for this term and gives a total of 23 new members. Those are:

Theodocia Beacham, Holland, Va.
Virginia Daughtrey, Emporia, Va.
Elizabeth Hunter, Madisonville, Va.
Alice Harrison, Farmville, Va.
Rene Greaves, Newport News, Va.
Nan Meers, Melfa, Va.
Vilma Petty Ettrick, Va.
Anne Rice, Farmville, Va.
Mary Terry, Pamplin, Va.
Thelma Waller, Portsmouth, Va.
Mary Warren, Chatham, Va.

On Thursday night, October 24, the first regular meeting will be held. At this meeting the new members will become initiated to the purposes and plans of the club.

The question under discussion, for the evening program, is the National Pi Kappa Delta question for the year, "The only guarantee for world peace is universal disarmament.'"

Miss Mary White Cox Conducts Prayer

Miss Mary conducted prayers Wednesday night in the auditorium. Her mesage, while intended particularly for the freshmen ,in keeping with the celebration of Freshman week, was applicable to each member of the student body.

Miss Mary emphasized the fact that self confidence is good to have, but self confidence without guidance is a dangerous thing. The guidance which we may secure through earnest study of the Bible and through prayer is what we most need.

She reminded us that the majority of the students here are from Christian homes and urged us to continue regular attendance at church services each Sunday, and the devotion of a few minutes each day to the reading of our Bibles and prayer. She charged us to develop our souls while we are developing our minds and bodies which serve only as the clothing of our souls.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief	LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor	JESSIE SMITH, '31

Board of Editors

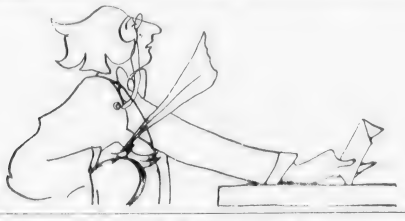
News Editor	LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor	LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor	MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor	GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor	A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor	RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor	VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor	MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor	"BILLIE" PARIS, '30

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30

Proof Reader	SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader	JESSIE WATKINS, '33

ANN STUMP, '30



Managers

Business Manager	SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager	PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager	MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager	NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Freshmen Now Full-Fledged Members of Student Body

The freshman class is to be congratulated on the way they entered into and participated in the series of events planned for Freshman Week. Much credit, indeed, is also due to those who initiated Freshman Week—namely, the junior class, which is capably headed by Laura N. Smith, president, and Miss Virginia Potts, class man.

As a very fitting beginning of Freshman Week each "rat" was presented with a rat cap Monday night of last week by Virgina Cox, president of the sophomore class. After this ever-to-be-remembered presentation a one-act playlet was presented in which the heads of the organizations in school took part. This playlet was not presented merely as entertainment, but to introduce to the freshmen the leaders of various activities in our school life. Freshmen, get in touch with the head of whatever type of extra-curricular activity you are interested in and let her put you to work. The organizations need you, and you need the organizations.

A prayer service to be kept in the heart of each member of the student body was that led by Miss Mary on Wednesday evening. "Self-confidence is a good thing to have, but self-confidence without guidance is a very dangerous thing." This remark, made by Miss Mary, is one which may lead us to the very heights of honorable success if we call on The Guide to lead us.

No class can accomplish anything without leaders, and so on Tuesday night nominations were made for class president. Friday night four girls were chosen as officers to lead the freshmen in their various activities. You have elected these girls to office, freshmen, and now it is up to you to back them. The student body is watching with interest the workings of your class in order to determine your degree of cooperation and to estimate the calibre of your class.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." The sophomores as well as the athletic association realized the truth of this statement. On Thursday night the sophomores indulged in an informal initiation of the "rats". It may safely be said that the "rats" enjoyed this occasion just as much as the sophomores—if not more. The kid party given Saturday night by the athletic association in the gym brought Freshman Week to a successful close.

The freshman class is no longer regarded as a class of "new comers" to our institution of learning. Each freshman is a member of the student body, as much so as any senior. We are all going to work together, forgetting any distinction between a "new" girl and an "old" girl, striving to accomplish something worthy of Alma Mater.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I have read with interest your very timely editorial: "Watch Your Record" and, if I may be permitted to do so, would like to add a little "Registrarial advice" to what you have already given to our new students.

In the first place, what is your attitude upon entering college? This will determine, right in the beginning, what your record will be. If you come with the idea of getting through with as little work as possible, of selecting what you consider to be easy courses, if you stress everything in college life more than you do the work of the classroom: your record will be exactly that—you may graduate but you will meet the minimum requirements for your diploma; three-fourths of what you might have had will be as a sealed book to you, and you will go out from the college very little better than you came into it. If this is what you desire, it will be an easy task for you to get it.

On the other hand, if you begin with the determination to get as much out of your course as possible, to take advantage of very opportunity that comes your way, to keep before you the fact that you are training yourself for a profession and a great responsibility—you will get out of your work just what you are putting into it and when your graduation day comes, you will feel a glow of satisfaction in that you have done to the very best of your ability that which you have undertaken.

Do you realize that the college offers exactly the same opportunity to every student who enters? It is not the fault of the college that some of them make poor records—it is simply that they do not measure up to the requirment that is set: The college is fair and impartial and it is the individual that fails:

I wish I could, for a little while, reverse your view-point and make you realize how the college feels toward the student instead of how the student feels toward the college. Remember: when you come to us for the first time, our four hundred "new girls" all stand equal; we know nothing whatever about them except that they have all graduated from their high schools. They come to us with a clean record and our hopes are high: every new session brings to us a new group and we always have the feeling that we are entering a select set of students—we know they have been successful up to this point and we, naturally, expect them to succeed with us. Do you realize that when they enter, every student has exactly the same kind of record sheet made for her ,a fresh, clean sheet; she makes a fresh start in her education and we know absolutely nothing about her until her own work begins to tell us. When the first reports come in, we begin to form our opinions as to the students, the high schools from which they come to us, and in some cases, the families from which they come. The attitude of the student towards her work is a reflection of the training she has had in her home and her high school—the courteous, pleasant, reasonable student cannot come from any but the best; the girl who takes a resentful attitude, who is always on the defensive has not had the proper training, or is not living up to the standards that have been given to her. It is only through you that we can judge as to what your training and surroundings have been.

We hear a great deal about college spirit—what is it? It has been defined in many ways and is certainly interpreted in almost as many ways as there are students. It seems to me that the simplest, the truest way in which to regard college spirit is to think of it just as you would think of "home spirit"; if anyone criticises, ridicules, or complains of things in your own home you resent it hotly and your estimate of that person falls "below zero"—as it should; do you feel the same about your college? This is (or should be) the institution of your choice, selected because you felt that it was the best for your needs and not only should you be careful not to reflect upon it yourself, but you should jealously guard its good name and reputation with others.

Look for a minute at our upperclassmen: our officers in the student body, members of our honor societies, dean's list girls—do you think that any of these, when they were freshmen were of the tpye that thinks it is "smart" to complain of conditions in the college, to do things that reflect on the students as a whole, to "dodge" regulations and think it fun to do so? And on the other hand—aren't they the type that has had just as good a time as any of the discontented, complaining kind; who thinks the world is against her?

Begin your college life with this thought: certain opportunities are offered me and certain standards are set for me—the college does not fail in her part; it is for me to make the most of the opportunities and to meet, as far as it is possible for me to do so, the standards that are required if my work and my general record are to be such that my Alma Mater will be proud to number me among her daughters.

—Jennie M. Tabb, Registrar

REAL ART

We'd like to know the girl who made the calendar for "Rat Week". It is evident that those three little question marks after Thursday caused much agitation among freshies, and precipitated an orgy of surreptitious confabs just before supper when excitement was soaring. Those question marks, we'd say, were responsible for the sly knowing winks among the sophs when a rat timidly approached the subject, the little quirks which ended in much coughing into table napkins. Those same three marks sent quite a few freshmen to bed with feigned headaches before a certain little affair in the auditorium came off. Upperclassmen had a little exercise and quite a few laughs out of it by helping to scare 'em to death with weird thump-thumps behind the curtain. Then we expect you'd say, as many of the freshies did as they emerged from the tenacious clutches of dreaded sophs, that "it was a lot of fun after all."

Those little question marks may have glared quite as forbidding as ever at little rats as they scurried by but they had served their purpose and were henceforth dropped from the youthful minds of "rats". Their only significance now is, perhaps, a queer little relieved feeling in freshmen. But still, the artist knew her stuff.

MASQUERADE

Your eyes are treacherous pools—
Your lips the home of conceit,
Your ways the enticement of fools
And your mind the soul of deceit.

Your heart is a haven of hate,
Masqued as love for your gay escapades—
And now your whim is my fate
For I knew not your heart's masquerade.

—Jessie Stephenson,
Training School

FRESHMAN INITIATION THURSDAY NIHGT

Large were the eyes of freshmen on Thursday night in the auditorium, when sophomores held sway. Each Sophomore had two culprits. Back of the stage curtain was heard loud groans, screams and blows! The name of each freshman was called with the number of licks she was assigned.

I, (being a sophomore), had to almost carry my two freshmen up the steps, they were so weak from fright. On going back of the curtain I beheld a bloody scene. Miss Bedford, Virginia Cox and others with large pillows and a great many sticks making all the noise themselves. I was indeed disappointed when my freshmen walked through intact.

Wars of the tenth century have one advantage over wars of the twentieth century—they are all paid for.— New York Times.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

I can see their faces from my window
What a happy crowd they seem to be!
With their faces looking upward
What a jolly sight there is to see!

Often as I go among them,
Some will bow to me their heads,
While some don't notice me at all,
And look as if they're dead.

Some act very, very queer
But oh, what fun they have, it seems to me.
Jack whispers something to Irish,
And Rose gets jealous you see.

Daisy is really the happiest of all,
And I know the reason well
She's thinking of her sweet William
And her love that she'll never tell.

"Has Daisy stolen the heart of your lover"
Dear Pansy? Is that why you sigh?
Has Daisy stolen your sweet William's heart,
And left you alone to cry?"

Yes, many have their heads tucked,
You see not all of them are glad,
For though there are many happy ones
Some are very sad.

Like the one whose dreams are crushed and broken,
Some seem to spend a life in vain,
Like one whose joys are never gone
Like one whose happiness is only pain.

I see some that are very old
Whose lives are nearly spent
And their expression seems to show
That their joys have come and "went." '

Oh yes, I see them everyone
As I go among them each day
Some seem happy; some seem glad
Each has a reason to look that way.

How great is the joy for me to see them,
But still is the joy of mine
To know that they (all) belong to me—
They're my garden of flowers divine.

—Julia Davis, Training School

A LOVER'S LAMENT

Look heah gal, wha's matter wid yo'?
Is yo gonna turn round and kick me, too?
Yo's a hard-boiled yellow gal
Dat yo' is!
Does yo' love dat nigger's money
Jes' cause its his?

Gal, how many has yo' got on 'de string?
Yo' know I don' stand fo' dat sorta thing.
How I'll be yo' steady
If yo' wants me to
But ain't no odder nigger
Gonna show his love fo' yo'.

M. F. S., '30

NEGRO SERENADE

De moon am shinin' bright tonight.
De stars dey too gibs lots o 'light.
Oh, Liza, do come out and see
Dis go'g'ous moon an' stars wid me.

De lightin' bugs de'll light de way,
Dose lil' bugs what sleeps all day
Oh Liza, do come spend de hours
Wid me among de springtime flowers.

My banjo'll tell de time we spent
De frogs will give de 'comp'ni'ment
Oh Liza, please do come, don't wait!
'Cause when spring's gone, it'll be too late.

M. F. S., '30

SOCIAL NEWS

Week--end Guests

Misses Mary Oliver Ellington and Blanche Taylor of Raleigh, N. C., Elizabeth Ferrell, Louise Shoffner, and Evelyn Dulaney of Roanoke and Mrs. Shilly Langhorne (formerly Nora Petty, of Lynchburg, visited our campus last week-end.

Weekend Trips

Martha and Margaret Faris spent the week-end in Red Hill.

Nancy Hudgins spent the week-end in Newport News.

Blanche Murrell spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Frances Hutchins, Verina Greaves, Elaine Goode, Ann Guy, Nan Griffith, Emily Gale, Dorothy Dudley, Allie K. Libby, Martha McKenzie, Emmy Lou Pulliam, Florence Reid and Doris Walton, spent the week-end in Richmond.

Susie Baker spent the week-end in Danville.

Mildred Field Elmore visited in Ashland the past week-end.

Lucy Dortch and Catherine Marchant spent the week-end in Arrington, where they were bridesmaids in the Putney-Fitzpatrick wedding.

Mabel Eubank spent the week-end in Hampton.

Virginia Bledsoe spent the week-end in Roanoke.

Dorothy Blankenship spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Ethel Boswell spent the week-end in South Hill.

Florence Booton spent the week-end at her home in Orange.

Lela Germany and Loulie Milner attended the V. M. I.-Virginia game and dances at Virginia last week-end.

Hazel Burgwin and Virginia Gurley spent the week-end at the former's home in Richmond.

Nancy Duberry and Mary W. Pugh spent the week-end at their homes in Portsmouth.

Harriet Branch spent the week-end in Norfolk.

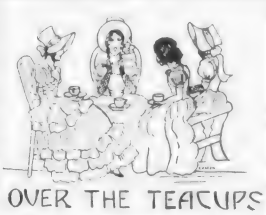
Catherine Cogbill and Dot Goodloe attended the V .P. I. and W. & M. game in Richmond Saturday.

PARTY HELD IN IN COTTAGE C.

Miss Pauline Camper, chaperone of Cottage C entertained at a very attractive party last Wednesday night. The occasion was a farewell party as Cottage C was closed Thursday.

Bridge was played at two tables and dancing was enjoyed, after which delicious refreshments were served.

Those present were, Misses Pauline Camper, Margaret Keeler, Violet Miller, Elsie Mae Dollins, Agnes Smith, Anna Macon Ward, Grace Walsen, Lydia Harrell and Elizabeth Johnson.



TRYOUT FOR RUFFNER LITERARY SOCIETY

The Ruffner Literary Society is open for try-outs for membership. Any piece of original writing will be accepted (poetry, prose, plays). Submit your contributions to room 52 New Building before November 1. This is open to freshmen as well as to upperclassmen.

Last year a great deal of interest was shown in the society and a large number of new members were taken in However many of our old members did not return this year, and we are anxious to have our enrollment come up to previous years. Start writing and hand in your material now!

"A DUMB WAITER" COMING TO S. T. C.

Just a forewarning! Coming! "A Dumb Waiter," 'on Oct. 26th, put on by the Junior Class .With Miss Potts superintending, Etta Marshall, directing, and Miss Robertson and Mary Todd working the choruses, what could be cuter? There are about six choruses of well chosen girls, freshmen and upperclassmen. The music is P-E-P-P-Y the kind that makes you feel no pain. Bring all your friends and forget your troubles at "A Dumb Waiter."

OVER THE TEACUPS

Well, I see the Little Sitting Room is all straight again. I guess the photographer must have finished. Hope she flatters me in my picture. No—of course I don't really need it, but then pictures so often bring out the worst points. Well, I admit that I don't have many, but then I do want my best features to show up.

Say, did you hear about Mr. Coyner? Well, he stood around looking upstairs like he didn't know exactly what to do, and in a few minutes he asked one of the girls if she thought he'd need a chaperone to take him up. Can't blame him for feeling rather timid!

And Mr. Moss—he really was the funniest thing! You didn't hear about him? He went up looking well—just a little mad, and Mrs. Siddel tried to make him smile for his picture. He didn't seem to be in a smiling humor, so she finally said, "Now listen, don't look at me like you're going to say, 'Boo' " Don't you love that?

Aren't they though? I never have seen Freshmen quite so fresh. Wanta hear something funnny? Please don't say that I told you. Of course I know you won't, but I don't want it to get back to her that I told it. Do you know Dena Lee Stith? Well, she decided to help along the cause by initiating the Freshmen into college life, so she told one little "rat" to come over and make up her bed. So far so good, but the "rat", sad to relate, had a sense of humor, and made Dena Lee a "pie bed"'. Was she mad? I've never seen anybody quite so upset. It's a good thing that that Freshman wasn't in the Senior Building. I'm afraid she wouldn't have lived to tell the tale if she had been.

Another one of the upperclassmen had something almost as bad happen to her. She told a "rat" to come clean up her room—had no idea she'd be there—and the next morning the girl arrived upon the scene a little after six and woke everybody up. No,—I can't tell who she was—she'd never forgive me because she isn't the type to enjoy a joke when the laugh's on her.

Was I in chapel Saturday morning? Of course, and didn't you love that invitation of Miss Iler's? I've had many in my life, but I never had one asking me to make myself scarce before.

What time is it? Eleven twenty-five, and I'm supposed to be in class. Oh, no, there is no need to rush, there aren't but four of us in the class and they won't start before I get there.

Please come around and tell me all the news, you always hear the cutest things. Of course not. I don't think girls have a right to gossip, but I do love to hear all the latest.

All right, I'll meet you at Joan about five-thirty. No. I'll be on time.

EXTEMPORANEOUS SING

When Adele announced at supper Saturday that the program for sing would be small, not one of us was daunted. Consequently, we were there —in full force! The old adage "the best things come in small packages" held true 'cause sing really was good!

The humorous reading by Frances Martin literally "took" the audience. There's no need to say how much we enjoyed Toodles Booth's dancing and Etta's music and songs. Maybe our heart didn't beat faster and our minds begin to wander when she sang "Mean to Me" and "Miss You!"

Was it good? And how!

The Tigers have apparently been playing only mediocre football this season but the showing they made against V. M. I. proves that they have the stuff in them to make a good team.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

With an average of eight-seven per cent the Pi Kappa Alpha, social fraternity, was awarded the James C. Harper loving cup for the highest scholastic record at Davidson College, Sigma Alpha Epsilon ran a close second with a rating of 86.75 per cent.

Lexington—One hundred and seventy-five students have been pledged to social fraternities at Washington and Lee University. Thirty-one of this number were Virginia students. It is understood that over $100,000 will be spent at W. & L. this year in the construction of fraternity houses—The Breeze.

The opening dances at Hampden-Sydney will take place October 25th and 26th. The opening dances at V. P. I. took place last Friday and Caturday.—The Brackety-Ack.

NEW DRAMATIC CLUB OFFICERS ELECTED

At the meeting of the Dramatic Club last week, it was necessary to re-elect the business manager and another property manager. The old business manager, Jane Hunt Martin, did not return to school, and the old property manager Frances Wilson, feels that she has so many other duties, she could not do justice to this office. Jane H. Martin's successor is Jenilee Knight and Frances Wilson's successor is Myrna Costen. Both will have a "tryout" in the work on the coming play "What Every Woman Knows."

Just Arrived—Peggy Paige Dresses at

The Band Box Shoppe

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

Quality—Price—Service

Come in and get acquainted

We're Glad to Have You With Us

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

FALL SHOWING OF

HATS

THE HAT SHOPPE

Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery

AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Farmville - - - - Va.

CANADA DRUG CO.

Next to Baldwin's Store

Come to us for your cosmetics and

STATIONERY

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE

Next to the Theatre

Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies

MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Falconer Gift Shop

Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving

COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh films)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S

is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP

Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials

110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS

Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop

323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus

G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY

The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS

TAILORING CLEANING
PRESSING

Farmville - - - - - - - - - - Virginia

SPECIAL THIS WEEK FOR S. T. C. GIRLS!

ALLAN "A" HOSIERY—$1.95 hose $1.59; $1.75 hose, $1.45; $1.50 hose, $1.20; $1.25 hose, $1.00.

Rumble seat ("Timmie Tuff") coats, $35.00 values special $24.50

$19.75 newest dresses of silks, transparent velvets, and combination materials, special $16.75

Swagger skirts and sweaters $1.95 to $4.95

In our shoe department, shoes carried in all widths, AAAA to E. wide.

"CHARGE IT"

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Mayo: "Are you a traveling salesman?"

Young traveling man: "Yes."

Mayo: "And are all traveling salesmen as bad as everyone says?"

Y. T. M.: "Yes."

Mayo: "Are you as bad as the rest of them?"

Y. T. M.: "Yes."

Mayo: "Why do you sit there so stupidly and just answer 'yes' to all my questions?"—Columbia Jester.

Dolly Reed: "I don't care for Jim. Half the time he wants to pet and the other half he wants to talk about literature."

Sarah Baker: "I'm not interested in books, either."—Wampus.

Liz Etheridge: "What do you mean by telling me that the dates you had with me were like a string of pearls?"

Hampden-Sydney: "Neckless, dearie, neckless."—Dodo.

Freshmen should be hurt and not seen.

Medora Ford: "I wonder if Sid really loves Toodles."

Martha Sanders: "Of course, Why should he make her an exception?"—Wampus.

He: "See that man playing fullback? He'll be our best man in about a week."

She: "Oh, this is so sudden."—Awgwan.

Alice Covington: "I'm a Venus de Milo girl."

Margaret Leonard: "A Venus de Milo girl—what's that?"

ov.: "Hands off." —Mink

Wigg: "I just finished setting a trap for my wife."

Wagg: "My goodness! What do you expect?"

Wigg: "A mouse in the pantry."—Washington Univeristy Dirge.

The flapper co-ed went to the young prof. and said: "Profy, dear, what are my marks?" '

He put his arm around her very gently and whispered sweet little nothings in her ear.—Wasp.

She: "I'll never forget the time you asked me to marry you. You acted like a perfect fool."

He: "That wasn't acting, dear."—Wampus.

Art: "Mary told me she worshipped her figure.'

Dave: "And what did you say?"

Art: "Nothing. I embraced her religion."—Exchange.

English Prof.: "What do you think of Beowulf?"

Martha Anthony: "Oh, I'm dreadfully scared of animals."—Jester.

He—"I wish I knew what you are thinking about?"

Ella Simms: "Why?"

He: "Then I'll do it."

Ella Simms—"How dare you?"—Froth.

COLLEGE CIRCUS

(Continued from page one)

expected to take part, by rendering stunts. A money prize is offered the organization getting up the best stunt. The circus is one of the most interesting and enjoyable events during the whole year if every one does her part to make it a success.

VARSITY HOCKEY SQUAD

HOCKEY SQUAD

Nannie Sue Anthony, Theodocia Beacham, Permele Byrd, Edith Coleman, Anita Crane, Sue Cross, Lucille Crute, Frances Edwards, Elsie Hardy, Mary Frances Hatchett, Kathleen Hardy, Frances Hutchins, Kathleen Hundley, Adele Hutchinson, Mildred Maddrey, Allie Oliver, Billie Paris, Cleo Quisenberry, Elizabeth Rawls, Rolly Reed, Duvall Ridgeway, Dorothy Ritchie, Hildegarde Ross, Mary Acoles, Laura M. Smith, Dorothy Snedgar, Easter Souders, Lucille Transue, Anne Tucker.

MISS PECK TO TALK ON CURRENT EVENTS

Miss Peck will talk on current events, both state and national affairs every Wednesday evening immediately after prayers. She will talk to girls in the Student Building Lounge for one-half an hour.

These talks promise to be very worthwhile as well as interesting. All those who will be interested in hearing Miss Peck talk, come to the lounge this Wednesday night immediately after prayers!

AT EACO THEATRE Week Oct. 28--Nov. 2

Monday and Tuesday — Greta Garbo, Nils Asther, John Brown and o great supporting cast in "The Single Standard," a sound picture. Is there a single standard in love for men and women? Here is the fascinating romance of a girl who tried to toke love where she fould it, like a man. Don't miss Garbo as the girl who dares everything for love. See her in some of the fieriest love scenes ever filmed! The famed Garbo allure is here in unforgettoble power! Tiffany colored Classic sound picture on Monday and Tuesday. Serial Monday night.

Wednesday—Renee Adoree, George Fawcett and William Collier, Jr., in "Tide of Empire" a sound picture. Peter B. Kyne's fomous story. He was the enemy of her people . . . . she tried to hate him . . . . and yet Peter B. Kyne brought them together in his epic novel of the California gold rush. You'll be thrilled by their romance now in this fine picture version of it. Also comedy.

Thursday — Buster Keaton and Dorothy Sebastin in "Spite Marrioge" a sound picture. Bouquets and brickbats! The wildest, funniest honeymoon the screen has ever shown! You won't know whether to laugh or gasp —and you'll end up doing both together! Brand-new gags, gurgles ond giggles. The laugh Buster at his best! Also Comedy.

Friday and Saturday—Robers Ames and Willard Mack with a great cost in the all talking picture, "The Voice of the City." Now you will hear the actual voices of a mighty city, caught by the miracle speoking screen to thrill you! The celebrated Willard Mack, author and star of Broadway's most famous melodramas, makes his first tolking screen acpearance in a gigantic drama written by himself especially for the marvelous new era of the llms. Also News and picture in beautiful colors, as added attractions.

Admission prices, adults ot nights 35 cents, matinees 25 cents; children 15 cents to each show.

LYCEUM COURSE COMING SOON

(Continued from Page 1)

of the 'Rivals'."

On February 6, the fourth of the series, "Tam O'Shanter," will be given.

No Yong Pork, 'the oriental Mark Twain," expects to be with us Feb. 11. He is an authority on Far Eastern problems and as such we are especially fortunate to get him. His address all the way through sparkles with wit, is replete with humor, seasoned with whimsicality, intermingled with pathos and lofty sentiments. His gift of oratory, breadth of vision, richness of experience wealth of information, power of analysis, and kene sense of humor, make him a very popular speaker in the great cities of America and Canada.

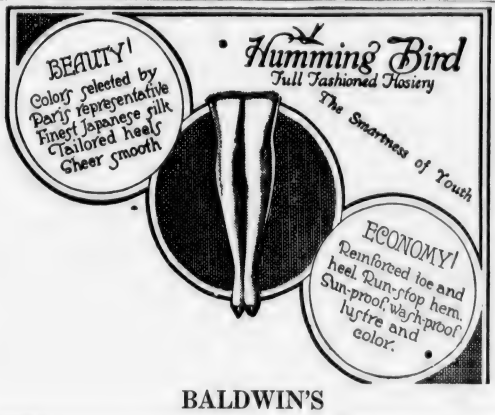
We usually save the best for the last. Certainly the program for March 3 is one of the best. Those of you who were here during the summer session have not forgotten the delightful performance given by the Boston Male Quartette. This time we are to have the Boston Male Choir with May Korb. You will agree with the Evening Express that: the Boston Male Choir handles a song in a manner to get the best meaning out of the composition. Splendid attack, polished shading, fine crescendo, and effective phrase are qualities perfected to a degree that places their work on a pedestal of achievement.

IT PAYS TO DEAL
at
GREENBERG'S DEPT. STORE
First in Style
Lowest in Price
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

McIntosh's Drug Store
New State Teachers College
STATIONERY
Farmville - - - Va.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

SCHEMMEL
CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony
Aesthetics, Etc.
REASONABLE TUITION RATES



"L'AIMANT" COTY
THE PERFUME OF MAGNETISM
COTY'S newest perfume —the sensation of Paris. Glorifies every personality.

Regular size (Crystal flacon) Illustrated $5.00
¼ Oz., $1.00
½ Oz., $2.00
DeLuxe 3 Oz., $12.00

SOLD AT THE BETTER SHOPS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD

FEATURE THIS WEEK
COLLEGE THEME TABLETS
3 For 25c
SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES
MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

BALDWIN'S

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
The House of Quality
GYM OUTFITS for the COLLEGE GIRLS
Black Sateen Bloomers $1.50
White Broadcloth Shirts $1.00
Gym Shoes, Laced to toe $1.35
DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

SEE THE BIG CIRCUS SATURDAY NIGHT

ROTUNDA

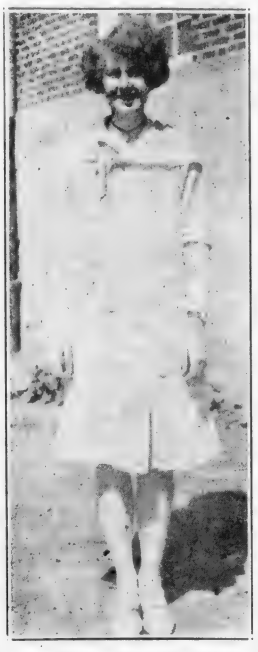
WATCH OUT FOR WITCHES TOMORROW NIGHT

Volume X — THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1929 — No. 6

HISTORY OF THE FOUNDING OF KAPPA DELTA

National Sorority's Birthplace Is Found to be S. T. C.— Oct. 23, 1897

October 23, 1897 marks the founding of Kappa Delta Sorority, these founders being Mary Sparks, Lenora Ashmore, Sara Turner and Julia Tyler. By the time the first annual of the school was published, June 1898, the numbers had grown to ten or more. And before another year had passed, Kappa Delta had received her charter and become a national sorority. For six years her history was marked by steady growth, chapters being established in many of the schools and colleges of Virginia and other states.



The time came when Kappa Delta was invited to join the National Pan-Hellenic Association. Only sororities with chapters exclusively in A. Grade colleges might affiliate with this organization and it was the decision of the sorority as a whole to accept the invitation of the Panhellenic Association, thus necessitating the dropping of Alpha Chapter at Farmville and others in schools not measuring up to college standards.

Since our own loved Alma Mater is now on the accredited list of the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges, Kappa Delta might again return to the home of her birth except for a later ruling of the Panhellenic Congress concerning teacher-training institutions.

In June, 1928, in commemoration of the founding of the sorority at Farmville, Kappa Delta, placed on the campus a handsome stone seat and sun dial, bearing the court-of-arms of the sorority and the names of the founders—Today Kappa Delta numbers now about eighty-five active chapters in thirty states of the Union, but is still loyal to the memories of Alpha at Farmville.

ROYALL AND JONES ARE REPRESENTATIVES ON STUDENT COUNCIL

At the regular meeting of the Freshman Class last Tuesday night, the most important business before the class was to elect two representatives for the Student Council and one representative for the Class Council. The Student Council representatives are Jane Royall from Tazewell, Va., and Ruth Jones from Chattanooga, Tenn. The Class Council representative is Elsie Hardy from Hampton, Va.

MARY F. HATCHETT
Capt. of Varsity Hockey Team

Debate Club Elects Officers

There were four girls who held offices in the Debate Club for this year who did not return to school, so a meeting was called some time ago to select girls to fill their places, and the following girls were chosen:

French Hutt, chairman of the Council; Polly Sheffield and Alice Hamner, representatives for the Council; Mary Page White, treasurer.

The first regular meeting of the club was held Thursday, Otcober 24. A tour into North Carolina, South Carolina, and Alabama, has been planned for December or January. That means that the varsity debaters must be chosen early. November, the fourth, is the date set for varsity try-outs and the subject for the debates is "Nations Should Adopt a Plan of Complete Disarmament, Excepting Such Forces as Are Needed for Police Purposes."

After the business meeting, Dr. Walmsley gave a bit of advice to the new and old members in his own delightful way.

The remainder of the program was furnished by the new members. The older club girls were well entertained.

HATCHETT HEADS VARSITY HOCKEY TEAM THIS SEASON

S. T. C. to Play Harrisonburg, November 16 and Westhampton Nov. 23

BATTLED W. & M. 2 YEARS

Friday afternoon Mary Frances Hatchett was elected captain of the varsity hockey team. This is the second year that Hatchett has held this position. Last year she was also varsity basket ball captain. Hatchett is ready to do her bit toward gaining victory for S. T. C., and she has a squad of willing workers to follow her leadership. With the cooperation of the student body Farmville will surely come out on top.

For the past two years Farmville has battled William and Mary in hockey. This year we are to have two varsity games. The Harrisonburg team comes here November 16 and we play Westhampton there on November 23.

When the game is called on Saturday, November 16, be out on the athletic field and cheer your team to victory. Help Farmville to make a walkaway. Let's show them what we can do with the proper moral support.

CELEBRATION OF HALLOWE'EN DAY

Thursday night will be one of great fun and excitement because people everywhere will celebrate Hallowe'en. Hallowe'en is the name given to October the thirty-first as vigil of Hallowmas or All Saints Day. Though it is known as little else but the eve of the Christian festival, Halowe'en antedates Christianity.

The two chief characteristics of ancient Hallowe'en were the lighting of bonfires, and the belief that of all nights in the year, this was the one on which ghosts and witches were most likely to appear. About November the first, the Druids held great autumn festivals and lighted fires in honor of the Sun God in thanksgiving for the harvest. The Druids believed that at this time the lord of death called together again souls that for the past twelve months had been condemned to inhabit the bodies of animals.

The custom of lighting fires was kept uptil quite recently in the highlands of Scotland and Wales. It was a custom to place as many stones in

(Continued on page 3)

MISS PECK TALKS ON CURRENT EVENTS

Wednesday night right after prayers Miss Peck made a very interesting and instructive talk on current events in the Student Building lounge. Miss Peck has kindly consented to make these informal talks to the girls every Wednesday night. If you do not have time to read the newspapers, take a few minutes off, and come and hear Miss Peck. You will not regret it, and in your efforts to get an education you will not be neglecting entirely that phase of your education which will help you understand what is happening in the world today.

The following things were discussed: What agreement we really have made with England through Mr. Ramsey McDonald's visit to this country. The only thing that has resulted from this visit, besides a good will feeling is the agreement for a conference to be held in London next year to further discuss the disarmament question.

The importance and seriousness of Stressman's death to Germany and the world.

The significance of Mr. Shearer's case, bringing out the part of big business in world affairs.

The abolishment of the jury system and the initiation of imposing sentences on psychological basis.

Miss Jennie Tabb Talks on Father Tabb

The members of the Cunningham Literary Society enjoyed a rare treat at their meeting on October 24 by hearing Miss Jennie Tabb talk on Father Tabb's life and works. Miss Jennie, probably better than anyone else, can help us to love Father Tabb and appreciate his works more by the glimpses she can give of his personal life and character.

John Tabb was born at "The Forest" in Amelia County in 1845. At the opening of the War between the States he was only sixteen years of age, but he left home and entered the Southern army. During the war John Tabb became a captain; however, shortly before the close of the war he was captured and made a prisoner. While in prison a great friendship was begun between Tabb and Sidney Lanier which lasted throughout life. One sees in the writings of Father Tabb the great influence Lanier had on his works. One of Tabb's books

(Continued on last page)

'THE DUMB WAITER' MAKES BIG HIT LAST SATURDAY

The Junior Class Gives Musical Comedy to Enthusiastic Audience

The Junior Class made a name for itself last Saturday night when it presented Geoffrey Morgan's two-act musical comedy, "A Dumb Waiter." Was it good? Why, it was the cutest, cleverest, snappiest play, and best of all, the acting in it was unusually fine.

Those of us who did not know that Permele Byrd had dramatic ability were given the surprise of our lives, she and Henrietta Cornwell as the two "widows" were splendid in their roles. Henrietta and Estelle Honeyman made a great hit in the second act when Estelle, acting the part of an English waiter posing as a nobleman, tries to confess as to her true profession. Estelle's English accent was perfect in the confession, "I'm a waiter, that's what I am!"

Frances Potts was just great in the role of a poor college student who poses as a dumb waiter in order to prove himself worthy of his sweetheart's hand. Some "Frenchman," both in looks and language! She and Virginia Witt, who took the role of Frences' sweetheart, made an attractive couple and both did some good acting in their respective parts.

Mayo Beaty and Ida Trdolan showed us how they could sing in "Watermelon Days" and "Rosy O'Riley. Both girls put a lot of life in their acting and made a huge success of it.

As Professor McNoodle, an eccentric collector, Adele Hutchinson was particularly good. She looked the part and she acted it and we may say the same for Virginia Robertson who played the role of a Wall Street banker.

Many of the choruses were snappy and attractive, especially the one in "Watermelon Days" and "Painting Your Face on the Moon." (We might say that there were times when the chorus seemed a bit shabby.)

With the closing chorus "the couple in the rear" (Frances and Virginia),

Continued on last page

WELLESLEY COLLEGE PROHIBITS FLYING

The popularity of flying has added a new prohibition to the list of "thou shalt nots" on the Wellesley College Handbook. The dean's office issued the edict that "No student while under the jurisdiction of the College may ride in an aeroplane unless permission has been granted from the dean's office and the written consent of her parents secured."—The Critograph.

THE BIG CIRCUS—KLEVEREST KOMIC SHOW OF THE YEAR IS COMING TO S. T. C. NOVEMBER SECOND. "COME ONE COME ALL" FOR A GOOD TIME.

Kome to the "gym" at 7:30, Nov. 2nd. and you'll see the greatest treat of the year—the Kleverest Konglomeration of Komical Karacters that Ever Kame to Town. Kome and see them for yourself and tell us if you don't think so! All the animals will be there from the Kat to the Kangaroo There will be marvelous demonstrations in the wild animal act, showing the magic control over the biggest brutes that ever breathed.

The Wild West Show is full of dazzling cowboy feats. Men of dash and daring, ride bareback. See the thrilling, blood-curdling Bull-Fight — the amazingly powerful Toreador, conquered by almost unbelievable strength of man. It is stupendous, sensational!

If any of you have the headache or any worse disease, be sure to make it known to Dr. Dispensary, the great physician. He and his breath-taking experiments are world renowned!

Karefree Klowns—laughs and more laughs; amazing acrobats—feats such as you'll never see again; spectacular horses—bareback riding and racing; remarkable magic; the strength of the ladies; the charm of the tight rope. Enough fun for a year crammed into one nite.

And don't miss the Grand Parade. In the afternoon, the whole circus will parade up High Street. Don't miss it!!!

Added attractions are the Hampden-Sydney Orchestra (oh, but can't we have hear the music now—the beat of the drum; the swing of the piano!) numerous side shows; plenty of pink lemonade, candy and other good things to eat; and the Brass Counter

(Continued on last page)

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — JESSIE SMITH, '31

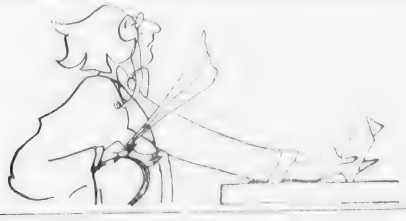
Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '30

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30
ANN STUMP, '30

Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader — JESSIE WATKINS, '33



Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

"Letting George Do It!"

"Let George do it" is an expression greatly admired by those who let other people do their work for them. The full meaning of this expression has become very popular with some members of the student body of S. T. C.

Some girls very thoughtfully throw paper on the campus or the halls without thinking how they could help the Campus League by being more careful. They think some one will pick it up. When walking through the auditorium, quite frequently hymn books are knocked down. It is so easy to stop for just a second and place the books in the rack. But—what's the use? Some one else will do it.

Seniors are guilty of "letting George do it." They let freshmen, sophomores, and juniors attend chapel for them. The front seats in chapel are so often vacant that some of the freshmen are wondering why they are reserved.

The privilege of paying class dues is not accepted by all members of each class. Little do the non-paying members realize that they are letting some one accept their responsibilities and pleasures.

Some girls let a few members of their classes do all the work and receive all the honors. Of course, a few will receive more honors than others; yet there are some who are capable but who will not grasp the opportunity of doing better work.

A few girls are popular, because of deeds of kindness they do. It is easy to cheer others who are blue, but it is usually left to the few faithful ones. Again, they are letting others do their work for them!

"The Virginian" staff would like for every girl to have her picture in the annual this year. One hundred per cent representation would mean that each girl was doing her part. Instead of doing her bit, she is letting a few represent the entire student body.

Are you going to "Let George do it"? If you are, change your name to George!

The Right Type of Entertainments

Rumors were afloat last year about S. T. C.'s small entertainments given by some of the organizations. The opinion was that these entertainments which consisted of "skits", "one-act plays", and "dances" were parasites on the student body. Many times after having spent money to see them one felt as though it had been wasted.

To avoid this opinion this year each organization that sponsors one of these playlets should be careful that it be censored before it is brought before the eyes of the public. If these entertainments are of the highest type, of out-of-class activities and they do aid in developing talents if they are sponsored correctly! Find the keynote in playlets, which the student body will get the most out of, and play up to it.

Therefore heads of organizations be careful who compose your committees! Those girls will beresponsible for your part of the entertainment. Choose girls who will use discretion in the choice of the types of entertainments. In doing this you will choose girls who will make money for your organization!

OVER THE TEACUPS

O, hello there! Been away? Well, I thought you must have, since you had your coat and hat on. Didn't I see you? Why of course I did!

Gee, it's a shame you weren't here for the Junior musical comedy. It was swell. You really should have seen it. Yes, Virginia Witt and Frances Potts had the leading parts—if there were any, and they were both fine! And, my dear, you really should have seen Henrietta—she was a scream. She said "lost three," and it was just too cute. Three what? Why husbands, of course, and Estelle Honeyman—well I just didn't know anybody could be so funny! But if I undertake to tell you all about it, I'll be here until some time next week.

Can you wait to see it? I've been hearing all sorts of whispering and rumors about the animals and everything, and if next week end doesn't soon come, well, I hardly see how I can stand it. Have you heard about our event? Well, don't tell anybody that I told you because it's supposed to be a secret, and I wouldn't have anybody know that I told it for the world. No, I know you won't repeat it.

Let me tell you something funny! Last week one afternon I was down town and we met a little colored girl with an S. T. C. cap on! Of course, I know that we don't have a monopoly in all the little blue and white caps in the world, but it was funny to see her wearing it when all the Freshmen had them on.

Have you seen your proofs yet? Mine came last week—and they flattered me to death. I thought they were very pretty and everybody said they were exactly like me. Why, the very idea of you saying I'm conceited to repeat it. I didn't mean to be "sticking my neck out" by telling it. Well, of course if you didn't mean it, I'll forgive you.

Listen, sugar, I'm in an awful hurry, so I'll have to run along. The dances? Oh yes, you should have seen everybody! There were more new people here! Lots of the old girls were back, too, and everybody looked grand. No, I haven't heard much about them except that everybody had a marvelous time.

I've really got to go now. Do come up some time; I've loads to tell you and I want to hear all about your trip, too.

'Bye!

MOTTOS

There is a stage in everyone's life where they feel the necessity of a motto, or maybe only a phrase to live by. When we think about it, it seems a mighty small thing and perhaps rather useless, but have you ever tried it? Well, it works, and I am going to tell you how to do it.

The first thing, of course, is to pick your motto—One that you love and believe. You should so familiarize yourself with it that is ever a thought in your mind. If you have a copy of the motto that can be easily tacked up, put it where you can see it constantly. Let it be a check on you; model yourself by it.

If you are blue and discouraged, if you are disappointed and sad, read your motto and you will be better for having read it.

What motto should you chose? One that meets all the needs of your life. Haev you ever noticed the pretty framed verses above the desk of noted people? The most popular one seems to be Kipling's "If."

HELP WANTED ON COLLEGIATE HALL OF FAME

Over a year and a half ago College Humor Magazine inaugurated a new department, called The Collegiate Hall of Fame, which has since become a feature of great interest to undergraduates and alumni everywhere. In it are pictured distinguished personalities from the campuses of American colleges and universities whose activities have made them deserving of recognition. This section consists of two pages in each issue, containing photographs and short paragraphs on eight college men and women, and is the first editorial feature of the magazine.

It is now planned that shortly after the first of the year this monthly pictorial feature will be expanded into an art section to occupy eight pages, each subject to be given a full page. This will mean marvelous results in reproducing photographs of undergraduates whose careers are interesting to the college crowd.

College Humor is asking for nomination from you to this new Collegiate Hall of Fame. Their editorial board, who make the final selection, are anxious to receive suggestions of people who are truly deserving of this honor. They do not insist that their nominees wear horn-rimmed spectacles; and Phi Beta keys, though very nice in their way, are not an absolute requirement. If there's a girl in your school who can fly an airplane upside down and who keeps herself in lipstick funds by taking care of babies while their mothers cope with the intricacies of contract, take a picture of her, with either the plane or the baby, and send 'er in! If there's a boy in your school who would have to launder a flock of lmoiusines in order to get enough money to have his photograph taken. College Humor ought to have one of those photographs.

Nominations should be addressed to Collegiate Hall of Fame, College Humor, 1050 North LaSalle Street, Chicago, Illinois.

TWENTIETH CENTURY HIGH SCHOOLS

If high schools continue to add new subjects to their courses as fast as they have done in the past year or two, there will be little left for college years. Aviation, stagecraft and radio are a few of the newest additions.

However, as long as high schools disdain the teaching of such fundamental subjects as geography, and teach aviation to students who could not name three American republics—and much less their capitals—there is little danger of turning out too many Lindberghs.

TENNIS

How many steps up the tennis ladder have you progressed? If you have not played any matches yet, get to work at once and challenge any of the three people ahead of you. If you defeat her, take her place on the ladder, while the person defeated drops back to your place. If you are challenged you must either play within one week from the time you received the challenge or default. The best two out of three sets wins the matches. The loser must put the results in Miss Iler's mail box, so the changes on the ladder can be attended to.

Now snap it up and make your challenges, and see how far up the ladder you can get!

AT THE CIRCUS

Saturday, when the circus comes
With its noises and its drums
Then we'll see the tall giraffe,
And the clown who makes us laugh,
For you know he always can,
He is such a funny man.
Then we'll see the great parade,
Then we'll buy some lemonade,
And the kind they always drink
Is so beautifully pink
I should really like to know
Of course there will be many other sights
In the "Gym" on Saturday night
So no matter what you've begun
Come right along and join in the fun.

L. E. W., '30

HALLOWE'EN

Hush-hush—'tis Hallowe'en—
Through the darkness may be seen
Round-eyed owls perched in a tree,
Gliding gobblins—one, two, three—
Big black bats with wings that flop,
Saucy elves that skip and hop,
Pumpkin faces, eyes a-gleam—
Humped-up cats that hiss and scream,
Witches flying through the air—
All just fun, so I don't care;
Hush-hush—'tis Halowe'en—
Best be quiet, and not seen!

Elsie M. Fowler.

WHO'S AFRAID?

Who's afraid on Hallowe'en?
Not I!
Who's afraid of ghost half-seen?
Not I!
Or of any old witches
Riding on the hickory switches?
Not I!
Who's afraid of shrieks and moanings,
Of weird screams and hollow groanings?
Not I!
Who's afraid of—but oh, gee!
Mammee—! N. Hornbrook

MY JACK O' LANTERN

I've a jolly Jack-o'-Lantern
With a smile that's very wide,
And a face all bright and shiny
From a candle that's inside.

He is such a happy fellow
That he makes me happy too,
Makes me wish to be the light
That would bring the smile to you.

I think I'll learn a lesson
From my jolly little Jack:
I'll smile at everybody too,
And watch the smile come back.

Laura M. Fitch

IN THE FALL

The leaves are so tired!
They are not very old
But they are weary;
They are coming back to the soft breast of their mother, Earth.
Though all the world says they are ugly and worn-out,
She will be glad to have them back again;
She will let them nestle down against her—
She will let them cuddle there and rest.
God will send her fleecy white blankets, snowy robes,
To wrap them 'round and snugly tuck them in.
The leaves will die while they are asleep,
But they are not afraid, for they
Have done their work well;
And they know that next sprnig
From their dead selves
New beauty will arise—
Green grass—
Bright flowers—
Perhaps more leaves—
Yes—even leaves know
That God kills them and buries them
That they may rise into newness of life.

M. ST. HARRISON, '32.

SOCIAL NEWS

Jessie Smith spent the week-end in Roanoke and attended the W. L. and U. of Tenn. game.

Mary Priest spent the week-end in Norfolk.

Marguerite Swann, Melisse Mullins, Nannie Belle Clendenin and Grace Tritton atttended the V. P. I. and Carolina game at Chapel Hill, N. C., last week-end.

Katherine Downing spent the week-end at her home in Norfolk.

Ruth Hart spent the week-end at her home in Portsmouth.

"Liz" Antrim, Elinor and Lillian Hogan and Lucille Graves spent the week-end at their homes in Roanoke.

Rena and Helen Robertson spent the week-end at their home in Lynchburg.

Margaret Baker spent the week-end at Gravel Hill, Va.

Martha Sanders spent the week-end at her home in Richmond.

Leslie Ritter visited in Newport News last week end.

Sarah Rowbotham spent the week end at her home in Altavista.

Dena Lee Stith visited in Blackstone last week-end.

Madeline Lee and "Liz" Jordan spent the week-end at their homes in Emporia.

Doris Collier and Ernestine Myers attended the W. and L. and Tenn. game and dance in Roanoke the past week-end.

Virginia Lee visited in Lynchburg last week-end.

Clara Norfleet visited in Danville last week-end.

Virginia Old spent the week-end in Norfolk.

Etta Marshall spent Saturday in Richmond.

Jane Brown and Annie Denit spent the week end at their homes in Salem.

Louise Whitlock spent the week-end with Lucy Thompson at the latter's home in Emporia, Va.

Frances Wilson spent the week-end at her home in Roanoke.

Louise Preston spent the week-end in Roanoke.

"Liz" Watkins, "Red" Foster, Margaret Pumphrey, Frances Sales, Virginia Ellis, Martha Hinch, Beth Crackenbaugh, Elizabeth Epperson and Emma Woods visited friends on the campus last week-end.

HOMECOMING GAME

Saturday afternoon when Roanoke College met Hampden-Sydney in Death Valley—there was a scene of renewing of friendships among alumni. The freshmen pinned badges on each alumnus and made each one welcome.

Three cheer leaders kept the school spirit high with the freshmen yelling.

Hampden-Sydney's first touchdown turned Death Valley into one mad shout—but Roanoke didn't stay so far behind—therefore excitement prevailed during the entire game. Though Hampden-Sydney won, Roanoke College was a good fighter and likewise a good match for Hampden-Sydney.

HALLOWE'EN

(Continued from Page 1)

the dying embers as there were persons around, and the next morning a search was made. If any stones were displaced it was regarded as certain that the persons represented would die in twelve months.

In Scotland as among the Druids, Hallowe'en was regarded as a time when supernatural influences prevailed, and as a time set apart for the walking abroad of the spirits. The human spirit might even be detached from the body to wander about.

Our Hallowe'en celebration is devoted to sports and practical jokes. We still roast nuts and bob apples sometimes, but instead of looking for spirits from the invisible world, we become spirits ourselves and wander about doing all the mischief we can to anyone we can.

WORLD NEWS

Madame Curie, who discovered and isolated the element radium which has saved thousands of lives, is visiting in this country. She came to America for the first time in 1921, and her American admirers gave her one gram of radium and $3,500 salary per year. She accepted the gram of radium, only that it should be used in the Curie Institute in the University of Paris. The money was used toward the rent of one gram of radium for the Warsaw Cancer hospital. She came again to America October 15, and returns home November 8. She has vetoed all plans for help claiming that America has done enough for her.

The death of Gustav Stressman is not only a great misfortune to Germany, whose Chancellor and Foreign Minister he was, but to a great many other nations as well. Credit belongs to him for the voltuntary and complete renunciation of Alasce and Lorraine by Germany together with Germany's willingness for permanent peace on the Rhine.

He initiated the Locarno Pacts, and it was he who insisted that Germany enter the League of Nations, and who achieved that aim. All these things he achieved in spite of a personality that antagonized many at first who came in contact with him. The better he was known the bigger he seemed, and the more attractive he became.

Special acoustic equipment for the theatres enabling the deaf to hear as well as see the motion picture has been designed by engineers of the Bell Telephone Laboratoris, and is now being used experimentally. It has been installed in the Paramount theater and 57 per cent of the "hard of hearing" people reported that they could hear perfectly through it.

William and Mary College, the only college in the country having an authentic Coat-of-Arms and charter from the British crown, is changngi its present Seal to conform to this non classical design. The ancient insignia has been recently discovered by President Chandler.—The Brackety-Ack.

PANTHERS SUPREME

For the past two years the Panthers have enjoyed a complete supremacy in the ranks of the "Little Six" teams. When we met one of these teams it was never the question as to which one would win as to what the score would be. This year it seems as if the Panthers are going to have to fight a terrific battle and even go into the Elon and Lenoir-Rhyne games as the underdog. This will be a new experience to the Panthers and it will be interesting to se the outcome of these tilts.—The Hi-Po.

WORK FOR YOUR COLORS!

Alarm clocks jingling occasionally, voices murmuring—and then—the sound of a bell—immediately much hurrying and scurrying and loud yelling! On the front of S. T. C.' buildings are flung bright banners—some green and white—other red and white—for this is our color day! It is 6 a. m., Thanksgiving Day at S. T. C. Both Green and Whites and Red and Whites want to get up more banners than the other and everyone is full of pep!

Thanksgiving Days at S. T. C. are days to be remembered. It is then that the interclass hockey games take place. Each class wants the championship and is out to win it. The two teams winning on Thanksgiving Day play for the championship at a later date.

To the color winning the championship in hockey goes 10 points towards the color cup. This cup is won by the color having the highest number of points. Last year the Green and Whites put their colors on the cup. Will the Green and White remain on the cup this year?

Championship in any class sport gives that color 10 points toward this cup. 10 points goes to the color having the highest total score on Field Day. The color having the highest number of girls making the varsity team in any sport gets 10 points. 10 points is given to the color having the highest number of girls winning monograms.

Put your colors on the cup! You can do it! Go out for the sports and pile up the points! Its worth working for! Get busy!

Georgia Tech Plays Hardest Game of All

It is generally conceded around the Southern Conference that Georgia Tech plays the hardest game of football in the south. This fact was given additional strength when the Golden Tornado met the University of North Carolina at Atlanta recently. Jones, Tech's star end, was banished from the game because of roughness and his team was penalized half the distance to the goal. Seven of the Carolina regulars suffered slight injuries during the game which kept them afterwards from participating in practice for several days.—The Tech.

End of the Month Sale of
DRESSES SWEATERS
HATS SHIRTS
HOSE

The Band Box Shoppe

SCHEMMEL

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony

Aesthetics, Etc.

REASONABLE TUITION RATES

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

Quality—Price—Service

Come in and get acquainted

We're Glad to Have You With Us

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

FALL SHOWING OF

HATS

THE HAT SHOPPE

Mrs. H. H. Hunt

THIRD STREET

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery

AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Farmville - - - - Va.

CANADA DRUG CO.

Next to Baldwin's Store

Come to us for your cosmetics and

STATIONERY

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE

Next to the Theatre

Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies

MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Falconer Gift Shop

Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery Engraving

COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Direct Eastman Kodak Agency

(Fresh films)

Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)

COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S

is headquarters for the best

SANDWICHES AND DRINKS

in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP

Work done while you wait with First Class Materials

110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS

Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop

323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus

G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY

The Convenient Store

FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

Will fix your shoes

WHILE YOU WAIT

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS

TAILORING CLEANING

PRESSING

Farmville - - - - - - - - - - Virginia

WE'VE MADE A SPECIAL PURCHASE

Of Eighteen Silhouette and Pricess Dresses

Waist line up, skirt longer, regular $10 values, special this week $5.95

Received today red hot number in latest shoes, specially priced $3.85, $4.85, $5.85.

Jnigle heel new varsity oxfords in tan combinations or black $5.00

An unusual value $35 Red Fox scarfs special $22.50

If you are interested in coats, see us before buying

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Snooty: "We had a panic at the movies Saturday night."

Mayo: "What, a fire?"

Snooty: "No, the whole place was suddenly plunged into complete light."
—William Purple Cow.

Mary Pearson: 'Why did you stop having dates with Smith?"

Mary E. Taylor: "He did something last nite that I didn't like very well."

Mary Pearson: "What was it?"

Mary E.: "Kissed me once when he left."

Customer from S. T. C.: "I want to see the cheapest dress you have."

Clerk: "Something a little better than what you're wearing."

"A little bit goes a long way," screamed the bird as it wheeled high above the city.—Octopus.

Shad: "Have you ever kissed another man?"

Va. Gurley (falteringly): "Y-Yes."

He (excitedly): "Tell me his name, so I can give him a thrashing."

Gurley: "But-but-he might be too many for you."—Bison.

Alice Covington: "Does my gown look as though it were falling off my shoulder?"

Bob: "No, dear, come on lets dance."

Alice: "I'm sorry, but I must go and rearrange it. Its supposed to look that way."—Pitt Panther.

Rector: "Is that your cigarette sub?"

Margaret Leonard: "Go ahead, sir, you saw it first."—Gargoyle.

The naked hills lie wanton in the breeze,
The fields are bare, the groves unfrocked,
Nude are quivering the limbs of shameless trees,
What wonder that the corn is shocked.

Mother (coming in at 2 a. m.): "You needn't have waited up for me. I have my own latchkey, daughter."

Daughter: "I know, mother, but someone had to let Grannie in."

Marguerite Swann: "Look, they're bringing that player off the field. Do you suppose he's hurt?"

Grace Tritton: "No stupid, he's just too lazy to walk."

S. T. C. Sophomore: "Of course, I love him. He is the best punter they have at Hampden-Sydney."

Roommate: "That's nothing to be proud of. I've always heard that it was the poorest form of wit."

PITIFUL PICTURES

A professor of mathematics being short changed.

A truck driver cringing before his wife.

Someone choosing Luckies in an Old Gold blind fold test.

The joke editor trying to find something funny.

While you read this Henry Ford made ten thousand dollars ($10,000).

"THE DUMB WAITER" VERY SUCCESSFUL

Continued from Page 1.

appeared together in a heart-shaped choir, a very clever arrangement which gave the play an attractive ending. Everyone enjoyed it and the Juniors are to be commended on having put on such a pleasant entertainment.

MISS JENNIE TABB TALKS ON FATHER TABB

(Continued from page one)

is dedicated to this dear friend as well as several poems. "My Star" and "At Lanier's Grave" show especially the great devotion existing between the two.

After the war everything was in ruin, and instead of returning to "The Forest," John Tabb went to Baltimore to study music, for he was a lover of this art as well as a poet. Later he taught in St. Charles School in Baltimore and then he studied in the Episcopal Seminary at Alexandria. While at the seminary he met John Curtis who influenced Tabb in uniting with the Catholic Church and entering priesthood. Father Tabb remained in Alexandria several years, but finally returned to St. Charles as professor of English. He remained here until his death in 1909.

Father Tabb was greatly loved by all who knew him and his classes at St. Charles were always crowded with students who came to enjoy his wit as well as his beneficial lectures.

Aside from his genius, Tabb possessed an almost unimaginable keen sense of humor. Nothing was ever too serious but that he could see something of the ridiculous in it. He began to write when he was thirty-five years old, and Mr. Tabb, Miss Jennie's father, edited his first works. Tabb's lyrics and child verse are probably his most well known and best works. Father Tabb was truly a real poet, for he could see beauty in the commonplace, and this, surely, is a test of a poetic genius. Some of his most beautiful poems are writtem of the simple things in nature, and really possess thoughts which make the reader appreciate the beauties of nature more. "Woodgrain" and "To a Dandelion" are typical examples of his poems of this type.

Death came to Father Tabb when he was sixty-five years of age, two years after he had become totally blind. He asked to leave St. Charles because of his failing eyesight before this, but the faculty and students had become so devoted to him, they wanted him to spend the remaining years of his life with them. He was buried in Hollywood Cemetery at Richmond.

The Tabb library in Richmond for children was established as a memorial to Father Tabb because of his great devotion for children as shown in his child verse. Several pictures are in the library illustrating his best known poems for children. At any time one might happen into this delightful room the sight of many little children reading from Father Tabb's poems and other childrens' poems would make one rejoice that little children are learning to appreciate the world in which they live through poems written in beautifully simple words which they can understand.

THE BIG CIRCUS COMING TO S. T. C.

Continued from page one

where for a small sum you may buy gift articles of brass, candle sticks; flower bowls and other novelties.

"Now, don't forget I told you"—to come to the Circus, 7:30, Nov. 2. Admission 25c.

AT THE EACO THEATRE WEEK OF NOV. 4th to 9th

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Buck Jones with the Lewis Players will be at the theatre presenting new plays. This company is so well known that it is not necessary to tell you about them. They will present an entire change of program each night. They have a good six-piece novelty orchestra with them and between acts of their plays they will put on good vaudeville acts. Monday the play is "Sally," a comedy-drama by J. S. Angel. Tuesday "The Serpent" will be presented and Wednesday they will present "A Question of Divorce." They have an extra good company this year and can promise you excellent entertainment. Shows will start at 8 o'clock. Admission, adults, 50c, children 25c.

Thursday—We present two feature pictures, one sound and the other silent. The pictures are Laura La Plante in "The Love Trap," a sound picture, and Tim McCoy in "Sioux Blood," a silent picture. We also show 7th episode of serial, "Diamond Master," and a comedy. Here is your chance to see two good shows for one regular admission.

Friday and Saturday—Lon Chaney with Phyllis Haver in "Thunder," a sound picture. Through storm, flood, accident and death, Chaney drives his locomotive in one of the most thrilling pictures ever filmed. You loved him in "West of Zanzibar," "Where East is East" and "The Big City." This is absolutely the most exciting and thrilling picture Chaney has ever starred in. Don't miss it. Also news reel and color classic sound short subject.

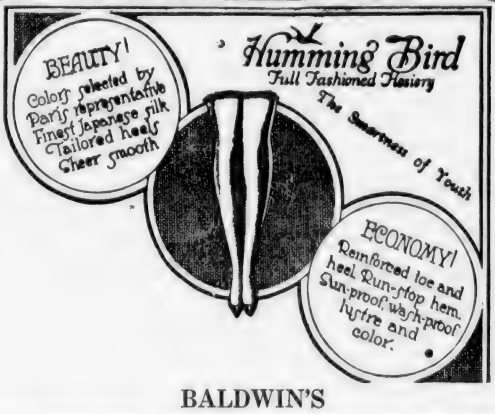
Picture admission prices—Adults at night, 35c; matinee, 25c; children under 12, 15c to each show

Emily: "How is it that Ornie never takes you to the theatre any more?"

Nan: "Well, you see, one evening it rained, and we sat in the parlor."

IT PAYS TO DEAL
at
GREENBERG'S DEPT. STORE
First in Style
Lowest in Price
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

McIntosh's Drug Store
New State Teachers College
STATIONERY
Farmville - - - Va.



ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

THOMAS TOURS—Private, First Class—Personally Conducted
CUBA—FLORIDA
By motor, $178.00, complete
Spend Christmas in Lovely and Gay Havana—Same tour in February
It is only by comfortable motor that we can appreciate fully the "Land of Sunshine and Tropical Flowers."
Motoring through Havana and rural Cuba, "the loveliest land that human eyes have ever seen"—motoring and sightseeing down the East Coast, through the Everglades and Orange Groves, the Bok Memorial and Bird Sanctuary, the "Ridge Section," West Coast and Silver Springs, including the most wonderful marine gardens.
From December 21st to December 31st $178.00 Jacksonville and return
OTHER PERSONALLY CONDUCTED TOURS
General Europe and the British Isles and Passion Play. Mostly by motor—10 countries—66 days, $830.
Central Europe and the Scandinavian Countries and Passion Play. Greatly by motor—10 countries—51 days $695.
Southern and Central Europe and England and Passion Play. Eight countries 51 days, $675.
Northeast and Canada Tours. Independent travel. Write for information and booklets—ROY Z. THOMAS, A. M., Ph. D., ROCK HILL, S. C.

"L'AIMANT" COTY
THE PERFUME OF MAGNETISM
COTY'S newest perfume —the sensation of Paris. Glorifies every personality.

Regular size (Crystal flacon) Illustrated $5.00
½ Oz., $1.00
¼ Oz., $2.00
DeLuxe 3 Oz., $12.00
SOLD AT THE BETTER SHOPS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD

FEATURE THIS WEEK
COLLEGE THEME TABLETS
3 For 25c
SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES
MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

BALDWIN'S

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
The House of Quality
GYM OUTFITS for the COLLEGE GIRLS
Black Sateen Bloomers $1.50
White Broadcloth Shirts $1.00
Gym Shoes, Laced to toe $1.35
DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

SEE AND HEAR "THE FEAST OF THE RED CORN"

THE ROTUNDA

CHEER LEADERS TO BE ELECTED NEXT WEEK

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1929 No. 7

POLLARD IS ELECTED BY LARGE MAJORITY

COLLEGE CIRCUS IS BEST SHOW OF THE YEAR 1929

Senior Stunt Wins First Prize; Cunningham Literary Society Gets Second Place

ELAINE GOODE IS THE CIRCUS QUEEN

Circus Day began for S. T. C. last Saturday afternoon when everyone turned out to see that Grand Circus Parade. A wonderful parade—giraffes, elephants, bears, clowns, beautiful ladies and what not,—all led by a handsome brass band and a lovely circus queen (Elaine Goode) who rode in a beautiful buggy of "ye goode olde days"! It was rare, we loved it and we all made up our minds to see the big show, which was to come that night.

Saturday night saw us marveling at the show ground. What an array! There were candy and hot-dog stands, a fortune telling booth where we all had our fortunes told, dance hall, a lovely brass counter, a fascinating fish pond where one caught all kinds of prizes, and best of all a great big circus ring where we saw various and sundry amazing and breath-taking performances announced by Mary Frances Hatchett, master of ceremonies.

Those "Klever Klass" performances were comical and cute. We all thought the Senior Stunt was best and we were glad it was awarded first prize. (Blanche Murrell made a fascinating senorita.) We remember too that the

(Continued on page 3)

SENIOR CLASS MAN IS PRESENTED

Lucille Graves Presents Miss Louise McCormick Saturday Morning

The Senior class of 1930 presented their class man, Miss Louise McCormick, to the faculty and the student body in chapel Saturday, Nov. 2.

Dressed in their caps and gowns, the Seniors led by Miss McCormick and the class president, Lucile Graves, marched into chapel to the strains of the Alma Mater.

When the chord was struck, the seniors removed their caps and held them over their hearts while they sang a song to the class man.

Lucile Graves then presented Miss McCormick to the student body and to the faculty. She emphasized the fact that since Miss McCormick such a short time ago marched down the aisle as a senior, she is thoroughly capable of understanding the Senior class problems.

Miss McCormick graduated from State Teachers College, Farmville, in 1927. She was an outstanding member of her class, and one whom we all love and respect. Besides having a high scholastic record, Miss McCormick took an active part in many extra-curricula activities. A few of the things which she belonged to while in school were Pi Gamma Mu, Pi Kappa Omega, Alpha Delta Rho, Inter-Collegiate Debate Team, Dramatic Club and Chromatic Club.

Seniors Formally Installed On Last Wednesday Night

Wednesday night, October 30, the Senior Class of 1929-'30 was formally installed by Dr. Jarman.

The Seniors, accompanied by their little sisters, marched down the aisle to the strains of Alma Mater. Following a solo by Florence Cralle, each Senior was in her turn installed.

Dr. Jarman then extended to the group a few words of commendation and advice. He congratulated the members of the class upon having attained the ranking of Seniors in this institution— State Teachers College of Farmville. In explaining the full meaning of the name, he stated that the sole purpose here is the training of teachers, but even so it covers a much broader field than the so-called liberal arts college for here students may secure definite vocational preparation in addition to cultural growth and development.

Dr. Jarman reminded the class that as Seniors they are responsible to a certain extent for the scholastic tone of the institution. The courses will mean to the students whatever they wish. The student who goes into class with the purpose in view of securing the most that is to be had in aiding her preparation for her vocation is the one who will derive the most benefit from the course. He stressed the primary importance of scholastic work although urging us to take part on extra-curricula activities when it can be done without interfering with one's studies.

The last point which Dr. Jarman emphasized was the importance of cooperation between faculty and students if our institution is to render fullest service.

SENIOR CLASS MAN

MISS LOUISE McCORMICK

Miss Peck Speaks On the Passion Play

Friday night, Miss Peck gave an interesting talk on the Passion Play and showed a few slides of the people and scenes of Oberammergau. Miss Peck vistied Oberammergau in 1925, where she came in close contact with the people who from their early youth contemplate taking part in the Passion Play. She learned their personalities and characteristics, the outstanding characteristic being humbleness.

After Miss Peck's talk no doubt each girl yearned to go to Oberammergau in 1930, when the play is next to be shown.

SCHOOL CONTACTS WITH RED CROSS SHOW A TREND

Addressing an audience at Harvard last Summer, an official of the American National Red Cross observed that multitudinous forces were striving continuously to penetrate the surrounding walls of the country's educatoinal system, to impress it in some way, influence its trends, or utilize it otherwise.

The fact that these well springs of education are so guarded makes it especially significant that the American Red Cross is accepted at increasingly numerous points of contact between its services and those of educational bodies and institutions in the nation.

This association of the Red Cross with the nation's educational programs begins with earliest school years, and flourishes in the highest institutions. It ranges through a variety of Red Cross services of intense practicality.

Today, in Physical Education departments of leading universities, the American Red Cross course in swimming and life saving; and first aid, is standard. Some of these courses were conducted by Red Cross people and are now continued under experts trained and qualified according to Red Cross requirements. Some of the best instructors in these subjects who have served on the Red Cross staff formerly were college athletes, members of swimming teams, crews, etc.

Women's colleges not alone have adopted the Red Cross courses in home hygiene and care of the sick; and nutrition, but many give credits for completion, including extension credits to teachers who take these courses.

(Continued on Page 3)

VIRGINIA - MARYLAND B. S. U. CONFERENCE CONVENES AT EAST RADFORD NOVEMBER 1 TO 3, 1929

The Virginia-Maryland B. S. U. Conference which met at East Radford, Virginia, November 1-3 to discuss student religious problems of the present generation proved very successful and inspiring. Every college in the state, both junior and senior except Westhampton College and University of Virginia, had a delegation at the meetings and the keynote "Conquering the Campus With Christ" will be taken to each of these. Farmville State Teachers College had the largest single delegation, with fourteen present.

The program was begun at 7 p. m. Friday, with Miss Nellie Talley, state president in charge, and continued through Sunday afternoon. The program carried speeches by some of the leading speakers of the state and the south. Dr. E. H. Potts, pastor of W. and L. and V. M. I., led the devotionals through Saturday afternoon. Dr. Commack, president of Averett College conducted the remaining ones. There were two groups of student speeches, one Saturday morning dealing with "The Power of the B. S. U. in Virginia", the other Saturday evening was a study: "The Propelling Power of Christian Character on the Campus". Dr. C. V. Cook of Farmville gave the address Saturday morning using as his subject "Christ in My Life." The principal address of the afternoon was delivered by Wm. Hall Preston, associate Southside secretary from Nashville, Tennessee. Saturday night, Dr. J. P. McConnell, president East Radford S. T. C. spoke on "The Inevitable Characteristics of the Greatest Christians."

Sunday morning at 6:30 the faithful of the group assembled for a sunrise service at the Baptist church. There in the cold rose grey of the morning followed the most inspirational meeting of the entire group. There lives were dedicated anew to His service.

Two of the main speakers were Dr. John L. Hill, book editor of Baptist Publishing Company, Nashville, Tennessee, who spoke Friday evening on "Conquering the Campus with the Changeless Christ," and ex-governor Pat Neff, Waco, Texas, who delivered the two main addresses Sunday. "The World's Struggle for Perfection" and "The Atmosphere of the Conquering Campus" were the subjects dwelt upon by Mr. Neff.

Mr. Preston was in charge of the music, asisted by Miss Lucille Christian of Radford S. T. C. at the piano.

At the last meeting on Sunday afternoon officers for the coming year were elected. They are: president, W. L. Prichard, V. P. I.; first vice-president, Evelyn Goodwin, R. M. W. C.; second vice-president, Elizabeth Oakes H. S. T. C.; secretary, Violet Lewis, R. S. T. C.; treasurer, A. D. Johnston, W. & M.

The Conference also had its social and recreational side. Friday night after the first meeting a reception was given in the student activities building for the purpose of having fun and getting acquainted. Saturday afternoon the group hiked to Sunset hill. Games were played but due to rain, the sunset was not seen. Saturday evening at 6:30 a ship banquet was held in the college dining hall. Everything on deck carried out ship terms from the entrance of the Ancient Mariner to the Bon Voyage dedicated to the incoming officers. Delegates departed for their respective campuses Sunday to "Carry On to Victory and To Conquer the Campus for Christ" through personal activity.

POLLARD AND PROGRESS SUCCESSFUL SLOGAN

William and Mary Professor Wins Sweeping Victory Over W. & L. Man

College students in Virginia have had the privilege of watching and studying, and in a great many cases helping in the most exciting gubernatorial election in two generations. The Democratic party carried the State by a huge majority of nearly 70,000, holding every county and city that was in their column and winning back 34 of the 51 Republican counties and 16 of the 18 Republican cities. Close political observers claim that the election was won and lost in the last ten days. In the early part of the campaign the struggle was centered on national issues, and was a fairly even contest. In the latter part the principal isue was the honesty and ability of the present state administration and the result is considered as a vindication of the Byrd policies.

Both candidates for governor were college men, the victor a Professor of Political Science in the College of William and Mary and his rival Professor of Psychology in Washington and Lee University. Students of government have long wished that Virginia should have a two party system in the really active politics, but every one hopes that future struggles between the parties will be on a higher level, than the one just concluded, which was largely a campagin of personal abuse.

Everyone is happy: the Republicans still have President Hoover; the Democrats have Governor Pollard, and we —will have Thanksgiving before examinations are due.

Williamsburg, home town of Dr. Pollard gave him a 12 to 1 majority; Lexington, the home town of Dr. Brown, gave Pollard a 3 to 1 majority, and Blackstone, home town of Bishop Cannon, gave Pollard an 8 to 1 majority.

CHORAL CLUB GIVES OPERETTA NOV. 8TH

"The Feast of the Red Corn" Is Being Directed by Miss Turner

COLLEGE ORCHESTRA WILL ACCOMPANY

This Friday evening, November 8, at 8 o'clock the Choral Club will presen "The Feast of the Red Corn", an Indian Operetta written and composed by Paul Bliss.

It is easy to imagine the brilliant coloring of Indian festivity and in this operetta the Indian celebrates in royal style. The theme of the production is briefly—the desire of an Indian Queen to find the lucky "Red Ear of Corn" at the annual Feast celebration of her tribe. She craves this honor that she may have her dearest wish granted by the great "Four Winds". Come and find out what the Queen wished for, and know whether or not her wish is granted. We'll tell you Friday night.

But what would an operetta be without singing and dancing? You may

Continued on last page

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — JESSIE SMTH, '31

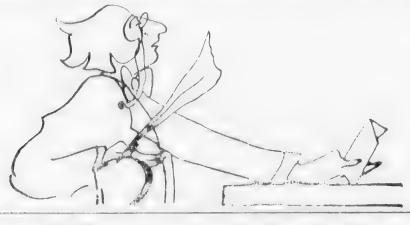
Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '80

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 — KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30
ANN STUMP, '30

Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader — JESSIE WATKINS, '33



Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Is There Justice to the Just?

Out of the past come figures of history recognized by the world. Napoleon with his leadership, Joan of Arc with her confidence in victory, Walter Reed with his patience, and Woodrow Wilson with his determination have outstanding places in history. But what of Mrs. Curie with her patience, sacrifice, and carnest desire to do something for humanity? Will she be forgotten as was Private Kissenger of Ohio who stood the test in the interest of science and humanity during the yellow fever experiments?

Marie Curie became a teacher like her father and mother. "Then, anxious to learn, she went to Paris, without money, to study physics. There she met and married Pierre Curie." They worked together until Curie's death. Since then Mme. Curie has worked alone. This daughter of a poor Polish school teacher has worked so long with the chemical element which has meant health to thousands, and which has saved the lives of even more thousands.

At present, Mme. Curie is in the United States to honor Thomas A. Edison. How much honor does she herself deserve, and get on this occasion?

She has requested that all plans started by American women to raise funds for her be dropped. When she was here in 1921, American admirers presented her with one gram of radium and an annual income of $3,500, because she was living in very humble surroundings. However, Mme. Curie accepted the gram of radium only on the terms that it be used in the Curie Institute of the University of Paris, and this entire income has been used annually toward the rental of a gram of radium for the Warsaw Cancer Hospital at Warsaw.

Plans have not been made in the United States for a public reception for Mme. Curie, because her health will not permit it. Working for so long with radioactive substances has made her hands extremely tender; therefore handshaking is an ordeal which she can not undergo.

Today, Mme. Curie is sixty-two years old. Does her ambition appeal to modern American women? Is she as great as Woodrow Wilson, Napoleon, Joan of Arc, or Walter Reed? Must Mme. Curie take a minor ranking among the great, or will she be recognized according to what she has done?

OVER THE TEACUPS

Where'm I hurrying? Why, I'm not in any particular hurry. I've a class at nine-fifteen, but its only about fourteen minutes after now, and I've oodles of time yet.

Did I see the circus? Why what do you think I am? Indeed I did—and it was the very best yet. Of course I saw the parade! Weren't those animals funny? And wasn't "E's" chariot a scream! The band—why it couldn't have been better if Sousa had directed it.

Was Lucy darling? She looks so cute with all her balloons. And those stunts! All the class performances were good—but I do think the best one got the prize. Didn't you nearly die laughing at Blanche? and those screams—why, my dear, I had to hold my ears! And didn't Etta look romantic? Indeed she was brave—facing those dreadful horns as she did. Why they were actually knotted!

Hatchett! Why, she was fine! "Right this way—lad-e-e-s and gentlemen! See the wild animals! A remarkable demonstration of human control over the biggest brutes that breathe!" She looked the part—hat, vest, boots and all.

And did you ever see anything to beat that horse-race? I really had no idea that Allie was so famous a jockey. I expect she'll win the next Kentucky derby.

Julia Asher? Why I had to look the second time to be sure that she wasn't Aunt Lucy! She couldn't have been improved upon except in one thing. Sh—I don't think you often see Aunt Lucy so energetic about cleaning up.

Oh, that Faculty stunt! Wasn't Miss Barlow a scream? And Dr. Wynn? Wouldn't it be some family album that contained all those pictures? I'd give anything to have one!

The Tublers were fine—but they always are. I don't see how they do all those things. Bet they were good and stiff this morning, at least I know I would have been.

Yes, I was too. I was so afraid she would fall. Just think, walking that rope all that way up in the air. One mis-step and we'd have seen the last of Marion.

Didn't you nearly die laughing at Billie and Frances and Gilberta? The doorkeeper seemed to have a time getting their tickets. They just "warn't gwine to pay" But "Ma" finally decided to give them the money to keep peace in the family.

I honestly don't see how it could have been improved upon. Wish we could have another one. Yes, I hope they cleared a lot on it too.

There goes the bell. I had no idea I've been talking for a whole minute. I met you about fourteen minutes after, didn't I? Well, I'spose I'd better run along.

"Goodness, I laughed and laughed when I saw those plodding elephants, knowing who was under the elephant's skin and how tired they must ha' been S'long.

NOVEMBER

A jolly thief is ole November
Who lingers a while to Play with the breeze
And suddenly swipes
All the leaves off the trees
Then wanders over cities
And lands and seas,
Dancing away for grey December.

M. F. S., '30

Captain Orlebar, this British speed demon, who recently flew in that wonderful new plane at the rate of 368 miles an hour, is said to be about the best croquet player in England. We knew there was a wild streak in him somewhere.—Los Angeles Times.

"THE BIG PARADE" —AGAIN

"Say, Anna, did you see the big parade?"

"Well, no! I don't like war pictures!"

"You dummox, I'm not asking you what kind of pictures you like. The Big Parade is Ancient History with Paramount. I'm talkin' 'bout the circus parade they put on Saturday—who put it on?—why Alpha Kappa Gamma! That's the biggest organization in school. You'd expect them to do the 'big thing' . . . . "

"Well, you sure missed a lot by not seeing it. I wouldn't have missed it for oodles of money. You should have seen the band—and heard them too. They had the fun-ni-est drums and harps—an' all the other noisy instruments a real band has. They looked some kinder peachy in those little red and white suits. Anybody'd have thought they were 'Sweethearts On Parade'."

Gee! it's good not to be an elephant. And then those giraffes—they stretched their necks as if they were tryin' to make 'em longer.

"Well, the cutest thing o' all ,was the monkeys. I'd seen plenty o' monkey-actings here at S. T. C., but I never knew any girl could look so much like—real monkey. And you should've seen the beauties of S. T. C. as Circus beauties. You know it's a lot o' difference in beauty at S. T. C. and beauty as they have it in the Circus. I guess its just a law of the King of the Circus that they have to be all the prettier there. The funny thing to me was—to see them girls that never touched a horse line before a-standing, up there drivin' as nice as you please. And didn't the little girl with a red dress on have a hard time? That ole woman with her—I guess 'twas her ma—sure was strict on her, wouldn't let her turn her head hardly.

"Well, next time don't you miss seein' any parade we have at S. T. C., 'cause you may as well know it's heaps bigger than the Big Parade and a lot cuter."

CURRENT EVENTS GROUP IS ABLY CONDUCTED

Thursday night, immediately after prayers in the little sitting room, Miss Peck and the current events group had an informal discussion of the current topics of the day. These meetings do not last but half hour, and the next meeting will be Wednesday night immediately after prayers in the little sitting room; everyone is urged and invited to come.

The trouble in Gastonia, North Carolina was discussed. As you all probably know there has been a strike in Gastonia and a police chief has been killed which adds greatly to the seriousness of the affair. Two probable causes of the strike were: 1. reduction of wages. 2 the program for greater efficiency which has thrown many out of work. The national and international labor units have been aiding the strikers, and many believe that this will lead to a closer organization of labor in the South.

The Third Conference of Pacific Relations was discussed. This conference has for its purpose to show that disarmament can do nothing for a country unless the economic and social conditions are all right.

The tariff bill which is for the relief of the farmer, and is now in the Senate was discussed.

REMEMBERING

All I remember,
Are two dear eyes,
With light shining in them
That never dies
All I remember
Is a wistful smile;
Then my head holds an ache
For a long, long while,
Rain.

A. D., '31

THE PERFECT LOVER

He isn't tall and slender,
Rather he is long and round
He hasn't the raved over laughing eyes
Or the typical melancholy frown.

His form isn't upright and springy
Slowly he crawls along.
And instead of a print of a manly foot,
A slim trail where his body has gone.

Then why fore call him perfect?
The secret lies right here,
Instead of one loving heart,
He has several for his lady dear.

He serenades her at midnight,
And his love is tender and true.
There alone in the starlight,
He tells the old story ever new.

And his many hearts beat in unison,
And his love is wonderful to see.
Biology fiends, havn't you guessed yet
That only an earth worm could such a lover be?

K. W. '30.

YOUR OTHER SELF

I knew you once—or tho't I did,
Although your inner self you hid
With artificial words and ways—
You are grown lately, somehow stranger
That Grecian gods I never knew.
O Mary, never a flower drew
So fair beside a garden wall
As you were when you smiled at me
(And oh, those smiles were mine!)
And now there comes to end it all.
Your flaunted graces, cold, aloof,
How can you lose your girlish laugh;
The simple ways I loved in you,
By playing someone else's part—
And just to make a grand debut.
Still—I do love the other self
That you have hid away
Take off the veil of silken floss
And be yourself, today.

M. H. '31

REFLECTIONS

Mirrors never lie, you tell me,
And yet, I know mine does
For does it not show my eyes smiling
When I know they are tear-stained with old loves.

They have not been loves of selfish things
But of Beauty, new born,
Of dew-wet fields of clover and of grass;
Of noontide's mists, tall stalks of corn.

Of roses ripe for the plucking:
Of violets wet with jewels of rain.
Then—a bird's song, a sunrise planning
A storm-streaked night, it's exquisite pain.

All these I have found but to lose again!
The field is mown and the tall stalks shorn
Of their beauty, you have to shut me out
Within your walls, I sit forlorn.

Because I have loved and lost
Because knowledge has denied me this
I seek the common stone and clay
To find in them an unknown bliss.

Mirrors should be broken when they say—
I am happy and have known life;
The two do not go together I know,
Where beauty lies, there is also strife.

F. A. W., '30

SOCIAL NEWS

Dorothy Dudley, Ruth and Ruby Hunt spent the week-end at their homes in Rocky Mount, Va.

Ellen Fowlkes spent the week-end at her home in Kenbridge.

Mary Buford Epes spent the week-end in Chase City.

Suzanne Holland, Doris Walton, Dorothy Anderson, Dena Lee Stith, Frances Thornton and Frances Parker spent the week-end in Danville.

Jane Beale and Virginia Bryan spent the week-end at their homes in Suffolk.

Mary E. Taylor and Mary Pearson spent the week-end in Crewe.

Regina Brown spent the week-end at her home in Bluefield, W. Va.

Lela Germany spent the week-end in Petersburg.

Mayo Beaty, Alice Covington, Mary Clare Booth, Helen Robertson, Emmy Lou Pulliam, Dot Saddler, Katherine Royster, Katherine Cogbill, Jacque Lee, Vernia Greaves, Elizabeth Jordan, Dot Thompson, Josie Spencer, Catherine Norfleet, Charlotte Hatchkiss, Charlotte Hutchins, Grace Virginia Woodhouse and Elizabeth Anderson, spent the week-end in Lynchburg. and attended the W. & L.-V. P. I. game.

Martha Sanders, Florence Reed, and Margaret Gathright, spent the week-end in Richmond.

Trixie Glidewell spent the week-end at her home in Crewe.

Elizabeth Thaxton spent the week-end in Burkeville.

Nell Armfield and Teeny Meyers spent last week-end in Lynchburg.

Mu Omega wishes to announce the following new members: Misses Elizabeth Etheridge of Norfol; Virginia Lowe of the University; and Mrs. Mary L. Randall of Portsmouth.

Zeta Tau takes pleasure in announcing the following new members: Anne Rice of Farmville, Va., and Harriett Branch of Norfolk, Va.

COLLEGE CIRCUS

Continued from page one

sophomores had a thrilling feature in Mary Todd and her wonderful acrobatic tricks.

We marvelled at that wonderful act the Cunningham Literary Society put on called "Guess Who?—Why?—Where?—When?," the stunt that got second prize. Julia Asher as Aunt Lucy was perfection. The whole thing was cleverly worked up and we appreciated its originality.

And now we must say something for those clever clowns and acrobats. We wondered how they could go through such feats so quickly and quietly. That snake stunt had us all admiring!

There were so many things to see! Why, we even saw a man's leg sawed off. Then too, the animals came out and acted for us and there was the cutest little monkey who appeared later on with his master.

That stunt called Fancy Fotography and the one the Y. W. put on were good too. The families in both were screamingly funny!

And guess what?—we even saw a Faculty Stunt. The "Faculty Family" as mothered by Miss Barlow was a rare sight. Who would have thought Miss Robinson could make such a perfect "granny". Where could you find a pair of twins like Miss Cooper and Miss Nichols? From the baby up, they were a choice group, and Miss Barlow controlled them with meticulous care.

After the ring stunts were over we ate, danced and had a regular good time. The circus spirit was in everyone the remainder of the evening. It was our circus and we had one grand and glorious time enjoying it.

A movement to establish places where drug addicts can be cured has been started by the Federal Government. "Care, not prisons should be the treatment given drug addicts," says Dr. W. L. Treadway. The government want to place drug addicts, who are criminals, and all other who apply for help under medical care on government farms.

MANY S. T. C. GIRLS ENJOY S. C. A. SOCIAL

A number of S. T. C. girls enjoyed the opening S. C. A. social given at Hampden-Sydney Thursday night.

The couples filed into the gymnasium where the soft lights and decorations made one think that spirits were somewhere near, and sure enough, they did appear when the sophomores gave their stunt.

The program involved the stunts put on by each class. Each stunt was well worked up, but the Junior and Freshman classes deserve special mention for their stunts. The Junior class stunt was an impersonation of an imported Persian attending school at Hampden-Sydney. The Freshmen showed exceptional ability in putting on "Follies of '29."

After the stunts delicious refreshments were served, and when everyone had met everyone else, the girls played "follow the leader" and were escorted back to S. T. C.

REPRESENTATIVES FOR PRESS MEETING CHOSEN

The Rotunda and The Virginian have elected two members each to attend the Virginia Intercollegiate Press meeting at East Radford and V. P. I. on November 22 and 23. Those from the Rotunda are Lucy Thompson and Virginia Robertson, while The Virginian is sending Frances Wilson and Elizabeth Taylor.

Cadets Get New Caps

A new cadet cap of the Pershing style has been adopted by the V. M. I. cadet corps in place of the old style small crown cap.

This step has been contemplated for the last few years due to the many objections to the old style of cap. It was claimed that the old cap obstructed the view, that it is hard to get a good fit, that it was hard to keep on, and that it was very uncomfortable.

It is thought that the caps will add very much to the appearance of the corps. However,, since so many cadets have already purchased caps the probable solution will be that the old cap will be worn to classes and the new to all company formations. — The Va. Tech.

EDUCATIONAL CONTACTS WITH AMERICAN RED CROSS SHOW A TREND

Continued from Page 1.

Summer courses in the fundamentals of Junior Red Cross adminitsration were given the past summer at 197 State universities and normal schools. The Junior Red Cross "credit course" was given in 1929 at Teachers College Columbia University, New York; George Peabody Institute, Nashville, Tenn.; University of Wisconsin, and University of California.

Another Red Cross summer course in the atmosphere of a center of higher learning was afforded at the University of North Carolina, where Red Cross representatives gave First Aid instruction, first to a police officer's group, which so impressed the heads of the institution as to lead them to request special lectures to a class of athletics coaches, composed of students from nine states.

These university contacts of the Red Cross are fitting cap-stones to foundations laid in the primary grades and extending through high school and preparatory years, modifications of the aforementioned Red Cross courses being used, with credits granted by a number of schools for completion.

Strength of Red Cross activities is measured by general Red Cross membership, enrolled annually from November 11 to 28.

"ONYX HOSE SALE"

$1.50—2 pr.	$2.70
$1.65—2 pr.	$3.00
$1.95—2 pr.	$3.60

The Band Box Shoppe

SELS POUR LE BAIN
(BATH SALTS)
IN A LOVELY LARGE GLASS BOTTLE. THE FAVOURITE COTY ODEURS: L'AIMANT, L'ORIGAN, CHYPRE, "PARIS,, EMERAUDE.
$1.50
Contents 13 Ounces

At Last!
BATH SALTS
(SELS POUR LE BAIN)
COTY
AWAITED BY EVERY WOMAN WHO USES COTY CREATIONS

Now—you can literally bathe in your favourite COTY Perfume. The new COTY Bath Salts are wholly different—they hold the perfume more intensely—making the tub a fragrant luxury.

COTY 714 Fifth Avenue, New York
Rue de la Paix, Paris

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Falconer Gift Shop
Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving
COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE
Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh films)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S
is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP
Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials
110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS
Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop
323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY
The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP
Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING , CLEANING
PRESSING
Farmville - - - - - - - - - Virginia

AT THE HUB

DRESS SALE

Starting Thursday, November 7, lasting 4 days ONLY

Your unrestricted choice of any $15 dress in the store, consisting of new slihouettes and newest materails and colors $8.95

3 piece Jersey Sutis $5.95

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Professor: "If there are any dumb bells in the room, please stand up."

A long pause and the Freshman Mullins stands up.

Prof.: "What! Do you consider yourself a dumb bell?"

M. Mullins: "Well, not exactly that, sir, but I hate to see you standing all alone."—Voo Doo.

"Nobody was drunk at the game. Why, there wasn't even a breath of whiskey. And nobody threatened to murder the referee or make funny cheers. There were no fur coats present and nobody sang bad songs."

"And was that a football game?"

"No, of course not; it was one of those daily bridge games in Louise Munt's room."

Hampden-Sydney Lad: "May I hold your hand, Snooty?"

Snooty: "Sure, take two, they're small."—Pitt Panther.

"It's the little things in life that tell," said Mildred Field Elmore as she yanked her kid brother from under the divan.

Watt: "It must be cold for you here. Don't you want to put something around you?"

Eleanor Hogan: "Don't you?"

Emily Gale: "You've a faculty for making love!"

Bill: "Oh—no—only a student body."

"This is a good restaurant, isn't it?" petuantly asked "Butsey" Carter on her first trip down town.

"Yes ma'm. If you order fresh eggs, you get the freshest eggs in the world. If you order a good cup of coffee, you get the best cup of coffee in the world; and—"

Budsey: "I believe you. I ordered a small steak!"

Brown: "I haven't see your son for year. He seemed to be quite a promising young men."

Jones: "Too promising. He's been sued twice for breach of promise.

Nell Armfield: "Sure, I'm more than interested but I hate to think I can't ever cut classes. How could you play truant from the correspondence school?"

"Teeny" Myers: "I send them an empty envelope."

Barber: "Any particular way you'd like your hair cuff?"

Dot Webber: "Yes. Off."

A woman who had several unmarried daughters, kept them on a fish diet, because as she observed, Fish is rich in phosporous, and phosphorous is useful in making matches."

Little Girl: "I wonder why they say 'Amen" and not 'a-women."

Her brother: "Because they sing hymns and not hers, stupid."

IT PAYS TO DEAL
at
GREENBERG'S
DEPT. STORE
First in Style
Lowest in Price
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

SCENES FROM COLLEGE CIRCUS, SATURDAY

AT THE EACO THEATRE WEEK OF NOV. 11 TO 16

MON.—Jack Garland Post of American Legion will present "LET'S GO PEGGY", a captivating musical comedy with cast of 75 local artists. Peppy dance numbers, melodious singing, clever comedy, special costumes and scenery. Matinee at 4 o'clock. Admission prices. Matinee 50c, nights 75c. Benefit of the Rest Room.

TUES.—William Haines with Josephine Dunn and Mae Busch in "A MAN'S MAN". A sound picture. Thrills? Laughs, Love? Action?—he fills every order. Another behind the scenes film, this time about Hollywood, by the trio who made "Excess Baggage." The finest and most moving romance of the year. Also News, Serial and classic colored picture.

WED.—Tim McCoy with Raquel Torres in "THE DESERT RIDER". A silent picture. In the days when gold-madness hit southern California, and brute force reigned, this romance is laid. A story about beautiful senoritas, rich land owners, pony express riders, desperadoes. Full of action and thrills. Also sound comedy.

THURS.—Corrinne Griffith in "PRISONERS", a Vitaphone production. How great can true love really be? Would you go hungry for love? Would you steal for love? Would you go to prison if it was the only way to win your man? See what happens to a beautiful girl whose bonds were bonds of love; whose hope lay behind prison bars. Also sound comedy.

FRI. & SAT.—John Mack Brown in the all talking picture "THE VALIANT". The talking screen's greatest drama! "I tmight be my boy!" Could this be her son—this weakling who had sunk to the depths yet proudly hid his name from all the world? Hear and see this powerful drama o fthe weakling who proved himself a valiant in the strangest test of courage man was ever called upon to face. Also news reel and talking comedy.

Picture admission prices. Adults at night 35c, matinees 25 cents. Children under 12, 15 cent sto each show.

Of all the words of tongue or pen,
The saddest are—
"I'm broke, again!"

CHORAL CLUB

(Continued from Page 1)

have heard the Choral Club sing, but have you ever seen it dance? Here is a chance to see a real Indian Corn Dance, or if it is more to your taste, imagine a weird shadow dance by the "Ghosts of the Dead Trees."

A. J. Scott is taking the part of an old Indian squaw and Nancy Putney is in the role of "Impee Light"! Why, there are even three little bears in the cast (woof! woof!). But no more must be told now. You must wait until Friday.

If Indian music appeals to you, if your imagination is stirred by the fanciful superstitions of Indian life, then—don't miss this operetta. It is a true interpretation of the Indian as he expressed himself in song and dance.

Tickets are now on sale. Don't wait until its too late to buy yours. Be an Indian with us for one night and see "The Feast of the Red Corn!"

SCHEMMEL
CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony
Aesthetics, Etc.
REASONABLE TUITION RATES

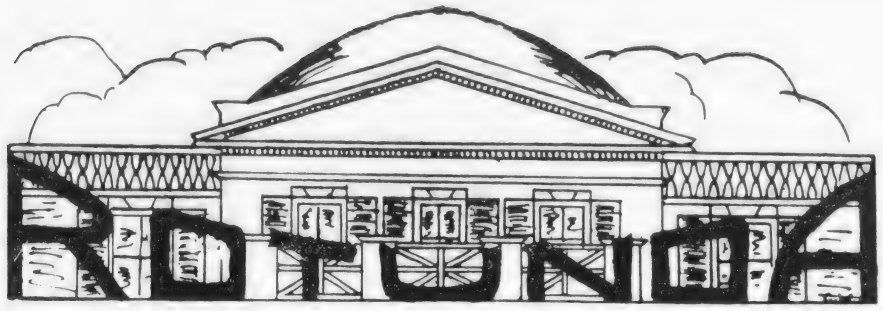
C. E. Chappell Co.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES
Farmville - - - - Va.

CANADA DRUG CO.
Next to Baldwin's Store
Come to us for your cosmetics and
STATIONERY
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Quality—Price—Service
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You With Us
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

McIntosh's Drug Store
New State Teachers College
STATIONERY
Farmville - - - Va.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS



FALL SHOWING OF
HATS
THE HAT SHOPPE
Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

FEATURE THIS WEEK
COLLEGE THEME TABLETS
3 For 25c
SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES
MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

Printzess Coats Smartest in Fall Wear!
The Mode is Femininely Chic
Last season the 'dressmaker" type of coat was a growing tendency in the mode—it is an established fact this season and is smartly feminine in every phase.
This whim of fashion is charmingly illustrated in our present showings of Printzess coats. Each style is an adaption of a French design and represents the best in the mode. New silhouettes, new fabrics, new trimming details. Priced $24.75 to $57.50.
BALDWIN'S
The S. T. C. Girls' Main Street Home

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
The House of Quality
GYM OUTFITS for the COLLEGE GIRLS
Black Sateen Bloomers $1.50
White Broadcloth Shirts $1.00
Gym Shoes, Laced to toe $1.35
DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

Come to See the Harrisonburg-S. T. C. Hockey Game Saturday

First Lyceum Number to be Given Friday Evening.

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1929 No. 8

MRS. ROBERT LEE TURMAN, SISTER OF GOVERNOR-ELECT IS S. T. C. ALUMNA

Still Retains Her Allegiance To Her State and College Although Her Place of Residence Is Remote

At this time when the attention of the State, and also of the Nation, has been focussed upon the governor-elect of Virginia it will be of interest to the Rotunda readers to know that a Farmville alumna is a sister of Dr. John Garland Pollard. Mrs. Robert Lee Turman. of Atlanta, Georgia, was formerly Miss Maud Pollard, and she retains her allegiance to her state and college although her place of residence has been for several years remote from both.

Mrs. Turman shares in marked degree the talents of her distinguished brother. Last spring she was one of the principal speakers in Norfolk at the annual convention of the Virginia League of Women Voters, following a series of addresses she had made for the National League of Women Voters at conventions in Tennessee, Mississippi, Florida and South Carolina. In Tennessee she spoke at the victory luncheon celebrating the passage of the notice of marriage bill on which the League had worked for several years.

Mrs. Turman is a member of the class of 1894, perhaps the most remarkable of the forty-five classes which have carried forth in triumph the diploma of Farmville. For thirty-five years a class letter has not failed to visit each member annually, bearing greetings, stories of joys and sorrows, newspaper clippings of personal items, kodak pictures of homes and families, gay comments and reminiscenses.

A notable evidence of the warmth of their loyalty to the "State Normal School," as it was known in their day, was the class gift of the oil painting of President John A. Cunningham which hangs in the anteroom to Dr. Jarman's office. The presentation address was made by Mrs. Turman, and the portait was unveiled by "the Twins," as they were affectionately known, Mrs. Alma Harris Netherland and Mrs. Pauline Harris Richardson, both of Dinwiddie, Virginia.

Mrs. Janie Staples Chappell has kept in closer touch with the college

(Continued on page 2)

ETTA MARSHALL HAS CHARGE OF PROGRAM

Monday night praers was given over to an impressive Armistice Day program. The program opened with the recessional, sung by a concealed choir, after which Etta Marshall touched the hearts of each of us in a short talk, as only Etta can touch our hearts. She brought before us clearly how the wounded and maimed men living in our land today, maimed in the war, are a living truth of the horrow of war. She made us see how we must face this truth to benefit by it. The fact that we are teachers in the making makes it essentially important that we do face the truth of the horrors of war and try to make the generation which we shall teach the better for our having done so. She concluded her talk with a little poem called "Disabled" and which was peculiarly suited to the occasion. We then joined in prayer led by Etta after which the choir sangs another hymn. The Y. W. C. A. motto concluded the program.

Y. W. C. A. WORLD WEEK OF PRAYER

The week beginning November 11 through the 17th marked the Y. W. C. A. world week of prayer. The subject for the entire time is the "Eternal God." Talks on various phases of the subject will be given.

These talks were started last evening, November 11, by Miss Etta Marshall who spoke on Armistice and world peace. On Nov. 12, Miss Carolyn Cogbill will continue these talks. Throughout the entire week, talks will be made by interesting people. Dr. Jarman will lead prayers Wednesday night, followed by Miss Camper on Thursday night. Then on Friday night Miss Lucille Bridgeman, a graduate of Agnes Scott College, and a teacher in the Farmville High School, will conclude these services.

Best Man In Recent Wedding of Interest

Captain S. W. Paulett of Company F. 18th Virginia infantry, General Pickett's Division, now a resident of Farmville, was the best man in his son's marriage which took place at his home a few days ago with only a few friends in attendance. "Although I fought in the War between the States," he said, "I'm still the 'best man'."

Captain Sam, as he is commonly known in Farmville, still owns and runs a crockery store, the "Old Reb Store," on Main Street. He is now 85 years old and still as vigorous as most men of thirty. He entered the war as volunteer in April, 1861 at the age of fifteen ears and six months. He served during the four years of the war and was wounded three times, first in the second battle of Manassas, then in Pickett's charge at Gettysburg, and again on April 6, 1865 at the battle of Sailor's Creek on the retreat from Petersburg. He was in all the battles fought by the Army of Northern Virginia, except the battle of the Wilderness. During the charge on Gettysburg he was captured and imprisoned at Fort Deleware. Later he was transferred to the prison at Point Lookout, Maryland, from which he escaped December 21 and returned to duty. He is now the only member of his regiment who is alive.

During his service in the army, Captain Sam had many interesting experiences. These he has written, and may be found in "The History of Prince Edward County," a book compiled by C. E. Burrell. They are well worth reading. One instance is that of the last time he was wounded on April 6, 1865 and left for 21 days with no care except that of W. H. Ferris, of Federal soldier of General Hancock's corps who nursed him to health at the risk of his own life.

The life of the "Old Reb" as he calls himself has now a tremendous effect upon the younger generation in his home town. The small children will line up for an imaginary battle at Gettysburg, or elsewhere.

"FEAST OF THE RED CORN" OF NOV. 8 IS A BIG SUCESSS

Helen Smith, Queen, and A. J. Scott the Old Squaw in Operetta

NANCY PUTNEY TAKES PART OF IMPEE LIGHT

A colorful performance of Paul Bliss' Indian Operetta, "The Feast of the Red Corn" was given here last Friday night by the Choral Club. Not only was it effectively staged but remarkably well done from a musical standpoint as well.

The operetta centered around the desire of an Indian Queen to find the lucky "red ear of corn" at the annual feast celebration of her tribe. She seeks this honor that she may have her fondest wish granted by the great "Four Winds." Impee Light, the younger sister, and an old Indian squaw, the sorceress of the tribe nearly waylay the celebration but all works out well and the Queen is granted her wish which was to see a vision of her King alive and on his way home from war.

Helen E. Smith as Queen of the tribe showed a very sweet quality of voice. Her singing expressed genuine feeling; her voice had life.

As the old squaw A. J. Scott was well-worth seeing and hearing. When she said "green snakes," you felt that the snakes were really there. When she sang the "Song or Sorrow" you instinctively forsaw tragedy.

Nancy Putney as Impee Light was splendid Her interpretation of that song about the three little bears would have brought her success in itself.

The chorus was most effective both as to costuming and acting. It was truly a part of the action, not merely a background. The waltz to "Oh, Little Red Ear" was most attractive. The girls sang well and seemed to enjoy doing it.

In speaking of the dancing we should mention that the "Corn" and "Shadow" dances were decidedly effective in suggesting a true Indian atmosphere.

The College Orchestra played splendid accompaniments and provided genuine weird Indian music.

As director of the operetta Miss Turner is entitled to our heartiest congratulations on its success. We sincerely appreciated her musical and artistic abilities as shown in this production.

Mu Omega Wins Highest Average, 1928

As a result of averages the grades for the different sororities for the spring term of last year Mu Omega won the highest average by a very small margin. The second highest scholastic standing is held by Zeta Tau and the third highest is held by Sigma Sigma Sigma. The averages for the other three sororities were very close and minute averaging was necessary in order to find the highest average.

Next week the three sororities making the highest average for the 1928-1929 will be announced. The sorority having the highest average for the year will have its name engraved on the Pan Hellenic Plaque.

THE CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS TO COME TO. S. T. C. FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 29

The "No Count Boy", a Negro Comedy by Paul Green; Job's Kinfolks", and "Magnolia's Man," To Be Presented Here.

The famous Carolina Playmakers have been secured to give three of their folk plays in the auditorium of the College on Friday evening, November 29. The "No 'Count Boy,'" a negro comedy by Paul Green, "Job's Kinfolks," a mill tragedy by Lorelto Bailey, and "Magnolia's Man", a comedy of the Carolina hills by Gertrude Coffin.

Professor Koch, director of the Playmakers, will be with his troupe, and it is hoped that he will be able to speak to the students and to others who are interested on Saturday morning during the assembly hour. He says this of playmaking in North Carolina:

"Ten years ago the Carolina Playmakers was formed and our Bureau of Community Drama was organized. Five years ago our Carolina Dramatic Association was formed and our dramatic festival and state tournament organized.

"In this decade The Carolina Play--makers have produced 59 of their original folk-plays by 42 different authors. Eight of these are early plays by Paul Green winner of the Pulitzer Prize in 1927, for his epic tragedy of the negro. In Abraham's Bosom. The highest recognition that can come to a playwright in America has come to one of our own Playmakers. And today, since the simple beginnings of The Carolina Playmakers, three other native North Carolinians—Lula Volmer, Hatcher Hughes, and Anne Bridgers—have made an important contribution to American folk drama on Broadway."

The following is an extract taken from the Theatre Magazine after the first performance of the Carolina Playmakers in New York City, just one year ago:

"Although we have enthusiatically followed the splendid achievements of Professor Frederick H. Koch, and his Carolina Playmakers, from the very beginnings, we have never been privileged actually to witness one of their program, because they have ventured no further north than Baltimore on their numerous tours. And when,

(Continued on page 3)

FARMVILLE TO PLAY HARRISONBURG

Saturday, November 16, is going to be a big day in our college annals because we are going to meet our old opponents of the basketball court, for the first time on the hockey field. We are playing Harrisonburg's hockey varsity at 3 o'clock on that day out on the athletic field. If you aren't there to see your hockey team try their hardest for our Alma Mater, it certainly will be most obvious that you are just one of those mediocre persons who aren't interested in anything that goes on in school. Are you seeking that reputation? If not, you had better show our school spirit and be there with bells on to root for our team, because they can't play their best without your support. Surely they deserve that much after practicing daily for two months to be able to win a victory for us.

Remember, Saturday, November 16, at three o'clock, on the athletic field.

Publishing Problems To Be Discussed

Blacksburg, Nov. 9—Publishing problems which staff members of Virginia College newspapers, years books, and magazines are continually faced with will be considered in forums at the convention of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association which will meet November 22 and 23 with Radford State Teachers College and Virginia Polytechnic Institute as joint hosts, J. T. L. Dickinson, Jr., president of the association announced here today. This year junior colleges also have been invited.

Forums for editorial staff members of newspapers, year books and magazines will be organized with former college students as editors and leaders. Likewise, three such forums will be organized for business staff members. In addition to these discussion groups, those in charge of the conference are endeavoring to have two or three noted newspapermen of the state speak at the banquets to be held Friday night in Radford and Saturday night in Blacksburg.

Contests between publications will be held again this year. Silver cups will be presented to the nawspaper, yearbook, and magazine judged to be the best in the state. To make the contests fairer, publications compete against others of like size and issued at colleges of similar enrollment. These competitions, naturally, develop keen rivalry between the various publications for the honor of being judged the best in Virginia.

Forums, contests, and other technical meetings are not the only things being arranged by the committees in charge. According to present plans the delegates will register Friday at Radford S. T. C. That evening they will be guests at a banquet there at which Dr. J. P. McConnell, president of the college, will welcome the convention. After the banquet the men delegates will be transported to Blacksburg where they will be quart-

(Continued on Page 3)

FRESHMEN PRESENT CHARMING SING

Sing Saturday night was given by the freshman class in honor of the sophomores. This program measured up to all the expectations of the student body.

The curtain opened upon a cabaret scene. Couples were seated at the tables watching the entertainment.

The following numbers were given for the entertainment of the quests:
Dance Chorus
Jumping Jack dance Doroth Snedegar and Duvall Ridgeway
Song "I get the Blue when it Rains" Frances Potts and Butsey Carter
Pierrot-Pierrette dance, The Martin sisters.

A request for Nancy Nelms to sing was made and also for "Pannie" Willis to say a few words to the freshman calss. She gave a short talk that went straight to the heart of everone present.

The program was very good and the freshmen class displayed much talent.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — JESSIE SMTH, '31

Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '30
Alumnae Editor — MISS CARRIE B. TALIAFERRO

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30
ANN STUMP, '30

Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader — JESSIE WATKINS, '33

Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Editorial

"Practice What You Preach."

What is sportsmanship? It is something that we come in contact with in every phase of life. Often in high school two students would run a close race in some special subject and we wonder what the loser's feeling were. If her actions showed that she accepted her defeat gamely, we called her a good sport. This characterization of her would be a very desirable compliment. We can conceive of no greater tribute to anyone than to be classified as a sport.

A good sport gives her best and if that best happens to be not quite as good as someone else's, she will congratulate the victor for being the best. A good sport is a clean player and does nothing that is unfair to her opponent. A good sport takes her victory modestly and regards the feeling of the loser. Some of us think of a good sport as being a marvelous player. This would be desirable, but since we can't be ideal in all lines, let us be in as many ways as possible.

This week the Varsity will be practicing, giving their time in order to be prepared for the first game of the season. The athletes playing, probably realize the deeper meaning of sportsmanship more than the ones not playing. Naturally they want to win, but there are higher motives than the one of desire for victory—fair play above all and the enjoyment of the game for the game's sake.

Harrisonburg's team is coming Friday night and we must remember above all things that they are our guests. Only a few of us will play in the actual game, but all of us can show true sportsmanshinp to them in our relationship before, during, and after the game. We want them to remember our school as one of the finest they have ever played against. When we are on the athletic field Saturday let's remember to cheer the good play of Harrisonburg's team as well as our own.

Armistice Day

Though eleven years of rebuilding, of regretting those who have journeyed to another land, have passed, again our hearts turn to Flander's field of the poppies red. They bring a hurt for those who lost, and yet a hope for all—a hope that peace will reign forever to cancel the heartaches of those who love the lost ones!

To make those poppies of red a symbol of understanding and love is an ideal we are striving and hoping for. Turning a sorrow into pleasure means an open minded people who will love, understand—and forget. We have no parades today! No, that day is over; it was over when the boys who went "over the top" came home and gave us an outlook which made us want to parade when victory of peace reigns in the world—not that of a conquered people!

Eleven years—yes, eleven years have passed. Our hearts turn again toward Flander's field—our newborn hope of peace is mingled with the pride and hope of the future!

OVER THE TEACUPS

Hey, there aren't you all excited? 'Bout what? Why, the game Saturday, of course! I just can't wait. I hope you do too—it would be terrible for you not to play after you've practiced so long. Wish I were athletically inclined! Be there? I should say I will—right on the front row.

Wasn't that operetta fine? Those Indians couldn't have been better if they had been real ones. Every bit of it was so good! I really didn't know we had so much talent in our student body—it's a pity we don't hear more of it.

Freshman sing? It was darling! The girls looked so sweet and the boys were fine! Wasn't the couple from the country a scream?

Didn't you, though? I could listen to Nancy Nelms forever! Her singing simply "touches the spot," particularly since she's only here once in a while. We didn't appreciate her half enough last year when we had her all the time.

And Pannie? My dear, I could hardy see how to get out of the auditorium—it was all I could do to keep from boo-hooing. She was the sweetest thing! No sir, there won't. There couldn't be another Pannie.

Yes, I saw them. More old girls here this week-end than have been here all the rest of the time put together. Seemed lik old times— having them back.

I know it—and I don't see why we couldn't have had holiday too. I think its terrible for us not to help them celebrate Armistice Day, don't you? I know, and what's the use of having a war if you can't celebrate the day it ended.

Say—it's most ten-thirty—and I've gotta be going. Next time I know somebody'll be nabbing me for being on the halls after eight bell.

Please do, you never come to see me. I think you might.

Bye.

ARMISTICE

Four year the powers of the world contended with each other. Battle followed battle. Guns roared. Cannons sounded. Bloodshed and death. Then, on November 11, 1918, news came that the struggle was over, that men were tired of fighting. Fathers, brothers, and sweethearts went home to their loved ones. Gladly they turned their backs on the horrid scenes of warfare: the gory field; the air, clouded with poisonous gases. How we rejoiced at their home-coming; what a welcome was theirs. And, yet, there were some to whom we said "goodbye" who could not hear our welcome. They had given their all for their country—and now they slept! Those we welcomed home to a resting place within their native soil.

Just as the Armistice came as a lull in the din and noise of the battle and marked the close of the conflict, so, today in memory of that day when the world knew peace after four years of struggle we like to pause in our work and honor in silence the dead and those living who gave themselves whole heartedly to the cause of right against might. On Monday morning, Nov. 11, 1929, eleven years after the signing of the Armistice we paused at the sound of the siren given at 11:00 o'clock and thought of those boys who went over-seas in 1917. They were the "pick" of our manhood: the strongest physically; the quickest in mind; and the noblest in charatcer. When the bugles sounded war,

"They gave their merry youth away
For Country and for God."

Let us never forget them!

MORNING WATCH LED BY BERNICE SCOTT

Bernice Scott led morning watch in the Student Building lounge last Sunday morning. Her theme was taken from the last verse of the 19th Psalm. It was, "Let the words of my mouth, and the meditations of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my redeemer."

The service was closed with the singing of a hymn and then the Y. W. motto, "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit saith the Lord of Hosts."

MISS CRADDOCK IS CHAIRMAN COMMITTEE

Miss Ottie Craddock has been appointed State Chairman of a Research and Investigation Committee of the National Association of Penmanship Teachers and Supervisors. The committee will study the penmanship situation in the normal schools and the teachers colleges in the United States. Last year Miss Craddock was a member of the Commitee on Membership of the same organization.

WORLD WEEK OF PRAYER SUBJECT MISSION BAND

A meeting was held by the Mission Band, November 10, in the Y. W. cabinet room. The meeting opened with devotional exercises led by Louise Bridgeman. Her article was entitled 'Why Have Missions?' This was followed with prayer by Adele Hutchinson and the roll call by the secretary.

Several things were discussed in the meeting. One question brought up was the naming of the organization. All members were asked to bring in a new name. The president mentioned that the week of the 11th to the 17th was World Week of Intercessory Prayer for Missionaries. She requested that the band meet each night during this week and pray for those who are missionaries and for new volunteers to be added to the list. Miss Putney then told of the wonderful influence that prayer had on the missionaries two years ago when she was in China. The Chinese had planned to burn all churches and kill all the Christians, but prayer saved the lives of the missionaries.

The meeting was closed with the band benediction—"Not to be ministered unto but to minister."

The Mission Band holds a wonderful opportunity to those who are interested in this type of work. It gives each girl a chance for a few minutes of quiet worship on Sunday afternoon. Not only does it help in an individual way, but it helps each one to help someone else. Each girl in the band writes to some foreign missionary.

The Mission Band has at its head a very able leader, Alyce Harrison. She has thrown herself into this work with the same zest that characterizes all of her activities.

HEROES

Of Yesterday

Deep within our hearts we cherish
Men whose great deeds never die.
Men whose names still shine with glory
Like the stars that gem the sky.

Stately homes have patient toilers
Carved from lands once bleak and bare.
Men with strong and noble purpose
Made for us the world more fair.

Of Today

Let us live our great Country,
Bought with what a fearless price!
Land of freedom, peace and plenty,
Crowned with noble sacrifice.

Live with earnest, true devotion.
In our faithfulness shall be
Rich reward and great achievement,
Peace, and stainless liberty.

Live for God and Home and Country.
Be the heroes of today.
Strong for righteousness and justice,
Grasp the torch and lead the way.

Lanta Wilson Smith

BELLEAU WOODS

She had walked in Belleau Woods
Before the Great War.
Giant trees grew there;
Between them paths wove—
In and out, green-bordered;
And frail vines
Dipped in silent pools,
Whereon the sunlight flashed,
Stealing through
Where no leaves were!

Jack knew the wood, too
"The Wood of Fair Water'";
Walking here in locked embrace,
They knew it together—
Their love like trees of the wood
Reaching out—
Full of beauty and power.
The war came
She missed Jack;
He missed her and the wood.
One day he came back
Where they had stood—
Together
But many soldiers were
With him—and not she!
The war came—
Guns roared;
Cannon brought down men,
Heaped them on each other
They moaned—and died—
(Some died without a moan)
They died—and Belleau Woods
Held corpses.
Her streams grew red
With human blood
And trees were skeletons
That once held new-green leaves.

Now the roaring stops
And Belleau Woods is calm,
Except for memories
That linger
Of dying men—and guns
That men had used
To murder Nature.

She walks again in Belleau Wood
And with her little Jack.
She stops to think where they had stood
But cannot find the place,
For all is changed.
A few green leaves are on the trunks
Of trees that guns have torn.
Her heart gains hope—
The baby's hand is warm—
Perhaps—well, new leaves
Promise much for Belleau Wood.

M. H., '30

NOVEMBER

The days are growing dismal
The air is raw and cold,
Clouds hang heavy over us,
The year is growing old.

The trees have lost their beauty,
Their limbs are brown and bare;
We hear no sweet birds singing,
Nor see them playing there.

Few flowers are left blooming
And they their petals shed
To sleep with other flowers,
All withered now, and dead.

And yet we love November
With all its golden haze,
Our blessings we remember,
Our hearts are filled with praise.

We have a closer feeling
To earthly friend we love,
And trust in Him more truly,
Who watches from above.

F. C., '30

SISTER OF GOVERNOR-ELECT, S. T. C. ALUMNA

Continued from Page 1.

than her classmates because she has sent three daughters to her Alma Mater. Two of them became members of Pi Kappa Omega Society.

SOCIAL NEWS

Visitors

Alumnae who spent the week-end on campus were: Frances Willis, Grenehow Parker, Virginia Raine, Evelyn Dulnaey, Nancy Nelms, Eleanor McCormick, and Florence Carmine.

Week-End Trips

Etta Marshall and Martha MacKenzie spent the week-end at their homes in Portsmouth.

Elizabeth Hairston spent the week-end at her home in Roanoke.

Eleanor Hogan visited in Washington last week-end.

Margaret Leonard spent the week-end at her home in Richmond.

Anne Minter visited in Roanoke the past week-end.

Josephine Gilmer, "Billy" Gillespie, Cornelia Major, Tempe Ewing, Stuart Quaintance, Sue Huyett, Mary Mayo, Virginia Lowe, Virginia Marchant, Lela Germany, Alice Covington and Elizabeth Etheridge, spent the week-end in Charlottesville and attended the Virginia-V. P. I. game.

Anne Huddleston and Ruth Floyd spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Alice Adams spent the week-end in Richmond.

Frances Parker attended the Duke-Davidson game and dances in Durham last Friday and Saturday.

Frances Davis, Gilberta Knight and Jenilee Knight spent Sunday in Clarksville.

Mary Simmerman spent the week-end in Brookneal.

Laura N. Smith spent the week-end at her home in London Bridge, Va.

Katherine Ragsten and Josie Spencer spent the week-end at their home in Lynchburg.

Frances and Pearl Edwards visited in Powhatan last week-end.

Elsie Burgess, Mary Trimyer, Sarah Baker, Jacque Lee, Sue Deitrick, Virginia Cox, Virginia Bledsoe, and Beulah Green, spent the week-end in Norfolk and attend the V. M. I.-Clemson game.

Mary E. Taylor and Mary Pearson spent the week-end at their homes in Bristol.

Virginia Cox spent the week-end at her home in Norfolk.

PUBLISHING PROBLEMS TO BE DISCUSSED AT PRESS MEETING

(Continued from Page 1)

ered in the barracks there.

Saturday morning the girl delegates will be brought from Radford in time to attend the forums scheduled to start at 10:30 o'clock in the new Patton Engineering Hall. In the afternoon delegates will attend the football game between the freshmen of V. P. I. and V. M. I. That evening the concluding banquet of the convention at which Dr. Julian A. Burruss, president of V. P. I., is to be one of the speakers, will be held. Tau Beta Epsilon, honorary journalism fraternity at V. P. I., is sponsoring the convention here.

Officers of the association besides Mr. Dickinson are: Miss Paula Vogelsang, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, first vice-president; J. W. Davis, Washington and Lee, second vice-president; Miss Vivian Harnesbarger, Radford State Teachers College, secretary-treasurer; Miss Grace Taylor, Fredericksburg State Teachers College, Miss Rebecca R. Price, Mary Baldwin College, and William F. Roundtree, William and Mary, members of the executive committee; Y. L. Ripley, W. T. Anderson, G. H. Schoenbaum, all of V. P. I., and Miss Lucille Arthur, Miss Mary Leigh Hubbard, R. S. T. C., members of conference committee; Miss Frances Stoakley, Hollins College, Miss Phyllis Palmer, Harrisonburg State Teachers College; W. E. Jenkins, V. M. I.; D. R. Mann, University of Richmond; H. C. Bradshaw, Hampden-Sydney College, members of constitution committee.

TWENTY-EIGHT GIRLS GET SORORITY BIDS

The sororities at S. T. C. wish to announce the following pledges:

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Rene Greeves, Newport News, Va.
Martha Saunders, Richmond, Va.
Jane Beal, Suffolk, Va.
Frances Hutchins, Suffolk, Va.
Medora Ford, Lexington, Va.
Virginia Sanford, Farmville, Va.
Virginia Marchant, Urbanna, Va.
Patty Ellison, Beckley. W. Va.
Martha Seabury, Petersburg, Va.
Louise Ellis, Ashland, Va.

Gamma Theta

Margaret Rickeretts, Norfolk, Va.
Sue Deitrick, Norfolk, Va.
Martha Moore, Lexington, Va.
Margaret Priest, Norfolk, Va.
Jac Lee, Lynchburg, Va.
Vernie Oden, Norfolk, Va.
Elsie Burgess, Norfolk, Va.

Delta Sigma Chi

Frances Fleming, Farmville, Va.
Mary Claire Booth, Lynchburg, Va.

Mu Omega

Lillian Hogan, Roanoke, Va.
Frank Smoot, London, Canada.

Pi Kappa Sigma

Mary Trimyer, Norfolk, Va.
Margaret Gathright, Richmond, Va.
Jane Royall, Tazewell, Va.
Katherine Cogbill, Boydton, Va.
Katherine Royster, Lynchburg, Va.

Zeta Tau

Mary Warren, Chatham, Va.
Margaret Hix, Wise, Va.

NEW RUFFNER LITERARY SOCIETY MEMBERS

The Ruffner Literary Society announces the following new members:

Emily Simpson
Elizabeth Payne
Evelyn Simpson
Mary Warren
Dorothy Powell
Jessie Smith
Sarah Salisbury
Virginia Moore
Florence Moore
Cleo Quisenberry
Anne W. Rice
Kathleen Hundley
Dorothy Snedegar
Florence Gregory
Margie McManus
Annie Johnson
Pauline Smith
Linda Clark
Elsie McLaughlin

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Nov. 18 to 23

Monday—Ricardo Cortez with Claire Windsor in "Midstream," a talking picture. The daring drama of a man who wanted the fine flame of youth's love, but his body was old, wrinkled, wracked with sufferings of age. So science, that denies old age, turned back the hands of time and gave him young flesh for his eager heart. A very unusual picture. Also serial Monday. Classic and news on Monday also.

Tuesday—Lina Basquette with a fine supporting cast in "Come Across," a talking picture. She was a seeker of thrills. She wanted to see life, and she saw it, at its best—and at its worst. See and hear this strangest of all love stories, in which a beautiful society girl willingly becomes a member of a blackmailing band, and there finds true romance. Also classic and news.

Wednesday—Karl Dane, George K. Arthur and Polly Moran in "Chinabound." Follow the crowd to the laugh riot of the year. If you thought they were funny in "Rookies," and "All at Sea," for the love of laughter don't miss this comedy riot. They take you on the funniest cruise you have ever signed up for. Also talking comedy.

Thursday — Jean Hersholt with Kathryn Crawford in "Modern Love" a sound and talking picture. The gyttering story of a "perhaps" marriage that is a laughing certainty. New pink undies and the girls who wear them will tickle you pink. The screaming story of an even break marriage that became an even split.

THE CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS TO COME TO S. T. C.

Continued from page one

early in November, we received a letter from the genial "Prof", as his students affectionately call him, telling us, 'Our Carolina Playmakers leave tomorrow on our Northern tour and you will see that our itinerary includes our Big Town for the first time,' we were properly thrilled.

"The Playmakers made their first bow to a New York audience on the evening of November 18, playing at Earl Hall, Columbia University and both players and plays were all that we had anticipated and more!

"We witnessed their final performance and as we say it and felt it, the human element was the dominant note of the program. There was no striving for dramatic effect—altho drama was there in its truest sense—they were just folks, portraying the traditions, the fears, the frustrations and the joys of other folks whose lives had touched theirs in their Southern homeland."

The three plays to be given here on November 29 are to be presented before a Boston audience on November 25 and 26. We are fortunate, indeed, to be near enough their route home to bring them here. Certainly the opportunity to see real play-workers play in their own productions is a rare one, and one that we ought not to miss.

Also talking comedy.

Friday and Saturday—Lewis Stone with a big supporting cast in the talking picture, "Wonder of Women." The whole world was at her feet. But in one man's life the lure of her flashing beauty wrought an amazing change. A new angle on the triangle, a thrilling picture from Suderman's best selling novel, "The Wife of Stephen Tromholt." This is a big production. Also classic sound picture in colors and news reel.

Admission prices: Adwults at night, 35c; at matinees, 25c; children under 12 years, 15c at each show.

PEGGY PAIGE DRESSES

The Band Box Shoppe

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Quality—Price—Service
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You With Us
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

FALL SHOWING OF
HATS
THE HAT SHOPPE
Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Falconer Gift Shop
Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving
COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE
Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh films)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S
is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP
Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials
110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS
Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop
323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY
The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP
Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING . CLEANING
PRESSING
Farmville - - - - - - - - - - Virginia

AT THE HUB
DRESS SALE
Starting Thursday, November 7, lasting 4 days ONLY
Your unrestricted choice of any $15 dress in the store, consisting of new silhouettes and newest materails and colors $8.95
3 piece Jersey Sutis $5.95
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Co-ed: "No, no. I won't kiss you!"

College Boy: "Then, I warn you. I'll play my ukelele."

Lucille Norman: "Where is my wondering boy tonight?"

Loulie Milner: "Worried about him, are you?"

Lucille N.: "Yes, he ought to have been able to get some gin by this time."

Marion Seay (to her class): "Do you know why George Washington threw a silver dollar across the Potomac?"

Member of Class: "No, why?"

M. Seay: "Because he was teaching a couple of Scotchmen how to swim."

Ellen: "Isn't he wonderful? Why, he can actually make one feel hot or cold, happy or sad, at his slightest will."

Al: "That's nothing at all. Our janitor can do that."—Lehigh Burr.

Snooty: "This would be a good dance if there were more fellows here."

Mayo: "Yes, what's waste of a difference a few gent's make."—Cornell Widow.

Bob: "I can't give you anything but love."

A. Covington: "Well, that wouldn't be so bad."—Texas Ranger.

English Boy: "Tell me one or two things about John Milton."

Marguerite Swann: "Well, he got married and he wrote 'Paradise Lose'. Then his wife died and he wrote 'Paradise Regained'." —Annapolis Log.

Ella Simms Clore: "What kind of flowers are they?"

Martha Walters: "Poppies."

Ella Simms: "I mean the name, not the sex."

"Has Elaine any will power?"

"I'll say she has. She makes the boys kiss her in spite of themselves."

Student at S. T. C.: "Professor, have you got a girl on your roll, by the name of Simpson?"

Prof.: "Yes, what about it?"

M. Simpson: "Well, I'm that student. I just thought you had it down 'Sampson'."—Logalo Ho-Hum.

Impatient customer: "Can't you wait on me? Two pounds of liver. I'm in a hurry."

Butcher: "Sorry, madam, but two or three are ahead of you. You surely don't want your liver out of order."—Grinnell Malteser.

Popular Fiction

"Let Bygones Be," by Gones.
"Yes," by George.
"Rock-a" by Baby.
"The Fly" by Night.
"Missed," by A. Mile.
"Benjamin Franklin's Auto" by Ography.

COLLEGE SONGS

HAIL THE FARMVILLE TEAM

Words and music by Mary E. Booker

Hail the team, the Farmville team,
The pride of S. T. C.
Full of vim and pep that leads to victory,
We will stand behind you while you make a walk away.
Up and over, Farmville team, and claim the victory.

Chorus

Hip hoorah! for Farmville team.
It's the best that we have seen
Up, Farmville, on, Farmville, on to victory,
And no matter what the test,
We know that you're the best,
Our defender now you bring a victory!

Yes, we're rooting for old Farmville.
Yes, we are, rah! rah!
We've the team and the backing that it known afar,
Let's go team!
Watch our team work while they're winning
That's how Farmville wins her fame,
In fairness and backing, you know
she's never lacking
So, ray! ray! for S. T. C.
So, ray! ray! rah! rah!
For Farmville we are rooting,
'Cause we know she's out to win!

Onward Farmville, onward Farmville!
Plunge right into the fray.
Hit that line every time,
Victory we will surely win today
Rah! rah! rah! rah! rah!
Show your pep girls,
Keep your pep girls,
One goal will make them yield
We will keep old S. T. C. on top!
Back them right down the field.
All along the line. (repeat)

Hi, yi, yikus,
Nobody like us
We are the girls of S. T. C.
Always winning,
Always grinning,
Always feeling fine!
Hi! yi!

Melisse: "Going dancing?"

Nannie Belle: "No, I'm going dancing."

Melisse: Oh, I thought maybe you were going dancing."

NEW MEMBERS OF THE MONOGRAM CLUB

Two new members have been bid to the Monogram Club and were installed Monday night. They are Claudia Fleming and Cleo Quisenberry. These girls have passed the requirements for membership and will be entitled to wear the college emblem.

ETTA MARSHALL IS ELECTED CHEER LEADER

"Your pep! Your pep! You've got it, now keep it! Doggone it, don't lost it!"

Not only don't lose your pep, but show it—Saturday morning Etta Marshall was elected cheer leader. Back her up! We've all seen Etta lead cheers and we know she can do it, but she has to have your cooperation. When she calls a pep meeting be there and show how you can yell.

Come to the game Saturday afternoon and cheer Farmville to victory!

"Do you believe in companionate marriage?"

"Yes, I've just joined the wife-of-the-month-club."—Dartmouth Jack O' Lantern.

IT PAYS TO DEAL
at
GREENBERG'S
DEPT. STORE
First in Style
Lowest in Price
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

SCHEMMEL
CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony
Aesthetics, Etc.
REASONABLE TUITION RATES

C. E. Chappell Co.
Dealers in
Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery
AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES
Farmville - - - - Va.

CANADA DRUG CO.
Next to Baldwin's Store
Come to us for your cosmetics and
STATIONERY
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

FEATURE THIS WEEK
COLLEGE THEME TABLETS
3 For 25c
SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES
MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

Printzess Coats Smartest in Fall Wear!
The Mode is Femininely Chic

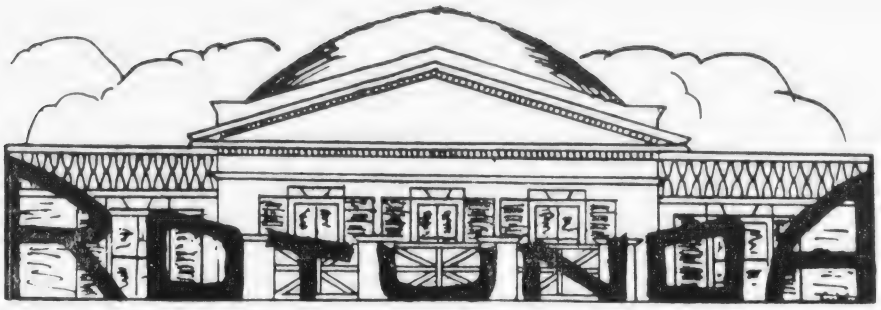
Last season the 'dressmaker" type of coat was a growing tendency in the mode—it is an established fact this season and is smartly feminine in every phase.
This whim of fashion is charmingly illustrated in our present showings of Printzess coats. Each style is an adaption of a French design and represents the best in the mode. New silhouettes, new fabrics, new trimming details. Priced $24.75 to $57.50.
BALDWIN'S
The S. T. C. Girls' Main Street Home

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
The House of Quality
GYM OUTFITS for the COLLEGE GIRLS
Black Sateen Bloomers $1.50
White Broadcloth Shirts $1.00
Gym Shoes, Laced to toe $1.35
DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
FARMVILLE, VA.

COTY ANNOUNCES *CULTURISTE CREATIONS
TO ENHANCE AND MAINTAIN A RADIANCE OF YOUTH

*Culturiste Creations sound the new note in the world of beauty—the quicker, surer way, based on supreme modern knowledge of the skin. Cleansing and clearing the skin—strengthening muscles and livening circulation so the blood comes dancing to the cells—smoothing and refining the texture—they build or maintain a natural beauty that radiates the freshness of youth.

"COLCREME,, CLEANSING CREAM—Liquefying readily, penetrating deeply, cleanses the pores thoroughly of dust, cosmetics and excess oil — which do not yield to water alone. Tubes 50c; regular size jar $1.00; ½ lb. jar $2.50.
POTONIQUE (Skin Tonic) TONING LOTION to be used instead of water. Removes all traces of cream. (Use always with Cleansing Cream). Cleanses, clarifies and stimulates pores to normal activity, refining texture of the skin. $1.00.
TISSUE CREAM — A rich nourishing cream for building up the underlying tissues. Helps to correct intense lines—round out thin faces and hollows and impart velvety smoothness. $1.50.
EAU DE COTY (Special Astringent) — Firms and tones loose skin and flaccid tissues without drying skin. Aids in correcting relaxed chin and throat. Reduces puffiness around eyes. $1.00.
LOTION POUR LA PEAU (Skin Lotion). The correct make-up foundation for skins inclined to be dry, or exposed to dry conditions. Soothing, healing, giving a flattering youthful bloom. $1.50.
CREME DE BEAUTE (Foundation Cream). The perfect, velvety make-up base for the normal or oily skin, or under humid conditions. Gives the essential protection from sun, wind and dust. $1.00.



COTY QUALITY AT MODERATE COTY PRICES

Every Woman Needs—THE ESSENTIAL TREATMENT
(1) Cleansing Cream. (2) Skin Tonic. (3) Tissue Cream.
(4) Foundation Cream. Complete $4.50.
For Special Requirements—
(2A) Eau de Coty—Special Astringent Where Stronger Effect Is Desired. (See Above Text).
(4A) Skin Lotion—Make-Up Foundation For The Dry Skin.

SEND FOR BOOKLET "CULTURISTE CREATIONS" GIVING COMPLETE CARE OF THE SKIN
COTY
714 Fifth Avenue, New York
RUE DE LA PAIX — PARIS

Number of Guests Expected for the Cotillion Club Dance

S. T. C.-Westhampton Hockey Game to be Played Saturday

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1929 No. 9

TALES OF HOFFMAN PLEASES AUDIENCE FRIDAY EVENING

Opera Given Friday Night Is First Lyceum Number This Season

"Tales of Hoffman," the first of our lyceum entertainments, was generously applauded here last Friday evening.

Considering the conditions under which the company worked, the opera was staged remarkably well. It consisted of three acts each of which portrayed one of Hoffman's three love affairs as a student at Nuremberg.

The first act showed him in love with the marvelous mechanical doll, Olympia. Mae Korb, acting the part of heroine in each affair, gave a clever portrayal of the doll, looking exactly like one from the big bow on her hair to her black "Mary-Janes."

The scene of the second love affair was laid in Venice. William De Roin as Hoffman, made an ardent lover as the suitor of Guilietta, a famous Italian beauty. It was in this scene that the familiar Barcarolle was sung.

In the third and last act Hoffman goes through the most tragic affair of all. This time he falls in love with Antonia, a young girl who has become the victim of consumption. Hudson Carmody taking the part of Crespel Antonia's father, really seemed to live the part, especially in his scene with Dr. Miracle, the fiend who urges Antonia to sing herself to death. Miss Korb made her best showing as this last sweetheart, both as to singing and acting. She made a natural response to Dr. Miracle who was fiendish enough in appearance to hypnotize anyone.

A short epilogue concluded the opera. Hoffman at last declares Art to be his only mistress. She alone will always be faithful!

Class Hockey Squads Selected for Games

The class hockey squads have been chosen and are as follows:

Freshmen — Elizabeth Johnson, Hildegarde Ross, Dorothy Ritchie, Henrietta Taylor, Lucille Crute, Anne Johnson, Theodorsia Beacham, Engal Baker, Elsie Hardy, Mae Downs, Pearl Edwards, Martha Gunter, Laurie Bousch, Mary Gregory, Elizabeth Walthall, Dorothy Snedgar, Melisse Lynch, Frances Hutchins, Duvall Ridgeway, Mary Warren, Marguerite Massey, Ludia Harrell.

Sophomores — Frances Edwards, Elizabeth Etheridge, Virginia Rover, Anita Crane, Frances Schofield, Elizabeth Rawls, Sue Cross, Cleo Quisenmerry, Marion Pratt, Easter Souders, Kathleen Hundley, Virginia Old, Louise Clayton, Lucille Transon, Mary Scales, Henrietta Cornwell.

Juniors—Adele Hutchinson, Allie Oliver, Edith Coleman, Dolly Reed, Permele Byrd, Mildred Maddrey, Laura N. Smith, Emily Simpson, Elizabeth Hunter, Margaret Nuttall, Elizabeth Dutton, Elizabeth Evans,.

Seniors—Martha Anthony, Nannie Sue Anthony, Laura M. Smith, Billie Paris, Carolyn Watts, Mary Frances Hatchett, Kathleeen Woodson, Mary Rose Wood, Anne Stump, Mary Frances Shepard, Gertrude Richardson.

S. T. C. TO PLAY WESTHAMPTON

Last Saturday was the date set for the hockey game between Farmville and Harrisonburg. Due to the weather this game had to be postponed, and the date for playing it has not yet been determined.

The other varsity game is to be played this Saturday, our opponent being Westhampton. This is the first time we have met Westhampton in athletics, and we want to show them what we can do.

The game is to be played at Westhampton, and our team will leave Saturday morning. Give them a big send-off! Show them that you back them and they'll do their best for you!

PLANS IN MAKING FOR THANKSGIVING

With the coming of November we always associate thoughts of Thanksgiving. Thanksgiving signifies the spirit of happiness and joy, and this spirit is always present at S. T. C. To each individual that day means an opportunity to show her school spirit, her class spirit, and her ideas of fair play and clean sportsmanship in every way. For it is then that the sister classes contend with each other in the attempt to display their colors on the front of the school first, and it is then that the classes challenge each other in the hockey games.

When the bell first taps at six o'clock Thursday morning everybody will rush out in the attempt to put up her class colors in the front of the school first. Of course the seniors and sophomores will try to have the prettiest red and white banners, and the juniors and freshmen will display their green and white banners. These banners may be put on the front of the library building, the Rotunda and the wings on either side, the auditorium, and the Student Building, but no colors may be put on any roof.

After rising at this unusual morning hour and taking part in such vigorous exercise before breakfast, no doubt everyone will have a keen appetite by 7:30. The time is free after breakfast until 9:00—and then comes the fun! Every girl in school is expected to support her class team and cheer them on to victory. The freshmen and sophomores play first, and then the juniors and seniors. It is not necessary to be on the team in order to be a good sport. If your team is winning, be modest but not boastful, or if losing, accept defeat gamely and congratulate the victor for being the best. Each girl will be showing her class spirit and sportsmanship by coming out and helping her team.

The complete program for Thanksgiving Day has not been yet announced. All that is necessary to make the day remembered by every freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior is that each girl at S. T. C. store up for the occasion a large amount of "pep", class spirit, and above all, good sportsmanship.

NOTICE

Seniors! Sophomores! Be sure to get your write-ups for the Virginian in by November 27. The form for seniors is posted on the senior bulletin board. All write-ups may be placed in Frances Wilson's senior mail box.

HISTORY OF TRI SIGMA PLACQUE

Presented To College April 20, 1928 During Founders Day Celebration

NATIONAL COUNCIL MEMBERS ATTEND

The bronze marker at the left of the entrance to the home office was unveiled and presented to the College on April 20, 1928 during the Founders Day celebration of Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority. On that occasion, Alpha Chapter and the college had as guests three members of the National Council of the sorority: Miss Mabel Lee Walton, president, of Woodstock, Virginia; Mrs. W. M. Stryker, vice-president of Wichita, Kansas, and Mrs. Ludwig Schmidt, of Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

This marker commemorates the founding of Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority at Farmville in 1898 on April 20, and honors the eight founders whose names are inscribed below the shield of the sorority. Three of the founders: Lucy James Wright, Sallie Michie Bayley, and Louise Davis Hall, were present at the unveiling of the marker.

From 1898 until 1907, Sigma Sigma Sigma made no distincton as to the type of instituton it should enter. It was then decided to limit itself to collegiate institutions. In 1911, the sorority found itself unwilling to drop its chapters in normal schools because they were not provided for by similar organizations, so it decided to become a profressional educational organization. Since that time it has restricted its chapter to accredited normal schools, teachers colleges of first rank, and the educational departments of universities.

CUNNINGHAM LITERARY SOCIETY TAKES IN NEW MEMBERS

An impressive meeting of the Cunningham Literary Society was held in the Y. W. C. A. reception room, Tuesday night at seven o'clock, to install the new members. The new members came in with unlighted candles and stood opposite the old members, who were holding lighted candles. The president, Linda Wilkerson, then gave a brief history of the Cunningham Literary Society. As the new members took the pledge, the old members crossed over and lighted the candles of the new members. Then followed a brief program which consisted of a poem by Pauline Gibb and a story by Mary Frances Shepard.

The new members are: Elizabeth Hunter, Florence Cralle, Maude Pugh, Lucie Anne Lane, Jane Witt, Eloise Davis, Cora Lee Philpott, Janet Reid, Annie Denit, Mamie Hurt, Bessie Lynch, Nannie Sue Anthony, Margaret Addleman, Evelyn Traylor, Elsie Mae Roberts, Frances Stephenson, Vashti Brisbois, Martha Anthony, Mary Elizabeth Scales, Nan Gwendolyn Mears.

NELLIE TALLEY LEADS THE MORNING WATCH

Nellie Talley conducted morning watch in the student lounge last Sunday morning while the girls gathered around a log fire.

One statement that seemed to sum up our attitude toward the present generation was—"If the old people are the salt of the earth, then the younger generation must be the pepper."

Then Nellie gave four ways in which we may place ourselves in the "Who's Not." What we want to do is to put ourselves in the "Who's Who." One important point under this argument was the necessity of doing away with that spirit of following the crowd.

WHO WRITES THE PRESIDENTS PAPERS

Almost every president has had his "ghost writer." Hamilton wrote most of Washington's state paper; Roger B. Taney wrote Andrew Jackson's; the historian Bancroft and the great lawyer, Jeremiah S. Black, wrote Andrew Johnson's. That is to say, these understudies polished into brilliant language the vigorous thought that the presidents themselves supplied.

Exceptions to this custom were made by Jefferson, Lincoln, Cleveland, Roosevelt and Wilson, who penned their own papers, though they sometimes had the Secretary of State formulate some important document. Lincoln's second inaugural address is regarded as one of the most nearly perfect literary structures that has come from the White House. It would be interesting, however, to know definitely the author of Lincoln's Thanksgiving Proclamation.

A president's literary style is rarely thought of apart from political and state declarations. In Calvin Coolidge's magazine articles we have a striking exception, and judging from the interest and comment on the part of readers, a pleasant one.

President Hoover has developed a homely style that makes his addresses noteworthy. It is so foreign to the scientific mind that some are led to believe that there is a writer of unusual ability on the staff of our engineer president. Nothing like these papers has ever come from a president. They have the sort of charm that one finds in the best of Goldsmith's Chinese Letters.

PLAY YOUR TENNIS MATCH; CLIMB LADDER

What about that tennis match? Helen Wills never became the Helen Wills that she is without playing. We started a new kind of tournament this year, so that everyone could play as much as she wished without being eliminated. But where are all the entrants? Very few matches have been played as yet. Get to work and climb the ladder!

NOTICE

There will be a table in the hall on Thursday. Subscribe to your Virginian and leave orders for extra cuts. Girls wanting more pictures, order them at once if you want them before Christmas.

The Virginian is your annual, and it is yours to make it a success!

PLAYMAKERS GIVE PERFORMANCES IN NORTHERN CITIES

To Give Performances in New York, Philadelphia, and Other Large Cities

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 16—Traveling by bus, atop which they will carry stage equipment and baggage, the Carolina Playmakers, the University of North Carolina's famous dramatic group, will leave here Saturday morning on a Northern tour, during which they will give performances in Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, and other Northern cities.

Their regular bill will consist of Paul Green's "The No' Count Boy," Gertrude Wilson Coffin's "Magnolia Man," and Loretto Carroll Bailey's "Job's Kinfolks."

In cities where "Job's Kinfolks" was played last year, its sequel, "Black Water," will be given. In Baltimore and New York, however, the new three-act version of "Job's Kinfolks" will be played.

The Playmakers made their first appearance on the tour at Petersburg, Va., November 16. Two days later they reached Baltimore and performed at the Guild Theatre.

Last night, November 19, the regular bill of one-act plays was given at the Hedgerow Theatre in Philadelphia. On November 20, they will perform at LaFayette College, Easton, Pa; on November 21, at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa.; and on November 22, at Morristown, N. J.

The Playmakers will reach New York City on November 23 and give matinee and night performances of "Job's Kinfolks" at the McMillin Academic Theatre of Columbia University there on that date. On November 25 and 26 they will appear at the Fine Arts Theatre in Boston, Mass. Farmville, Va., and Ahoskie, N. C., on November 29 and 30, respectively, will complete the itinerary.

The company for the tour will con-

(Continued on page 3)

International Subjects Discussed by Miss Peck

Wednesday night after prayers the current events group met in the little sitting room. National and International topics were discussed. We are expecting you next time to join us and enjoy these discussions. Don't forget Wednesday night right after prayers!

In the meeting, reference was made to the Nov. 6 issue of the Richmond Times-Dispatch as containing a good account of our new governor.

Robert Bridges, poet laureate of England, has brought out a volume of poetry called "The Testament of Beauty." It contains eight volumes.

Mr. McDonald's report to Parliament on the results of his trip to America was discussed. Although Lloyd George tried to get an explanation of why nothing else was accomplished, his opposition was drowned-out by those who supported McDonald.

Miss Peck very ably explained stocks and bonds, what they are, and the present trouble with them.

The present happenings in India were mentioned. The fact that she is going to get more freedom from England was discussed.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — JESSIE SMTH, '31

Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '30
Alumnae Editor — MISS CARRIE B. TALIAFERRO

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 — KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30
ANN STUMP, '30

Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader — JESSIE WATKINS, '33

Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Editorial

"No Man Was Ever Discontented With the World Who Did His Full Duty In It"

The other day I came across the above quotation and it set me to thinking. I began to wonder if this is true of our life here at school. For instance, when we leave a class how often have we said, or heard someone else say, "That was the most boring class. I always dread it because it's so uninteresting." If a class bores us is it altogether because of the method in which the teacher presents the subject, or is it partly because we haven't done our duty in preparing the lesson and are unable to understand or take part in the class discussion?

Occasionally, too, we see some girl who is utterly discontended and unhappy in her school life and who says, "I wish I were home. I hate this place." Is this because of the school itself or because she hasn't yet found the place where she can serve best in accordance with her capacities, because she hasn't learned to cooperate? In a larger school it is often difficult for us to find our places; but until we do we can at least determine our ideals for the school and in our small way we can help to establish them by practicing them ourselves. When we do this we begin a big service for the school; we will be raising the morale of the school. Not only will we be helping the school by service, but we will find that our own discontent will vanish. In school, as elsewhere, the things and the people we serve most are the ones we will love most.

Our Sense of Reverence

I remember as a small child that I, along with my brothers and sisters, was taught to close my eyes and give absolute attention to the word of God through a prayer. To have erred here we would have been in disgrace.

Yet as girls of seventeen to twenty-one come to college, they fail to show reverence to God for only a few minutes in chapel each morning. Just how would our parents feel toward us if they could come into our chapel—and see girl reading letters, hear the rattle of papers and whispering sounds among friends? Surely they would feel as though they had failed to teach a successful lesson twelve years ago when we promised so faithfuly to do as mother wished. If we can't give our whole attention to God for a few minutes in chapel, then where are we going to give Him our time which we owe Him?

If each girl who doesn't show the right sense of reverence in chapel would think about how her mother taught her years ago—that it was sinful to fail to give God part of her time, how ashamed she would be to think that as a woman of seventeen or twenty she can't be trusted as she was when she was eight or ten.

Girls, think about what you would term your sense of reverence.

OVER THE TEACUPS

Hey! Going my way? No place in particular. I'm just going down to look at our mail box. To use the old thread-bare remark, "I want to be sure that no dust is contaminating it."

Weren't there lots of girls away? Most everybody went to Richmond, and I don't blame them. I wanted to go myself, but when I got out "Ye olde banke booke" and saw a balance of fifty cents, I just couldn't make it. Of course it's no disgrace to be poor, but somehow it's dreadfully inconvenient.

I was too! I've been looking forward to that game all the fall, and then the ground had to be too wet to play. I do hope they will be able to have it later.

Did I see the opera? I hope to tell you. I've never enjoyed anything more Weren't some of them darling? They 've been here before—last year—don't you remember? They sang the mosquito song, "Buzz-z-z"—

Aren't we getting popular, though? Farmville is getting on the map! I'm afraid Lucy will soon have to hire a secretary to handle her fan mail—and Laura too. Must be grand to be popular.

Have you heard the latest? Well, probably it isn't the latest, but it was news to me—I was looking at the Picture Play, Photoplay, or something of the sort, and saw an article called "Over the Teacups." We should have patented our column—or at least they should have asked our permission before they used our name.

Isn't it terrible? Much more rain, and I know, my dear, that I'll either be paddling around in a canoe or swimming from place to place.

Realize it? Of course, I do. I've been counting the day till Christmas ever since September 18. Thanksgiving breaks in too, so it really won't seem so long. Santa will soon come sliding down the chimney.

Here's where we have to get in the rush. I've never seen girls push like they do along this hall. Their letter will wait—but they don't seem to realize it. 'Spose I'd better say so long, now, 'cause we're sure to be separated. Hope you get loads of mail.

I'll be seeing you—.

INTERLUDE

Oswald wasn't the type to let things affect him. He was a type all to himself. At the moment he sat digging a stub pencil point into the desk blotter. He was thinking. You're right! He was writing a short story. In fact, he had been writing for almost half an hour. Every short story had at least two thousand words, didn't it? He was apt at figures, too! Ten from two thousand left one thousand nine hundred and ninety. Gee, the professor just would give such assignments as, "Class, on the fifteenth of the month I shall expect a story of only two thousand words." It was now the night of the fourteenth, and he had persevered diligently marking the blotter and thinking for half an hour.

"Linda gazed sadly out of her window into the starlight". Heck! That was awful! It would never do.

Then Oswald scratched his head and gazed sadly out of his own window onto the campus. The night was a rich October one with a golden moon pressed low over the earth. And then he did the only thing a fellow could do after looking at such a gorgeous picture. The pencil landed with a bang into the far corner of the room and Oswald was out into the night. He simply couldn't write a story but they wouldn't catch him wasting a perfectly good night bemoaning the fact.

He wandered across the campus to the fascinating "other side." That was

"YO—YO"

Isn't it funny the way folks "take on" to fads? Six months ago, I betcha there wasn't such a thing as a yo-yo. Where did they start from anyway? Somebody told me that a taxi driver made the first one and is becoming very rich from the sale of them. Well, I guess!—from the number you see on the streets, at the movies, in the classrooms, and even at church. The other day—I won't mention any names—but the other day my English teacher asked a girl a question. She didn't answer, so I turned around to see if she was asleep or sick—but she was only "yo-yo-ing."

Well, when I first saw 'em I didn't think anything could be sillier. Since then I've changed my opinion. One of my best friends gave me one. At first, I couldn't do anything with it, but after awhile we became quite friendly and I could coax the piece of wood to crawl up the string to me. I'm teaching it to run around my hand and lots of other cute tricks. And now I think "yo-yo"ing quite a fascinating game. This is how I feel about my "YO-YO"

"What is the dearest thing on earth,
What fills my soul with joy & mirth?
My yo-yo.
What takes the place of my best girl,
Is treasured more than any pearl;
And sets my senses in a whirl?
My yo-yo.
What keeps me busy day and night
What makes me exercise with delight?
My yo-yo.
All day I work my arm it seems,
'Till when I'm sleeping in my dreams
I yo-yo.
And in the morn when I awake
Before my breakfast I will take
My yo-yo.
And start to sling it in and out
Above my head and all about,
Until my family cusses out
My yo-yo.
I prance along the busy street
And show to everyone I meet
My yo-yo.
I think it is the grandest thing
My painted top and great long string
And they all stop to watch me sling,
My yo-yo.
I sling it out and reel it in,
The girls all like to see me spin
My yo-yo.
They're lauding my dexterity,
They all are running after me,
But all they want to see
Is my yo-yo.
I'll clasp it tightly to my breast,
And when I take my final rest
All I desire to take is
My yo-yo."

ALUMNAE NOTES

Miss Katherine Kemp played the part of Prossy, the secretary, in "Candida," by George Bernard Shaw, when the Virginia Players, the dramatic organization of the University of Virginia, gave two performances Nov. 12 and 13. Miss Kemp has her B. S. from Farmville and her M. A. from U. of Va., and is now continuing her studies with Ph. D. as her goal.

Farmville alumnae have varied talents. Mrs. Southall Farrar (Katherine Vaughan) was a recent winner in the News Leader daily recipe contest, her dish being stuffed turnips.

Miss Virginia Updike is on the program of the classical teachers of the 1929 Convention of the Virginia Educational Association, to be held in Richmond at Thanksgiving. Miss Updike is teaching Latin in Blackstone High School, and she will tell, together with other teachers, "What I am Doing in My Classes Toward the Virgilian Celebration." Last summer Misses Updike, Margaret Hubbard, Virginia Marshall, Mary Bernard and Julia Wilson spent several weeks in Europe, visiting points of interest in both the northern and southern areas of the continent.

Miss Elvira Houston Jones graduated from Teachers College, Columbia University, August, 1929. She visited a camp on Bantam Lake, Conn., for a month before returning to Virginia.

Miss Judson Lifsey was married to B. H. Parker on Saturday, Nov. 2, in Emporia.

RETROGRESSION

Yesterday's close of evening,
Gay twilight—
Canopied you and me, while
Yesterday's imprisoned moments
Flew to liberty, and
Yesterday's girlish dreams
Faded into nothingness, for Yesterday's youthful aspirations
Left me, hopeless.
Gay twilight!
Yesterday's would be romance
Rushed to sweeter realms, but
Gay twilight!
Yesterday's tomorrow by chance
Will laden us with richer gems
That those that yesterday did give
So why grieve?
Gay twilight!

J. R. '32

LITTLE THINGS

The little things that count the most, dear,
Both now and the afterwhile,
Are the things that are not seen
By many far and wide.

It may be just a little flower,
It may be a wee, wee book;
It may be a loving smile;
It may be only a look.

Perhaps it is the warm handclasp,
A friendly word or two,
That cheers some tired aching heart
And gives it life anew.

But what ever it is, it matters not
Though the world may never know,
It is written on the page of a human heart,
And there it will surely grow.

And within the soul of another
There's a joy one can not tell
When the giver hears a still, small voice,
"When love rules all is well."

No matter how tiny it may seem,
The kindness will make it swell.
It's the very, very little things
That are always sure to tell.

E. B. D., '30

WITHOUT YOU

I wonder what's the matter
With the sunlight and the air.
Yesterday my spirit soared on wings
And joy was everywhere;
Today the sunshine brings a feeling
That is very near to pain
And the breezes sing a requiem
That is maddening to the brain.
Yesterday, I held your eyes;
I stroked your hair;
I saw in your eyes the beauty of the skies
And heard in your voice music echoed on the air.
Oh, it may not be the sunlight!
And I doubt if its the air,
But a glorious joy has fled me
And I cannot find it—anywhere.

—M. H., '31

SUNRISE

This morning I awoke before the sun.
I saw her gently throw back her cover of mist
Until I could see the distant trees that crown the hills.
She was quite undecided
How to dress the sky.
At first she robed it in a somber
Gray—but thinking it too mournful,
Changed for a gown of gorgeous pink.
This was lovely enough but a little Too gay for morning so she Tried again—a gown of dainty blue.

And there was lain at
Her entrance to the day
A path of dull-red gold
For the passage of her
Herald ray!

M. von Schilling, '31

SOCIAL NEWS

Week-End Guests

The following girls visited friends on campus last week-end: Pearl Etheridge, Betty Hopkins, Margaret Cobb, Mary Clements, Mildred Hendricks, and Mrs. Lee Downer (nee Gladys Huband).

Week-End Trips

Suzanne Holland spent the week-end at her home in Danville.

Louise Whitlock spent the week-end at her home in Milton, N. C.

Betsy Worden visited in Lynchburg last week-end.

Jane Withers and Dorothy Snedgar spent the week-end in Roanoke.

French Hutt visited in Portsmouth last week-end.

Elizabeth Etheridge and Katherine Grinnan spent the week-end at their homes in Norfolk.

Elizabeth Davis spent the week-end at her home in Brookneal.

Emily Gale spent Sunday in Smithfield.

Nan Griffith spent Sunday in Hampton.

Martha Moore, Medora Ford, Alice Covington, Mayo Beaty and Mary C. Booth, attended the W. & L.-Virginia game and dances at Lexington last week-end.

Nannie Belle Blendenin spent the week end at her home in Greensboro, N. C.

Lucy Dortch and Mildred Field Elmore spent the week-end at the latter's home in Petersburg.

Lela Glaswell motored to Washington last week-end.

Edith and Marguerite Britt spent the week-end at their home in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Hazel Burgwin, Marian Seay, Frances Davis, Jenilee Knight, Patty Ellison, Mary Trimyer, Sue Detrick, Elsie Burgess, Margaret Priest, Margaret Rickeretts, Florence Reed, Melisse Mullins, Verina Greaves, Margaret Gathright, Jacque Lee, Alice Hardaway, Martha Walters, Loulie Milner, Eliabeth Hurt, Mary Simmerman, Rubie Hunt, Mary B. Epes, Virginia Ford, Ethel Fisher, and Kathleen Hawthorne spent the week-end in Richmond.

Sara Faison spent the week-end in Wakefield.

Miss Lillian Woodley spent the week-end at her home near Richmond having as her guest Miss Frances Prillaman.

Doris Robertson spent the past week-end in her home, Church Road, Va.

Vilma Petty enjoyed the past week-end with her parents in Ettrick, Va.

Doris Weber and Teeny Myers spent last week-end in Richmond.

Mercy!

Male students at European universities are campaigning for the segregation of women in separate classrooms. The overpowering and obnoxious odor of rouge and perfume was assigned as the reason for the steps taken by militant pupils. Undergraduates at the Sorbonne declared: "They annoy us in our work. In the law schools, their bobbed hair, rouged lips and cheeks and even blackened eyebrows and lashes strike a note out of harmony with the traditional solemnity of the French judicial system."—Amherst Student.

PLAYMAKERS TO GIVE PERFORMANCES IN CITIES

Continued from Page 1.

sist of Frederick Koch, director; Hubert Heffner, assistant director; Elmer Hall, technical director; and the following members of the casts: Gertrude Wilson Coffin, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Loretto Carroll Bailey, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Nettina Strobach, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Phoebe Harding, Washington, N. C.; Muriel Wolff, Concord, N. C.; Howard Bailey, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Holmes Bryson, Asheville, N. C.; Fred Greer, Anniston, Ala.; Bill Dayl, Greenwich, Conn.; Jack White, Waban, Mass.; Arthur Kauffman, Essex Falls, N. J.; Robert Erskine, Stanford, Conn.

WORLD NEWS

"It is a rare thing in the history of the world when an inventor lives to see the golden jubilee of his invention. Rarer still it is that the entire world which uses it joins to pay him tribute; unprecedented that he dedicates a museum which recreates the primitive laboratory where his invention flashed from his brain to light the world." To pay tribute to Thomas A. Edison in the celebration of the Golden Jubilee of Light, President Hoover, Henry Ford and many other notables personally participated in the celebration in Detroit. By every means possible the people tried to show their appreciation and love of the eighty-three year old inventor, and he expressed his gratitude by saying, "If I have spurred men to greater efforts, and if your work has widened the horizon of man's understanding even a little, and given a measure of happiness in the world, I am content."

Next year the people of Oberamergau, Bavaria, Germany will give their world famous Passion Play, representing the death and sufferings of Christ. To head the cast as "Christus" they have selected Alois Lang, cousin of Anton Lang, who played the part three times. Anton is now too old to play the exhaustive roll, instead he will read the prologue. His successor is 38 years old, and in the Passion Play of 1922, he was understudy to his cousin. His daily work is carving wooden figures of Christ.—World Review.

Communism is still a crime in California. Five women and one man recently have been convicted of "conspiracy to display a red flag or other emblem of opposition to organized government." Last summer when some working people of Los Angeles sent forty of their children to a mountain camp for pure air, in charge of six women and one man, they made a red flag adorned with a hammer and sickle and raised it. The news reached California and the camp was raided and the women were sentenced from six months to ten years in San Quentin prison. The man hung himself in jail the night before he was sentenced.

INTERLUDE

Continued from page two

an idea! Maybe he could find inspiration for a story.

Ah! at last there it was. It was a lady in distress, just the thing for a gripping plot. And she was in tears. His lucky star was certainly shining for him tonight. He hastened to her side. he was sobbing softly into a tiny square of white. She did not notice his approach. Rescuing a bit of his fast disappearing courage he touched her arm timidly.

"I-er-that is, can't I help you?"

"Oh, go away," she stormed petulantly. Then, he didn't know how it all happened but the girl was sobbing on his shoulder.

"Tell me what the trouble is," he urged, gaining confidence.

"I was just lonely and sad, so I came out for a walk, and j-just couldn't k-keep from crying."

"There, its all right now. Don't cry anymore," he soothed gallantly. His heart beat wildly. Ah, the romance and pathos of it all!

"I'm better now, thanks. Goodnight."

"Er-may I call tomorrow night?"

"I—"

"Hey, what's this? Say, you stay away from my girl, shrimp! Come here Angela."

"Oh, Bobby," cooed Angela happily. Angela and the person of the thunderous voice sauntered across the campus toward the "Sig" House.

"Curses," muttered Oswald. He put his hands savagely into his pockets and strode grimly back to the dorm.

"I'll show 'em—yes! I'll write a story about frail co-eds who crush trusting fellows' hearts."

Annie Denit

FRESHMAN COMMISSION HAS BEEN CHOSEN

The following girls have been elected from the freshman class to serve on the freshman commission:

Martha Sanders
Frances Fleming
Margaret Britt
Louise Johnson
Sarah Codd
Martha Moore
Hattie Gilliam
Elsie Burgess
Dorothy Snedegar
Virginia Marchant
Elizabeth Winston Cobb
Evelyn (Happy) Hughes

RADFORD GIRL WINS FLYING COURSE

Isabel S. Bouldin of Keysville, Virginia, a Sophomore at Radford College last year, was awarded a ten-hour flying course at the Charles Flying Service School in Richmond, as a territorial prize in the national aeronautics contest sponsored by the Alexander Eaglerock Airplane Company of Colorado Springs.

After receiving her degree and completing the flight course, Miss Bouldin plans to become an aeronautical instructor in some Virginia high school.

The judges of the contest said "a keen comprehension of aerodynamics was revealed by Miss Bouldin in the four papers she submitted in competition for the Alexander Eaglerock Awards, a foundation for encouraging college students competed in the Naaviation. Fifteen hundred American college studetns competed in the National contest.—The Grapurchat.

SCHEMMEL
CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony
Aesthetics, Etc.
REASONABLE TUITION RATES

EVENING DRESSES

The Band Box Shoppe

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Quality—Price—Service
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You With Us
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

FALL SHOWING OF
HATS
THE HAT SHOPPE
Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Falconer Gift Shop
Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving
COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE
Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh films)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S
is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP
Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials
110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS
Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop
323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY
The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP
Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING CLEANING
PRESSING
Farmville - - - - - - - - - - Virginia

AT THE HUB
DRESS SALE
Starting Thursday, November 7, lasting 4 days ONLY
Your unrestricted choice of any $15 dress in the store, consisting of new slihouettes and newest materails and colors $8.95
3 piece Jersey Sutis $5.95
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Ellen Fowlkes: "What's the matter with Helen Robertson?"

Elaine Goode: "Oh, she's almost lost her voice from living in a speakeasy."

Is a raisin a prune whipped down to a nub?

Mary: "It will be just too bad if Martha gets sick; her folks have a Scotch doctor."

Margaret Priest: "But what has being a Scotchman got to do with it?"

Mary: "He is so tight that he will never treat a patient."—Illinois Siren.

Vernie (in Biology Class): "Why does a stork stand on one leg?"

Margaret R. (desk mate): "I don't know."

Vernie: "If he'd lift the other one, he'd fall down."

Visiting boy: "Why are you so sure she is in love with you?"

Hampden-Sydney: "Because she accepts all the expensive gifts I bring her."

Permele Byrd (in class): "Well, where's 'little Laura Smith' today?"

Mary Frances H.: "Laura? Oh, she's S. O. L.."

Permele: "What's that?"

Mary Frances: "Sleeping or lounging."—Arizona Kitty Kat.

Margaret Vincent: "Why did Irving have a profile picture taken for the annual?"

Mary Will: "She was too lazy to comb the other side of her hair."

"A thorough gentleman, the most polite man I ever met."

"Yes, John Lewis was that."

"But he died unhappy, very unhappy."

"So, John, so?"

"Yes, he was afraid his relatives would think his last gasp for breath was a hiccup and he wouldn't be able to excuse himself."

Medora Ford: "I just bumped my crazy bone, ouch!"

Lil Hogan: "Never mind, just comb your hair different and the bump won't show."—Lafayette Lyre.

Etta Marshall (to Adele walking into dining hall): "May I come too?"

Adele: "You'll never come to, unconscious."—Golden Bull.

Paula Irving: "I like to stay down in school but I never feel safe. I believe the place is haunted."

Mary :"Why haunted?"

Paula: "They are always talking about the school spirit."

Prof. (marveling at the fact): "I hear the zoologists found a lamb in South America that could run forty miles per hour."

Bright Young Thing: "That's the only kind of lamb that could keep up with Mary nowadays."

Henrietta: "Gurley, why didn't you bob your hair? You've talked about it enough?"

Virginia Gurley: "I couldn't decide whether to make it look like a whisk broom or a feather duster."—Temple Owl.

H. S. Boy: "What would you say if I were to ask you to marry me?"

S. T. C. Girl: "Nothing. I can't laugh and talk at the same time."

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

Shirt Tail Parade Abolished At Wake Forest College

The "shirt tail parade" at Wake Forest has, since the fall season began, been abolished forever from the traditional place which it has held during the opening of each new fall emester. The ill repute which resulted from last year's parade caused the present sophomore class last spring to vote unanimously for discontinuing this form of freshman initiation. As a tradition to be established in place of the "shirt tail parade," a "freshman rally night" is being planned.—The Tech.

New Stadium Dedicated

The new million dollar Portes Gil tadium in Mexico will be dedicated on November 20, by a game between the Sewanee Tigers and the University of Mexico. The Sewanee football team received a personal invitation from the President of Mexico to participate in this game and he is to pay all expenses of the visiting eleven from his own personal income. An elaborate program of entertainment and sightseeing has been arranged for the Sewanee team.—The Tech.

Guilford Students Are From Ten States

Among the student body of Guilford College there are people from ten of the states in the Union and two who are from outside the United States entirely. New Jersey leads the list of out-of-state with nine.—The Guilfordian.

Gobbler Seniors Will Not Form Field Figure in Roanoke

Because of the large number of trips arranged for V. P. I. Seniors this fall, they have decided to abandon for this year their annual custom of making the football trips as a unit separate from the corps. They will, however, make the trips optionally, as part of the student body. Among Tech's grid journeys which the team makes accompanied by the corps are those to Richmond, Norfolk, Charlottesville and Chapel Hill, as well as the big Thanksgiving Day trip to Roanoke.

The Seniors will not form their usual V. P. I. figure on Maker Field this year, although the regular plans are going forward for the customary Gobbler-Keydet banquet on the eve following the "military classic of the South."—The Cadet.

More "Bull" Sessions

What has become of the once popular "bull session"? We do not mean the gatherings where smutty stories are passed back and forth between puffs of cigarette smoke and gusts of coarse laughter, but those "old time" sessions—which began at nine o'clock and lasted into the "wee sma' hours" —where conversation and discussion of really worthwhile subjects was the rule. Everything from Prohibition to the settlement of the war debts was argued. Everyone had a chance to display his great or small knowledge of the subject. Everyone profited.

Everyone profited because logical and free discussion of worthwhile topics is always educative. It aids students, as no course in reading composition, or public speaking can do, to take a broad-minded attitude toward all things. It crystallizes into a homogeneous, easily accessible body the knowledge normally stowed away loosely and carelessly. It speeds up the process of thought and develops alertness. It increases the vocabulary, for in order to take a worthy part in these rapid-fire debates one must be able to choose the right word without an instant's hesitation.

"Bull sessions" are educative. We need more of them.—The Brackety Ack.

Fear Not The New

In one of the large universities of the world there was once a learned professor whose special field of study was sea shells. He had spent a life time in studying and cataloging the various kinds of shells. He had familiarized himself with the discoveries and work of all those who had preceded him in his chosen work and he was said to have owned the largest collection of sea shells in the world. One day while walking along the sea shore he suddenly came upon a shell that did not fit into any of his known classifications. He stopped for a moment to look at it then crushed it under his heel and marched on.

The above incident illustrates only too well the life story of many of us. We have become so tied up in our daily life that we refuse to accept new thoughts or new principles of living because they do not conform with our present creeds; or beliefs. We are only copies of a pattern that does everything by rate or because it is the proper thing to do. When someone suggests that we change our customary way of doing things we shut our eyes to the advantage of such a change and say, "No." We refuse even to consider it for as we say, "That's not what we are accustomed to doing."

Our repugnance over against anything that is untried is not modern but is as old as the earth itself. We see in all history a tendency for people to suffer wrong rather than to disturb their existing mode of life. This truth is embodied in the constitution of the United States and is seen in the present day opposition to world wide peace among nations, and in the doing away with superfluities of woman's clothing. We still measure time by the Julian calendar of twelve months and still cling to our complicated system of ounces and pounds as a standard of weight when the former has been proven incorrect and the latter impracticable. We know these things are wrong; their fallacies have been proven to us, but yet we refuse to correct them.

This hesitancy in adopting new thought is fortunate in many ways because all new thought and theories are not good, but we should be careful lest we become blind to all improvements and lest we be unable to pick out the good from the bad. We need to have minds more open, to stop living by creeds and dogma and proven formulas, and to shape our lives to the best of that which is found in the past and the present. We should, as Pope said:

"Be not the first by whom the new is tried,
Or yet the last to lay the old aside."
—Comenian

New Senator of Log Cabin Origin

The days of Abraham Lincoln are not yet over! Who would have thought that in the year 1929 there would come to Washington a Senator who was born in a log cabin? Yet that is exactly where the junior Senator from Tennessee was born.

Now Senator Brock is a millionaire. He is not the richest man in the Senate, but he is among that select circle of very rich men who used to be pointed out to visitors to the Senate gallery, but, alas, no longer attract any notice.

Who, for instance, cares if Senator Couzens of Michigan is the wealthiet man in the Senate and that the humble Ford car was the source of his great wealth? Nobody. What counts in that body is brains, personality, energy, determination, education, scholarship, and influence.

Like Senator Tyson, whom he succeeded, Senator Brock is a native of North Carolina, and the son of a Confederate soldier. At 23 he began to make his way in life, on a salary of $30 a month. By dint of personality and tremendous energy he pushed into prominence. He is modestly very religious, a Methodist.

At the Eaco Theatre

WEEK OF NOV. 25 TO 30

MON. and TUES.: William Collier, Jr., and Alma Bennett in "TWO MEN AND A MAID." A talking picture. Lies on her lips, truth in her heart—torment in her soul! What was the way of such a maid with two men—the one who possessed her and the one who loved her? What was the boundary of her morals? The depth of her possion?. The limit of her sacrifice? The story of a man who was too good who met a woman who was too bad on the burning sands of Sahara. Also all talking comedy and news. Serial Monday night.

WED.: Patsy Ruth Miller with Ford Sterling in "THE FALL OF EVE," a talking picture. A comedy riot about two men who planned a whoopee party without their wives. The ygot into difficulties which though serious for them will prove highly amusing to you One hilarity follows another in this farce which may be naughty but is nevertheless nice. Also talking comedy.

THURS.: The theatre is rented to Albert L. Rule who will present "THE BIG DRIVE", a special picture which is a complete history of the great world war with actual scenes from the most important events. Taken on the battlefields, in the trenches, on the oceans, in the air. A great picture. Admission prices at night, adults, 50c; children 25c. At matinee adults 35c; children 15c.

FRI. & SAT.: Ruth Taylor and William Collier, Jr., in "THE COLLEGE COQUETTE" an all talking picture. A thrilling comedy drama of campus life! Red hot youth at its zippiest pace! You'll rave over this picture. Love adventures of a wise cracking, flirtatious co-ed with a big handsome coach! Full of surprise. Drama and romance of the springtime of youth set in the snappy dazzling, frollicking atmosphere of the campus of a co-educational hall of learning. Also talking comedy and news reel.

There is big money in Wall Street for anyone who knows how to play the market, and Beethoven's sonatas are on any piano if you just happen to hit the right notes.—Koy Features.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery

AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Farmville - - - - Va.

CANADA DRUG CO.

Next to Baldwin's Store

Come to us for your cosmetics and

STATIONERY

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

IT PAYS TO DEAL

at

GREENBERG'S DEPT. STORE

First in Style

Lowest in Price

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

FEATURE THIS WEEK

COLLEGE THEME TABLETS

3 For 25c

SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES

MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

Printzess Coats Smartest in Fall Wear!

The Mode is Femininely Chic

Last season the 'dressmaker" type of coat was a growing tendency in the mode—it is an established fact this season and is smartly feminine in every phase.

This whim of fashion is charmingly illustrated in our present showings of Printzess coats. Each style is an adaption of a French design and represents the best in the mode. New silhouettes, new fabrics, new trimming details. Priced $24.75 to $57.50.

BALDWIN'S

The S. T. C. Girls' Main Street Home

GIFTS FOR ALL THE FAMILY

Come from the Holiday Store

There is great satisfaction in being able to choose gifts for the entire faimly and circle of friends from one store. Here in conveniently aranged sections we have assembled gifts for every indiivdual preference. Varied in kind and price range they meet with any plan of choice and expenditure.

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.

The House of Quality

FARMVILLE, VA.

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMEBER 27, 1929 No. 10

CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS ARE COMING FRIDAY, EVENING, NOVEMBER 29TH

To Present "The No 'Count Boy," "Magnolia's Man" & Job's Kinfolks"

The Carolina Playmakers will appear here Friday evening, Nov. 29, in three distinctly original plays which portray the life and character of their own state. Two of the plays will be comedies—"The No 'Count Boy" by that most promising of all the playrights, Paul Green, and "Magnolia's Man" written by Gertrude Coffin. The third one, "Job's Kinfolks", by Loretta Bailey is a tragedy of the mill people.

"The 'Count Boy" is a comedy of negro life. The characters are drawn from real life, but the play itself is a fantasy. One gains an insight as to the true characters of the negro and senses the imagry of his "dream-world." Paul Green as the author of this play and several others of the same type has won high recognition as a playright. This particular play won him first prize in the Little Theatre Tournament, May 1925 in New York.

Gertrude Coffin, author of "Magnolia's Man" is a wirter of some repute. Her home being in Chapel Hill, N. C., she centers her comedy around the mountain people of this section. Miss Coffin will appear here in the leading role of her own play, as Mis' Tish, the village dressmaker. It will be well to remember that her story

Continued on last page

Dr. J. B. Massey Leads The Sunday Services

Dr. J. B. Massey of Hampden-Sydney, Va., delivered a simple but impressive service to a large audience in the college auditorium last Sunday evening at 7:30. A large majority of the people who were present were students of the college. The text of the evening was based on the second verse of Psalm 103—"Bless the Lord, O my Soul and forget not all his benefits."

Dr. Massey compared our lives with that of a vase about which he once read. This vase was made from clay. The clay was dug out of the earth, founded, beaten and rubbed into fine dust. Then, the potter added a liquid until he had the right consistency for baking the mould which was soon to be a vase. During all of this time, the clay was complaining about the ill treatment he was receiving from the potter. The vase was baked and taken from the oven, only to be of an ugly and dull hue—the color of clay. The potter added various pigments to the vase until it was made beautiful. The vase had been perfected. The story of this vase was to be symbolic of our life here on earth. We should try to understand that the trials of life we experience go to finish perfection.

The order of service was as follows:

Invocation

Hymn

Prayer

"I will praise the Lord", Stross, Miss Turner.

Scripture

Hymn

Sermon, Dr. J. B. Massey

"Peace I leave with You.", Edith Coleman, Adele Hutchison, Helen Smith.

Hymn

Benediction.

VARSITY DEBATE TEAMS SELECTED FOR THE S. T. C.

The tryout for the varsity debate team was held Thursday night, Nov. 12. The question was the same that will be used for the intercollegiate debates this winter, namely that a plan of complete disarmament should be adopted by all nations, except such forces as shall be necessary for police protection. The four girls chosen for the first team were Mary Mann Baskerville, Frances Wilson, Alice Harrison and Maria Warren. The two former will make the negative team and the latter will compose the affirmative. The first team looks forward to three very delightful trips in the winter term. The first will go south to the schools in the Carolinas and end in Alabama, the second north through West Virginia and into Pennsylvania; the last will close the season with a trip to Kansas City. The team will need all the cooperation you can give them, so come out and give them your backing whenever there is a debate on home grounds.

On Thursday, November 21, the tryouts for the freshman varsity was held. The question was: Resolved, that under the present state of lawlessness, honor system in college is a mistake. The girls who won a place on this team are, Elizabeth Johnson, Anne Johnson, Rena Greaves, and Mary Warren. They will probably have several intercollegiate debates this season.

SIGMA PI RHO ORGANIZED

During the spring term of last year, a need was felt in the Latin Department for some organization among the girls interested in the classics. To fill this need, the clasical association was organized—open to all taking Latin.

This accomplished, another need arose—there must be some way by which outstanding scholarship in this particular department could be recognized, Sigma Pi Rho was the result. At present, there are only five members: Pauline Gibb, Mary Rose Wood, Lucile Bowyer, Elizabeth Temple and Anne Carrington Stump. It is hoped, however, that there will soon be others eligible for membership.

MISS VIRGINIA POTTS

WESTHAMPTON DEFEATS S. T. C. BY SCORE OF 6-2

Farmville Girls Put Up Hard Fight With Richmond Team

Our varsity hockey team journeyed to ichmond, Tuesday, November 26, to play Westhampton. The game was played on a very wet field, but was, nevertheless, a hard-fought one. In spite of the efforts of the S. T. C. team Westhampton claimed the victory with a score of 6-2.

The Westhampton team is to be commended on their excellent teamwork, and more especially on the playing of their forward line.

Our team really showed how they could play. The teamwork was unusually good, and exery girl was doing her part. We are proud of them.

Winning the game isn't everything. What really counts is putting one's whole soul and body into the game. Then, if defeated you know you have done your best. Nothing more could be expected of a person. That's what our girls did at Westhampton.

The following is the team which represented S. T. C. at Richmond:

L. W. ..... Lucille Crute

Continued on last page

NEXT PRESS MEET WILL BE HELD AT THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY

William F. Rountree, Managing Editor of Flat Hat, Is President-Elect

The fourth annual session of the Virginia Inter-Collegiate Press Association will be held next fall at the College of William and Mary with William F. Rountree, managing editor of the Flat Hat, as president. Mr. Rountree was elected at the final business session of the third Press Meeting at V. P. I., November 23. The other officers elected were: Miss Jean Taylor, Radford State Teachers College, first vice-president; H. R. Derrick, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, second vice-president; Miss Mary Parry, William and Mary, secretary and treasurer. Members of the various committees will be appointed later.

Eight cups were awarded the publications winning first place in the competitions. Washington and Lee University has the distinction of winning two first places.

The winner of the contests were announced at the final banquet Saturady night, November 23, as follows: for Class A annuals, Calyx, Washington and Lee, first; Bugle, V. P. I., second; Helianthus, Randolph-Macon, third. For class B annuals: Sampler, Sullins College, first; Bee Hive, East Radford Teachers College, second; The Battlefield, Fredricksburg Teachers College, third. For class C annuals Intermont, Virginia Intermont College, first; In Ole Virginia, Virginia College, Roanoke ,second.

For class A newspapers: The Rim-Tum-Phi, Washington and Lee, first; Virginia Tech, V. P. I., second; Richmond Collegian, University of Richmond, third; Sweet Briar News, Sweet Briar College, fourth. Class B. Grapurchat, East Radford Teachers College, first; B. C. Bee, Bridgewater College, second. Class C: Averett College Chanticleer.

Magazine: Miscellany, Mary Baldwin College, first; William and Mary Literary Magazine, second; Cargoes, Hollins College, third.

Technical Magazine, honorable mention, The Virginia Tech Engineer.

Humorous magazines: The Sniper,

(Continued on last page)

JUNIOR CLASS PRESENTS MISS VIRGINIA POTTS

Miss Virginia Potts, the Junior Class Man was presented to the student body Saturday morning. The Juniors dressed in white were led d wn the aisle of the auditorium by Miss Potts and Laura Smith, the class president.

The presentation was most cleverly gotten up—the colors of green and white being carried out with the idea of the green 4-leaf clover. The steps of the stage were covered with green and white cloth. Miss Potts took her place on the stage in front of a massive four leaf clover.

The Juniors sang their class song, then Laura Smith presented Miss Potts with the following words:

"All of us have heard the legend of the man who searched all of his life for a four leaf clover. We are told that one leaf stands for love, one for hope, one for faith and God put in the fourth leaf for luck. We, Juniors, have found our clover, and we wish to present to the student body today the one who holds our love, who gives us hope, one who inspires our faith and needless to say has brought up heaps of luck—Miss Potts."

REV. MILES TALKS TO GIRLS IN CHAPEL

Rev. Miles of the Wesminister Presbyterian Church, Lynchburg, Virginia, spoke in chapel Thursday morning. The topic of his talk was: "Do not let your zeal flag."

Dr. Miles pointed out that it was the sameness of life which makes things seem so monotonous. This monotony dulls enthusiasm. Therefore each one of us should strive for alteration so Dr. Miles said.

The things which make life monotonous are disappointments and indefiniteness. He also said that to have personal magnetism which is one's personality, one must be herself.

Dr. Miles concluded with the thought that one must keep her spirits open to God through prayer and to strive for difiniteness in anything one does " to keep a glow in living."

Cotillion Club Gives First Dance of Season

The Cotillion Club gave its first dance of the year, in the recreation hall, Saturday, November 23rd. Each Cotillion member had the privilege of inviting two school girls, visitors, and one boy. The boys were comparatively few in number, so they enjoyed being "rushed."

The excellent music furnished by the Carolina Tar-Heels largely made the dance a success. There was only one objection—it could not last long enough.

Many former students of S. T. C. attended the dance. Among those were: Pannie Willis, Red Foster, Jessie G. Smith, Elizabeth Watkins, Louise Arthur, Elizabeth Brockenbrough, Frances Millican, Anne Chapin, Elizabeth Lacy, Elizabeth Revercomb, Yancey Brooking, Blanche Taylor, Mary Ellington, Margaret Pumphrey, Mary Beasley, Anne Withers, Julia Davis, Virginia Raine, Kitty Watts, Greenhow Parker, Elizabeth Ball, Polly Smith, Louise Parsons, Martha Lanier, Carroll Cromwell, and Frances Malbon.

LOVELY BOOK WEEK PROGRAM WAS GIVEN HERE LAST THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 21ST.

Thursday night the Training School and two of the college English classes presented a program on Book Week in the auditorium.

A little girl from the training school announced the stories that were to be portrayed, while her two little assistants changed the slides in the first part of the entertainment.

Grown people were carried back to childhood daysfi while little folks' eyes grew big with wonderment at seeing living characters step out from their favorite books. "Humpty, Dumpty sat on a wall." Why did the curtain prevent us from seeing his fall? We all sympathized with little Miss Muffet. She was very tiny and the spider was dreadfully big. Little Red Riding Hood was perfect and Cinderella was lovely. Hiawatha fitted his bow with meticulous care while Robin Hood blew his horn lustily. Hans and Gretel, Rose Red and Snow White and other characters from book land came before us wearing gorgeous costumes and looking so happy that we wanted to be with them.

In the second part of the program Etta Marshall announced the scenes which would be shown from books. First came that well loved story—Alice in Wonderland. Alice betrayed her habitual impatience, the March Hare was as made as ever, and the Doormouse slept as usual. The Hatter sang a song at the tea-party and reprimanded Alice for her lack of courtesy.

Bookland would not be complete without the appearance of ragged little Tom Sawyer, Hans with his silver skates and Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm. They were all there and very realistic looking.

Miss Mix's class' presentation of Beauty and the Beast was lovely. The beast was grotesque, but the prince was as handsome as could be desired. Beauty was all that her name signified. She showed infinite compassion when she retunred from her home and found the beast sick. In Sleeping Beauty the Princess' loveliness was breath taking and the Prince's courtly manners won hearts at once. Christmas carols furnished laughs enough to last through examinations. We are still wondering if the dinner party was a success. Poor Maud had it set "square on her shoulders."

As a whole the program was good. The costumes were well made and ethe actors were like the book characters magnified.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — JESSIE SMTH, '31

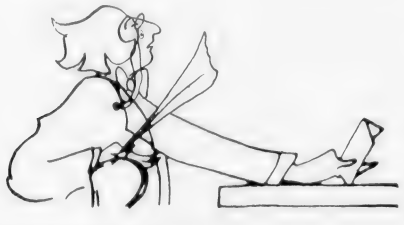
Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '30
Alumnae Editor — MISS CARRIE B. TALIAFERRO

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30
ANN STUMP, '30

Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader — JESSIE WATKINS, '33



Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Thanksgiving, Yesterday and Today

Three hundred years ago our forefathers decreed a week of Thanksgiving. The land to which they had come had yielded bountifully and they were grateful. To the feast came Massasoit and his red-raced followers, bringing wild game they had killed in the forest. White skins and red skins were friends, enmity lost in the higher purpose of offering thanks for the wonderful harvest.

Now, we have decided upon one day in which to offer thanks to God for all his blessings to us. Gradually it has come to mean other things: some long-planned trip; a football game; a holiday—to say nothing of the always evident turkey. In the wild rush of social events which deluge us at this season it is sometimes easy to forget the real purpose of the day; it is sometimes easy to forget to thank God for all His mercies to us. If our forefathers offered thanks throughout an entire week for safety in a new land of freedom and for the supplies of new grain which that new land had rendered them, how much more should we, whose blesings are unlimited, give thanks! Perhaps it will be after the close of the day with its class competition—the hanging of colors and the game; after the turkey and cranberries have been consumed; perhaps it will not be until at night lying in bed that we lift our eyes heavenward in grateful praise. It doesn't matter: we can be nearer God at night! Lying there in the darkness, silence around us, instead of the familiar noises—what things shall we be thankful for? For good health and the blessings of Peace; for the opportunity of living among those who are happy and in the most favored nation; for Life itself and what the future holds in store for us; for a world of beauty and a God of love.

OVER THE TEACUPS

Am I cold? My stars, I'm about to freeze! I never have seen such weather. I love the snow, 'n' all that, but deliver me from the mud and water. Everything was so pretty Friday night, and now look at it! Yes. I know "every cloud must have a silver lining," I've heard that tale before, but it looks to me like the lining of this one must be badly tarnished.

Did you go to the dance? 'Course I did—and I've never had a better time. Did you ever see more new dresses? They were all lovely. Wasn't he though? And that tall one—wasn't he darling? I rushed him a lot, he was much the cutest boy on the floor! Couldn't he though? Honestly, you most forgot you were dancing, it was almost like flying—except when somebody bumped into you. Think it? I know it was the best one I've been to.

Yes, I went. Weren't the Training School children adorable. Little Miss Muffet was darling—she had the prettiest hair and eyes. And Humpty-Dumpty, and Cinderella, and Little Red Riding Hood—oh they were all too cute for words. Beauty and the Beast and Sleeping Beauty were beautiful.

It was a shame! Looks like the team's doomed. Wonder who the Jonah is—there must be somebody causing all the bad luck. Didn't you, though? "Little Laura" was so funny telling how she enjoyed the trip and how we beat Westhampton 4-3.

I hope not. It just wouldn't be Thanksgiving without the class games. If we don't have any more "falling" weather, and if the sun comes out, "all other things being equal," the ground ought to be dry enough to play.

Don't I know it's only a little over four weeks, but what I've got to do in those four weeks before Christmas does count!

Br-rr—I'm freezing. Hate to run off, so sorry, but I've just got to get in bed and try to get warm.

Please do—I want to talk to you. I'll be seeing you—

LOVE INSURANCE

"It might be a good idea," Director Monte Brice suggests, "for engaged couples to take a tip from Hollywood and get some love insurance."

This kind of insurance isn't very well known yet, but in a short time all the movie producers will insist that their young, unmarried players take out policies which would reimburse the studio if they should fall in love to the detriment of their acting.

And love insurance wouldn't be a bad idea for other people, too. Engaged couples could be protected against either of the parties growing cold or falling for somebody else. Breach of promise suits would thus be eliminated.

If the contracting parties went so far as the altar, then their marriage would be a quaranteed success, else the insurance company would have to pay. If the husband should find his stenographer more attractive than his wife, then his wife could collect from the insurance people. On the other hand if the wife became infatuated with the ice man, then the husband could get "cold cash" for his heartache.

High Grades, High Wages

Statistics gathered for the past twenty years at the University of Kansas show that those who receive high grades in college are more likely to earn higher wages than those who receive low marks. The experimenters found that the upper ten per cent of the class increased their salary rapidly over a period of years.—The Critol graph.

INTERESTING PROGRAM FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

Tomorrow is the big day! Are you all set! You'd better go to bed early and be already for an early start. At six o'clock we have the hanging of the colors. Be on hand to see that your colors get on the best places!

At seven o'clock there will be a Thanksgiving service in the auditorium. Those of us who have attended these services in the past know that they are really worthwhile. Don't miss this one.

At seven-thirty, as usual, we will have breakfast. Then the hockey games start at 9 o'clock. We want everybody to be on hand. Help your team to win! If two teams of the same color win the games, it means that the other color will be taken down from the Rotunda, which is to be decorated by a special committe. If one Red and White team and one Green and White team wins, the colors in the Rotunda will not be changed.

At eleven o'clock there will be services in the churches at Farmville. These should be well attended.

There is no definite program for the remainder of the day, but do your part towards making the morning a success.

RUBE GOLDBERG SAYS COLLEGE SPIRIT IS ONLY THE BUNK

"I most certainly think that college spirit in its true, native, poetic sense is the bunk. Now wait! Don't hit me. Let me explain," Rube Goldberg sets out in the December College Humor to define college spirit.

"First let me say that I am concerned only with old age, bald headed the kind you should find in the old gouty, bulging bodied college spirit—graduate who grasped his diploma twenty or twenty-five years ago and swore everlasting allegiance to every blade of gress that lifted its academic head upon the campus green. This is the only phase of the subject that is really important.

"The pyrotechnic display of love for the dear old alma mater during the undergraduate days must be taken as a matter of course. The undergraduate unless he has premature hardening of the arteries, cannot help being infected with the virus of loud, glorious enthusiasm for the flaming black and blue, or is it the irridescent green and white? The so-called undergraduate college spirit isn't spirit at all. It is merely a healthy display of temporary patriotism due principally to proximity. The college boy is on a four year educational spree before going out into the world to pay his own rent. It is his college because he eats in it, sleps in it, plays in it and studies in it. He naturally thinks it is the best college in the world, if for no other reason simply because it is his college.

"Did you ever meet any person who said your radio was better than his, or his car would go up a hill faster than his, or your dentist could pull teeth better than his? Not on your life. So, it is no surprising phenomenon that a college student likes his college—yea, loves it. It is much more expensive than a radio or a car or a dentist, and one should be that much more proud of it—if that is possible.

"You may say that when a boy is willing to break his neck for his college on the football field, he is displaying the highest form of college spirit. I don't think so. He is breaking his neck because he loves the glamour of it, and because all the other fellows are breaking their necks, and because he is just a big healthy kid who likes to break his neck. I used to try to kill myself, making points for my side in a sand-lot football game, and I don't believe I ever displayed any hysterical love for sand-lots. It is the spirit of wanting to win rather than wanting to express a love for good old Whereisit.

"The whole thing is relative. If there is any such thing as college spirit, it is the four year variety. After that, it is just like belonging to a lodge, only you go once a year, if you go at all, instead of every Thursday night. And then it's pretty hard to get good beer."

THANKSGIVING DAY

My lawd, dis day I raise my voice
To dee in grateful praise
Fer all dy blessin's to us.
De corn mos' fills de barn-loft flo'
De 'taters piles up mo' and mo'!
An' pumpkins gettin' juicy fer us.

I 'low dat I has worked enuf
A' dat don't matter. Here's de think—
Now Thanksgiving Day done come
An' turkey's cookin' an' pies is done
I'se gonna put away my cares
An' sing an' eat an' have my fun.

C. M. H., '31

THANKSGIVING

To the giver of all blessings
Let our voices rise in praise
For the joys and countless mercies
He hath sent to crown our days;
For the homes of peace and plenty,
And a land so fair and wide,
For the labor of the noonday,
And the rest of eventide.

For the splendor of the forest,
For the beauty of the hills,
For the freshness of the meadows,
And a thousand sparkling rills;
For the blossoms of the springtime
And the memories they bring;
Do we thank Thee, O, our King?

For the wealth of golden harvests,
For the sunlight and the rain,
For the grandeur of the ocean,
For the mountain and the plain;
For the ever changing seasons,
And the comforts which they bring;
For the love so grand, eternal,
We would thank Thee, O, our King!

William G. Park

MY PRAYER OF THANKSGIVING

I saw the stenographer's bowed head
And watched each slim finger strike a key.
Perhaps she was happy in her position
And saw in it some peculiar beauty.
Click! click! repeat, repeat!
Click! click! mechanically neat.

They brought it into the garage—
Broken up and minus a wheel.
The mechanic started to work
With his tools of iron and steel.
Greased here, mended there,
Ready to run anywhere.

Letters to Maine, Utah, Hawaii —
Carefully he assorted each pack,
Stamped them, tied them securely,
And locked them in the mail sack.
Papers to stamp, packages to weigh
Letters to insure and register each day.

Everywhere that I saw people working
I pondered over the kind.
Perhaps they were happy and satisfied,
But what I wanted I couldn't find.
To me—lifeless things
zNot much happiness brings.
Then I looked into the face a little child
Saw the beauty of life there—
Felt a thrill—felt a call,
That I hadn't experienced anywhere.
In my hands a life to mould!
Before my eyes living gold!

Sweet clear eyes turned to me—
Maybe behind them, an artist's soul.
Here was a chance, here was a dream.
What more could a life hold?
Dear God, at Thanksgiving time I pray
And thank Thee for being a teacher today.

K. W., '30

SOCIAL NEWS

Week-end Trips

Elizabeth Boone and Mildred Varner spent the week-end in Ivor.

Josephine Sevanson attended a wedding in Winston-Slaem last week-end.

Lucy Thompson, Virginia Robertson, Frances Wilson, Elizabeth Taylor and Mary Ellen Cato attended the annual meeting of the Virginia Press Association at V. P. I., Blacksburg last week.

Sorority Banquets

Pi Kappa Sigma had its pledge banquet at Longwood November 23, at 7:00 p. m.

Alumnae who returned for the banquet were: Martha Baker Bass, Greenhow Parker, Mabel Yancy Brooking and Catherine Watts.

Delta Sigma Chi Sorority had its pledge banquet in the Tea Room November 23 at 6:30 p. m.

Alumnae who returned were Louise Arthur, Margaret Pumphrey, Mary Beasley, Leola Carter, Blanche Taylor, Mary O. Ellington, Beth Brockenborough, and Elizabeth Lacy.

Gamma Theta Sorority had its pledge banquet at Longwood, Nov. 23 at 7:30 p. m. Alumnae who returned for the banquet were: Elizabeth Ball, Polly Smith, Louise Parsons, Martha Lanier, Carroll Cromwell, Frances Willis, and Frances Malbon.

Entertainments at Longwood

Last week marked the banner week for Longwood. Numerous parties, teas and dinner were given by both school and town people.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Elizabeth Moring Smith, an alumna of S. T .C., entertained at bridge.

Tuesday evening the Student Council gave Dr. Jarman a most delightful birthday dinner.

Wednesday evening, the Junior Woman's Club banquet was given.

Mrs. Large entertained at two tables of bridge on Thursday afternoon. On Thursday evening Mr. Booker Cunningham entertained a number of his friends at a bird supper. The centerpiece for the table was a most attractive woodland scene, apropos of the hunting season.

Regardless of the snow, and weather conditions on Friday and Saturday numbers of the college girls hiked out for tea. The Gamma Theta Sorority held their banquet on Friday evening. On Saturday evening the Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority gave their banquet. Attending both of these banquets were many of the former college graduates.

Birthday Banquet

The Student Council gave a banquet in honor of Dr. Jarman's birthday, November 19, 6:30 at Longwood.

Guests at the banquet were Miss Mary W. Cox, Miss Jennie Tabb and Mr. and Mrs. Tildan.

Wedding of Interest

Elizabeth Richardson, a former S. T. C. student, was married to Robert Blanks, Jr., November 19, at 5 o'clock in the Colonial Parlor of the Chamberlain-Vanderbilt Hotel, Old Point, Virginia.

Nancy Richardson, sister of the bride was maid of honor.

NOT SO HOT

I used to be a flapper
With a nifty, shifty line;
A very rapid trekker—that was me!
A thirsty little lapper
Of the Gordon and the wine,
And—Baby, what a necker I could be!
The sheiks would always tag me,
For they liked my sizzling style,
But—nobody tried to drag me
Down the aisle;
When it was a case of marry,
Every Tom, Dick and Harry
Found some shy and simple lassie to adore;
So my ways are getting calmer,
And I ain't a Red Hot Mommer
Any more!

A Mommer overheated
Is an incandescent wow;
She "burns them up" completely in a gang.
But she finds that she is cheated
(I am getting wiser now)
When the wedding bells discreetly
Start to clang.
For the Molten Mommer's foolish;
She is dippy in the dome;
Even sheiks prefer it coolish
In a home.
When for life they have possessed us,
They don't like to wear asbestos—
A volcano in the household is a bore.
So I'm quieter and calmer,
And I ain't a Red Hot Mommer
Any more!

—Brackety-Ack

LET US GIVE THANKS

On Plymouth's shore of old they knelt
That band of Pilgrims few,
Who left their mother country,
Dared to sail the deep
That they might. worship freely.

And now three hundred years have lapsed
Since first their ship was anchored
And they, so reverent, knelt in thank
To Him, their Guide and Maker.
O, gloriously the fields do yield
Where then grew mighty forests.
Let us, as they, give thanks.

C. M. H., '31

Sweet Briar Wins From Westhampton

Sweet Briar hockey team defeated Westhampton team by a score of 4-1 last week. Early in the game, Sweet Briar took the lead which they held throughout.—The Monocle.

S. T. C. AGAIN LOSES CHANCE TO PLAY HOCKEY

It seems that the weather man is against us when it comes to hockey games. When Farmville was to play Harrisonburg he sent rain, and now when the team was to travel to Westhampton, the ground was covered with snow. It is hoped that both of these games may yet be played, but no definite date has been set.

OUR IMPORTANT WOMEN

Women are playing more and more a large part in the performance the country has come to know as the national government. Now and then one of them like Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, get a high executive position, and is in the spotlight continuously; but it is not of these important figures that this news note would sing. It is the women who are holding quieter and more obscure secretarial positions.

It is remarkable that so many Senators and Representatives have women secretaries, most of them having come up through civil service from minor positions in which they have made good. The rather notable instance of this is the secretary to Vice-President Curtis, who is the first woman to hold such an important position.

A Washington reporter went to one of the departments the other day to get the background for an elaborate and important article on such an intricate business as the government secret service and was referred to a maiden lady of elderly years, who had the whole picture in her mind, her fingers on the plexus of wires that ramified all through it, and the intimate details of every striking personality and of every detail of the organization on the tip of her tongue. She knew what the reporter wanted, and she knew how to tell him what he wanted, and then to reassure him in his knowledge she said: "I think I had better take you down to see so and so, who is at the head of this branch of the service and of that." This was just a kindly intentioned act to give confidence to the reporter in the strict integrity of his facts; and it developed nothing she had not already told him.

Washington women have learned to keep a secret.

England has just completed a "giant apartment house of the skies," the R-101, which cost approximately $5,000,000, and whose luxurious appointments are like those of a crack liner. With this giant ship Great Britian hopes to excel the Graf Zepplin of Germany.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

S. W. Virginia Club to Give Christmas Dance Dec. 27

The Adkins orchestra of Roanoke will furnish the music for the Christmas dance of the Southwest Virginia Club, it was announced at a meeting of the club last Thursday night. Further details in regard to the dance were also discussed at this meeting. The club expects a good attendance.—The Va. Tech.

Senior Class Tradition

As has been the tradition of graduating classes at William and Mary for many years, Senior men will wear canes at all collegiate functions, and women will carry sport scarfs in college colors.—The Critograph.

Freshman Penalty

Freshmen at Union College who do not buy their frosh caps on time are given a close haircut as a penalty for their delinquency.—The Critograph.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS HOLDS REGULAR MEET

The first regular meeting of Le Cercle Francais was held Thursday November 21 in the Y. W. C. A. reception room. After the business session, some time was spent in playing games, and clever prizes were awarded the winners.

The meeting adjourned to meet again December 12.

SCHEMMEL
CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony
Aesthetics, Etc.
REASONABLE TUITION RATES

VANITY FAIR HOSE
$1.35—$1.65—$1.95

The Band Box Shoppe

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Quality—Price—Service
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You With Us
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

FALL SHOWING OF
HATS
THE HAT SHOPPE
Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Fairoaks Gift Shop
Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving
COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE
Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh films)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S
is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP
Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials
110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS
Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop
323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY
The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP
Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING CLEANING
PRESSING
Farmville - - - - - - - - - - Virginia

AT THE HUB
DRESS SALE
Starting Thursday, November 7, lasting 4 days ONLY
Your unrestricted choice of any $15 dress in the store, consisting of new silhouettes and newest materails and colors $8.95
3 piece Jersey Sutis $5.95
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Cope: "Now sugar—"
Rene (excitedly): "Yes, yes."
Copeland: "Cereaning goes good with coffee."

English Prof.: "Give me an example of a collective noun."
Gin Cobb (from the rear)): "Vacuum cleaner."

Dot Anderson: "Would you marry for money?"
Doris Walton: "I don't know but I have a sacred wish that cupid would shoot me with a Pierce-Arrow."

"Don't cry little girl because vacation is over. Pity the poor fishes; they must stay in a school all the year round."

Adam: "Eve! You've gone and put my dress suit in the salad again."

He: "I believe I've met you some place before."
Mayo: "I wouldn't be surprised; I've been places."

Martha Walters: "Did you hear about the man that swallowed his spoon?"
Loulie Milner: "No, what happened to him?"
Walters: "Oh, he can't stir."

Hampden-Sydney boy (Saturday afternoon): "Are you going to the movies tonight?"
S. T. C. Girl: "No!"
H. S. Boy: "Good! Give me a date tonight."

Clara Norfleet: "I say, Lula, knowest thou what has four arms and four legs and can stretch but can't walk?"
Lula Mitchell: "Nay, Clara, what strange animal is this forsooth?"
Clara: "Why, two suits of woolen underwear, thou nit-wit."

Dolly Reed: "Lend me your pen."
Fond Roommate: "Sure, why do you ask?"
Dolly: "I can't find it."—Voo Doo.

Pa: "Get out of that tree, son."
Boy: "Can't Dad. I just got a letter from the correspondence school and the sophs are hazing me."

Bugs Revercomb (visiting): "Say, Pal, where can a girl get a drink around here?"
Etta Marshall: "Young lady, I'm president of the Student Government."
Bugs: "Well, the water cooler's empty and I was wondering where there was another."

She wouldn't kiss me in the canoe, so I had to paddle her back.

Nell: "Why don't you ever see your fast ball player any more?"
Reba French: "I'm penalizing him for roughness."

Lucille Graves: "I just adore dark men."
Eleanor Hogan: "You'd have a big time in Africa."

Gin: "How long were you engaged to Scotty?"
Ann Guy: "I don't know, I forgot to look at my watch."

Civil war has broken out in China again, the first time in three days.—Dayton Journal.

EASTER SOUDERS TO HEAD BASKETBALL

Basketball season starts immediately after Thanksgiving. Every sport has a head and Easter Souders is to head basketball this year. Easter is very much interested in athletics and we are sure she will prove to be a very efficient head of this sport. When the basketball practices are announced, come out and help your class and your school.

HOOVER TUNES IN ON THE WORLD

President Hoover should have no difficulty in "tuning in" on the world. He has the distinction among radio fans of possessing the longest radio aerial in Washington, perhaps the longest in the United States. From the roof of the White House to a tree at the west boundary of the surrounding plaza, a span of more than 400 fet, the new aerial spreads. It was ordered after the President had had some trouble in locating a distant program.

Three sets of radio serve the President. One is located in his private study at the White House, one in an upstairs parlor, while the third gladdens Presidential parties over the week-end at the Rapidan fishing camp in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

SUMMER SCHOOLS ENROLL 400,000 STUDENTS

College and university summer schools enrolled 414,824 students in 1929, according to the November Journal of the National Education Association. This is the largest summer attendance on record, and is indicative of the growing interest in adult education, as most of these students were mature men and women.

Of the total number, 270,237 were enrolled in education courses. This number is more than 29 per cent of all the teachers in the United States, and shows the extent to which teachers "keep up with the times." New York led the other states in the procession to college last summer, with a total enrolment of 41,079. Texas ranked second with 32,857. Rhode Island, Nevada, and Delaware enrolled the smallest numbers with 224, 132, and 332, respectively.

"Interpreting such figures," says the editor, "it should be kept in mind that some states offer fewer and less attractive opportunities for summer school work than others. Consequently many teachers attend summer school outside the states of their service."

"MY PRETTY MAID"

Perpetrated by R. G. Vick, '31

"Where have you been, my pretty maid?"
"To college, sir," she curtly said.
'What did you do at college, lass?"
"Oh, I learned to neck and tip the flask;
To dance and jazz; to wear short skirts;
To gold-dig boys and how to flirt;
To swear, to date, to stay out late;
To be a sport, a regular skate."

"Where have you been, my pretty maid?"
"To college, sir," she sweetly said.
"And what did you do at college, lass?"
"I learned to live, to lead my class;
Of art I learned, and how to play;
To cook, to sew, and what to say;
To sing, to pray, to be a girl
Who will not fear to face the world."
—The Wataugan

ALPHA KAPPA GAMMA ANNOUNCES MEMBERS

The Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma takes pleasure in announcing the following new members:

Adele Hutchinson
Elizabeth Taylor
Virginia Robertson
Nellie Talley

MU OMEGA WINS CUP FOR THE YEAR

The scholastic standing of the sororities has been averaged for last year and Mu Omega has the highest average for the whole year.

The average for all of the sororities was very close and it was difficult to find the highest. Sigma Sigma Sigma has the next highest average and Zeta Tau is third.

The sorority having the highest average for the year will have its name engraved on the Pan Hellenic Placque.

Two ancient royal houses of Europe will be joined to the rejoicing of their subjects next month when Crown Prince Humbert of Italy is married to Princess Marie Jose of Belgium.

The Prince is twenty-five and the Princess is twenty-three. They have known each other since childhood. Princess Marie went to Florence to school and speaks Italian well.

WESTHAMPTON DEFEATS TEACHERS COLLEGE

Continued from page one

L. I. ..... Allie Oliver
C. ..... Dolly Reed
R. I. ..... Laura M. Smith
R. W. ..... Billie Paris
R. H. ..... Adele Hutchinson
C. H. ..... Mary Frances Hatchett
L. H. ..... Easter Souders
R. B. ..... Cleo Quisenberry
L. B. ..... Kathleen Hundley
G. K. ..... Frances Edwards

Edith Coleman, Mary Scales, Dorothy Snedegar and Duvall Ridgeway were substitutes.

Our goals were made by Lucille Crute and Laura Smith.

CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS COMING FRIDAY, NOV. 29

Continued from Page 1.

goes back to 1904 when the "New Freedom" had not as yet rescued the spinster lady.

The third play, "Job's Kinfolks," by Loretta Bailey is the tragedy of this group. The play itself is unusual in the originality of its theme. It is rich in local color; it has character plus quality and is altogether very extraordinary.

But there is still another most interesting and unique feature attached to this program. The Playmakers are actually going to set the stage for us before they begin their performance that we may see just how it is done. The stage properties will be brought in and set up just as is done in preparation for any play. This part of the program will be a new experience to most of us.

NEXT PRESS MEET TO BE HELD AT WILLIAM & MARY

(Continue From Page One)

V. M. I.

East Radford State Teachers College and V. P. I. were joint hostess and host to the convention this year and proved themselves adepts in the art of arranging an excellent business program and delightful entertainment. Mr. J. T. L. Dickinson, Jr., of V. P. I. and Miss Vivian Harnsberger of R. S. T. C., were official host and hostess to the delegates.

Among the entertainment features were: a tea, Friday afternoon, given at Radford by the student council, a football game between the V. M. I-V. P. I. freshmen, Saturday afternoon, and a banquet and 'Tech Scandals", Saturday night.

Excellent speakers had been obtained for the meetings. F. H. Jeter, editor of the North Carolina extension division, addressed the delegates present at the final banquet at the first business meeting held at V. P. I. Dr. C. M. Newman presented a paper on the elements of American humor; and Dr. McCannoell and Dr. Burruss gave welcoming addresses at their respective colleges.

Discussion groups were conducted by able leaders and the various problems of college publications composed the topics of these groups.

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Dec. 2 to 7.

MON. & TUES.—Ivan Keith and Dorothy Revier in "LIGHT FINGERS" A 100 per cent talking picture. A thrilling adventure and beautiful romance of "Light Fingers," elusive cracksman who terrorizes and baffles the police. He eluded all of the cops, he escapes his double-crossing gang, yet he could not side-track the smiling eyes of the beautiful Dorothy. This is an extra good talking picture, brimming full of action, romance and thrills. Also talking comedy and news reel.

WED. & THURS.—Ben Lyon and Shirley Mason in "THE FLYING MAINE" an all talking picture. A flying picture that is distinctly different. For the first time you will see incorporated in one picture, every death-defying, daring stunt of the air that has ever been done and many that are attempted for the first time. Two brothers defy death to win the love of the same girl. An unusual love story unfolded against Rthe background of daring and sensational air exploits. An extra good picture. Also talking comedy.

FRI. & SAT.—Richard Barthelmess, Lila Lee and Alice Day in "DRAG." A Vitaphone talking picture. Here is a love story in which there is much human interest in everyone of the situations. A story of self-sacrifice and an up-hill fight on the part of a man to win fame and a place in the world for the girl he loved and himself. This is one of the best pictures at Richard Barthelmess has appeared in for a long time and you should not fail to see it. Also talking comedy and news reel.

Admission—adults at nights 35c, matinees 25c; children under 12 years old, 15c each show.

McIntosh's Drug Store

New State Teachers College

STATIONERY

Farmville - - - - Va.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery

AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Farmville - - - - Va.

CANADA DRUG CO.

Next to Baldwin's Store

Come to us for your cosmetics and

STATIONERY

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

IT PAYS TO DEAL
at
GREENBERG'S DEPT. STORE

First in Style
Lowest in Price
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

FEATURE THIS WEEK

COLLEGE THEME TABLETS

3 For 25c

SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES

MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

Printzess Coats Smartest in Fall Wear!

The Mode is Femininely Chic

Last season the 'dressmaker" type of coat was a growing tendency in the mode—it is an established fact this season and is smartly feminine in every phase.

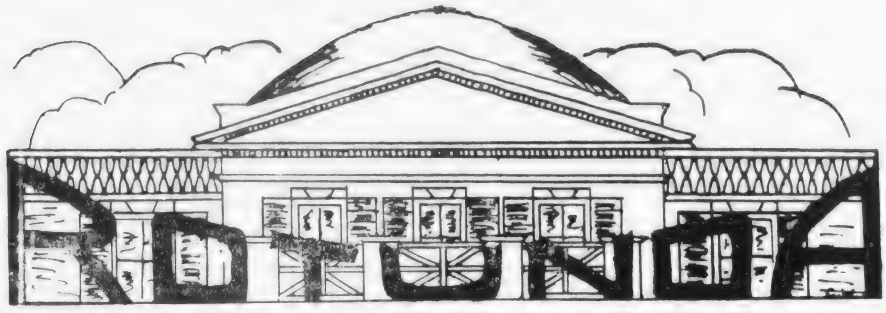
This whim of fashion is charmingly illustrated in our present showings of Printzess coats. Each style is an adaption of a French design and represents the best in the mode. New silhouettes, new fabrics, new trimming details. Priced $24.75 to $57.50.

BALDWIN'S

The S. T. C. Girls' Main Street Home

GIFTS FOR ALL THE FAMILY

Come from the Holiday Store



There is great satisfaction in being able to choose gifts for the entire faimly and circle of friends from one store. Here in conveniently aranged sections we have assembled gifts for every indiivdual preference. Varied in kind and price range they meet with any plan of choice and expenditure.

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.

The House of Quality

FARMVILLE, VA.

SUBSCRIBE TO THE VIRGINIAN

WATCH FOR THE SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1929 Number 11

CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS PRESENTED 3 FOLK PLAYS IN COLLEGE AUDITORIUM

Prof. Frederick Koch Headed the Players Friday Evening

Professor Fredrick Koch and his Carolina Playmakers gave a significant performance here last Friday night when they presented three of their original folk plays—Paul Green's "No 'Count Boy," "Job's Kinfolks," written by Loretta Bailey and "Magnolia's Man" by Gertrude Coffin.

All three plays are purely local in character, but as Professor Koch explained in a short address,—"our art must first be local." In interpreting their own neighborhood, these young playwriters are expressing the true spirit of America—the desire to get ahead; the continual reaching out for the 'better things."

Phoebe Harding was splendid as the young negro girl in "The No 'Count Boy." She aimed to travel and see life; her idea of paradise was New York! The fickleness of the girl in her sympathy for first lover and then the other was cleverly portrayed. A rare characteristic of the race was sensed in the rhythmic and emotional reaction of the negroes to the music of the mouth-organ as played by Howard Bailey in the role of the "No 'Count Boy."

Job's Kinfolks is a true drama. The tragic struggle of the poor mountaineer to adjust themselves to life in a big city, the ignorance and the short-sightedness of mind, the pitiful attempt to dodge the law, all the fears and privations of life are dealt with in this tragedy of the mill people.

Doretta Bailey, author of the play, gave an excellent characterization in the role of Kizzie, grandmother of the family. Her lamenting tone of voice was perfectly suited to the part. It created that sympathetic humorous element necessary to make one realize the deplorability of old age in the midst of trouble.

The third play, "Magnolia's Man," by Gertrude Coffin is a delightful comedy. Miss Coffin had perfect poise as the village dressmaker, "Miss Tish." The tilt of her head was an artistic achievement in itself. Magnolia's 'Man" was undoubtedly a catch! Arkansas would probably disown him.

The Playmakers are doing a remarkable piece of work in the line of folk-plays. Their performances are splendid; they are unusually well-finished. The young playwriters are a credit to their university.

Journalism Class Will Edit Next Rotunda

The Rotunda will be edited by the Journalism Class next week, serving the purpose of a final examination for the members of the class. The staff is as follows:

Editor-in-chief, Jessie Smith; associate editor, Linda Wilkins; news editor, Nellie Talley; athletic editor, Laura M. Smith; World News, Intercollegiate News, Elizabeth Antrim; Social editor, Feature editor, Leslie Ritter; Art editor, Humorous editor, Frances Davis; proof reader, Parmele Byrd; circulation manager, Mrs. Elouise Turner.

The Virginian's Staff Subscription Contest

The Virginian staff has decided to put on a contest to secure subscriptions. Any member of the student body not on the staff is eligible to enter the contest. The following prizes will be awarded:

1st prize—Any $7 article from Davidson's.

2nd prige—any $4 article from Baldwin's.

3rd prize—any $3 article from Martin's.

4th prize—a copy of the Virginian for 1930.

The following rules will govern the contest:

1. Orders must be taken on regular forms furnished by the Virginian staff.

2. One dollar must be paid on each subscription.

3. Orders must be reported weekly to Charlotte Hutchins between 4 and 5 o'clock on Thursday.

4. Contest will close Dec. 16 at 6 P. M. Only subscriptions reported by that time will count.

5. All people wishing to enter the contest must report to Room 227, Student Building, Friday, December 16 between four and five o'clock.

FINE THANKSGIVING SERVICES ARE HELD

A beautiful Thanksgiving service was held in the auditorium at 7:15 Thursday morning. The service opened with a little talk by Adele on love and thankfulness, after which each class and organization in school placed on the altar that thing for which they were most thankful. The service ended with a prayer led by the Y. W. president.

The auditorium looked very lovely with the candles and the white, ivy-decked altar in front.

The service was very touching and beneficial to all who attended.

FRESHMAN PROSPECTS GOOD IN BASKETBALL

Basketball practice started in earnest Monday, Dec. 2. The freshmen practiced from five to six. About fifty freshmen were on the floor. The passing was fast and goal-shooting fairly accurate. On a whole the practice was very good.

The freshmen seem interested and really ready to work. We are hoping that the number will not decrease, and that every girl will do her best to make the team. Prospects at present seem very good and the freshmen are expected to do as well at basketball as they did at hockey. Let's see you go, freshmen.

COLLEGE HIGH HAS NEWSPAPER OF NOTE

The Rotunda staff wishes to congratulate the College High School upon the first issue of their newspaper, The Hi-Echo. The paper shows promise and the Rotunda staff wishes to take this opportunity to offer any assistance that might be given, and to wish for the staff of The Hi-Echo a very successful first year with many more to follow.

LOVE OF LEARNING IS ESSENTIAL TO USE OF KNOWLEDGE

Listed Among Mr. Andress' Objectives of Knowledge, Habits and Attitude

OLDEST IS KNOWLEDGE

"Too often schools are conducted on that principle made immortal by Mr. Dooley: "It doesn't matter what you teach a boy, Hennesey, so long as he doesn't like it," says J. Mace Andress in the December Journal of the National Education Association.

Mr. Andress lists among the objectives of education, knowledge, habits, and attitudes. The oldest of these is knowledge, but is by no means the most important, Mr. Andress thnks, for without the proper attitudes knowledge is difficult to acquire and useless after it is achieved. Without attitudes that urge definite action, pupils form habits slowly, and break them as soon as compulsion is removed.

"Too many students pass their work in English with marks indicating that their knowledge of facts and their skill in writing is satisfactory and yet have unfortunate attitudes toward the subject. When such attitudes are aroused, they not only deprive the students of pleasure in pursuing the subject at school but in later years good literature may be avoided," offers Mr. Andress in explanation of the fact that so many students never read after graduation the works of the great writers they studied in school and college.

Mr. Andress cites prejudices as an example of the extent to which attitudes influence lives, sometimes determining objectives and achievements of a life time in a measure far beyond the importance of the underlying reason for the emotional likes and dislikes. Since no person reaches maturity without forming attitudes that will influence him in all his acts, he urges that more attention be given to the education of emotions in the home and school. As a basis for this type of education he would make use of the psychological principle of associating satisfaction and pleasure with that which is wholesome.

"Y" Cabinet Gives Freshman Parties

A series of parties for the freshmen have been given in the last week. They were given in smaller groups so that the crowd could know each other.

The Silhouette Party given to one group was very atractive but no less tempting than the Fruit Party given to another group of freshmen.

The Weinie Roast at Longwood proved quite a success. The girls hiked out, and roasted weinies over a bon fire—but as luck would have it, shoe leather was saved on the trip back for a big truck gave the girls a lift.

Each freshman seemed to enjoy her type of party—and probably they will want to come again.

GREEN AND WHITE, SISTER CLASS TEAMS, ARE VICTORIOUS ON THANKSGIVING DAY

Championship Game to be Played Between the Freshman and Junior Classes

The final whistle at the Thanksgiving Day games saw the two green and white classes victorious. This means that the championship game will be played between sister classes—the juniors and the freshmen. This game was to have been played on Monday, but was postponed on account of the weather.

The freshman-sophomore game was played first on Thursday. This was a very close game ending in a 1-1 tie. Both teams played unusually well and ten minutes extra time was required to decide the game in favor of the freshmen with a score of 2-1.

The line-ups for this game were:

Freshmen—2	Sophomores 1
R. W.—L. Boush	F. Schofield
R. I.—M. Massey	M. Scales
C. F.—L. Crute	M. Pratt
L. I.—E. Walthall	L. Transon
L. W.—H. Ross	E. Etheridge
R. H.—F. Hutchins	L. Clayton
C. H.—D. Snedegar	E. Souders
L. H.—M. Gunter	V. Old
R. B.—D. Ridgeway	C. Quisenberry
L. B.—E. Hardy	F. Edwards
G.—P. Edwards	K. Hundley

Goals were made by L. Crute (2) and F. Schofield (1).

The second game, played between the juniors and seniors, was likewise hotly contested. Up until the very last minute of the game it was almost impossible to tell who would be the victor. The first half ended with a score of 2-1 in favor of the seniors. The juniors picked up in the second half and came out on top, scoring 4 goals to 3 scored by the seniors.

The line-ups for this game were:

Juniors (4)	Seniors (3)
R. W.—E. Evans	B. Paris
R. I.—M. Maddrey	L. M. Smith
C.—D. Reed	C. Watts
L. I.—E. Coleman	D. Zeigler
L. W.—A. Oliver	K. Woodson
R. H.—M. Nuttall	M. R. Wood
C. H.—A. Hutchinson,	M. F. Hatchett
L. H.—E. Dutton	N. S. Anthony
R. B.—L. N. Smith	M. F. Shephard
L. B.—E. Simpson	G. Richardson
G.—E. Hunter	M. Anthony

Goals were made by Coleman (3), Oliver (1), and Woodson (1), Hatchett (1), and L. M. Smith (1).

Dr. Smith Speaks to Students at Chapel

Dr. Smith of Durham, North Carolina, formerly of Green Memorial Church, Roanoke, Virginia, spoke to a large audience in the College Auditorium Tuesday evening at prayers.

The theme of Dr. Smith's talk was the Christly character. The entire talk was of an inspirational nature. He told the story of the pearl of great price and clearly illustrated that the greatest thing in the world is the Christly character.

Dr. Smith said that one should not only study a people's religion but also the subjects and how they lived under this religious rule. They have different theories and practices from ours and show a strong contrast.

Then he tried to illustrate just what religion did for us in a spiritual, physical mental and moral sort of way.

WOODHOUSE ELECTED REPRESENTATIVE ON STUDENT COUNCIL

Grace Virginia Woodhouse was elected sophomore representative on the Student Council last Wednesday night at a meeting of the sophomore class. She will take the place of Ruth Hunt who had to give up her position on account of ill health.

Grace Virginia served on the Student Council last year as freshman representative and proved her worth and ability to represent her class then. The sophomore class again showed its confidence in her by re-electing her to the Council this year.

THE N. E. A. IS LARGEST PROFESSIONAL GROUP IN THE WORLD

The National Education Association enrols 200,000 teachers, 3,000 of whom are life members.

• • •

A headquarters staff of 125 members conducts the business of the National Education Association in an office building owned by the Association in Washington, D. C.

• • •

The National Education Association will build in 1930 a seven-story annex to the present headquarters building in Washington, D. C.

• • •

One-half of the school superintendents in the United States hold membership in the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association.

• • •

Thirteen per cent of the high school principals in the United States are members of the Department of Secondary School Principals of the National Education Association.

Uncle Sam fired a West Point cadet for getting married. Apparently the military authorities do not believe that a cadet should take up matrimony until he has learned to fight.—Chicago Daily News.

Senior Class To Present Musical

The Senior Class will present a musical comedy, "The Pride of Pasadena," December 11. The plot is a tangle of events which follows the arrogant mother's insisting on her daughter marrying a visiting nobleman. The daughter has already bestowed her affections on an attractive college boy, Billy Brentwood. There are lively situations, plenty of dancing, and snappy choruses.

The cast is as follows:

Helen Gilleth, Lucie Dortch.
Billy Brentwood, Etta Marshall.
Edith Pride, Lela Germany.
Harry Saemont, Eleanor Hogan.
Mrs. Melville Pride, Ann Stump,
Miss Pringle, Florence Booten.
Melville Pride, Frances Davis.
Count Alfonso Chilibeans, Lillian Bovell.
James McGlue, Billy Paris.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — JESSIE SMTH, '31

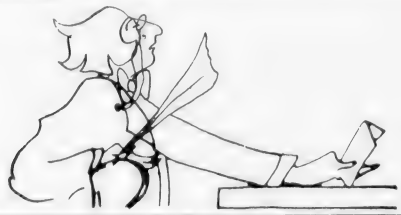
Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '30
Alumnae Editor — MISS CARRIE B. TALIAFERRO

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 — KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30
ANN STUMP, '30

Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader — JESSIE WATKINS, '33



Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

The Hanging of the Colors

At the tap of the six o'clock bell Thanksgiving morning a few excited girls rushed out and claimed the vantage points from which to hang their colors for the day.

Green and white claimed the Student Building and White House Hall while Red and White were victorious at the Rotunda, Library, and Senior Building.

After the hanging of the banners, there were several half-hearted yells and songs. Every effort was made to create as much enthusiasm and pep as a few girls could muster.

One good thing happened as a result of the scarcity of girls on campus early Thursday morning—there was less friction displayed between the colors. But, after all, which is the more desirable: keen rivalry and an enthusiastic exhibition of class spirit, or a calm, don't-care attitude toward the outcome of the hanging of the colors?

Something should be done about this attitude toward Thanksgiving morning. We should not let an old tradition of our Alma Mater—one which will bring about many thrills to be remembered when we are graduated and one which will develop in us a more poignant class spirit—degenerate through indifference on our parts. We can make of the hanging of the colors one of the outstanding events of the school year, or we can make of it a complete flop. Let us profit by this year's experience.

True College Spirit

College spirit was certainly in evidence Thursday when the different classes played each other in a hard-fought game. There were many more students at the game this year than at the one we had last Thanksgiving day. The freshmen were there filled with pep and enthusiasm and the upperclassmen and visitors were as thrilled as could be.

The first half of the game between the sophomores and freshmen was snappy and did credit to so many new players. The tie scores promised a most exciting final one.

The good sportsmanship displayed by the cheering crowd in rooting for the good plays of all classes was noticeable. The Red and Whites could be forgiven if they yelled a little louder when the sophomores and seniors made a goal as long as they rooted some for the Green and White, too. And the same may be said of the latter.

Forgetting the score, Thursday 's games were a credit to our college. The playing was clean and fast. The teams were inspired to give their best because of the cheering of the student body.

OVER THE TEACUPS

News? My dear, I'm too tired to know anything. I'm sure nuff worn down to a nub—many more week-ends like this one and there just won't be enough left of poor me to tell the tale.

Did I have a good time? That just isn't the word for it. Good time doesn't express half of it. I had a better time. Who did I meet? Just about everybody! I don't think I saw a bed the whole time I was gone! Of course I did, silly! But it did seem that I was on the go all the time- Yes, I met him. Isn't he the best looking thing, though? Was he? Bill was right there—had the cutest girl with him. Oh, Bob's girl would do. 'Course I used to go with him, and I don't mean to be "catty" or anything, but—well—she wasn't very cute. At least I didn't think so. Oh, yes, she got a big rush, but these boys are liable to rush anybody.

You stayed here, didn't you? I heard about it. Bet the dining room looked funny with so many girls gone. Yes, I knew she was back. Wish I could have seen her.

Yes, I heard they were good. There really isn't anything like a good old snake dance to work up pep. Green and White are just carrying on this year, aren't they? Just winning all the games. Wasn't that the funniest thing? I almost died. All these girls dashing madly down the hall, breaking their necks, and when they looked around, every one of them were Red and White. It was too funny for words to hear them tell about it. I do think that the seniors ought to just have the new building anyway.

Isn't it awful? That hill is so slippery. Everybody 'most has fallen down. I hate rain anyway, and Farmville just seems to be blessed with it. Yes, it does make things pretty when it freezes. The trees were lovely—so, by the way, were the stars seen by the people who "fell for" the ice.

Don't they though? I've never seen girls so excited about anything. They all had the best time. Isn't it a pity that everybody can't go to press conventions?

Have you ever heard anything like it? Everybody's getting married or getting ready to. First "Chris", then "V" Vincent, and now "Pannie". Being president of the student body has its assets as well as its hard work. I was so surprised when I read about "V" and still more so when I read about Pannie. No—I hadn't heard even a hint of it.

Oh-h-h—Please, my dear, it isn't the company, its a combination of the weather and the week-end. I've just got to catch a little sleep. Please do—I want to talk to you—and as an inducement—I've got a box of candy. Please come 'fore its all gone.

S'long.

ADVICE FOR GIRLS

1. Keep away from track men; they are usually fast.
2. Ne'er make dates with biology students ;they enjoy cutting up too much.
3. The football man is all right; he will tackle anything.
4. You can trust a tank man; he will dive in and do his best.
5. The tennis man is harmless; but he enjoys a racket.
6. Watch out for the baseball man; he hits and runs.
7. Be careful of the dramatic members; they usually have several good lines.
8. Don't play cards with a civil engineer; he is a bridge specialist.
9. Always let the members of the band talk about themselves; they enjoy blowing their own horns.

—The Parrot.

ALUMNAE NOTES

The marriage on Wednesday, November 27, of Miss Virginia Caroline Vincent, of Emporia, and Dr. Robert Luther Saffelle, formerly of Alexandria, now of Clifton Forge, was one of unusual interest and loveliness. The officiating ministers were Dr. Diehl, of Farmville, and the Reverend Mr. Hughes, pastor of the Main Street Methodist Church, Emporia. The church was beautifuly decorated with palms, ferns, evergreens and cathedral candles. Tall white candelabras were artistically arranged inside the chancel rail and beside the pews along the entire length of both aisles.

Mrs. E. H. Harris, of Emporia, rendered a beautiful and impressive organ recital, and Mrs. Henry Landon Cabell, Jr., of Richmond, sang "Until" and "Because". Immediately preceding the entrance of the bridal party, "O Perfect Love" was effectively sung by a bridal chorus consisting of Mrs. Henry Cabell, Jr., and Mrs. John B. James, of Richmond; Misses Virginia Potts and Elaine Goode of Farmville; Mrs. John Sams of Kinston, N. C.; Miss Greenhow Parker of Franklin; Misses Frances and Evelyn Taylor, of Hamilton; Mrs. A. Y. Chambliss, Mrs. William Harding, Jr., and Miss Clarice Barham, of Emporia. "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms" was softly played throughout the evening.

The bride's sisters were her attendants: Mrs. E. L. Potter, in green crepe de chine and carrying a nosegay of autumn flowers was matron of honor, and Mrs. J. B. Dalton, Mrs. B. J. Atkinson, Misses Mary William, Martha, Margaret and Ruth Vincent, in autumn shades of crepe de chine and carrying baskets of fall blossoms, were the bride's maids. The bride dressed in white satin embroidered in pearls, with tulle veil draped with orange blossoms, and carrying a shower bouquet of brides roses, was given in marriage by her brother, G. L. Vincent. The groom was accompanied by his brother Ralph Saffelle, as best man.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony at the church. Many out-of-town guests were present. Much entertaining was done for Mrs. Saffelle prior to the ceremony.

Mrs. Saffelle was a degree graduate in June, 1927. During her four years of residence here, she was, because of her varied talents, prominent along many lines. She was president of the student body in her senior year, class president in her junior year, member of Alpha Delta Rho, the basketball varsity, the Choral Club, and was active in many organization and college enterprizes. She was an honorary member of the Farmville Lions Club, acting as pianist at their regular meetings while she was a student and later, when she was a teacher in the Farmville High School. She has a host of friends in S. T. C. and in Farmville who wish her future happiness.

MANDY'S FIRST DINNER PARTY

Mandy had just been installed as cook in the Smythe household. She was inexperienced, but "willin' to larn." She had not been with Mrs. Smythe long before her mistress announced that the next day she was expecting company.

"Now, Mandy, do your best, because I want to make a good impression upon Mr. Smythe's relatives. Cook like you were preparing a feast for—well—for the preacher."

She showed Mandy the menu that she wished for her to prepare for the distinguished guests. Heading the list was "smothered chicken."

"Are you sure that you know how to smother chicken, Mandy?"

"Yas'm, Ah sho does. Ah's smothered many a chicken in mah day. An' Mis' Smythe, don' yo' bother 'round de kitchen, 'cause Ah kin allus do mah work better by mahself."

Being thus reassured by her cook's self-confidence, Mrs. Smythe left the

(Continued on Page 3)

DREAMING

I dreamed a dream one night;
It was hazy and cloudy and mystic.
I saw life out of blurred eyes,
But what I could not see
I visioned into beautiful realities.
And then I dreamed another dream;
It was clear and light.
I looked at life with open eyes,
Disillusioned and drear.
I cried, "Oh, God, let me dream,
Then give me courage to open
Wide clear eyes.
But forgive me if I dream awhile
With visioned blurred."

E. E.

"GOLD" MONDAY

We were merry when the day was fair;
But when the sun had gone,
And the dawn
Came with silver rain and misty air,
Life turned to gray,
And sad we were—
Except for her,
Who on the lovely day—
With knowing care—
Had tangled up the sun within the meshes of her hair!

Alice Harrison, '32

YOUTH'S AMBITION

I want to mold, to paint, compose and build—
To feel accomplishment and ambition fulfilled.
To taste of life—to know that I have lived my chance,
To love and laugh, to touch sweet Romance.
To sail the seas—to seek shallow Fame.
Nay!—not loss is mine but Gain! gain!

E. H.

THE HOCKEY GAMES

Thanksgiving Day dawned
With a sky of rose and gold.
And the different classes wondered
What the day's first half would hold.

At nine o'clock the freshmen came
Attired in their green suits.
With them the sophomores in red
And the crowd ready to root.

Evenly matched with the skill of the players—
The first half's score ending one to one.
The junior class went wild with joy
For what their sister class had done.

The seniors started in with determined looks
Eager to keep up the play of the sophomore class.
The greens fought and the reds fought
In a game that was hard and fast.

"One to one!" the scorekeeper cried
Then "two to one favor of green."
The second half ended with the juniors
Better off than they had dreamed.

Freshmen and sophomores went at it again
With the repetition of the first score
While the juniors and seniors final was red—three and greens—four.

Then for the tie to be played off—
Each player played like mad.
The freshman were the victors
In the second game they had.

Congratulations to the greens!
And to all for the sportsmanship!
Regardless of the results obtained
We know each player gave her bit.

K. W., '30

SOCIALS

Guests

Mrs. Ivan F. Bland and little daughter, Mary Jane are the guests of Miss Mary White Cox.

Some alumnae who spent Thanksgiving Day and the week-end on campus were: Freeda and Alberta Collings, Mabel Hayes, Arnold Whitehurst, Katherine Bully, Rebecca Leibman, Katherine Rhodes, Macie Elder, Jane Garlic, Virginia Rucker, Beulah Coffee, Elizabeth Mitchell, Lillian Rhodes, Elsie Turner, Evelyn Graybeal, Lillian Sturgis, and Elizabeth Revercomb.

Trips

Mary Simmerman attended the game and dances in Roanoke and spent the week-end at her home in Wytheville.

Martha and Nannie Sue Anthony spent the week-end at their home in Stella, Va.

Elsie Burgess, Sue Dietrick, Margaret Priest, Margaret Rickeretts, spent the week-end in Norfolk.

Mary W. Pugh spent the week-end at her home in Portsmouth.

Alice Hardaway, Marguerite Swann, Jacque Lee, Martha MacKenzie, and Allie Oliver attended dances at V. M. I. last week-end.

Mary and Maria Warren spent the week-end at their home in Chatham.

Nancy Wellborne spent Thanksgiving and the week-end at her home in High Point, N. C.

Lucille Graves, Elizabeth Antrim, Elizabeth Hairston, Mayo Beaty, Margaret Loving, Jane Wiley, Dot Goodloe, Virginia Vox ,Lucy Thompson, Teeny Myers, Doris Webber, Anna Minter, Vernie Oden, Marie Staples, Martha Stuart, Jessie Smith, Frances Wilson, Emmy Lou Pulliam, Mary Priest, Martha and Margueret Faris, Sarah Wilson, Frances West and Janice Harper attended the V. P. I. and V. M. I. game in Roanoke Thanksgiving Day. Many from this list also attended dances at either of the schools.

Clara Norfleet spent the week-end at her home in Suffolk.

Elizabeth Smitherman, Lucile Norman, Sarah McCorkle, Mildred Owen, spent the week-end in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Frances and Julia Martin spent the week-end at their home in Charlotte, N. C.

Hazel Burgwin, Frances Davis, Patty Ellison, Gazelle Ware, Martha Walters, Gladys Meador, attended the William and Mary-Richmond University game in Richmond Thanksgiving.

Rena Robertson, Loulie Milner, and Ellen Fowlkes, Anne Johnson, Virginia Ford and Mabel Gregory, spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Edna Buchanan and Evelyn Hughes spent the week-end at their homes in Hampton.

Virginia Lowe spent the week-end at her home in Charlottesville.

Anita Crane spent Thanksgiving and the week-end at her home in Edgerston, Pa.

NO PASSING OF PLATE IN PRESIDENT'S CHURCH

Persons desiring to view President and Mrs. Hoover at religious worship should not be made to pay for that simple privilege, it has been decided by trustees of the Friends Meeting House in Washington, the church that our Quaker President and his wife attend. Therefore, they have discontinued this week the universal custom of passing around the collection plate during services. It was thought that exacting a contribution from those who crowded the church largely through curiosity, might give an impression of commercialism, somewhat akin to the process of selling tickets at places of entertainment. Regular member of the church from now on will mail their contributions to the authorities.

In response to the question that immediately arises — no, President Hoover had nothing to do with the decision of the trustees. It is taken for granted, however, that the action naturally meets with his just approval.

SOLO FLYING COST ELINOR SMITH HER WARDROBE

Just a month ago, seventeen-year-old Elinor Smith, our youngest aviation heroine, set a new solo endurance flying record for women, staying in the air almost 27 hours, but she has known fear.

"I went up for a test flight and when I came down I found much to my surprise I had established a record," says Air Pilot 3178 in an interview in the July College Humor. 'The worst part of it was the pistol they gave me to shoot as a signal when I was ready to come down. I was scared to death of it. It was so big it looked like a cannon to me, and every time I took it up to fire it, I put it down again. I felt I'd rather stay in the air for the rest of my life than pull that trigger."

"Elinor Smith is the least self-conscious person I have ever met," writes May Cerf, the interviewer. "She has the modesty of real greatness. Like all fearless souls, she is devoid of egoism. She is too sensible and too wholesome to allow praise to turn her head. She makes her triumph as part of the day's work. It is amazing, when you come to think of it, that a girl as young as Elinor Smith should break air records and test new planes and do other stunts in the air that give landlubbers a cold chill to watch from safe ground, but you wouldn't find it amazing if you know Elinor.

"When Elinor was eight years old she made her first flight. While her playmates were dressing their dolls or riding safely in the family automobiles, Elinor, at the side of her dad, was flying far overhead in a funny, old fashioned plane which was nicknamed 'The Chicken Coop' because of the network of wires overhead. 'The Chicken Coop' had none of the modern safety devices that are rapidly making flying safe for fliers.

"Before long, the infantile and embryo aviatrix became the pet of the airfields around Long Island. The boys, then but novices in the game themselves, took her up with them. As she grew older, they taught her to handle the controls and explained the mechanism to her. She was an apt pupil. Then came the day when she was allowed to handle the plane, but when she pleaded for a solo flight it was a different matter. 'No,' said the pilots, 'you can't make solo flights. It's too dangerous for a girl. We will not take the risk. Wait a few years!'

"But Elinor did not wait a few years. She waited only a few weeks. Obstacles would not stop her. She looked around for a way to get the necessary money for instruction, and got it. It was her dress allowance. Elinor Smith, unknown to anyone, took her first step toward aviation success and fame. That's how she became Pilot 3178."

MANDY'S FIRST DINNER PARTY

Continued from page two

room, telling Mandy that she would not disturb her.

Bright and early next morning, Mandy was up and about her work. Her mistress, too, was preparing for her guests, but not once did she enter the kitchen. The guests arrived, and, after some time, although she should have been free from all worry, she noticed, with much uneasiness that it was nearing dinner time and Mandy had not called her to see if things were all right before announcing dinner. Her worry increased as the minutes more on, and, finally, when she could stand it no longer, she slipped from the room and went to the kitchen. She was almost relieved of any anxiety that she might have had by the appetizing odors of the simple dishes that only Mandy's hand could produce. But where was Mandy—and the chicken? What in the world! Just then Mandy appeared in the doorway.

"Mandy, for goodness sake, where is the chicken? It's getting late."

"Mis' Smythe," replied the agitated cook, "Ah don' know what's wrong, but Ah jus' can't get that chicken smothered at all! It's been in dat box ever since 'fo breakfast, an' taint dead yet!"

"Why, Mandy!" But Mrs. Smythe's quick mastery of the situation saved her from any embarrassment that might have been caused by her cook's ignorance.

WORLD NEWS

No United States citizen has even won the Nobel Prize for Literature. Last week the Swedish Academy of Letters picked Thomas Mann of Germany. In 1925 Mann's name had been prominently mentioned, but after a year's delay the Swedish Academy awarded the prize to George Bernard Shaw. This year the prizes bequeathed by the late Alfred Bernhard Nobel, the Swede who invited dynamite will be larger than ever before. Thomas Mann will get $46,299.

Sir Ronald Lindsay is the new British Ambassador to America. He was the British ambassador at Berlin 1926-1928. He served in Washington for a while. He has married two American girls, and for a short while he was the official head of the Foreign Office at London.

Things seem to be getting worse in the Near East rather than better. The Arab-Jewish riots have stopped but the Jews will not buy from the Arab merchants, and the Arabs will not buy from the Jews. Both the Arabs and the Jews are attacking England's neutrality. To the Arabs the British are protectors of an alien and aggressive race; to the Jews the British have violated their pledges of protection.

I've been hunting in the mountains for weeks.

How many gallons did you find?

SCHEMMEL

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony

Aesthetics, Etc.

REASONABLE TUITION RATES

VANITY FAIR HOSE

$1.35—$1.65—$1.95

The Band Box Shoppe

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

Quality—Price—Service

Come in and get acquainted

We're Glad to Have You With Us

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?

Go Across the Street

GILLIAM'S

FOR EATS

OF ALL KINDS

FALL SHOWING OF

HATS

THE HAT SHOPPE

Mrs. H. H. Hunt

THIRD STREET

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE

Next to the Theatre

Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies

MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Falconer Gift Shop

Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery

Engraving

COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Direct Eastman Kodak Agency

(Fresh films)

Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)

COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S

is headquarters for the best

SANDWICHES AND DRINKS

in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP

Work done while you wait with

First Class Materials

110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS

Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop

323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus

G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY

The Convenient Store

FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP

Will fix your shoes

WHILE YOU WAIT

Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS

TAILORING CLEANING

PRESSING

Farmville - - - - - - - - - - Virginia

The Hub is headquarters for XMAS Gifts for Mother, Father, Brother, Sister, Friend, and Sweetheart

Gloves, Pocket books, Handkerchiefs, Hose, Pajamas, Jewelry, Negligees, Compacts, and hundreds of other useful articles priced from 10c to $25.

See our New Silhouette Dresses at $9.95

20 PER CENT OFF ALL COATS

Charge it if you like

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

"Mootch" Dortch: "Yes, I go to the immoral school."

Mildred Field: "What's that?"

"Mooch" Dortch: "The school without a principal."

Louise Whitlock: "Well, at last I've written something for the Rotunda that has been accepted."

Linda Wilkerson: "Fine! What is it?"

Louise: "A check for a subscription that I want my friend to have."

Hampden-Sydney: "Say! You're quite an amateur at kissing."

S. T. C.: "Thing so? Well, it took a lot of practice to get that first time effect."

Frances: 'You're wanted on the telephone."

Alice: "Tell 'em I'm taking a bath."

Frances: "I did, but they said they didn't believe it."

Alice: "Then I'd better answer it; it must be somebody who knows me pretty well."

—Washington State Cougar's Paw.

The doctor smiled as he entered the room. "You look much better this morning."

Reba French (in infirmary) "Yes. I followed the directions on your medicine bottle."

"What were they?"

Reba: "Keep the bottle tightly corked."—Nebelspalter.

Chemistry Prof.: "What is the most outstanding contribution that chemistry has given to the world?"

College Stude: "Blonds."

Floyd: "What kind of lipstick is that?"

Teeny Myers: "Kissproof."

Floyd: "Well, rub it off. We got work to do."

Mayo: "Heard the Virtue Song?"

Snooty: "Must I?"

Mayo: "Virtue get those eyes?"

'Is your roommate absent-minded?"

"Absent-minded. Boy, she is so absent-minded she forgets to count the girls in her room before getting out her food."

Anna: "Jack, have you ever loved before?"

Rah Rah Jack: "My dear girl, I'll be perfectly frank with you. I've been engaged as many times that my exfiances have perfected and organization and adopted a yell."

Eleanor Hogan: "And how do you feel now?"

Sick Carolina Playmaker boy (in Junior Parlor): "Just terrible. I feel as if I was going to die."

Eleanor: "Well, you can't die here; this is our living room."—Everybody's Weekly.

Knight of the road: "Say, boy, your dog bit me on the ankle."

Boy: "Well, that's as high as he could go. You wouldn't expect a little pup like that to bit you on the neck, would ou?"—Chicago Tribune.

Martha Walters: "Are you going to love me always?"

Bobby: "If I weren't, do you think I'd be showing you all these new holds?"

Intercollegiate News

M. Paul Cloudel, French Ambassador to the United States, recently visited the University of Virginia. All places of interest, including a trip to Monticello. The delegation also visited the statue of James McConnell, the first son of the University to die in the Allied cause.—Brackety-Ack.

The Flat Hat, the newspaper from the College of William and Mary, proudly announces that this college is the only one in the state and one of the few colleges in the country that conduct a summer school in France. The Bulletin of the 1930 Summer Study Tour in Europe is a pamphlet of sixteen pages. It outlines in detail the study, travel, and sightseeing in England, France, Germany, and Belgium.—The Breeze.

A radio, recently purchased by the Y. M. C. A. at Washington and Lee University to be used by the students and faculty for listening in on games and programs, has certainly proved its worth. From all reports students are able to spend very enjoyable evenings listening to the radio playing with their Yo-Yos.—The Tech.

Notre Dame defeated Southern California before the largest crowd that has ever assembled to witness a football game. Think of 123,000 people in one stadium! The Irish played great football to defeat a powerful team in their rise to a national championship.—The Bull Dog.

Touch football is the latest craze which has struck the co-eds at Birmingham Southern. This game, in which the idea is to touch the one in possession of the ball, has been adopted by the freshmen co-eds.—Va. Tech.

Ruth Floyd spent the week-end at her home in Covington.

Deaton Francis spent Thanksgiving and the week-end at her home in Norfolk.

Elizabeth Rawls and Louise Johnson spent the week-end in Franklin.

THANKSGIVING DINNER AT TEACHERS COLLEGE

After our six o'clock activties, we ravenously enter the dining room and find the very usual, very cold breakfast but we console ourselves, promptly on the prospect and promise of a little of everything and altogether good Thanksgiving dinner. We rush about Thanksgiving morning doing a nothing except perhaps going to one hockey game and church. (Always with the idea of having something pleasant—oh, yes! The Dinner) At quarter to one the reception hall was crowded. Finally the bell rings and the door opens. With much rushing, peering, and licking of lips we enter the festive hall.

Menu

Turkey, dressing, gravy, Bread
Sweet Potatoes Salsify
Pickle Celery
Cranberry Jelly
Pineapple Ice Cream Cake

All very good, very satisfying, very delicious!

Note: Friday noon: Soup (vegetable, faintly flavored with salsify and turkey).

Note 2., Friday at supper: Turkey salad, canberry jelly.

Note 3., Saturday at breakfast: turkey hash.

Note 4 (inthe kitchen): turkey oil and feather dusters.

Doug.: "Please remove your glove so I can kiss your hand."

Mary: "Twould be easier to remove my veil."

"Are you an educated woman?"

"Well, I was maid in a fraternity house for three years."

MR. FORD COLLECTS A LARGE HOUSE

The "collecting bug" has bitten Mr. Henry Ford on a larger scale than that acorded most men. He wants for his museum at Dearborn nothing less than a house. The only qualifications specified by the automobile magnate are that it must be from Alexandria, Virginia, and it must be at least 100 years old. When such a specimen of antiquity, representative of "an early American dwelling from an early American community" is found, it will be torn down piece by piece, shipped to Dearborn and rebuilt there.

This whim seized Mr. Ford when he was in Washington at the request of Mr. Hoover attending the conference of industrial leaders. He motored out into Virginia to survey his recently acquired gold mine near Fredericksburg. Looking over the country, he decided that he wanted a Virginian home, not as a dwelling, but as an addition to his historical collection. In the Capital itself, he found much to gratify his passion for antiquities. To one Washington dealer, for instance, Mr. Ford paid three thousand dollars within a half hour for ancient bric-a-brac, which included twenty-five candelabra and a desk worth six hundred and fifty dollars. He also visited the house where Abraham Lincoln died and looked at the Lincoln relics that he had once tried, unsuccessfully, to purchase, and expressed the hope that the government would provide better facilities for the exhibition of these relics.

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Dec. 9-14

MON. & TUES.—Johnny Mack Brown, Hobart Bosworth and Leila Hyams in "HURRICANE" an all talking picture. The first Great all talking picture of the sea! Hear the roaring gale, the shreiking winds, the crashing waves, the din of embattled human souls in a mighty drama of human emotions stripped to the raw. Gerater than any stage play! Breach taking drama of the Sea! A picture that is different from anything you have ever seen. Be sure and see this picture. Also news and talking comedy.

WED. & THURS.—Billie Dove with Rod LaRocque in "THE MAN AND THE WOMENT," the famous Elinor Glyn story in a big Vitaphone talking picture. Love-scared! To escape from one man she made a loveless contract marriage with another. To escape from Him, she sought reckless dissapation in the fastest smart set this side of life. See what happens when the husband breaks the "No Love" clause in the contract. More love thrills per minute than any screen romance you've ever seen! Two great stars, an Elinor Glyn romance, directed by the man who gave you "Lilac Time," "The Barker," and "His Captive Woman." Also Collegiate talking comedy.

Friday and Saturday—Alice White in "BROADWAY BABIES" a 100 per cent talking, 100 per cent singing and dancing, Vitaphone picture. Here we have melody that sets your feet a-stepping—drama that sets your heart a-thumping. A $5.50 Broadway musical comedy! 200 gorgeous dancing girls! Corus of 200 voices! Three new song hits that are the rage of the age! Thrilling gang war! Behind the scenes thrills! Sumptuous night club scenes! Gay dance ensembles! In this is one of the finest entertainments that has been at the Eaco Theatre during the past year. Don't miss it! Also News and "The Toy Shop", a special picture in Beautiful colors, which every child should se. Bring the little children to see the Toy Shop.

Admission prices—adults at matinees 25c, at nights, 35c; children under 12 years, 15c to each show.

In 1926 there were 3,226,935 negro children of school age in the Southern states, of whom 2,216,000, or 68.7 per cent were in school.

NOTES ON NEGRO EDUCATION

By R. B. Eleazer

When freed in 1865 ninety per cent of the negroes of America were illiterate. By 1920 the illiteracy of the group had fallen to twenty-three per cent and is being further reduced every year.

* * *

There were in 1916 forty-four public high schools for negroes. In 1922 there were 209 accredited and 592 non-accredited negro high schools. However, there are still 281 counties in the South without any colored high school whatever, either public or private.

* * *

A total of 19,253 negro students were enrolled in American colleges last year. Of this number 16,982 were in thirty-nine Negro schools, most of them in the South, and 2,271 in sixty-five northern institutions which accept students of both races. The negro colleges conferred degrees on 1,776 men and women at the 1929 commencement season, while 394 were graduated from the other institutions, making a total for the year of 2,160 graduates.

* * *

The annual budget of Tuskegee Institute for the training of negro boys and girls is $1666 a day. Endowment funds yield the institution $390,000, student fees, $45,000, and public funds $15,000. The remaining $115,000 is supplied by the contributions of many friends. Established by the late Booker T. Washington in 1881, Tuskegee now has a plant valued at 4,000,000, consisting of 1900 acres of land and 1244 buildings, a faculty of 275 members, and a regular student enrollment of about 2,000. Including the summer school and other courses the total annual enrollment is more that 3,000.

McIntosh's Drug Store

New State Teachers College

STATIONERY

Farmville - - - - Va.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery

AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Farmville - - - - Va.

CANADA DRUG CO.

Next to Baldwin's Store

Come to us for your cosmetics and

STATIONERY

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

IT PAYS TO DEAL

at

GREENBERG'S DEPT. STORE

First in Style

Lowest in Price

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

FEATURE THIS WEEK

COLLEGE THEME TABLETS

3 For 25c

SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES

MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

Printzess Coats Smartest in Fall Wear!

The Mode is Femininely Chic

Last season the 'dressmaker" type of coat was a growing tendency in the mode—it is an established fact this season and is smartly feminine in every phase.

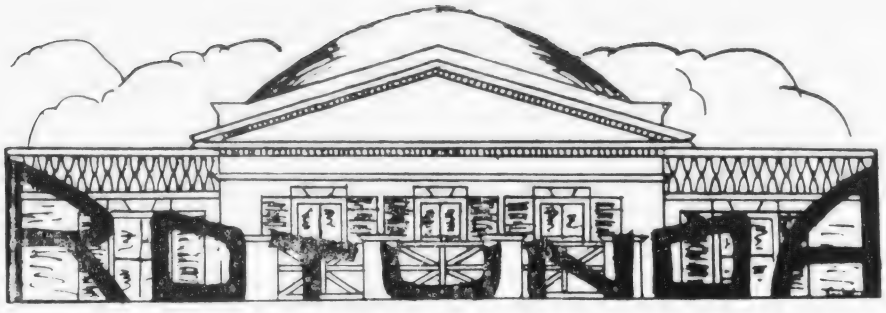
This whim of fashion is charmingly illustrated in our present showings of Printzess coats. Each style is an adaption of a French design and represents the best in the mode. New silhouettes, new fabrics, new trimming details. Priced $24.75 to $57.50.

BALDWIN'S

The S. T. C. Girls' Main Street Home

GIFTS FOR ALL THE FAMILY

Come from the Holiday Store



There is great satisfaction in being able to choose gifts for the entire faimly and circle of friends from one store. Here in conveniently aranged sections we have assembled gifts for every indiivdual preference. Varied in kind and price range they meet with any plan of choice and expenditure.

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.

The House of Quality

FARMVILLE, VA.

Girls! Come Out For Basketball Practice

Patronize Bazaars of Student Organizations

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1929 No. 12

MISS RUTH COX, IS MARRIED TO MR. C. SEELEY

Wedding Takes Place at Longwood, Old Home of General Johnston

Ferns, evergreens and cathedral candles beautifuly decorated the drawing room at Longwood on Thursday, December 5, at high noon for the wedding of Miss Ruth Cox, of Farmville, sister of Miss Mary White Cox, to Mr. Conway Seeley, of Manassas, Virginia.

As the wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played, the bride, gowned in navy velvet, with harmonizing accessories, carrying a shower bouquet of Pernet and Duke of Wellington roses, entered from the stairway. Attending her as maid of honor was Miss Katherine Foster of Farmville. Miss Foster's costume completed the autumn note in that her dress was of amber chiffon and her flowers yellow chrysanthemums. Little Miss Mary Elizabeth Young, in yellow, carrying an old-fashioned nosegay, was flower girl.

Mr. Seeley had as his best man, Mr. Benjamin Higgs Lewis, of Manassas.

Dr. T. K. Young of Roanoke, brother-in-law of the bride, officiated.

"I Love You Truly," sung by Miss Florence Cralle, and "Traumerei," a violin solo by Miss Gwendoline Daniels, accompanied by Miss Virginia Potts, preceded the ceremony. "Mendelssohn's Wedding March" was used as a recessional.

Following the ceremony the guests were served in the dining room. Tapers and roses were effective as decorations and the yellow and white color scheme was used throughout the breakfast.

Mr. and Mrs. Seeley left immediately for a brief northern trip after which they will be at home in Manassas.

Among the guests were: Mrs. Willian Young, Dr. and Mrs. T. K. Young, Misses Helen Laing and Mary Elizabeth Young, of Roanoke; Mrs. Ivan F. Bond and Miss Mary Anne Bond, of Rossville, Illinois; Miss Helen Turnbull, of Lawrenceville, Virginia; Miss Ethel LaBoyteaux, of Richmond; Miss Mary White Cox, Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson, Mrs. J. L. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. John Cox, Miss Mary Ollie Bowen, Mrs. W. T. Jamison, Miss Pauline Camper, Mrs. Shelton, Miss Frances Shelton, Miss Win-

Continued on page four

Pannie Willis

Miss Frances Willis to Be Married Dec. 26th

Miss Frances Willis, better known to S. T. C. students as "Pannie", will be married to Mr. Elbridge Walker, of Reading, Pennsylvania at 6 o'clock on the afternoon of December 26 in the Methodist Church of Norfolk, Virginia. The marriage ceremony will be very simple and informal. The only attendant will be the bride's sister, Mary Catherine Willis. Mr. and Mrs. Walker will leave immediately for New York and will be permanently located later at Silver Bay on Lake Geneva, N. Y.

Miss Wilils received her bachelor of science degree from this college last year. During her residence she had the distinction of holding the two major offices in school. During her junior year she was Y. W. C. A. president and last year she further endeared herself as president of the Student Government Association. She was the first girl in the history of the college to hold both of these positions. While a member of the student body Miss

Continued on page four

MISS TABB TALKS TO RUFFNER SOCIETY

Father Tabb, Leading American Lyrist' Was Subject of Talk

PROFESSOR OF ENGLISH

Miss Jennie M. Tabb talked to the Ruffner Literary Society last Friday evening in the Student Building lounge, about Father Tabb. She also told the group a few facts about Dr. Ruffner who was the first president of this State Teachers College. He only stayed here four years, but he began his great work in that short period of time—that work of training teachers.

Father Tabb, who is Miss Jennie's uncle, was born in 1845 at the old country home, "The Forest," in Amelia county. He lived his boyhood and was taught by his mother like most children were at that time. A little later he went to a private school taught by Mr. Harrison in that neighborhood.

When the war broke out Father Tabb was only sixteen and though his bad eyes excluded him from the army, he went as a clerk on the vessel "Robert E. Lee." This was a dangerous position to be in because the vessel was a blockade runner that brought in quinine for the sick.

After the war Major Ficklen persuaded the boy who had a wonderful talent for music, to stay with him and finish his career. While in Major Ficklen's home he practiced eight hours a day. When he was 21, he began teaching in Baltimore; while there he met Father Curtis whom he followed, which resulted in his becoming a Catholic priest. He first went into a seminary but later into a Catholic school. He was professor of English at St. Charles.

Father Tabb was gifted in drawing, especially cartoons. He had a keen sense of humor. It is said that he had a different set of jokes every morning. He was a wonderfuly fine Greek scholar.

He lost his eyesight in the latter part of his life, but this did not keep him from his work. He was a great lover of nature.

Some of Father Tabb's poems read by Miss Jennie were: "Little Fern," "Dandelions," "Little Bluebird," and "The Stranger."

Father Tabb died in 1910. He was buried in Hollywood cemetery in Richmond. There has been a memorial (Father Tabb's Memorial) which is a childrens' library, erected to him.

An English critic said that Father Tabb was the leading American lyrist. It was said his style was similiar to Shelley and that he had the heart of Poe.

THE STAFF

Editor-in-Chief	Jessie Smith
Associate Editor	Linda Wilkinson
News Editor	Nellie Talley
Athletic Editor	Laura M. Smith
World News and Intercollegiate—News	Elizabeth Antrim
Social & Feature Editor	Leslie Ritter
Humorous Editor	Frances Davis
Proof Reader	Permele Byrd
Circulation Mgr.,	Mrs. Eloise Turner

Miss Lucile Jennings

DEDICATION

The Journalism Class wishes to dedicate this, our issue of the Rotunda, to Miss Lucile Jennings, who has guided us during the term in our exploits in journalism.

Choral Club to Present Christmas Carol Service

The Choral Club and students of the College Training School invite everyone to attend the Christmas Carol Service which they are presenting this Friday evening, December 13, at 7:30 o'clock.

The Training School will have charge of the first part of the program. Each grade will participate and the High School Chorus will be heard in several numbers.

The concluding feature of the service will be a Christmas Cantata "The Nativity," to be presented by the Choral Club assisted by the Freshman Chorus. The Cantatta comprises three short scenes which recall the familiar story of the appearance of the angel to the shepherds on that first Christmas eve and the final discovery of the Christ Child in Bethlehem after a long night's searching.

Christmas is scarcely two weeks off! All you who have already caught the Christmas spirit come and enjoy the Carol Service!

JOURNALISM IS SUCCESSFUL FIELD FOR THE WOMEN

Member of Faculty Once Connected With Scribners Advertising Department

Journalism has not only been a stepping stone for authors, but has also become a field attractive to women. At present of the 10,000 college graduates engaged in newspaper work, 3,000 are women. Some of the women who have been successful in feature articles and fiction are Mary Roberts Rinehart and Fannie Hurst. Olivia Barton Strohn began by specializing in musical advertising and publicity for musicians. Frances Hooper, just out of college, originated a shopping department for a Chicago newspaper, followed this stroke by a term of unique advertising service for a huge dry goods company, then branched out as head of her own advertising service.

A member of the Farmville State Teachers College faculty, Miss Lucile Jennings, who is now an instructor in Journalism and English, was once connected with the advertising department of Scribner's Magazine.

Among the authors who have been prominent in the years of 1927 and 1928, were many newspaper workers. "In the field of novels alone we find Willa Cathers with "Death Comes For the Archbishop," Theodore Dreises with "An American Tragedy", Samuel Hopkins Adams and "Revelry" and Edna Ferber with "Show Boat." Others such as Claude F. Bowers and Gerald Johnson write of history and biography. Still others such as George Ade, Christopher Mosley and Don Marquis write successfully in various fields of literature. Many newspaper men are authorities and writers of books and literary criticisms, the drama, and sports.

WHAT-HO GIFT SHOP

You'll love it! There are many, many solutions to "What shall I give them Christmas?"

It is to be open one day only—Thursday, the 19th of December in the Little Sitting Room.

The gifts on sale are clever and inexpensive. Honestly! Why that darlin jewelry—well, just look in and see for yourself.

"A COUNTRY PARTY" GIVEN SATURDAY NIGHT BY THE S. T. C. CLOGGING CLASS

The Clogging Class is to be congratulated for the delightful program presented in the gymnasium on Saturday night immediately after supper. The program was a country party given in honor of visiting city cousins. The idea came from members of the class and was written as a project. It included various dances learned by the class under the instruction of Miss Louise Robinson, who deserves much credit for its success.

The members of the party arrived on sleds, drawn by three prancing steeds. Then the entire group joined together and presented the Swan dance. Then followed these special numbers:

Newsboy Clog—Lucy Dortch and Margaret Ferris.

Country Cousins Dance—Alice Covington and Evelyn Holland.

Nancy Lee, belle of the party, Eleanor Hogan.

Liza Jane, Lillian Bovell

Old Man Clog, Permele Byrd.

Dese Bones, Mary F. Hatchett, Elizabeth Levick and Lucille Graves.

The program concluded with the entire party joining in the country dance.

The performers showed interest as well as ability, and doubtless enjoyed the party almost as much as the spectators. The music, furnished by Miss Etta Marshall showed the country rythmn and enabled the dancers to perform with ease.

DEBATE CLUB ELECTS NEW PRESIDENT; STAGES VERY INTERESTING DEBATE

Miss Rena Robinson was elected president of the Debate Club for the remainder of the school year, at a regular meeting of the club on Thursday evening, December 5. Miss Nellie Talley formerly president of the club will be graduated this term, and therefore will not return to school after the holidays. It was decided best to elect someone to this position now in order that she may become acquainted with the work before her duties devolve upon her.

The members of the club decided they needed more publicity and especially more enthusiasm among the members of the student body for intercollegiate contests. A committee, consisting of Mildred Maddrey, chairman, Mary Warren, and Alice Hamner, was appointed to deal with this matter. The evening program then followed. A debate on the question, Resolved That S. T. C. Needs New Additions to the Library More Than We Need a Swinning Pool, was staged by the following girls:

Affirmative: Sara Hubbard, Thelma Waller. Negative: Mary Page White, French Hutt.

Choose Second Varsity Squads

Tryouts for second varsity and freshman varsity squads were held in the Student Building auditorium on Friday night, December 6. The judge were Mr. C. A. Moss, Mr. J. T. Doyne and Dr. Beckham. The questions used were the two questions that are to be used by the teams this

(Continued on page 3)

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — JESSIE SMTH, '31

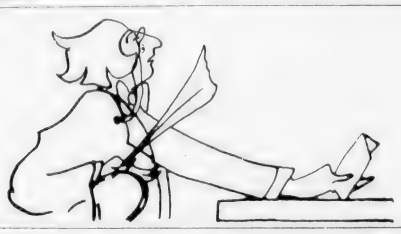
Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '30
Alumnae Editor — MISS CARRIE B. TALIAFERRO

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 — KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30
ANN STUMP, '30

Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader — JESSIE WATKINS, '33



Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

The Hanging of the Green

It is a legend that the using of the greens in the occasions of rejoicing or festivities originated with some of the heathen natives who worshipped the sun and hailed the winter solstice with extravagant demonstrations of joy. They were in the habit of decorating their homes with greens—signifying their belief in the power of the Sun to restore the bounties of nature in the coming year.

The hanging of the green was a symbol of this belief and was rendered in homage of their deity the Sun. This custom has been handed down to us, but it has no Christian significance and no reference of any kind to the birth of Christ. Christmas greens and decorations are simply a relic of heathenism, but it is generally admitted that it is a pretty one and likely to stay.

We should wreathe our ivy generously, for the French knew it as the herb of St. John the disciple whom Jesus Christ loved. It is the emblem of pure friendship. Learned students of these legends have surmised that it may be the herb of St. John the Baptist who is usually pictured as the boy in his camel's hair coat gazing at his cousin, the infant Jesus, in his crib, but it is friendship vine in either case.

Because of this legend of friendship, we the students of S. T. C., will quicken that glow by joining one and all in the hanging of the green this Christmas!

Journalism For Women

"In no place of American living during the past thirty years has progress been more marked than in that which concerns the status of the American newspaper woman." Thirty years ago there were such women journalists as Kate Field, Elizabeth Jordan, Margaret Sullivan and Mary Abbott but they had a hard time winning universal recognition. Then, journalism was considered an industry for only the masculine mind.

Today, journalism is recognized universally as a field open to men and women. Each competes on the same basis and each is paid according to merit. In some fields of journalism, women are given preference over men because of their temperament. In very few professions is this true. Because of tradition, men usually receive a larger salary than women regardless of preparation, experience or ability.

Girls! do not be satisfied to accept mediocre salaries but enter the work where one is rewarded according to his or her ability.

OVER THE TEACUPS

Well, it won't be long now—Just one more week and two days! Then for making whoopee—'n how? But in between times, whew! wonder if I'll come through it. Time just flew this last week—and I've a million things to do, and as usual I put them off to the last minute. Nervous breakdown? Yeah! I've thought of that too!

Didn't they though? Don't see how on earth they got to go right after Thanksgiving—I'm always so broke—can't even buy a "dope" for the next two weeks.

Dr. Jarman? I don't know where he is, but he surely is taking a long jaunt. Yes, I miss him too. It doesn't seem the same without him around here. But he's enjoying the Southern breeze—'cause he's down South somewhere.

Didcha notice 'bout dates Saturday and Sunday nite? You know why so few don't you? You old Englishman—can't you even guess?—They always do that just before Christmas. They think they're breaking our hearts—Funny creatures, ain't they?

Hope I got a letter 6-2, 0-0, -0-0-one from Jimsy and this early! I wrote him Sunday and here its Wednesday. It must be love!—A check from your old man? He's a sugar pet—I must say.

What about going down town about five? Suits?

Adieu 'till five, old top!

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE

Now, Mae, dear, why did you have to go and get bungled up in an auto-your horse shoe? Kismit! Friday the rabbit's foot? Did somebody steal recent social gatherings. In July a cold thirteenth?

Speaking of accidents and illness probably you decided that you did not have any recent enough to use in high faluting conversation in your venu, yet he who hasn't one has a left-is a social asset; in November it is plain bad taste, in December it is parvenu, yet he who hasn't one has a left out feeling. But an automobile accident always takes precedence over even colds in polite society. They are decidedly modern, eclipsed only by airplane wrecks. The kind of car, the idiotic driving of the other fellow; the awful crash; the bleeding victims; the court procedure, etc., give unlimited coversational possibilities.

And as for Christmas gifts! Well, a sprained ankle gotten in an automobile accident is an absolving alibi. When that friend, for whom you intended braving the Ten Cents Store Chirstmas rush in order to snatch a little jeweled trifle, pops up and with the self-satisfied air gives you a package all laden with Christmas stamps. All you need to do is to say with pathetic dignity: "I just could not go through the crowds with my sprained ankle. The Stickem Gift Shoppe had some lovely imported novelties, but I just could not get there to select one for you!"

And think of all the lovely flowers you receive! Roses in December!

Then, too, a sprained ankle does not affect one's appetite. The neighbors may bring you all the dainty tid-bits from prunes to sardines and you may muchingly enjoy the delicious flavors and not worry about who is to wash the dishes!

My dear, I do hope you appreciate your blessings!

Your envious friend,

Maggie

The Palette announces the following new members:

Sarah Cobb
Sarah Lee Scott
A. J. Scott
Catherine Cogbill
Frank Smoot
Gwen Daniels

THE BRIDGE OF SAN LUIS REY

Thornton Wilder.

The Bridge of San Luis Rey makes one think! That in itself is a big change, for was it not Mr. Sinclair Lewis who once said that English writers were "too darned literary to be any good"?

The story is laid in the late Middle ages, when Spain was in her full glory, but the language is modern and through it runs a delightfu vein of humor, without which the story would be too grim. For at the very start, five people of various ages and uttterly different temperaments, are suddenly plunged to their deaths by the collapse of the San Luis Rey bridge.

The author tries to show by clearly mounting the lives of these people that in each case they had marked the end of this earthly cycle. Wilder tries to prove not only that they were at the climax of their lives, but also their sudden mishap brought to a realization some one's aims and purposes. It is therefore easily seen that this novel is far above the average in depth, yet it is so simply written that one's interest is never lacking, not even for a single sentence. Because of its sad, tender style and its philosophy and human nature, it has impressed many people and has prompted differences of opinion as to just what they thought was the author's point of view.

It is said that the last sentence won it the Pulitzer prize of 1927:

"There is a land of the living and a land of the dead, and the bridge is love, the only survival of the only meaning." Because of this people turned to it and read—and wondered, and philosophized, then turned to the beginning and read:

"Some say that we shall never know . . . , and some say on the contrary, that the very sparrows do not lose a feather that has not been brushed away by the finger of God."

THE YOUNG MRS. GREELEY

Booth Tarkington

Americans are today living in a machine age. Even the lives of the people show this fact. Mr. Tarkington, one of the realistic American fiction writers of today, has given us a delightful picture of the life of these people in his recent book, "The Young Mrs. Greeley."

The story deals with a young married couple who have moved to the city and become prosperous in one of the large corporations. They have been under the constant care and supervision of an older couple. The young man is promoted tnd the older man's wife becomes jealous. She implants the poisonous seeds of jealousy in Mrs. Greeley's mind and leads her to believe that the boss is in love with her. This almost leads to the ruin of all four but the Greeleys are saved. Mrs. Greeley realizes her mistake and their friendship is severed forever.

There is eough action to make the story interesting and dramatic. The character study is unusually good. It certainly bears out the old adage, "You can never tell what a woman will do next." Besides his excellent study of women, Mr. Tarkington offers a study of three types of men in relation to each other and to women, and a study of uncultured people rising to the level of the cultured and the things they lose and gain.

The books is written in a simple, yet interesting style, and can be read in a short length of time. In a sense of the word it is not a novel, but a novelette and truly "another Tarkington."

In 1929, it has been estimated, there were 9,500 teachers, principals, supervisors and administrative officers in the public elementary and secondary schools of South Dakota. In the state, eleven institutions conducted summer schools. The enrollment reported for the sumemr sessions was 2,612; of this number 2,-066 were enrolled in educational courses. The ratio of summer school enrollment in education courses to the number of teachers in the state was 21.7 per cent.—The Exponent.

JUST A THOUGHT

Because you don't understand
You couldn't—no one does
'Cause I'm the one who loves,
I'll try to hide my thoughts—known above—
To keep pity from your eyes
Even though my glance fails to lie!
You'll forget . . . .
Forget . . . . . .
Because you don't understand!

J. C. S., '31

LIFE

You came—then joy, my song of life.
You stayed—my happiness—
You are gone . . . .
Gone . . . . . .
My sorrow!

TO—

I had the loveliest dream last night.
I felt the dust of the evening star
Shower my face.
Somewhere a violin sobbed.
Slowly the tints of forgotten sunsets
Formed a frame around your face.
Out from clouds you spoke
And your voice held its old caressing tone—
"Dear heart, I have come back.
Will you forgive and forget?"
Then wakefulness. Dear God!
Will not even dreams let me forget?

K. W., '30

IN RETROSPECT

The Fool I was at Twenty-One!
The little that I knew!
The silly things I'd think about;
The sillier things I'd do!
Oh, when I look upon that youth
And all the dreams he spun,
I wonder how I could have been
That Fool at Twenty-One!

He thought he knew the world and all
The life that makes it go;
How bruised he was before he learned
How much he didn't know!
No wise folk could enlighten him!
He had his course to run;
And so he went and ran it blind,
That Fool at Twenty-One.

The Fool I was at Twenty-One
Before I got my sense!
Before I learned the obvious things
By dear experience!
How time was lost in frantic waste
In thriftless, heedless "fun"!—
But how I'd love to be again
That Fool at Twenty-One!

Berton Braley

LITTLE THINGS

The whispering of winds through the limbs of a tree
A whipporwill's lonesome call
The glory of a sunset lost at sea
And the music of a waterfall,

A dew-decked rose in the still of dawn
A nodding golden-rod
A soft prayer, a beautiful song—
All little bits of God.

—The Bulldog.

LETTER TO SANTA CLAUS

Dear Mr. Santa Claus,

We've been real good all year and have gone to our meetings and to our classes and we're going to ask for just one thing and we hope you'll bring it to us. What we want most is a nice little Grade Book with lots of A's and B's in it.

Thank you, Santa. We hope you bring it.

Big and Little Laura

P. S. You can get them from Miss Jennie.

SOCIALS

"Renie" Greaves, Melisse Mullins, Mary Todd, Edith Britt, guest of Mary Todd, Allie Kae Oliver, Elizabeth Thaxton, Mary Simmerman, Frances Parker, Loulie Milner, Martha Walters, Hanna Crawley, Lucy Fitzgerald, Alice Hardaway, Elizabeth Beaty, Marguerite Swann, and Lila Germany spent the past week-end in Richmond.

Those who attended the Fork Union dances last Saturday night were: Frances Roger, Edith Spindle, Lindsay White, Agnes Lee Grigg, Chlorise Glidewell, Elsie McLaughlin and Myra Costen.

Rebecca French visited friends in Washington, D. C., last week-end.

Virginia Cobb and Eloise Perkins spent the week-end in Blackstone.

Frances Carter, Miildred Steere, and Dot Ritchie were in Petersburg for the week-end.

Gertrude Richardson and Elizabeth Temple went to Roanoke for the week-end.

Linda Clarke spent the week-end with her parents at Midlothian.

Polly Sheffield and Nannie Guy Watkins spent last week-end in Burkeville.

Mary Randle vistied in Portsmouth last week-end.

Jo Bland visited in Roanoke last week-end,

Jac Lee went to Duke University Saturday with her mother.

Susie Baker visited her sister in Danville last week-end.

Regina Brown, Emily Drew, and Anne Drew visited in Crewe the past week-end.

Annie de Witt and Mary MacMillan were guests in Andersonville for the week-end.

Lucile Norman, Sara McCorkle, Elizabeth Smitherman, Elizabeth Taylor, Frances Whitehead and Miss Bedford shopped in Lynchburg Saturday.

Emmy Lou Pullium and Mary Priest motored to Blacksburg with Miss Stubbs the last week-end.

Mr. J. F. Faris and two daughters, Caroline and Julia, and Boots Teele of Red Hill visited here this week-end.

LETTER TO SANTA CLAUS

S. T. C., Farmville, Va.
Dec. 11, 1929

Dear Santa Claus:

Most of us are just so delighted over coming Christmas holidays that we can not think what we want you to bring us, but there are a few thoughtful ones here who have already decided just what they want.

Miss Mary wants you to distribute among the girls plenty of parties, dances, weddings, and good times during the holidays so they will want to spend the week-ends here after Christmas.

Dr. Jarman would have you give the girls plenty of rest and sleep so they will want to study when they return to school.

Will you please bring sleighs to those girls living in the country? This will enable them to catch the right train on time January 1 and do away with coming back a week late because of bad roads.

Etta Marshall, being entirely unselfish, wants nothing for herself but she has two requests for the student body. Please bring each girl an alarm clock so she can know just when ten-thirty and eleven o'clock arrive. Her other request is asbestos shoes for the girls. Being noiseless, they would make the girls wearing long dresses seem quite dainty and quaint. The terrible clicking of heels on the halls would be eliminated.

Mary Page wants you to bring her printed slips on which to take up absences in the dining room. She would only have to check the girls' names then instead of bothering the table hostesses.

Santa Claus, the entire student body wants you to bring Dr. Jarman, the Home Department, and the Faculy, a very merry Christmas.

Good-by 'til Dec. 24,

One of the girls

Intercollegiate News

Radio to Give All of College Course

College education by radio has been made available to the extensive radio family of WSB, Atlanta.

The courses cover history, physics, English literature and other subjects. They will be sent from Athens over a wire to WSB. Lectures on history will be broadcast each Monday, physics on Wednesday and English literature on Saturday by University of Georgia professors.

The courses will run 12 weeks; one lecture in each course a week.

The courses will be broadcast at noon to make them available to high school students.

The lectures will come as a regular part of the joint program of the Univesrsity of Georgia and the Georgia State College of Agriculture over WSB each week day, from 12:30 to 130 p. m., Central time. —The Salemite.

The Study of English

More pupils study English in public and private high schools of the United States than any other high school course according to a statement from the department of the interior. Less interest is shown in German than in any other of the modern languages, it was revealed.

Strange though it may seem, the ostensibly-detested algebra runs second to English in the list of favored studies, though only 36.1 per cent of the 3,144,645 pupils included in the survey studied this higher form of mathematics as compared with the 93.2 per cent with a tendency towards English.

This favorable attitude of American pupils toward their native language is an encouraging angle of the intricacies of modern education. It indicates a lively interest in one's own country, a sort of "America first" policy that is a decided contrast to the headlong rush to study foreign languages that existed comparatively few years ago.—The Yellow Jacket.

APPROPRIATE PRESENTS FOR CHRISTMAS

The Palette has solved Christmas problems at S. T. C. this year by announcing a bazaar to be given Friday December 13. It will be held in the Recreation Hall from 6:30 to 7:30 P. M. Perhaps you have some vague idea of what you wish to give your mother or sister for Christmas. The very present you desire may be found at this bazaar, so don't fail to see what the Palette offers and to avoid the 11th shopping hour.

THEY STOOPED TO FOLLY

by Ellen Glasgow

In the best of us there is found the worst of us; and in the worst us there is found the best of us. Life has its smooth side and its seamy side, and the two sides make life a reality. Such a truth is revealed in Ellen Glasgow's "They Stooped to Folly."

Miss Glasgow's picturization of the people of the past century in conflict with the ideals of the present-day youth is unusual. The changing and adjusting of ideals among the older people to accord with the ideals and attitudes of the younger genration is a difficult problem for many of the older people.

The folly of the parents in being too lenient or too stringent with their children results in the folly of the young people and in taking their lives into their own hands. Thus unprecedented consequences ensue. Yet through the whole story runs an optimistic thread for the youth of today.

Everyone who is interested in the present day problems of the parents and the children will find "They Stooped To Folly" of vital interest. And behind it is the power of the author to stimulate thought.

"Y" CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Sunday, Dec. 15—Prayers—White Christmas; 10 o'clock—Christmas carols in town.

Monday, Dec. 16—Prayers. Hanging of the Green.

Rice's Christmas Story, "The Other Wise Man."

Tuesday, Dec. 17—Prayers. Miss

Wednesday, Dec. 18—Prayers. A pageant. "The Shepherd Who Stayed Behind."

Thursday, Dec. 19—Prayers. Christmas Song Service; 10 o'clock, singing of Christmas carols in the halls .

MORNING WATCH

Louise Johnson, who is a member of the Mission Band, led morning watch in the Student Building Lounge last Sunday morning. The girls gathered around a log fire to enjoy the service.

The subject of the talk was "Build for Character not for Fame." Fame is won, but it can be so easily lost or replaced, while character is a permanent thing. Popularity is an over night affair, and since it isn't permanent it would be safer to build for character.

The talk was constructively built and beautifully given. Louise expects to be a missionary some day. There are great hopes for her. We hope S. T. C. to be of aid to Louise.

DEBATE CLUB ELECTS NEW PRESIDENT

(Continued from page one)

year. For the varsity debaters the question is: "Resolved, That Nations Should Adopt a Plan of Complete Disarmament Excepting Such Forces as are Needed for Police Purposes," and for the freshman varsity it is: "Resolved, That Considering the Present State of Lawlesness in The United States, A Student Honor System is Impractical.

The following teams were chosen: Varsity: Mildred Maddrey, Mabel Barksdale, Martha Ann Laing, Elizabeth Hunter.

Freshman varsity: Martha Gunter, Margaret Hix, Elizabeth Walthall, Lillian Womack.

New Line of Christmas Cards!
Seals, cords, paper—Make your gifts attractive

The Band Box Shoppe

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Quality—Price—Service
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You With Us
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

FALL SHOWING OF
HATS
THE HAT SHOPPE
Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Falconer Gift Shop
Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving
COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE
Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh films)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S
is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP
Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials
110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS
Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop
323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY
The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP
Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING CLEANING
PRESSING
Farmville - - - - - - - - - - Virginia

The Hub is headquarters for XMAS Gifts for Mother, Father, Brother, Sister, Friend, and Sweetheart

Gloves, Pocket books, Handkerchiefs, Hose, Pajamas, Jewelry, Negligees, Compacts, and hundreds of other useful articles priced from 10c to $25.

See our New Silhouette Dresses at $9.95
20 PER CENT OFF ALL COATS

Charge it if you like

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Martha Walter: "Mootch, why do you call Thornton "Pilgrim"?

Mootch: "'Cause she makes so much Progress with Hampden-Sydney."

S. T. C. Prof.: "If there are any dumbells in the room please stand up."

A long pause and then a lone freshman stands up.

Prof.: "What! Do you consider yourself a dumbell?"

"Well, not exactly that, sir, but I hate to see you stand all alone."

Freshman: "Just finished a game of construction bridge with the dean."

Sophomore: "Whachamean construction bridge?"

Freshman: "He suspended me."

She was a butcher's daughter and she knew all the tough joints.

The Scotchman's wife had a temperature of 105 degrees so he put her in the cellar to heat the house.

Have you heard the one about the Scotchman who was walking around with his pants on his arm in Edinburgh? He was looking for the Edinburgh Free Press.

Wanted! Some one who has taken accounting at school, so they can account for the powdered eggs in the dining room.

Mu: "Lib has the biggest Hispano-Suiza I have ever seen."

Omega: "Yes, I know, and she will wear those tight dresses."

Berta: "I've just become engaged to an Irishman!"

Janie P.: "Oh, really?"

Berta: "No! O' Reilly."

A Hampden-Sydney boy made the remark that he wanted to marry a pretty girl and a good cook. But that is bigamy.

BILLS! BILLS! BILLS!

Bills! Bills! Bills!
'Tis the first of the month you know,
Bills! Bills! Bills!
My, but they haunt me so!
'Tis a bill for this and a bill for that,
A bill for the car and a bill for a hat,
Bills! Bills! Bills!
'Tis the first of the month you know.

Bills! Bills! Bills!
They run to a ghastly sum,
Bills! Bills! Bills!
It truly makes my poor heart sore,
How many more to come?
To see those Bills all over the floor,
Bills! Bills! Bills!
'Tis the first of the month you know.

E. . T., '31

VISIT THE JAPANESE BAZAAR FOR GIFTS

There will be a Japaneese bazaar, sponsored by the Freshman Comission, in the Recretation Hall Thursday afternoon, December 12, from 3:30 to 6 o'clock. Hot tea will be served and you may buy those Christmas presents you have been wishing so much to finish buying. Articles suitable for even the most fastidious persons will be on display. Save your nickels and dimes, and come and get your Christmas gifts for Mother, Dad, Sister, Brother, Jim, Jack, Harry, Susie, Mary, Jane, and all the rest of your loved ones, Don't forget—Thursday afternoon!!!

JUNIORS WIN HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP TIE WORKED OFF BY GREEN &WHITES

The final blow of the whistle at the game on Monday marked a victory for the juniors, and the closing of the hockey season. The game was a struggle for the championship between the two sister classes, the freshmen and juniors. Both teams began the game with a determination to win, but the juniors were not to be downed and made the victory theirs. The score ended at the first half with Reed having scored for the juniors.

During the last half the second score was made for the juniors by Coleman.

The line-ups for the game were:

Freshmen (0)		Juniors (2)
Ross	R. W.	Evans
Johnson	R. I.	Maddrey
Crute	C.	Reed
Taylor	L. I.	Coleman
Boush	L. W.	Oliver
Snedegar	R. H.	Nuthall
Hutchins	C. H.	Hutchinson
Gunter	L. H.	Dutton
Hardy	R. F.	Smith
Ridgeway	L. F.	Simpson
Edwards	G.	Hunter

Umpires—Iler, Robertson.

A CHALLENGE

Upperclassmen! What is it? No matter what, just forget it and come out for basketball practice. Back your team, your class and your colors. Remember, you must have sixty per cent of the total practice to be eligible to play. We need all of you, so come out and make your team the best on the court.

AN ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

With the game between the Juniors and Freshmen settled, the hockey season is over for this year. It has been a successful one according to any measurements or standards, and our thanks and appreciation are due Miss Iler for her coaching of the teams, and to Mary Frances Hatchett for her work as manager of hockey for the year.

CHRISTMAS SEALS ARE NOW ON SALE

The annual Christmas sale of seals has begun for 1929 with the coming of December. The members of the faculty and the students of S. T. C. each year have responded to the call for funds through this sale to relieve the thousands of sufferers of tuberculosis.

Over twenty million seals have been distributed throughout Virginia for this year. The funds derived from this sale of stamps will be used for the maintainance and care of tubercular patients. The association sponsoring the sale derives its only revenues from these stamps.

Few organizations deserve the support of people as does this association. The work accomplished not only in Virginia but also througout the nation is well worth the few pennies which we contribute by buying these stamps.

Every letter from now until Christmas should bear one of these seals as a mark of appreciation of what the organization has accomplished in the preventing and curing of tuberculosis throughout the nation.

MISS FRANCES WILLIS TO BE MARRIED DEC. 26

Continued from Page 1.

Willis was elected to other organizations of rank. It is with a great deal of interest that we watch the progress of one so dear to us.

SCHEMMEL

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony

Aesthetics, Etc.

REASONABLE TUITION RATES

BASKETBALL PROGRESSES

The basketball season has begun, with a large number of freshmen out for practice, and a much smaller number of upperclassmen. The freshmen show unusually good material among their numbers and a strong team is predicted for them. Practices are being held daily from 4 until 6.

Varsity tryouts will be held this week at five o'clock. S. T. C. needs a strong varsity squad and it is up to you to give it to her. Although the varsity schedule is not completed, it may include games with Fredericksburg, Lynchburg, Harrisonburg and Bridgewater.

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Dec. 16 to 21

MON. and TUES.—Jack Mulhall with Lila Lee in "DARK STREETS" a Vitaphone talking picture. Here is drama that adds a bigger meaning to the word "great". Love that gets to your heart—and stays there. Brotherlove as big as life when one brother "takes the rap" to save the other. Twin brothers, bound to each other with bonds stronger than their oaths of honor. One gunning against the law, the other protecting it. With a beautiful girl waiting for the victor. This is a 10 Oper cent talking picture. Also News and talking comedy.

WED. & THURS.—Colleen Moore in "SMILING IRISH EYES", a singing, dancing, talking Vitaphone picture. A new and greater Coleen Moore. Her first Vitaphone picture, first in the hearts of romance lovers. First on the list of pictures you cannot afford to miss. It carires you from Erin to Broadway—from Broadway to heaven. And when Colleen Moore sings three new song hts, you'll know why they paid $2 per ticket to see this picture when it played for months on Broadway. Also Collegiate talking picture.

FRI. & SAT.—Rchard Barthelmess in "YOUNG NOWHERES" a Vitaphone talking picture. Just a "young nowheres" Going nowheres! Wanting nothing! Until love gave him a taste of the happiness he could never get! It is so human, so lifelike, so real. Only Barthelmess could bring it to the screen. See it, heart it, for one of the most thrilling hours you have ever spent. Also news and talking comedy.

Admissio prices—adults at nights 35c, at matinees 25c; children under 12, 15c to each show.

PLEASE NOTE: The lower floor of the theatre will be closed while new seats are being installed and for this reason we can only offer you seats in the gallery for this week's shows.

MISS RUTH COX IS MARRIED TO MR. SEELEY

Continued from page one

nie Hiner, Mrs. J. E. Warren, Mrs. J. H. Tabb, Mrs. Nettie Hurt, Miss Ruth Gleaves. Miss Houston Blackwell, Mrs. J. W. Laing, Miss Martha Ann Laing, Dr. S. W. Field, Miss Grace Moran and Mr. S. L. Graham, all of Farmville.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery

AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Farmville - - - - Va.

McIntosh's Drug Store

New State Teachers College

STATIONERY

Farmville - - - - Va.

CANADA DRUG CO.

Next to Baldwin's Store

Come to us for your cosmetics and

STATIONERY

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

IT PAYS TO DEAL at GREENBERG'S DEPT. STORE

First in Style
Lowest in Price

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

FEATURE THIS WEEK

COLLEGE THEME TABLETS

3 For 25c

SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES

MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

Printzess Coats Smartest in Fall Wear!

The Mode is Femininely Chic

Last season the 'dressmaker" type of coat was a growing tendency in the mode—it is an established fact this season and is smartly feminine in every phase.

This whim of fashion is charmingly illustrated in our present showings of Printzess coats. Each style is an adaption of a French design and represents the best in the mode. New silhouettes, new fabrics, new trimming details. Priced $24.75 to $57.50.

BALDWIN'S

The S. T. C. Girls' Main Street Home

GIFTS FOR ALL THE FAMILY

Come from the Holiday Store

There is great satisfaction in being able to choose gifts for the entire faimly and circle of friends from one store. Here in conveniently aranged sections we have assembled gifts for every indiivdual preference. Varied in kind and price range they meet with any plan of choice and expenditure.

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.

The House of Quality

FARMVILLE, VA.

Clip This Advertisement

It Is Worth $4.00 If Presented On Or

Wed. Dec. 11 to Tues., Dec. 17

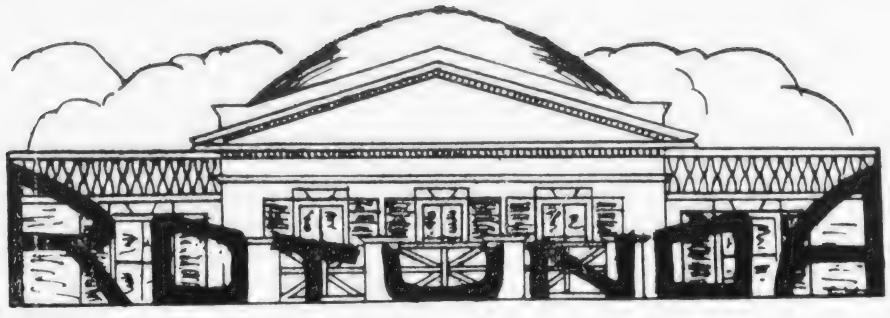
Absolutely Guaranteed Indistructable

This Coupon and $1.00 Entitles Bearer to One Regular $5.00 Value Indestructable Pearl Necklace

Add 10c For Mail Orders

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Cor. Main & High Sts.



FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

In Newest Desirable Shades and Lengths

Success to You

On Your

Examinations

A Happy New Year

To

Everybody!

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1929 No. 13

ADDRESS YOUR MAIL CORRECTLY

Advocated a Fee of One Cent For Misdirected Mail

DELAYS POSTMISTRESS

A wise suggestion made to the Postmaster General, regarding the huge amount of improperly addressed or misdirected mail sent annually through the Post Office, is that a fee of one cent be charged for every piece of mail requiring directory service, that is, correction of or supplying street addresses. This service, as has been repeatedly pointed, costs the Post Office Department nearly one million dollars per year. This small fee, payable by the sender is believed to be a good plan to decrease the carelessly addressed mail, and also to correct the custom—supposed to indicate on letterheads, etc. This latter habit, it may be added, also costs their correspondents considerable loss in the time of clerks who have to look up addresses when writing such firms.

The example of the city of Beunos Aires, which has an admirable postal system, might well be followed. No mail whatsoevr is delivered unless it bears the post office box number or proper street address. Mail otherwise addressed is simply listed under the name of addressee in typewritten alphabetical lists, which are posted in cases around the lobby of the city post office, aid addresses have to prove identity to obtain such letters and packages.

STUDENTS MAKE SCHEDULES FOR WINTER TERM 1930

Schedules for the winter term were made out, approved, and handed in to the registrar, and Wednesday afternoon, December 11. Each term the question of making schedules becomes easier, more simplified, and more of a pleasure. The writer of this article can remember when the making of schedules required an entire afternoon and everyone dreaded that necessary routine as much as examinations—almost. One had to stand in an endless line to have one's subjects checked only to be told when the end was finally reached that something was amiss. The schedule had to be entirely revised and the poor student had to go to the end of the line again and wait many long, tortuous minutes. Today one's schedule is made out before she comes to the building to have it checked. It is only a matter of a few minutes to go around to the desired class rooms, have your subjects checked, sign up on the class roll, and hand in your schedule for a final checking. The schedule committee is to be congratulated on the excellent system they have worked out.

HOCKEY SEASON COMES TO SUCCESSFUL CLOSE

The hockey season this year was very successful, in spite of the fact that the weather man was against us. More interest was developed in the sport, and the games were well-played.

Bigger plans were made for this year's varsity games. We were to have two games. Owing to weather conditions only one of these could be played. On November 26 the S. T. C. team met the Westhampton team at Richmond, and lost with a score of 6 to 2. The other game was to have been played with Harrisonburg.

The class games on the Thanksgiving day were full of excitement. Each team was fighting for victory, and they were close, hard fights. The Green and White teams finally came out on top, the juniors winning with a score of 4 to 3, and the freshmen with a score of 2 to 1. The championship game was played Monday, December 11. This was one of the best played games of the season. The juniors were victorious, the score being 2 to 0. This gives the Green and White 10 points toward the Athletic Cup.

The Junior-Freshman game closed one of the most successful hockey seasons we have ever known. We feel that this success was due in a large part to the efforts of Miss Iler, coach, and Mary Frances Hatchett, manager of hockey. It is hoped that equal success will attend the basket-ball season which is just starting.

S. T. C. REPRESENTED AT PI GAMMA MU MEET

S. T. C. will send three representatives to the Pi Gamma Mu convention which will convene in Washington, D. C., the week-end after Christmas. The Virginia Gamma chapter of this national social science fraternity will send as its delegates Miss Frances Wilson, Miss Gertrude Richardson, and Dr. J. E. Walmsley. They are organizing a constructive plan to present at this meeting and it is hoped that they will meet with much success.

DR. J. L. JARMAN AND MISS MARY WHITE COX

Best Wishes For a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

S. T. C. GIRLS SHOP EARLY

Last week might have been called "Bazaar Week" at S. T. C. There were three bazaars on Thursday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock P. M.: the Freshmen Commission bazaar, the De-Ho-Ec bazaar and the What Ho Shop. On Friday afternoon from 6:30 to 7:30, the Palette Club held its bazaar.

The Japanese bazaar given by the Freshman Commission was held in the "rec". The novelties, decorations and program completely carried out its title. Tea and cake were served as refreshment.

The De-Ho-Ec Club held its bazaar in Science Hall. The De-Ho-Ec girls specialized in homemade candies, cakes and fancy work.

The Gamma Thetas gave a bazaar entitled The What Ho Shop. They displayed an unusual assortment of Christmas gifts.

Last, but not least, comes the Palette Club. Their gifts were made up of articles made by various members of the club, such as placques, silhouettes, and other works of art.

One thing is certain. Anyone receiving a gift from an S. T. C. girl will surely be well pleased. Thanks to the many bazaars.

WHITE CHRISTMAS SERVICE IS HELD ON SUNDAY NIGHT

The White Christmas Service was held in the auditorium at 6:30 Sunday evening. The college orchestra supplied music before the program began and as soon as the door closed Virginia Gurley told us a lovely Christmas story. After the story, to the strains of music, representatives from the organizations and some individuals placed gifts of food and money on the altar. They were distributed among the sick and poor in town.

The stage was lighted by candles and there was a Christmas tree in the center of it. The altar was in front of the stage. This made a beautiful and appropriate background for the service.

12 STUDENTS RECEIVE DEGREES AND DIPLOMAS

Three students are candidates for the Bachelor of Science degree in Education this term. They are:

Julia M. Ellison, Brandon, Va.

Parke Leigh Orgain, Dinwiddie, Va.

Nellie Talley, Buffalo Lithia Springs, Va.

The following students are candidates for graduation in the diploma class:

Elizabeth K. Chambers, Era, Va.

Mabel Virginia Cowherd, Norfolk, Va.

Florence Forgie, Montvale, Va.

Emma Applewhite Marshall, Martinsville, Va.

Eloise Johnson, Ocean View, Va.

Eloise Johnson Turner, Smithfield.

Alice Camden Wimbish, Nathalie. Va.

Anne Luck Wrenn, Lynchburg, Va.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS HAS XMAS PROGRAM

The regular meeting of Le Cercle Francais was held in the Y. W. reception room on last Thursday night at nine o'clock. There was a Christmas tree and presents, and last but by no means least, candy.

After playing games, singing carols, and spending an enjoyable hour together, the meeting adjourned to meet again in January.

CHRISTMAS SERVICES ARE BEING HELD UNDER AUSPICES OF THE Y. W. C. A.

The White Christmas service was led by Virginia Gurley last Sunday evening in the big auditorium. She told the story of the ragged little boy who finally found Christmas joy shared by a mother and her two children in a lowly cottage. This little boy turned out to be the Christ Child—and He had ben turned away from a number of doors. After this story Christmas music was played, and the heads of organizations came up to offer their gifts.

The same night at ten o'clock groups went through town singing Christmas carols such as "O, Little Town of Bethlehem," "Silent Night," "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing", and "Joy to the World." These groups were led by Etta Marshall, Adele Hutchinson, Rena Robertson, and A. J. Scott.

One of the most impressive services of the series was led by Etta Marshall Monday evening on the "Hanging of the Green." She told us "that the hanging of the green on the occasions of rejoicing or festivity originated with some of the heathen nations who worshipped the sun, and who hailed the winter season with great demonstrations of joy. They used to decorate their homes with greens—just as we do now—only for a different reason. Their purpose was to signify their belief in the power of the sun to restore the bounties of nature in the coming year. Their tributes of ivy, holly, laurel, and evergreen were rendered in homage to the sun.

Etta ended her talk with—"And then—there's this. The heathen nations hung their greens to honor the

(Continued on Page 3)

CHRISTMAS CAROL SERVICE IS GIVEN

Choral Club and the Training School Presented Song Service

TOOK PLACE ON FRIDAY

The carol service given by the Choral Club and Training School Friday evening, was very lovely. The High School and lower grades sang old French and English carols. Their sweetness of tone was especially noticeable.

The songs, "The Virgin's Slumber Song" and 'An Old Song," by the voice class were beautiful. This class shows great talent.

The songs by the Freshman Glee Club showed unusual musical talent, as well as evidence of splendid training.

"The Nativity" was very vivid, and the old, old songs sung carried our hearts back to that stable in Bethlehem, and we lived that first glad Christmas.

The student body is highly appreciative of the good work that has been done by Miss Turner and the Choral Club. Especially we wish to express our gratitude for this Christmas program.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICE LED BY NELLIE TALLEY

One of the most beautiful morning watch services which has been held in the Student Building lounge, was that of Nellie Talley's "Christmas Service" last Sunday morning.

Nellie read a passage from the Bible from Luke. She then told the girls of the most wonderful gift that had ever been given, the Christ Child. God gave His most precious possession to this world to save people from sin, then why can't we give a part of ourselves to ones who most need us? A little gift that means so little to us means a great deal to a little child whose parents are sick or dead.

The services closed with the singing of a Christmas carol.

THE VIRGINIAN WINNERS OF SUBCRIPTION CONTEST

Keen competition was recognized in the Virginian Contest during the past two weeks. Four prizes were offered to those getting the largest number of subscriptions. Elizabeth Johnson won the first prize of $7.00 article at Davidson's. Dorothy Snedegar, who ran a close second, won the $4.00 article at Baldwin's. Margaret Hix received the $3.00 article at Martin's, with Kathryn Claude winning the 1929 copy of the Virginian. Those not receiving prizes worked very hard and the Virginian would like to take this opportunity in thanking those who participate in the contest.

Merry Christmas

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — JESSIE SMTH, '31

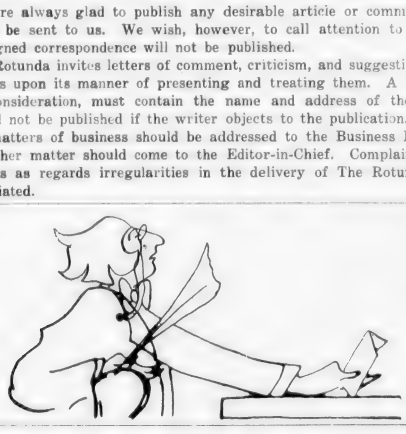
Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '30
Alumnae Editor — MISS CARRIE B. TALIAFERRO

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 — KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30
DOROTHY SNEDEGAR, '33
ANN STUMP, '30

Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader — JESSIE WATKINS, '33



Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Christmas Holidays

The most joyous time of the year is just about here; plans for our friends are being beautifully planned, but—what about plans for those who have no friend except God?

Because God gave His Only Son to us one Christmas Eve as a gift, which has always been our greatest, we should be inspired to give even though our gifts be small. If we have the true spirit of giving, our hearts will quicken with the thought of happiness for others.

Truly, each of us would prefer going to the Christ Child singing "We, Three Kings of Orient Are," yet I have a feeling God would hold us high and close against His heart if we would carry a gift to the little child, whom Santa Claus forgot. Surely this little child is a child of God also. And He is watching from above.

So girls, when happiness during this wonderful holiday is overflowing, be sure you let it overflow into the right little heart, the one which craves your good cheer.

The Value of Failure

What do you do when you fail to accomplish something you have undertaken? Do you give up in despair, or do you, as the old maxim says, "Try, try again"? Failure, instead of discouraging us, should goad us on to higher and better things. Those of us who have encountered failure—and very few have been successful in everything—will agree that when, after many attempts, we finally do succeed, we feel that we have really achieved something. Oh, yes, it does require perseverance, courage, will-power, and a great many other characteristics to stick to a task in the face of apparent failure, but isn't the goal finally attained worth the effort? There is at least the satisfaction of a task well performed. Someone has said that a person is not educated until he has failed. Isn't this true? A person is not really educated, in the highest sense of the word, until he has learned to look the world straight in the face, and although disheartened, be able to say, "Oh, yes, I have failed, but I'm not going to give up until I have accomplished this task. I won't be a quitter!"

The world admires a person who is not overcome by his failure, but rises above it, and emerges victorious.

OVER THE TEACUPS

Work? My dear, don't say one word. I'm simply worn down to a nub. I've gone and gone until I can hardly move. And don't I know that too? I'm just petrified about them. Of course I know that I'll pass them, but the very word "exams" scares me out of my wits.

When am I going home? Why on Friday, of course. As usual I'm going to lock the doors—somebody has to, you know.

Weren't they though? Everyone of them was lovely. I loved the one in the "rec", there just seemed to be a tiny corner of Japan down there. The Palette had some of the prettiest things, and all of them were reasonable, too. Here's to more of them next year!

Wasn't it good? I read every word of it. There weren't many on the staff. I thought it was fine. Wish the journalism class would put out another issue. And did you hear what "Little Laura" said? She was in the class, you know, and when somebody asked her what she was on the staff, she said, "Oh, I'm athletic editor and three reporters." Isn't she though? I just laughed and laughed.

I'm glad he's back, too. It just does not seem like S. T. C. without Dr. Jarman. I know he had a lovely trip, but everybody's glad to have him back with us.

Yes, I went. Did you? Our group went out by the hospital. Don't you though? I just feel all "Christmassy" when I hear the Christmas carols. I really didn't get the spirit until Sunday night. It doesn't seem possible that the holidays can be so close.

Have you been to any? Everybody is either having parties or going to them. We had the best time at ours the other night. We were all excited to death about going home.

Well, I've got to run along to the library. "Sug," I wish you the best of luck on your exams. As for me, I'm too excited to think, and I just feel like broadcasting

MERRY CHRISTMAS EVERYBODY

THE EVOLUTION OF MY WISHING

I suppose that even to the time when "the memory of man runneth not to the contrary", little children wished a long desired wish on finding a four-leaf clover, and on breaking that fascinating part of the anatomy of a fowl called the wish bone. And I'm equally sure that every person in the world must have, at some time in the span of years, gazed into the heavens and repeated in an enraptured tone to the evening star,

Star light, star bright,
First star I've seen tonight.
Wish I may, wish I might
Have the wish I wish tonight!"

All the times I've wished on that childish rhyme, I've made two wishes, the regular one, and a secret one—a queer hopeless deisre to touch the star. That desire started when I was so very small, I hardly remember. I know Mother taught me the little rhyme, and I loved it, and loved all "wishing things." In fact, for some years, my childish vista of the world widened in relation to the number of new "wishing things" I learned!

I was quite familiar with the proverbial category of children's "wishing things." At the passage of every white horse, I would stamp the palm of one hand with the tightly clenched fist of the other in a most serious manner, and wish for an ice-cream cone or a balloon. A pin glittering in the crack of a pavement meant absolutely that a wish would come true within the next hour, if only that pin were stuck in a coat lapel, head downward. The first snowflake in winter, the first violet in April, and every rainbow, entitled the beholder to a most precious wish.

Did they come true—all of these wishes? Why, sometimes. But one forgot, when she was so very small and made innumerable wishes in one short day. It didn't matter particularly, except that one experienced the joy of wishing.

Wishes, like children, and in company with children, grow up. I passed through the stage of "white horse" wishes, and left behind the profound desire to have the World War postponed until I should be old enough to serve as nurse in the conflict.

R. H., '27

AGE AND YOUTH AND CHRISTMAS

Grandma put out the light, sighed, and resumed her vigil at the window. The big clock in the hall boomed out eleven mellow strokes which floated across the whole length of the firelit drawing room. Outside the world was a gleaming mass of snow upon which the moon, in a heaven of twinkling stars, made faint ghost-like shadows of the trees and buildings. Now and then a stray, insolent gust of wind caught up snow dust from the frozen crust of white and sent it in a swirling cloud into the distance. The casual passer through the still streets drew his face deeper into the depths of his coat collar and hurried on. It was Christmas Eve, crisp, clear, beautiful.

Grandma had never admitted that she was old-fashioned. In fact she staunchly maintained that she wasn't. But that was two years ago before Joyce, her orphaned grand-daughter, a sixteen year old sprite had descended upon the austere quiet of her well-ordered household. Since then, well, she had been a changed woman. And in the moments she had for serious thought she had reached the decision—she was old-fashioned.

Two hours before Joyce had floated out the stately door with Dave, the boy next door. Grandma's parting plea was, "Don't be out late, dear. Don't you know it is Christmas?" An airy kiss from the tips of Joyce's fingers was the only response. Of course, it was perfectly all right to go out with the bunch, but on Christmas Eve it did seem like the child could stay at home. The divan was heaped with gifts which had been pouring in all day and the tree could be retouched again.

So ran thought while the minutes slipped away. The hands on the clock in the church steeple across the road pointed to eleven-thirty. The moon high-swung in the heavens shone peacefully upon the quiet scene below.

Grandma nodded. The sweet gray head fell against the cushioned back of the chair and she slept. And there was a smile on her lips for she was dreaming of a Christmas of years past when Christmas had meant such happiness and joy for her. She and John were sitting before the fire stringing popcorn for the tree and blending the choice white grains with maple syrup into fluffy balls of sweetness. There he was holding out the large fluffy ball in whose center reposed a large pink candy heart with three words on it. Then as they stood together in the firelight the chimes in the church had pealed forth the glorious notes into the midnight air "Joy to the world the Lord is come."

The light cold touch of a hand awakened her.

Wake up Grandma! It's Christmas! We have been delivering the baskets to the poor. Listen. Isn't it lovely?"

Across the snow the faint notes of chimes were wafted. Joyce drew a shawl around Grandma's frail shoulders and raised the window ever so softly. The cold frosty air of Christmas morn blew softly into the faces of age and youth as they stood together in characteristic attitudes of thankfulness and reverence.

Annie Denit, '31

CHRISTMAS THOUGHTS

Christmas thoughts are lovely things,
Messengers on silvery wings,
Bearing love the whole world wide,
Bringing joy each Christmas-tide.

Lidia Lion Roberts

SECRETS

There are whispers in the air;
Secrets, secrets, everywhere.
People stopping on the stair.
"Don't peek,'" they say, "it isn't fair."

Mothers hiding things away,
Dad comes home 'most every day,
Smiling in a curious way;
What it means I cannot say.

Yes, I know December's here,
Christmas time is very dear,
Christmas time and Santa, dear,
All our hearts are filled with cheer.

Ada Clark

CHRISTMAS CANDLES FOR YOU

May merry Christmas bring
Its candle light to you;
Red candles glowing clear
To be mirth's merry hue;

White candles which shall be
Your purest Christmas prayer,
Blue ones—for thoughts of those
You love—though far or near;

Brave yellow candles, too,
Which are for cheer and play,
And hopeful happy hearts
Oh merry Christmas Day.

And best of all, may there be
A light none may destroy—
Rose-tinted candle light,
Which you may know as Joy.

Annie Winfrey Meek

THERE IS!

When Christmas Eve
Draws near, it does seem queer
That there are some who don't believe
In Santa Claus.
Children and grown-ups too,
For age has nothing much to do with it—
Perhaps it's all because
We haven't seen his reindeer and his sleigh,
Or caught him by the chimney on the roof—
But where's the one who dares to say
We have no proof
That all the magic things old Santa brings
Are not right here!

Aren't there splendid toys for girls and boys,
And many an unexpected gift to lift
An older heart until it sings—
The world was never quite so wide
For happiness, never so deep the tide
Of friendly feeling and good will,
Never so earnest the desire for peace.
On earth, never so many wonders to inspire
Human effort, to build and fan the fire
Of great ambitions—never so many lovely things
Or young and old rememberings—
And all because
There is a Santa Claus!

Peter A. Lea

S. T. C., Dec. 18, 1929

Dearest Santy:

I've been working so hard all day, in fact, all term! I've been a good girl and I want two things most awfully for Christmas. They don't cost much and I think you could get them for me. What I want most of anything is some long hair and some new songs to play. Please don't forget where I live.

Hopefully yours,

Pearl Johnson

SOCIETY

Alice Adams and Lula Mitchell spent the week-end in Williamsburg.

Polly Sheffield, Pearl Johnson, Lucile Norman, and Sara McCorkle spent the week-end in Richmond.

Mary Frances Hatchett, Miss McCormick, and Miss Iler spent Saturday in Richmond.

Margaret Beck spent the week-end at her home in Roxbury.

Suzanne Holland spent the week-end at her home in Danville.

Martha Seabury spent the week-end in Petersburg.

Mary Simmerman spent the week-end in Brookneal.

Frances Thornton and Elaine Goode spent the week-end in Martinsville.

Hazel Murphy, Regina Brown, and Margaret Brown spent the week-end in Crewe.

Josephine Bland spent the week-end in Roanoke.

Alice Covington spent the week-end in Charlottesville.

Annie See spent the week-end in Kenbridge.

Zeta Tau sorority entertained at a Christmas party Saturday night, December 14, from eight until ten o'clock. Christmas decorations were used in the chapter room and under the Christmas tree in one corner of the room were found gifts for all guests and members present. Christmas stories were told and then the rest of the evening was spent in dancing. Christmas refreshments consisting of nuts, fruits, cakes, and candy were served.

Miss Moran and Miss Nichols entertained the members of Zeta Tau sorority at Longwood, Saturday, December 14, at four tables of bridge.

Miss Mary Buford Epes won high score prize and Miss Margaret Hix cut the consolation. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the game.

Those playing were: Misses Mary Buford Epes, Margaret Hix, Maria Warren, Mary Warren, Harriett Branch, Anne Rice, Martha von Schilling, Lucy Thompson, Virginia Robertson, Evelyn Stephenson, Madeline Lee, Virginia Cox, Louise Whitlock, Virginia Bledsoe, Charlotte Hutchins, and Grace Virginia Woodhouse.

On Saturday evening Misses Patience Moore, Betty Gates, Virginia Gates, Omara Daniel and Mrs. R. P. Purdy (members of the Farmville Alumnae Club of the Roanoke Rapids Chapter) were hostesses at a bridge shower honoring Mrs. Hunter Barbee, nee Miss Mamie Daniel.

After the guests arrived little Miss Margaret Joyner dressed as a bride came in drawing a white wagon filled with attractive gifts for the bride.

Five tables of bridge were arranged in the living room which was attractively decorated in green and white.

(Taken from the Herald, Roanoke Rapids, North Carolina.)

CHRISTMAS SERVICE SPONSORED BY "Y"

Continued from Page 1.

power of the sun to bring back life, color, warmth and happiness to earth. Christ is the sun—the warmth, the light, the color and the happiness of our world. Might we not in following the heathen custom—hang the greens in tribute to the Christ Child—who has brought us so much rejoicing so much love—light and happiness? The heathen nations hung their greens for the great sun of their world. We hang our greens for love and happiness in the Great Sun in our world."

As the girls sang "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing," they marched into the Rotunda and wreathed running cedar around the columns, the base of the statute of Joan, and the railing around the Rotunda.

On Tuesday night, Miss Rice told her Christmas Story, "The Other Wise Man." This story is one of beauty.

On Wednesday night will be given the Christmas pageant.

ALUMNI NEWS

The September-October number of "The Virginia Club Woman," the official magazine of the Virginia Federation of Womans Clubs contains the following article about one of our eminent alumnae, Mrs. William Cabell Flournoy, formerly Miss "Birdie" Boyd:

MRS. WM. CABELL FLOURNOY
Vice-Pres. of the Virginia Federation

"Mrs. Flournoy is a native of Charlotte county, Virginia, having lived for many years on the Eastern Shore of Virginia, and was well known in the Sixth District as a leader in club and church activities throughout the state. A charter member, and Second President of the Woman's Club of the Eastern Shore and one time Regent of the Northampton Chapter D. A. R's. at Cape Charles.

Mrs. Flournoy was active in the Colonial Dames of Virginia. In 1917-18 she was President of the Virginia Division U. D. C. during the World War, when routine work, to a large extent had to be abandoned, and new work for which there was no precedent, was organized and successfully carried on.

For the past two years as Historian of the Virginia Division U. D. C., she has aroused new interest throughout the state in the vital importance of preserving and cataloging valuable documents and other data for the use of students doing research work in Southern History. She is now a member of the Woman's Club of Lexington, Va., and was last winter Chairman of the Literary Department of this club.

She writes constantly for magazines and has been awarded several prizes for papers on Virginia History. Author of the book "Twin Patriots-Washington and Lee, and other Historical Essays," published by the Norman Remington Company, of Baltimore. This book has been reviewed and highly complimented by Dr. John H. Latane of John Hopkins University, and has recently been placed on the list of books for use in the Public School libraries of Virginia.

Mrs. Flournoy was elected Vice-President of the State Federation at Suffolk at May, 1929.

Mrs. Flournoy was chairman of the committee on Courtesy at the Suffolk meeting."

Mrs. W. F. Morehead (Kate Ferguson) of Salem, is chairman of the Department on International Relations.

Miss Lucy S. Treakle is president of White Stone Woman's Club, Mrs. Madeline Mapp Barrow of Accomac Woman's Club, Mrs. G. B. James (Lucy Wright) of Newport News Woman's Club.

KAPPA DELTA PI CELEBRATES XMAS

With a crackling fire as the center of attraction, the members of Kappa Delta Pi met in the Lounge on Friday night to do their share of Yuletide celebrating.

Miss Moran told us the story "Why the Chimes Rang", and Elizabeth Taylor sang several selections. Dr. Jarman Miss Haynes, Miss Waters, and Miss Cash were the guests of the evening.

After the program delightful refreshments consisting of apples, tangerines, nuts, raisins, and candy were served, and everybody left with the feeling that the holidays were really here.

Excavations for the new faculty apartment house for the faculty members of the State A. & M. College at State College, Ark., will be started next week. Site for the new building has already been staked off, and grade and elevation stakes are in place. Quotations on gravel, sand, footing, and foundations are coming in daily. No contracts have been let so far. The building will contain eight apartments and two large reception rooms, Each apartment will contain a living room, kitchenette, bedroom and bath. —State College Herald ,State College, Ark.—The Panther.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

The Vigilance Committee of Washington and Lee University recently met for the second time this season to help in the correction of wayward freshmen. The main purpose of the meeting was to take care of about fifteen men who were held over from the last meeting on account of the lights going out. To add to this number there were six new arrivals. The majority of the hold-overs had been asked to appear because of poor memories in respect to school songs or cheers, while the new arrivals had been brought up for violations of the regular freshman system of general grossness.—The Virginia Tech.

New York—Professor David Snedden of Teachers College, Columbia University, believes that in the near future colleges will have to divide themselves into three types, one for the "bread and butter" students who come to college to get a foundation for later business, one for the coonskin coated youth who prefers a football game to the class room, and one for the quiet seeker after learning.—The Critograph.

One of the latest developments in college reform is the privilege which a dozen or more universities and colleges have granted their students of optional class attendance. This new found freedom has brought additional worries for the students concerned, however, as the well known principle, something is never given for nothing, is still applicable. The professors at all of these schools have tightened down on their requirements and some are even giving an extra exam to all seniors who have more than one class out against them. The latest announcement is: "If you are absent from class it will immediately be reported to the Registrar, your Dean, and your mother."—The Virginia Tech.

New Line of Christmas Cards!
Seals, cords, paper—Make your gifts attractive

The Band Box Shoppe

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Quality—Price—Service
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You With Us
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

FALL SHOWING OF
HATS
THE HAT SHOPPE
Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Farmer Gift Shop
Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving
COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE
Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh films)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S
is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP
Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials
110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS
Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop
323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY
The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP
Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING CLEANING
PRESSING
Farmville - - - - - - - - - Virginia

The Hub is headquarters for XMAS Gifts for Mother, Father, Brother, Sister, Friend, and Sweetheart

Gloves, Pocket books, Handkerchiefs, Hose, Pajamas, Jewelry, Negligees, Compacts, and hundreds of other useful articles priced from 10c to $25.

See our New Silhouette Dresses at $9.95
20 PER CENT OFF ALL COATS

Charge it if you like

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Lela Germany: "Look at those yellow bloomers."

Mary Randall: "Where?"

Lela G.: "Can't you see those dandelions?"—Kansas Sour Owl.

Visiting Boy: "Don't you know me?" I'm Santa Claus."

Rene Greaves: "No. You aint' got no Kappa Sigma ba*ge on."—Arizona Kitty Kat.

Melisse: " Did you hang up your stockings for Santa Claus?"

Nannie Belle: "No, I rolled them down."

Vay: "When I was in the hospital, they had to blindfold me to keep my pulse down."

Jane Grey: "Never heard of that before."

Vay Abbitt: "Maybe you never had a good-looking interne to take your pulse either."—Stevens Stone Mill.

He was seated in the parlor
And he said unto the light
Either you or I, old fellow,
Will be turned down tonight."

And then there was the innocent Farmville girl who thought a house party was one where the guests played house.

Elaine prepared to give the children an intelligence test.

"Now close your eyes, children."

"E" made a noise like birds twittering.

"Now open your eyes and tell me what I'm doing."

"Kissing, teacher," came the reply from the class.

Marguerite Swann: "Isn't the floor slippery this evening, Allan?"

Allan: "No; I polished my shoes tonight."

Slap!!

"Did Ellen ever amount to anything?"

"Sure, she provides for a town of three thousand." '

"Provides?"

"Yeah, social scandal."

Young S. T. C. (who was contemplating cutting her hair): "Please pardon my inattention. I really didn't hear your question. I've had my hair on my mind all day."

H. S. C.: "That's nothing—I've got mine on my chest."

Mayo: "I've refused to many men, it's getting quite boring."

Snooty: "Yes,—house to house salesmen, were they?"

"I hear that "Al" 'is marrying that X-ray specialist."

"Oh yeah! I wonder what he can see in her."

A visitor from Australia says that he is in England to marry a pretty girl and a good cook. But that is bigamy.

CANADA DRUG CO.

Next to Baldwin's Store
Come to us for your cosmetics and

STATIONERY

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

At the Eaco Theatre Week of Dec. 23 to 28

MON.—We show two silent features this day. Ken Maynard in "THE ROYAL RIDER" and Reginald Denny in "THE NIGHT BIRD". The Maynard picture is full of action and the Denny picture is a special that is Extra Good. With these two feature pictures we show a two reel western picture and news reel. This gives you a chance to see two good shows for one regular admission.

TUES.—Again we show two feature pictures, Sally O'Neil with Lilyan Tashman in "HARDBOILED" and Hoot Gibson in "BURNING TH) WIND." The first is a society drama and the Gibson picture is full of fast action. Both are silent. Wth these feature pictures we also show a two reel Western picture. All of this for one regular admission.

WED.—Colleen Moore with Neil Hamilton in "WHY BE GOOD" a Vitaphone picture. Here s a picture in which you have a chance to see Colleen Moore in a role somewhat different from those she usually takes. Suffice it say, it is a mighty good picture, especially select for Christmas day. We also show talking comedy.

THURS.—Milton Sills, with Maria Corda in "LOVE AND THE DEVIL." Bachelor. Adventurer, then lover, then a murderer. He inherited a woman from his best friend, but had to fight he devil to hold her. It carries from darkest Africa to brightest Venice. We also show talking comedy with this picture.

FRI. & SAT.—Jack Mulhall, aPtsy Ruth Miller, Gertrude Astor and Alice Lake in "TWIN BEDS". A special Vitaphone picture. This is some picture, filled with palpitating prtdicaments, comic complications, difficult decisions, eight peeps into a pretty girl's boudoir and each peep is a thousand laughs long. Watch for the fun when the blind goes up. This is the kind of picture that old and young will like. Also News reel and Collegiate comedy.

Admission prices, adults 35c, children under 12 years old 15c to each show.

WORLD NEWS

Five seats will be contested in the House of Representatives this session. Four of the disputes are over the election returns. The citizenship of Ruth Bryan Owen from Florida is challenged by her Republican opponent who contends that she lost her citizenship when she married a British army officer. After the death of her husband Mrs. Owen returned to this country and claims that she has been here long enough to be elligible for a seat.—World News.

SCHEMMEL

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony

Aesthetics, Etc.

REASONABLE TUITION RATES

IT PAYS TO DEAL
at
GREENBERG'S DEPT. STORE

First in Style
Lowest in Price

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery

AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Farmville - - - - Va.

McIntosh's Drug Store

New State Teachers College

STATIONERY

Farmville - - - - Va.

TAKE A SURPRISE GIFT
HOME WITH YOU

LES PARFUMS
COTY

Quarter-Ounce "Purse-Size" in Platinum-toned Cases or Coloured Crackle Finish Cases. In Favourite Coty Odeurs.
$1.50

THERE'S nothing like a surprise package to bring an added joy—tuck a lovely flacon of Coty Perfume in your bag, and see a happy mother or sister.

COTY
714 Fifth Avenue, New York
PLACE VENDOME, PARIS

One-ounce Flacons In Coloured Galuchat Boxes. Popular Coty Odeurs.
$3.75 to $5.50

DOUBLE THE THRILL OF HOME-COMING

LES PARFUMS
COTY

BELIEVE it or not—nothing will so delight the mater as your thoughtful gift of a Coty Perfume—exquisite but not costly.

COTY
714 Fifth Avenue, New York
PLACE VENDOME, PARIS

FEATURE THIS WEEK

COLLEGE THEME TABLETS

3 For 25c

SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES

MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

Printzess Coats Smartest in Fall Wear!

The Mode is Femininely Chic

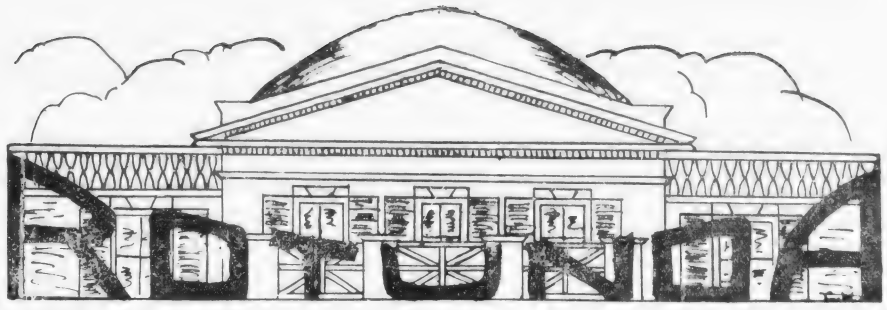
Last season the 'dressmaker" type of coat was a growing tendency in the mode—it is an established fact this season and is smartly feminine in every phase.
This whim of fashion is charmingly illustrated in our present showings of Printzess coats. Each style is an adaption of a French design and represents the best in the mode. New silhouettes, new fabrics, new trimming details. Priced $24.75 to $57.50.

BALDWIN'S

The S. T. C. Girls' Main Street Home

GIFTS FOR ALL THE FAMILY

Come from the Holiday Store



There is great satisfaction in being able to choose gifts for the entire faimly and circle of friends from one store. Here in conveniently aranged sections we have assembled gifts for every indiivdual preference. Varied in kind and price range they meet with any plan of choice and expenditure.

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.

The House of Quality

FARMVILLE, VA.

COME OUT FOR BASKET BALL PRACTICE

SEE— "WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS"

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1930 No. 11

COLLEGE WEEK TO BE OBSERVED HERE ON JANUARY 13—18

One of the Greatest Problems Confronting Student World is Honor System

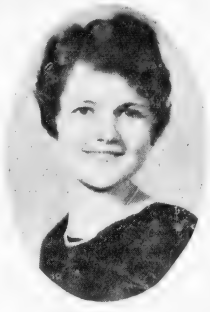
For every group of people living together, working together and playing together, there ought to be a time set aside when they think together—; a time when they should think about the lines along which they need and wish to work and play together; a time when they should think of the standards by which they, as a group, wish to mold their living.

Our Student Body has set aside the week beginning January 13 during which we intend to do just that. It is to be our "get together week." We are going to work and play together—and above all, we're going to think together.

Of all the problems which confront the student world today—one of the greatest—if not the greatest—is the question of the Honor System. It is the most widely discussed—the most heartily approved of and the most strenuously disapproved of movement that students, as such, have taken any part in since our colleges and universities have been at all firmly established.

According to a report issued the National Student Federation, "The" Honor System originated in the South. It spread slowly at first, because it was a marked departure from the old world idea of governing students,

(Continued on page 3)



EDUCATION FOR LEISURE NEXT STEP FOR SCHOOLS

Food, clothing, shelter, tools, temples schools, transportation—these has man sought through the centuries. And now comes leisure, the fulfillment of an ancient longing. Within a generation the average working day has been reduced from ten to eight hours and the forces which have brought that change are only beginning to make themselves felt.

A work period of six hours a day, five days a week, 48 weeks a year for the masses is a possibility by 1940. The factors which point in that direction interact upon each other so that each gain at one point means gains at several other points. Among these factors are the lifting influence of universal education; the development of automatic machinery; scientific factory management; the reduction of ill health and disease; changes in home occupations which send women into office, shop, and factory; the elimination of parasitic industrics such as the liquor business; and the reduction of warmaking activities. . .

Increasing lesiure in the midst of modern opportunity is a profound challenge to the intelligence of the race. It comes with peculiar force to those engaged in education. The schools have taught man to respect the laws of his being and to live in harmony with other men. They have taught him to work. Can they teach him to play?

What new heights may the race not reach if one generation of teachers can guide one generation of children to meet the challenge of leisure with eager search for the higher values?—Taken from an editorial by Joy Elmer Morgan, editor, Journal of the NEA, January, 1929.

MISS MARY ELLEN CATO, heroine of the Dramatic Club Play, "What Every Woman Knows," by James M. Barrie. Mary Ellen proves herself equal to even a greater part than the role of Kitty in "The Return of Peter Grimm." As a clever Scotch woman, lacking in a certain type of charm she is overwhelmingly diplomatic and clever.

PI GAMMA MU DELEGATES AT NATIONAL MEETING

The Virginia Gamma Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu was represented at a national convention of Pi Gamma Mu by the following delegates: Frances Wilson, Gertrude Richardson, and Dr. Walmsley. The convention was held during the Christmas holidays at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C.

The purpose of the convention was to bring the common problems of the chapters before the delegates for discussion. Among the principal speakers were: Dean Leroy Allen, of Southwestern College, Winfield, Kans., national president of Pi Gamma Mu; Dr. Charles A. Ellwood, noted sociologist of the University of Missouri; Dr. S. A. Patterson of the University of Pennsylvania; Dr. George Harris Webber of the Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, Ga.; Senor Dr. Don Ricardo J. Alfaro, minister of Panama; Dr. Hadden, head of Law Department, Catholic University, at Washington, D. C.

WE STILL PAY FOR 19TH CENTURY WARS

Not many people will refuse unearned money, little as they may secretly think they deserve it. Miss Alice Robertson, once Congresswaman from Oklahoma, is an exception. This extraordinary woman put her foot on a movement to give her a pension because she contended that she was able to make her own living. How few individuals are made of the same stern calibre is demonstrated by the report of the Commissioner of Pensions which shows an aggregate of $229,889, 986.48 paid to 477,915 pensioners during the last fiscal year.

The Civil War is still exacting tribute from the country in the form of government pensions to the tune of $57,095,811.76 to veterans and more than $86,000,000 to the widows of veterans. The trail of pensioners that the Spanish war left in its wake is even greater now than those bequeathed us by the Civil War. It was not once so, however. Before old age and ultimate death overtook the pensioners of the first great strife, they outnumbered the beneficiaries of government subsidies by a considerable amount. One would hardly expect the government to be burdened

(Continued on page 3)

"What Every Woman Knows" to be Presented

Miss Mary Ellen Cato and Mr. Joe Perry Have Leading Roles in Play

PLAY BY J. M. BARRIE

Barrie's well known play "What Every Woman Knows" will be presented here this Friday evening by members of the S. T. C. and H. S. Dramatic Clubs in a combined cast.

The theme of the play takes a modern trend characterizing present day life. Maggie Wylie, a wife who holds that psychological secret every woman ought to know prompts her husband on to success, all the while making him believe he is doing it himself. The husband, John Shaud, not really loving his wife becomes temporarily infatuated with another person, but in the end he returns again to Maggie. The clever wife who understands men—how does she manage her husband? Maggie reveals the secret in "What Every Woman Knows."

Mary Ellen Cato acting the part of Maggie will play opposite Joe Perry who appears as John Shaud, Maggie's husband. With these two in the main roles the play is bound to be good. But then we all know what worth while work our Dramatic Club always does.

The cast is as follows:

Maggie Wylie	Mary Ellen Cato
Comtesse de la Braire	Virginia Gurley
Lady Sybol	Jenilee Knight
John Shaud	Joe Perry
Mr. Wylie	Abner Hopkins
David Wylie	Grey McAllister
James Wylie	James Garlic
Mr. Venable	Selden Baker

$200 IN PRIZES FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS

Two Prizes of $100 Each Offeredby Interracial Commission

As in previous years, the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, a Southern organization with headquarters at 409 Palmer Bldg., Atlanta, is offering to students in Southern colleges two cash prizes of $100 each for the best papers on "Justice in Race Relations." Papers should be between 1500 and 2500 words in length and must be delivered to the Comission or placed in the mails not later than May 1. The Commission has prepared suggestions, reading lists, and pamphlets which will be helpful to those desiring to submit papers. These wll be sent without charge to anyone applying.

More than fifty colleges were represented in this contest in 1929 and many fine papers were submitted. The winners last year were Miss Evelyn Vann., of Sam Houston College, at Huntsville, Texas; J. Neal Hughley, of Morehouse College, Atlanta; and Holland King of Henderson-Brown College, Arkadelphia, Ark.

H. S. C. Boy: "That swell looking girl is dead from her neck up."

Another one: "Well, she can bury her head in my arms any time."

Elliott: "Don't scream, girl."

Eleanor: "Why not, pray?"

Elliott: "All right, pray then, but it won't do you any good."

MISS VIRGINIA GURLEY, our French Friend. "Gurley" as the worldly and cunning French Comtesse in "What Every Woman Knows" is both entertaining and interesting. This is by far one of the best roles in the play and it is cleverly and realistically carried out.

WELCOME TO ALL THE NEW STUDENTS

The faculty and student body wish to welcome back to S. T. C. the following students.

Susie Alston, Townsville, N. C.
Annie F. Barrett, Vienna, Ga.
Minnie Bray, Nathalie, Va.
Minnie Brown, Martinsville, Va.
Frances Crawford, Staunton, Va.
Ruth Ford, Lynchburg, Va.
Martha Hatchell, Wilmington, N. C.
Mary K. Martin, Harbarton, Va.
Susie Odor, Salem, Va.
Ruby Phillips, Wintergreen, Va.
Virginia Ranson, Bremo Bluff, Va.
Katherine Schroeder, Washington, D. C.
Abby Lynn Tripp, Whaleyville, Va.
Anne Withers, Danville, Va.

They also extend a hearty welcome to Anne Marie Black from Detroit, Mich., and Olivia Andrews, of Union, S. C., who are with us for the first time.

NOTICE

Orders for The Virginian can not be taken after January 15th. This means that there is only one more week to place your order. A dollar is all that is necessary for the first payment. There will be a table in the hall so don't fail to place your order before it is too late.

The success of the annual always depends upon the cooperation of the student body. It is published for you so don't fail to buy one or more.

VIRGINIA MOORE ELECTED TO CLASS COUNCIL

Virginia Moore was elected a Senior representative to the class council Tuesday night at the Senior class meeting. Nellie Tidley held this position last term, but she received her degree at the end of the fall term, so did not return. Virginia promises to be a very efficient Senior representative. She is vice-president of her class and has been very active in all undertakings of the Senior class.

The American people will take kindly to the naval limitation leanings, that President Hoover inherits from his Swiss Alpine ancestry, but let him beware of going in for yodeling.—Virginian Pilot.

BEN GREET PLAYERS GIVE 'TWELFTH NIGHT' & 'HAMLET'

Company Has Found That Men Like Shakespeare Better Than Women

The Ben Greet players presented "Twelfth Night" a Shakespearean comedy on Monday afternoon. In this play Sir Philip Ben Greet took the part of Malvolio.

The entire cast was well chosen, and the parts were played in a realistic manner.

Monday evening "Hamlet" was presented. The lighting effects were unusually good, the costumes were beautiful, the acting was very effective. In the evening performance, Sir Philip played the parts of Polonius and one of the grave diggers.

The student body is very fortunate to have had the pleasure of seeing this cast.

"There is a heavy demand from Richmond students for tickets to the repertoire of the Ben Greet Players at the Lyric Jan. 9, 10 and 11. The ticket sale is proceeding in the lobby of the News Leader.

Sir Philip Ben Greet was knighted because of his work in interpreting Shakespeare, and for many years his company has been the most popular of all among the students of England and America.

The company has become famous because it comes very close to Shakespeare. The Ben Greet Company has

(Continued on Page 3)

UPPERCLASSMEN, COME OUT FOR BASKET BALL

Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors, wake up! Come out for basketball practice. Don't let the Freshmen get ahead of you. So far the Freshmen have had more out for practice. Support your class by coming out for basketball. The practice for Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors is on Mondays and Wednesdays at 4 o'clock. Freshmen practice on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 o'clock. Varsity practice is held every day at 5 o'clock.

Interclass games will probably be played the last part of this month. or the first of next month. Try out for your class team.

The schedule for our varsity games has not yet been completely worked out. Our first game is to be played against Lynchburg College in our gymnasium on February 8. We'd like to have a large crowd on hand.

The squad from which our varsity team will be picked is composed of the following:

Ethel Boswell, Edith Coleman, Gladys Rouset, Sue Cross, Frances Edwards, Mary Gregory, Martha Gunter, Virginia Gurley, Mary Frances Hatchett, Maxine Keeling, Alice Oliver, Frances Potts, Cleo Quisenberry, Dowall Ridgeway, Hildegarde Rose, Florence Reed, Laura M. Smith, Laura N. Smith, Dorothy Snedegar, Easter Souders, Mary Terry.

Professor: "What did you find about the salivary glands?"

Frances Davis: "Nothing at all, sir. They're so secretive."

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — JESSIE SMITH, '31

Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '31
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '31
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '31
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '31
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '31
Alumnae Editor — MISS CARRIE B. TALIAFERRO

Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 — KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30
DOROTHY SNEDEGAR, '32
ANN STUMP, '30

Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader — JESSIE WATKINS, '33

Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

We are always glad to publish any desirable article or communication that may be sent to us. We wish, however, to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

The Rotunda invites letters of comment, criticism, and suggestions from its readers upon its manner of presenting and treating them. A letter, to receive consideration, must contain the name and address of the writer. These will not be published if the writer objects to the publication.

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matter should come to the Editor-in-Chief. Complaints from subscribers as regards irregularities in the delivery of The Rotunda, will be appreciated.

Editorial

Sand Dunes of Life

Wes'ern Nebraska, Western Kansas and some parts of Wyoming are noted for their sand dunes. In some places houses and trees are entirely covered. It is very interesting and satisfying to observe the peculiar way in which some of these trees have adapted themselves to the new conditions. After the first attack of the dunes some of the trees that were not entirely covered developed new roots and kept on living. In some places ones can be seen that have grown as many as three different sets of roots. It is beautiful to think of anything struggling under such adverse conditions.

The animal as well as the plant world has sand dunes to compete with. We are starting in a new term now. We have become adjusted to many new situations in the past one, but there will still be several things that will need adaptation. We are given the advantage of a fresh start again. Let's grit our teeth and fight our own sand dunes to the best of our ability. If subject matter and any other thing are hard let's be proud of it. How much brain or brawn either do we develop from easy work? Corneille in his Le Cid says: "A vaincre sans peril, on triomphe sans gloire." The harder the job the prouder we should be of the result.

If something hits us so forcibly that we are "covered" for a while don't let's give up. "Where there's a will there's a way", so let's try to find it in spite of everything.

K. W.

The Starting Line

Another year has begun upon its slow—or, shall we say, fast—course extending over a period of three hundred and sixty-five days. It is a race that we all have to run whether we wish to or not.

The result of a race depends largely upon the start that the runner gets. An experienced runner in a long race sets the pace at the very beginning that he intends keeping with perhaps a little extra energy reserved for the final spure, if necessary. He does not dash off as fast as he can possibly run, outdistancing the other entrants at first, only to have them finally overtake him and then leave him hopelessly far behind. Neither does he jog slowly along with the intentions of ending up with a fast and brilliant finish. The experienced runner realizes that there are few brilliant finishes without an equally good start.

We have our course, the year 1930, before us. It is such a long course that we can not see the end of it. However, we can prophecy what the end will be from the beginning we make at the starting line.

Let us set the pace right now that we intend keeping throughout the year 1930. Then as we continue the race let us set our teeth with determination and, even though we become tired and want to stop and rest a while, finish our race with a good record.

OVER THE TEACUPS

Gee! I'm glad to see you! I'd about decided you weren't coming back. What kinda time did you have? I bet! My dear—nothing would describe it. It was perfect! 'Course I am! Who wouldn't be tired after being home for ten days? I hardly stopped to eat and sleep!

Ha-ha-ha-I'm coming back. It makes me almost wish I hadn't been so careful to be on time—at least I wish I hadn't been so careful to be on time—at least that the family hadn't been so careful to make me be on time. No, I haven't—Don't know of a soul who danced to the tune of "Here Comes the Bride" during the holiday except "Panzie." It is strange 'cause somebody usually does celebrate the holidays by "stepping off". Maybe we'll hear about them later.

What did Bill give you? Oh, I love it! I had no idea he had such good taste and can imagine a boy picking out a bracelet like that? But his sister did it? He hasn't any? Well—we'll have to give him the benefit of the doubt, I suppose!

Oh, yes, Jack gave it to me! (What do you suppose she thinks I've been waving my hand for the last half hour?) Of course I like it—it'll do. (If she ever finds out how crazy I really am about it, she'll go right and tell Bill and he'll tell Jack—all of which would never do.) He mustn't think I'm too anxious.) You must wear it sometimes (never no let me catch you with it on.)

See any good shows while you were home? Yes, I liked it too. There were a few good ones at home—none worth raving about, though.

Wasn't it? The White House of all places to catch on fire! During the holidays, too. Looked for a while like poor Herbert was doomed to a "warm" Christmas. Yes, I heard about the Capitol burning, too. Many more fires and we'll have to say of Washington: "There was tumult in the city,
In the—

Oh, well, you know how the rest of it goes.

I have too, loads of it! I didn't see how I'd ever finish all I had to do before Christmas, and honestly, if anything, it's worse now. an you beat that? Term papers already. I't just not right.

Please do. I'd ask you to come up and have some candy—but that's all gone, but come anyway. I've loads i want to tell you. Have you heard about Jean and Bob? Fall out? My dear—but come up and I'll tell you all about it.

Don't forget, and

S'long.

Anyway We Are Not Lazy

The world's richest and most powerful nation is also the world's hardest-working nation. How far Uncle Sam exceeds other countries in his output of labor is shown by Dr. Thornton Read, professor of mining at Columbia University, who estimates after careful study that the United States with one-sixteenth of the population of the world, completes about half its work. This country accomplishes one and a half times as much per person as Canada, her nearest competitor, and thirty times as much as China.

By calculating the relative amounts of power generated by men from the food they eat and by machines from the fuel and water-power they use, Dr. Read has arrived at his conclusions regarding 15 leading countries. He also reveal that China and India are first in the amount of work done without the aid of machinery, but are far behind the United States, Great Britain and Germany in the work done by men aided by powered machines. For instance, the labor done by men and machines together in this country equals the manual work that could be done by ten times the number of men in China, or almost 40 times the number of men in the United States.

BOOK REVIEW

BAMBI

The personal reaction which one feels after reading Bambi is the best criticism which one can give this interesting book. After reading it, there is a fresh conception of animals as well as a new conception of man's egotistical view toward them. No true sportsman could read this book without having a sense of responsibility left upon his shoulders.

The author has used a style in writing which is generally criticized, and yet he has succeeded in his undertaking where most other authors have failed. He has given the animal the language of man, and made us love the story. The reason is the genuineness of feeling which lies back of the words of the animals.

Bambi teaches a definite lesson through the medium of animals and we human beings do not resent it. In fact, we appreciate it! It is a book of poetry in prose form. Even a poetry lover will find delightful reading in an unaccustomed style.

John Galsworthy, in The Foreword, says: "Bambi is a delicious book. For delicacy of perception and essential truth, I hardly know any story of animals that can stand beside this life study of a forest deer. Felix Salten is a poet. He feels nature deeply and he loves animals. Clear and illuminating, and in places very moving, it is a little masterpiece."

Nearly all readers agree with Galsworthy's opinion. And those who do not cannot help finding some appreciable parts.

NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS

Now with our backs turned on the old year, we face 1930! We do not know what the new year holds but we eagerly welcome it—hoping for the best. Shall we pause to make the unusual New Year's resolutions? We made them last year and broke all we made. "Well," you say, "we'll turn over a new leaf this time. We'll make resolutions on the first day of the year and keep them on every day thereafter."

Suppose we do take pencil and paper and jot down a list of the resolutions What high resolves would we make? Perhaps at the head of the list would come the earnest endeavor to make an honor society or maybe it would be, instead, a resolution to live on the monthly allowance without writing dad to "please send a check for $10." The list would probably be quite long, ranging from such resolutions as these down the line to the resolution to get to classes on time or the equally as important one of never borrowing from anyone. Gee! but if we make such a long list of them we'll never be able to remember them all much less carry them out! Don't you think 'twould be better to cut out all but four or five or six? Then we could make those our big resolutions and we could really carry 'em out. Oh, but I've been thinkin' 'bout a poem I learned back in '26. I've forgotten how it goes now—I never had much memory anyway—but I can tell what the thought was. It's this: Why wait for New Year's Day to make resolutions; why not make them every day? You know the more I think about it the better I think it would be to make a few small resolves every day rather than a lot of big ones on New Year's which we'll have trouble in remembering, to say nothing of carrying them out!

LINES

Would I could see behind those eyes,
Like crystals veiled by mists of grey.
Would I could snatch that veil away
And know the truth from smiling lies.

M. F. S., '30

A NEW YEAR THOUGHT

Within a darkened room
I sat alone
Until there entered slowly
Father Time
Bearing my record of the year.
He opened the book before me,
Placed it for me to read.
I paused—the book lay open
Before me—its pages blurred
With the misdeeds of the year.
The only light there was—
A thought: these flames might destroy
The blasts recorded here.
I watched them crisp to nothingness
And turned to write new pages—
Keep them free from blot and smear.

Mamie Hurt

THE RESCUE

Black were the clouds
And the lightning flashed,
But on and on swiftly
A wild figure dashed.

A naked bleeding foot
Left a crimson thread trail,
But duty called on
Regardless of the gale.

He had been sent to find her.
He called softly at first.
Then his thin voice became frantic
As the storm grew worse and worse.

"Daisy!" He screamed loudly.
The storm drowned his cry.
"Oh, I must find her at once,
Or we both shall surely die."

A golden stream of lightning
Played with a huge tree,
And the clouds draped around him
In a blackness fearful to see.

Just a few more feet he stumbled
Then he heard Daisy low,
And the little farm boy found his cow
And led her through the stable door.

K. W., '30

TRAGEDY

A summer night,
An orange gold moon,
Rose petals falling,
And clematis perfume.

A silver fairy
Jumping a star,
Misty trails
Winding afar.

A magic stillness
Covering the land—
A man and maid
Holding hands.

One essential lacking,
Music soft and sweet.
It came unexpectedly,
From across the street.

Two tomcats
Began a duet,
And the lips almost touching.
Never met.

K. W., '30

CRYSTAL

Under a sea of oil men dwell,
Thus, the thought came to me;
In sweep of wind the swell,
As the swell and ebb of the sea.

Yesterday cold spray spattered trees,
Touched them, clung in icy scales
Sea gardens for fairy countries,
Looking at them, I half expect whales.

I love such water-glass gardens so lovely
Lovelier for crystal-coated trees
Or icy spikes of low shrubbery,
Which make a tinkley music in a breeze.

Alas—this morning I awoke
To a dripping brightened earth
My crystals had gone in frog-like smoke
Trees like black serpents make mirth.

F. W., '30

SOCIALS

Visitors On Campus

Margaret Finch visited friends on Campus Thursday.

Ida Wright Chapman visited friends at S. T. C. last week-end.

Week-end Trips

Frances Barrell and Sarah Hubbard spent last week-end in Buckingham.

Stella Cheatham spent the week-end at her home in Green Bay.

Mary Linney, Regina Brown, "Trixie" Glidewell, Hazel Murphy and Elsie Roberts spent the week-end in Crewe.

Dorothy Biggs and Virginia Witt spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Lucy Dortch visited friends in Lawrenceville the past week-end.

Grace Rose, Ethel Fisher and Miriam Faceward visited in Cumberland last week-end.

Florence Gregory spent the week-end in Appomattox.

Polly Sheffield spent the week-end in Burkeville.

Tea

Virginia Gurley gave a tea for the Pi Kappa Sigma in their chapter room Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Those present besides the chapter members were Misses McCormick and Iler.

Gilliam-Grainger

Miss Fannie M. Grainger was quietly married to Wallace H. Gilliam of Farmville last April. The marriage was kept secret until the past Christmas.

Mrs. Gilliam continued her studies and took her B. S. degree in Education here in June 1929. She was a summer student at the University of Virginia.

She has been a graduate student and assistant in Biology at the University of North Carolina since September.

ANGLE-BALDWIN

Mr. and Mrs. R. Juan Baldwin announce the marriage of their daughter Mae Iris to William Nathaniel Angle Saturday, December seventh, nineteen hundred and twenty-nine at Alexandria, Virginia.

At home, 627 Carolina Ave., Roanoke, Virginia.

WALKER-WILLIS

A marriage of great interest to the students of S. T. C. took place during the Christmas holidays. On December the twenty-sixth Frances Willis became the bride of Elbridge Walker, Jr., of Reading, Pa. The wedding was solemnized at the Ghent Methodist Church of Norfolk, Va., with the minister, Rev. Roscoe White officiating. The church was decorated with palms and cathedral candles.

The bride entered the church with her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a brown chiffon velvet suit with an egg shell blouse and a brown felt hat with accessories to match. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley. She had as her maid of honor her sister, Miss Mary Willis. She wore an afternoon gown of green canton crepe and a green hat with accessores to match. She carried a corsage of sunburst roses.

The bridegroom had as his best man his brother.

After a northern wedding trip the couple will be at home at Silver Bayon-Lake George, New York.

SYMPATHY

The student body wishes to express heartfelt sympathy to Misses Mary Clay and Winnie Hiner in the recent illness and death of their mother, and to Miss Myrtle E. Grenels in the loss of her step-father.

WE STILL PAY FOR 19TH CENTURY WARS

(Continue From Page One)

with any remaining survivors or widows of survivors of the War of 1812, but the fact is that nine of these widows received $50 a month during 1928. The ways of wars are indeed devastating to the nation's pocketbook.

WHERE THE FACULTY SPENT THE HOLIDAYS

Miss Barlow, Beverly, W. Va., drove through country by Winchester.

Miss Cash, Martinsburg, W. Va.; Miss Stevens, drove to Harpers Ferry.

Mrs. Taylor, Miss Barlow, Elkins, W. Va.; Miss Carter, Warrenton, W. Va.

Miss Jennings, Lynchburg, Va., and Madisonville, Va.

Miss Spratley, Surry, Va.

Miss Wheeler, New York City, saw plays.

Miss Moran, Baltimore and Boston.

Miss Isler, New York.

Miss Turner, New York City, Kingston, N. Y.

COLLEGE WEEK TO BE OBSERVED ON JAN. 13-18

(Continue From Page One)

it was a pioneer step in the educational field, taken in a poineer period of a new country—the United States—by pioneer spirits in the realm of education and progress. It is a significant fact that the system originated in this new democratic country.

After the Civil War the Honor System spread faster. Many Southern colleges began to adopt the system, and many colleges in other sections of the U. S. began to recognize its values and to institute it. From 1911 to the present there has been a steady increase n the number of colleges that have adopted the Honor System. At the present time approximately 39 per cent of the colleges and universities of the United States have it."

How much thought have you given this question that is so prominent in the thoughts of students today? Do you approve of a complete Honor System, an Honor System touching only certain phases of the student's life in college, or do you believe in it at all?

During College Week we will be furnished occasion to think along this line. It is one of the aims of the student body, during this week, to discover what other colleges have done and are doing about this very thing, to measure ourselves, our own system and our progress, and to prepare the question as to whether or not we shall move ahead to bigger ideas and ideals, or remain stationary.

The fact that the Honor System has spread slowly is indicative of the height of its challenge and the responsibility it carries with it. That it has spread surely, though slowly, is indicative of its real value.

It is a student problem, and it is time that we as students joined the grand international march of thought.

We are looking forward to college week—the time when we can "get together" on this question and other important questions—one of the most important being that of "getting together."

AGAIN—THE SHORTER WORKING DAY

Anyone who has studied the problems of human labor and machinery for 42 years must surely speak with authority on his subject. So when Ethelbert Stewart, recently reappointed Commissioner of Labor Statistics, declares himself in favor of a shorter working day and shorter working week, we listen with respectful interest.

Mr. Stewart reasons in this manner. To waste men at labor which machinery can perform more efficiently, is a grave evil. On the other hand, use of the machine results in unemployment for many men. The only solution, then, is to employ both men and machines for shorter lengths of time, giving both a square deal all around. Mr. Stewart further believes that any industry in this colunty can produce all it sells by working only thirty hours a week, and, if new inventions continue, a maximum of four working days a week of six hours each, will be sufficeint. The amount of leisure thus created would in itself constitute a problem, but Mr. Stewart has a suggested solution for that also. Let the whole machinery of education turn toward teaching the coming generation the purpose of leisure, he says, and we will have a real efficiency for every hour of every day of the week.

BEN GREET PLAYERS GIVE TWO SHOWS

Continued from page one

been remaining very close to the great bard's lines, and to the original business of the Elizabethan stage. Thousands of the Ben Greet performances have been out of doors with but few draperies, but with the finest talent that could be gathered from the school of Shakespeare.

The company has found that men like Shakespeare better than women, and that boys are more enthusiastic about the mental process of Hamlet and the mischief of Viola and Beatrice and Rosalind and Portia, than are the girls.

The Ben Greet players are presenting Hamlet, Twelfth Night, and Much Ado About Nothing, from Shakespeare, and Everyman, the Henry the Eighth morality play. Their interpretation of the latter is expected to give a spicy variety to their repertoire. No one knows who were the author or authors of the famous old classic. Even the moral—the original moralis somewhat obscure, but in most respects the play is as modern and as interesting as it was when it served as royal propoganda in the days of the merry monarch, whose vice no less than his strength had a profound effect upon the world.

"Everyman" is of special interest because it dates from the time of the great schism which resulted in the birth of the Church of England.

The morality play as a form of dramatic expression—and of propaganda—originally is supposed to have been an ecclesiastical vehicle. And in not a few of those whose fragment survive there is apparent that ancient friction between royalty and the priesthood which generated the spark of more than one nationality."—(Richmond News Leader.)

KOTEX
39c

The Band Box Shoppe

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Quality—Price—Service
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You With Us
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

FALL SHOWING OF
HATS
THE HAT SHOPPE
Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Farmer Gift Shop
Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving
COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE
Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh films)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S
is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP
Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials
110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS
Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop
323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY
The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP
Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING CLEANING
PRESSING
Farmville - - - - - - - - - - Virginia

Please Accept Our Wishes for a
HAPPPY & PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR
SPECIALS FOR THURSDAY, JAN. 8, FRIDAY,
JANUARY 9 and SATURDAY, JAN. 10.

$7.95 Silhouettes, all colors & sizes $4.98
$14.95 Silhouettes, just received $9.75
Allan "A" and Onyx Hose, 1.65 values, pair $1.00

All $6.00 Shoes, $3.85; See them in the window. Spread the glad news—1-2 off all coats and regular stock dresses!!

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Ben: "If I should kiss you, what would you do?"

"Budsey" Carter: "I never meet an emergency until it arises."

Ben: "But what if it should arise?"

"Budsey": "I'd meet it face to face."

Liba: "Some men thirst after fame, some after money, some after love."

Virginia Daughtry: "I know something all thirst after."

Liba Daivs: "What is that?"

Virginia: "Salt herring." New Goblin.

Flapper: "I'd like to see the captain of the ship."

Rookie: "He's forward, Miss."

Flapper: "I don't care, this is a pleasure trip."

—Yellow Jacket

Pathetic figures: A boy who lisps trying to tell a girl that he likes her size.

Ein: "Where is little Nell today?"

Zivei: "She's up in the mountings picking violets."

Ein: "There's ba'ers in them mountings."

Zivei: "Yeah."

Ein: "Ain't little Nell afraid of the ba'ars?"

Zivei: "Naw!"

Ein: "Why ain't little Nell afraid of the ba'ars?"

Zivei: "'Cause she's got her bicycle with her and she can handle ba'ars."—Yellow Crab.

Frances Potts (in restaurant): "Hey, waiter—look! There's a piece of tin in my hash."

The Waiter: "Sure, mechanization of the modern age. The machine is everywhere replacing the horse.—Pointer.

"I had a date with Tom last night."

"No fooling?"

"Not very much."

Covington: "The doc says I should stop eating?"

Swann: "Eating what?"

Covington: "Seven times a day."

He (on telephone): "Is that you, sweetheart?"

Helen Robertson: "Yes, who's talking?"

S. T. C. girl (wire—night after exams): "Have flunked out. Prepare papa!"

Sister's answer: "Papa prepared Prepare yourself."

Thornton: "Do you know the "Sneeze Song."

Minnie Mae Brown: "Sure, 'Atchoo, Baby'."

Mayo Beaty (in middle of joke): "Have I ever told you this one before?"

Snooty: "Yes."

Beaty: "Fine. Then maybe, you'll understand it this time."

CANADA DRUG CO.

Next to Baldwin's Store

Come to us for your cosmetics and

STATIONERY

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

"PUNCH BOWL" TO HAVE GIRLS' NO.

S. T. C. Students, Here Is a Chance to Display Your Talent

Every five years the Brewers of ye Bowl for one month surrender their golden ladles and stand aside to let the fair sippers of the Brew try ther hands at distillation. This February the girls will have an opportunity to bring out their own number of the Punch Bowl. The magazine, from cover to cover will be feminine. We extend a cordial invitation to every reader of female persuasion to submit drawings and humorous material of eevry sort and, to compete for the prizes offered by the Brewers.

The Christmas issue of The Punch Bowl is on display in the Rotunda office. Any girls who are interested in entering this contest are invited to come over to the office and inspect this issue.

The following rules must be observed:

1. The competition is open to all girl readers of the Punch Bowl, whether such readers attend colleges or preparatory schools or not.

2. All material submitted must be strictly original.

3. The closing date for material is Tuesdayfi January 28, 1930.

4. Editorial material may be submiteld as follows: (a) Jokes. (b) Humorous verses. (c) Short satirical essays or comments. (d) Humorous stories or sketches. (e) Humorous plays, dialogues or monologues. (f) Suggestions for drawings. All editorial material must be typewriten, double-spaced. One side only of the paper may be used.

5. Jokes may be of any description suitable for publication in the Punch Bowl.

6. Verses must not exceed forty lines. Parodies of familiar poems and songs will be accepted.

7. Short satirical comments or essays must not exceed 250 words in length. The number of words must be noted in number on the sheet. Subjects must be limited to matters of interest to college students. Semi-editorial material, such as that published in our Parry and Thrust Department, will be most acceptable.

8. Humorous stroies must not exceed 1,100 words The number of words must be noted on the first sheet.

9. Humorous plays, dialogues or monologues must not exceed 900 words. The number of words must be noted.

10. Suggestions for drawings must include an accurate description of the drawing and a suitable caption or title

11. Art material may be submitted as follows: (a) Cover drawings. (b) full page or double-spread drawings. (c) Pen and ink drawings. (d) Washes, pencil sketches, half-tones. Art contributors must use drawing board. Drawings on paper or thin cardboard will not be considered.

12.Cover drawings must be large enough to permit a reduction to size 8 1-2 by 10 1-2. A color scheme, employing any colors, must be indicated on the drawing in blue pencil, or worked out in crayon or paint on a smaller copy of the drawing. Drawings must not be tinted or colored in any manner. Care must be taken with lettering. India ink must be used.

13. Full-page drawings must be large enough to permit a reduction to 7 x 9 inches. No half-tone or wash full-page drawings will be accepted. The double-spread drawings must be large enough to permit reduction to 15x9 inches. No half-tone or wash double-spread drawings will be accepted. Benday may be indicated on the drawing in blue pencil. India ink must be used.

14. Pen and ink drawings may be cartoon style or not. All drawings must be in India ink. Drawings must be large enough to permit one-half reductions. Benday may be indicated in blue pencil. Brush drawngs will be accepted.

15. Only exceptional pencil sketches, washes and half-tones will be considered. Drawings must be large enough to permit one-half reduction.

16. Prizes will awarded as follows:

A. For the best cover: A gold Punch Bowl key.

B. For the best story, play, satire, monologue or dialogue: A gold Punch Bowl key.

C. For the best verse: A silver Punch Bowl key.

D. For the best full-page drawing: A gold Punch Bowl key.

E. For the best small drawing: A silver Punch Bowl key.

F. For the best joke: A silver Punch Bowl key.

G. For the best Parry and Thrust: A silver Punch Bowl key.

H. For the most lines of editorial material published: A gold Punch Bowl key.

I. For the largest number of drawings published: A gold Punch Bowl key.

The Managing Board of the Punch Bowl will judge all contributions. Every contributor's name will be published with her material and placed on the masthead for this issue. Promptness in mailing material, neatness, and attention to mechanical details will count considerably. All material must be brought or mailed to the Punch Bowl, Editorial Department Houston Hall, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

Remember the closing date: January 28, 1930.

American young womanhood—this is your challenge! We want a touchdown.

FIVE GIRLS WIN POINTS FOR HIKES

Five girls have won 50 points toward a monogram by completing six 5-mile hikes. They are Elizabeth Johnson, Lydia Harrell, Marguerite Massey, Henrietta Taylor, Easter Souders.

EACO THEATRE IS GREATER ATTRACTION

The Eaco Theatre is a greater magnet than ever to S. T. C. girls, to say nothing of H.-S. C. boys. On returning from our Christmas festivities, what do we behold but the adding of a new entrance to the show going on? After standing in the ever-present, proverbial line, we at last enter. In surprise we note that our feet make scarcely any noise. We look to the floor. Aha! Cement floors. What a blessing! No more "clump-clumping" down the wooden floors, accompanied by a multitude of craning necks to see our dates." The theatre being dark, we do not see the last and best surprise. Mr. Whitaker has planned for us (we are sure). After much sighting and peering we find our seats. Ah! The luxury of literally sinking into cushioned seats. We glance aloft (pinching ourselves the while) to take note we are in the Eaco instead of Loew's. No, no stars twinkling down at us. But what do we care for stars? We settle back with a sigh of bliss, to Greta Garbo in "The Kiss," or Billy Dove in "The Man and the Moment," or "The Collegians," or what have you?

The National Geographic Society is distributing a new map of Europe, unusual for the precise spelling of place names. Forty-six languages are represented on the map. One practical reason for the preparation of the new map is the increasing difficulty of European travelers in identifying the names of towns as they are spelled on time-tables and as they are known to ticket agents. For instance Brussels is Bruxelles, Copenhagen is Kobenhaon; Vienna is Wien; Constantinople is Istambul.

The map has 800 names, cost $200,000 and took three years to prepare. It is in six colors and drawn on a scale of 94.7 miles to an inch.

The war department has announced detailed plans for the pilgrimage of 6,730 gold star widows and mothers to the European graves of their war dead. By an act of Congress last year they were not only to be given free transportation, but allowances for food, and incidentals.

At the Eaco Theatre Week of January 13-18

MONDAY and TUESDAY—Ann Harding in "Paris Bound," a special talking picture. A swift, hot love—proposal, engagement, marriage, in thrilling succession—and then—but you must see this remarkable story to appreciate it. This picture boasts a cast which it would cost you $5.50 to see on Broadway in the legitimate theatre. Headed by the famous Ann Harding, Frederick March and a brilliant ensemble. Also news and talking comedy.

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY Marie Saxon, Jack Eagan, Louise Fazenda, Eileen Percy and many others in "The Broadway Hoofer," a talking picture with plenty of singing and dancing. Daring drama, catchy song numbers, jazzy ensembles and clever comedy in a motion picture that is the last word in the eye and ear entertainment. All the gorgeous glamor of a stage extravaganza brought to you with startling realism. A highly entertaining and riveting musical romance about a glamorous Broadway star and a burlesque hoofer. Also talking comedy.

FRIDAY and SATURDAY—Erich von Strohm, Betty Compson and hundreds of others in the great special production, "The Great Gabbo," a singing, dancing and talking picture, with a singing and dancing chorus of over 500 girls and boys accompanied by a 125 piece symphony orchestra. This is by far the biggest talking production yet shown at the Eaco theatre. It is vivid, gorgeous, dramatic, spectacular, overflowing with tuneful melodies and breath taking ensembles. You must see this picture to realize what a great production it is. Also comedy and news.

Two shows each night. First show 7:30; second show, 9:15. Admission prices, adults, 35c at night, and 25c at matinees; children under 12, 15c to each show.

SCHEMMEL

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Piano, Vocal, Theory, Harmony

Aesthetics, Etc.

REASONABLE TUITION RATES

IT PAYS TO DEAL

at

GREENBERG'S DEPT. STORE

First in Style

Lowest in Price

FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Dealers in

Confectioneries, Fruits, Blank Books, Stationery

AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Farmville - - - - Va.

McIntosh's Drug Store

New State Teachers College

STATIONERY

Farmville - - - - Va.

FEATURE THIS WEEK

COLLEGE THEME TABLETS

3 For 25c

SOUTHERN CHAIN STORES

MAIN ST. Opposite Chappell's Store

Printzess Coats Smartest in Fall Wear!

The Mode is Femininely Chic

Last season the 'dressmaker" type of coat was a growing tendency in the mode—it is an established fact this season and is smartly feminine in every phase.

This whim of fashion is charmingly illustrated in our present showings of Printzess coats. Each style is an adaption of a French design and represents the best in the mode. New silhouettes, new fabrics, new trimming details. Priced $24.75 to $57.50.

BALDWIN'S

The S. T. C. Girls' Main Street Home

GIFTS FOR ALL THE FAMILY

Come from the Holiday Store

There is great satisfaction in being able to choose gifts for the entire faimly and circle of friends from one store. Here in conveniently aranged sections we have assembled gifts for every indiivdual preference. Varied in kind and price range they meet with any plan of choice and expenditure.

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.

The House of Quality

FARMVILLE, VA.

"You can not believe in honor until you have achieved it."
—George Bernard Shaw

ROTUNDA

"Co-operation and not competition is life of trade."
—William C. Fitch

Volume X THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 15, 1930 No. 15

HONOR SYSTEM IN AMERICAN COLLEGES IS AN IMPORTANT PROBLEM TODAY

National Student Federation Hopes for Successful Cooperation

NEEDS SPIRIT OF HONOR

It is the hope of the National Student Federation that all colleges in the United States will give careful attention to the question of the Honor System and make an honest endeavor to do something of value about the question of honesty among students. A keen critic of student affairs and college administration has penned the statement "that the college winks at dishonesty in scholastic work and colleges must assume the responsibility of inculcating into the students firm principles of right and dealing with their fellows.

But the problem is not to know what the weakness is, but it is to determine how best to remedy this weakness. A large majority of the student representatives at the Fourth Annual Congress of the N. S. F. A. last December, expressed confidence in the uplifting power of the Honor System. Therefore, the N. S. F. A. recommends this system to colleges and do not have it; and to colleges that do have it, the N. S. F. A. expresses an intense desire that they exert every possible effort to make the system as efficient as possible.

But the question arises: "Should every college attempt to institute the Honor System?" To do so would hardly display wisdom. There are some colleges in which the Honor System is not needed. e. g., institutions in which all the examinations are conducted orally. There are others in which certain local conditions militate against its successful operation. But in the vast majority of the state, city, denominational, privately endowed, and teachers' colleges, as well as the normal schools, there is opportunity for much development in this field.

However, before any college attempts to adopt the system, the field should be thoroughly prepared by faculty members and student leaders. There is reason to believe that this was done prior to its adoption at the University of Virginia, even, in the summer of 1842. Even that institu-

(Continued on page 3)

CONCERT WEDNESDAY IN THE AUDITORIUM

The Bedford Firemen's Band, of Bedford, Va., will give a free band concert in the auditorium of S. T. C. Wednesday at 8:15 o'clock. This band with the Bedford military company, acted as personal escorts to Governor John Garland Pollard in the inaugural parade today.

In appreciation for the displaying of flags in their honor by Farmville as they passed through here today the band arranged to give the free concert tonight.

"Liza, I'se gwine kiss yo' soon's I get ready to go home."

"Black boy, yo' leave dis house right dis minute."

Toodles: "Oh, I know you must think I'm terrible."

Sid: "I don't know—I've seen worse."

DR. JARMAN ATTENDS GOVERNOR'S RECEPTION

Dr. Jarman attended the reception given by Governor and Mrs. Byrd at the Governor's mansion in Richmond, January 7.

This reception was given in honor of the members of the General Assembly and their wives. Many other government officials and their wives were present.

Dr. Jarman was very happy to see many old Farmville girls there, who are now wives either of government officials or of members of the General Assembly.

No matter where Dr. Jarman goes he meets up with old Farmville girls. This is a great source of pleasure to him.

Governor Harry F. Byrd has recently sent Dr. Jarman a most excellent likeness of himself; this will be framed and hung in the President's office—along with President Woodrow Wilson.

Athletics Should Be Counted College Week

While we are taking inventory of ourselves this week and finding out just how we stand, let's take into consideration our athletics.

Do we as a student body participate in and back up our sports? Or do we leave it to a few to do all of the playing? Do we show our loyalty to our class and to our Alma Mater by going out for the various games?

Athletics give us an excellent opportunity to be loyal. There are few activities in school which furnish better chance for one to display school spirit and class spirit.

Besides meaning much to the group, athletics can mean a great deal to the individual—Health is essential. One way to keep healthy is to take part in physical activities. The training received in these games will also carry over in future life to other games one might wish to take up.

Will not loyalty fostered by the various sports help to improve our student body?

Will not abundant good health make for a more alert, more progressive student body?

EL CIRCULO ESPANOL GIVES AIMS FOR YEAR

El Circulo Espanol met in the early fall to initiate new members. Fifteen members were taken in at that time. Miss Nichols, our new honorary member, was presented at the same time. The next meeting was conducted entirely in Spanish. A song by a class, a solo by Mildred Varner and a Spanish play, "El Criado Astudo", made up the program. At our last regular meeting a reading by Laverna Bayne was given and a song by the members. A Spanish game was played in which a vocabulary test was given. This year the members of El Circulo Espanol hope to have as their standard both business and social meetings conducted entirely in Spanish. This will enable the carrying out of the aim of the organization which is the opportunity of a socialized use of the Spanish language.

FREDERICKSBURG IS DESIRABLE SITE FOR NEW ARTS SCHOOL

Dr. Combs Speaks in Richmond

In Richmond, last Tuesday, many educators and prominent men assembled to discuss the possibility of having a liberal arts college in Virginia. State teachers colleges were represented by many distinguished people. Fredericksburg was honored with the largest delegation—among them Mayor Willis, Dr. Combs, Judge Embrey and Ex-Senator Goolrick.

Nothing definite was decided. The representatives of each college discussed the advantages of having such a college. Fredericksburg made a very strong and favorable appeal.

Fredericksburg, as was pointed out in the meeting, has many drawing cards. They are: The location of the city; it is situated between the capital of the nation and the state. The good roads; excellent highways lead to and from the city. The historical and cultural setting of the town and college. The growing and progressive spirit of Fredericksburg.

Dr. Combs, our president, made a stirring and brilliant speech. He is in favor of a liberal arts college in Virginia, and he favors equal educational advantages for women.

It is to be hoped that the Old Dominion will awaken to the need of its young women, and that Fredericksburg will be the location for the prospective liberal arts college of Virginia.—The Bullet.

S. T. C. GIRLS DEBATE CAROLINA COLLEGES

Mary Mann Baskerville and Frances Wilson, accompanied by Dr. Walmsley, started south on what will be a debate tour of three days' duration Tuesday, January 15. They form a negative team to debate the question of disarmament.

On Tuesday night the girl debated Wake Forest, going to Columbia, S. C. on Wednesday. They debate the University of South Carolina Wednesday night and on Thursday night they debate Wofford College at Spartanburg, returning to school on Friday morning.

All of us wish the girls a very pleasant and successful trip.

College Week Program Has Complete Summary

Some Events Will Happen Each Day Through Saturday

We have read in this issue of the Rotunda, and we have even experienced the things which have been done during the first part of this week to bring the needs and the failings of our student body before our eyes. Perhaps some of us wonder what new phase of this is to be given us Thursday.

The idea has been brought to mind that perhaps we will be given the complete idea, brought together, with all the loose ends tied up. Of course if this is the intention of our council, we wonder how such a thing can be given in a concrete form, but then all of us have had a number of surprises this week, so we'll wait and find out about tomorrow's program, before we guess too much about it.

"WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS" IS GIVEN HIGHEST PRAISE BY CRITICS

COLLEGE WEEK BEGINS AT TEACHERS COLLEGE

Monday, the 13th, dated the beginning of the week set aside as College Week. Instead of having prayers the Class Council presented a two-act play, entitled "Loyalty."

The setting of the play was laid in a forest. In the first act called "The Rainbow," a witch sat stirring a stew. Presently she was visited by many persons in search of personal wealth, but she would give them no instructions as to where they might find the rainbow and pot of gold. At last there came a group of college girls in search of loyalty—loyalty to others and to school.

The second act entitled "Tableau" shows how the girls who sought to help others were rewarded.

By helping others each day,
By some kind word you may say,
By some brave deed you do,
Or just your being loyal and true,
By helping someone along life's trend,
You'll find your pot of gold at the rainbow's end.

College Week to End With Big Events

Dr. Jarman will talk in chapel Saturday morning. As Saturday is the last day of college week he will "round out" and put the finishing touches on the work that has been going on all of the week. Everyone is urged to be present at the final summing up.

The real "fun" is to come off Saturday. All of us who have never been to one, will want to go, and all who have already been will want to go again to the Masquerade Dance given by the Athletic Association in the gym Saturday night. In addition to their giving us the dance, they have gone to the trouble of getting real music for us—the Hampden-Sydney Orchestra. This orchestra has demonstrated its ability at S. T. C. before, so we know what a treat is in store for us.

Everyone should start getting her costume now, because the floor will be open all evening only to those who wear costumes. See how many types of costumes can be secured in order to make the scene as colorful and vari-

Continued on last page

INTERESTING DEBATE GIVEN IN CHAPEL

Those who attended chapel this morning were privileged to hear a most interesting debate given under auspices of the Y. W. C. A.

The question was, Resolved: That the girl who refuses to be "her sister's keeper" lacks a broad sense of honesty and fairness and is as much a detriment to the progress of the college community as is the girl who does not assume responsibility for herself.

Those debating the question were Rena Robertson and Martha Faris, while Jessie Smith served as chairman. The Blue Triangle was judge, and rendered a decision different from any other we've seen.

Each girl should have been a judge to herself. She alone knows whether or not she is on the best side. Which is the best side? The Blue Triangle tells you.

Mary Ellen Cato Was Maggie, The Wife Supposedly Without Charm

JOE PERRY WAS THE HERO

Only the highest praise can be given in favor of "What Every Woman Knows" as it was presented here last Friday night by the Dramatic Clubs of S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney. It was evident from the first that the character parts had been very carefully worked up, and the principals deserve great credit.

Mary Ellen Cato as the heroine gave a fine portrayal of the diplomatic Scotch wife, Maggie Wylie. A more attractive leading lady could hardly have been found for this unusual role.

Playing opposite the heroine, Joe Perry, was a great success as the self-satisfied John Shand. The role was a difficult one and very well acted in this case. In contrast to Maggie's father and brothers, all of whom gave splendid characterizations, John Shand represented a peculiar type, what might be termed a self-centered hero. Yet, there was one woman besides his wife who finally saw through him—th Comtesse de la Briere. Virginia Gurley was splendid in this part. There is no denying that she did some of the best acting seen during the evening. Her niece, Lady Sybil Tenterten or Jenilee Knight, was so attractive one could scarcely blame John Shand when he yielded to her charms.

The play was a great success; a fine example of the type of work the Dramatic Club always produces under the direction of Miss Wheeler. The cooperation of the Hampden-Sydney Dramatic Club in this production was greatly appreciated, for the boys carried their parts off splendidly.

"What Every Woman Knows" was presented at Culpeper Monday night, January 13 by the same cast composed of S. T. C. and H. S. C. students. The American Legion of Culpeper sponsored the production which was given in the Culpeper High School Auditorium. The performance of the players was equally as good as that given in the College Auditorium, and pleased the large number of Culpeper people who attended.

MEMBERSHIP IN PALETTE INTERESTINGLY LIMITED

At the regular meeting of the Palette held last Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the drawing room, the members decided to change both individuals and organizations for the making of posters. The club expects to buy poster paper in bulk so that the price will be lower though the individual may furnish her own paper if she wishes. There will be a uniform price regardless of the type of poster which will be decided at a later date.

The Palette is a student organization to give girls interested in art an outlet. To become a member of the club one must have an average of B. on all her art classes. If she is not in an art class, she must show exceptional interest in work or ability pertaining to art. The Christmas Bazaar given by the Palette proved to the student body the excellent work being done by this club. Because of the success of the first bazaar, there will be a second held in the spring.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Southern Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association
Member Intercollegiate Press Association of Virginia

Published Weekly by Students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as 2nd class matter March 1st, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1879.

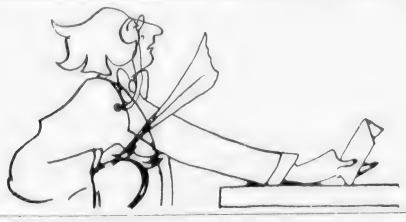
Subscription, $1.50 per year

ROTUNDA STAFF

Editor-in-Chief — LUCY THOMPSON, '30
Associate Editor — JESSIE SMTH, '31

Board of Editors

News Editor — LILLIAN BOVELL, '30
Literary Editor — LINDA WILKINSON, '30
Athletic Editor — MILDRED MADDREY, '31
World News Editor — GERTRUDE RICHARDSON, '30
Intercollegiate News Editor — A. J. SCOTT, '32
Social Editor — RACHEL ROYAL, '30
Art Editor — VIRGINIA ROBERTSON, '31
Feature Editor — MAMIE HURT, '31
Humorous Editor — "BILLIE" PARIS, '30
Alumnae Editor — MISS CARRIE B. TALIAFERRO



Reporters

MARIA WARREN, '32 — KATHLEEN WOODSON, '30
DOROTHY SNEDEGAR, '33
ANN STUMP, '30

Proof Reader — SARA BAKER, '31
Assistant Proof Reader — JESSIE WATKINS, '33

Managers

Business Manager — SARA McCORKLE, '30
Assistant Business Manager — PEARL JOHNSON, '32
Circulation Manager — MARTHA ANTHONY, '30
Assistant Circulation Manager — NANNIE SUE ANTHONY, '30

Responsibility

So He created man and left with him a sense—a sense that makes this world of ours progressive; and that sense was the one of responsibility. Unless God had created him thus paganism would rule our America today.

The pagan has no sense of duty or responsibity, therefore, he is imposed upon—and lives to the end of his life without more than he began with.

To live in a surrounding where living is existing, we find people who feel that upon their shoulders lies no burden. They do not realize that a small burden to begin with, makes the greater burden seem lighter. And the heavier the burden that one is able to carry makes the greater man or woman.

Today more than ever before we are faced with responsibilities. Statistics show us that there are more people incapable of taking care of themselves than ever before. Someone has to be human enough to see that these people do not perish. Therefore everyone has a self-imposd responsibility for others.

Responsibility can be strengthened within a person. The training which should be begun at home is frequently left to the schools. Therefore college seems to be the next-to-the-last place to strengthen that sense—the last being that burden of life which inflicts upon its subjects—that of mere living.

Today—here—in college we have our opportunities but many of us let them go safely by—while we seemingly and living in a world of golden skies and purple sunsets. Little do we realize that the responsibility shunned in school—such as failure to get up your assignment whether in class or on the Rotunda or Virginian staff—means that later on one is not able to assume the responsibility of a position and may have to lower one's self to a job.

Likewise we must feel ourselves responsible for the people about us; for God made some much stronger than others that the strong have to care for the weak. Therefore upon the shoulders of each individual lies the responsibility of someone else. How capable one is of withstanding this infliction today will prove how successful she will be in her life's work whether she be a nurse, stenographer, teacher or wife!

Now is the time for development for youth means the outline of the life one will live.

"There is no more valuable subordinate than the man to whom you can give a piece of work and then forget it, in the confident expectation that the next time it is brought to your attention it will come in the form of a report that the thing has been done. When this self-reliant quality is joined to executive power, loyalty and common sense, the result is a man whom you can trust.

"On the other hand, there is no greater nuisance to a man heavily burdened with the direction of affairs than the weak-backed assistant who is continually trying to get his chief to do his work for him on the feeble plea that he thought that the chief would like to decide this or that himself. The man to whom an executive is most grateful, the man whom he will work hardest and value most, is the man who accept responsibility willingly."—Gifford Pinchot.

SURE REWARDS

He was just a young man interested in journalism and as a lowly "cub" he worked for Stanford's "Streak." You'd never, if you were a coed there, look at Skinny Chase twice. He just didn't appeal with his pen and "nose for news." Don't infer from this that he lacked the necessary tact of reporters or didn't know a few did. The clever articles that teased your interest, told you lots, and left the corners of your mouth turned up in a smile, were Skinny's.

For three years, since he was a soph, he had wished for his lucky break. True he had gained recognition at times but it hadn't lasted. He was still just a young "cub" in the game. His eyes were on that break which would put all Stanford, and a certain winsome Polly, at his feet. That is why he was called "Old Faithful." They even said that he was the man who put response in the word responsibility when it came to the success of the "Streak." And yet it seemed that for these meager crumbs of what he really wanted he had banged his typewriter and thought way into the wee' sma' hours so often.

Somewhere it has been said, it doesn't matter where exactly, that there is sure reward for faithful people. Skinny knew this and it helped a lot. He surely must have been a type all to himself or he couldn't have had the patience he showed. But one day the "Streak" carried a bit of news which showed that Skinny had taken a new field of attack upon the public, and Polly.

"Chas wins prize for Senior Play, Most Original," '

Skinny lived like a prince then. Finally the great day dawned, and the time came for the play. Backstage Polly, whom Skinny had almost prayed would have the lead in his play, locked softly now and then at the gorgeous mass of flowers in the dressing-room from James R. Chase. And as Polly was quite an actress we wouldn't say that nervousness caused the happy little sighs and light in her eyes. Skinny, in the opposite wing looked out on the gay assemblage in the auditorium and tried manfully to keep his mind off that taunting verse about rewards to faithful. His heart sang it despite him.

If someone had told him that at that moment three hours later he would be holding a shy but radiantly happy Polly close in his arms and whispering the sofest, sweetest nothings in her willing ears while the cast of his play looked on in amazement he would have laughed at anything so sentimental. But that someone was right!

A. D. ,'30

LOYALTY

Alma Mater! How dear this name is to us! The things for which she stands, her ideals, traditions and precedents are ever present in our thoughts, binding us closer to her.

Hundreds of girls, drawn together—through common interests into one big family—we know (thanks to Society) that it is in the home that we get our first conceptions of justice, loyalty, love, hate, sympathy and ideals of religion and democracy. S. T. C. has been a home for some of us for four years, perhaps for others of us only three months. Do we realize that each of us has our part to play and can help S. T. C. to live up to her standards and traditions. Since "we reap what we sow" we should give our best efforts and thoughts to the tasks and problems we undertake and the best results will come to us, not only at the present, but in the future.

When we think of our Alma Mater, we do so in terms of love, devotion and loyalty—loyalty that will not fade but will be strengthened through the coming years, when our days at S. T. C. are only memories.

H. S. C.: "Say, you're quite an amateur at kissing."

Ann Minter: "Think so? Well, it took a lot of practice to get that first time effect."—Drexel.

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor:

May I express my opinion on the subject of College Honor?

I believe that the movement of College honor is a very great opportunity to every student who abides by it. After all, honor is not inborn. It is an acquired habit of thinking and living. Each student should rightly have the privilege of living according to the dictates of his own honor. He should be and is indebted to the Alma Mater which gives him this opportunity and privilege.

College honor, in its truest form cannot help but lead to class-loyalty, school spirit, sportsmanship, cooperation and many other qualities which we are desirous to see at work in our Alma Mater.

P. J.

Dear Editor:

The question is very often raised as to just what is wrong or what is missing in our college life. Evidently there is something missing, and something that is vitally important, or else things would not be as they are. Why is it that the actions of our students have to be so closely watched? What is it that makes people laugh derisively when something like a working Honor System is mentioned? Is the idea so utterly absurd as that? Do our students fall so miserably below par as to make the idea of an Honor System an absurdity?

Several suggestions have been offered to remedy matters, in order to bring about a more wholesome attitude on the part of the students, a better spirit toward our Alma Mater. One that is being worked on is that a truer loyalty to one's class will bring about better school spirit; more friendliness will prevail and the general attitude will be better. All this is of course, correct, but just how much it will forward a sense of personal honor seems rather doubtful.

It seems to me that we must go back to smaller, more personal things than class loyalty to remedy the situation. If each individual would take it upon herself to be more thoughtful, to be a little bit more considerate of others, that would help a great deal.

We have got to do something to raise the ideal of personal honor among our students. Something must be done to give them the strength to say "no," when saying "no" makes the crowd think them poor sports.

When we achieve the place where students generally, will consider saying "no" to the crowd as a mark of a good sport; when we begin to consider other people a little bit more in our scheme of things; when we use the brain God gave us, once in a while as an instument of thinking, when we live more unselfishly;—then, and not until then. will we be able to have a working Honor System.

—Easter Souders

I often wonder if all of us really realize what Student Honor means. Perhaps, if we did, we would try a little harder to keep that honor on such a high level that it could not be criticized.

Each member of our student body has some influence over someone else. This means that one is not only harming herself in breaking a rule or her honor, she is harming someone else, as well. In this life, half of happiess, joy, and contentment is derived from unselfishness. "Others first, self last." If we keep this creed we would indeed be happy, in the knowledge that we are helping others.

The high standards of our school can be kept high, free from criticism, if we have the will-power and determination to make it so. It is up to us, not to the faculty nor to the past reputation of our school.

We can make this "College Week" our time to show those who are leading us, how capable we are of doing what is expected of us.

Do we, then, realize that we are responsible for the good reputation of our school? It is we, who are to make the good name of our school better, and to make the better, best.

—Mary Warren

A CHALLENGE

Students of Farmville College
Let us in three days see
Just what a great success
The remainder of college week can be.

Think of the meaning of college week,
How it affects every girl.
Cooperation is needed here as well
As in the outside world.

There's responsible work to be done.
Each must have a share.
Often queer twists of life,
Cause our taking others' cares.

It's a glorious world we live in
And it will always treat us square,
If each works with the other
By answering duty's call everywhere.

College week! Honor week!
How it thrills our souls.
Honor white as the soul of a babe
Should be an ideal for our goal.

K. W., '30

THE REELS OF YESTERDAY

Camera man come to me.
Please turn some reels
You know the ones I like best.
Ah! A high school Valentine party,
Fat red hearts cover the walls,
A slim slip of a girl almost lovely—
She had just met him!
More than paper hearts were exchanged that night.
Just a minute, let me drink in its loveliness.
Now a college prom, two intoxicated figures,
But not from hip flasks.
Mad, sweet love, in a fairyland
Of rose lights and soft music.
Fields of icy stillness, gleaming stars.
A huge fire, happy voices in joyous song.
Two people on a sled together—
Their blood coursing as fast as the sled's runners.
Two happy figures always together.
Stop! I have seen enough.
Let me dream awhile . . . .
One more scene you say?
Soft twilight, a woman with bowed head.
The evening star dips low
And all nature sighs with her.
Dear God! Is that pathetic figure me?
I had forgotten! I was living in memories.
Camera man why did you add this new scene
To your reels?
Your others are like laughing stars.
But your last is a black moon.

K. W., '30

DUTY

There is a work for each of us
For the smallest and the greatest,
Whichever you are, there is something for you to do.
To help our Alma Mater stand the test.

If you are a poet, you may write poems
Praising our school to the very skies.
If you are a singer you may sing the song
That in your heart and soul lies.

For those who are artists there are pictures
Of our college life and college deeds
That may be painted and at which the world
May look to see that this is a college indeed.

For you who are not gifted in these lines
There is something that you may do
You may tell the world of your college
In all that you say and do.

M. R. W., '30

SOCIALS

Week-end Trips

Nannie Belle Clendenin, Allie K. Libby, and Margeret Vincent spent the week-end in Richmond.

Stuart Quaintance and Martha Stuart spent the week-end in Charlottesville.

Louise Woodson, Evelyn Traylor, Minnie Bray, Helen Tankersley, Margaret Hix, Helen Tweedy and Melrose Debnam spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

Melisse Myers spent the week-end in Salem.

Lillian Womack spent the week-end in Keysville.

Martha Gunter, Jane Gray Irby and Vera Abbitt spent the week-end in Appomattox.

Eloise Perkins and Virginia Cobb spent the week-end in Blackstone.

Mary Pearson, Virginia Duncan, Hazel Murphy and Lois Dodd visited friends in Crewe last week-end.

Doris Webber spent the week-end in Roanoke.

Marion Lore spent the week-end in Kenbridge.

Virginia Malone spent the week-end in Dundas.

Bridge Party

Misses Frances Davis and Elizabeth Smitherman entertained at bridge January 11, at 3 o'clock in the Pi Kappa Sigma chapter room.

High score was won by Miss Hazel Burgwin and consolation by Miss A. J. Scott.

A delicious salad course was served.

Honor System In American Colleges

(Continue From Page One)

tion, where the Honor System works certainly and swiftly, and where there is a tradition against cheating that has existed for nearly a hundred years, does not urge a college to adopt the system before the field has been thoroughly prepared. They say: "We have the amplest faith in the Honor System and believe that with proper care it could be successfully introduced into almost every American university and would be a salutary influence; but before beginning its introduction, we urge thoughtful, thorough, and patient preparation of the field:

"1. By such general, pervasive conferences with the students as would produce practically unanimous conviction of the merit of the system in the minds of the student body.

"2. By the election to the Honor Committee of men and women who enjoy the simplest confidence of their fellow-students as to integrity, courage, sanity and sagacity.

"3. By agreement upon impartial and inevitable execution of such a uniform penalty for violation of the honor code as the Honor Committee shall impose, with no mitigation, pardon, or suspension of sentence.

"4. By the rigorous exclusion from the purview of the committee of all offenses which are not true breaches of honor.

"5. By securing the unanimous consent of the president, professors, and officers of the Univeristy to cry hands off and leave the student body the whole responsibility for dealing with well-defined breaches of honor.

"To neglect any one of these five precautions will be, in our opinion, to invite shipwreck," says this great institution.

The installation or administration of the Honor System requires much work that is spiritual, inspirational, and intangible. The students must be educated concerning principles of honor. It must be shown that they are trusted, but that if they abuse the trust, they will surely be punished; it should be their aim to prevent dishonesty, rather than to punish it.

One thing is beyond question. Before an Honor System can function successfully, a spirit of Honor must be inculcated into the students. An educational program extending over a period of three or four years will be necessary. A strong tradition in favor of the Honor System is its greatest asset.—(The Salemite.)

OVER THE TEACUPS

And where d'you think you're rushing to? Class? Why hurry then—there's plenty of time. No you're not late, the quarter-after bell just rang.

Have you gotten your grades yet? Yes—finally, but speaking of being dumb, I'm the world's worst. No, I didn't write them in the book—forgot it. Then I went to the post office Friday night and got all excited when I found my book in the box. 'Course they weren't, and I just got them today. Oh, they could have been worse, I s'pose, but they would have been pretty terrible.

Wasn't it darling? Everybody liked it. Isn't it though? Looks like we could have another one with Hampden-Sydney before the end of the year. She was—but then Mary Ellen is always good. Gurley? Why she was grand. That laugh was enough to tickle anybody. Yes, I heard they did. I do hope Culpeper turned out to see it as well as Farmville did.

Me on the Dean's List? Oh, don't be ridiculous. My dear—the Dean's List is for intelligent people, not mere mortals like you and me. Yes, I heard that she made it. Really, there must be nothing like it. Just imagine being able to cut classes! It's such a pity that the brains in this world are so unequally distributed.

Yes, I heard about it. Aren't they lucky, though? Frances and Mary Mann would be debaters and take trips to Wake Forest and all those places, when here I sit and pine away for one glimpse of Bill. Didn't you know he went there? Well he most assuredly does.

I think so too. You know lots of the large colleges of the country are having College Week, and Farmville just couldn't let them get ahead of her. I think its a fine idea. Wasn't it good? I've enjoyed every night a lot, and I'm looking forward to the rest.

Listen, sugar, I 'spect maybe we'd better be getting along. It doesn't do to be too late for class.

Meet me at Joan at five-thirty and I'll pay you that chocolate stir I bet you.

S'long.

WHAT IS EDUCATION?

Those who decry the increasing emphasis placed on business, commerce and industry in this country will not be pleased with the survey recently made by the Cleveland Board of Education, which, acting in co-operation with the Cleveland chapter of the National Association of Credit men, drew up a report recommending means of "adjusting the curriculum of the schools to the actual demands of business."

Educators—taking the word in its best sense—point out that this very tendency to place the purely utilitarian side of school instruction above that devoted to general development of intelligence and knowledge of such very necessary branches as world geography, is what is bringing the demand for college men to the point where complaint is heard that opportunities for merit promotion are few The boy who goes into an industrial establishment, say, on the lower rung of the ladder, who has been taught, according to the Cleveland plan, only something of his probable duties on that lower rung, is extremely likely to find himself handicapped by his lack of instruction in such simple matters as United States history, geography, etc., when it comes to promotions.

American Made Cars Menace Auto Industry in France.-Headline, France is lucky. They menace the entire public over here.—Arkansas Gazette.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

Florida Girls Are Mathematical Wizards

Five students in the department for physics can quote their horsepower to their decimal degree, as the result of measurements, which proves each one to be equal to about half a horse.

This experiment was performed on the stairway in the Administration building. One girl raced from the first to the third floor, another stood on the first landing and held a stop watch to time her, while a third bangled a tape measure from the landing on the top floor, to gauge the vertical height.—The Sun Dial.

Kisses for Sale

The staff of the Gopher, undergraduate yearbook of the students of the University of Minnesota are original when it comes to schemes to boost the circulation of their publication. Recently twelve chorus girls were hired to be on the campus for one hour and fifteen minutes to kiss each student who subscribed to the annual. Dean Nicholson of the University refused to let the students osculate.—The Yellow Jacket.

Against Rat Caps

Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of North Carolina state College, tonight added his voice to those who profess to see no need for "rat" caps at the school. "I do not see any great value to the institution in our requiring freshmen to wear the cap," Dr. Brooks told the freshmen class committeee that conferred with him.

The committee, appointed after the rat class threatened to burn the caps last week, also today obtained statements advocating abolishment of the caps from Dr. R. R. Sermon, director of athletics; Henry Love, upper class student council member and the Blue Key honorary fraternity.—The Yellow Jacket.

DRESS SALE
$6.95—$24.50

The Band Box Shoppe

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
Quality—Price—Service
Come in and get acquainted
We're Glad to Have You With Us
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
Go Across the Street
GILLIAM'S
FOR EATS
OF ALL KINDS

FALL SHOWING OF
HATS
THE HAT SHOPPE
Mrs. H. H. Hunt
THIRD STREET
FARMVILLE - - - - VA.

CAPP'S STORE
Next to the Theatre
Toasted Sandwiches Sodas and Candies
MRS. HUBBARD'S HOME-MADE PIES

Fatmuer Gift Shop
Kodaks, Pictures, Frames, Books Stationery
Engraving
COMPLETE LINE OF GREETING CARDS

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE
Direct Eastman Kodak Agency
(Fresh films)
Let Us Develop Your Films (one day service)
COMPLETE LINE GREETING CARDS

SHANNON'S
is headquarters for the best
SANDWICHES AND DRINKS
in Farmville!

LOVELACE SHOE SHOP
Work done while you wait with
First Class Materials
110 Third Street Farmville, Va.

Headquarters for
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS
Macks' Beauty and Barber Shop
323 Main Street Farmville, Va.

Just One Block From Campus
G. F. BUTCHER & COMPANY
The Convenient Store
FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP
Will fix your shoes
WHILE YOU WAIT
Best Workmanship and Leather Used

S. A. LEGUS
TAILORING , CLEANING
PRESSING
Farmville - - - - - - - - - - Virginia

Please Accept Our Wishes for a
HAPPPY & PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR
SPECIALS FOR THURSDAY, JAN. 8, FRIDAY,
JANUARY 9 and SATURDAY, JAN. 10.

$7.95 Silhouettes, all colors & sizes ... $4.98
$14.95 Silhouettes, just received ... $9.75
Allan "A" and Onyx Hose, 1.65 values, pair ... $1.00

All $6.00 Shoes, $3.85; See them in the window.
Spread the glad news—1-2 off all coats and regular stock dresses!!

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Shopping Center

JOKES

Lil Hogan: "Can you play the piano?"

Medora Ford: "Really, I couldn't say, you see I've never tried."

Have you heard of the Scotchman who built an apartment house and left the fire escapes off because it was leap year?

Martha Walters: "So you're an ex-soldier, are you?" Were you ever out at the front?"

H. S. Date: "Oh, yes, Martha—it's only lately I've gotten so thin."

The doctor smiled as she entered the room. "You look much better, today."

Ella Simms (from infirmary bed): "Yes, I followed the directions on your medicine bottle."

Doctor: "What were they?"

Ella Simms: "Keep the bottle tightly corked."—Youngstown Telegraph.

Marguerite Swann: "I certainly do miss Allan's letters this year. He's kept so busy learning to drill."

Grace Tritton: "Oh, he intends to be an officer?"

Swann: "No, dentist."

Nurse: Loulie must be absolutely quiet. Here is a sleeping draught."

Clara Norfleet: "When do I give it to her?"

Nurse: "You don't; take it yourself."

Allie Oliver (on basketball court): "I say, do you happen to be double-jointed in the knee?"

Tackled: "No!"

Allie: H-m-m-m, then, I must have broken your leg."

Dot Anderson: "Why don't you like dancing?"

Doris Walton: "'Cause it's nothing but hugging and walking set to music."

Dot: "But what is there about that you don't like?"

Doris: "The walking."

Poor Dolly hopping on street car in Richmond the other week-end was heard to say: "Well, how are you this morning?"

"Fare," replied the conductor.

Chemistry Prof.: "What is the most outstanding contribution that chemistry has given the world?"

Poly Sheffield: "Blondes."

Head of Firm: "How long do you want to be away on your honeymoon?"

Junko (timidly): "Well, sir-er,—how long would you say?"

Head of Firm: "How do I know—I haven't seen the bride?"—Georgia Cracker.

Reformer: "Young man, do you realize that you will never get anywhere by drinking?"

Stewed: "Ain't it th' truth? I've started home from this corner five times already."—Yellow Jacket.

ELIZABETH TEMPLE IS PRESIDENT OF CUNINGHAM SOCIETY

Officers for the winter term were elected at the regular meeting of the Cunningham Literary Society, Wednesday night, January 8. They are: Elizabeth Temple, president; Gertrude Richardson, secretary; Bessie Lynch, treasurer; Mamie Hurt, reporter to Rotunda; and Kate Friel Sanders, keeper of the Cunningham Memory Book. After the business was finished, a delightful program was given the new members, led by Jane Witt.

The Cunningham Literary Society invites those wishing to become members to try-out before January 18. Acceptable material will include original essays, short stories, and poems.

ROTUNDA STAFF HAS SURPRISE PARTY

The Rotunda staff met as usual on last Wednesday night. The meeting turned out to be not-quite-so-usual, though, for someone had planned a lovely surprise party for us. We suspect Ann Stump, the Anthonies and Kathleen Woodson. There were sandwiches, coca-colas, pickles, wafers, etc. Needless to say, we made merry. Various subjects were discussed, (weighty ones too) such as our editor's fan mail, how ridiculous high heeled shoes are when the heels come off, different movies, Christmas memories—oh, a very pleasant session, indeed. We laughed on at least a pound a piece. Everyone went home full of contentment and mirth—to say nothing of food.

BASKET BALL PRACTICE

	4 P. M.	5 P. M.
M.—Sophs, Jrs., Srs.		Varsity
T.—Freshmen		Varsity
W.—Sophs, Jrs., Srs.		Varsity
T.—Freshmen		Varsity
F.—Extra practice		Varsity

All this week varsity will practice at 4 o'clock alternating with class practice each week. The extra practice on Friday is for anyone who would like more practice.

COLLEGE WEEK TO END WITH BIG EVENTS

(Continue From Page One)

gated as possible.

Everyone is invited, but remember those who are not masked and dressed for the occasion, will not be admitted.

This is the "real thing" coming off. Get into the spirit of it and make it go off with bang!

USE THE OPEN FORUM

The editor wishes to urge the student body to voice its opinion about matters which concern the student body through the Open Forum column of The Rotunda. Hand all such letters to the editor or drop them in the Rotunda box near the door of the cloak room. These articles must be signed when handed in, but names will not be printed if requested by the writer.

THAT SATURDAY MORNING AFTER TWO WEEKS BEFORE

Mr. Grainger told his class,
"I love your college spirit;
The way your Alma Mater's sung—
I'm always there to hear it!

In sorrow do I see your ranks
So scattered all about,
And listen to those vows you sing
With such a feeble shout.

I'm glad it's in the future tense
That "faithful, loyal" part . . . .
But not so very future,
For I know down in my heart

You'll all appear on Tuesday—
So this week I'll not mind . . . .
Oh, yes, you're true and loyal
With chapel seats assigned!"

At the Eaco Theatre Week of January 20-25

MON. & TUES. THE HOLLYWOOD REVUE, with Marion Davies, John Gilbert, Norma Shearer, Conrad Nagle, Bessie Love, Anita Page, William Haines, Joan Crawford, Buster Keaton, Karl Dane, George K. Arthur, Polly Moran, Marie Dressler, Charles King, "Ukelele Ike" Cliff Edwards, the Brox Sisters and Gus Edwards. New songs, new dances by stars of screen and stage, abundant laughs, tuneful melodies and sparkling dialogue and don't forget the girls—2000 beautiful girls dance in the choruses and ensembles. Twenty original songs, never before sung or played, provide the music. An all-talking all singing, all dancing, revue in color in a class by itself. Also News and talking comedy.

WED. THURS.—Rod LaRocque in "THE DELIGHTFUL ROGUE, an all talking picture of swashbuckling of the Pirate Seas. Loved by women, hated by men, Lastro ruled his pirate empire with iron hand and relentless will until he met Nydral. See and hear Rod LaRocque in crackling dialogue and what happens when a heartless man falls in love with a heartless woman. There are many laughs as well as interesting suspense in this delightful picture. Also talking comedy.

FRI. & SAT.—BROADWAY SCANDALS with Sally O'Neil, Jack Egan and Carmel Myers and a dancing and singing chorus of 150 beauties. An all talking, singing and dancing spectacle. All the glitter and splendor of Broadway's gorgeous musical productions, plus one of the most intriguing dramas ever screened awaits you in this superb production of life and romance behind the foodlights. Vivid melange of melody and laughter replete with jazz numbers and gorgeous costumes and scenes. Also sound and talking news reel and a Collegiate talking comedy.

Admission prices—Adults 25 cents at matinees and 35 cents at nights. Children under 12 years old, 15c to each show.

Two shows each night—7:30 and 9:15.

SAY IT IN WOOD

